1. Though written in 1879, we set our play in 2017. Is A Doll's House still relevant to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it address?

3. Can you as a 21st century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

The one person that I can relate to is Nora because you feel trapped and you try to make everything better.
I can relate to Kristin in the sense that she has the pressure to be a hardworking woman in situations in the play. If so, please specify.

3. Can you as a 21st-century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

I do believe that play explores current issues. If so, what issue does it address?

2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issue does it address?

Yes, a lot of House Disclosure issues that are still relevant in today's society.

modern setting? Please answer why or why not.

Though written in 1879, we set our play in 2017. Is A Doll's House still relevant in a
1. Though written in 1879, we set our play in 2017. Is A Doll's House still relevant?

2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it address?

3. Can you as a 21st century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.
3. Can you as a 21st century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it address?

1. Though written in 1879, we set our play in 2017. Is A Doll's House still relevant in a modern setting? Please answer why or why not.

2. Language in 1879 and I think that language is not alike I think it is, but the language is not alike.
1. Think it does because if you lose the theme of the play and the consequences of the post misbehavior, does it so what issues does it address?

2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it explore today?

3. Can you as a 21st century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

Feelings of love for Nora and Krooks?

Feelings of regret that have occurred.

Parallels of behavior due to 2.0. Have you ever heard of this.

Yes, I can relate to The Hank's son.
3. Can you as a 21st century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

4. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it address?

5. Of the topics listed in the Play Analysis and Annotation Chart, which are the most pertinent? Please answer why or why not.

I though written in 1879, we see our play in 2017. Is A Doll's House still relevant?
1. Though written in 1879, we set our play in 2017. Is A Doll’s House still relevant in a modern setting? Please answer why or why not.

2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it address?

   Yes, if still challenges the roles of gender in the house today and shows dominance and submission.

3. Can you see as a 21st century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

   I sympathize with Nora and admire her strength and dedication to her family.
1. Though written in 1879, we set our play in 2017. Is A Doll's House still relevant in a modern setting? Please answer why or why not.

2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it address?

3. Can you as a 21st century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

4. What did you learn from the play? Any changes now or to come?

Additional notes:

[Handwritten notes not clearly visible]
1. Though written in 1879, we set our play in 2017. Is A Doll’s House still relevant in a modern setting? Please answer why or why not.

2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it address?

3. Can you see a 21st century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

I don’t believe so. If I can understand why they do, that’s another issue.

With forgiveness then for (Henceforward) will forgive them for (Henceforward) and insist those that made me, none have no one.

The big one is sexism. Another is prejudice.

This won’t fool us to say some people still don’t act like the Others we but it wouldn’t be.

It’s as simple as. Some things didn’t change well.
characters or situations in the play. If so, please specify.

Can you as a 21st century audience member personally relate to any of the

As a woman, content to second relations.

in submission to, and at their husbands—unquestionably

If explorers issues such as women's worth & place in

Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it

Still a thing that happens. A Doll's House will be relevant

As long as emotional abuse manipulation is still relevant.

Though written in 1879, we set our play in 2017. Is A Doll's House still relevant.
1. Though written in 1879, we set our play in 2017. Is A Doll's House still relevant in a modern setting? Please answer why or why not.

2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it address?

3. Can you as a 21st century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.
1. Though written in 1879, we set our play in 2017. Is A Doll's House still relevant in a modern setting? Please answer why or why not.

2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it address?

3. Can you as a 21st century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

Nora, I'm a story of how much a man meant to me.
1. Though written in 1879, we set our play in 2017. Is A Doll’s House still relevant in a modern setting? Please answer why or why not.

2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issue does it address?

For one, bog adicee

3. Can you as a 21st-century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

Though much and not knowing how to take it offer

a. Your mother has been knowing it all and

b. Assortment of the play...
1. Though written in 1879, we set our play in 2017. Is a Doll's House still relevant?

2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it address?

3. Can you see a 21st century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

4. In society, what about women tend to deal with relationship positions?
1. Though written in 1879, we set our play in 2017. Is A Doll’s House still relevant in a modern setting? Please answer why or why not.

   I think it is because it is in relation to real life issues. Feminism theory is still strong to this day.

2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it address?

   I think women leaving a family is an extremely current issue.

3. Can you as a 21st century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

   I really liked Mrs. Linde because she worked for everything she needed. I am the same.
1. Though written in 1879, we set our play in 2017. Is A Doll's House still relevant in a modern setting? Please answer why or why not.

2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it address?

3. Can you as a 21st-century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

No, I don’t know myself and haven’t made any decisions recently.
1. Though written in 1879, we set our play in 2017. Is A Doll's House still relevant in a modern setting? Please answer why or why not.

2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it address?

3. Can you assign a 21st century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

4. Don't your family business look bad telling a guy that felt demeaned.
1. Though written in 1879, we set our play in 2017. Is A Doll's House still relevant in a modern setting? Please answer why or why not.

2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it address?

3. Can you as a 21st century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

Yes. Women's rights/independency.
1. Through written in 1879, we set our play in 2017. Is A Doll's House still relevant in a modern setting? Please answer why or why not.

2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it address?

3. Can you as a 21st century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

Yes - this girl is the one who:

I have seen one too many things. The relations of Noa and her family.

3. Can you as a 21st-century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it address?

Yes, feminism and the roles of women.

