Witness Claims Threats Made By Slain Man

State Nears End Of Case Against
Monroe Hilliard

State's Attorney Frank Curran is expected to complete his case today against Monroe (Money) Hilliard, 48, on trial in Circuit Court charged with murder.

Hilliard is accused of shooting Cecil Waters, 40, outside the Circle Inn restaurant-tavern in Pembroke Township the morning of Dec. 17. Public Defender Richard Ackman, Hilliard's attorney, indicated that he may be through with his defense by Friday.

Hilliard pleaded innocent to the charge and at a coroner's inquest contended that he shot Waters in self-defense.

While "Slim" Lewis Montgomery, 24, of Hopkins Park testified today that Waters (the slain man) had threatened to take Hilliard and himself and Hilliard on two occasions prior to the shooting.

These threats were made during a card game just previous to the slaying and on another occasion during a card game three or four months previous, Montgomery said. He was called as a court witness at the request of Curran. Ackman is also expected to call him as a witness for the defense.

Montgomery, a railroad employee, testified that on the morning of Dec. 17 Waters told him, "I had a gun I would like to kill both of you."

On the previous occasion, Montgomery contended that Waters had left a card game and had come back with a pistol threatening to kill "me and him (Hilliard) both." When asked if the pistol was loaded Montgomery said, "I didn't stay around to find out."

HENRY THOMPSON, RR 1 St. Anne, a Kankakee County deputy sheriff, testified that Hilliard gave him "no trouble" and surrendered the alleged murder weapon when Thompson arrested him.

Thompson also said that the gun was loaded except for one shot which had been fired.

Dr. Robert Hoffman, Kankakee pathologist, testified as the autopsy he performed on Hilliard.

Record Snow Kills 27 In Southern Italy

ROME (UP)—Rescue columns battle deepening snowdrifts in central and southern Italy today with food and other supplies for scores of isolated communities.

The death toll from eight days of subfreezing weather stood at 27. Elsewhere in Europe the cold wave had moderated somewhat.

But more than 20,000 square miles of "snowy Italy" tonight, including Sicily, was covered with snow as deep as six feet in some mountain communities.

Nine persons were injured when 3,000 shivering rioters marched on the City Hall at Andria demanding more help for the unemployed. The Ministry of Interior ordered aid.

A RESCUE TRAIN covered the 10 miles from Bari to the village of Metrano in more than two hours. A snowplow train, not heard from in two days, was reported blocked by three-foot drifts near Locorotondo, also near Bari.

The snow on Sicily exceeded anything the island inhabitants could recall. It fell all night at Palermo.

In Greece, also at least six persons perished in the heavy snowfall and sub-freezing temperatures. This brought the country's toll in the current cold wave to more than 14.

Continue Search For Missing Craft

ABOARD THE USS ARNEB on—Search continued today for a U. S. Navy de Havilland Otter plane, missing in the Antarctic since last Friday with seven men aboard.

The plane, a 11 single-engine plane disappeared while flying from Marie Byrd Land to Little America 4, made base of operation Deep Freeze, the U. S. Antarctic expedition.

The plane, carrying members of a trail blazing party whose surface vehicles had broken down. Air and ground parties, hampered by bad weather, have been searching for the Otter.

The Arneb, cargo ship for Deep Freeze, is in the Antarctic since last Friday with seven men aboard.

George J. Dufek, commander of the Deep Freeze Task Force, is still in Antarctica.

patrol bomber about 25 miles northeast of Boca de Urao in a clearing alongside a river.

Boca de Urao is in the delta area of the Orinoco River, and is south of Boca de La Sierra (Serpent's Mouth), the strait between Trinidad and Venezuela.

THE NEPTUNE, with Lt. Cmdr. John H. Torbert of Carmel Valley, Calif., as the pilot, left Patuxent Naval Station, Md., Tuesday to ship in the search for a small Otter plane missing with seven men in Antarctica since Feb. 3.

Torbert returned from Antarctica only two weeks ago. He planned to fly by way of Puerto Rico and South America.

The Navy said the Neptune left Ramey Air Base at Aguadilla Tuesday en route to Manaus, Brazil.

Loss of power apparently forced it down in the vicinity of 9.18 degrees north, 62.65 degrees west.

YOUTH HELD AFTER Accident Kills Man

JOLIET (UP)—Arthur C. Mathison, 61, of Route 3, Lockport, was killed early today in an auto accident five miles north of Lockport.

