MACIS, A TALL, slender high school freshman, was 14 when the gang set out last July 1 to avenge a beating of one of their members by another teenager, growl. The victim of the shotgun blast was Kenneth Slebocka, 17, fatally wounded as he stood on the South Side street corner with other youths.

Macis said the shotgun he was holding went off accidentally. The youths with him carried baseball bats, iron clubs and a rifle. Morocco Legion Auxiliary Makes Plans For Year

MOROCCO, Ind. (JNS)—The Auxiliary of the Morocco Legion met Monday in the home of Mrs. Milton Kay.

Nineteen members were present. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Charles Kay. Plans were made for the ensuing year. The local unit has now 79 members.

THE ACTION ALC is expected to improve Israel's chances of getting more additional military equipment, but State Department Press Officer Lincoln White said Saturday night's action was not related to Israel's bid for up to $4 million in American arms.

The 1,000-word statement released by the State Department said the embargo was ordered to determine whether the tank shipment was being made in compliance with U.S. laws and policies "with respect to the maintenance of peace and stability in the area."

"This examination has taken place and it was confirmed that all requests for Middle East shipments conformed with the above criteria," the statement said.

"The President has, therefore, decided to permit the export of those items covered by outstanding valid export licenses for the Arab states and Israel which have not already gone forward."

The statement added that requests for arms which have not been approved and any future requests would be subject to "the most careful scrutiny in the light of policies" set forward in a 1950 American-British-French declaration and in acts of Congress.

Consideration will be given also to a continuing review of the situation in the area," it said.

The Eisenhower administration hoped that reversal of the embargo and quick shipment of the tanks to Saudi Arabia would boost American chances of obtaining rights to use the Dharan Saudi Arabia Air Base until 1961. The action also was taken in the fear that failure to deliver the tanks would result in a new Communist arms sale in the Middle East.

Reds Threaten To Bomb U. S. If West Attacks

MOSCOW (UP)—Defense Minister Georgi K. Zhukov said Saturday the Soviet Union has "mighty added missiles" and if the West launches an attack the Russians will hurl atomic bombs on American cities.

In an address before the 20th March Congress declared that peace it is prepared to go all out in the event of war.

AN OFFICIAL, condensed summary of his speech released by the government news agency, said:

"Soviet armed forces, due to the constant attention of the party and government in securing the defense capacity of the nation, has been completely reorganized. They now have diverse atomic and nuclear weapons, mighty guided missiles, among them long-range missiles. They are in possession of a first class jet air force capable of solving any problem that might arise in the event of aggressive attack."

"The Soviet Union does not threaten anybody and does not intend to attack anybody. But also there is no secure guarantee of a durable peace as we are obliged to maintain such armed forces as would be capable of reliably defending the interests of our people so that no provocation by an enemy could surprise us."

Zhukov described the Soviet military forces and the forces of the Soviet Union as a "friendly family" of military men who will fight "without sparing lives in the interests of the people."

THE SOVIET marshal, who developed a personal friendship with President Eisenhower when they met at the Yalta conference, said that overran Germany, said any future war would be large scale. The Soviet Union, he declared, is now able to wreck any plans of the West to confine hostilities to the continent of Europe.

His threat pointed up a speech by Anastas Mikoyan, Soviet foreign trade expert, who declared Russia has atomic and hydrogen bombs, and the "means of bringing these bombs on planes or rockets to any spot on the globe."

Mikoyan said Stalin's statement in his last year, "The Economic Problems of Socialism in the U.S.S.R.," that production in the United States will not be "a hardy help us and is hardly correct," added, "The personality cult flourished. This is a mistake. It can hardly help us and is hardly correct."

A diplomatic note delivered to the United States by the Soviet ambassador in Washington, Charles E. Bohlen, renewed the Soviet protest against the flight of balloons in Soviet air space. The Soviet reply said in effect that the United States version was not correct.

The Soviet note declared the American description of weather balloons did not correspond with "studies of the equipment by Soviet experts."

"All the young men whose careers are being ruined by the Russians refuse to accept any of the explanations in regard to the flight of balloons in the U.S.S.R.," he added, "It is a knowledge of the statement of the United States government that it will take measures to stop further balloon flights over the Soviet Union."

At charged, "The United States ordered an immediate grounding of the balloons, which had been launched from Germany and Turkey, pending a study of whether they had been flying over Soviet territory."

The Soviet Union originally protested the flight of balloons in its air space. The balloons, which had been launched from Germany and Turkey, pending a study of whether they had been flying over Soviet territory.

U.S. Cancels 2-Day Mid East Arms Embargo

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States Saturday night lifted its arms embargo on arms shipments to the Middle East.

President Eisenhower authorized the State Department to cancel the 48-hour-old arms embargo ordered after a disclosure that 18 U.S. tanks were being loaded aboard ship for Saudi Arabia.

The decision cleared the way for the immediate shipment of the 18 tanks.

for immediate shipment of $10,000,000 in automotive, signal and aircraft equipment scheduled to be delivered to Israel.

'Whitey' Dahl Was Last Of Air Soldiers Of Fortune

By UNITED PRESS
Harold (Whitey) Dahl, 47, of Champaign, Ill., who died in the front wilderness of northern Quebec, was one of the last flying soldiers of fortune.

The adventure-seeking flyer began his pilot-for-hire career with the Ethiopian forces under Emperor Haile Selassie fighting the invading army of Italian dictator Benito Mussolini some 20 years ago.

Dahl became an internationalist famous in 1937 when he was shot down while flying for the Loyalist forces during the Spanish Civil War. He said he had joined the Loyalists for $1,500 a month and a $1,000 bonus for every rebel plane he shot down.

Dahl had met his first wife while he was a flying cadet at Kelly Field, Tex., in 1933. She was granted a divorce on grounds of cruelty in 1938.

Dahl joined the Royal Canadian Air Force as a cadet instructor in 1941, when he married Eleanor Robinson, of Salsburg, Tex., deserted him because of embarrassment over these charges.

Dahl was taken to a prison camp court martial Oct. 5 and sentenced to be shot by a firing squad two days later.

But Edith Rogers Dahl, a blond night club entertainer whose marriage to Dahl legally remained intact, sent Franco a letter and her picture on which she wrote: "Only now have I found my happiness, please do not destroy it."

FRANCO GRANTED Dahl a reprieve but he was held prisoner until February, 1940.

He was reunited with Edith Rogers Dahl when he arrived in the United States in March. He was broke and arrested a week later by New York police for return to California to face charges of issuing worthless checks.

In California he bogus check charges against Dahl were dropped. "This was neither his first nor his last."

Three accidents occurred on aliphery Kankakee streets Friday afternoon and evening, according to reports filed with police.

At 11:30 p.m. Friday, autos driven by Henry C. Shumanek, 25, of 1804 E. Maple St., collided at Court St. and Hobbs Ave. as Shumanek was attempting to make a left turn.

A taxicab and a car crashed in front of 232 N. Chicago Ave. at 4:15 p.m. Friday. The accident happened as a car driven by Carlene M. Ray, 61, of 7 Main St., Bourbonnais, was pulling away from the curb and the cab, driven by Elmer L. Rabideau, 41, of 138 W. Station St., was headed north on Chicago Avenue.

A car and a panel truck were damaged at 12:10 p.m. Friday at Poplar Ave. and Eagle St. An auto driven by Gilbert E. Bremer, 23, of 890 S. Poplar Ave., was struck in the right side by the panel truck, driven by James Hammack, 31, of 233 S. Douglas Ave., Bradley, Bremer was headed south on Poplar and Hammack was traveling east on Eagle.

No injuries were reported in any of the accidents.

7 Motorists Pay Traffic Fines
Seven motorists who received tickets from State Policemen John Tompkins and Ralph Mann Friday were assessed a total of $83 in fines by Justice Irwin P. Murphy. The drivers ticketed by Tompkins included: Rudy Ham, R.R. 4, Metropolis, no safety chains on a trailer, $5; Albert Gersch, Bernard L. Berg, Dyer, Ind., no mud flaps, $9 each; Eddie L. Pelmore, Urbana, Thomas M. Anderson, Champaign, no valid truck license, $14 each.

2 Robbers Get $150 At Gas Station

Two identically dressed young robbers, wearing knitted scarves over their faces and armed with a shotgun, stole $150 from the Zephyr Service Station on E. Fair street Friday evening.

Arthur Anderson, 604 Beckman Dr., said the two men walked into the station about 7:30 p.m., just after he had finished waiting on a customer.

One of the robbers was armed with a .20-gauge shotgun, Anderson reported. He said the man with the gun walked in and said, "This is it. Hand over the money." The other man stood in the doorway.

Anderson handed over $150 in $20, $10, $5 and $1 bills. The pair took no silver or checks. After he had the money, the armed man ordered Anderson to get into the washroom and stay there. Anderson said he called the police.

The station manager told Lt. Curt Fred and Officers Richard Wischowski and Tom Jones that he did not hear a car drive up before the holdup, nor drive away afterward.

Anderson described both of the men as white, about 20 years old, 5 feet 6 inches in height and about 145 pounds in weight. Both wore tan or brown cloth jackets, blue-tight-fitting jeans and brown leather gloves. Their heads were covered with black and white checked knitted scarves which they could see through.

INVESTIGATING officers found footprints in slush on the ground behind a truck parked west of the station, as well as two 20-gauge shotgun shells about 20 feet apart. The foot tracks showed where the two men walked to the station, then returned and got into a car. Water on the ground prevented police from obtaining tire tracks.

A tracing of one of the footprints showed a very small shoe, less than size 7½. Officers Saturday were checking in an effort to obtain an approximate description of the build of a person with an small a foot.

Bradley PT As Hear Talk On Bond Issue

Reading faults and remedies and the proposed $400,000 bond issue were principal topics of discussion at a joint meeting of the East and West Bradley Elementary Schools Thursday night.

A brief program also was presented in observance of Founders' Day and an open house preceded the business session in the West Bradley gymnasium.

Miss Mildred Menard, Kankakee County assistant superintendent of schools, told the audience that reading is the most important subject in school.

The goal of all reading is comprehension," she emphasized and described how new words are added yearly to the students' vocabulary.

Introduced by Miss Evelyn Weekley, Miss Menard explained how remedial reading courses aid the children who have reading faults and difficulties.

GEORGE MAIN, superintendent of Bradley Elementary Schools, discussed the school needs which have necessitated the proposed bond issue to be voted on March 3 from noon until 7 p.m. in the following polling places:

West School, East School, Campbell's business establishment and Room 3 from noon until 7 p.m. in the following polling places:

Explaining that $375,000 is proposed to construct a new school in West Bradley, including classes for first through sixth grade, kindergarten and a room for exceptional children; and $25,000 for renovation of the gym in the existing school, including lockers, showers, rest rooms, heating and storage space. Main urged voters to support the bond issue.

James Lee, president of the West Bradley PTA, presided and Mrs. Walter Goodwin led the pledge of allegiance. Group singing was accompanied by Mrs. F. Robbins.

A Founder's Day skit was staged by eighth graders of Mrs. L. A. Margaret.

The meeting was closed by a special hour of which Mrs. Harold Nielsen was chairman; Mrs. Charles Peterson, co-chairman; Mrs. John Cole and third graders' mothers of both schools, Madeline Ed Ryan, Frank Meredith, Ed Smith and Thomas James. Tables were decorated in the George Washington theme.

Ike's Veto Kills Gas Bill Issue In '56

WASHINGTON (UP) — Friends and foes of the hot natural gas bill agreed today that President Eisenhower's veto made it a cold dead duck in 1956.

They said there is no hope of getting the necessary two-thirds majority to override the veto, especially in the House which passed the bill by only six votes.

Also, there appeared to be no inclination to start over with a new bill this year despite Mr. Eisenhower's statement that legislation on the same lines is "needed."

And a number of congressional leaders said publicly and privately that the President's action showed he is a candidate for re-election.

The President said he vetoed the bill because of the "highly questionable" activities of some "private persons" in pressing for its passage. That was an obvious reference to circumstances surrounding the now famous $2,500 campaign contribution from an oil company attorney rejected by Sen. Francis Case (R-SD).

Mr. Eisenhower lashed out at "efforts that I deem to be so arrogant and so much in defiance of acceptable standards of propriety as to risk creating doubt among the American people concerning the integrity of governmental processes."

The President said that he is in accord with the "basic objectives" of the bill which would remove producers of natural gas from direct regulation by the Federal Power Commission. But he recommended that "any new legislation" besides assessing plentiful supplies by relaxing controls "should include specific language protecting consumers in their right to fair prices."

Park Board Bans Uranium Hunters

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — "There'll be no uranium hunting in the Garden of the Gods."

The Colorado Springs Parks and Recreation Advisory Board was on record today against any form of uranium exploration in the famous city-owned park west of here.

One member questioned whether blasting might topple the famous "Balanced Rock."

They said there is no hope of getting the necessary two-thirds majority to override the veto, especially in the House which passed the bill by only six votes.

State Police Clarify License Tag Policy

State Police in this area Saturday clarified their policy on arresting motorists who fail to have 1958 auto license plates on their cars. State police said they are acting under instructions to arrest auto owners who do not have receipts for license plates issued prior to Feb. 1. Owners who waited until after Feb. 1 to apply for their Illinois plates and do not have them yet are liable to arrest. The officers added that persons who have received their 1958 plates but have not yet installed them on their autos are also subject to arrest.

well as the road to a more and more tangible Communist future.

COMMUNIST LEADERS even since Stalin's death have pursued a policy of continuing to pay lip service to Stalin's name while criticizing his methods of rule and some of his views without direct reference to him. Thus, Nikita Khrushchev last Tuesday assailed Stalin's rule (i.e. Stalin rule) and the personality cult (i.e. Stalin worship) without directly attacking these phenomena to Stalin.

When reversals of Stalin's policies have been made — as for instance in the case of the "brotherhood" with Tito — where possible, the Soviet leaders have blamed previous mistakes of Stalin on his secret police head Lavrenty Beria. In private conversation with Yugoslavs, however, in Belgrade and in Moscow the present Soviet leaders have contended the blame belonged primarily to Stalin.

atomic war would lead to great destruction, but it cannot lead to the annihilation of mankind or civilization. It will destroy an obsolete and evil system of capitalism and its imperial stage.

U.S. SECRETARY OF THE Air Force Donald A. Quarles was dismissed in Washington to face a House Appropriations subcommittee earlier in the month that Russia possesses of an intermediate-range 1,000-mile ballistic missile "of no material effect" between East and West. He said the Russians already had plenty of medium-range bombers which could attack European bases with much precision than could be expected from the missiles for some time to come, and it was misleading to speak of the missile as an "ultimate weapon."

Quarles' comment followed statements by some Democratic members of Congress that the Russians already had tested the intermediate-range missile. Major John B. Hynes of Boston said Friday night the Russians had developed an atomic missile which rendered U.S. Civil Defense plans obsolete.

Middle East—this time to Saudi Arabia. The embargo, invoked Friday by President Eisenhower's approval, halted delivery of 15 M41 Walker Bulldog tanks to Saudi Arabia. Administration officials were particularly concerned that failure to deliver the tanks to Saudi Arabia might produce a serious cold war defeat for the West.