1. Though written in 1879, we set our play in 2017. Is A Doll's House still relevant in a modern setting? Please answer why or why not.
I do. Family, femininity, sexual abuse, murder, divorce.

2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issue does it?

3. Can you as a 21st century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

I chose because I found the job interesting and rewarding. It was also in a smaller, more intimate setting.

I chose because it's been in a small, more intimate setting.

Though written in 1879, we see our play in 2017. Is A Doll's House still relevant in a modern setting? Please answer why or why not.
"Yes, I used to live in the countryside."

Talking about the situation during my mom was close. People, but I ached for her at Christmas, which made me feel my mind, then it is never to borrow money from my mom. Problem, present today, however, when I want to borrow money from her, I have to try so, the spend, I asked so to borrow money from my mom, where I asked to borrow money from her. Some was true. I cannot in a situation, so please specify.

Characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

3. Can you see a 21st-century audience member personally relate to any of the events, especially among them such as myself. But, economic issues, especially among them such as myself?

Yes, it addresses issues of poverty. Is this what you mean?

2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it address?

Yes, it's universal. Issues, like poverty, and issues happen in society today.

Yes, it's universal. Issues, like poverty, and issues happen in a modern setting. Please answer why or why not.

I, though written in 1879, we see our play in 2017, as a doll's house still relevant.
1. Though written in 1879, we set our play in 2017. Is A Doll's House still relevant in a modern setting? Please answer why or why not.

2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it address?

3. Can you as a 21st century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

YES

YES

YES
I also have seen situations where there is an influence and in cases where those are stronger. Often

I feel out of love, if people are somehow become ups and how someone can just
I have been able to relate to characters or situations in the play. If so, please specify.

3. Can you as a 21st century audience member personally relate to any of the Brave ups and downs.

not likely a 17th, I also address to be treated more like humans and
It does seem new, when shortended

Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it

I really was pleased well, I really enjoy.

I could relate to most in the text.

that I could relate to modern settings. I feel

I do believe the play is still very in a modern setting? Please answer why or why not.

Though written in 1879, we set our play in 2017. Is A Doll's House still relevant Different story.

Me happy. While underneath is a while. I'm a.
1. Though written in 1879, we set our play in 2017. Is A Doll's House still relevant in a modern setting? Please answer why or why not.

2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it address?

3. Can you as a 21st century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

Recently involved in conversations very similar to yours, ending dialogue about leaving the marriage.
A doll's house still relevant in a modern setting? Please answer why or why not.

Though written in 1879, we set our play in 2017. Is A Doll's House still relevant in a...

2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it address?

As we'll see, the play explores the issue of gender roles in society.

3. Can you as a 21st century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

I lived with my...
1. Though written in 1879, we set our play in 2017. Is A Doll’s House still relevant in a modern setting? Please answer why or why not.

   Yes, I believe A Doll’s House is still relevant in a modern setting, because the views of men and women and how they are to fulfill their roles in a happy marriage is something that people should think about before entering a marriage relationship.

2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it address?

   The play explores current issues, I believe. It addresses men and women’s rights and spending habits of people as well as appropriate relationships between adult men and women.

3. Can you as a 21st century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

   I can relate to the situation of fear, nervousness, and playing with children. I could imagine the experiences in the play and could also relate with viewing, anger and conflict.
1. Though written in 1879, we set our play in 2017. Is A Doll's House still relevant in a modern setting? Please answer why or why not.

2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it address?

3. Can you as a 21st century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

Husbands

Yes because families suffer from abuse

Wife

Yes, there are problems in families and sometimes
1. Though written in 1879, We Set Our Play in 2017. Is A Doll's House still relevant in a modern setting? Please answer why or why not.

2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it address?

3. Can you as a 21st century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

I don't think so.
1. Though written in 1879, we set our play in 2017. 'A Doll’s House' is still relevant in a modern setting? Please answer why or why not.

2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it address?

3. Can you as a 21st century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

It reveals to Nora because I love my children.
2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it address?

3. Can you as a 21st century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

Yes, the scene of the announcement/merger of money. Divorced/relationship/marriage, contrary to modern setting? Please answer why or why not.

Relent. Yes. Considered in setting/script, no.

Though written in 1879, we set our play in 2017. Is A Doll's House still relevant in a...
1. Though written in 1879, we set our play in 2017. Is A Doll’s House still relevant in a modern setting? Please answer why or why not.

Yes, because so many roles are being challenged on women to this day. The contention of what is a woman’s role is a very relevant topic today.

2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it address?

Current issues with women but also with the family. It questions the integrity of the family and what is it built on?

3. Can you as a 21st century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

Yes, I relate to both Nora and Torvald. Nora, where Nora struggles with what it is she is to believe, as well as what she is. She wants to break free from everything society has impressed on her. I completely relate to the idea of finding something out on your own.
1. Though written in 1879, we set our play in 2017. Is a doll's house still relevant in a modern setting? Please answer yes or no.

2. Do you believe the play explores current issues? If so, what issues does it address?

3. Can you as a 21st century audience member personally relate to any of the characters or situations in the play? If so, please specify.

Yes, being betrayed by someone you think you knew

Yes – oppressions, abuse

Yes, there are still issues we oppress or oppress husbands or women being oppressed or abused in general.