Police said he was parked on a highway or pulling out of a parking lot when his car was struck by an auto driven by Paul Mroch Jr., 18, of Lemont.

Mroch was charged with driving too fast for conditions.

It was decided to confer with Village Attorney Samuel Shapiro over a possible change in the liquor ordinance making licenses non-transferable.

The board also decided future applicants for a liquor license will have to present a written application to the board and personally appear to have provisions of the ordinance explained.

Guimond was finally granted the license.

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States told Moscow today it will try to avoid launching balloons from places where upper air currents might carry them over Soviet territory.

Russia complained that balloons equipped with cameras and radios have been floated by the U. S. armed forces into Soviet airspace, endangering Russian aircraft.

The long U. S. note also pointed out that this government has no responsibility for propaganda balloons launched by private citizens and groups.

PRESIDENT MAY DECIDE BY END OF THE MONTH

NATIONAL AMERICAN Legion Cmdr. J. Addington Wagner's twin engine Aero Commander, with Pilot James Parham, former World War II Navy pilot at the controls, taxis down Route 113 preparing for a very unusual takeoff this morning following the commander's visit to Kankakee. A wet, soggy runway made takeoffs at the Kankakee Airport impractical and at 11:10 a.m., with state police posted at each end of the highway "runway," the plane took off in half the space allotted. The commander's destination was Indianapolis, Ind. The takeoff was not unprecedented. The field is often in the same condition in wet weather, especially in the early spring, and there has been other such departures—but not many. (Journal photo)

Wagner Cites Stand On Major Issues

J. Addington Wagner, national commander of the American Legion, speaking at a meeting in the Legion Home here Tuesday night, defended the Legion National Executive Committee's "difficult decisions in the face of criticism" and warned, "If we compromise with our principles the American Legion becomes just another social club."

Cmdr. Wagner told the legionnaires, guests and civic leaders in attendance that the committee did not back off from difficult decisions even when it was well known in advance that public criticism would result. He referred to the legion's stand regarding UNESCO, pensions, federal aid to education and the legion opposition to the Fund for the Republic.

The national commander arrived at the Kankakee Airport Tuesday evening where he was met by Mayor Ed P. Madison and a group of community leaders and members of Kankakee American Legion post 85.

This talk followed a dinner in the Legion Home. State Cmdr. Al Leonard of the Department of Internal Affairs and a group of legion officials were among those who attended the reception.

Cmdr. Wagner gave a word of praise for post 85's national champion senior color guard, which had performed for the commander in Battle Creek, Mich. Before swinging into his speech, which explained top ranking legion activities, he cited the importance of "giving the American Legion a good name," and stressed child welfare and Americanism.

"THE REAL reason the American Legion is such a force for good here in Kankakee and throughout our nation is our program of service to God and country, and the real reason this program is so effective is that it represents our personal ideals and objectives translated by individual action into concrete accomplishment," Cmdr. Wagner said.

He discussed the grants being given universities by the American Legion Child Welfare Foundation and the far reaching results of the program. He stated, "Whatever we do for the benefit of our community or for the welfare of our beloved nation is never lost, but this type of service expands in ever-widening circles."

Wagner made a plea that all legion posts heed the National Child Welfare Commission's request that a vigorous part be taken in the children's and youth work of their own communities.

But our service programs are not without dressing in Wagner explained. Organized child welfare programs and junior baseball teams not to get more members but to perform the maximum service of devotion to the nation and to its territory.

Red China Tuesday also charged that U. S. "military reconnaissance" balloons had drifted over its territory.

IN REPLY, the United States is understood to have told the Kremlin it will try to avoid launching balloons from places where upper air currents might carry them over Soviet territory.

Russia complained that balloons equipped with cameras and radios have been floated by the U. S. armed forces into Soviet airspace, endangering Russian aircraft.

The long U. S. note also pointed out that this government has no responsibility for propaganda balloons launched by private citizens and groups.

Must Convince Himself First

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower told a news conference today that he thought he would be able to announce his decision on a second term by the end of this month.

Mr. Eisenhower was asked a series of questions about the possible availability of Chief Justice Earl Warren as a Republican presidential candidate.

He said there were many ways Warren could be a candidate and the chief justice would encounter no opposition from Mr. Eisenhower.

MR. EISENHOWER said, however, that he did not think it would be appropriate for him to case he decides not to run again, to ask any other Republican to make the race.

