Voters To Cast Ballots Tuesday

With more than 175,000 persons registered in Kankakee and five surrounding counties, Illinois voters will go to the polls Tuesday to select nominees for the November general election.

Polling places will be open from 6 a.m. to 5 p.m.

There are 49 in Kankakee County. Information about polling places and registration records is available at the registration office on the first floor of the Kankakee County Courthouse, phone 3-6526.

Voters in the first precinct of the Second Ward in Kankakee will vote at the Salvation Army building, 356 E. Merchant St., instead of 220 E. Station St., officials said today.

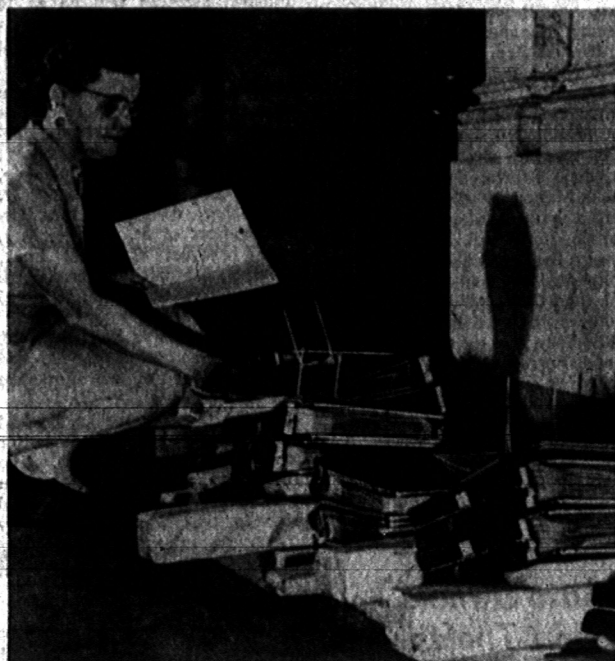

In other counties information is available from county registration offices or county clerks where there is no separate registration office.

KANKAKEE COUNTY has approximately 39,000 registered voters, Iroquois 19,000, Ford 8,900, Livingston 23,000, Grundy 12,000 and Will 75,000 to 80,000.

A record registration for a primary election here may indicate more than passing interest in the voting. Four years ago 9,484 Republican and 2,038 Democratic ballots were cast in Kankakee County. Two years ago the totals were 7,106 Republican and 1,113 Democratic.

In a primary election, voters ask for the ballot of the party of their choice and register their preference for candidates to represent them in November.

With few local contests in the Kankakee area, much interest here Continued on Page 6, Column 2

SUPPLIES FOR Tuesday's primary election are checked by Mrs. Lucinda Lemenager, deputy for voters registration in the Kankakee County Clerk's office which has charge of the supplies. Forty-nine polling places in the county will be open from 6 a.m. to 5 p.m. Voters can avoid a last-minute rush by voting early in the day. (Journal photo)

Ike Asks Farm Bill Revision

Claims Few Vets Abuse VA Program

WASHINGTON (UP) — Chairman Olin E. Teague of the House Veterans Committee said today a committee study shows that only a "small percentage" of veterans are abusing their right to free hospital treatment if they cannot afford to pay.

The Texas Democrat based this statement on a dual federal investigation of the veterans medical program by the committee and the General Accounting Office.

The investigators reported hundreds of abuses by veterans and doctors, but noted that these did not make up a large percentage of the overall program. Exact ratios were not offered in the reports.

The General Accounting Office investigated the ability of veterans to pay for hospitalization involving non-service connected disabilities.

THE COMMITTEE conducted a study of abuses of the Veterans Administration's out-patient program in which private physicians and dentists handle the treatment and bill the government.

Numerous cases were listed in which doctors and dentists charged for work not done for the veterans.

The report offered no recommendation or conclusion.

Teague said it showed "a certain amount of carelessness, misunderstanding, and in a few cases, outright dishonesty" in the out-patient program.

He added that some of the "serious false claims" have been "referred to the Justice Department for prosecution."

"Certainly these abuses do not provide the basis for the generalization that there is substantial dishonesty among the medical professions," he said.

Hold New Yorker As Suspect In Slaying Of Airman

NEW YORK (UP) — FBI agents have arrested a 21-year-old laborer in a Bowery hotel in connection with the slaying of Airman Roger C. Timm in Oklahoma in February.

Prentice Frank Day was charged Sunday with unlawful flight from Oklahoma to avoid prosecution for murder and interstate transportation of a stolen motor vehicle.

Timm was found shot to death alongside a road near Madill, Okla., on Feb. 21 apparently the victim of a hitchhiker. He had left his Evanston, Ill., home a week earlier to report for duty with the Air Force at Abilene, Tex.

His bloodstained car was found in San Antonio, Tex., before his body was discovered.

FBI agent James J. Kelly said "the investigation had connected Day with the recovered car." He would not elaborate.

The FBI said Day was dishonorably discharged from the Army on Dec. 8. He remained in New York until early February when he "departed suddenly," the FBI said. Day returned here last month and was registered in the hotel on the Bowery under the name of Frank Benton when arrested Sunday.

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower told congressional Republican leaders today that the pending farm bill is not a "good bill." He urged them to make a last-ditch effort to send it back to a Senate-House conference committee for revision.

He discussed the bill with legislative leaders and Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson at a White House meeting shortly before leaving for a golfing holiday at Augusta, Ga.

A FORMAL STATEMENT read to reporters by House GOP Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts after the meeting said Mr. Eisenhower feels that the present measure "does not meet the test of a good bill."

Asked whether this was meant as a warning that Mr. Eisenhower will veto the bill if it reaches him in its present form, Martin replied, "not necessarily."