The United Press was informed that Saudi Arabia let the United States know "months ago" that delivery of the 15-25 tanks was the "absolute minimum" price for the air base. The U.S. continued American use of the vital Dharan air base in Saudi Arabia. The present five-year agreement for the air base expires June 18. The bases are within striking range of Russia's rich Bakou oil fields. Saudi Arabia has paid for the 15 tanks, valued at $125,000 each. They have been impounded in New York pending a decision on the arms ban. It was learned that Saudi Arabia in past months also had negotiated for 15 additional U.S. tanks of the larger M47 type.

Aldens Store To Hold Washington Birthday Sale

Following the trend of retail department stores throughout the nation, Aldens is planning to go all out this year for a fabulous promotion that has become so famous that it is being copied by the nation. In the future it could become a sales boom to Kankakee. The store is planning to find out just how the public in this area will respond to this event.
Last year New York City stores promoted this event for the first time, and it was so successful that police had to be called to handle the thousands of people that jammed the streets in front of many stores. A Fourteenth St. store had customers in line at 1:30 in the morning, that grew to an estimated 10,000 before the store opened.
"It is fantastic," declared the president of a large New York department store. "This is the greatest retailing event in New York's history. We are going to continue this sale as a yearly event. It required over 200 additional employees of many neighboring churches and stores to handle the crowds."
Another department store declared that its volume was above that of Palm Saturday. "We were up to this promotion that has been drawing thousands and thousands of people to Washington, D. C. every year at this time. We feel the customer will spend if he can see a big value in it for him or her. It does not necessarily have to be a something-for-nothing proposition, but he wants good quality merchandise, priced within his reach. He is more conscious, today more than in many years, that he must get his dollars worth before he can afford to spend, and he is shopping carefully."

"Six hundred and seventy-two"—672-672-672—"Yes, a few days ago that was the voice of Kankakee businessman Arch Menz—enjoying a new experience in his 44 years in the clothing business."

It was late in the afternoon when a fellow dropped into Vander's where Arch is employed.

"I got into town too late to get into a bank," the young fellow said. "I want to buy something but all I have are some dimes I've been saving. Can I get the things and pay you in dimes?"

Arch, who was quick to point out to the youth that a dime is as good an exchange as anything, was quick to acquiesce.

Many, many minutes later Arch was busy counting dimes and wrapping them.

Seems the youth is a student at an electrical school and had been saving dimes for two years to use in purchasing some clothing. His purchases totaled more than $800—payable in dimes.

This year the two youth talked their parents into joining them and now when the Troopers make an appearance one of their featured attractions is the "English Family"—a combo!

A visitor at the Bradley-Gilman cage game Friday night was Oscar Lambert, a coach at Bradley more than 20 years ago.

He was all set to retire when a job opened at the new school in Midlothian (Bremer High School) that interested him a lot. As a result today he is an assistant principal of the school there concentrating primarily on research.

Friday was the first time Oscar has been back at Bradley for several years. He couldn't help but reminisce a bit and recalled that when he entered the Bradley system there were but 88 in high school. Oscar was at Bradley, incidentally, when the present grade school gymnasium (formerly the old high school gym) was constructed. Vernon Rade, who was reminiscing with Oscar Friday night, pointed out that the old gym was constructed at a cost of but $600.

There's nothing a newspaper hates worse than errors. And sometimes they can get downright embarrassing.

Kankakee Police Lt. W. Rando discovered one in a Chicago newspaper the other day that must have embarrassed the paper no end. It was a case of two pictures getting mixed on the same page. Under the photograph of a mother and daughter being presented a gift because the baby was born on Valentine's day, the caption "Lady and pup!"

The caption under the picture of a mother dog and her 13 new puppies—(you guessed it) included the details of the Valentine baby and mother receiving the gift!

Which reminds us of an ad appearing in "a Kankakee daily newspaper" advertising a chewing gum as a "Perfect Halloween Treat." Catch is this—the ad somehow got in the paper last Wednesday, quite a few days past Halloween!

The famous new St. Patrick's Central High School continues to get more attention throughout the world.

Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Fortin, 657 N. Dearborn Ave., heard from their son-in-law and daughter, Sp. 3 and Mrs. Robert F. BeDell the other day from their station in Heligen, Germany.

The other day they were listening to a news broadcast over station A.F.N., Stuttgart, Germany, when the announcer began telling of the "new round school in Kankakee."

Kankakee School Marm Miss June Kassman was leading through the "Weekly Reader," a school publication of national circulation, the other day when she popped at her a photograph of the St. Pat's school. The publication was running a picture feature entitled "New Buildings Are Round" and included St. Pat's in the group.

Speaking of the BeDells a few lines back—the Fortins report they expect to rotate to the States in May. BeDell is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard BeDell, 1089 N. Schuyler Ave.

When Kankakee Ben Jaffe reached the Hawaiian Islands the other day on a vacation trip he quickly found himself in the midst of old home week. Meeting his ship were S/Sgt. Harry D. Burkhalter and his family. The sergeant is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ansel Burkhalter who live along Route 17 east of Kankakee.

The Burkalters have taken Ben on several sight-seeing trips, including jaunts to Hickman Field where Harry is stationed, and to Pearl Harbor.

Mrs. Ruby Ruch, third grade teacher at Washington School, is having her hands full this year.

In third grade, it seems, pupils are taught to write longhand (as contrasted to manuscript printing taught in the first two grades).

Mrs. Ruch is right-handed.

Eight of her 27 pupils are left-handed!

National Guard Offers Chance To Advance

Opportunities for advancement are being stressed in the current recruiting campaign of the Kankakee National Guard company.

The unit's strength now stands at 76. It will be up to 80 by next week, says Capt. Leonard Johnson, commanding officer. And the goal for February is a total strength of 100 officers and enlisted men.

Activities are focused toward George Washington's birthday, Feb. 22, which has been designated National Guard Muster Day. A downtown parade and a public open house program in the local armory will be held in Kankakee on that day.

Examples of advancement opportunities offered by the guard are the careers of the two sergeants-instructors pictured in the photo with this article.

They are Sgts. Gerald H. Hoogstraet of Clifton and George L. Lesotte Jr. of Kankakee. Both have been in the guard about two years. Lesotte was the first recruit to join after reorganization of the Illinois guard set-up about two years ago. Both are non-veterans and their entire military experience has been with the National Guard.

This is for men 17 to 35 years old. All young men incur a military obligation to the federal government which must be fulfilled. By enlisting in the guard and remaining active until age 28 they can meet this obligation. Or they can enlist in the guard, on active duty, return to member-ship in their guard unit and cut eight years after their enlistment down the obligation to a total of 14 years.

It was a big day for pupils at Lincoln and Longfellow schools when their new multipurpose rooms were opened for physical education activities last week. The two school additions are part of the construction program underway in Kankakee District III. "My, is it ever wonderful," exclaimed Miss Marie Carson, principal at Lincoln School.

DEATH Rode with WASHINGTON that Winty Day!

"Let it go as it came," said Washington of a cold and he rode forth into a snowstorm. Three days later the Father of his country was dead of complications arising from the cold he shrugged off but couldn't shake off. 2 Bound Over On Charges Of Drunk Driving

Two men, one of whom asked police to arrest him, were released under $1,500 bond Saturday after they appeared before Kankakee Police Magistrate Paul Davidson, charged with drunken driving.

They are Paul J. Cloonen, 21, of 100 W. River Ave., Bourbonnais, and Lloyd Lesage, 33, of 779 S. Greenwood Ave. Both waived preliminary hearing, pleaded guilty and were bound over for County Court action.

Cloonen called police at 4:15 a. m. Saturday and asked them to arrest him for drunken driving.

Magistrate Davidson had Cloonen taken from the courtroom for a time because he swore and used abusive language.

After striking the car, Cloonen drove back north, then west to Myrtle avenue and south to Court street before he called police. He was arrested by Lt. Ed Goetzel and Officer Russell Clemans.

Lesage, the other man charged with drunken driving, was arrested in an auto at 779 S. Greenwood Ave., by Sgt. George Tierney at 8:30 a. m. Saturday.

On The Book Beat

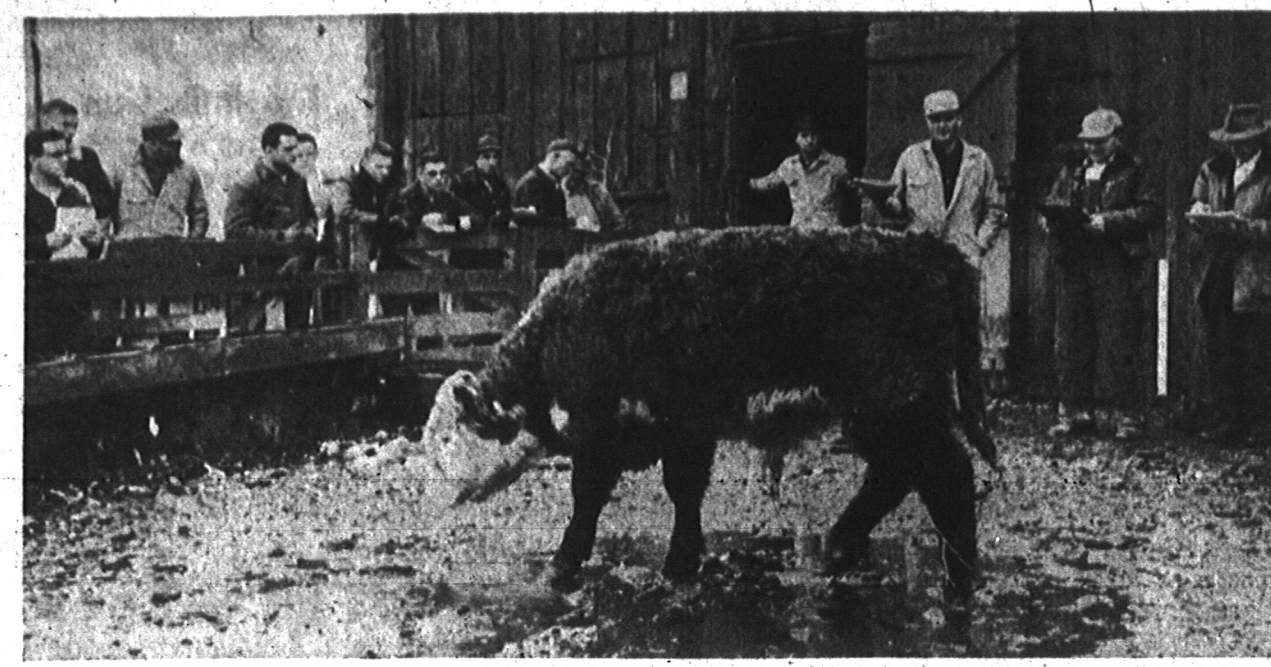

"THE HORSE SOLDIERS"

By Harold Sinclair. Harper. It is April, 1863. Colonel Marlowe is in session with Generals Hurlbut and Smith, in Hurlbut's Northern Mississippi headquarters. Grant, aiming at Vicksburg, wants to cut the stronghold's supplies by severing the Southern Railroad.

Marlowe is to lead a cavalry brigade through heavily wooded territory and smash rails and telegraph lines near Newton.

So off we start in this novel, with some 1,200 mounted men—dragons in a romance, they joke, horse soldiers in a real war. They ride from La Grange 600 miles out in Louisiana, 16 days later, mission accomplished but asleep on their feet, some dead and wounded, bandaged, filthy, ragged.

Marlowe has difficulty, individualistic subordinates, Keller the surgeon, and Gray, and Bryce the ex-teacher. The whole Western Confederacy is alerted, but by singular good luck and the sort of open-field running a

Local Farmers To Attend Ag Meet At Peoria

Hundreds of farmers from throughout the Kankakee area will convene Monday in Peoria to voice a protest to some of the national farm legislation proposals in the bill reported out by the Senate Agriculture Committee last week.

Kankakee County Farm Bureau expects a carload of farmers from throughout the Kankakee area to attend the meeting at the Peoria Hotel.

The local farmers will be joined by others from the 99 County Farm Bureau groups in Illinois. They will outline proposals they feel more adequate to solve the nation's farm problems in this "Party for Farmers" rally.

The meeting will begin at 11:45 a.m. in the Bradley University fieldhouse. Senate floor debate on the committee's bill opens Monday in Washington.

Farm prices are seriously depressed, according to Otto Steffey, president of the Illinois Agricultural Association, who called the meeting.

"Farmers and their Farm Bureau organization want full parity of income in the market place," Steffey said.

Farmers eventually want more freedom from government control and less government price fixing, he said. The committee's proposals are inadequate, unrealistic and impractical for Illinois and other Midwest farmers.

Feed grain production on diverted acres in other areas has been disastrous to the Midwest corn crop. National Farm Bureau feels the aim of national farm legislation should be to adjust farm production to effective market demand.

The soil bank plan would help accomplish this objective if farmers would be required to put a percentage of their land in the soil bank. A corn grower who wants to participate in the acreage reserve program would plant less than his allotment of corn, Simerl explained.

Suppose, for example, that a farmer's corn allotment is 80 acres. He might plant only 65 acres in the soil bank and the rest in the reserve. He would not harvest any crop from these 15 acres nor graze any livestock on them.

WHAT BENEFITS would the farmer receive for placing land in the acreage reserve? Simerl said. He would receive a cash payment based on the average profit that would be made from growing corn. (One proposal is that the payment be one-half of the loss of the corn crop.)

Another benefit to the farmer would be that the government would not have to pay for the cost of the program. The cost of the program would be met by the government, or by giving the farmer a cash payment based on the average profit that would be made from growing corn.

Illini Surge Beats Mich. State 96-76

EAST LANSING, Mich.—Illinois picked up speed and points in a 96-76 victory over Michigan State in a televised basketball game Saturday.

After a slow start and only a 47-43 lead at the half, Illinois fought off two determined Michigan comeback drives that came within four points and won going away.

The balanced Illinois attack more than offset the individual brilliance of Michigan State's forward Julius McCoy, the game's high scorer with 26 points.

It was the ninth straight conference victory for Illinois, third only once in 16 starts. State has lost only one game in 16 starts.

Wolves Fall To Indiana 80-75; Kramer Hits 30

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UP)—Indiana rallied in the closing minutes of a new year basketball game to defeat the Wolverines 80-75 Saturday night.

The Cardinals, who submitted to the Maroon and Blue by 71-59 Jan. 14, showed considerable more stubbornness for nearly three weeks with two home games, against Friday night and Saturday night.

Kramer led all the way after the first 15 minutes of play during which Bob Schmidt and Ed Kissel exchanged quick baskets. Bob Baggett's two free throws after 30 minutes of play put Kankakee ahead and it owned 20-15, 30-25 and 40-40 advantages at the three quarters.

How To Win Friends

It's being told around that everyone they rack up the balls in the corner pool room at St. Anne the "you" ball is decorated (or decorated, if you prefer) with this writer's somewhat less than handsome countenance and the damage from flying balls is terrific.