To do so, the President said, would imply that he could win the election for another man.

The President will undergo an extensive physical checkup Feb. 13-14 to determine the extent of his recovery from the heart attack which he suffered Sept. 24.

He said that aside from the actual timing of his decision, he had to convince himself that he could carry on the burdens of the presidency sufficiently.

He explained that if he did not feel he could measure up to the job, then his decision would be obvious.

OTHER NEWS highlights at Mr. Eisenhower's meeting with reporters:

1. The recent riots involving a Negro student at the University of Alabama are deplorable.

2. He conceded that Russia might be ahead of this country in some of the latest developments in the field of atomic energy.

FLU BUG,
JR. GRADE,
BUSY HERE

Feel all dragged out with a lot of aches and pains. Do you have chills or fever?

Well, don't get alarmed. You're right in style with a lot of others as the "flu bug" appears to be making its rounds in Kankakee. Schools, manufacturing plants and offices report that absenteeism is up considerably because of the prevalence of flu.

Doctors describe the current season of the flu as a mild form which lasts only a few days and advise that it is nothing to get alarmed about. Their recommendation: go to bed for a couple of days.

The heavy increase in the number of "cold" cases started in January and appears to be about at its peak.

George Seeks Bribe
Report In A Week

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Walter F. George said today he thinks his special committee can report next week on whether any improper influence was attempted to sway a Senate vote of Sen. Francis Case.

The Georgia Democrat said he hopes two days of hearings—on Friday and Saturday—will be enough to investigate the incident described by Case (R-Sd) during debate on the natural gas bill.

Case was favorably inclined to the bill.

Case voted against the bill after disclosing the incident and in the middle of the day George's committee emerged as victorious at least.

Cut Inequities In Immigration Laws, Ike Urges

Ask Congress To Ease Admission Of 220,000 To U. S.

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower today urged Congress to overhaul the nation's immigration laws to wipe out "inequities" and ease the way for 220,000 foreign-born residents each year.

Eisenhower said he thought this rise of about 65,000 over the present annual quota of 154,871 immigrants is justified by the country's past growth and current economic conditions.

He said too that it would be a recognition of "our responsibility of world leadership."

In a special message, Eisenhower also told the lawmakers there is need to speed up the process of deporting unworthy aliens—persons who have been found to be criminals of the lowest character, trafficking in murder, narcotics and subversion.

He said Atty. Gen. Brownell will submit a proposal in this field later.

The President's message dealt a great extent with recommendations for revision of the 1932 McCarran-Walter Act, which became law over the veto of former President Truman.

BUT IT ALSO made recommendations in these other principal fields:

1. Granting discretion to the attorney general to waive technicalities in special cases where aliens seek entry to the United States.

At present Congress must pass individual bills in such cases and the President is required to act separately on each measure.

Eisenhower said granting the attorney general the requested discretion "would substantially eliminate the need for private legislative redress in this area."

Eisenhower said the discretionary powers should be limited to aliens with close relatives in this country, to veterans and to functionalists of religious organizations.

2. Elimination of "unnecessary" restrictions and administrative provisions of our immigration laws. In that connection one recommendation was for elimination of the requirement that all aliens visiting this country be accompanied by a U. S. citizen.

Eisenhower said that "although in our minds no stigma is attached to fingerprinting it is not a requirement of travel in other countries."

Malaya To Get
Self-Government

LONDON (UP)—Britain grants self-government within the British Commonwealth today to another in its shrinking list of colonies, the Federation of Malaya.

At the same time, powerful law-making powers were moving to the Malaya Commonwealth further by inviting the free nations of West Europe and Asia to join as a bulwark against Communist influence.

Malaya, the world's biggest producer of rubber, was being welcomed from the ranks of 100 of the world's colonies in a ceremony at Lancaster House granting it self-government as of Aug. 31, 1957.

100 Attend Marriage Session Here

Approximately 100 persons attended Dr. S. M. Duvall's lecture discussion on "Just and Durable Marriage," Tuesday night in the First Methodist Church.

The session was the third in a series of four meetings concerning the theme, "Successful Marriage and Family Life."

This series, sponsored by the Young Men's Christian Association and churches of Kankakee, is the result of the popularity of a series, "A Preparation for Marriage and Family Life," conducted under the same sponsorship in 1954.

