500 Defy Police In 'Panty Raid' On Southern Campus

By UNITED PRESS
Students celebrated the coming of spring with riotous "panty raids" on two southern campuses Thursday night. A rampage at Louisiana State University got out of control and police put it down with tear gas. LSU and Southern Methodist staged the first of the nation along with the first warm weather.

LSU students warmed up to Thursday night's outbreak with an abortive panty raid Wednesday night.

THURSDAY NIGHT'S raid was more of a riot than a college prank. A mob of about 500 defied police, broke windows, and tried to light a crude six-foot cross on the campus.

Police used tear gas to bring the students under control and confiscated the cross before it could be lit. They said there was no racial question involved, even though a fiery cross is the traditional symbol of the Ku Klux Klan.

The raid started when students surged to the door of a girl's dormitory and tried to tear it down. Police formed a cordon around the building. A sound truck roared the campus warning that Gov. Robert Kennon knew of the outbreak and might declare martial law on the campus unless it stopped.

AT THE TIME of the raid, university officials were considering

Mystery Infection Kills 3 Babies

LOS ANGELES (U)—A mysterious infection has killed three babies at Los Angeles General Hospital and 28 other infants have been exposed to it.

Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer, Thursday ordered the hospital's nursery for premature babies isolated while an investigation is made.

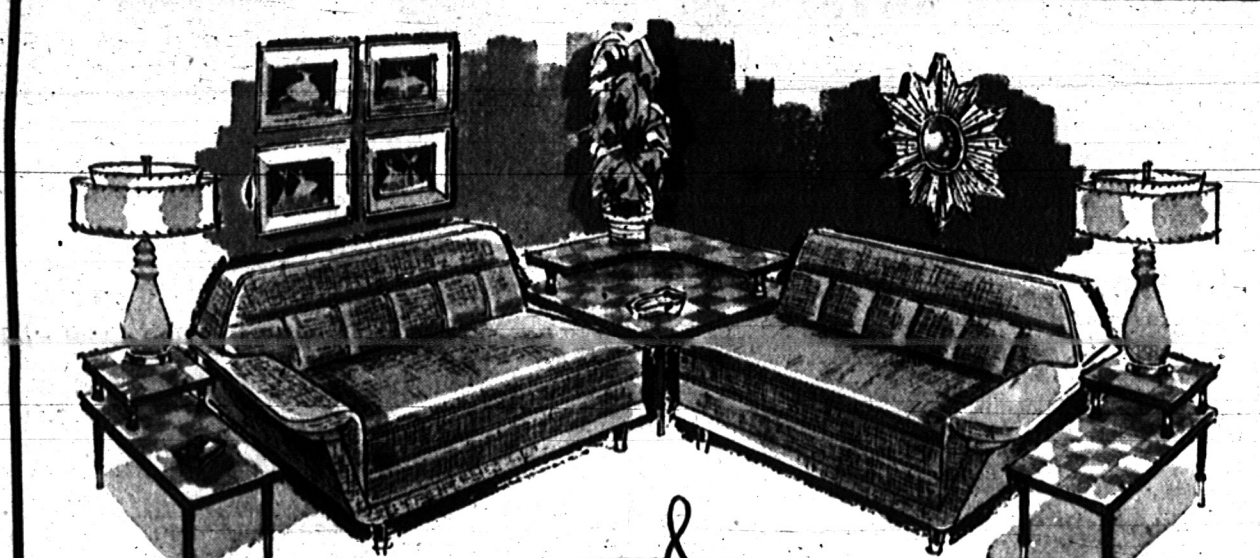

The origin of the illness is unknown. He said it apparently is a bacterial infection from some type of staphylococcus.

British Irked As Russians Air Apology

LONDON (U)—The Eden Government engaged in cool and distant sparring with Moscow Saturday over the mystery of the vanished frogman and the alleged Soviet spy who was the subject of a domestic political feud.

Lionel "Buster" Crabbs, skillful and retired lieutenant commander of the Royal Navy, is presumed to have lost his life while taking a secret, underwater trip to Soviet waters in a Portsmouth harbor during a state visit of Soviet leaders Bulganin and Khrushchev.

