Firemen Stand For Inspection

Fire Chief James P. Marcell (kneeling at left) conducted a biennial inspection of Kankakee firemen today as they officially changed over to summer uniforms. All fire fighters are required to have uniforms approved by the city Police and Fire Commission. They receive a $50 per year clothing allotment. Inspections are held May 1 and Oct. 1 when summer and winter uniform changes are made. Marcell will inspect the other shift Wednesday. Firemen work on a 24 hours on, 24 hours off basis. Gaza Border Patrol Plan Is Approved

JERUSALEM (AP) — The U. N. truce organization today announced plans to bolster the Israeli-Egyptian cease-fire with U. N. observer posts and mobile U. N. patrols along the tense Gaza border between the two nations.

The truce supervision headquarters said Israel and Egypt had agreed to the new border arrangements in a new attempt to prevent further hostilities.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT came as U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld went into a new meeting with Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion.

Hammarskjöld and Ben-Gurion were meeting to thresh out additional details of the practical border arrangements to guarantee Israeli-Egyptian cease-fire.

Meanwhile, Jordan replied to Hammarskjöld's proposals for a cease-fire between the nation and Israel. Premier Samir Rifai said in Amman the reply was harmonious with the attitude of the other Arab states.

An official source in the Jordanian capital said the reply was "positive" to a certain extent. But he emphasized that neither Jordan nor Israel's other Arab neighbors would tolerate any Israeli attempt to divert the Jordan River for irrigation.

Guard Embassies To Prevent Cuban Rebels' Flight

HAVANA (UP) — Police posted guards outside Latin American embassies today to prevent refugees from Sunday's abortive Cuban revolt from escaping arrest by the "diplomatic asylum" route.

A nationwide army alert was relaxed Monday night, but the emergency proclamation suspending constitutional guarantees remained in effect as a precaution against what government leaders called a "national terrorist plot."

Arrests of suspected rebels were reported from all parts of the country.

Ousted ex-President Carlos Prío, arrested over the weekend, "for his own protection," has been released but a number of prominent leaders of his regime are still in prison.

The only notable outbreak of violence reported in the revolt occurred in the north-coast port of Matanzas, where 50 rebels attacked a regimental barracks that had been virtually emptied by weekend passes.

Thinks U.S. Jets To Regain Lead

WASHINGTON (UP) — Gen. Earle E. Partridge, air defense commander, has warned Senate investigators that a new Russian jet bomber may be able to fly higher than any U. S. interceptor now in use, it was learned today.

Partridge said, however, that the United States has some new super-jet interceptors coming along that will be able to recapture the defensive advantage over high-flying jet bombers.

Sen. Barkley Dies Of Heart Attack

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP) — Sen. Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, former vice president of the United States, collapsed and died Monday on the speaker's platform at a university political gathering.

Barkley, 78, slumped to the floor after a keynote address to students assembled in a mock Democratic National Convention. Dr. Robert Munger, who arrived seven minutes later as ambulance attendants were attempting to administer oxygen, said he died of a heart attack.

May Day Brings Warmer Weather; More Showers Due

May Day brought warmer weather, with temperatures in the middle 50s here today.

Skies are expected to cloud up tonight and Wednesday, bringing showers late Wednesday or Wednesday night.

The Kankakee Airport weather station recorded a high temperature of 48 Monday and an overnight low of 35. In town, the unofficial high was 50 degrees, overnight low, 42.

Temperatures for the next five days will average 4 to 8 degrees below the normal maximum of 67 and normal minimum of 44 degrees.

With the weather remaining rather cool, precipitation is expected to average .10 to .30 of an inch in showers Wednesday or Thursday and again around Saturday.

Low tonight will be in the low 40s and high Wednesday in the mid 50s.

Quadruplet Girls Born On Monday, Tuesday In Texas

DALLAS (AP) — Quadruplet girls were born to Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Hunter at Methodist Hospital late Monday night and early today.

Hospital attendants reported they "look good for their size."

The first, weighing 3 pounds, was born at 11:44 p.m. The second, weighing 2 pounds 11½ ounces, was born three minutes later, the third — 3 pounds 3 ounces — 10 minutes later, and the fourth at 12:05 a.m. It was not weighed immediately.

All were placed in incubators. Mrs. Hunter, 25, was reported in good condition.

Speeding Causes Most Traffic Accidents, State Survey Shows

SPRINGFIELD (UP) — The State Highway Division traffic bureau today released a statistical study of January traffic accidents showing speed was the most frequent cause of accidents.

The study also indicated speeding, or "driving too fast for conditions," was the apparent principal cause of 12 of the 47 fatal accidents on highways and roads outside the cities.

A TOTAL OF 11,574 accidents occurred in the state during January, resulting in 126 fatalities, and the injury of 6,470 persons. A total of

Rocket Hop Cancelled, Too Windy

WHITE SANDS PROVING GROUNDS, N. M. (UP) — The Navy cancelled an attempt to break an altitude record with the Aerobee-Hi rocket today, for fear that 100-mile-an-hour winds at the 60,000-foot level would carry it off the vast White Sands Proving Ground.

Lt. Cmdr. E. W. Diehl, in charge of the shoot, said that it might be re-scheduled for 3 p.m. Wednesday.

The Navy hoped to fire the rocket 175 miles into the ionosphere and get information that might help scientists to build the first U. S. earth satellite.

AT DAWN TODAY, the loud-speaker system at the rocket launching site shrieked that an emergency existed and ordered everyone to flee to the blockhouse, a cement structure with walls 10 feet thick on the side facing the rocket.

Experts, looking at the rocket through powerful binoculars, had seen a trail of smoke rise. They feared that the venomous red fuming nitric acid with which the rocket was laden had leaked out and that the projectile might explode with a deadly blast.

A. D. Weaver, a chief gunner's mate, climbed the tower, inspected the rocket and reported that some nitric acid had trickled from a fill pipe. This had fallen upon a pool of aniline at the base of the rocket, causing the smoke. The emergency was lifted.

Barkley, who described himself as "an old firehorse who has heard the bell," told the W.L. students he had arrived here uncertain about going to the Democratic National Convention in Chicago in August—but had made up his mind to attend. He said he wouldn't be a candidate for nomination for the presidency.

There were cries of "No, no," and when he had quieted the tumult he said:

"I have been in years gone by. But all fire apparatus is automotive now and not horse-drawn."

Reminiscently, he recalled he'd been a delegate-at-large to every Democratic National Convention since 1920; a junior, then a senior member of Congress; a junior senator; a senior senator; majority Senate leader; vice president; then junior senator again.

"I am willing to be a junior," he said. "I am glad to sit in the back row, for I would rather be a servant in the House of the Lord than to sit in the seats of the mighty."

THEN HE collapsed. Two students on the platform tried to break his fall. The 1,700 people in Doremus gymnasium sat dumbfounded. Gov. Thomas B. Stanley of Virginia, who had introduced him,

ROCKET DUG FOXHOLES NEWEST IDEA

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Army told a House Appropriations subcommittee in testimony released today that it has tested a rocket-propelled fox-hole digger.

The "digger" consists of a lightweight cardboard container which is placed on the ground. A rocket is inserted in the top and then fired directly into the ground. The Army said the resulting explosion makes a hole large enough for a full gun crew.

involved in non-urban accidents, followed by the 35-44 age group with 607 drivers. Almost 3,000 of the drivers were men.