Four young people attending the current series were prior to their marriages, among those who attended the original sessions.

Phases of marriage and family life discussed Tuesday night included, "Children Unsettled—Why You Cannot Treat Them All Alike," "What Is Essential in Child Training," "Freedom, Discipline and Character Education," and "Children as Opportunities and Fun, Rather Than Problems."

Four teachers and 20 family life students of Kankakee High School attended the Tuesday night meeting.

Visiting Teacher Reports On Stay In Kankakee

Kyuma Sakamoto, Japanese teacher who is visiting in the United States, had some good things to say about Kankakee's school system, as well as a suggestion or two, as he ended a four-week stay here Tuesday.

Sakamoto was in the United States observing American schools and way of life under a program sponsored by the State Department.

Sakamoto said he was quite favorably impressed by these things in Kankakee's schools:

1. The fine group of special teachers and supervisors who give the teachers help that many in Japan do not have.
2. The in-training program for teachers, such as the seminar for new teachers, workshops, etc.
3. The accent on good school facilities and equipment, particularly at the junior high school level.
4. The experiment in primary reading being carried on in six first-grade sections.
5. The excellent English as a foreign language in Japan, said he believes phonics and word recognition should not be separated, but should be taught together.
6. The student teaching program, in which college students gain practical experience in the classroom before going into the field.

Urges Registration Of Bicycles At City Hall

Police Chief Wallace Flannery today urged parents to see that their youngsters have their bicycles registered at police headquarters.

Flannery said officers will be on hand Saturday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. at the city hall to put the license plates on the bikes, stamp the registration number on the frame and file an identification card at police headquarters.

The licenses are good for three years and are being sold as a protection to bicyclists and as an aid to police in identifying bikes which are lost or stolen.

Flannery said the 50-cent registration charge barely covers the cost of the license and registration; and the licensing is being done to help bicyclists and save the financial loss to bike owners.

Association Fights Democrat Plan To Tax Motorists

WASHINGTON (UP)—The American Automobile Association complained today that ordinary motorists would have to pay an "unfair share" of new road-building costs under a tax-boosting plan proposed by House Democratic leaders.

The AAA said it is opening a drive to mobilize "grass roots" pressure on Congress to revise the tax plan so that operators of the trucks pay their "fair share."

The association's opposition to the Democratic plan was voiced by its executive vice-president, Russell E. Singer, in an interview with the United Press.

Singer said he believed he was speaking not only for the AAA's five million members, but for all of the millions of motorists "who are not well organized and have no commercial ax to grind."

The Democratic plan was embodied in a bill introduced Monday by Rep. Hale Boggs (D-La.). Its major revenue-raising features include an additional 1-cent-a-gallon tax on gasoline and diesel fuel and an across-the-board tax increase of 2 cents a pound on tires, big and small.

The House Ways and Means Committee will open hearings on the Boggs bill next Monday.

FIRST QUALITY PERFECT FIT

Last week, in "answer" to RUDY'S PUBLISHED PROOF THAT STAMPS COST YOU MONEY, a stamp store said: "Be your own judge! Compare store-wide prices, not just those which are advertised or on the few on which price comparisons have been made. What about meat prices? What about produce? Compare variety, freshness and quality, too! Make these comparisons for yourself. Don't take anyone else's word for it."

That's exactly what Rudy wants you to do! For many, many weeks Rudy has consistently urged food-shoppers to check other stores, then bring the identical shopping list to Rudy's for comparison. SHOP AND COMPARE... item-for-item, quality-for-quality, brand-for-brand... THRUOUT THE STORE!

Rudy doesn't have "advertised leaders" that represent a tiny fraction of your total food requirements. Rudy doesn't have "early week specials" that save you a few cents on a few items for a few days. Rudy doesn't have stamps. Rudy doesn't have "giveaways." Rudy doesn't have gimmicks.

All Rudy has is hundreds upon hundreds of everyday low shelf prices designed to save his customers money... 7 days a week.

Yes, we certainly agree! YOU BE THE JUDGE. Decide for yourself—whether you prefer to spend money on stamps, or save money for yourself. RUDY INVITES COMPARISON—"right down the line"—ON QUALITY, VARIETY, FRESHNESS AND PRICE... of MEATS, PRODUCE AND STAPLES!

What About Produce?