But his mission is disavowed by the highest level of the British government and the Soviet government has politely refused from calling it spying. Instead, the Soviet government Friday night vaguely referred to it as an "unusual fact," politely asked for an explanation and said Britain had apologized.

The Russian twist to the case on the diplomatic level was the accusation by a British Foreign Office spokesman Saturday that Russia had violated diplomatic usage by announcing the apology before the British themselves disclosed it.

Admitting officially that such an apology had been made, the spokesman said "when an exchange of notes takes place between nations it is customary for a government to publish the text of its own communication only, and not that of the other government."

Crabbs' body has never been found. What happened to him is a mystery, though the Admiralty announced he presumably died on April 18, the day after Bulganin and Khrushchev arrived in Portsmouth harbor aboard the cruiser Ordzhonikidze.

The Soviet note released Friday night, said a diver, wearing flippers and a lightweight diving suit, was sighted by lookouts aboard a Soviet destroyer about 1:30 a.m. that day. After a minute or two he disappeared under water near one of the warships.

The British reply acknowledged that this "presumably" was Crabbs who was "engaged in diving tests," and said his approach to the Soviet warships "was completely unauthorized, and her Majesty's government express their regret at the incident."

A diplomatic source said Saturday that if Crabbs was snooping on Soviet naval secrets he was only doing what the Russians are doing. The British warships paid a courtesy visit to Leningrad last October.

The Labor position seems to be that the Crabbs episode hurt chances of a better understanding with Russia, and that the Conservative government was remiss in not preventing it.

Kill British Governor, Greek Cypriots Urge

NICOSIA (U)—A battle of leaflets—including an underground appeal for the "execution" of British Gov. Sir John Harding—filled an otherwise ominous calm in this troubled city Saturday.

An appeal pasted on walls about the city called the governor "Gaul-lester Sir John" and said "it is the duty of all Greeks" to execute him.

The leaflet bore the typed signature of Digenis, unidentified leader of the EOKA organization which seeks union of this crown colony with Greece. Digenis is believed to be Col. George Grivas, former Greek army officer, who has a $25,000 price on his head.

"INSTEAD OF material reward which can emanate only from greed and can be accepted only by scum," the leaflet said, "we shall make the execution of the traitor a national hero whose name will be written in gold letters in the roll of honor of the heroes of the Cypriot struggle."

There already has been one attempt on Harding's life. Last March 23 an unexploded time bomb was found in the bed in which he had slept all night.

Cypriot police passed out leaflets, too. They asked the Greek population, which make up four-fifths of the island's half million, to "down bloodstained fanaticism."

"These murderers do not help our national cause. On the contrary, they retard it and smear it. The whole world considered our island a peaceful haven of Greek civilization... Now they see our island bloodstained. They consider us barbarians who shoot sick women in hospital beds, kill Christians in churches, throw bombs in little children's bedrooms and kill holy abbots in monasteries."

"YOU CYPRIOTS who feel for our beloved island—show your courage and free spirit. Protect the good name of our country and the high level of our Greek culture."

The paper war began Friday when a EOKA leaflet claimed two British soldiers—Lance Cpl. Gordon Hill and Pvt. Ronnie Smith—had been hanged in reprisal for the execution of two Greek Cypriot rebels. The British acknowledged they are missing.

A British soldier said he had been ordered to hold them while running away. In the rest of the island, the guerrilla war against the British has gone on unabated.

Temperature Hits 92 Here Saturday

No one seemed to mind just what kind of a record it broke but the 92 degree maximum registered at the airport Saturday in the city did tend to lessen the intensity of the unseasonable heat.

The last time the mercury rose to above 90 at the airport was Sept. 20, one of the last really hot days of a sun-baked summer.

Reported missing were Scoutmaster Fred Cox of Union City, and Boy Scouts Harvey Brady, 14, and Robert Sandberg, 14, both of Hammond, near Erie, Pa.

State police said the three were in the last canoe. It took a motorboat and a small plane to search for them, and the other canoeists escaped into the woods.

Fear 3 Drowned On Scouting Trip

UNION CITY, Pa. (U)—A scoutmaster and two Boy Scouts were feared drowned Saturday after a group of five canoes upset in rain-swollen French Creek.