THE BUREAU SAID 998 out of 1,990 accidents occurred on dry road surfaces on a clear day, with 364 reported for snowy days when pavements were hazardous with ice and snow.

Of the total accidents in the state, 9,564 involved collisions between two or more vehicles, and 485 involved autos which ran off the highway. A total of 444 involved automobiles and pedestrians.

Keep Hands Off Aliens In U.S., Polish Reds Told

Iron Curtain Envoys Accused Of Trying To Coerce Refugees

WASHINGTON (UP) — The United States has told the Communists it won't tolerate pressure on Iron Curtain refugees to give up sanctuary in this country.

The State Department handed Red Poland's Ambassador Romuald Spasowski a note Monday accusing him and other Polish officials of abusing their diplomatic status. It said they were trying to pressure Polish refugees in this country into returning behind the Iron Curtain. The note demanded: Stop it at once.

Spasowski indicated Poland would make a formal reply. He said that in the case of three Polish seamen who gave up U.S. sanctuary and went home last fall, the seamen approached the embassy first.

The U. S. note declared Polish diplomats had made "unsolicited personal visits" as part of a campaign to coerce Polish nationals out of their U. S. asylum.

THE NOTE said this country respects the right of all aliens to seek voluntary repatriation and reaffirmed belief in the right of foreign diplomatic missions to make normal contact with their nationals.

But it rejected as undemocratic and beyond accepted diplomatic practice any coercive practice to make aliens quit the United States. It listed among such techniques the use of letters from relatives back home. And it told Poland to "cease immediately the objectionable practice of unsolicited personal visits" in furtherance of the Polish government's repatriation campaign.

Just last week this country expelled two Russians attached to the Soviet Union's United Nations delegation on the ground that they had exceeded their authority in helping five Soviet seamen to return home.

The Senate Internal Security subcommittee, which has been inquiring into the case of those five as well as four others who remain in this country, heard one of the four in secret session late Monday.

HE WAS Viktor Solovoyev, who previously had testified publicly but who returned to tell "accidents" he said had slipped his mind then.

A transcript of his testimony, made public by the subcommittee after the closed-door session, quoted him as saying two Soviet agents threatened him April 5 in a locked New York hotel room. He said he tricked them into leaving.

Steel Companies To Terminate Pacts June 30

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Some of the basic steel producing companies in an unprecedented move have notified the United Steelworkers they intend to terminate the current contract June 30.

The union received such notices Monday from several big firms. Among them were U.S. Steel Corp. and Jones Laughlin Steel Corp.

The action paves the way for the steel industry to present a united front in event the union attempts to call a "selective strike" in coming negotiations.

USW President David J. McDonald in the late stages of last year's wage talks indicated he might strike some companies and permit members to continue work at others. That split the industry's usually united stand in labor negotiations.

Last week, McDonald notified 172 steel companies and iron-ore mining firms that the union wants to negotiate a new contract for 650,000 of its members. The current one expires June 30. The union would be free to strike then if agreement isn't reached.

Court-Martial Is Asked By Board

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Marine Corps charged today that Staff Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon was "under the influence" of vodka when he led six Marine recruits to their deaths on a disciplinary night march at Parris Island, S. C., April 8.

Jets Star In Soviet May Day Show

MOSCOW (UP) — The Soviet Union displayed a new type Mikoyan jet fighter today in the annual May Day show of Russian armed might. The swift jets zoomed over Red Square while military and naval units paraded on the ground below Russia's assembled leaders and a crowd of hundreds of thousands.

FIVE THOUSAND troops and an estimated one million civilians paraded past the reviewing stands which were festooned with banners and portraits of Soviet leaders with the exception of Josef Stalin. Three or four pictures of the late premier were spotted in the sea of flags and pictures carried by the civilians.

It was Russia's traditionally biggest annual display of arms and Marshal Georgi Zhukov, the Soviet defense minister, sounded its key-note in an address warning against "complacency" while "imperialist circles continue the policy of the cold war."

GEN. RANDOLPH McCall Pate, commandant of the Marine Corps, announced that he also is taking these actions in the aftermath of the "death march" that shocked the nation.

1. Maj. Gen. J. C. Burger will be relieved as commanding general of the Parris Island Marine Base, and transferred to command the Marine barracks at Camp Lejeune, N. C., a post of comparable importance.

2. A sweeping shakeup has been ordered of the entire recruit training system at the two Marine "boot camps" at Parris Island and San Diego, Calif., to make sure all forms of "hazing" and un-American types of punishment are "absolutely eliminated."

The court of inquiry also recommended "appropriate disciplinary action" against two sergeants—T. Sgt. Elwyn B. Scarborough and Sgt. Richard J. King—for taking part in the vodka drinking which preceded the fateful night march into the swirling waters of Ribbon Creek where the six recruits drowned.

THE COURT OF INQUIRY found that McKeon "drank an unknown quantity of vodka during the morning, afternoon, and early evening" of April 8.

Expect Ike To Approve New Farm Measure

Advance Payment Provision May Not Be Included

WASHINGTON (UP) — Republican congressional leaders said after a "White House conference" today that President Eisenhower probably will accept a new farm bill without advance payments for the soil bank.

Democrats have denounced as "a political gimmick" the administration's proposal for 500 million dollars in payments this year to farmers who promise to put acreage into the soil bank next year.

Rep. Charles A. Halleck (R-Ind) member of the GOP top-command in the House, was asked after the conference with the President if Mr. Eisenhower would sign a farm bill without that provision.

"That would not be a reason to veto the bill," Halleck said.

HALLECK HAD SAID earlier that the House probably would refuse to include the pre-payment soil bank provision in the new farm bill. But some Democrats were not so sure.