St. Anne's are pretty lepp up on these days over their high school basketball players, especially one Mr. Ray Ritsma, and most of them allegedly think that we aren't giving them a fair shake, publicity-wise. We didn't believe that such a lovely personality as our's could permit such unpopularity until we got a letter—nice but critical—from one of the fans.

The letter-writer, a lady whose identity we won't reveal, wrote that she was a friend of one of the players and that she would like to have her name in the paper.

"After reading your article in Sunday's paper (Feb. 15) I became curious to know why you wrote in the manner you did about this fine player Ray (Ritsma). . . . I think this boy is a 'star' material. (But, lady, we didn't say he was!) which is an opinion you are most certainly entitled to, but need not be so cynical about it. I don't know about 'star' material, but I do know here is a fine high school basketball player, who is something you do not give him too much credit for."

(But, lady, we did and do.)

"Aside from the fact that he has taken from pretty rough treatment a lot of games simply for the sake of good sportsmanship, but always comes up smiling because he is a person who is fine at a basketball court as he is, and one who wears the same star as he did before he earned himself the press title of 'Fabulous Ray'."

We concede all this.

"I felt, too, that St. Anne never shared equally with the other schools in the write-ups, but you evidently were trying to correct this situation after the Peotone game. (Not at all. The little woman simply gave us the night so we could see a basketball game for a change.) Never as long as I've been following the Cardinals, I can remember the time we were rated two pictures in the same edition and I can't help wondering if the same would have been the case in the event St. Anne was victorious. (There might've been three.)"

I am sure this opinion because anyone who makes 24 points in a game is not exactly "dead on his feet" but do you think he had credit for it? On the contrary, you praise a fellow who keeps him from scoring 30 points and you say he had credit for it.

"It appears that your opinion was based on what you saw in a couple of games, but you know, in all fairness, that any team, regardless of its caliber, does not always play at its best. We have seen almost every Cardinal game in the last two seasons and feel that a boy who averages approximately 30 points a game over such a period is a pretty good center."

(But, lady, did we ever say he wasn't? We only said we'd hold back our all-state vote until we saw him against better competition. We'd rather bring him back than Jump-Shot illegal?)

If you would take the opinion of Lloyd (Boxcar) Nelson, a Kankakee basketball official, the rules makers don't have to say anything with the cage code to restore the sport's "sanity." All they have to do is call for a strict enforcement of some of the basic rules.

One of the major rules is the cage, everybody agrees, is the paradise of the players from one free throw line to the other and the rules-makers have tried one thing after another to discourage fouling. Nelson thinks the rule that would do away with the foul of fouling has been in the book ever since the peach-basket days. It's the one that permits a player to take no more than a step-and-a-half without dribbling or passing.

"Most of the running jump shots that have made the game so fast and scores so high are violations of the "traveling" rule," Nelson claims, "and nearly all of the turn-around jump shots are. If officials were ordered to strictly enforce this rule these shots would have to be abandoned, thus making the defensive player's job easier."

Nelson's theory is that many of the fouls today are committed on defense against the "unstopable" jump shot. If this shot were virtually outlawed—by enforcement of existing rules—the offensive team would lose much of its advantage and defensive fouling wouldn't be so necessary.

The young official doesn't expect these theories to ever be put into practice, however. The whole game would have to be revolutionized.

The Coal Valley Basketball Conference will have 10 members next year, according to Ralph Hart, Streator sports editor. New members, he reports, will be Woodlawn, a new school located near Streator, and Minooka.

Free Throw Record

Three 37 free throws shot by Ray Ritsma (he hit 23) for St. Anne against Manteno last Tuesday night are believed to be a record number in this area.

Incidentally, did you notice who the officials on the line were? They were the same as the ones who were in the event St. Anne was victorious. (There might've been three.)

Jump-Shot illegal?

If you would take the opinion of Lloyd (Boxcar) Nelson, a Kankakee basketball official, the rules makers don't have to say anything with the cage code to restore the sport's "sanity." All they have to do is call for a strict enforcement of some of the basic rules.

Kays Squeeze Past Fractional 67-65

Walter Almost Turns Tide With 27 Points

By HERB JANNUSCH

Maybe Kankakee High's basketball luck is changing—but a little late. The Kays, who dropped four of their five defeats this season on margins of three points or less, finally "lucked" through one Friday night at Thornton Fractional by gaining a 67-65 victory. It was the smallest margin by which they have won any of their 15 victories.

Fractional, which had once owned a one-point lead and had tied the score five times in the first period, narrowly missed sending the game into overtime when, with two seconds to go, a side shot by Jerry Petrak and a clear rebound by Bill Walter both misfired.

The narrow squeak against the incontinent Motors may cause coach Earl Jones to abandon his new emphasis on offense and return to a stress on defense. The Jones' new strategy worked well in the first half when his boys were hitting the hoop well, but the counter-attack method boomeranged after the intermission because the Kays suddenly lost their accuracy. They were ahead 23-16 at the quarter but then they hit nine of 20 shots. They connected on eight out of 19 in the second period to stay ahead at halftime 41-34.

The Kays' "squeaked" attack produced a well above average point total but it also permitted the Motors to score heavily.

Kankakee coach, who has been blaming a lack of scoring punch on his team's failures, worked all last week trying to step up his offense to find Friday that the revised tactics sprang some leaks in his previously effective defense.

Bradley Ties For W-R-K Title; Irish Win 77-62

Boilermakers Down Gilman 82-67 In Final

BY GIL BRENNER

Bradley fans will look back upon Friday night as a memorable one as far as the 1955-56 basketball season was concerned.

It was a night that saw the Boilermakers of Bradley High win two Wil-R-Kee Conference crowns.

The Bradleys' victory over Gilman Friday night and while they were going about the business of winning the title, they were also winning a second championship.

In the meantime, a second championship trophy was being thrust in the hands of the Bradley school as coach Jerry Lemons' freshmen-sophomore team was winning Gilman's underclassmen in the preliminary 64-44 to win the trophy-shoot loop honors.

The varsity Boilermakers would be the first to meet Central's varsity in the first round of the championship.

In the fourth quarter with a 10-point lead, the Eskimos were content to stay in their zone defense and let Chatsworth control the ball most of the time.

When the floods came to California

a few days ago, the well-organized network of Farmers Insurance Group offices rushed into emergency action. To speed relief, the group sent out thousands of agents to flood areas, seeking out policyholders, estimating losses and paying on the spot. The catastrophe revealed many dramatic instances where Farmers Insurance Group agents and claims adjusters worked around-the-clock to serve policyholders needing immediate assistance.

Adjuster Climbs Mountain to Find Policyholder

Take Claims Adjuster R. W. Steinbeck, for example. He did it in his office waiting for policyholders to file claims — he climbed thru the rain to go after them.

In Mendocino County, a residence was completely washed away and the car under water. All roads and bridges were washed out, but Steinbeck hiked over a mountain, crossed the stream on a log, inspected the damages, located policyholder at a motor court and paid for a total loss to insured's complete satisfaction.

Maple Mop-Up Miner Team Rolls New High Series For Women With 2602

By JIM TISCHER
Miner's Business Machine quintet of the Ladies Senior League at Maycrest walked off with top honors in bowling circles this week by smashing out a record total in the series department.

The five girls from the Miner's squad set a new season's high for the Kankakee Women's Bowling Association with a terrific 2,602 series. This is also the highest mark recorded by a KWB team in the past two years. The 2,602 represents an average of 520.4 per game, an average of 173 for each bowler.

Marie's held the old season high of 2,538. Miner's score, of course, is a new high in the Ladies Senior, rubbing out previous record of 2,492 by the same team.

In checking up the line game, the Miner's team had games of 87-85-81. Bowling on the record-holding team were Betty Polk, Marie Young, Betty Englehart, Marie Young, Betty Englehart, and Sue Kankakee.

Young placed the team with a high game and series of 244 and 588. Both marks stand as the high effort for women bowling this week. Miner was second on the team with a 543 while Miss Englehart carded a 526.

The week turned out to be one thriller after another for Miner. Besides the 244 and 588 in the Ladies Senior, she had carded a 254 game in the Ladies Major City.

But her biggest thrill of all came Tuesday afternoon while she was doing some open bowling at Dandelles.

She started the game with an eight pin and then picked up the two remaining pins for a spare. Mrs. Young then ran up a string of 11 straight strikes for a 200 game.

Until she posted the 200 score, Mrs. Young held her high game score was a 237.

Unfortunately for the Kankakee housewife, this record did not go down in official ABC records and any award since this was not rolled in an ABC sanctioned league.

ALICE SKEEN of the Ladies Major City at Dandelles had the second high series for the week with a 562 while Mary Schuler of the Maycrest Ladies Major had the runnerup game score of 524.

Close Motors of the Ladies Senior registered the high game of 887 while the 881 of Miner's was next in line.

RAY EDGECOMB and Bill Kraus both members of Maycrest League, took top honors in men's bowling this week. Edgcomb rolled in the Moore Men's League at the top series score of 663.

Ray Edgcomb of the YNCA Church League at Maycrest had the second high series of 656.

Kraus marked up on top game score of 554 while bowling in the Classic League and Edgcomb tied the second high game score of 547.

Both of Edgcomb's scores were new highs for the Moore League, replacing a 545 by Frank Wastels and a 553 by Art Freeman.

KANKAKEE has been a busy tournament town this winter. The Illinois American Legion held its state tournament here and the KWB tournament was conducted the past two weeks.

Now the State Knights of Columbus Bowling Tournament is moving into Maycrest for a five-week stand. While there will be plenty of activity during the tournament, it was announced that there would be no league for open bowling.

The 656 rolled by Bumpus with the Bradley United Brothers YNCA Church League in a new league high, earning a 615 by Clyde Green of the Christian YNCA.

Ed Steinberg won the hidden series prize in the Mixed Doubles League at Piper City with a 528.

Kay Moody crashed out a 537 in the Ladies Junior City at Dandelles and the mark is a new top high. The previous high was 510 by Bernice Durkin. Close Motors in the Ladies Junior also marked up new highs for the season with a 709 game and 2,194 series.

Dick Fitzgerald's 248 in the St. Patrick's Holy Name League event is a new season high, replacing a 243 by Jim Schmidt. The KWB singles champion, Edling Wyant of Moline, will be on Orren Allard's bowling show at 12:45 p.m. today over WYAN.

Two 150 average teams, bowling against each other, really cut it close in the 10:00 a.m. match at Moline. Both teams scored about 200.

Both teams scored about 200.

Both teams scored about 200.

Bradley To Try New Tourny Ticket Plan

In an attempt to accommodate as many fans as possible at the end of this month a type of session arrangement revolutionary to this part of the state was being attempted, it was announced Saturday by S. A. Smith, manager of the tournament.

Greatest demand for tickets is expected for the night of March 1 when two semifinal games will be played. To give the competing schools more chance for their fans to see their team in action the gymnasium will be cleared after the initial game of the night and a new set of fans admitted for the second game.

Fans attending the first game of the evening, scheduled for 7 p.m., will be seated in the front section of the gymnasium. After the game the gymnasium will be cleared of spectators and a new set of fans admitted for the second game.

Whereas under the old system a maximum of 500 from each school would be able to attend the Thursday night session, the new arrangement will mean from 800 to 1,000 fans from each school will have the chance of seeing their respective school's team in action.

PRINCIPAL SMITH said that about 150 tickets for each of the night's session will be sold to first-come, first-served at the door that night. Otherwise, all tickets will be handled through the competing schools.

The tournament manager explained that several classrooms in the school will be opened to accommodate persons who arrive early for the second game.

The principal explained that each of the competing schools in the tournament has been contacted and has approved the new arrangement. He explained that this system has been used with success in other parts of the state.

"The possibility of expanding the tournament over five days with a semifinal game on Wednesday night and another on Thursday evening was discussed but explained. However, such an arrangement would give the winner of Wednesday night's game an extra day of rest before the Friday championship game and we felt that it was an unfair arrangement. We feel that of first importance in regional tournament should be the competing teams."

SMITH EXPLAINED that in any of the regional tournament with action in the past at Bradley there has never been an occasion on the first and second night of the tournament when fans were turned away. He said that the semifinal night, however, has year in and year out been the one in which the greatest demand for tickets resulted.

The regional tourney this year includes Kankakee County schools Kankakee, St. Patrick's, Bradley and St. Anne; the Central district winner; Crete-Monee; Rich and Bloom.

Bradley Sophs Win W-R-K Crown Again

Bradley High School's gifted freshman-sophomore team has repeated as cage champions of the W-R-K Conference.

The young Bollermeers cleared up any doubts as to whether they deserved a clear title to the crown Friday night by whumping Joliet Catholic 40-33.

The game with two losses, Bradley entered the final league tilt with one loss while Joliet went into the game with two losses. Bradley won the game 40-33.

The Bollermeers made the league bunting in spite of the fact their top combination was broken during late in December when their two top scorers and rebounders, Don Roberts and Harold Emery, were moved up to the varsity.

Their places in the usual starting lineup were generally taken there after by Coleen Beck at a forward spot and Max Williams at center. Rounding out the initial five were the Higgins twins, Larry and Jerry, and Bob Knoch at point guard.

In winning Friday night, the freshman-sophomore team posted its 17th win in the season against all comers. The Bollermeers had stumbled but twice this far this year, to Morris on the latter's floor in a non-league tilt, and to Central in the W-R-K league just a few days ago.

The team's long suit all season has been the ability to suddenly explode with a fast breaking offense that cracks the backs of the opponents. Friday night the Bollermeers did just that after being held to 13-13 quarter tie and to a five point deficit at the end of the first half.

Coach Jerry Lemons' team had a three-man offensive punch with Pettit counting 18, Jerry Higgins 17 and Jerry Higgins 15. Gilmart was led at the hoop by Earl Meyer with 16.

Local Teams Advance In West Tourny

Four local teams—East, West, Bradley and St. Patrick Central—advanced to the Monday semifinals of the fourth annual West Junior High Ninth Grade Invitational Tournament by posting victories in the opening round Saturday afternoon.

In the games at East Junior Saturday, the East Bollermeers topped Joliet Catholic 40-33.

The game with two losses, Bradley entered the final league tilt with one loss while Joliet went into the game with two losses. Bradley won the game 40-33.

The Bollermeers made the league bunting in spite of the fact their top combination was broken during late in December when their two top scorers and rebounders, Don Roberts and Harold Emery, were moved up to the varsity.

Their places in the usual starting lineup were generally taken there after by Coleen Beck at a forward spot and Max Williams at center. Rounding out the initial five were the Higgins twins, Larry and Jerry, and Bob Knoch at point guard.

In winning Friday night, the freshman-sophomore team posted its 17th win in the season against all comers. The Bollermeers had stumbled but twice this far this year, to Morris on the latter's floor in a non-league tilt, and to Central in the W-R-K league just a few days ago.

The team's long suit all season has been the ability to suddenly explode with a fast breaking offense that cracks the backs of the opponents. Friday night the Bollermeers did just that after being held to 13-13 quarter tie and to a five point deficit at the end of the first half.