Rudy's produce is selected personally by Rudy's own produce buyer early every morning at the Chicago market—then rushed by Rudy's own transport truck directly to Broadway for trimming and prepackaging before the store opens. They're all selected first-grade fruits and vegetables available to you in the newest of packaging techniques at prices lower than ordinary produce. Rudy is "fussy" about produce.

Missile Chief May Face Questioning

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Air Force's research chief, reported to have submitted his resignation in a controversy over guided missiles, has been questioned in a "possible conflict of interest" case. It was learned that Trevor Gardner, assistant Air Force secretary, was questioned by staff employees of the Senate investigating subcommittee in what was described as a "preliminary inquiry." The nature of the case was not disclosed.

Negroes Fail To Stir North Carolina U.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C., (UP)—Three Negro undergraduates have been absorbed in the 6,500-member student body at the University of North Carolina—with no more violent campus reaction than raised eyebrows.

One semester after a federal court order broke the racial barrier at the general college level, not even stirring expressions of joy or Leroy and Ralph Traylor and their friend John Lewis Brandon across the campus of this 161-year-old traditionally white Southern university.

The quiet end to segregation was thrown into sharp relief this week by turmoil at the University of Alabama, where rioting students greeted the admission of a Negro.

WHILE AUTHORITY Lucy fed eggs through classmates at Tusculum, John Brandon exchanged casual greetings with white boys rooming in the same dormitory with him on this peaceful village campus.

Leroy, 18, and his brother Ralph, 14 months younger, live within a couple of blocks of North Carolina College in Durham, a state-supported institution for Negroes. Brandon, 18, also lives within easy distance.

Although the state and the university's Board of Trustees bowed to the Federal District Court order and admitted the three Negro youths, the ending of segregation on the undergraduate level has not been accepted as final.

In an appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court in this case, Sen. Strom Thurmond has asked the court to reverse as erroneous its historic decision that school segregation is unconstitutional. Lawyers for the three boys have asked the court to dismiss the appeal.

Over-Exposure, Physical Exhaustion Take TV Toll

NEW YORK (UP)—TV is a bounteous horn of plenty or a bottomless stomach. It depends upon your vantage point.

It is a study in contrasts. It is a woe of new talent, a creator of a new race of giants, a bestower of wealth and stardom. But it is also a fickle and sometimes ruthless glutton.

It has dropped multi-million dollar contracts in the laps of such performers as Milton Berle, Jackie Gleason, Martin and Lewis and Ed Sullivan. But it has tried to chew up others like Imogene Coca, Wally Cox and Red Buttons.

The first giant of television was Milton Berle. He engineered the "breakthrough." He picked TV up on his shoulders and carried it over the hump. He did it in 1948.

There were about 175,000 receivers in the nation that year. TV was a sometimes thing.

"BACK IN 1947," recalls Berle, "I did an all-night telethon for a heart benefit. I stayed on for eight hours without stopping. I got to like it."

"A little after that, another firm decided to go into TV and I was approached by their ad agency and asked if I had any ideas. I said: 'How about doing something I've been doing for 25 years—a variety-vaudeville show.' We put it on June 8, 1948."

That first season, Berle did 30 shows on TV plus 30 more on radio. He is now on only 13 times a season now, but he plans to cut it down to 4 appearances next season.

"This business, TV, is constant hard work," he says. "And there's a lot of it. I mean the kind of show that is very casual and friendly."

"I think the situation comedy is usually not ideal for exploiting the 'least dramatic' feature."

"What do I think about the draining powers of TV? Well, I'm not supposed to tell you, I think. You see, I've still got 35 years to go on an NBC contract. But it certainly does give one pause, doesn't it?"

Walter Johnson, scout field executive, presented the charter to the Rev. O. J. Henley, institutional representative and made special presentations.

The title of Dr. Marinaccio's talk is the Boy Scout theme for the oncoming four-year program.

A Boy Scout troop from Plainfield presented an Indian ceremony for cub advancement. Scouts were dressed in authentic Indian costumes and danced several tribal dances.

The following advancement were made:

Discovery May Save Tots With Defective Hearts

ROCHESTER, Minn. (UP)—Heart research is revealing a reason why some children born with deformed hearts manage to live as long as they do.

The finding could improve their chances of life even more, and aid in selecting the type of surgery to overcome their defect.

It concerns the pressure under which blood is pumped to the lungs, or to the rest of the body.

IN HEALTHY people, the heart pumps blood to the whole body at higher pressure than is needed to send it only through the lungs and back to the heart.