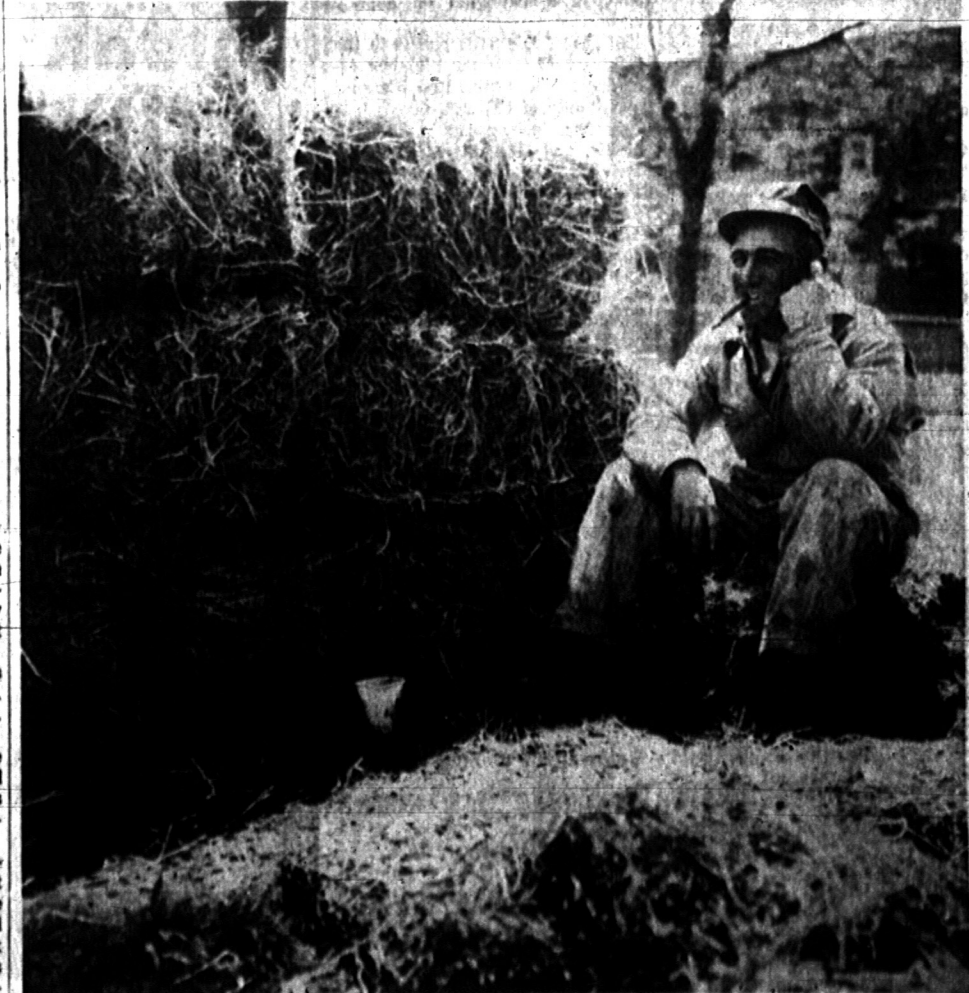

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson attended the White House meeting.

The House Agriculture Committee Monday approved a new farm bill including the administration-sponsored $7,200,000,000 soil bank. But the committee rejected by a 19-15 party line vote an administration proposal to pay farmers this year on promises to cut next year's plantings.

Backers of the bill arranged for a hearing before the House Rules Committee to plead its prompt clearance for House action. However, there appeared to be slight chance the catch-all bill would be called up before next week.

THE NEW-BILL contains two administration-opposed provisions: It would scuttle the administration's recently announced plan to provide price support this year for the first time to Midwestern corn farmers who overplant their allotments. Halleck said he believed Democratic farm leaders would

"A Message to Garcia" was the topic of Richard Gaines. Dr. A. L. Dunlap, next week's program director, announced that Dr. R. E. Brownfield of Danville would be the guest speaker. His topic will be on National Cancer Institute Week, May 1 to May 7.

Forty-two members attended the luncheon.

SENATOR Alben W. Barkley (D-Ky) waves from rear seat of car leading a parade through Lexington, Va., shortly before he collapsed and died at the Mock Democratic convention at Washington and Lee University Monday. Barkley collapsed while making the keynote address for the two-day convention.

Barkley Death May Stir Kentucky Political Storm

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Some form of political chaos was brewing behind the scenes today over who will succeed Alben W. Barkley in the U.S. Senate.

His death in Lexington, Va., Monday brought swift speculation of the most likely to be considered and also on the possible methods of choosing a candidate to finish his full term—until Jan. 1957.

Gov. A. B. Chandler is expected to serve until another senator can be elected in November.

Normally, this appointment would have the inside track as his party's choice to run for the remainder of Barkley's full term.

But Chandler's political enemy, Sen. Earle C. Clements, controls the Democratic State Central Executive Committee which, under present laws, would name the party's nominee.

BECAUSE of this split, the possibility arises that Chandler might call a special session of the Legislature to order a special election in the senatorial race.

Heading the list of prospective Chandler appointees to serve until November was Joseph Leary, the governor's close ally and political adviser. Others included Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield and Mayfield clubber Willie F. Foster.

Here's Why Movies Hire Foreign Stars

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — Ever wonder why Hollywood hires actors from all over the world?

Partly, of course, it's because the movie business needs all kinds of bright talent, and talent knows no nationality.

But there's a cold business reason, too. Foreign receipts are getting to be close to half of the film industry's earnings. Hollywood can no longer rely on the United States alone for survival, as it did in World War II. So it pays to have casts with an international flavor.

TAKE "RANTEE County," the costliest epic MGM has made here. It's strictly an American story — the Civil War years in an Indiana town. Added to the American cast is Nigel Patrick, one of the bright stars of the English stage and screen.

The casting of Patrick came partly by chance. The story goes that MGM boss Dore Schary was watching a movie on TV in his home when he saw Nigel Patrick. The movie was "Picnic Papers."

"Fortunately, I was playing a school teacher in that one," Patrick says. "and they were looking for a school teacher for 'Rantee County.' So they sent for me."

Patrick, the Londoner, came to the U.S. to make the picture of "The Rembrandt Man." He came to America for the first time. His accent was no hazard for the role, since the teacher's nationality is never defined in the novel or the script.

But, "that comes from having seen hundreds of American movies as a boy."

THE ACTOR is just getting used to this country, having seen little of it outside of Hollywood. He's getting a thorough view of America, since the picture will be localizing in four different states of the south.

English film making, he observed, seems to be on the upswing after one of its periodic depressions.

"The difference in the two industries, I suppose, is that when we have a panic over there, it's complete," he said. "They start closing down studios and everyone says, 'what are we going to do? Over here, you never take your panics in stride. Or so it appears.'"

Well, yes and no. There was a time when TV was first beginning to threaten Hollywood and folks were ready to convert the studios into supermarkets and parking lots.

Fortunately, those days are past. Migration caused by the partition of India in 1947 brought movement of 12 million people, says the United Nations.

Students Use Machine To Improve Reading

Kankakee High School students are increasing their reading rate, vocabulary and comprehension in preparation for entering college or other advanced training.

A group of about 20 is meeting under the supervision of Dr. Lucy L. Kern, a teacher at Stouken School who has experience in this field.

The course is expected to give the students an additional advantage when they enter college, where the ability to digest large quantities of printed matter is a must. Participation in the class is voluntary.

Tests guided the students in determining their needs. Tests at the conclusion of the course will reveal the amount of improvement. Being used in the course are six "reading accelerators."

THESE ARE machines which have a metal plate with an opening that moves down a printed page placed underneath. This requires the students to read and digest the material as the opening moves along.

The speed at which the opening moves can be regulated, and is speeded up as the course progresses. This causes the students to read faster and understand more.

The six reading accelerators have been rented, but may be purchased for $100 each. The machine is a six-hatted capitalist, with wings, holding forth major religious by strings.

A feature of the program is the offer of summer employment at the Owens-Illinois plant in Alton, Ill., and minimum salary for teachers for the summer employment period will be $800.

Scholarship students will be eligible for summer employment at the Owens-Illinois plant in Alton, Ill., and minimum salary for teachers for the summer employment period will be $800.

Carl R. Megowan, president of the glass firm, said that starting next fall, the program will provide up to 10 four-year scholarships annually for the next four years, with some worth as much as $4,000.

Cold War 'Hot', General Mills Executive Warns

WASHINGTON (JNS) — Harry A. Bullis, board chairman of General Mills, said today that in the economic cold war with Russia the United States must spend and invest "billions of dollars" more.