Martin said House GOP leaders will try to send the bill back to conference committee when it comes to the House floor Wednesday.

As approved 8-2 by the conference committee last week, the bill would restore rigid high price supports for one year, which Mr. Eisenhower strongly opposes. It also contains other features the administration doesn't like, along with the President's own plan for a $1,200,000,000 soil bank program.

MARTIN EVADED efforts by reporters to pin him down about the prospects of a presidential veto if the bill is unchanged.

At one point, he said he would be "inclined to think" that Mr. Eisenhower would veto the bill in its present form. But he quickly added that the President "always reserves his own individual action until a measure is before him."

Martin said he will call a conference of all House Republicans Tuesday afternoon to work out detailed plans for the recommitment.

Top Reds Assail British Security For Their Visit

LONDON (UP)—Official Soviet criticism of British arrangements for this month's visit of the top leaders in the Kremlin shocked and surprised Britain today.

The Soviets already had given full approval to British plans for the visit later this month of Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist Party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev.

A Soviet news agency criticized British officials for keeping Bulganin and Khrushchev away from the common people.

Most British circles blamed former Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov for the sudden switch. Malenkov, who turned a tour of power stations into a triumphal propaganda tour, returned home to Moscow only Saturday.

Then came the long interview with Bulganin and Khrushchev in which they asked more time for baby kissing and hand shaking and "regretted" they could not visit factories in Scotland and Wales.

Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden invited the Soviet leaders to come to Britain during last summer's "summit" conference at Geneva. His main purpose was to hold top-level talks aimed at reducing world tensions. Two days of their tour are devoted to such talks.

To Mobilize Reserves French Ready

PARIS (UP)—Premier Guy Mollet and his cabinet worked today on plans to mobilize French reserves for fighting in North Africa where weekend clashes claimed 250 lives.

About 75,000 Frenchmen were expected to be recalled to the colors under Mollet's plan with 25,000 of them to be called back this week. He hopes to send 40,000 to Algeria as soon as possible.

Government sources said another 50,000 would be mobilized within the next month for another group of reinforcements. This would bring to 90,000 the new men available to fight the Algerian rebellion.

ALGERIAN DISPATCHES said two major engagements and a score of minor incidents left a toll of more than 250 victims in one of the bloodiest weekends of the 18-month-old rebellion. Two engagements were among the heaviest witnesses thus far in Algeria and raged at opposite ends of the country.

Eisenhower Begins Georgia Vacation

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower flew to Georgia today to take up where the golfing masters finished Sunday on the rugged course of the Augusta National Golf Club.

The President, accompanied by Mrs. Eisenhower, left aboard the government plane Columbine III for a one-week golfing holiday.

75 Die In Raids; Mid East Remains Tense

Northeast Gets 4th Big Snow In 24 Days

Southwest Choked By 'Black Duster' At Least 14 Killed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Another winterlike mantle of snow covered much of the northeast today while a black blanket of dust swept part of the southwest.

Snow-weary New Englanders once again started digging out after a spring storm dumped more than a foot of snow in many areas Sunday.

The snowstorm, "propelled by winds up to 62 miles per hour, was the fourth big snow to hit the northeast in 24 days.

At least nine deaths were attributed to the new storm. Most of the victims died of heart attacks while shoveling snow.

Three Marine Corps officers were missing near New York on a flight from California.

THE HIGH WINDS and heavy, wet snow felled hundreds of power lines and knocked out heat, light and refrigeration in an estimated 75,000 homes.

A "black duster" whipped up by 78-mile-per-hour gusts lashed the Texas Panhandle Sunday and threatened to spread through the rest of the state today. The dust also choked parts of New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas and Colorado.

Amarillo, Tex., was darkened in what the weather bureau said was the worst dust storm since 1936.

Three persons were killed in a three-car pileup near Amarillo during the height of the storm. Snow sifted on Wyoming, northern Colorado and western Nebraska.

Up to 10 inches fell in Wyoming. Two persons were killed and eight injured in a bus-car collision near Rock Springs in that state.

In the northeast the spring snow fall ranged from 2.7 inches in New York City to 25 inches in the Catskill Mountains.

Blanford, Mass., reported a foot and a half of snow. Ashfield, Mass., was buried in drifts up to 10 feet deep.

HAZELTON, Pa., had a 17-inch snowfall and Norwalk, Conn., 16 inches. The mountainous northwest corner of New Jersey also reported 16 inches of new snow. The death toll in the northeast included three in Massachusetts, one in New Hampshire and three in New York.

Tornadoes were reported in southeast Kansas and northeast Oklahoma Sunday.

Employment Up 501,000 To 63 Million

WASHINGTON (UP)—The government report today that employment increased last month to a total of 63,078,000. That was a gain of 501,000 over the previous month.

But at the same time the total number of unemployed dropped by only 80,000 to 2,834,000. The difference in the increase in employment and the decrease in unemployment reflected the fact that more people, such as housewives were in the market for jobs.

The statistics were in a report jointly released by the Commerce and Labor departments.

The departments said the unemployment total remained close to the level of the two previous months whereas usually it is "declining appreciably by early spring."

The departments said layoff of factory workers "have partially offset" seasonal employment rises in construction and other industries.

The employed total was 2,601,000 higher than in March, 1955, and the unemployment total was 342,000 lower than a year ago.

Hammaraskjold Speeds To Scene

JERUSALEM (UP)—Egyptian charges of an Israeli raid in the Gaza Strip and retaliation raids by Arab commandos kept tensions high today along the turbulent Arab-Israeli borders.

The latest reported toll since Thursday in the Gaza area was: 66 Egyptians and 9 Israelis killed, 93 Egyptians and at least 23 Israelis wounded, 1 Egyptian captured.

