THE PRESIDENT'S DINNER

FOR FACULTY AND STAFF

OLIVET NAZARENE UNIVERSITY

CHALFANT HALL

AUGUST 20, 2004

6:30 P.M.

HOSTED BY DR. AND MRS. JOHN C. BOWLING

A Shower of Activities

OLIVET NAZARENE UNIVERSITY
2004-2005

OUR MISSION

Olivet Nazarene University, a denominational university in the Wesleyan tradition, exists to provide a university-level liberal arts “Education With a Christian Purpose.”

Our mission is to provide high-quality academic instruction for the purpose of personal development, career and professional readiness, and the preparation of individuals for lives of service to God and humanity.

“We seek the strongest scholarship and the deepest piety, knowing that they are compatible [and] ... a Christian environment ... where not only knowledge but character is sought.” (The quotation is taken from the Olivet Catalog, 1915.)

This mission provides the common ground for us as we blend our various gifts and interests together to impact our students. Each of us will have many opportunities this year to live out this mission. Seize those occasions, for they are moments of great possibility and reward. Through our mission, we transform lives for eternity.

WELCOME

Good evening and welcome. Each year, the President’s Dinner marks the beginning of a new academic year and gives us the opportunity to gather as an Olivet family in celebration of our shared work together. Please take time during the evening to read once more our mission statement. You will also want to take note of the outstanding achievements by various members of our faculty and staff. Those recognitions and accomplishments are found on pages 4–20 of this dinner program. We hope you have a wonderful evening and a great year at Olivet.

Sincerely,
Jill and John Bowling

*ALMA MATER, OLIVET

Byron M. Carmony '39

To Alma Mater, Olivet, We lift our voice in praise
For noble standards which we'll hold
'til ending of our days.

The time we spent within these halls will ne'er forgotten be,
For here we learned to know of truth,
and truth will make us free.

My Olivet, Our Olivet! Tho' life may lead us far apart,
I'll still revere you in my heart.

My Olivet, Our Olivet. I'll love the Christ
you gave first part,
And you, old Olivet!

2004 FACULTY MEMBER OF THE YEAR

Carol Maxson

Associate Dean, School of Graduate and Adult Studies

Reared in a family that did not place a value on education, Dr. Carol Maxson never planned to attend college — until her best friend began to talk about enrolling at a Christian college called Olivet Nazarene University. A small seed of vision was planted and, soon, Carol began to dream about Olivet.

“I called it my impossible dream,” she shared, recalling how she had done everything possible to apply for assistance to attend Olivet, and had to trust the Lord for the rest.

The Lord was faithful, and a way was made for her to come to Bourbonnais that year.

An engagement led her away after her freshman year, but that was not the end of her Olivet story. Years later, Carol returned as an adult student and graduated with a bachelor’s degree in 1988.

“My impossible dream finally came true,” she said.

And that dream was still unfolding. Right before graduation, Carol learned of an opening in the Office of the Registrar. Carol was hired, and she enrolled at Olivet again — this time to pursue graduate studies. She earned a Master of Arts in Education degree in 1990.

In the years that followed, Carol worked in various offices across campus, but always felt a passion to work with adult students. So when she heard that the University was looking to fill some needs in the School of Graduate and Studies, she knew that was where she needed to be.

The rest is history.

Serving as the associate dean for the School of Graduate and Adult Studies since 2000, Carol oversees a staff that reaches nearly 2,700 students — a number that continues to multiply.

In addition, she has led the growth of the School of Graduate and Adult Studies, as the University now offers 15 graduate and degree-completion programs.

She also has been instrumental in the opening of a new Rolling Meadows, Illinois, location for the School of Graduate and Adult Studies.

But in the midst of that unprecedented growth, Carol keeps her eyes on one thing.

“The heart of my job is to reflect the Olivet mission,” explained Carol, who earned a doctorate in 2000. “As we grow, we have to maintain a balance as we deliver the whole package — the programs and services — without cutting out part of the mission.”