Bullis told nearly 4,000 businessmen-delegates to the annual meeting of the U

Public Aid Sought In Mental Health Fight

This is National Mental Health Week, established to promote public interest in what many mental authorities consider to be the nation's number one health problem.

Locally the occasion has been given prominence by open house activities in the Kankakee and Manteno state hospitals.

From every quarter, mental disease is being attacked with an arsenal of new weapons. The "spoils of victory" in this bloodless struggle are new life and fresh hope for nine million Americans whose minds are clouded by some defect in their makeup. Already important battles have been won. The new weapons include the tranquilizing drugs, new methods of diagnosis, new methods of therapy, new lines of research into causes and cure. And, perhaps most important of all, researchers are turning with more energy to study forestalling mental breakdowns.

In Illinois, under the leadership of Gov. Stratton, a great deal is being done with mental health. Last year the State Legislature appropriated funds for a statewide nurse recruitment program in the psychiatric field. The construction of a new research hospital has been initiated. Mental health clinics are being established throughout the state. These are expected to relieve the overwhelming pressure of numbers in our mental hospitals by helping people solve their difficulties before they need to be institutionalized.

In the midst of progress, specialists in mental health are deeply concerned over public apathy. According to Mike Gorman, executive director of the National Mental Health Committee, more money is being spent in this country for research on the diseases of hogs and cattle than on the mental illnesses of human beings.

He says there is still too much of the 18th century attitude that mental illness automatically carries a stigma for anyone stricken by it. There is a tendency among the healthy to avoid the subject altogether.

This, then, is the goal of Mental Health Week: to develop in the public consciousness a more sympathetic attitude toward mental illness. Let us learn more about it, the needs, how to treat it and how to prevent it.

Lincoln's Ideals Fit Problems Of This Day

SPRINGFIELD STATE JOURNAL
Bruce Catton, Pulitzer Prize author, had a message for the American people in his recent address at Petersburg commemorating the 125th anniversary of Lincoln's arrival at New Salem.

The message could be summarized as follows: Lincoln's ideals on freedom can be applied to the present racial problem in the south.

Out of Lincoln's ideals grew the Emancipation Proclamation which banished slavery from America and, in Mr. Catton's words, "committed America forever to the loftiest ideal any nation has ever tried to follow."

Nearly 100 years after that historic action we still pursue that goal. "We will have many setbacks," Mr. Catton asserted. "There will be times when the hideous old banner of racial superiority will be raised afresh; when men born in America will deny everything America stands for in order to try to preserve a remnant of the old theory that some of us belong to a master race and that some of the rest of us were born to inferiority and oppression."

"But men who raise this banner," he continued, "are fighting a rear-guard action and cannot win. The decision was made nearly a century ago, and it can never be reversed."

List Double Purpose In Soil Bank Project

The so-called soil bank plan, or whatever name you wish to give it, is really nothing new. It is a combination of some existing practices, a variation of other existing practices and a revival of some once abandoned.

The plan has two aspects—short-term and long-term. Under the first, the farmer could be reimbursed for taking out of production a certain amount of acreage, presumably much of it good land, now in major crops in over-supply.

The objective would be for the producer to receive as much as he could have received, net, from that acreage by growing over-abundant crops on it.

Under the long-term aspect, farmers would be paid to take marginal land out of production, and to use it for soil conserving.

Extension Of Federal Police Power

WASHINGTON—The day is not far off when the federal government will take over some of the important functions of maintaining law and order which hitherto have been considered by the courts to be solely the responsibility of states, counties and cities. An extension of the federal police power is under way.

The latest move whereby the House of Representatives is being asked to pass legislation permitting the attorney general to bring suits to enforce civil rights is confirmed as constitutional by the Supreme Court in a future case.

What it all means is that the new measures, although not aimed at labor unions, will be feared by those who depend on the "spoils" and strong-arm men to overturn a worker's aut at the factory gate and beat him up. For, if the new measures are passed and sustained in the courts, it's the opening wedge toward protection of the "right to work" both by the federal government and the states.

HISTORICALLY the Constitution has been interpreted as meaning that no state can pass a law abridging the rights of citizens to the freedom of the press or any of the "privileges and immunities of citizens." But up to now this has been construed by the Department of Justice in administration after administration and by the Supreme Court in decision after decision to mean that, unless it can be shown that state enforcement machinery has actually broken down, the federal police power cannot be lawfully intruded.

Only last Monday, however, the Supreme Court of the United States reached into the procedures of the state of Illinois in a case which did not involve a federal crime at all. It was a case involving a local election, and the Supreme Court had to decide whether a state court had complied with a technically correct procedure in a local election. The Supreme Court decided that the state court had complied with the procedure, but it also decided that the state court had not complied with the procedure in a technical sense.

What Reds Mean By Coexistence

In his very first meeting with British leaders in London, Russia's Nikita S. Khrushchev declared that peaceful coexistence is the only way out for a world weary of war and fearful of destruction by hydrogen bombs.

The slogan "peaceful coexistence" has been used time and again by the Russians during recent years. The words are meeting with an increasingly favorable response from millions of westerners who, while hating communism, have been led to believe that the only alternative to peaceful coexistence is World War III.

The Chilly British

Nobody can be as chilly as a Britisher when he feels like being chilly. Also an Englishman makes a good lifelong friend who stands by when needed without too much emotion or fuss. It is a matter of tradition with the British not to forget that a cat is no gentleman and therefore it is not at all surprising that while Sir Anthony Eden, as Prime Minister, invited him and Bon, otherwise known as Khrushchev and Bulganin, for a state visit to Great Britain, the British people, particularly the working people and the trade unionists, would have nothing to do with them. Poor old Bulganin, who always tries to be as friendly and smiling as possible, finally being overruled and Khrushchev wanted to know who evicted the vodka which is also in character.

Only Charlie Chaplin, the clown, could have made the scene perfect. And he was there to add his personal approval of him and Bon, which must have been a relief to them. Also Harold Stassen was there, for what purpose was not made clear. But the British people displayed an independence and maturity wholly unexpected by the Russians who in India were devoted to a point of immaturity.

THESE RUSSIANS MISUNDERSTOOD the British treatment of Malenkov. It was familiar but not respectful. The British possess an enormous capacity for respect, making profound distinctions between those who are worthy and those who are unworthy. And Malenkov was treated as though he were a movie star and not a cabinet officer of high rank in his own country. In the United States where class distinctions move in the opposite direction and where such a character as Frank Sinatra may be better known than the secretary of the interior, it is impossible for the Russians to understand that the familiarity of British make-up is a measure of respect for Churchill's services to his country and the politeness that is due a man of Churchill's age. A mature people is always a respectful people.

BUT FROM SIR ANTHONY more would be expected, namely, an assumption of some responsibility for Churchill's public acts in which Eden participated, and, under Churchill's death, a defense of his memory. That is what a gentleman owes to an associate and a senior.

To the average Britisher, Khrushchev's attack on Stalin must have seemed like a declaration of war. In the United States, where class distinctions move in the opposite direction and where such a character as Frank Sinatra may be better known than the secretary of the interior, it is impossible for the Russians to understand that the familiarity of British make-up is a measure of respect for Churchill's services to his country and the politeness that is due a man of Churchill's age. Washington Voters Eye Estes, Adlai

WASHINGTON (UP)—Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver battled for six District of Columbia Democratic convention votes today as part of the capital's first official election in 82 years.