The violence continued on the eve of U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's arrival in the Middle East on an urgent hunt for ways to restore peace.

Hammaraskjold received the blessing of Pope Pius XII in Rome today.

HE SPEEDED up his schedule and ordered the U. N. truce supervisor, Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, to stay on the scene in Jerusalem.

Egypt reported a one-hour clash at its Gaza outpost of Deir El-Balah. A spokesman said Egypt had protested to the U. N. Mixed Armistice Commission.

An Egyptian army spokesman said Israeli armored cars approached the truce line after midnight and Israeli soldiers crossed on foot into Egyptian territory. The Israelis opened fire with automatic weapons on the Egyptian outpost, he charged.

The Arab commandos struck in the night at a number of southern Israeli points in the Judean Hills, the Negev and near the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip.

An Israeli army spokesman said the raiders—called Fedayans—killed one Israeli and wounded at least six. He reported one Fedayan killed and another captured.

JORDAN reported two Israelis and two Jordanians killed in a clash six miles inside Jordan.

Israel charged Egypt had recruited the Fedayans among Palestine Arabs living in Gaza refugee camps.

Israel ordered secret security measures and threatened retaliation measures unless Egypt guarantees an end to violence. The border clashes flared for the fourth straight day since Burns called for a cease-fire.

One Fedayan band attacked an Israel labor camp near Kziot in the southern Negev demilitarized zone, killing one worker and wounding three, the army spokesman said.

Another blew up a well near Gvar-Am village and a light pole near Silin, both near the Gaza Strip.

Snow Forecast For Election Day

Primary election voters may have to wear their overshoes Tuesday, providing the U.S. Weather Bureau is correct.

Their forecast for the Kankakee area says, "Cloudy with rain changing to snow tonight and Tuesday, with 2 to 4 inches of snow likely."

After a rather cool weekend, skies were clear and the temperature seemed on the upgrade early today. But the forecast made it clear that we'll have more snow before spring weather returns.

President Asks Defense Fund Spending Hike

More Than Half Of $547 Million Set Aside For Bombers

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today to increase defense appropriations for the coming fiscal year by $547,000,000.

More than half of the extra-funds will go to strengthen the nation's H-bomb fleet of B-52 jet bombers.

Mr. Eisenhower said that only about 400 million dollars of the requested funds would actually be spent during the 1957 fiscal year starting July 1. Therefore, he said, the new request "will not unbalance the 1957 budget" which he presented to Congress in January. The budget originally provided for a federal surplus of about 400 million dollars.

MR. EISENHOWER earmarked 376 million dollars of the new appropriation for the Air Force to provide for "accelerated production" of long-range B-52s, and construction of additional Strategic Air Command bases to handle them.

Part of the Air Force funds also would go to speed construction of the so-called "DEW line" or Distant Early Warning line of radar stations stretching 3,000 miles across the Arctic rim of northern Canada.

The President also sought $65,000,000 for the Navy; $55,000,000 for the Army; and $50,000,000 for "inter-service activities."

He said the "inter-service" funds will go "primarily to provide for meeting unforeseen developments in the ballistic missile program." He did not elaborate.

THE NAVY FUNDS will provide for additional ship conversions and the Army funds for a minor increase in ground forces strength. No details of the new programs were given in Mr. Eisenhower's supplemental appropriation request, which was formally submitted to Congress after the golfing holiday in Augusta, Ga.

Mr. Eisenhower said that of the Air Force funds, about $24,000,000 would go directly for purchase of new B-52 bombers and $128,000,000 for construction of new B-52 bases and the DEW line radar screen. Defense officials said the B-52 program will provide 30 of the far-reaching eight-jet bombers. With the support facilities, the B-52 program comprises more than half of the total appropriation request.

Brownell Asks Broad Powers To Investigate Civil Rights Violations

WASHINGTON (UP)—Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. asked Congress today for broad powers to investigate civil rights violations and to enforce individual voting rights.

He formally submitted the administration's four-point civil rights program calling for:

Creation of a six-member, bipartisan civil-rights commission to hold hearings on charges that minority groups, particularly Negroes, are deprived of their voting rights and subjected to unwarranted economic pressure.

Creation of a new civil rights section within the Justice Department, under an assistant attorney general, to enforce civil rights statutes.

Tightening existing laws against intimidation of voters in federal elections.

IMPROVING LAWS governing conspiracies to interfere with civil rights.

The proposed revisions would make it a federal offense for any individual to try to deprive any of his voting rights or by intimidation or other measures, or to "conspire" to interfere with any persons civil liberties. They would permit the government to step in on its own without waiting for the injured party to bring suit or to exhaust all remedies available in state courts.

Brownell said the group should have power to subpoena witnesses, take testimony under oath and request information from any executive department or agency.

The commission, composed of three members from each political party, would hold public hearings. It could make interim reports pending its final findings and recommendations.

Using Voting Chances Keeps Democracy Alive

If any given local citizen stays away from the polls for Tuesday's primary election, this loss from duty probably will not have world-shaking consequences. However, the practice of democracy has tremendous importance in these fateful times.

There will be more than one candidate for various offices and more than one party. Ballots will not be marked in advance. The people will make decisions.

The Communists say this is all wrong. They insist that directives must come down from above, that people should vote only for selected candidates, that the government knows the needs of people better than they do.

It is true that voters make mistakes. There is no such force as collective infallibility. But there is collective good sense. This corporate judgement, over the long pull, is sound.

The British people voted for socialism once. Then they saw their mistake. They turned the socialists. Conservatives were put back in office because they had the formula which best suited the British people. In the long run, public judgement proved to be best.

Democracy keeps marching ahead. It keeps changing, sometimes in error, more often in the right direction. Every voting time is another step forward. The process is orderly and constructive evolution.