Coach Jerry Lemons' team had a three-man offensive punch with Pettit counting 18, Jerry Higgins 17 and Jerry Higgins 15. Gilmart was led at the hoop by Earl Meyer with 16.

Bible Plays Part In Brotherhood At Work

(Editor's Note: Brotherhood Week, sponsored annually by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, is being observed Feb. 19-26. The following vignette, written by Vivian Acord, Manteno State Hospital publicity director, is appropriate for publication today.)

This is the story of a St. James Bible and its travels in the interest of brotherhood among the mentally ill patients at Manteno State Hospital. THE STORY BEGINS with two Pink Lady volunteers—one Jewish, the other Catholic. One is assigned to the women's receiving ward, the other to a ward of 150 elderly women.

In their volunteer work, both long ago learned that mental illness is no respecter of race, creed or color—a brotherhood principle they live by, at the hospital, and in their home community of Park Forest. Shortly before Christmas, a new patient asked the Jewish volunteer for a Catholic calendar of holy days. The same day one of the Catholic volunteers' patient/friends tearfully requested a St. James Bible. The volunteers compared notes on their way home from the hospital, and as a matter of convenience, agreed on an exchange of requests.

ILLNESS IN HER FAMILY caused the Jewish volunteer to forget the St. James Bible until the day the gifts were due for delivery. Frantically, she first tried the bookshop near her home to find in the holiday rush the store's stock of Bibles had long since been depleted.

Next she tried the Protestant church council in the village. The council in turn referred her to the pastor of a local Protestant church who said yes, he had such a Bible he would be happy to donate.

Arriving at the church, the volunteer was handed one of the most beautiful Bibles available anywhere, at any price. She guessed perhaps it was too lovely, too elaborate for the mentally ill patient to take care of and appreciate.

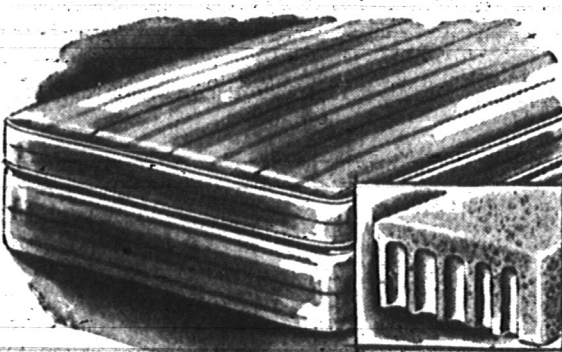

In reply, the minister explained this particular Bible had been donated by a Catholic book salesman who each year makes his best samples available to pastors of the village's various churches for use as they best see fit.

AT THE HOSPITAL, the Catholic volunteer suggested that since the Bible was of such great beauty, perhaps it would be best if it were inscribed to the particular patient but left in the attendant's care when not actually in use.

Then it was the volunteer learned "the particular patient" was critically ill in the acute hospital, that she might not survive through the holiday season.

And so it happened that a St. James Bible, donated by a Catholic salesman to a Protestant minister, was brought to Manteno by a Jew for a Catholic to give to a Protestant patient alone and afraid to die without the close comfort of the words of her faith.

Ski Enthusiasts Travel To Pursue Winter Hobby

ABOVE: Miss Marge Palenske of 720 Riverside Ct., shoulders her skis and begins a practice session. She is one Kankakeean who will leave Friday for a skiing holiday at Sun Valley, Idaho.

Skiers are a hardy lot. Especially hardy were the members of a small band of Kankakeans who braved extreme elements last weekend for a day of skiing in Wisconsin.

A Journal photographer and reporter went along just for the ride, or rather the slide, and these pictures are the result of that day at Williams Hills—along with a few bruises.

There seems to be no special formula for "what makes a skier" but one thing is certain. A dyed-in-the-wool skier makes the sport part of his life, during the winter months at least. One must keep in condition, of course, and exercises should begin early in the season. Equipment must be kept up and sweaters taken out of moth balls.

But Kankakee skiers have an even larger problem. Where to ski! It is said that enthusiasts among Kankakee skiers cast glances at the Schuyler avenue hill. But for more practical purposes, areas in Wisconsin and Michigan seem popular, despite a sometime inconvenient drive.

Skiing is becoming such a popular sport that condition reports are readily accessible. Even in areas where hills are not plentiful, there are skiers. It seems that very fact serves to stimulate interest in the winter sport, which is described as exciting and exhilarating.

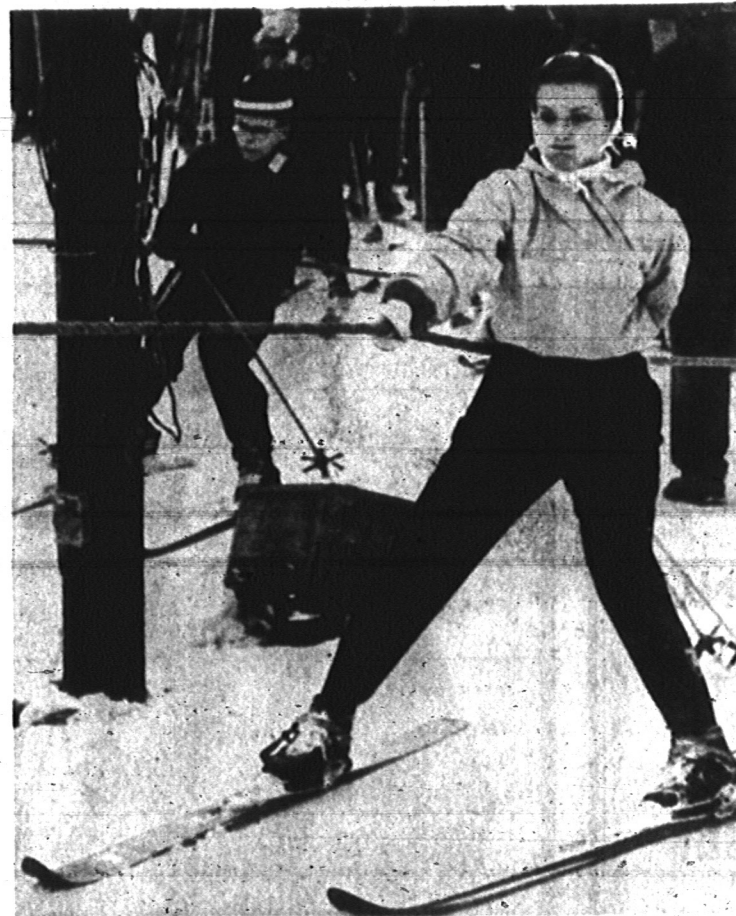

The mountains won't come to those Kankakeans. So the skiers go to the mountains.

Skiers like to talk, too. Gathered around the club fireplace are the Kankakeans, tired but happy after a rather exhausting day on skis. Doh Ray (left, foreground) tells a ski story. Top, left to right, are Miss Marge Palenske, Hugh MacCracken and Bill Mayotte. Seated in foreground are Miss Barbara Rose and Johnny Valade. The others, left to right, are Mrs. MacCracken (center), Serge Boudreau, Miss Marilyn Palenske, Miss Jacqueline Mailloux, and Walter Volkmann. On the wall at right are cartoons depicting the humorous aspects of skiing.

A Kankakee skier in action... Bill Mayotte displayed determination, attacking the hill again and again to improve his form on skis. Here he practices a turn after a run down the slope.

A rope tow provided a means of getting to the top of the hill. The trick is to gain one's balance at the beginning while taking hold of a fast-moving rope, going up. Concentration shows on the face of Mrs. Hugh MacCracken.

On The Social Side

KANKAKEE SUNDAY JOURNAL, SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1956
Section II — Society, Home, Classified, TV — Page 19

Skis move faster when waxed. Providing this service to Walter Volkmann on the skis of Miss Barbara Rose, who awaits in a rather precarious position.

Once a skier is fully dressed, in his boots and standing on skis... half the battle is won. Demonstrating the tiring task of donning and tightly lacing boots is Serge Boudreau as Don Ray (left) and Bill Mayotte look on.

Youngsters learn fast. Here Bill Valade helps son Johnny with his posture. "Bend the knees," says Bill. It was Johnny's first day on skis. He is 9 years old.

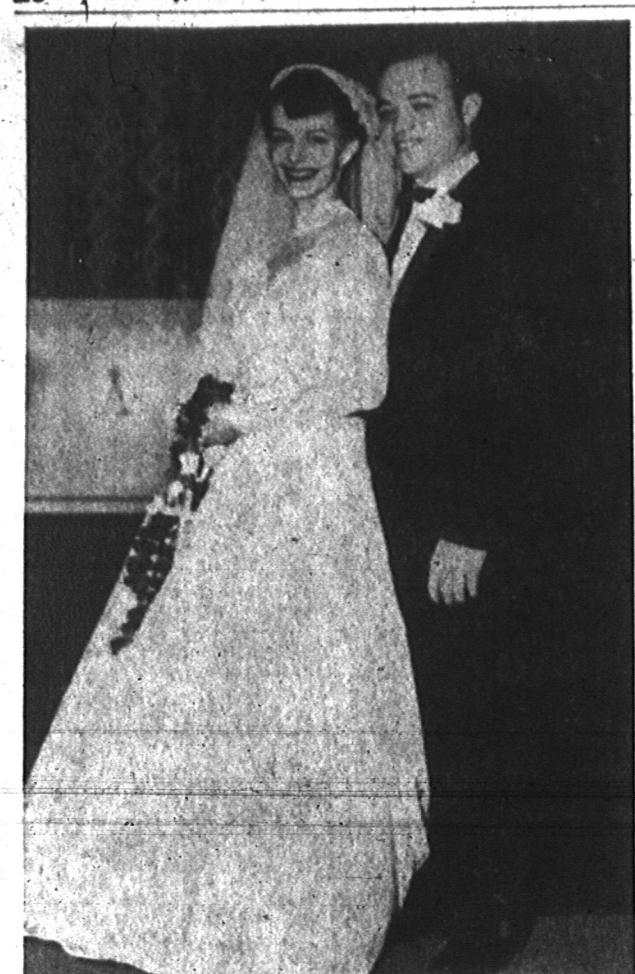

There is nothing like a relaxing drink of anything hot after a day on the slopes. At the end of a perfect day (for a skier), Mr. and Mrs. Hugh MacCracken look forward to still another day on skis.

Urges Parents To Teach Respect For Authority

"The most important thing a parent can teach his child is respect for law and authority," so said Mrs. J. Earl Smith in her talk at the Tuesday meeting of the Peotone Junior Woman's Club.

Mrs. Smith, a fourth grade teacher at the Peotone Community School, used "What Your Child's Teacher Can Tell You," as her topic.

She stressed the fact that a teacher welcomes the chance to talk over a child's behavior and progress with parents. Children have a way of distorting a situation, she said, and for this reason parents should get to the crux of the matter by hearing the teacher's view.

Mrs. Smith said it is not the school's responsibility alone to instill better qualities in a child, but it is the parents who should assume the major portion of that responsibility. They should see to it that a child is taught respect for discipline, consideration for others, thoughtfulness, courtesy and the other gentle traits that help make living with others a pleasant and rewarding experience.

It was announced the group will donate $5 to the Cancer Society and $5 to the Red Cross.

The class voted the calendar year to be changed to the same as the other organizations of the church.

The class will present 100 books to the Rev. Donald G. Cox, Protestant Chaplain of the Kankakee State Hospital to be used at the hospital.

Keeping in Step

By Mary Jean Houde

Most children like to dress up dolls and the University of Illinois extension service suggests that perhaps they will also enjoy "dressing up" a fudge recipe. By changing one or a few ingredients, you'll have a new candy.

"Be sure you substitute the correct amount of each new ingredient when you change a basic fudge recipe," they say. If you replace white sugar with brown sugar, corn syrup or cream of tartar should be omitted. Follow this suggestion in making penuche from a basic fudge recipe, omitting the chocolate and using brown instead of white sugar.

When chocolate is left out of a recipe, it is a good idea to use evaporated milk or coffee cream for added richness. To make peanut butter fudge, leave out the chocolate and add peanut butter. Use two tablespoons of peanut butter for each cup of sugar in the recipe. Like other fat, peanut butter is added after the fudge is cooked.

Marshmallows or marshmallow creme increases smoothness and yield. After you remove the fudge from the heat, add one cup of marshmallows to each two cups of sugar in the recipe.

There's nothing like a winter warmer for making fudge.

Memories of show business came flooding back into the mind of Mrs. George C. Moon of 343 S. Wildwood Ave. as she posed for a Journal picture last week. The lights and camera brought into focus the days when she was a featured performer in the largest traveling show in the South.

Attractive Mrs. Moon leads a quiet life today as homemaker and the manager of a Kankakee store, a great contrast to earlier years in show business. And every once in a while, she remembers.

As a granddaughter of the great Reno the Magician, who died in 1940, and a daughter of show people, Mrs. Moon's early experience in the theater was inevitable. In fact, she was born in Douds, La. And, Iowa and seven days later, the family moved on to another town—on bobbed. Her mother had retired from show business only long enough to have her baby and then they moved on to follow the show. Mrs. Moon's parents were Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Reno. Both were originally aerial performers but when their daughter was born, they decided that aerial work was not for her. It was decided that they should put together a dramatic show, which seemed much safer. The Renos and company performed plays and did vaudeville acts through several southern states.

Mrs. Moon's first experience as a performer came at the age of six weeks, when she was carried on stage by her mother, who played the female lead in "Jesse James." Her first specialty was when she was 2-3 and dancing. At the age of 12, Mrs. Moon did her first dramatic part and from then on she played the leads in the plays done by her parents' troupe. The show was called "The Reno Fun Makers—The Show with a Million Friends." And it did seem to Mrs. Moon that they must have at least a million friends, because as the show traveled from town to town, "every move was like a homecoming." The same towns on the Southern circuit were played each year and the performers were well remembered and greeted with enthusiasm.

SCHOOL FOR Mrs. Moon was quite an experience. During the first three grades, she lived in Kankakee (the only home town she ever knew) with her grandparents, always looking forward to the summer months when she would join her family on the road. After the third grade, the little girl remained with the show, attending school a week in each town on the circuit. "But it wasn't really difficult," reminisces Mrs. Moon. "When you are the only child with a show, you have lots of help. She also recalls that her father was very strict about her study habits. For two seasons during her school years, a special tutor traveled with the show. Mrs. Moon's last year of high school was in Ashville, N.C.

When the Kankakee was 14, George C. Moon joined the troupe as leading man. He needed money to study evangelist at Butler University and found that show business was the best means. He would work with the show during the summer and attend school during the winter months. This lasted for two years and then show business went out—maybe it was romance. George Moon and his leading lady, (when she was 16) began dating and two years later they were married in Wise, Va.

THEIR SON GEORGE was born in Bluefield, W. Va. and like her mother, Mrs. Moon paused in her career only briefly. When George Jr. was 12 days old, the Moons rejoined the show in Richmond, Va.