Although neither candidate's name appeared on the ballot, the voting offered a clear-cut test of strength with rival Stevenson and Kefauver delegates opposing each other in the Democratic primary.

Republican delegates with six convention votes all pledged to President Eisenhower, will be elected in the GOP primary.

FEWER THAN 60,000 of the District of Columbia's 840,000 residents were registered for today's election.

Both Democratic presidential camps were cautious about making pre-election claims.

Kefauver said he feared he was "behind" in Washington. But the Tennessee senator's national campaign manager, F. Joseph Donohue, said "I think we'll take some of the delegates."

Donohue said Kefauver was "a member of the Democratic Party, not a member of the Democratic Party."

By Chase, Washington attorney and a leader of the Stevenson forces, said "We think we're going to win all six votes, but we're not predicting."

District of Columbia officials encouraged residents to register for their first official election since 1800.

However, Kefauver said many "little people" employed by the government were not registered.

Turtle Derby Day In Watseka

SCORES OF WATSEKANS went to the track Monday night for the annual derby... turtle, that is. The stands were packed in the Watseka South Side Grade School gymnasium as spectators arrived to witness the annual event, sponsored by the Watseka Lions Club. There was no formal betting on the "fast-stepping" low-slung "speedsters." The turtle derby, free to the public, has attracted crowds since it first became a part of Watseka scene. These in the throng were urged to remain in their seats to avoid any collisions with the "thoroughbreds" as they sped toward the finish line. (Journal photos)

SOMETIMES THE TAIL of a turtle can seem awfully long. And it takes considerable coaxing on the part of the jockeys to have their mounts drag that last vertebra over the finish line... as is evident above. Pictured with expressions of exasperation are Vicky Mayhew, who jockeyed

HERE'S A TURTLE'S eye view of the finish line, the jockeys and some of the owners and trainers. The race was under the keen eye of the derby judges, whose decisions were final. The judges were Miss Margaret Van Hovell, president of the Business and Professional Women's Club; Robert Hassinger, president of the Kiwanis Club; James Brown, commander of the American Legion, and Mrs. Virginia Foster, president of the Watseka Junior Women's Club.

Soil Stewardship Sunday Set For Saueminn Church

SAUENINN (JNS)—The Methodist Church will observe Soil Stewardship Sunday, May 6.

LAST MINUTE instructions are given by Mary Ann Busby and Bobby Langellier to their entries in the second heat of the derby. Mary's hopes were riding on "Security" while Bobby put his candy bars on "Be-Sure." All jockeys and owners were warned against entering any turtle that is gingered, doped or turpented. Rules stipulated that all turtles finish with their tails dragging on the floor. Violation of the derby laws meant disqualification.

"It's MOVING!" Cindy Sue Rowen's "Doughnut" showed signs of life in the third heat of the 10 heat derby. Here big trouble was keeping herself from giving her favorite a hot-foot. The urge to spur his turtle to the winner's circle was evident in every jockey. However, turtle derby rules are strict, prohibiting either the jockeys or owners from invading the race area during the heat. Stamping feet and shouts are permitted to rattle the racers into motion. Luring with live bait is frowned upon.

NO ONE WAS MORE confused during Monday's turtle event than the turtles, some of them shown above about to race to their owners and jockeys stationed at the finish line. There were so many jockeys the turtles had trouble telling them apart. Without the numbers, they would have been helpless. Most disturbing to some of the contestants was the report from the starter's gun. Instead of sending them on their way, the shot found them retreating into their shells.

Dedicate Museum To Casey Jones

JACKSON, Tenn.—The Casey Jones Museum was dedicated Monday—the 50th anniversary of the train wreck at Vaughn, Miss., that made Vase a famous railroader. Mrs. Casey Jones, 82, cut the ceremonial ribbon stretched across the porch of her former home, now the main section of the museum. The museum contains Casey's wildcat whistle, telegraph keys, lanterns, pass books and numerous other obsolete railroad items of the Jones era. There's a replica of the engine, old "Cannonball." CASEY WAS MAKING the run from Memphis to Canton, Miss., as engineer on the Illinois Central's Cannonball when the wreck occurred. Sam Webb, an 82-year-old Memphis Negro who was firing for Casey that day, told the crowd about it. "I hollered something was coming on the main track," said Webb. "Then Mr. Jones yelled for me to jump and jump I did." Railroad records show that another train had been backed onto the main line by mistake. Casey died in the wreck.

RANTOUL (UP)—Enlisted men are 100 per cent in favor of an idea of Brig Gen. A. M. Minton to improve efficiency at Chanute Air Force Base. The general wants to hire civilian mess attendants to replace airmen on KP duty—that is, kitchen work. The Air Force is looking for persons now to take those 200 jobs, and Gen. Minton says he hopes for a further increase in employment at the start of the new fiscal year, July 1. The guest speaker will be Bernard Fleming of Donovan, member of the state soil conservation division. Until recently he was a district leader for the area including Saueminn. Minton says he hopes for a further increase in employment at the start of the new fiscal year, July 1. The guest speaker will be Bernard Fleming of Donovan, member of the state soil conservation division. Until recently he was a district leader for the area including Saueminn. About four million Americans a year are hurt in home accidents.

Gl's Back General's Request To Hire Civilians For KP Duty At Rantoul

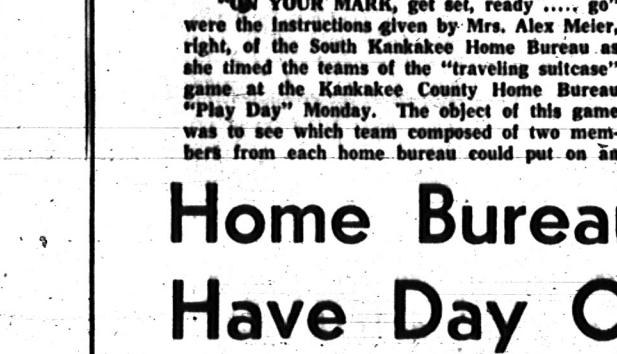

RANTOUL (UP)—Enlisted men are 100 per cent in favor of an idea of Brig Gen. A. M. Minton to improve efficiency at Chanute Air Force Base. The general wants to hire civilian mess attendants to replace airmen on KP duty—that is, kitchen work. The Air Force is looking for persons now to take those 200 jobs, and Gen. Minton says he hopes for a further increase in employment at the start of the new fiscal year, July 1. LAST MINUTE instructions are given by Mary Ann Busby and Bobby Langellier to their entries in the second heat of the derby. Mary's hopes were riding on "Security" while Bobby put his candy bars on "Be-Sure." All jockeys and owners were warned against entering any turtle that is gingered, doped or turpented. Rules stipulated that all turtles finish with their tails dragging on the floor. Violation of the derby laws meant disqualification.

"It's MOVING!" Cindy Sue Rowen's "Doughnut" showed signs of life in the third heat of the 10 heat derby. Here big trouble was keeping herself from giving her favorite a hot-foot. The urge to spur his turtle to the winner's circle was evident in every jockey. However, turtle derby rules are strict, prohibiting either the jockeys or owners from invading the race area during the heat. Stamping feet and shouts are permitted to rattle the racers into motion. Luring with live bait is frowned upon.