Tuesday's primary may not, in many of its aspects, be either critical or unique. Again, some of its phases may write history. And, most important of all, it will be part of a long and rewarding process.

Every occasion of free balloting, anywhere in the world, has scope and meaning. It is another milestone in man's continuing struggle. People may not long remember much about what happened on April 10, but the mere fact democracy will assert itself is of significance.

University May Employ Entrance Examinations

BLOOMINGTON, ILL. (PANTAGRAPH) — High school graduation does not indicate adequate preparation for college work, in the opinion of President David D. Henry of the University of Illinois.

This situation leaves the institutions of higher learning no choice but to give greater attention to admission procedures in the future, he said.

Many people believe that the level of high school education has been lowered to accommodate the less gifted youngsters and that the superior students are neglected by comparison.

High school educators are aware of the problem. They realize that they have taken on a task which all but defies solution satisfactory to all. They need the support of the entire community in this problem.

That involves a common agreement that more attention must be given to education of gifted children in the public schools. It may mean a rather early separation of students along the lines of some European schools. The superior student would pursue one course while those whose primary interests and abilities tend toward crafts and manual skills pursue other courses which do not lead to college.

In this age of technical skills and managerial responsibilities every effort must be made to utilize our manpower to the very best advantage. This must be done in so far as possible within the framework of our philosophy of public education for all who can benefit from it.

12-Months Class Would Hit Family Vacations

A recent statement by a Michigan college professor recommending a 12-month school year caused a search through newspaper files and discovery of a 1921 headline: "Educators Decry Summer Vacations."

The 1921 news item, and similar items in succeeding years predicted confidently that the year-around school year would soon be the rule rather than the exception. It would remove pupils from the "unfavorable environment" of vacation time, increase teachers' salaries, effect full time use of expensive school plants and machinery and relieve mothers of the distraction of having youngsters under foot for 12 weeks each summer.

What about the need for a change of scene that restores the body and refreshes the mind? What of the student who needs a summer vacation to earn money, or the teacher who wants to attend a summer refresher course? What of vacations where the family goes to the beach?

Private Aid Better Than Giveaways

Alfred Krupp, Germany's leading industrial baron, recently pointed out the way America should follow in promoting the development of backward areas in Asia and Africa.

Krupp dramatically proposed that private enterprise be allowed to develop backward areas, assisted by long-term loans at low rates of interest, such loans to be furnished by recognized quasi-public international lending agencies.

The Russians are offering some of the undeveloped countries near the borders of the Soviet Union long-term loans at only 2 to 2 1/2 per cent interest. Hence, to compete with the Soviets, the United States must make such loans available at equally low rates.

But private capital will not be forthcoming at such low rates. If private enterprises in the West are to invest capital in building up new industries of backward areas they must be able to borrow at 2 to 2 1/2 per cent from Western international lending agencies such as the World Bank or the Export-Import Bank, or specially created new international lending agencies.

THE ROLE WHICH the U. S. government should play, according to Krupp, should be that of a lender of last resort, providing hundreds of millions of dollars from the Treasury to be given away by Uncle Sam directly to the governments of such countries as Iran, Iraq, Egypt, etc., to spend as they see fit without any strings attached.

Instead, Uncle Sam should limit his role to making long-term credits at low rates of interest available to the governments of backward areas who have voted in the 1952 primary.

Every project would be carefully appraised and approved as a sound, legitimate investment before funds were made available. This would eliminate the bootlegging and squandering of the American taxpayers' dollars which characterized the spending of much of the 15 billion dollars of Marshall Plan funds and subsequent billions which there has been little to show today.

AMERICAN TAXPAYERS' dollars under the Marshall Plan, for example, were used, among other things, to build luxurious gambling casinos in France and were paid out in such a fashion as to maintain or even intensify the inequalities of wealth and income in France.

Partly as a result of Marshall Plan extravaganzas and blunders, the Communist party in France still remains the biggest party in the country. Nearly 25 per cent of all French citizens voted the Communist ticket in the national elections three months ago.

There is no assurance whatever that a "Marshall Plan of huge dollar handouts" by the American government for backward countries in Asia and Africa will be any more successful than were the Marshall Plan giveaways in Italy and France.

In fact, were it not for the recent offers by Russia of long-term loans at 2 to 2 1/2 per cent interest, Western private enterprise alone, without any indirect assistance from the U. S. government would be able to provide adequate funds for the gradual industrialization and modernization of backward areas.

Last year, for example, Western Germany alone invested 125 million dollars in foreign countries and is planning even bigger private investments for this year and next.

AMERICAN PRIVATE firms, too, have many millions available for investment in foreign countries, if the interest rate is made attractive and guarantees can be furnished against confiscation of the capital invested by socialist or quasi-socialist governments.

The Ford Motor Co. alone has a net investment of 77 million dollars in its subsidiary plants in foreign countries and its equity in the net assets of these foreign concerns is 199 million dollars.

The U. S. State Department is at present busily studying the Krupp proposals. It is to be hoped it will give the proposals the serious consideration they deserve. Uncle Sam should limit his activities in the industrial game to that of umpire. He should not be a player in the field.

This year another man Mr. Clarence Klenghorn has shown his willingness to work for the "unit" by placing his name on the ballot for one of the 100 delegates to elect to this man or are we, like Rip Van Winkle, going to sleep for another 20 years only to find our children grown and beyond the help we can give them now when they need it most.

Lausche And Symington

All the Democratic candidates are willing to say that they can beat President Eisenhower. Their arguments, however, do not sound realistic. At first the Democrats thought that they could kill Eisenhower by throwing dead cats at the vice president, Richard Nixon. It came to nothing.