The Rolling Meadows opening is “the tangible example of what God has done with a program we have surrendered to Him. We are just His tools.”

Carol is a testament to Olivet’s mission. Her dreams have not only been realized in her own education and in the daily work of the School of Graduate and Adult Studies, but also in the lives of her children.

“I never anticipated the education model I would become for my own three kids,” she said. “The Lord took one degree and multiplied it into six: three for me and one for each of my three children.”

Carol resides in Bourbonnais and attends College Church of the Nazarene.

Carol, for your 16 years of service, for your commitment to “Education With a Christian Purpose,” and for your tremendous leadership, we salute you as the 2004 Faculty Member of the Year.

2004 STAFF MEMBER OF THE YEAR

Matt Whitis

Director of Physical Plant

Matt Whitis never really had to decide what college to attend. Olivet Nazarene University was a way of life in the Whitis family. His grandparents, his parents, his aunts, his uncles, and his brother are all Olivetians.

"It wasn't even a question as to where I would go to college," he said. "I've been around Olivet my whole life."

As a student pursuing a major in Social Justice, Matt unknowingly laid the groundwork for his future while working for Olivet's Moving and Grounds Department. After graduation, he accepted a full-time position in that department and worked at Olivet for a year before leaving to work as a police officer — his lifetime ambition.

But that experience was just further preparation for what the Lord had planned for Matt. A few months later, he received a call to return to Olivet's Moving and Grounds Department. In 1996, he was promoted to director of public safety and served in that role until 2000, when he was named the director of physical plant.

"Once I left Olivet, I realized that it was exactly the place I wanted to be," he said.

In his current position, he and a dedicated staff oversee the maintenance of Olivet's 30 buildings and 220-acre campus.

"What we do is the first thing people notice," he said. "From landscaping to the upkeep of academic buildings ... we are the first impression."

But for Matt, it goes beyond mere upkeep. His job and the jobs of those who work with him are at the heart of Olivet's mission to provide the highest-quality "Education With a Christian Purpose." In the end, from making sure facilities and utilities are functional to managing parking lots and mowing the lawn, Physical Plant is as vital to recruiting and retaining students and raising critical funds as any other office on campus.

"I am always telling my workers that their job is important," Matt said. "It may seem that they are doing the most mundane, monotonous job, but it is a part of a big deal."

"... I'm only as good as the people who work with me. I have a great staff and I work with an administration that understands the importance of Olivet's infrastructure."

Under Matt's leadership, the University has undertaken major projects. Most recently, the building on Main Street has been transformed into the new home of Shine.fm; Ludwig Center has been renovated to include new offices for student organizations as well as gathering places for students; Benner Library has been renovated to house the departments of Communication and Art; the first floor of Nesbitt Hall is now another alternative for student meals; and changes in Larsen Fine Arts Center have enhanced campus life and academics.

Add those items to events, including Chicago Bears Training Camp, and the daily work it takes to keep Olivet beautiful and running smoothly.

Today, Matt is just as important to Olivet's history as Olivet is to his family's history.

Matt resides in Bourbonnais with his wife, Amy, and their children, Hope, Hannah, and Luke. They attend Kankakee First Church of the Nazarene.

Matt, for your understanding of the importance of your work to Olivet's mission and for your steady leadership, we salute you as the 2004 Staff Member of the Year.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF OLIVET

Olivet Nazarene University's origins can be traced to the first decade of the last century and to the resolve of several families in east central Illinois who were committed to providing a Christian education for their children. In 1907, classes began in a home in the community of Georgetown, Illinois, and a year later, the founders acquired several acres of land in the nearby village called Olivet. There, they raised a modest building and added the secondary level of instruction. A College of Liberal Arts followed in 1909, along with the first name for this fledgling, but ambitious, institution: "Illinois Holiness University."