Reported missing were Scoutmaster Fred Cox of Union City, and Boy Scouts Harvey Brady, 14, and Robert Sandberg, 14, both of Hammond, near Erie, Pa.

State police said the three were in the last canoe. It took a motorboat and a small plane to search for them, and the other canoeists escaped into the woods.

TWISTERS RAKE MICHIGAN; 5 DIE

Flint Hit Again; Over 100 Hurt

FLINT, Mich. (U)—Death-dealing, home-wrecking tornadoes-bombed much of southern Michigan late Saturday and Sunday night. Upwards of half a dozen struck in the populous industrial and residential areas. At least five persons were killed and more than 100 injured.

Three of the dead were from a single family in Flint, where a terrifying twister killed four as it bounced along a seven-mile path through the eastern outskirts.

AN ELDERLY woman was killed near Ithaca, 20 miles northwest of Flint, when a barn toppled on her. One unidentified death was reported in Grand Blanc, a Flint suburb.

Flint counted at least 50 injured. The Detroit suburbs of Lincoln Park and Allen Park had more than a score hurt. A scattering of injuries also were reported elsewhere in southeastern Michigan.

Windstorms and near-cyclone bursts appeared the general rule for areas united by twisters.

Saturday's tornadoes came only five weeks behind a series of twisters that killed 17 in western Michigan the night of April 13.

Flint, which was hit by three separate tornadoes, was bloodied and battered by the worst twister in Michigan history June 8, 1933, when 116 were killed.

Western Michigan, which had been warned of tornadoes earlier in the day, apparently escaped except for heavy winds and some locally high-powered gusts. Tornadoes began striking in the east almost simultaneously with the twister in Michigan history June 8, 1933, when 116 were killed.

FLINT COUNTED around 200 homes down or damaged in the same region fought its way out of another rebel ambush, killing 30 of the attackers. French losses were said to be one dead and two wounded.

A French army detachment in the same region fought its way out of another rebel ambush, killing 30 of the attackers. French losses were said to be one dead and two wounded.

In the Kabley Mountains, French troops carried out a big sweep and claimed 20 rebels killed. Thirty suspects were arrested.

French officials hailed the gallant defense of the little village of Abir, west of Constantine, which came under heavy rebel attack at 2 a.m. Saturday. The villagers were said to have repulsed the raiders with heavy losses.

French military dispatches said a dozen rebels were killed in operations around Lafayette. Reports of scattered guerrilla actions brought the total of rebel deaths claimed to well over 175.

French Claim 175 Rebels Die In Battles

WASHINGTON (U)—A beaming President Eisenhower got a doctors' report Saturday that his heart is "well healed" and his general health good. He promptly took off for the golf course by way of celebration.

A report issued after two days of head-to-toe tests at Walter Reed Hospital said the President "has shown good tolerance to increased physical activity" over the six months since his discharge from Fitzsimons Hospital in Denver.

The chief executive was described as "physically active and mentally alert."

X-rays, the report continued, show no changes in the shape or size of the heart and disclosed that the heart beats at a "normal rate and rhythm." It said there is no enlargement or bulging of the scar.

The report was signed by Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, commander of the hospital.

EISENHOWER was smiling broadly as he left the hospital, hatless and wearing a light tan suit. He waved acknowledgment of the burst of handclapping from scores of patients and hospital staff members gathered around the entrance.

He drove straight to Burning Tree Country Club where he played golf in muggy, overcast weather.

Eisenhower's blood pressure was given as 118-90 which White House press secretary James C. Hagerty described, after consultation with doctors, as normal for a man Eisenhower's age—65.

The report said that the President continues to receive the anti-clericalism to receive the anti-clericalism.

Missing Boy Flees Officer In Chicago

CHICAGO (U)—An off-duty policeman spotted runaway little Leo Rauch Jr. on a bus Saturday, but the wily 6-year-old got away from him.

Patrolman John McManus said he was certain that it was Chicago's will-o'-the-wisp boy he noticed arguing with the driver about a transfer on a bus.

McManus told the boy to get off the bus with him, but just then a woman passenger called to the lad that he had forgotten his jacket.

As the policeman turned to retrieve the jacket, the boy leaped off the bus and ran. McManus gave chase but lost him on the streets.