Mrs. Moon recalls the ups and downs of show business and the effect of the depression on the show, which was composed of 30 performers. It was necessary to cut the show to 14 people for survival and finally it was decided to close the show. The group was in Peoria for a few club dates on Dec. 7, 1941 when Pearl Harbor was attacked.

They made up their minds to interrupt their career for the duration of the war which, they thought, would be a short period. All came to Kankakee and went into war work.

Because she had been raised in the theater, Mrs. Moon recalls no stage fright. That is, no ordinary stage fright. But she will never forget how frightened she was when she applied for her first job. That was real stage fright, says Mrs. Moon, who tried to convince herself she was really just playing a part. And she got the job!

AS THE WAR PERIOD lengthened, the return to show business was postponed but the idea of returning to the stage was never really abandoned. And that is really the way it is today, even though both Mr. and Mrs. Moon are settled in responsible jobs. Thoughts of the stage occasionally haunt them.

Mrs. Moon says that spring is the worst time for reminiscing. That was always the time when rehearsals began, costumes were sent to be cleaned and the many duties connected with show business were in full force.

Mrs. Moon's parents, the Edward A. Renos, are living in Altmar, N.Y., at Koenig Lake Park. They and the Moons correspond occasionally with former members of the show and even receive letters asking when the family will return to show business.

But for the present at least, the return is all in memory.

Darlene Cyrier Wed To Ralph Froelich

Miss Darlene Cyrier of St. Anne and Ralph Froelich of Piper City exchanged wedding vows Feb. 11 at 10 a.m. The Rev. C. J. Biladeau officiated at the double ring ceremony in St. Anne's Catholic Church. Altar decorations consisted of arrangements of snapdragons.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Cyrier of St. Anne, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Froelich of Piper City. Both are parents of the bridegroom.

St. Anne's choir sang appropriate selections during the ceremony, including "Ave Maria." The bride's traditional gown was of delicate hand clipped rose point lace underlined with gleaming satin. It was styled with a fitted bodice buttoning in the back and long tapering sleeves. The scattered neckline was trimmed with tulle applique on illusion net and a tiny Peter Pan collar. The billowing skirt was accented with a panel of lace and tulle and cascaded into a cathedral length train of lace.

A TIARA, EDGED with seed pearls and sequins, secured her finger veil of French illusion. She carried an arm bouquet of calla lilies. Her father gave her in marriage. Maid of honor was Miss Bernice Cyrier, sister of the bride, and bridesmaids were Miss Lois Froelich of Piper City, sister of the groom, and Miss Mary Caise of Martinton, cousin of the bride. The attendants wore ballroom length gowns of soft embroidered crystalatette. They were made with scoop necklines, short sleeves and bouffant skirts trimmed with a wide band of eyelet embroidery at the hemline. White pillow style hats secured their blusher veils. They carried heart shaped bouquets.

The couple will reside in Piper City. When they left on a wedding trip the new Mrs. Froelich was wearing a nutmeg and black wool costume suit with black and beige accessories.

The bride is a graduate of St. Anne High School and Illinois State Normal University. The groom graduated from Piper City High School and attended Illinois State Normal University. He served two years with the United States Armed Forces stationed in Germany. He is now affiliated with the Producers Seed Corn Co. in Piper City.

A dinner was served at 6 p.m. in the hall for members of the wedding party and close immediate families.

Young Moderns

BY VIVIAN BROWN

AP NEWSFEATURES

Hips are an age-old problem. Even slim types must work to keep hips and thighs from spreading.

Many young girls who've been wearing petticoats and full skirts that conceal this area nicely are shocked that they look buxom in new styles. Slim skirts are popular now for school wear, and trim hip-bugging shorts are going to be with us again this spring, although the crinoline silhouette still goes to parties.

Alas and alack to the girl who must cope with a good glimpse of hips that have been buried in tent-like skirts now that this slim line is upon us. Becky, a 16-year-old Louisville girl faced up to it recently. She writes:

"I have a nice figure except that my hips and legs are too big for the new fashions, and I don't know what to do about it. Could you tell me how to handle this problem?"

Poor Becky—but not for long. If she's willing to work at it, she can put herself in the glamor girl bracket in a jiffy.

Becky must camouflage as much as she can to keep her in a good frame of mind while she attempts her slim Jill program.

If she's been wearing flat shoes that make legs look heavier than they really are, she can switch to a moderate heel will help make her legs look slimmer. High heels are not for her, of course, although 2½-inch heels are now wearing them at date time.

She should wear a girdle, not the cage-in type, but one of stretch kind that lends support to a young figure without causing discomfort. A properly fitted bra can give a nice long-line from shoulder to waist.

If Becky is small, full skirts are not for her anyway, especially now when she might be lulled into giving up her reducing project.

Exercise and/or massage are the best methods of reducing hips. Walking is invaluable in shaking off hips and thighs, and if you are the sear's "believe" type, try it and see for yourself.

If you have a place to go each day—school, work, library, etc.—what is within walking distance, say a mile or half-mile of your home, it would make an ideal daily sprint for you. Walk briskly twice a day and you'll be amazed that your hips will start to melt.

Supplementary exercises might include these:

Lie down on the floor, raise your right leg up as far as you can, swing it over your left hip without moving your shoulders. Alternate with left leg. Do this ten times at first. Increase as you go along.

The "rock-a-bye" is another costume suit with black and beige accessories.

JWC To Hold Benefit Card Party Wednesday

Proceeds from a dessert bridge party, to be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Civic Auditorium, will be used toward the purchase of a $400 scholarship for a teacher of special education. Sponsors of the event, for both men and women, are members of the Junior Woman's Club of Kankakee. One member, Mrs. Lorne McLeod (centered above) is well acquainted with the need for special training. Her son, Gary, 4, who is deaf, is pictured with his tutor, speech correctionist Barbara Rose. popular exercise for slenderizing youthful hips. Sit on the floor, pull your legs up to your chest, keeping the soles of your feet on the floor. Wrap hands around your legs and rock over to one side, then the other. Another good exercise for the buttocks is the "scooter." Sit in the same position as with the rock-a-bye and propel yourself across the room on your haunches.

...You can't go on an eating binge just because you are exercising. Give up those extras for awhile—candy, cake, pastry, gravy, sundries, soda. Or better still, take half portions of everything, the best plan for losing weight. Be sure that you're getting enough to eat, though, and that your diet each day includes an egg, slice of whole wheat bread, pat of butter, green vegetables, meat or fish or tiny of noodles or spaghetti, one cheese, one potato or same quantity of milk and fruit.

Exercise and/or massage are the best methods of reducing hips. Walking is invaluable in shaking off hips and thighs, and if you are the sear's "believe" type, try it and see for yourself.

If you have a place to go each day—school, work, library, etc.—what is within walking distance, say a mile or half-mile of your home, it would make an ideal daily sprint for you. Walk briskly twice a day and you'll be amazed that your hips will start to melt.

Supplementary exercises might include these:

Lie down on the floor, raise your right leg up as far as you can, swing it over your left hip without moving your shoulders. Alternate with left leg. Do this ten times at first. Increase as you go along.

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID O. BAREUTHER, AP Real Estate Editor

Home improvement is quite the thing this year. Encouraged by the tremendous campaign organized by industries to persuade us to modernize or at least remodel our homes, we'll be adding a lot of gadgets and — don't doubt it — a lot of good old ideas from Grandpa's house.

Labor Situation Is Subject At Saunemin Meeting

SAUNEMIN (JNS) — Mrs. Russell Drenth presided at the February meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Wesley Rothrock led devotion and Mrs. Keith Frantz was in charge of the program. The theme was "The World's Laborer, Worthy of His Hire." The subject under discussion was the labor situation and how it concerns church people.

Mrs. Drew appointed committees for the "opportunity sale" which will be held March 10. This sale will be the chief money making project of the year.

Mrs. Gladys Short, Mrs. Beatrice Sargent and Mrs. R. O. Jensen are the publicity committee. Mrs. Russell Drury, Mrs. Otto Siebert, Mrs. Roscoe G. Marks and Mrs. Frances Cottrell, county store, Mrs. Cording, garden store, Mrs. Bert Carter, Mrs. Laura Ridinger, Mrs. Sarah Van Doren and Mrs. Keith Frantz, rummage sale.

The Methodist Youth Fellowship will have charge of the candy booth.

Mrs. Helen Quigley will obtain the auctioneer and tent.

Mrs. Joe Hoskins, Mrs. John Rich, Mrs. John George, Mrs. Russell Drenth, Mrs. John Byrne, Mrs. Ferol Goodrich, Mrs. Charles Colby, and Mrs. New Overturn will have charge of the chuck wagon.

It is expected that antique dishes and small articles will be offered for sale in the rummage booth, as well as furniture in the general auction tent.

Hostesses at the meeting included: Mesdames J. S. Marsh, Ferol Goodrich, Charles Fraber, John George, Jake Dewar and Bertha Young.

Sheldon Woman's Society Discusses Navaho Indians

SHELDON (JNS)—The Woman's Society of the Methodist Church held a "Dish and Dime" luncheon and meeting Wednesday in the Methodist Church.

A collector of $12.40 was received from the luncheon. Mrs. Clifford Morgan and Mrs. Eugene Dismay were hostesses.

The afternoon meeting was conducted by Mrs. Levi Rock, president.

Mrs. W. W. Harding opened with a meditation on "God's Day." Mrs. Dwight Worsham presented devotion with the Scripture taken from Genesis.

The program dealt with the current Navaho Indian topic, taken from the third and fourth chapters of the study book, "Within Two Worlds."

Mrs. Lester Bonnett, program chairman, led the discussion on the economic problems of the Navahoes, a tribe of Indian inhabiting New Mexico and Arizona. She was assisted by Mrs. Lyle Clark, Mrs. Dan Schlotman, Mrs. Will Richardson, Miss Edith Morrison, Miss Anna Swern, Mrs. Lev and Mrs. Eugene Dismay.

"The Rev. W. W. Harding closed the meeting with prayer. The next meeting of the WSCS will be on course intercoms can be wired for March 21. Mrs. Joe Mabbitt and Mrs. Clarence Faupel will be in charge of the program.

Then the carpet made its bow and it needed an outer wall, so a storage wall was designed giving us the good old tool shed that always adjoined old-fashioned homes.

As for speaking tubes, the kind you blew in to sound a whistle, then opened to holler through a pipe—well, talking doorbells and intercoms work better, all right, but the basic idea is there. Of course intercoms can be wired for hi-fi music throughout the house, but wasn't it someone in Grandpa's day who said silence is golden?

Living room in the home is warm and comfortable and invites relaxation. Walls are phlox; carpeting, gray, and wood surfaces, lined oak. Gray and lime green are used for the upholstered pieces and the draperies repeat the principal shades of the color scheme in the living room.

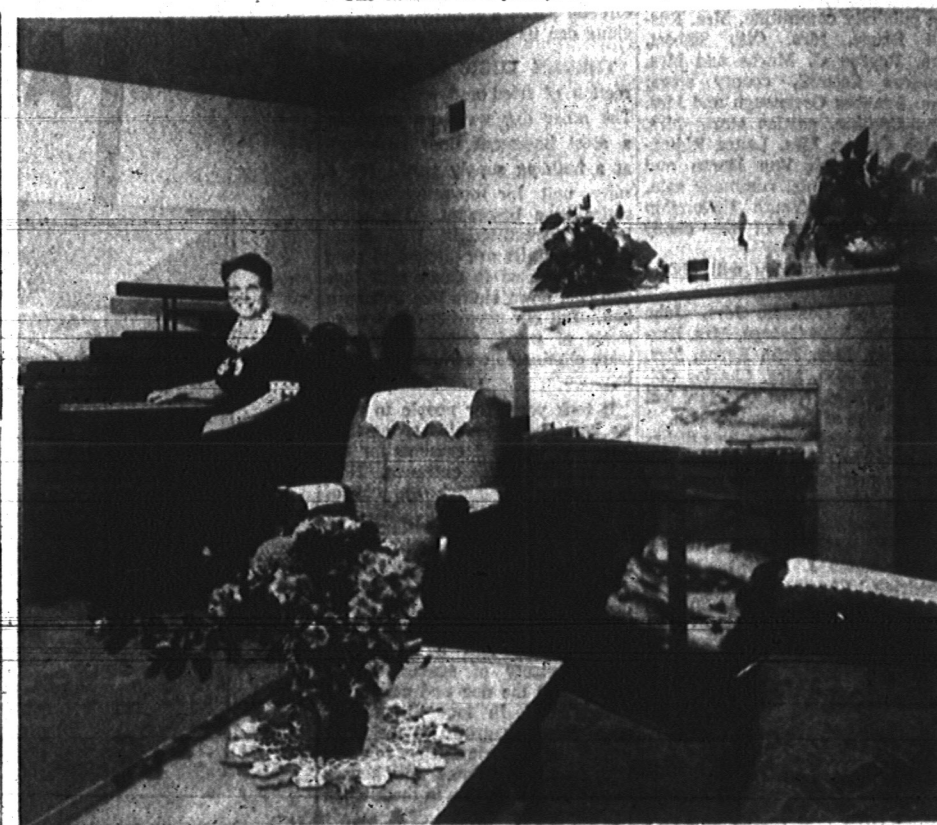

Home Of The Week

The Thomas Dillons are probably just a trifle more enthusiastic about "house" living than the average couple. The reason being that prior to moving into their trim home at 707 W. Vanmeter St., four years ago, they had lived in an apartment for nine years. "I really had my share of climbing stairs," says Mrs. Dillon, "for all utilities were located in the basement of the apartment house. This was the reason that we emphasized having a utility room when we got ready to buy."

The Dillons first say their home when it was under construction and were particularly pleased with its layout, the corner lot location, large trees, the compact room arrangement and the wealth of storage space.

Dillon did all the decorating and they both participated in selecting the color schemes, working them out room by room. Mrs. Dillon lent her talents to making the draperies used throughout. The Dillons are originally from Gardner where Mrs. Dillon was very active in music circles for 25 years. She still participates in church work. Today they share an enjoyment of planting and working with varieties of plants and in the summer their yard is a colorful spot.

The home features gas heat and a two-car garage is attached. The exterior is a pale yellow with stone trim.

Mrs. Dillon is pictured in the living room seated at the organ, which she describes as "our prize possession." Doorway leading to both bath and bedrooms opens at right foreground. Plants are used throughout the home for accessories as both the Dillons boast a "green thumb" and find great pleasure in developing new plant varieties and watching them grow.

PREMIER REVENUE

JACKSONVILLE BEACH, Fla. (AP)—This town's first parking meters were installed last year before the ordinance authorizing them became effective.

By the time the law took effect, conscientious parkers had poured over $300 into the machines. Since the money was collected without authorization of law, the city donated it to the March of Dimes.

Now the situation has been repeated with 200 more meters. On the date they were supposed to go into operation, officials found they already had collected $164.35.

He Hasn't Missed A Bible Class In 37 Years!

DALLAS (AP)—Until somebody else can show up with a better record, George W. McDaniel Jr. figures he's the nation's champion Sunday school attendee.