But some children are born with only one ventricle, or lower chamber of the heart, instead of two. Or there are big holes between the two chambers, so blood flows back and forth between them.

These are the pumping chambers. One pumps blood to the lungs for a number of years.

DR. JESSE E. Edwards, pathologist of the Mayo Foundation, medical education and research finds that they live because the artery leading to their lungs is thicker and stronger than normal. It can stand the higher pressure, or require pressure so high that enough blood is routed to the rest of the body.

In effect, he says, these children have a pulmonary or lung artery that never grew up. Before birth, this artery is always narrower and thicker than other arteries. The unborn body does not need to have blood circulate through its lungs, because he gets oxygen from his mother.

At birth, this artery normally changes. Its inner channel widens and its wall becomes weaker, so it can take a flow of blood.

In some children with the heart defect, the artery remains thicker and stronger, and can take higher pressure.

In time, though, the high pressure leads to trouble, and the child or adolescent dies unless his defect is corrected by surgery. New techniques of surgery are saving numerous such children.

The new pathologic findings can be helpful in guiding surgeons, particularly in devising the kind of correction that would restore normal function of the heart to give normal or longer life.

'They Need Help And I Can Give It To Them'

Unmarried Woman Doctor Plans To Adopt 7 Indians

LEMON, Pa. (UP)—A young and unmarried woman chiropractor, already the foster mother of two children orphaned nine years ago, heads for Idaho soon to collect seven little Indians whom she intends to adopt.

The whole happy brood will be turned loose in Dr. Imogene Barker's five-bedroom house which, she says, "we can fix up here and there to accommodate all nine children and a married couple now living with me."

Rule Taxes Owed On Prizes Won At Church Bazaars

WASHINGTON (UP)—Taxes must be paid on prizes awarded at church bazaar drawings, the U. S. Tax Court ruled today.

"If the plan or scheme falls within the definition of a lottery, it is not rendered something else because it is conducted for a charitable or religious purpose," the court said.

The recipient of a lottery prize does not receive tax-free income because the sponsors conducted the lottery for the public purpose.

The upshot of the decision is that the former Diane M. Farnsworth, now Mrs. Duane Sullivan, won $39 in taxes on a government bond valued at $750. Another father Richard C. Farnsworth must come up with more tax money for 1952, counting a bond, was more than $600. Thus he loses as a dependency credit for that year.

The case arose from a bazaar conducted by St. Mary's Church in Boise, Idaho, to raise funds for the religious and charitable purposes.

The long distance operator assured Mee that Bulganin was on the wire.

MEE WAS ASSURED by the voice at the other end that he was speaking to the premier.

"I would like to ask you a question," Mee said. "I hope you will be able to answer."

"I will try," he was told.

"Since the Russian draft of a treaty of friendship has been refused by the United States, what will be the next move on the part of the Kremlin?" another attempt to make along this line," Mee asked.

No, I don't know," was the reply.

Static disrupted further attempts at conversation. Then Mee said, "Good-bye," and he heard his Russian for "good-bye."

Mee heard a chuckle at the other end of the line.

"Goodbye," said the Kremlin voice.

Mee still is wondering what to write about for his term paper.

Your Income Tax — No. 8 —

Self Employed Tax Issues

Now we come to the special tax problems of the self employed, a group which is growing in size and importance. This group—except for social security tax—is taxed at the same rate as other individuals. It therefore does not include corporations, which are taxed at different rates, and use entirely different tax forms.

One huge point of confusion resulting from the government's terminology should be cleared up at once. This is: self employment tax as used on tax forms and in government tax instructions and the official "Your Federal Income Tax" means the social security tax (not income tax) of self employed persons.

Not all the self employed are subject or eligible for social security tax or benefits. Not all kinds of self employment income may be counted toward social security benefits, and therefore not all kinds of self employment income are subject to the social security tax.

BUT SO FAR AS their income tax is concerned, the self employed are all subject to tax, and all types of incomes may be taxed, within the same limitations as apply to all other individuals.

That is:

The self employed may be subject to two federal taxes on their income, and they handle the two separately, one being their income tax, and the other their social security tax. Where you find "self employment tax" on your tax forms (for instance page 3 of Form 1040) you find it under the heading "Schedule C—Computation of Self Employment Tax," and line 15 on page 1 of Form 1040 just read it "social security tax" to avoid confusion with the income tax.