LEO'S ANXIOUS mother, Mrs. Ellen Rauch, 22, said the jacket on the bus was not her son's, but of a friend. She said she was looking for Leo when she saw the policeman.

Known as a precocious child who could recite the alphabet backwards and forwards when he was three, Leo ran away April 30 and has eluded police ever since.

A special 50-man police detail that has been looking for Leo recently, starting a new check of his playmates in hopes of finding a clue to his whereabouts.

All residents were asked to be on the lookout for a boy with a small build, dark on the back of his head. Leo has such a spot from a minor scalp infection.

5 Persons Die In Hoosier Air Crash

GREENCASTLE, Ind. (U)—Five Hammond, Ind., persons were killed Saturday night when a single engine airplane crashed and burned on a farm near here.

State police said the plane developed engine trouble at a low altitude while attempting a landing at Greencastle Municipal Airport.

The victims were identified as Mrs. Grace of Greencastle, Mrs. Eugene Jones, 40, his wife, Jo Ellen, also 40; Jones' brother-in-law, John Davis and his wife, Orville, and a 10-year-old daughter, Aurea May.

MADRID, Spain (U)—Honey-mooning Prince Rainier and Princess Grace of Monaco dined with Generalissimo Francisco Franco in Pardo Palace Saturday. All members of the Spanish government and their wives also were present.

French Get U.S. Approval To Send 12 Jets To Israel

WASHINGTON (U)—France is getting ready to sell 12 more Mystere jet fighter planes to Israel.

Like 12 others of the speedy French aircraft shipped to Israel last month, these 12 are being taken out of production ordered by the United States.

U.S. approval in both cases was needed to divert the planes from their original destinations—the defense forces of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. But in both cases the United States agreed to share with France the responsibility for sending them to Israel.

Hatkin To Get New Job With Air Force

Suspect Who Told Of Red Spy Bid Gets Nonsensitive Post

WASHINGTON (U)—Sidney Hatkin, government economist who says he rejected a Russian bid for military information while he was under suspicion as a possible security risk, was restored to the Air Force payroll Saturday.

However, he was not given access to secrets. Secretary of the Air Force Donald A. Quarles said Hatkin in the sensitive position to which he had previously been assigned.

Quarles ruled, however, that Hatkin could properly be placed in a position where he would not be working with secret information.

His suspension was ordered 14 months ago pending investigation of allegations that he had Communist links. Saturday's action by Quarles came a week after former Gen. Harry P. Cain cited Hatkin's case in a New York speech as an instance of hardships inflicted on suspended employees by government delays in deciding security cases.

HATKIN SAID that while trying to find a job, he was approached by a man who offered to hire him for a complex information on a country's aircraft industry. He later identified the man from a photograph as Vladimir P. Mikheyev, a clerk in the Soviet Embassy, though he said the man told him he was a student at the University of Maryland. He said the man wanted information on the production, capacity and economic tendencies of the U.S. aircraft industry.

Hatkin said he became a member of the circumstances, rejected the job offer, and reported the incident to the FBI and to his lawyer, Joseph H. Freilich.

Nebraska, Oregon Hold Primaries On Tuesday, Friday

WASHINGTON (U)—Two more presidential preference primaries are coming up next week.

The primaries: TUESDAY—Nebraska has a preference vote, with President Eisenhower unopposed on the Republican ticket and Sen. Estes Kefauver on the Democratic. The preference vote is not binding on the 15-vote Republican and 12-vote Democratic delegations to be chosen. Delegates run unpledged.

FRIDAY—Oregon holds a preference vote. There are no Democratic entrants, but Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Kefauver are competing for write-in votes that will determine who gets the state's 16-vote delegation. President Eisenhower has no opposition on the GOP ballot for 18 delegates.

Another highlight of the Oregon voting will be the Republican contest between Douglas McKay, former secretary of the interior, and Philip Hitchcock, member of the U.S. House of Representatives. McKay is expected to win, but only takes opposition in the Democratic primary.

You Can Really 'Cross' White Line

Spring may mean the blossoming of trees, the bursting of flowers, etc., to some but it's getting so at the Ed Steinbach home, 732 N. Dearborn Ave., that the spring means "surprise time."

A year ago on good Friday the Steinbachs suddenly discovered they had become the adopted parents of a batch of kittens. The stray mother cat had selected the back porch of the Steinbach home in which to present to the world five little kittens.