In the last 1,304 Sundays—or 37 years—McDaniel hasn't missed once. And in the past 44 years he missed only during Navy service in the World War I and once when an aunt died just before Sunday school.

"I went when I could while I was in the Navy," recalls McDaniel. "Even went to a Sunday school in France where I couldn't understand a word."

A FEW YEARS AGO a Sunday found him in a hospital after a hernia operation. His Sunday school class from Highland Park Presbyterian Church came to his hospital room and met there so that his record would be intact.

McDaniel, 61 years old and a 6-footer, was with an Abilene newspaper circulation department for 28 years ending in 1939. Then came 12 years with a Dallas newspaper.

While traveling for the Dallas paper, McDaniel dropped in on Sunday schools throughout the state.

His first Sunday school teacher was Mrs. M. W. Morrow, who was the daughter of Gen. Sam Houston, first president of the Republic of Texas. She taught in the First Presbyterian Church at Abilene.

SINCE BECOMING a real estate man six years ago, McDaniel has quit traveling and his Sunday school attendance is pretty much confined to his own church in Dallas.

McDaniel credits his mother, Mrs. George W. McDaniel Sr., of Abilene, for his perseverance in Sunday school attendance. She was Texas' "Mother of the Year" in 1948 and has always been a faithful attendee.

Last year was the 44th in which McDaniel attended at least 50 of 52 Sundays, which meant he was entitled to a little gold and enamel pin with 44 bars. He already has 43 attendance pins.

'Hobby House' Makes Room For FunActivities Zoned For Isolation

Here's how you can build your hobby house. Design T-504 for The House of The Week has been worked out to give you complete separation between formal and informal living as well as between activities and relaxation.

This is a house for varied family life. There are three distinct zones on the main floor—a fourth zone in the basement. It's almost like having three or four houses in one.

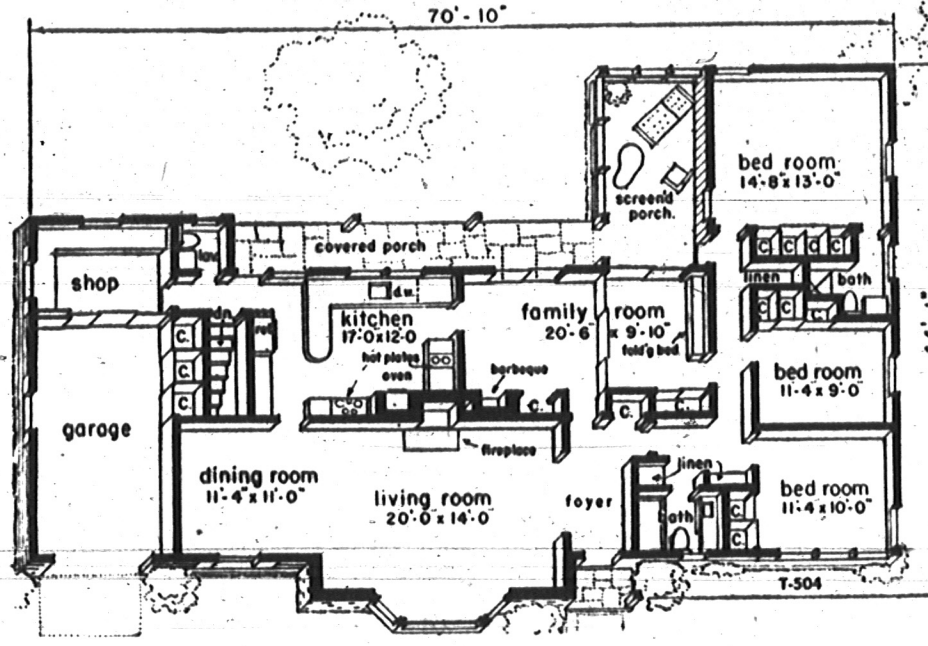

As you enter the front foyer, you look into a spacious formal living room which extends on into the dining room for more than 30 feet. It is easy to picture the imposing wood-burning fireplace that dominates this room in a strategic position opposite the front bay window. Looking at the plan, you can almost see a crystal chandelier suspended from the ceiling in the dining room.

Striding ahead from the front foyer is an entirely different type of house. Here is the informal zone, where the family relaxes, plan in the shop behind the garage. The kids play and young people have their jam sessions. This is a family room, 20 feet long and sliding glass doors to the garden porch. It has an indoor barbecue, a basement workbench. For instance, a sliding partition is a clever device, you won't have to cut a hole in the foundation if you under-take a boat of other outside project. A sliding partition between room and garage allows plenty of room for boat building, as well as the kind that reach from floor to ceiling and comprise merely two sheets of plate glass framed in smooth rolling aluminum—open to a screened porch.

ADJOINING THE family room is

Bathrooms cost a lot to without going out at night, a place for the girls to do needlework. In fact, this is quite a house. Architect Rudolph A. Matern, here a separate wing, they appreciated. A series of three closets in the garage is another nifty idea. There are storage space for 100 pieces of junk that litter most garages.

PEOTONE (JNS)—The second in a series of fox hunts, sponsored by the Sportsmen's Club, will be held today.

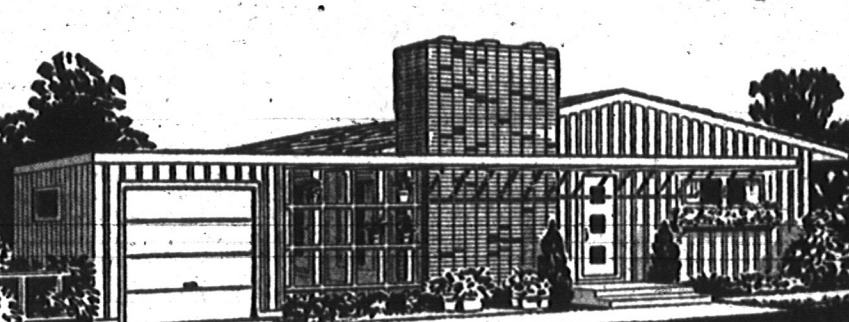

Those who wish to take part will meet at the Town Hall at 1 p.m. Refreshments will be served following the hunt. Five foxes were bagged on the last hunt.

Weather permitting, hunters will cover 16 sections of land. Approximately 150 hunters will be needed to make this successful. Plans are to cover an area four miles east and four miles north of the former Barton School.

If time permits, hunters will try to cover the 16 sections south of that area, on the south side of the Beecher blacktop.

You Can Modernize Your Kitchen

By VIVIAN BROWN
What to do about a 30-year-old kitchen? Since we don't destroy old houses, and many people prefer them to new abodes, many antiquated kitchens are to be found.

It used to be that to preserve the charm of an old house many housewives would tolerate inconvenience in the kitchen. A modern refrigerator might darken the door, and an electric stove might slide in uninvited. But a washing machine or dishwasher? Perish the thought.

Times have changed. An old kitchen can retain its charm by using many materials that will sort of all-purpose the new appliances. One such material is pine paneling. Lovers of early American sometimes point to the popular green of that period to give it an aged appearance. It may be used around counters to disguise anything that looks too modern to sympathize.

SOME HOMEOWNERS do not tolerate an outmoded kitchen if they can help it. Such a couple is the Harry Hendersons of Los Angeles. Says Henderson:

"The kitchen in my 30-year-old house was very old-fashioned with a 10 foot ceiling, a brick chimney where the old cook stove stood, a vented, an ancient soapstone sink, and vintage cabinets."

An ardent do-it-yourselfer, here's what Henderson did to improve such a kitchen. Says he:

"To get away from the tight, crisscrossed feeling, I tore out a partition between the kitchen and back porch and installed a 4 x 16 inch girder to support the upstairs. I got rid of all the old cabinets, peeled off the plaster walls to the bare studs and lowered the ceiling to eight feet."

I SELECTED the best knotty Western pine I could find, 1 by 10 tongue and groove with V-joint edges, and proceeded to line the ceiling. A hydraulic jack came in handy to give even tightness to the joints of the paneling.

"I ran the pine paneling for the lower part of the wall horizontally to chair-rail height, the upper part vertically. A chair rail covered the seam between upper and lower paneling."

"All the cabinets were made out of the same knotty pine material used on walls. I made sure to match vertical grooves on upper and lower doors."

"Before I installed the sink and ceramic tile drainboard, counter and splash, I puttied and sanded all nail holes and protected the pine with a coating of half-and-half spar varnish and turpentine."

"After all fixtures were in place, I applied a second coat of good grade spar varnish. I used a machine sander with No. 120 paper before applying the third final coat. No amount of cooking fumes or finger smudges can mar the beautiful finish I put on."

Kankakee History
WE WERE IN SEVEN COUNTIES AND WHAT A PIONEER THOUGHT OF KANKAKEELAND.

By HAROLD W. SIMMONS
The Kankakee Gazette of Nov. 24, 1857 published a bit of news which probably surprised citizens then as much as it will those of 1958: It is generally believed that Kankakee County was carved out of parts of Iroquois and Will counties but it was seen from the article of 1857 our county has been, at one time or another, a part of seven counties.

"I doubt if there is another man in Kankakee County," said County Clerk Kenneth to the Gazette the other day, "who knows that the territory comprised by our present county of Kankakee has at different times since 1821 been a portion of seven counties, viz:

In 1821 all that portion of Illinois west and north of the Illinois River and the south fork of said river (now Kankakee River) was Pike County; in 1823 were ceded to Fulton County; in 1825 another division was made placing us in Pulaski County; in 1826 the portion south of the Kankakee River was laid off to the new county of Vermilion; in 1833 our whole territory was given to Iroquois County; and in 1836 another division was made setting the territory north of the river into Will County.

In 1851 THE PRESENT county with the exception of a small portion of Rockville, and all of Salina, Essex, Norton and Pilot was formed. In 1853 Salina and Pilot were added, and in 1855 Essex and Norton came into the fold."

"I discovered this," continued Kenaga, "while I was in Springfield recently and Martin Bigelow, the auditor's office, had a plat of the state drawn for me, showing these different divisions with their dates. I shall have this plat recorded on the county records as a part of our history."

The Gazette of June 1, 1882 carried a story relative to a visit of a John R. Martin to Kankakee in that year. What the visitor thought of Kankakeeland makes interesting reading: "Mr. John R. Martin, a resident of Dwight, was in town last Monday and made a passing acquaintance with a number of citizens. Mr. Martin was in Kankakee in the summer of 1831—fifty years ago, and this is his first visit to the place since that time. He with Thos. Sammons and a man named Fraser, walked from Chicago looking for a location. They were a month on the road, and remained here about ten days. Bourbonsals had a dozen log cabins, and there was a similar structure on the river bank (near the present location of the old linen mill building) in this city occupied by a French family named Bourbonsals. Mr. Martin says he and his companions were disappointed in their search for a location and would not have taken a section of land if they could have bought it for two cents. His errand here was to look at a region which was identified with knotty pine days, and to learn of the whereabouts of his whilom companion, Thomas Sammons. Mr. Sammons, he was informed, used to live on the Iroquois river and at one time was sheriff of Iroquois county, but has been dead twenty-five years."

The Kankakee County Historical Society in Gov. Small Memorial Park has a very old and interesting relic of the Sammons family. It is an old hobby-horse crudely fashioned out of a piece of log and was made for Sam Sammons who was born in the early 1800s. It is noticed to form a saddle and small nail holes can be seen where some kind of cloth had been fastened to make a soft seat for the young rider. The horse's head is some sort of knotty growth and all in all by using one's imagination it does look something like a horse. It probably was the pride and joy of a youngster of over a century ago.

THIS UNUSUAL looking train has been working on the Illinois Central Railroad tracks north and south of Kankakee for the past week. It is a rail grinding machine owned by the Speno Rail Grinding Co., Itasca, N.Y. Operators in the control cab of each car control the horizontally set grinding wheels which grind out depressions and rough spots on the top of the rails to lessen the jolting that both freight and passenger cars take and to extend the life of the rails.

'Long Day's Journey Into Night'

O'Neill's Long-Secret Play Goes To Press

NEW YORK (AP)—A long-secret play by Eugene O'Neill is out at last—a remarkable personal narrative of "old sorrow, written in tears and blood."

In it, the late Nobel prize dramatist says in dedication, he has found the strength "to face my dead at last and write... with deep pity and understanding—and forgiveness."

The somber, searing story is a major literary-theatrical event of the year, important both as drama and biography of enigmatic, troubled O'Neill, America's most famous playwright.

"LONG DAY'S JOURNEY INTO NIGHT" is a play that he originally didn't want published until 25 years after his death. The restriction was lifted shortly before he died in 1953 and the lengthy four-act script is being published in book form Monday.

In the first new O'Neill play to appear in 10 years—and perhaps the last. Two other manuscripts he among his posthumous papers, but no publishing plans have been made.

"Long Day's Journey" had its premiere stage presentation in Stockholm this month. No arrangements have been made yet for an American production.

At the moment, biographical interest looms larger than dramatic interest.

The dedication which is to O'Neill's widow Carlotta and the setting of scene and roles make it clear that the drama's "four haunted Tyrone" are substantial: the playwright, his elder brother and parents. It is around the mother—a hopeless narcotics addict in the drama—that much of the play's tragedy revolves.

Typically O'Neill undercurrents of terror, flashing underpinnings of cynicism, and notes of hope absent from many of his dramas, race through "Long Day's Journey Into Night."

Car Hit After Driver Halts To Aid Motorist

A motorist stopped to assist another driver whose car was in the ditch and his own car was hit near here Friday night. Bob Kleinman, 19, Glen Ellyn, Ill., halted to assist John McElwain of Ft. Bliss, Texas, whose car was in the ditch along Route 45 ten miles north of Bourbonnais.

The Kleinman auto was hit by another southbound car driven by Bernard Cunningham, 34, RR 2, West Chicago, according to Kenneth Kyrouac of the Bourbonnais police. No one was hurt.

Two men required treatment after a two-car collision on North street in Bradley at the Illinois Central Railroad tracks.

Armand Blanchette, RR 2, Bourbonnais, one of the drivers, declined all but one honorary degree during his lifetime. The one he took was a doctor of letters honor from Yale.

The publisher says "there is no special reason" for the publication of "Long Day's Journey Into Night" at present—but one thing is clear. It adds one more high specimen of dramatic genius for O'Neill successors to aim at.

Circus To Feature Full Show In Bradley Friday

Aerialists, ground performers and animal acts will be among the featured attractions when the Bradley-Bourbonnais Band Boosters present a Star Spangled Circus at 8 p.m. Friday in the high school gymnasium.

One of the attractions will be De Wena and Company on the silver thread, a young man who does his act on the slack wire. Circus goers will see DeWena and her canine capers, a group of highly-trained dogs, and they will also have the chance to answer the question "man or beast?" when Bongo, a highly educated chimpanzee from the African jungle makes his appearance. The latter is owned and trained by Roy Bible. Also in the animal line will be the act featuring Sparkie, a Shetland pony.

An aerial display of beautiful stunts and grace will feature La Torchie Ballet and still more thrills will come from the breath taking feats on the trapeze of the Aerial Townsends. Turning to the ladder for her act will be Miss Marguerite Gunther.