Then the Democrats began to throw their own weight around. The Shivers-Johnson quarrel in Texas is meaningless because Sam Rayburn will undoubtedly prevail.

There is a vulgarly in this campaign as a result of President Eisenhower's heart attack. Naturally, a heart attack is a serious matter; so is pneumonia, a tumor on the brain, or even slipping on a cake of soap in a bathtub. There is even speculation as to what might happen if Eisenhower were to die before he could be inaugurated. The Supreme Court might even be called upon to decide whether the vice president-elect qualified.

This ugly, really unmanly speculation is the cause for the feverish activity in the Democratic party — an activity so feverish that there is even a campaign on for the vice president, Mayor Wagner of New York City being most active in that field.

AT THIS POINT, attention needs to be called to two Democratic dark horses who are being taken very seriously in both Democratic and Republican circles. One is Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio who is seeking the Democratic nomination for senator in his state and who is likely to be elected.

The other, Stuart Symington, is senator from Missouri. He has been a businessman, a calligrapher and a legislator and could be more acceptable to southern Democrats than either Kefauver or Harrison. He got a bit fouled up during the McCarthy-Army hearings but it is doubtful if that hurt him much with Democrats whose passion it is to find a candidate who can consolidate the southern and northern big city wings of their party. The leading candidates, Kefauver, Stevenson and Harrison, have not established their ability to achieve such unity.

This is a serious matter for such a northern big city leader as Carmine DeSapio of New York who was correct in estimating that Wagner would have a tough time of it. A year ago, he downgraded Stevenson. But DeSapio has not been able to stir up a clamor for Harrison nor has he found any other candidate to support. If Harrison could be nominated, it would be of some political advantage to DeSapio.

ONE OF DESAPIO'S DIFFICULTIES is Mayor Wagner's ambition to run for vice president. If Harrison is the candidate for president, Wagner cannot be the candidate for vice president as the convention is not going to nominate two men from New York. Therefore, despite the fact that it is bad local politics, Wagner has declared for Stevenson. This has cost him a very interesting nomination in New York Democratic circles and may lead to loss of trouble for the mayor.

The Democrats have rarely been faced by such a complex situation since the years of the 1920s. It is a candidate who does not know serious problems is to raise money for the campaign. They will need to find their money from among the labor unions and from the corporations who contribute to both parties because they do not know which is the right dog. The labor unions are apparently holding off until they know what kind of a candidate they are going to get.

As a consequence of the primaries, the Republican leaders will be warning their party workers to carry on a "give 'em hell" offensive. He didn't make a very auspicious start with his New York speech this week because he was against overconfidence. The Democratic managers are counting heavily on former President Truman to carry on a "give 'em hell" offensive. He didn't make a very auspicious start with his New York speech this week because he was against overconfidence.

The Democrats, on the other hand, four years ago, didn't have much of a contest and Sen. Keating made only a few trips to the state. The total Democratic vote in the 1952 primary was 241,525 as compared with approximately 325,000 this year. It was a gain of about 84,000 votes this time, but, as it is noted that Stevenson polled 62,175 in the 1952 election, it will be apparent that the votes in the Democratic primary this week fell far short of the total of four years ago.

THE PRIMARY campaign is definitely not an issue of the kind as a whole. More people who are eligible to vote stay away than those who do go to the polls.

Plainly, the most significant thing about the primary votes is the absence of any contest in Wisconsin. But there was no contest on the Republican side either. In fact, Wisconsin was supposed to be one of those states where the farm revolt would bring a serious defection in the Republican party. Percentagewise, nevertheless, the Republicans brought out a slightly bigger proportion of their own vote than the Democrats did.

IT IS IMPORTANT in comparing the figures of this year's primary elections and the primaries of four years ago to recall that the Republicans staged quite a contest in the 1952 primary with Taft, Warren and Stassen dividing the vote. So the total Republican vote in the 1952 primary of 778,000 must be compared with the 425,000 cast this year for President Eisenhower and 18,000 for Chapple, or a total of 443,000—virtually no contest.

South Wilmington's New Tank

A major portion of South Wilmington's water improvement program will be completed soon when the village puts into operation its new water tank, pictured at right. The new tank will replace the old one (shown left), which held only 4,000 gallons. Total capacity of the new tank is 25,000 gallons, with an additional 5,000 gallons in the riser. The tank was constructed by the Chicago Bridge and Iron Co. The old structure will be torn down.

Plans are to put the new tank into operation as soon as it is filled, tested, drained and refilled. Also completed in the water program is the installation of five blocks of new water mains by the Williams Construction Co. of Joliet. (Journal photo)

Seek Ways To Plug Up Holes

Fear U.S. Defense Umbrella May Become Another 'Magnet Line'

(Editor Note: United Press Washington Correspondent Charles Gandy has been on a 10-day tour of radar bases comprising the so-called "Distant Early Warning" line which stretches 3,000 miles across the North American Arctic rim.)

POINT BARROW, Alaska (UP)—Will the radar warning line being built in the far north become a Magnet line—giving the public an exaggerated sense of safety against Russian attack?

This question persists as one tours the 3,000 miles of isolated, snow-drenched wasteland where 4,000 construction workers of many nationalities are erecting the Distant Early Warning or DEW line at a cost of at least 400 million dollars.

STRONG ACROSS the North American Arctic rim, "the line" is intended to warn key target areas to six hours before jet bombers swooping over the polar reaches can deliver a nuclear attack. It runs generally along the 70th parallel high above the Arctic Circle and the continental tree line and within 1,200 miles of the North Pole, at dozens of sites where few white men have been before.

Defense leaders believe there was no choice in this cold war, air-atomic era but to carry out the fantastic construction project. But they know the DEW line's limitations and hope it will not create a Magnet complex, an overdone feeling of safety that could down in other vital defense areas.