NO ONE WAS MORE confused during Monday's turtle event than the turtles, some of them shown above about to race to their owners and jockeys stationed at the finish line. There were so many jockeys the turtles had trouble telling them apart. Without the numbers, they would have been helpless. Most disturbing to some of the contestants was the report from the starter's gun. Instead of sending them on their way, the shot found them retreating into their shells.

Dedicate Museum To Casey Jones

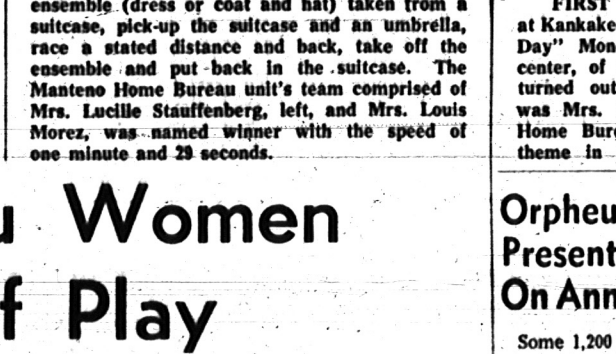

JACKSON, Tenn.—The Casey Jones Museum was dedicated Monday—the 50th anniversary of the train wreck at Vaughn, Miss., that made Vase a famous railroader. Mrs. Casey Jones, 82, cut the ceremonial ribbon stretched across the porch of her former home, now the main section of the museum. The museum contains Casey's wildcat whistle, telegraph keys, lanterns, pass books and numerous other obsolete railroad items of the Jones era. There's a replica of the engine, old "Cannonball." CASEY WAS MAKING the run from Memphis to Canton, Miss., as engineer on the Illinois Central's Cannonball when the wreck occurred. Sam Webb, an 82-year-old Memphis Negro who was firing for Casey that day, told the crowd about it. "I hollered something was coming on the main track," said Webb. "Then Mr. Jones yelled for me to jump and jump I did." Railroad records show that another train had been backed onto the main line by mistake. Casey died in the wreck.

RADAR PROVES

WITHOUT TCP

At the San Antonio Proving Grounds, several cars were tested with competitive premium-grade gasolines. The 201 plus H.P. car you see was driven about 3,000 miles, under normal driving conditions. Then the rate of acceleration was checked by radar. Performance was below par, due to deposits which caused the spark plugs to misfire.

WITH TCP

The same car, after a few tankfuls of Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP, showed 10% faster acceleration checked by radar. Results on the other cars, when switched to Shell Premium with TCP, varied. Most cars showed a 6 to 18% increase in pickup. In each case, TCP additive had neutralized power wearing deposits, stopped spark plug "miss."

Shell Premium with TCP leaves Competitive Gasolines behind in identical acceleration tests!

Modern cars are beautiful performers. Yet, within less than 3500 miles of driving, even a new car can fall victim to engine deposits.

These deposits cause pre-firing of the gasoline or spark plug "miss"—denying you the power you paid for, the acceleration you occasionally need no matter how careful a driver you are.

Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP, the greatest gasoline development in 31 years, neutralizes engine deposits. TCP additive restores power to your car that pre-firing and spark plug "miss" take away.

Switch to Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP and get back lost power as you drive. See your neighborhood Shell Dealer.

*Shell's trademark for this unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research. Patent applied for. The above statement may also apply to other companies which produce high octane gasoline if they are licensed by Shell to use TCP.

Fire Destroys 2 Cars, 1 After Being Stripped

Two cars burned in Kankakee County Monday afternoon and this morning, one after being stripped.

A 1955 auto was stripped and burned in Pembroke Township, Illinois, Monday afternoon. The car was found in a field where it had been left after being stripped.

Edward W. Ebble, 48, died of head wounds. His wife Margaret, 45, was in critical condition today in St. Francis Hospital at Port Jervis, N.Y. She was also shot in the head.

State Trooper Evan R. Chaplin said James Van Why readily admitted the shooting after his capture in a field where he fled after wrecking and abandoning the couple's car.

Public Hearing will be held at 7:30 P.M., May 28, 1950 in the County Court House in the City Hall Building, Kankakee, Illinois, to hear both propositions and objections if any.

Fluoridation To Start In Chicago

CHICAGO (UP)—Fluoridation of Chicago's water supply was slated to begin today despite protests the step will "poison" people.

Mayor Richard J. Daley was scheduled to turn a valve to start the addition of fluorides to 1,450,000 South Side residents. Fluoridation of the rest of Chicago's water is expected to begin by July 1.

The chemical is added at a rate of one part to one million parts of water to help cut tooth decay among children. The step is backed by most dental and medical authorities.

Opponents have waged a bitter battle against it, however. They contend it amounts to compulsory medication, and question the value of the chemical.

YOUTH SAYS MAN, WOUNDS WIFE WHO SCOLDED HIM

MILFORD, Pa. (UP)—A 15-year-old boy who "got a little mad" when a man and his wife scolded him for target shooting near their home Monday turned his 22 rifle on them, fatally wounding the husband and critically wounding the wife.

State Trooper Evan R. Chaplin said James Van Why readily admitted the shooting after his capture in a field where he fled after wrecking and abandoning the couple's car.

Profits Up But Rate Of Boost Slowing Down

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Profits continue upward for three out of every four American corporations. But the rate of increase is slowing down. And some important industries that formerly led the earnings advance are now on the declining side.

These are the trends indicated by a sampling of earnings reports for the first three months of 1956 compared with a year ago. So far, 56 corporations, 50 of which are in the top 100, have reported their profits after taxes. The rate of increase is slowing down, but the rate of decline is also slowing down.

The auto industry, once the bellwether, is now running behind. The rate of increase is slowing down, but the rate of decline is also slowing down.

The first 500 show an average increase over last year of 12.2 percent. Of the total, 391 report earnings this year higher than last year, 109 report lower earnings. The rate of increase is slowing down, but the rate of decline is also slowing down.

Times Have Changed: More Jobs Than College Graduates This Year

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor
If this year's crop of college graduates finds their heads too big for their hats, it's no wonder. Times have changed since the days when graduates tramped the streets each June looking for jobs only to hear the old refrain, "You have to have experience."

I have just returned from a flying trip to Indiana University, at Bloomington, where they can't build fast enough to keep up with the snowballing enrollment. New buildings are going up all over this vast campus set in the midst of rolling farmlands—huge modern structures of Indiana limestone for academic buildings, dormitories and apartments for married students—and still the buildings can't keep up with the needs.

Apparently the situation is much the same in other fields: medicine, engineering, science and business. Industry employs scouts to roam the nation's campuses and lure the cream of the graduate crop into lucrative jobs.

And that is why mortboards have to be bigger these days.

Those who had leading roles were Barbara Roll, Ruth Ann Fleener, Donald Donahue and Rodney Fraher. Others in the cast were Nancy Kohler, Ralph Wittenberg, Betty Jellie, Nancy Magee, Donna Bentley, Carol Telford, Rita Donley, Roger Clark, Theresa Dietz, Nancy Kowalski, Donald Dordick, Ronald Grokrentz, Mary Donley and Charles Price.