The self employed (so far as their own business is concerned) do not pay their income tax by withholding, as do employees. Therefore, nearly all the self employed must file declarations of estimated tax, and make estimated tax payments. They may also be employers, who withhold from others and are thus obliged to report and pay to the government withholdings for their employees' income and social security taxes.

1. The federal income tax of the self employed.

You must file a return if (as in the case of all other individual tax-returns), in Schedule H of Form 1040. He then enters his net partnership income (plus other income) at line 10 (Other income) on page 1 of Form 1040, and completes the form (joint or separate) like other individual taxpayers.

2. The Social Security tax of the self employed.

In the case of an employee, the employer and the employee contribute equally to the 4 per cent social security tax on earnings of the employee, up to $4,200.

Eligible self employed pay a compromise percentage—4 3/4 per cent—but on the same amount of earnings—up to $4,200. No social security tax need be paid if your applicable net earnings in the year were under $400, however.

Occupations excluded from social security are those of public officials, physician, lawyer, dentist, osteopath, veterinarian, chiropractor, naturopath, optometrist, and (unless they specifically ask to be covered) ministers of the gospel including Christian Science practitioners. Types of income excluded are set out in the instructions on page 4 of Schedule C.

MYF Of Forrest Schedules Second In Study Series

FORREST (JNS)—The Methodist Youth Fellowship will meet Sunday night for the second of its study series on denominational church government and beliefs.

Meredith Ricketts will be the resource leader for the subject, "The Congregational Family."

Feb. 13 has been set as the date for a roller skating party in the Pontiac Methodist Church.

YOU HANDLE YOUR business and your personal affairs separately. Your business income is reported separately on Schedule C (Schedule F for farmers) where you add up your business income, take your business deductions (including depreciation), and determine your net business income.

"This you transfer to line 8 (line 9 for farmers) on page 1 of Form 1040. You then add in any other income you had from salaries, dividends, nonbusiness interest payments, nonbusiness interest, and complete the standard individual tax form as does any other individual filing jointly if you desire.

In doing so, you take your personal deductions, and exemptions (which may NOT be taken on Schedule C).

One point to remember—your business income is income from the operations of your business. This does not include profit or loss from transactions in capital assets of your business. Of course, your business may be that of dealing in capital assets, such as a stock broker, in which case your profit from the transactions are ordinary, not capital, gains.

Partnerships report on a different form—Form 1065. Each partner then enters his share of the net profits (exclusive of capital gains, dividends, etc., entered in different

How To Tell A Child That He Is Adopted

(This is the last of three articles on the problems of adopting a baby.)

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE M.D.
AP Newsfeatures

All the experienced people who know about adoption agree that an adopted child should grow up with the idea that he is adopted. Sooner or later he is bound to find out. If the knowledge comes suddenly it's apt to be a rough blow. If the child is young when he learns from someone outside the family that he was adopted he is apt to be fearful that since he was cast out by his own parents he may be cast out again by his present parents. If he is older when the sudden knowledge comes he may be resentful.

"Why did you lie to me? How can I trust anything you say?" But how and when to tell a child, it's impossible to give an exact answer.

Try to talk about the adoption in a matter of fact way. Don't conceal it, ever. But at the same time, don't feel forced to drag it into every conversation.

There are many times when the fact that your child was adopted can be brought in casually: "No, I didn't breast feed Nancy. It's sort of hard to breast feed an adopted baby!" Or when someone tells you Nancy is the image of her father you can say "Isn't that lucky—she's adopted, you know."

Before long Nancy herself will pick up the word and you'll get "What's 'adopted' mean? Mommie?" And you tell her: "Adopted is one way Mommie and Daddy got a little girl. Your Mommie and Daddy wanted a little girl with yellow hair and blue eyes, just like you. We went to a place where they had a lot of babies and the lady showed us the cutest little girl you ever saw. She looked right at me and yawned and I picked her up and hugged her. Daddy said 'That's the girl for us!' And we took her home and here she is our very own Nancy!" and you give her a hug as you say it.

That's plenty of a story to begin with.

Later Nancy will learn that a baby grows in the mommie's abdomen. She will probably ask if she grew in yours. Answer truthfully "No, you grew in some other woman's abdomen and were all ready for us when we picked you out." When the point first comes up it might be just as well to avoid the use of the word "mommy" for the other woman. Let the child be come accustomed to the idea. She may like the story of how you got her and want it told over and over.