The circus will offer a juggling act by Weneater and Pricilla, precision jugglers, and of course, it won't leave out the clown since a contingent of busy funmakers will be present throughout the working under the direction of Raymond Dick, the clown prince.

Washington Saw Start Of Great Civilization In Travels

It has become a life-size old joke that "George Washington slept here." Actually most of his camp sites and resting places have disappeared. But he was a great traveler, one of the most durable of his time, and he saw the beginnings of a great civilization.

On a map of the East Coast place a thumb out in a thousand fathoms of the gray Atlantic and put a forefinger on Newport, R. I. Run your forefinger in an arc down to Newport News, Va., and you'll cover the country he knew best.

WASHINGTON WAS in Boston just three times. He never got farther north than Kittery, Maine, through the Carolinas and Georgia, traveling 40 to 50 miles a day over foul roads in foul weather.

As a younger man the general wandered as far west as West Virginia, western Pennsylvania and the beginnings of Ohio. He knew the dense shadows and brooding silence of the original forests.

It was a source of ironic amusement to the general and the strong young men he always chose as aides that almost always when he started a journey the weather turned bad: hot or rainy or sleeting or snowing.

The general always tried to begin a journey before dawn and before breakfast—to the special distress of that young aide, Col. Alexander Hamilton. But there was method in the general's madness. He did it for the sake of the horse he was riding; he knew and respected horses thoroughly; none of America's leaders was a better horseman until U. S. Grant appeared.

WASHINGTON KNEW you get more from a horse in the early morning before he feels the weather. After riding seven or eight miles with the three or four aides and score of dragoons who usually accompanied him, they'd dismount at an inn or somebody's house. There they rested and fed the horses—"baited" them, as they called it. Then if the general were lucky, he might have his favorite breakfast: Indian "hockies" and honey and tea.

Toward noon they stopped again and somebody broke out rations: biscuits and a bit of cold ham or tongue and maybe some of the general's favorite "madeira" wine. Then they pressed on until darkness or exhausted horses stopped them.

Traveling thus, for example, in foul March weather in 1781, Washington rode from his headquarters at New Windsor, N. Y., near West Point, to Newport, R. I., in 56 days—despite the fact the governor of Connecticut held him up in Hartford for nearly a day with some pettifoggish business.

WHEN THE GENERAL and his aides were lucky, they spent the night at a good inn. And to this day there probably isn't anything much better than was a good colonial inn. For one thing, it was the local capital—the gathering center.

It was life itself, the scene of eating, drinking, poliocking, quarreling. In New York and New England these centers were called taverns. In the South they were known as ordinaries. But in Pennsylvania and New Jersey they were called inns.

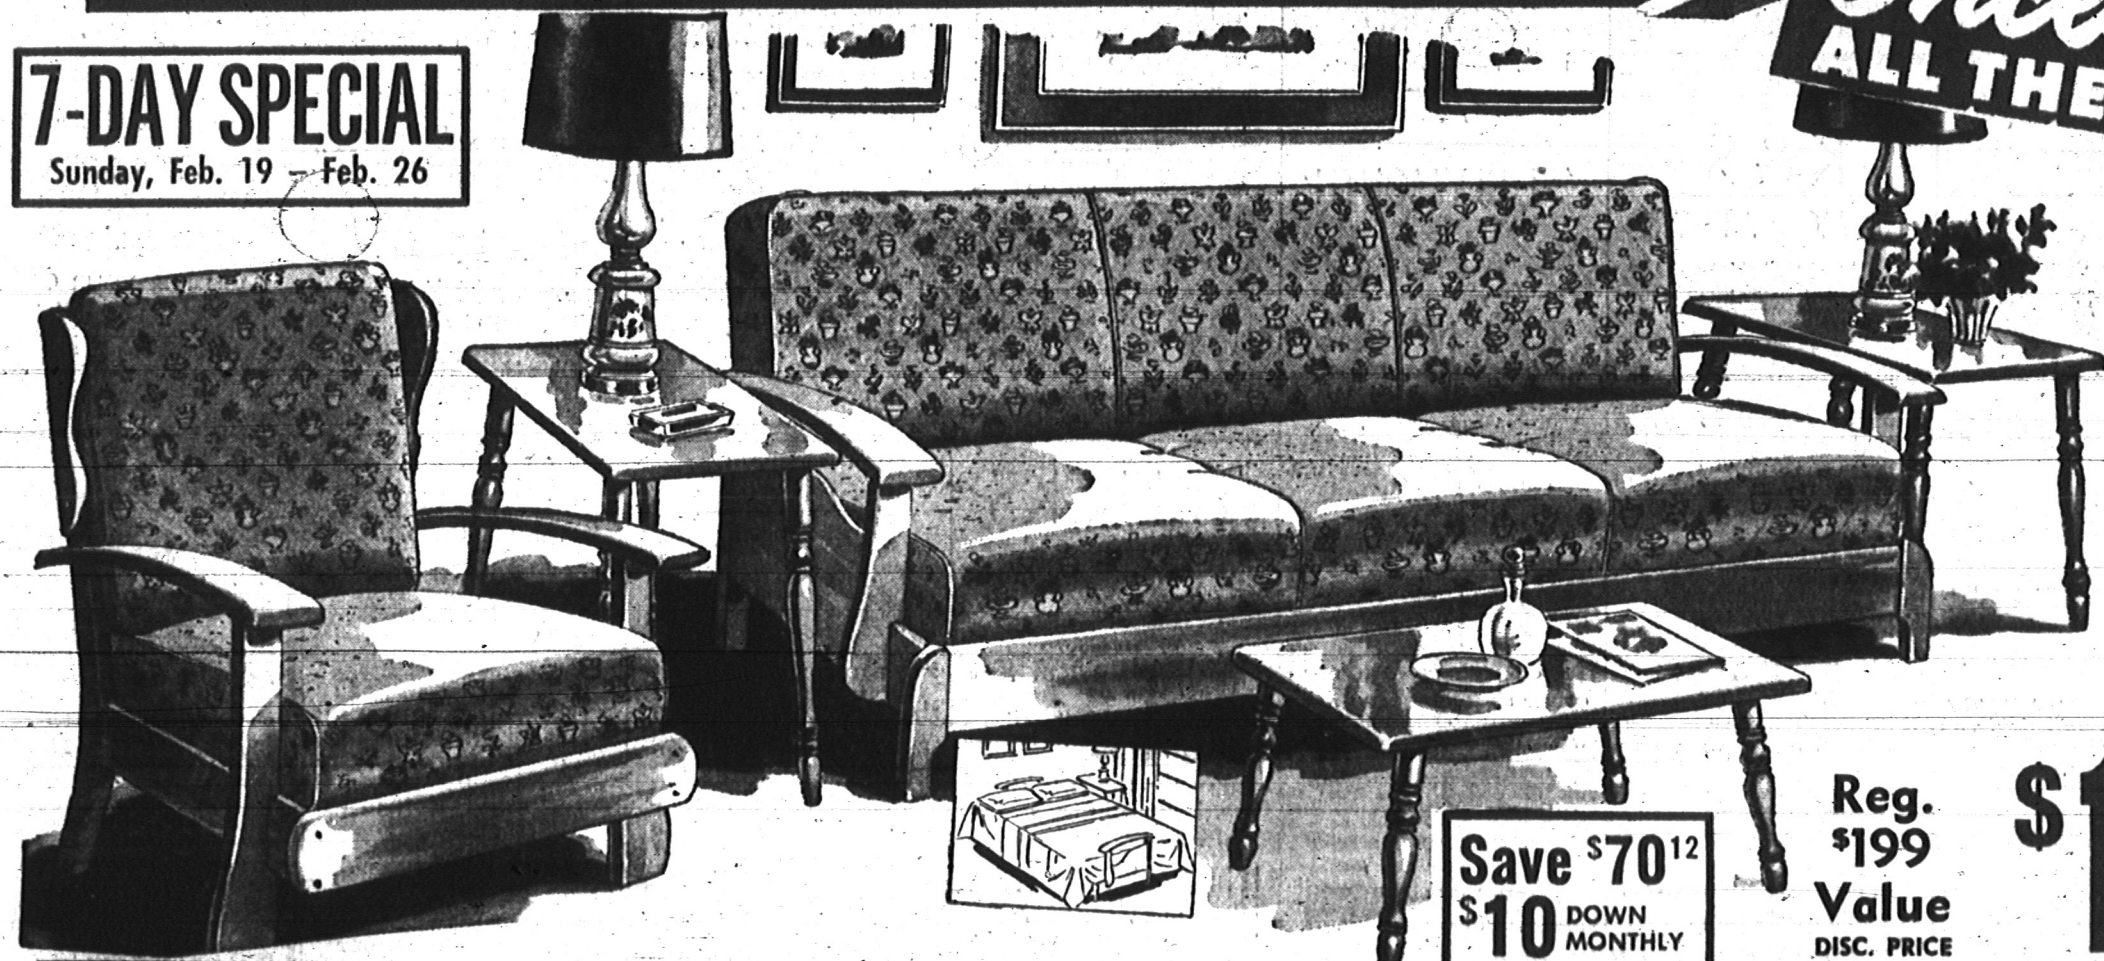

As the Revolution waned, many patriotic innkeepers named their inns "Sign of Gen. George Washington." There were other popular and wonderful names: Sign of the Cross Keys, Sign of the Buck, Indian Queen, Black Horse, Rising Sun, Mermaid. The best of them were square, stone-two-storyed structures with a tap room and a parlor and upstairs bedrooms with six to eight beds to a room.

THE LADY... TO HAVE ALL THE ANSWERS, SO I TRIED OUT SOME QUESTIONS...

WHAT DIFFERENCE DOES IT MAKE WHO I AM SO LONG AS YOU GET YOUR MONEY? LOOK, I'LL PAY CASH IN ADVANCE!

WHY GO TO THE TRICKLE AND TROUBLE OF HIRING A CONFIDENTIAL INVESTIGATOR IF YOU DON'T TRUST ONE? WHY NOT GO TO THE POLICE?

YOU MAKE ME LAUGH! COPS ARE JERKS. WILL YOU HELP ME?

MAYBE.

MY VISITOR DECIDED TO LEVEL WITH ME.

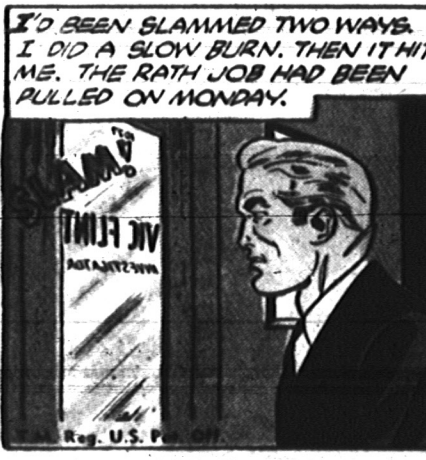

OKAY, I'M RHODA SUTHER. WINTON DAVIS, BETTER KNOWN AS COOKIE, WAS GOING TO MARRY ME TUESDAY. ON MONDAY, HE WAS TO SWING A BUSINESS DEAL TO PAY FOR THE HONEYMOON.

BUT CAME TUESDAY AND NO GROOM, IS THAT IT?

SORRY, BUT IF A GUY WANTS TO DUCK DUCKING RICE, THAT'S HIS BUSINESS. MINES CRIME.

WELL, A LOT OF PROGRESS YOU'VE BEEN MAKING ON THE RATH ARMORED TRUCK ROBBERY. FROM ALL I'VE READ, MR. BIG SHOT!

I'D BEEN SLAMMED TWO WAYS. I DID A SLOW BURN. THEN I HIT ME. THE RATH JOB HAD BEEN PULLED ON MONDAY.

I CALLED ON INSPECTOR GROWL...

WINTON "COOKIE" DAVIS...SAFE CRACKER...EXPLOSIVES EXPERT...PAROLEE! WHY'D YOU ASK?

KNOW A GAL WHO'S NUTS ABOUT HIM. THAT'S ALL.

I PHONED RHODA AND TOOK HER TO DINNER.

WHAT ABOUT COOKIE'S FRIENDS? EVER MEET ANY OF THEM?

ONCE...AT THE GAY PAREE...THIS SMOOTH GUY WITH A MUSTACHE AND A GAL--RENEE, I THINK--COOKIE KEPT OGLING.

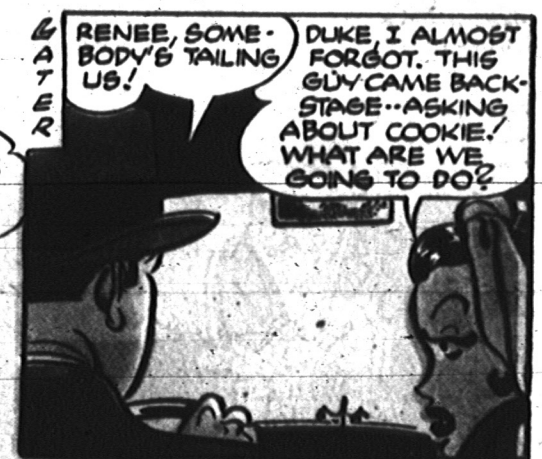

IT WASN'T MUCH OF A LEAD, BUT--

RENEE? YOU MEAN 'RENEE THE REMARKABLE? THAT'S HER!

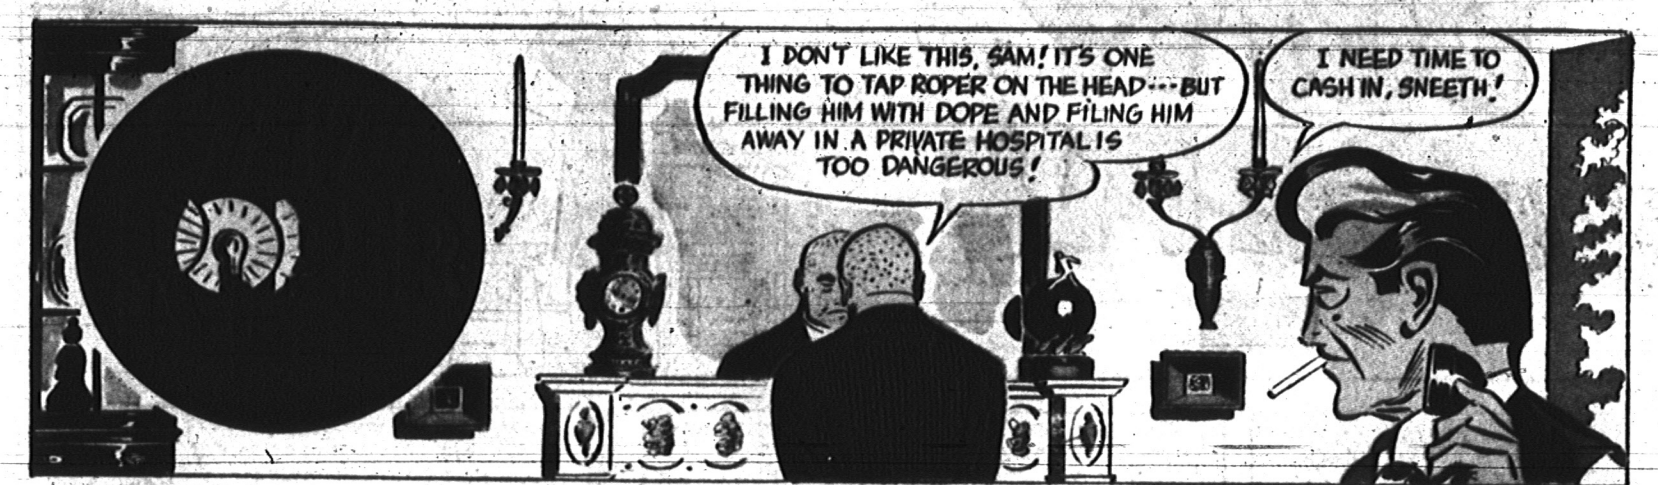

I FOUND HER DRESSING ROOM, AND WAITED UNTIL...