By 1912, the founders and trustees were aware of the school's need for a wider constituency and offered to give their educational work to the Church of the Nazarene. This young denomination accepted the school with a pledge to support and promote its ministry of Christian higher education. That early church commitment is still being perpetuated by the more than 800 Nazarene congregations throughout Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, and Wisconsin.

The school grew slowly during the next decade. There were several acting and short-term presidents; the campus of 18 acres contained only a few small buildings; the first yearbook, the Aurora, was published in 1914; and a new school name followed in 1915: "Olivet University."

As was the case with many small church colleges in the 1920s, Olivet's financial base eroded significantly, forcing the trustees to declare bankruptcy in 1926. Then-college treasurer Dr. T.W. Willingham bought the school back at a public auction, outlined a new plan for solvency, and was elected that night to serve as president.

A devastating fire destroyed the main campus building in November 1938, prompting the newly elected president, A.L. Parrott, and the trustees to consider locating a new campus as an alternative to rebuilding at their rural site. They found and purchased the present campus in Bourbonnais in 1939 and moved the college in the summer of 1940. "Nazarene" was added to the college's name that same year.

At the time of Olivet's move to Bourbonnais, the campus consisted of 42 acres, which had been the site of St. Viator's College from 1868 until it closed in 1938. Four of the buildings purchased then are still in use today.

Receiving formal recognition and accreditation by the University of Illinois in 1939 was a major academic milestone for Olivet. The college catalogs of the 1940s reflected a School of Liberal Arts, a School of Music, a School of Religion, and a high school Academy. In 1953, under the skillful leadership of Dr. Willis Snowbarger, newly appointed dean, all areas of study were grouped into curricular divisions, still the model for Olivet's academic organization.

Dr. Harold W. Reed, president from 1949–1975, led Olivet through a period of remarkable growth, including the construction of 20 major buildings to keep pace with swelling student enrollments.

Dr. Leslie Parrott continued this focus on campus expansion, development and beautification during his sixteen-year tenure with a specific interest in the elevation of Olivet to university status.

In 1986, the school's name was changed to "Olivet Nazarene University" to reflect the diversity of academic programs and graduate studies.

In 1991, Dr. John C. Bowling became president and has led the University in continued growth and effective ministry.

During the decade of the 1990s, Olivet expanded and strengthened both its undergraduate and graduate programs. The University established a formal development program including planned giving and major gifts, an annual fund program known as Friends of Olivet, renewed grant writing, a comprehensive program of donor relations, and the In Word and Deed capital campaign. In 1994, a full-time chaplaincy program was established to give direction to chapel, student spiritual life activities, small-group ministries, missions, and compassionate ministry experiences.

Chalfant Hall was renovated; the Harlow E. Hopkins Alumni Center was established; Milby Clock Tower was reconstructed; the Red Room, Ludwig Dining Room, and the bookstore were renovated; the coffee shop, Common Grounds, was established; the Olivet computer, media, and communications network was created; the campus entrance was completed; and the Admissions Center was constructed.

In recent years, the Weber Center has been constructed, two parcels of land south of the Admissions Center have been purchased, Larsen Fine Arts Center has been renovated, and significant improvements to the athletic fields have been completed.

In the summer of 2003, the University continued to upgrade and expand its facilities. Olivet purchased a building along with 28 acres of land just south and west of the main campus. The building will become the administrative center for the School of Graduate and Adult Studies.

On the main campus, in Birchard Gymnasium, the University turned the fitness center into a new varsity weight room and the pool area into a new fitness center. In Snowbarger Athletic Park, a new press box and additional seating were installed at the baseball field; the tennis courts were resurfaced and new nets and posts were added; Ward Field was renovated to include a running track, a new entry building, fencing, refurbished bleachers, a new press box, and an enhanced façade; and electric service was improved throughout Snowbarger Athletic Park.

Improvements have continued in 2004, and the University expects another record-setting enrollment for the 2004–2005 school year.

Olivet looks to the future with a confident commitment to aggressively meet the challenges and opportunities that await.