When Nancy is a little older she will probably ask you "Why did your first mommie give me away?" There is always a bit of fear in this question. If it happened once, couldn't it happen again?

Answer truthfully—"I don't know, Nancy dear, I'm sure she didn't want to, but I know there was some very important reason. But weren't we lucky to get you, and we are

Keep In Trim

The years need not make ex- old. Inspiring proof is Ebel Barrymore who is 76 and has the challenging spirit to match. Miss Barrymore contends that life is just like a good play and for her the exciting and satisfying third act is just beginning.

The story of her long, full years, described in "Family Circle," gives her philosophy. Here are some of the highlights. . . . She has always considered the best time of life . . . the moment. She is convinced that without faith, life is not worth living. And although this famous actress has had many great disappointments she has never accepted disappointment or allowed them to prevent her from starting something new. Mary Margaret McBride Farewell To All

Dear Reader:

This is a letter to say, as personal as if you had just taken it, in an envelope addressed to you, out of your own mailbox.

What I write to say is this—I'm giving up the column that I hope you have been reading regularly for nearly two years and a half. I'm a sentimental woman and so I'm not ashamed to record that my heart is heavy and there are tears in my eyes as I put down these final words.

For a long time now I have looked forward to, and loved, your warm, intelligent letters, even when you disagreed with me. I feel as if I know almost as well as I know my next-door neighbor, that woman in Michigan who found a way to dislodge the chip on her husband's shoulder, the man in the middle west who thought educating her was the worst way in the world to treat a woman; the girl in Brooklyn who discovered that wearing glasses wasn't such a tragedy in her life after all; the night watchman in Arizona who made card-playing for peace a hobby; the couple in upstate New York who dropped everything and took a little trip when they were in danger of getting on each other's nerves—and so many, many others.

I THINK, OFTEN, too, of one woman who did not write and probably never knew that her plight was of great concern to hundreds of us—remember the lonely "neighborhood pest" about whom an ex-operated friend asked advice? It was as a result of the mail on a column using her letter that I began to think seriously about how many lonely people there are in the world.

I wish so much that I could help them — and the frightened older people who feel they have no place, the handicapped men and women, those who have lost or seek a strong faith. I think a columnist ought to be able to do something constructive about all of these. I have felt inadequate because I haven't done it better.

BUT SOMETIMES a column is pure fun. Often when I've read a good book, had an interesting conversation, enjoyed a particularly fine meal, I could hardly wait

St. Anne Sodality Plans Card Party

St. Anne Sodality of Maternity Church in Bourbonnais will sponsor a public card party Sunday at 8 p.m. in the Civic Auditorium. Patriotic decorations will be featured. A dessert will be served preceding the card games. Pictured checking over last minute items for the event are left, Miss Beatrice Legesse, president of the sodality; Mrs. Omer Tetrault, chairman of the card party; and Mrs. Robert Goodwin, co-chairman. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the sodality or at the door. (Journal photo)

to share the experience with you. It was so nice to have a place in which to put down reminiscences, jests, points of view, too, this is a very special pleasure known only to columnists. And invariably your response was more interesting than the original. I remember when I launched that all-out war on tipping as un-American — I never dreamed feeling could run so high on such an every-day subject. I'd like to do more about that, more about my old-bare-turned-into-home and so many subjects.

Oh, I shall miss my column—miss writing it far more than any of you will miss reading it, I'm sure.

Why then, you may well ask, am I writing this farewell to you, to the nice people of The Associated Press, and to the kind editors throughout the country who have made the column successful by buying it? It is because I have come to one of the crossroads all of us reach, and for a while, at least, a daily column is out for me. But I wish you would please hold me in your memory. After all, I am only saying so reverie which means "until we meet again."

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio says Soviet scientists have explored a strange antarctic oasis covering about 300 square miles. The mid-day temperature there rises to 77 degrees and there is primitive plant life, the broadcast said, adding: "A high degree of solar radiation and the heat of the rocks makes the snow melt early in the spring." No further explanation was given.

AUSTRIA-U. S. SIGN PACT
VIENNA (AP)—Austria and the United States signed a contract today for the sale of $22,500,000 worth of surplus U. S. agricultural products this year. About 14½ million dollars of this will be a loan to Austria, to be repaid over 40 years at 4 per cent interest. The United States agreed to spend most of the balance in Austria.