Edward V. Hahn, high school English teacher, who directed the play, "Star Line," was presented in the Community High School auditorium Friday at 8 p.m.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Ernest H. Duling of the First Methodist Church in Waukegan.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sorenson of Marquette.

At 'Spring Frolics' Banquet

One of the highlights at Century Club's annual "Spring Frolics" Saturday was the wishing well in the garden scene. Here members who assisted with the planning of the banquet pause to try out their luck at the well. Miss Carol Helmer, right, gets first chance to make her big wish on a "silver dollar" as others wait their turn. Seated is Miss Mary Lou Lee and standing are left, Al Dale, Robert Pittman and Hugh Deardorff. The entertainment included skits by the Kankakee Park District Teenage Drama Group and several numbers by club members. A social hour was held following the program. (Journal photos)

Keep In Trim

Success is never sudden. When you read about an overweight who has reached her goal after reducing an enormous number of excess pounds, no doubt you wish you had her will power. Perhaps your own experience has been one of trial and failure, and you have come to feel that you'll never be free of the fat. It will help you to know that most successful reducers at some point have felt defeated, and then have succeeded triumphantly. Take heart from today's story.

In January 1953 an overweight weighed in at 207 pounds, height 5 feet 2 inches... But 43, waist 40, abdomen 40, hips 48 1/2, thighs 27. She could barely squeeze into size 22's. For a year she dilled with diet. Finally in January 1954 she wrote again, lamenting that she was still FAT—180 pounds. But now she had a new incentive to reduce—her daughter's wedding in May. Again she asked for encouragement, promising to stay with the diet and slimming exercises. She wrote that the members of the Tups Club in Chicago were helping her to lose her weight.

She was a slow loser at the start. However, the second month she was elated when she lost 16 pounds and many bulky inches. By the third month she had lost 32 pounds, and she kept picturing herself in a smaller size. Well, as I reported to you at that time, in May she danced at the wedding in size 16's, and weighed 160 pounds.

Now to go on with our story. I didn't hear from her ever again until January 1955. Alan, she regained 16 pounds and was back up to 176. With the New Year, she immediately started afresh. She formed a branch of the Tups Club in her neighborhood and became the leader of the group. "I've just what I needed. How could I expect my girls to lose if I didn't set a good example?" In June she

The Worry Clinic

'Fear Party' Will Aid
Timid Youngsters

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Jimmy W., aged 11, has a defeatism complex. "Dr. Crane, he thinks he is a coward," his teacher informed me after I had addressed her state teachers' convention.

"He says he is afraid of the dark. And his father ridicules him for it."

"So he feels that he is a disgrace to his father who is a successful business leader in the community."

"Dr. Crane, what should we teachers do to help such children?"

First, schedule a "fear party" in your classroom. The teacher should tactfully start out by confessing some of her own fears when she was back at the age of the present group of students.

This "fear party" idea works admirably in many schools.

Then, after the teacher has told about her own terrors, casually ask the class what things they are afraid of.

As a prelude to this request, announce that almost everybody has some dread or complex, regardless of his age.

Many grown men are still afraid of the dark or of closed places or of high places or of cats or broken mirrors, ladders and other superstitions.

So hold a group confessional. Many teachers have reported that lamb and ham, chicken, tomatoes, onion rings.

"Dr. Crane, after I confessed to my fears, I found that I was not alone. I found that I was not alone. I found that I was not alone."

Psychiatric Treatments Criticized By Official

CHICAGO (UP)—A specialist in mental diseases asserted today that psychiatry, shock treatments, brain surgery and drugs have failed to solve the problem of mental illness.

Dr. Percival Bailey, director of the Illinois State Psychiatric Institute of Chicago, lashed out at many modern techniques for treating mental states as dangerous or ineffectual.

In a speech prepared for the annual meeting of the American Psychiatric Association, Dr. Bailey, a former specialist in brain surgery, said:

"THE TASK of psychiatry, it seems to me, is to get back in the asylums and laboratories, which they are so proud to have left behind them, and prove, by established criteria, that their concepts have scientific validity."

Dr. Bailey said he has been "frankly appalled" by the results of lobotomy—a surgical procedure for treating certain mental conditions by severing nerve pathways to a frontal lobe of the brain.

"The most favorable result seems to be that the disturbed patients, after lobotomy, are easier to handle in the hospital," he said. "But lobotomy has been followed by the Soviet Union and severely criticized by Pope Pius XII and is rapidly disappearing from American practice."

Should there be a warning trend and should it continue, insect activity will become noticeable. Despite relatively poor growing conditions, no severe damage by the clover leaf weevil has been reported. In general, clover leaf weevil populations remain low, and their feeding thus far of no economic importance. If poor growing conditions continue, however, damage may become apparent in occasional fields. If poor growing conditions continue, however, damage may become apparent in occasional fields.

60,000 Trees Being Added To Kankakee River State Park

The Kankakee River State Park will be richer by about 60,000 trees within the next few days. The red cedar trees were received over the weekend from the Illinois Department of Conservation and workers are currently planting them. Here the two planters and their workers halt for a moment in the midst of doing plantings.

Calls Laughter Only Defensive Maneuver

NEW YORK (UP)—The first scientifically based explanation in 81 years of why people laugh, admire wit, and pride themselves on their sense of humor is that laughter is only a defensive maneuver by "the frightened child" who resides in the unconscious mind of every adult.

Dr. Edmund Bergler, widely known psychoanalyst, theoretician and psychiatrist, is the author of this explanation. He denies that laughter is an "instinctive" response. "Now is it a 'sense' and therefore, 'the term, sense of humor, is a misnomer,'" he adds.

Obviously, people don't laugh who they are impelled to laughter on certain occasions, and the rationalizations they offer are not too bright," he says. "It is not surprising that their rationalizations should be weak, understandable, that they should be ignorant of the real cause of laughter."

Out of inner necessity, people are unaware that laughter possesses a complicated unconscious substructure, the unconscious, to be unconscious must be completely hidden.

He referred to the mind of course, specifically to the "partments of the unconscious." One is a fixed idea of what the person ought to be. This idea starts forming in infancy and is based upon the infant's distorted image of adult figures. The department constantly reproaches the other for not living up to this idea which, really, is impossible of fulfillment.

The unconscious mind "has either to accept constant guilt or sugar-coat this guilt by transforming it into an unconscious pleasure."

When a joke is made, the unconscious mind is not needed for a second and is converted into laughter. Bergler's theory, then, is a detailed working-out of Freud based on the 51 years of psychoanalytic experience since then.

"IT IS PRECISELY at this point that laughter in the adult sense enters the picture," Dr. Bergler continues in his book, "Laughter and the Sense of Humor" which was published under the "Intercontinental Medical Book Corporation."

By proving that every external ally encountered "here" is at bottom just another Mr. Dick, or Harry, the internal "heroes" are cut down to size as well.

Laughter is an internal necessity of such importance that the debunking alibi called laughter is even hoarded for use in the next attack of the inner-jailer, the unconscious, thus serving as a stockpile of alibi.

The previous scientific explanation of laughter was that of Sigmund Freud presented in "Wit and Its Relation to the Unconscious" in 1905. Freud's theory was that specific amounts of psychic energy held unconscious material in its repressed state.

