THE PRESIDENT'S DINNER

FOR FACULTY AND STAFF

OLIVET NAZARENE UNIVERSITY

CHALFANT HALL

AUGUST 22, 2003

6:30 P.M.

HOSTED BY DR. AND MRS. JOHN C. BOWLING

Celebrating the Olivet Family

Olivet Nazarene University • 2003-2004

OUR MISSION

Olivet Nazarene University, a denominational university in the Wesleyan tradition, exists to provide a university-level liberal arts "Education With a Christian Purpose."

Our mission is to provide high-quality academic instruction for the purpose of personal development, career and professional readiness, and the preparation of individuals for lives of service to God and humanity.

"We seek the strongest scholarship and the deepest piety, knowing that they are compatible [and] ... a Christian environment ... where not only knowledge but character is sought." (The quotation is taken from the Olivet Catalog, 1915.)

This mission provides the common ground for us as we blend our various gifts and interests together to impact our students. Each of us will have many opportunities this year to live out this mission. Seize those occasions, for they are moments of great possibility and reward. Through our mission, we transform lives for eternity.

WELCOME

Good evening and welcome. Each year, the President's Dinner marks the beginning of a new academic year and gives us the opportunity to gather as an Olivet family in celebration of our shared work together. Please take time during the evening to read once more our mission statement. You will also want to take note of the outstanding achievements by various members of our faculty and staff. Those recognitions and accomplishments are found on pages 4–18 of this dinner program. We hope you have a wonderful evening and a great year at Olivet.

Sincerely,
Jill and John Bowling

Byron M. Carmony '39

To Alma Mater, Olivet, We lift our voice in praise
For noble standards which we'll hold
'til ending of our days.
The time we spent within these halls will ne'er forgotten be,
For here we learned to know of truth,
and truth will make us free.

My Olivet, Our Olivet! Tho' life may lead us far apart,
I'll still revere you in my heart.
My Olivet, Our Olivet. I'll love the Christ you gave first part,
And you, old Olivet!

2003 FACULTY MEMBER OF THE YEAR

Diane Richardson

Chairwoman, Department of Family and Consumer Sciences

To those who know Dr. Diane Richardson, it is no surprise that she teaches family and consumer sciences at Olivet. Family is at the heart of everything she does.

“My personal goal has always been to enhance family life through education,” Diane shared. “There is a common thread in every area of life: the family. It is central to our well-being.”

Diane graduated from Olivet with a bachelor’s degree in Home Economics Education. She taught at the high-school level for 12 years, but family brought her back to Olivet when her husband accepted a coaching position for the Tigers. The move was an important decision, as the two considered a location to raise their family.

Diane earned a master’s degree in education at Olivet, and accepted a teaching position that became available in the Department of Family and Consumer Sciences in 1985. She had been given the opportunity to incorporate her love for the family with her passion for teaching in a new classroom setting: the university.

“I have always enjoyed teaching,” said Diane, now chairwoman of the Department of Family and Consumer Sciences. “And I enjoy the variety that the discipline offers and the integration of different specializations. The family and consumer sciences discipline continually addresses practical problems families face today.”

At Olivet, the department encompasses new avenues of family life, including Dietetics, Child Development, Fashion Merchandising, Housing and Environmental Design, and Nutrition. In a constantly changing field, Diane tries to use new techniques and strategies in her teaching to better prepare students.

“I want students to feel competent that they have been prepared to be professionals within their specialization,” said Diane, who earned her Ed.D. in child and youth studies from Nova Southeastern University. “I enjoy watching the students work through the decision-making process and use critical-thinking skills that can be applied to everyday family situations as well as in the workplace.”

And the department continues to grow. Freshman classes used to consist of between 15–25 students. In recent years, that number has jumped to between 35–50 new faces.

Despite growth and a changing curriculum, Diane still encourages a family atmosphere marked by personal connections. She weaves the common thread of family life into all areas of her teaching and contact with students.

“I want my students to leave Olivet feeling they have been cared for,” she said. “We are a close-knit family, where each one has his or her own talents and gifts to contribute to the well-being of individuals, families, and communities.”

Family is not just a subject for Diane to teach, but also an important part of her entire life. She and her husband, Ken, both graduates of Olivet, have three daughters: Tara, Tiffany — both Olivet graduates, and Tai. Ken and Diane attend First Church of the Nazarene in Kankakee.

Diane, for your outstanding leadership in the Department of Family and Consumer Sciences and your passion for Olivet and your students, we salute you as the 2003 Faculty Member of the Year.

2003 STAFF MEMBER OF THE YEAR

Dan Ferris

Director of Development

The small town of Cherry Grove, Mich., is geographically not that far from Bourbonnais, but the thought of attending Olivet was far from the mind of Dan Ferris as a young boy. Born on a small farm with no electricity or running water, Dan attended a one-room country school through the eighth grade.

He first learned of Olivet through Cherry Grove Church of the Nazarene, and began to have an interest in attending the school. With no money and no means to pay for college, however, it was only because his sister filled out the application and drove him to Olivet that he found himself here to fend for himself.

Without fully realizing its significance at the time, the torch of Olivet was being passed along to Dan. His journey with the University had just begun.

“Coming here was a great experience for me,” Dan shared. “Olivet took me in and made it possible for me to financially attend the college.”

After graduating, Dan earned a master’s degree from Michigan State University and taught in the public school system for 25 years. But he still held a special place in his heart for Olivet, and felt pulled in this direction when an opportunity arose for him to work in the University’s Office of Development. In his current position as director of development, his goal is to build a solid donor base and increase major funding so that the University can continue its mission.