For one thing, it is still as much two years from completion, according to the U.S. Air Force which made the prime contract with Western Electric Co. to build it.

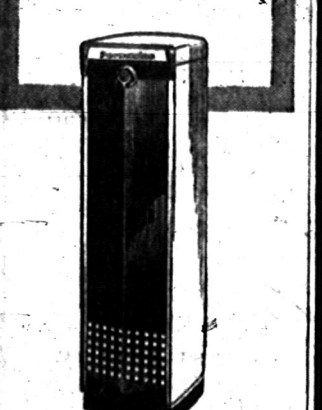

IT WAS STARTED in early 1955, more than two years after scientists called it feasible and urgently needed. Its sensitive radar, mounting guard on towers high in the northland's tundra and rocky pinelands, will be arrayed to detect Soviet attacks by planes of a type Russia has right now in considerable numbers.

The line will hardly become fully operational, sometime in 1958, before military men will be groping for revolutionary improvements in the hope it can be made useful in combating the threat of approaching intercontinental ballistic missiles. There is an evident hope that eventually it may become the scene of pilotless interceptor or guided missile facilities, so that counterattacks can be put up instantly.

Entirely American financed, the DEW line stretches from Cape Lisburne to the southwest of here on the Bering Strait, across Alaska's Arctic slope and Canada's westward northern flatlands to Baffin Island's ragged, fjord-marshaled east coast.

PARLEY IN 9TH MONTH GENEVA (UP)—U. S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson and Wang Ping-nan of Communist China carried their long inconclusive negotiations on Far Eastern questions into the ninth month today. The two envoys met for 70 minutes today. Principal items still before them include the release of American civilians held in Communist China.

CHICAGO (UP)—Three bites out of a piece of cheese landed a robber in jail, two University of Chicago dental scientists reported today.

The scientists, addressing an anthropologists' meeting, said the robber pleaded guilty when he saw his teeth marks on the cheese. Chances of another person having the same marks are about 60-million to one, they said.

Prepare Court Change Proposals For 58-60 Voters

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—Illinois voters will get two chances to approve or reject constitutional amendments revamping the state's judicial system if an Illinois State Bar Association proposal is adopted.

The association announced Saturday its governing body had approved a draft of a new proposed constitutional system for selecting judges and organizing Illinois courts.

Proposals to revamp the judicial system failed to get past the Legislature in 1953 and 1955, principally because no agreement could be reached as to how judges should be selected.

The bar group would have the voters approve reorganization of the court system in 1958, and in another amendment decide in 1960 on a "non-political" selection of judges.

Other than splitting the proposed amendment in two, the bar plan for reorganization of the courts is similar to proposals defeated earlier.

More Probing Planned In Natural Gas Bill Lobby

WASHINGTON (UP)—Chairman John L. McClellan said today that the first task of the new Senate lobbying committee will be to investigate lobbying both for and against the vetoed natural gas bill.

The Arkansas Democrat said his eight-man committee will begin by picking up "any loose ends" left over from the now-completed investigation, made by a committee headed by Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga.), was limited to an attempt to sway the vote of Sen. Francis Case (R-Sc) on the gas bill.

GEORGE SAID Sunday that the entire file of the McClellan committee's recommendation that a careful study be made of laws on lobbying and campaign spending. But he predicted McClellan "will find a great deal of work."

The George committee said "there was neither a bribe nor an attempt to bribe" involved in the Case incident. But it said that Neff, lobbying "in an inept fashion" for the gas bill, clearly offered Case a campaign contribution "for the purpose of influencing the senator's vote."

Case rejected the contribution and voted against the bill. The Senate approved it, but President Eisenhower vetoed it with a blast at "arrogant" tactics on lobbyists supporting it.

The committee said the testimony showed that Neff "deliberately" over campaign donations to Patman, an Austin, Tex., attorney. Patman in turn hired Neff, of Lexington, Neb., who was supplied with contributions from Neff's "personal fund."

Second Gabor Off On A Honeymoon

NEW YORK (UP)—Actress Eva Gabor and Dr. John E. Williams, Beverly Hills, Calif., surgeon, were married Sunday and left by auto for a honeymoon in Connecticut.

It was the third marriage for the glamorous 31-year-old actress and the second for the bridegroom, 35.

The marriage was the second in a week among the beautiful Gabor sisters. Magda Gabor was married the preceding Sunday to Arthur Gallucci, New York City industrialist. They are on a six-month European honeymoon.

The third sister, Zsa Zsa, was matron of honor Sunday.

Commenting on reports that she will be married this month in Los Angeles to contractor Hal Hayes, Zsa Zsa said:

"He is the most wonderful man I know. We expect to be married, but there is no definite date. I have several public commitments."

Plans Set For Iroquois Co. Banquet

Final plans are complete for the Iroquois County annual livestock producers banquet to be held at 7 p.m. April 17 at the Gilman Methodist Church.

Guest speaker will be Jerry Stols, head of the Armour Packing Co. livestock bureau. He is a graduate of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture and has spent his entire life working in the livestock field.

His topic will be, "What's Ahead For Livestock Producers." Representatives from the Chicago Livestock Market will also be present to bring late information relative to the market situation in Chicago and to express their views concerning the outlook for prices for livestock during the coming months.

Women as well as men may attend. Reservations should be sent to Kenneth M. Neff, of the farm adviser's office in Watseka before April 16.

Iroquois 4-H Club Enrollment Increases Daily

Enrollment in Iroquois County Agricultural 4-H clubs is increasing daily according to Arlin Obert, assistant farm adviser. All 4-H projects have a starting deadline that must be met.