When a joke is made, the unconscious mind is not needed for a second and is converted into laughter. Bergler's theory, then, is a detailed working-out of Freud based on the 51 years of psychoanalytic experience since then.

Four World Strong Men Under Attack

By UNITED PRESS

"One man rule" is under attack in four countries in widely separated parts of the world. The leaders concerned are Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany, Generalissimo Francisco Franco of Spain, President Fulgencio Batista of Cuba and President Syngman Rhee of South Korea. Adenauer and Rhee became their countries' leaders in the course of normal political elections. Franco attained power as the result of the Spanish Civil War. Batista got back into the presidency by a coup.

Each is the outstandingly dominant figure in the country concerned. NOW 68-YEAR-OLD Adenauer's one man rule is being challenged not only by members of opposition political parties but by the rank and file of his own Christian Democrats. Adenauer is chairman of the party. There have been two deputy chairmen.

Over Adenauer's protest, the party at a conference in Stuttgart, Saturday decided to name four deputies. One of them is Karl Arnold, former premier of the state of North Rhine-Westphalia, a leader of the Christian Democratic left wing. The rank and file elected Arnold a deputy to put him in line to succeed Adenauer as chancellor when the time comes. Adenauer's plea that Arnold's election would undermine his authority went unheeded.

ONE REASON, undoubtedly, is that Adenauer has refused persistently to give up his political power. He has had pretty near a premier at the conference. Instead he made it plain that he means to stay in office indefinitely. In Spain, Franco is under attack by intellectuals and workers. There were serious riots in February in Madrid between Uni-

Stassen Sees End To Disarmament Parley Because Of Red Comments

LONDON (UP)—Harold E. Stassen predicted today the current disarmament conference would come to an end because of the "directly adverse" statements made in Britain by Russia's leaders. Stassen, U. S. delegate to the five-power United Nations subcommittee disarmament conference, said statements by Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist Party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev had dropped chances of disarmament progress to a "low ebb." He referred to their press conference here Friday.

As a result, he said, the United States, Britain, Canada, France and Russia "presumably have long" will end their current disarmament parley here and report back to the main U. N. commission. THE "DIRECTLY adverse comment" on the "subcommittee" made by the two Russian leaders would seem to indicate "there will be no further Soviet movement in this series of meetings," Stassen said. "Notwithstanding the obviously negative note of the Khrushchev-Bulganin press conference on disarmament, the United States will patiently and persistently seek a sound agreement which will improve the prospects of a just and lasting peace," Stassen said. "I believe the day will come when such a sound agreement will be reached. "It is evident that the day is not near at hand."

AT THE SAME time, Stassen told the American Embassy conference, attended by 75 newsmen from many nations: "Important progress" has been made at the current session of disarmament talks. If the Soviets would only accept aerial inspection even under present conditions.

Details Make Pastors Unhappy

CHICAGO (UP)—The National Council of Churches said today the modern clergyman has to spend most of his time doing the things he considers the least important.

A nationwide survey conducted by the council indicated ministers are unhappy about "paperwork," "running the mimeograph," attending too many "purposeless meetings," and "dealing with demanding people."

Dr. Samuel W. Blizard, Pennsylvania State University sociologist who conducted the survey, said, "today's minister considers that he was trained to be a preacher and pastor and these are the roles he likes best."

Missiles Peril Lives Of Fliers

WASHINGTON (UP)—The army's research chief says new anti-aircraft missiles are so good there is not much future for enemy fighters.

The army also is developing anti-missile missiles, he reports, and is not afraid of the so-called ultimate weapon, the dread intercontinental ballistic missile.

Army missile developments were discussed by Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, chief of Army research and development, at a closed meeting of a House Appropriations subcommittee yesterday. His heavily censored testimony was made public today.

Mom, 8 Children Die In House Fire

MONT LOUIS, Mo. (UP)—A 42-year-old housewife and eight of her 14 children burned to death Monday when fire destroyed their home on the Grape Peninsula.

The woman was identified as Mrs. Arthur LaFlamme. Provincial police said she apparently was using naphtha in an effort to light her stove when it blew up. Her father-in-law, the only survivor, escaped through a window. Her husband and three other children were not home at the time.

You Get In A Year's Driving with D-X Regular or Ethyl

The chart above is proof enough you need upper-cylinder lubrication! Most leading oil companies recommend upper-cylinder lubrication. So do many automotive engineers and car dealers.

D-X upper-cylinder lubrication is the one real difference in gasoline. D-X provides extra mileage, more knock-free power, reduces costly repairs and assures longer engine life.

But—most other leading oil companies and dealers recommend an upper-cylinder lubricant—and charge extra for it.

D-X is different. In it you get an exclusive lubricant FREE—in scientifically correct amounts, blended into the gasoline at the pump. At the prices charged by others, you get $17.85* worth of special higher heat resistant upper-cylinder lubricant FREE in either D-X Regular or Ethyl.

Why not take advantage of this bonus offer? Remember, all gasoline are basically alike—and they all need an upper-cylinder lubricant. Why not get it—FREE!—from the refiner that knows most about upper-cylinder lubrication? Do it now—fill up today at your D-X Dealer's.

*Based on 15,000 miles driving in a year at 15 miles per gallon. If you drive more, you get a bigger bonus.

4 Down As Downpour Continues Over Texas

DALLAS (UP)—Raging streams that have claimed at least four lives threatened further flood damage in Texas today as leaden skies continued to dump more water over a wide section of the state.

The greatest flood danger appeared to be at Brownwood where water nearly 6 feet deep over the spillway of Lake Brownwood dam. Approximately 250 persons have been evacuated from their homes there. As rain continued early this morning, National Guard Capt. Russell Miller said "if this continues, the worst is yet to come."

Floods still poised a threat at Gatesville and Waco while a crest of 30 feet—2 feet above flood stage—was expected on the Trinity River at Dallas Wednesday morning.

THE LATEST death reported was that of Billy Ed Whiteburg, 13, when a school bus, trapped in a flash flood, was washed off a low-water bridge near Lometa, in central Texas Tuesday.

Six other persons aboard the bus were saved. Three others drowned Sunday night near Brady when a flash flood trapped their car.

A tornado near Waco damaged several outbuildings on the E. W. Wilkinson farm in Coryell County. Other twisters were sighted in the area at Harmon, Belton, Lampasas, Valley Mills, Hamilton and McGregor.

Early this morning rains continued in the many points in the state. The U. S. Weather Bureau forecast more showers and thunderstorms through Tuesday.

CHAIRMAN COOLEY (D-NC) of the House Agriculture Committee killed the soft bank advance payment idea "as bad thing." He said "The Republicans are going to be accused of buying the farm vote in November." If they insist on it, Republican leaders, however, were planning to offer a simple soft bank measure with advance payment authority as a substitute for the Democratic-backed bill.

This would eliminate price-support-lifting provisions in the Democratic bill which are popular with many farm bank members of both parties. Thus the outcome of such a move was in doubt.

Elsenhower vetoed a previous catch-all farm bill two weeks ago, and the new one sent to the House dropped provisions he singled out as most objectionable. These included higher, rigid price supports for basic crops, a dual system for figuring parity and two-price plans for wheat and rice.
