EXPRESSION DEPARTMENT.

To what dignity and honor was language lifted when God, in sending His Son into the world, called Him "The Word." And Messiah's fore-runner Himself said, "I am the voice of one crying in the wilderness."

Those who battle to bring in Jesus' kingdom have words for their weapons.

The most wonderful instrument in the world is that mechanism by which speech is produced. It is possible for this instrument to become as responsive to thought and feeling as is the violin to the fingers of the musician. Expression has to do with those great laws which bring about this responsiveness.

If the conditions of correct speech are observed, most gratifying results must follow. And a faithful and persevering practice of these conditions will bring vast rewards. It is the aim of this department to reveal these marvelous laws and the way to obedience to them.

One of the chief hindrances to effective speaking is the expenditure of much more energy than is necessary. Students will be taught that they should have for their watch-word. "Every day less effort, every day more power." The body is to be freed from all constrictions. Poise is inculcated. Breath-control, and diaphragmatic respiration, are all-important, and the simple secrets of these are revealed.

It is the conviction of the head of Olivet's Department of Expression that there are undreamed-of possibilities in this art, for the glory of God, if the Divine Spirit is relied upon as a positive dynamic in obtaining results. Tremendous insistence will be laid upon prayer as a means of securing the co-operation of the Heavenly Helper. (The English word "oration" comes from the Latin word "orare," meaning "to pray." At the same time the importance of faithful, daily practice in expression will be stressed.

As it shall be the purpose of this department to help equip ambassadors of God to go out with declaration of the unsearchable riches of redemption, the ideal held up in the eighth verse of the eighth chapter of Nehemiah will be constantly emphasized, "So they read in the book in the law of God distinctly, and gave the sense, and caused them to understand the reading."

A description of all the courses to be given by the University next session are described in the 1921-22 Catalog. You will note such courses as will be given the first semester in the following schedule. By studying this schedule you will be able to arrange your work before coming to school and will be enabled to tell just what hours will be spent in the class room. If you desire courses not scheduled, it may be possible to arrange for them. We shall make every effort to arrange for extra classes, if as many as six desire to take them.

Church History, Advanced Theology, Modern European History and English History are to be much heavier courses than have previously been given in these subjects. Commercial courses will be given as previously cataloged.

If you are interested in any special course, please write us and we shall be glad to give you the information you may desire with regard to them.