The 4-H's can do their part by enrolling as soon as they have their projects and get their leader and parents' signature on the card, Obert said.

As enrollments are received in the county office, record books and project manuals are mailed to each member. Several clubs have already exceeded their 1955 enrollment.

Iroquois County agricultural club enrollment stands as follows: Ash Grove, 29; Bryce-Ash Grove, 9; Beaverville, 16; Ciana Park, 10; Clinton, 10; Crescent City Community, 16; Danforth Blue Ribbon, 22; Danovan, 10; Gilman, 10; Prairie Hustlers, 14; Prairie Ramblers, 8; Sheldon Square Shooters, 17; Shokland Blue Ribbon, 18; Watseka All Stars, 23; Wellington Sky Rockets, 15; Woodland Rockets, 15; and Woodworth Hot Shots, 21.

April 30 Deadline For State Nursery Stock Orders

I. B. Culver, extension forester at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, reminds farmers of the April 30 deadline for ordering nursery stock from the two state nurseries.

Use of the state nursery stock is limited to establishments of forest plantings and field shelterbelts. Areas that could be planted to large numbers of trees include steep slopes, lesser slopes that have lost much or all of their topsoil from erosion and land that has a basically low soil fertility.

Scotch pine seedlings and Scotch pine supplies are already exhausted, Culver said. Broad-leaved trees that are available include ash, red gum, tulip poplar, bald cypress and shortleaf pine should be in this year. Next year's supply of these trees will be very short because late pests last spring destroyed the anticipated seed crop, he said.

Cost of the trees ranges from $50 to $15 for 1,000 seedlings. Application blanks are available at the county farm adviser or Soil Conservation Service offices.

The U of I contracts include four major programs, regional agricultural work in north central India, two projects at the Indian Institute of Technology at Kharagpur, and a housing program in Colombia, South America.

Hog Production Cut 3 Per Cent

Farmers in nine corn belt states are cutting hog production more than the 3 per cent they indicated they would last December, says a Simerl, Department of Agricultural Economics.

Although December-February sow farrowings were down only 1 per cent from the year before, March-May farrowings will be down about 3 per cent. Total farrowings for the entire spring pig crop season (December-May) will be 7 per cent below last year, according to the quarterly survey and report by the USDA and State Departments of Agriculture.

Expected summer (June-August) farrowings in the nine states are 8 per cent lower than last year. The nine states included in the report are Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Indiana, Ohio, Minnesota, Wisconsin, South Dakota and Kansas.

THE SPRING PEAK of marketings of fall pigs is past. Prospective market supplies from these nine corn belt states are as follows:

April - June. Supplies will be shrinking seasonally, but at the same time they will be 15 to 18 per cent larger than one year ago. This period will mark the end of a two year upswing in annual hog production. During these two years United States farmers increased production 26 per cent. We expect the summer peak of prices to come in June, or before the hottest part of the summer.

July-September. Weekly marketings will increase after July 19th. Market supplies during these summer months should be about the same as they were in 1955. Prices may be higher because of the prospect of a smaller seasonal increase in marketings during the fall than occurred last year, Simerl said.

OCTOBER - JANUARY. This will be the season for marketing most of the 1956 spring pigs. Present supplies about 10 per cent smaller than during the same season just past. Prices could be 20 to 25 per cent higher than they were last fall and winter, he said.

February-March 1957. If farmers carry out their recent intentions, market supplies late next winter are likely to be 5 to 10 per cent smaller than they were this past winter.

Simerl said two important forces outside the hog industry are currently exerting strong conflicting influences on the hog market. First, pork prices are receiving strong support from the record level of consumer buying power.

SECOND, PORK is meeting much competition from beef and poultry. For the past two months, supplies of these competing meats have averaged about 15 per cent greater than one year before.

Consumer buying power is likely to increase moderately during the next six months, while the supply of beef may increase less than usual from spring to fall, Simerl said.

Some cut in marketing margins for pork might help to lift hog prices. The average farm-to-retail margin on pork increased from 23 cents a pound in the first quarter of 1954 to 26 cents a pound in the last quarter of 1955.

DURING THE SAME time the average retail price of pork dropped from 52 cents a pound to 46 cents, while its farm value dropped from 29 cents a pound to 20 cents. These farm values are figured on the basis of pork yields, not on prices of live hogs.

As the trend of pork supplies shifts from expansion to contraction, retail prices may advance and market margins may shrink. Either or both changes would lift hog prices, Simerl said.

The Conflict No One Wants

Is Mid East Powder Keg Following Spanish Pattern Of Rehearsal For Last Great War?

(Editor's Note: What time is it in the Middle East, where the ticking of the clock often sounds ominously like a time bomb?)

William L. Ryan, AP foreign news analyst, says it is near to zero hour. He is concluding a new swing through the tense region and reports his findings in a series of articles.)

BEIRUT, Lebanon (U)—It is close to zero hour in the Middle East. The tension is so great that the slightest spark could set off a conflagration that would engulf the entire world.

Every minute of the next two months will be precious for the world. Unless the United States and Britain take positive action, there is grave danger the Israeli-Arab conflict will raise the curtain on World War III, just as it did on World War I.

That is the rehearsal for the last great war.

A THREAT of economic shock hangs over England and Western Europe, with consequences that endanger the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance structure.

These are not extravagant or alarmist statements. These are the considered opinions of experts, diplomats, businessmen, experienced observers of the Middle East scene. All are agreed on this: There is no time to lose.

Hate, fear and frustration set the mood in the Arab world. Of these it is the feeling of frustration which carries the biggest danger. It is the feeling that United States is the Arabs' enemy and that there is no hope for justice in the quarrel with Israel.

