HYMN

Led by D. George Dunbar with Timothy Nelson, Organist and Concert Band

Lead On, O King Eternal

1. Lead on, O King Eternal. The day of march has come;
Henceforth in fields of conquest Thy tents shall be our home.
Through days of preparation Thy grace has made us strong;
And now, O King Eternal, we lift our battle song.
2. Lead on, O King Eternal, Till sin's fierce war shall cease,
And holiness shall whisper the sweet Amen of peace;
For not with swords' loud clashing, nor roll of stirring drums;
With deeds of love and mercy, the heavenly Kingdom comes.
3. Lead on, O King Eternal. We follow, not with fears;
For gladness breaks like morning where'er Thy face appears.
Thy cross is lifted o'er us; we journey in its light.
The crown awaits the conquest; lead on, O God of might.

SINGING OF THE ALMA MATER

Written by Byron Carmony, Class of 1939

Led by D. George Dunbar, D.M.A.

To Alma Mater, Olivet, We lift our voice in praise
For noble standards which we'll hold 'till ending of our days.
The time we spent within these halls will ne'er forgotten be,
For here we learned to know of truth, and truth will make us free.

My Olivet, Our Olivet! Though life may lead us far apart,
I'll still revere you in my heart.
My Olivet, Our Olivet. I'll love the Christ you gave first part,
and you, old Olivet!

ACADEMIC ROBES AND REGALIA

The pageantry and color of an academic convocation come to us from the early Middle Ages when academic robes and regalia, having been adapted from ecclesiastical garb, were worn daily in the European universities to lend academic rank and distinction to the wearer. They also lent warmth in the unheated buildings.

American universities of the late nineteenth century revived these medieval costumes to give color and stature to academic functions. The regalia now serve as a visible reminder of the historic antecedents of intellectual pursuits.

Most robes were black to symbolize the democracy of scholarship, since they covered any dress or rank of social standing worn beneath, and were designed to denote levels of academic achievement: bachelor, master, doctor. Today, as then, bachelor's gowns are cut with long pointed sleeves, master's gowns feature closed slit sleeves, and doctor's gowns are full-cut with wide lapels and double-belled sleeves with three velvet chevrons in either black or colored like the lapels. Although gowns are normally black, some universities have designed their own bearing the color of the institution. Today, for example, you will see the scarlet robe of Boston University, the purple robe of Northwestern University, and the maroon of the University of South Africa.

The hood, which drapes over the back of the gown, is the most symbolic part of the academic regalia. Its length, width, color of trim, and color or colors of lining denote the wearer's highest academic achievement. The Master's hood is pointed; the doctor's hood is long and bell-shaped. The color of the border of the hood indicates the scholar's major field of study; the lining color or colors identifies the institution that conferred the wearer's degree. Hoods were originally trimmed in fur, but now have satin borders for masters and velvet for doctors.

The square cap, or mortarboard, dates back to the 13th century at the University of Paris. It came to England in Tudor times, was more rounded, and was sometimes called the Oxford cap. Those who possess a doctor's degree may wear an eight-sided tam provided the institution granting the doctor's degree is more than 100 years old. Tassels are worn to the left side of the cap and are usually black or, in recent years, match the border of the hood to indicate the field of study. Doctoral tassels are shorter than bachelor's or master's and are usually gold metallic threads.