VIC FLINT'S THE NAME. I HAVE A FRIEND WHO'S A MAGICIAN...COOKIE DAVIS. HE DOES DISAPPEARING ACTS. I'D PAY PLENTY TO FIND HIM.

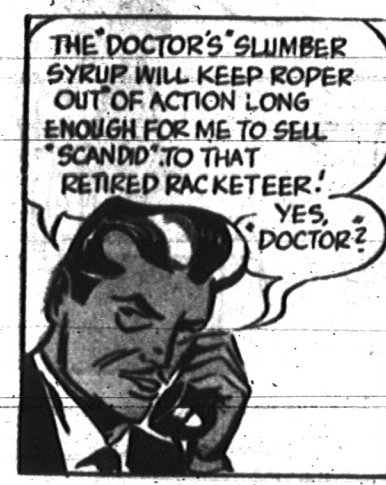

RENEE, SOMEBODY'S TAILING US!

DUKE, I ALMOST FORGOT. THIS GUY CAME BACK STAGE--ASKING ABOUT COOKIE. WHAT ARE WE GOING TO DO?

I DON'T LIKE THIS, SAM! IT'S ONE THING TO TAP ROPER ON THE HEAD... BUT FILLING HIM WITH DOPE AND FILING HIM AWAY IN A PRIVATE HOSPITAL IS TOO DANGEROUS!

I NEED TIME TO CASH IN, SNEETH!

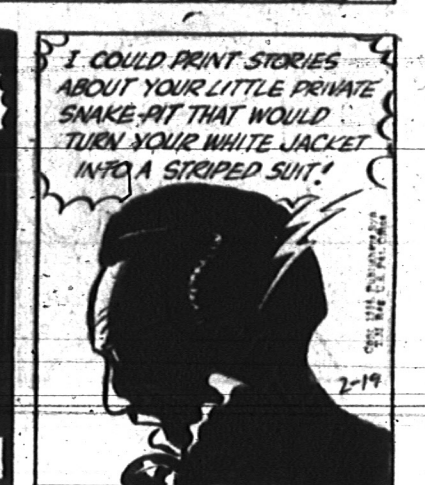

THE DOCTOR'S SLUMBER SYRUP WILL KEEP ROPER OUT OF ACTION LONG ENOUGH FOR ME TO SELL "SCANDID" TO THAT RETIRED RACKETEER!

YES, DOCTOR?

I'M RUINED, KNUKS! WHEN ROPER COMES TO, I CAN'T KEEP HIM HERE! HE'LL GO STRAIGHT TO THE POLICE!

IF YOU DON'T HOLD HIM THERE FOR 24 HOURS, YOU WILL BE RUINED--DOCTOR!

I COULD PRINT STORIES ABOUT YOUR LITTLE PRIVATE SNAKE-BIT THAT WOULD TURN YOUR WHITE JACKET INTO A STRIPED SUIT!

WH-WHATS...UM... WHERE AM I?

DOCTOR!!

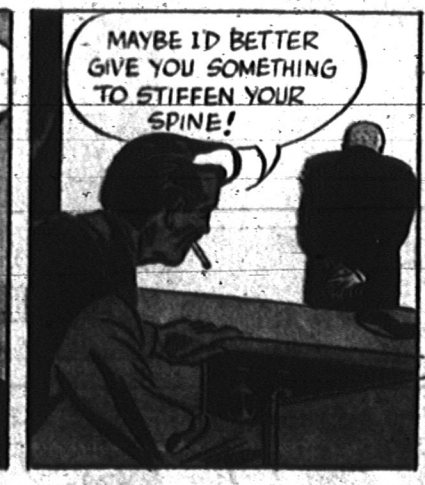

Meanwhile, in the penthouse of Sam Knuks.

WIPE OFF THAT WORRIED LOOK, SNEETH! TOMORROW I'LL BE A RETIRED PUBLISHER AND WE'LL HAVE A FLOUR SACK FULL OF DOUGH!

...AND A FUTURE FULL OF RUNNING!

I DON'T KNOW WHETHER I CAN FACE IT, SAM!... I JUST DON'T KNOW!

MAYBE I'D BETTER GIVE YOU SOMETHING TO STIFFEN YOUR SPINE!

'Butterflyhead'

Ed L. Whitley, 22, from North Carolina, boatwains mate on USS Everlock, had his nickname graphically changed from "Farhead" to "Butterflyhead." Whitley, already sports some 35 other tattoos, but probably is the only one on his ship with a tattooed scalp. Lou Norman.

Honolulu tattoo artist, said the scalp butterfly was the second time in 30 years he has used a needle on someone's cranium. Whitley is in Honolulu waiting for his ship to sail to the Far East. (AP Wirephoto)

Answers Sought In Arabian Deal

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower's decision to ship 18 tanks to Saudi Arabia after all left the State Department still confronting two tough questions today. The department must decide this week:

Link Shotgun Holdups To One Man, Gang

Masked Bandit Gets $150 At West Kankakee Store

Three recent holdups probably were committed by the same person or more than one person acting together, authorities here believe. All three holdups involved masked bandits carrying a shotgun.

The latest occurred about 7 p.m. Sunday at the West Kankakee Liquor Store, 109 W. Station St. A short, unshaven bandit took $150 from the cash register and $28 from Dale Schreffler, who was on duty in the store.

It was the third holdup there in the past two years. A Danville man identified as the bandit who held up the store Labor Day, 1954, is serving a prison term.

The other recent holdups were linked to the one Sunday occurred at the Leskey liquor store, 1008 W. Station St., just outside the city and the Zephyr service station on Fair street in Kankakee.

Two bandits obtained $145 at the service station Friday night. Brandishing a 20-gauge sawed-off shotgun, they wore black and white checked scarves over their faces.

A lone bandit who wore a green hood over his head, took $300 Jan. 28 at Linkey's.

Sunday night's bandit came in and departed by a rear door. Sheriff James W. Laffey believes the bandit was the same one who was on duty when the Labor Day holdup occurred.

The bandit, about 5 feet 4 inches tall, had what was described as a torn tee shirt over his head. Holes for his eyes had been cut in the shirt, and he wore a hat. An estimated four-day growth of beard showed on his chin below his head. He wore a blue flannel jacket. He ordered Schreffler not to sound an alarm until five minutes had passed.

Officers who joined in the search for the bandit included Laffey and Deputies Dan and John. Continued on Page 6, Column 1

First Robin? You Can't Be Sure Anymore

Time was when the "red, red robin" was looked upon as the most reliable harbinger of spring—much more accurate than the questionable groundhog and his dubious shadow.

But no more—at least not in the Kankakee area.

IN THE OLD DAYS the self-respecting robin left this cold climate sometime in late fall and didn't show his red breast again until the first sign of spring.

Nowadays the little creatures seem to follow no such pattern. Early each year the Journal receives many calls from people who have seen the first robin of the season. But this year such calls are so fast on their heels that they have been received by this newspaper. Two were reported in Kankakee, one in December and another in January.

And now from our Martin County correspondent comes word that one of the birds has been stalking around in the snow in that community.

WHY HAVE THEY stayed? Well, it might be for one of these reasons:

1. Our winters are less severe.
2. The three robins in this area are publicity hounds and mean to hog all the news space at the expense of their late-arriving brethren.
3. Costs of winter vacations in the South are too high.
4. Just early birds who want to be sure of getting the first worm of Spring.
5. Just too lazy to make the long trip, and no one offered them a ride.

41 Escape Injury In Crash Landing

CHICAGO (UP)—A four-motored Capitol Airlines Viscount plane in flight from Detroit with 41 persons aboard made a belly landing at Midway Airport today when the landing gear collapsed and the plane came in police report.

The plane, a four-engine, 41-passenger Viscount, was en route from Detroit to Chicago when it encountered difficulties. The landing gear collapsed, and the plane made a belly landing. No one was injured.

The plane was damaged, but the passengers and crew were not. The plane was towed to the airport and is being repaired.

Crash Occurs In Attempt To Land

CAIRO, Egypt (UP)—A French airliner on its way from Indochina to Paris dipped too low in approaching Cairo airport today, hit a desert sandhill, crashed and burned, killing 52 of 64 persons on board.

It was 12 hours after the crash before officials of the French airline were able to confirm and announce that 64 persons were aboard.

The officials said the four-engine DC-8B carried 55 passengers and 9 crew members. Only 12 of the 64 survived—6 crew members and 6 passengers. Most of the survivors were in critical condition, though all but possibly one were expected to recover.

PILOT CAPT. Charles Bilet was among the survivors. He said his co-pilot was dragging the plane in low over the desert toward the international airport in pre-dawn darkness when "he became too low."

When I realized he was flying too low it was too late to avert the crash, Captain Bilet said. The four-engine American-built DC-8B of the French Airlines (T.A.F.) bled off speed into a low desert hillside and burst into fire.

The red lights were on warning us to fasten our seat belts," said French army officer who survived. "I was struggling to get mine fastened when there came a terrible crash."

Airline officials here spent nine hours sorting out varying reports of the number aboard the plane before announcing the final count was 61, including 55 passengers and 6 crewmen. Many of the passengers were children. Most were French.

The airline at Karachi, the plane's last stop, had said 64 were aboard. But the Cairo officials believed this was based erroneously on the fact three others were looked to board in Cairo—where the plane never arrived.

THE FIGURE of 12 survivors was given by Andre Decamps, the French consul general. The disaster was the third major one to strike world aviation within three days. The death toll in the three crashes was at least 139.

Friday night 40 U.S. Marines were killed when a Marine Corps transport plane, military version of the DC-4, smashed into a densely wooded ridge near the Oakland, Calif., naval air station, on the side of San Francisco Bay.

Saturday a British Vickers transport plane carrying British troops home to England from the Suez Canal zone crashed on takeoff from Valletta, Malta, killing all 50 men aboard.

THE DEMOCRATIC Union is a coalition of seven parties which include the United Democratic Left-Wing (UDL), a camouflaged Communist group. A Democratic Union victory would give the Communists a foot in the door of the government and jeopardize Greece's relations with NATO.

Sources close to George Papandreu, 68, leader of the Democratic Union, said Army friends had tipped him that the minister of interior was holding back "bad" election results until early this morning to keep the streets deserted and quiet.

The sources said the friends also warned him that a military coup was all set if required to prevent the union from taking over.

Danville Gambler Settles Tax Claim

CHICAGO (UP)—A $132,773 federal government tax claim against Warren O. White, 44, former Danville, Ill., gambler, was settled today for $73,000.

White and his one-time handbook partner, Ralph H. Smith, 49, are currently serving four-year prison terms imposed for tax fraud Jan. 10, 1955 at Springfield, Ill., by U.S. Dist. Judge Charles G. Briggie.

The settlement, covering taxes for 1945 through 1950 amounted to $47,000 in actual taxes and $26,000 in penalties, Solon said.

White formerly owned the Lamplighter and Hob Nob bars at Danville.

Open Public Investigation Of Donation Probe Again

WASHINGTON (UP)—A special Senate committee headed by Sen. George (D-Ga.) suddenly called new public hearings today on a $2,500 campaign fund offered to Sen. Case (R-SD) during the Senate gas bill fight. George said the group had decided to expand the scope of its investigation.

After a morning closed-door meeting of the committee, George announced it would reopen public hearings this afternoon.

George said Donald R. Ross, who resigned last week as U.S. district attorney for Nebraska, may be one of the witnesses. He gave no reason for the decision to call him.

George said the committee also will call back to the witness stand Howard B. Keck, president of the Superior Oil Co. of California, and Elmer Patman, a lawyer for the firm.

George said that in resuming the public hearings the committee had decided to look into "the general pattern" involved in the campaign fund.

REPORTERS asked whether this meant a search for evidence that other senators may have received offers similar to the one to Case. "In a general way," George replied.

In previous hearings, the committee developed that John M. Neff, of Lexington, Neb., a lawyer-period for Superior Oil, left $25,000 bills with friends of Case for the senator's campaign fund.

Testimony was that Neff got the money from Patman who testified it came from Keck's personal funds.

It was brought out also that Ross introduced Neff to Nebraska's two Republican senators, Hruska and Curtis, to discuss the natural gas bill.

Ross is a former mayor of Lexington and longtime friend of Neff. Ross said in resigning as U.S. attorney that he had done nothing wrong but was concerned that his activities might bring "unwarranted criticism" of the Justice Department.

Subcommittee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said the group asked Foreign Aid Chief John B. Hollister to attend today's hearing along with General Counsel Philip A. Ray of the Commerce Department and Mansfield D. Sprague of the Defense Department.

Brotherhood Week Feb. 19-25

Why Brotherhood Week?

Brotherhood Week was established by the National Conference of Christians and Jews in 1954. In each subsequent year the President of the United States annually proclaims the special week as a brief period during which we Americans should emphasize respect for each other's rights. That means Americans of all racial origins and creeds.

We have been asked some rather pointed questions about Brotherhood Week and we've tried to answer them. For example, here is the way the conversations usually run:

QUESTION: You say that Brotherhood Week is to reaffirm our respect for each other's rights. Who do you believe should observe the week?

ANSWER: All of us.

QUESTION: Well, isn't every American man, woman and child important regardless of heritage, economic status or religious belief?

ANSWER: Yes, that is a basic principle of our democracy.

QUESTION: So it is not a fact that here in the United States—more than in any other country—we profess belief in the fundamental principles of brotherhood?

ANSWER: That is true.

QUESTION: Then why Brotherhood Week?

ANSWER: Because some of us forget. In our zeal to develop self-interests we become unreasonably critical of our neighbors' rights and viewpoints. That leads to misunderstandings and tensions, then to bitterness and sometimes outright antagonism between brother Americans.

Since the beginning of our history as a nation nearly one million Americans—men representing many different races, creeds and national origins—have given their lives in armed conflicts to preserve the rights all of us cherish.

More than twenty million war veterans live in the United States today. They represent all walks of life, creeds and racial backgrounds. But in the final analysis they are all Americans.

As such they are of paramount importance to the unity and strength of our nation. We should respect that fact and build on it.