“I help bring in gifts and build relationships with donors so that the torch can continue to be passed along,” he said. “My goal is to help continue the Olivet mission so that my grandchildren will have the same opportunity to attend Olivet that I and my three children have had.”

Dan has been particularly effective in the implementation and growth of the University’s Friends of Olivet Annual Fund, in addition to spearheading Olivet’s efforts to secure a major grant from the Kresge Foundation for the Weber Center and providing strong support for the In Word and Deed capital campaign. He also gives administrative leadership to the Olivet Nazarene Foundation, which provides hundreds of thousands of dollars each year for student scholarships.

He was recently instrumental in completing a complicated gift arrangement that resulted in the University acquiring the Provena Fortin Villa building and an additional 28 acres of land at minimal cost.

Because of the personal connection Dan has with Olivet, he understands the importance of each gift to the University — no matter the size.

“It is a joy for me to build relationships with donors and see them take an interest in giving to students,” he shared. “I see the torch being carried every day through giving, and it is very rewarding to be a part of that.”

Dan and his wife, Dianne, are supporters of Olivet in numerous ways. Their three children, Daniel, Derek, and Dana, are all Olivet graduates. Dan and Dianne are members of Manteno Church of the Nazarene, where Dan serves on the board.

Dan, for your consistent effort to solicit financial support necessary to sustain Olivet’s mission, we salute you as the 2003 Staff Member of the Year.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF OLIVET

Olivet Nazarene University's origins can be traced to the first decade of the last century and to the resolve of several families in east central Illinois who were committed to providing a Christian education for their children. In 1907, classes began in a home in the community of Georgetown, Illinois, and a year later, the founders acquired several acres of land in the nearby village called Olivet. There, they raised a modest building and added the secondary level of instruction. A College of Liberal Arts followed in 1909, along with the first name for this fledgling, but ambitious, institution: "Illinois Holiness University."

By 1912, the founders and trustees were aware of the school's need for a wider constituency and offered to give their educational work to the Church of the Nazarene. This young denomination accepted the school with a pledge to support and promote its ministry of Christian higher education. That early church commitment is still being perpetuated by the more than 800 Nazarene congregations throughout Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, and Wisconsin.

The school grew slowly during the next decade. There were several acting and short-term presidents; the campus of 18 acres contained only a few small buildings; the first yearbook, the Aurora, was published in 1914; and a new school name followed in 1915: "Olivet University."

As was the case with many small church colleges in the 1920s, Olivet's financial base eroded significantly, forcing the trustees to declare bankruptcy in 1926. Then-college treasurer Dr. T.W. Willingham bought the school back at a public auction, outlined a new plan for solvency, and was elected that night to serve as president.

A devastating fire destroyed the main campus building in November 1938, prompting the newly elected president, A.L. Parrott, and the trustees to consider locating a new campus as an alternative to rebuilding at their rural site. They found and purchased the present campus in Bourbonnais in 1939 and moved the college in the summer of 1940. "Nazarene" was added to the college's name that same year.

At the time of Olivet's move to Bourbonnais, the campus consisted of 42 acres, which had been the site of St. Viator's College from 1868 until it closed in 1938. Four of the buildings purchased then are still in use today.

Receiving formal recognition and accreditation by the University of Illinois in 1939 was a major academic milestone for Olivet. The college catalogs of the 1940s reflected a School of Liberal Arts, a School of Music, a School of Religion, and a high school Academy. In 1953, under the skillful leadership of Dr. Willis Snowbarger, newly appointed dean, all areas of study were grouped into curricular divisions, still the model for Olivet's academic organization.

Dr. Harold W. Reed, president from 1949–1975, led Olivet through a period of remarkable growth, including the construction of 20 major buildings to keep pace with swelling student enrollments.

Dr. Leslie Parrott continued this focus on campus expansion, development and beautification during his sixteen-year tenure with a specific interest in the elevation of Olivet to university status.

In 1986, the school's name was changed to "Olivet Nazarene University" to reflect the diversity of academic programs and graduate studies.

In 1991, Dr. John C. Bowling became president and has led the University in continued growth and effective ministry.

During the decade of the 1990s, Olivet expanded and strengthened both its undergraduate and graduate programs. The University established a formal development program including planned giving and major gifts, an annual fund program known as Friends of Olivet, renewed grant writing, a comprehensive program of donor relations, and the In Word and Deed capital campaign. In 1994, a full-time chaplaincy program was established to give direction to chapel, student spiritual life activities, small-group ministries, missions, and compassionate ministry experiences.

Chalfant Hall was renovated; the Harlow E. Hopkins Alumni Center was established; Milby Clock Tower was reconstructed; the Red Room, Ludwig Dining Room, and the bookstore were renovated; the coffee shop, Common Grounds, was established; the Olivet computer, media, and communications network was created; the campus entrance was completed; and the Admissions Center was constructed.

In recent years, the Weber Center has been constructed, two parcels of land south of the Admissions Center have been purchased, Larsen Fine Arts Center has been renovated, and significant improvements to the athletic fields have been completed.

In the summer of 2003, the University continued to upgrade and expand its facilities. Olivet purchased a building along with 28 acres of land just south and west of the main campus. The building will become the administrative center for the School of Graduate and Adult Studies.

On the main campus, in Birchard Gymnasium, the University turned the fitness center into a new varsity weight room and the pool area into a new fitness center. In Snowbarger Athletic Park, a new press box and additional seating were installed at the baseball field; the tennis courts were resurfaced and new nets and posts were added; Ward Field was renovated to include a running track, a new entry building, fencing, refurbished bleachers, a new press box, and an enhanced façade; and electric service was improved throughout Snowbarger Athletic Park.

Olivet continues to experience record enrollments and looks to the future with a confident commitment to aggressively meet the challenges and the opportunities that await.