The tragedy of the Middle East is that it has everything to lose and nothing to gain by war. Only world communism would gain. The irony of the Middle East is that it is a powder keg.

force, is a thriving mercantile center and wants no war. Jordan still leans on Britain to help free her people.

FOR ISRAEL, surrounded on all sides by enemies growing stronger each day, war could spell the beginning of ruin. As matters stand, Israel could win a first round sweep to Damascus and Beirut and sweep through the Egyptian forces. That would be the blitz for which Israel appears to be geared. But this war would not end after an initial blitz.

How can the eight-year-old conflict between Israel and the Arab states seriously threaten world peace?

Many who live close to the smoldering fuse are convinced that one more major frontier battle will start a new war.

Soviet policy apparently aims at the destruction of any alliance which might deter aggressive Communist expansion. Utter chaos in this part of the world would exist without actual entry of Soviet "volunteers." War in the Middle East, as matters stand now, could throw the whole Arab world into the arms of the Soviet Union and pose the threat that the future of democratic governments in Europe. situation which might cut off the oil could be enormous in Western Europe. Nobody here denies that it would be a long stride forward by the communists toward domination.

Keep In Trim YWCA Reducing Club Loses 168 Pounds

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Draw up a chair, overweights, and listen in on the conversation of our reducing group at the YWCA in Washington, D. C., who in four weeks have dropped 168 pounds.

The talk-over way of reducing is enlightening. One young mother summed it up this way: "I don't get out enough, and the more I stay home, the more I eat—just to be doing something." Then she said, "I weigh the less I want to get out."

Another determined dieter commented: "No one knows the mental anguish a woman goes through when she is 50 pounds overweight, wants to lose, and somehow can't get started." This overweight explained that before she started with the group, when her thirteen daughters came home from school and raided the refrigerator, she found herself unable to keep from eating and eating. Now at that hour she has a cup of tea with a neighbor, and has reduced from 185 to 140, or a total of 45 pounds in four weeks.

One of the club members who couldn't stay with the diet to save her life, decided to keep a calorie record of everything she ate. "That way the calories can't get ahead of you," she explained.

Alas, one overweight came in last week and announced: "I felt like stuffing this week and I stuffed! But here I am to start over."

One surprised reducer claimed: "I don't feel as though I'm dieting because I'm not perpetually hungry on my Scientific Wonder Diet." She has lost 8 pounds "not dieting."

The class weights in Monday afternoon. "Knowing you have to face these scales on Monday keeps you from overeating on the weekend," was one remark.

In a four week period, the forty-five club members have reduced a grand total of 168 pounds. We could add another 10 pounds to that score, as one homemaker joined the class to help her husband lose, and he has dropped off ten pounds. In fact, many of the husbands are chalking up good records.

On the measurement score, progress is most heartening. Marie Svoboda, a graduate of Prague University in Physical Education, has charge of the "limnastics."

To date, the overweights have slimmed off the impressive total of 168 pounds.

For the heavyweights, our aim for the ten week course is twenty pounds off in all the right places. We'll let you know the final outcome.

Spring Work Starts On Projects Linking U. S. Breadbasket To World Markets

Dream Of Midwest Seaway Moves Near Reality

CHICAGO (UP)—Steel behemoths converging on the Great Lakes from east and west are speeding up the mammoth task of forging new links between America's breadbasket and hungry overseas markets. A huge crane is moving in this week to join bulldozers rearing out the Calumet-Sag Channel which connects Lake Michigan and Chicago's budding world of the far-flung Illinois - Mississippi Waterway.

And 700 miles to the northeast, earth-moving contractors on the St. Lawrence Seaway project are stepping up winter-hampered operations with the coming of spring.

MEANWHILE, there has been a flurry of activity in Congress and in shipping circles as the 60-year-old dream of a great inland seaway moved nearer reality. The developments:

1. House and Senate subcommittees in Washington recommended approval of an $15 million dollar appropriation during the 1957 fiscal year to continue the project of widening and deepening the Cal-Sag Channel.

2. President Eisenhower signed legislation authorizing $110 million dollar project to deepen the Great Lakes connecting channels to the seven days' free time before slapping demurrage charges on freight cars that are unloaded at the port of Chicago. Railroads had been charging demurrage after 48 hours in Great Lakes ports, compared with 7 to 20 days on the East Coast.

3. The 2,500-ton Manchester Explorer sailed from Manchester, England, April 5, inaugurating the first regular schedule of a British cargo line between England and the Great Lakes.

4. The Rock Island Railroad announced it would give shippers

6. The Army Corps of Engineers informed Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) that it is preparing an interim report on whether existing locks on the Illinois Waterway are adequate to handle anticipated increases in traffic.

Together, the barge-carrying Illinois-Cal-Sag and the "big ditch" along the St. Lawrence are destined to have terrific impact on Chicago and Illinois, maritime and industrial leaders say.

The billion-dollar seaway project, scheduled for completion in the spring of 1959, will permit deep-draft freighters to cruise from the Atlantic to Lake Erie. Deepening of the connecting channels by 1961 will permit the big vessels to dock in Chicago, presently visited only by small ships.

REMOVAL OF THE Cal-Sag bottleneck between Lemont, Ill., and Lake Calumet will permit to carry an estimated 18 million tons of freight annually, compared to less than 4 million tons at present.

Barges will then be able to dump coal, sand, petroleum products, grain, sulfur and other bulk materials at the Chicago docks and at industrial plants expected to be built around the new harbor.

The Chicago Association of Commerce predicted the waterway improvements would increase industrial plant facilities by 10 billion dollars, create 800,000 new jobs and eventually support an added population of nearly 2 million.

Benefits from the increased trade and industrial expansion will filter down to cities throughout Illinois and the rest of the Midwest, business leaders said.