The Steinbachs finally got over the shock. But now they have a new one.

The other day they heard noises in the basement. Once again it was a stray mother cat — and once again it was five additions to the family!

Harold Lisenby, manager of the Kankakee district of the Public Service Co., doesn't enjoy seeing the company receive complaints. The other day, however, he received one that he seemed to be able to shrug off rather easily.

Write the complaint: "Wouldn't it be swell if the Public Service thought a little about the fishermen at the dam. The fence needs removing. Also improve the north side so the fishermen can get to the dam. That's in advance."

Lis shrugged this one off in good style. The Kankakee dam, you'll recall, was included in the package of land parcels that was presented to the state of Illinois recently by the Commonwealth Edison Co. It is no longer in charge of the dam.

When the St. Joseph's College glee club from Collegeville, Ind., appeared in Kankakee Wednesday to present two choruses the group decided to stage its annual banquet in the city at the same time.

In the annual election of officers Darrell Shonkewitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Shonkewitz of Manteno was elected president for next year. Darrell is a junior at the college.

The glee club presented an afternoon and an evening concert at St. Joseph's Seminary under sponsorship of the seminary's alumni association.

It looks as if the Champagne County Fair is going to the dogs. The association the other day decided to stage a dog show in connection with the annual fair which will be July 23 to 28. It's the first time in many years such a show has been held with the fair.

Two classes will be held, one being in obedience, tests of such training dogs as German shepherds, collies, beagles, etc., and the other being a style show for 45 different purebred breeds such as St. Bernards, Great Danes, Doberman Pinschers, French poodles, etc.

Police Sgt. Bob Randle was off-duty Friday when he received a phone call from the Happy Hearts School for Retarded Children. They asked him if he minded stopping in at their school for a minute.

Bob donned his uniform and went to the school. As he opened the door he was met by a chorus of voices singing "Happy Birthday."

In the center of the room on a table was a large birthday cake. And beside it was a group of presents for the sergeant.

Bob, it seems, has always taken an interest in the youngsters attending the school, stopping by to visit them occasionally, always giving them a friendly greeting when he passed. Last Christmas, in fact, he and Chief Wallace Flinnery tossed a Christmas party for the youngsters.

The children found out when his birthday was — and had a little party for their friend, "Sgt. Bob."

The Kankakee High School senior, incidentally, became a three-time winner in the state music contest this year. For the third straight year she was a division I rating in the nation twirling solo class.

Crete High School's Dan Brummer was running the mile in a Crete-Bradley-St. Patrick's triangular track meet at Bradley the other afternoon.

After the race was over and he had finished second to Patricia Joe Schlenz he went up to him.

"How in the world did you get around that track so fast?" he panted to Joe. "You passed me, and 80 yards later I look alongside here you're passing me again. I figured I was either going nuts or running awfully slow. How'd you do it?"

Joe didn't have to explain. He simply introduced Danny to his twin brother Tom — who had also run in the race!

The Rev. Raymond Stouich of Bradleywood, celebrated his first solemn high mass last Sunday in the Immaculate Conception Church, Bradleywood. Father Stouich was ordained to the priesthood early this month at Cathedral of St. Raymond, Joliet. He was born and reared in Bradleywood and is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Stouich. Father Stouich attended Bradleywood East School, Nazareth Hall Minor Seminary at St. Paul, Minn., the St. Paul Seminary and St. Procopius Seminary at LaSalle. While awaiting assignment in the Joliet Diocese, he is residing with the Francis Rink family, Bradleywood.

Chatsworth PTA To Hold Final Meeting Tuesday

CHATSORTH (JNS)—The Parents' Teacher Association will hold its final meeting of the year Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the high school. The topic will be "Our Littlest Ones." At this meeting, there will be an installation of officers and a kindergarten demonstration, under the direction of the teacher, Mrs. Helen Kulkin.

Grade school students, directed by Ralph Windle, will put on a physical education demonstration. There will be music by the band. Mrs. Peter Nickrent, Mrs. Charles Elliott are the social chairman.

Bradley-Bourbonnais Board To Rule On Teacher Dismissal

An announcement of whether Joseph Jepsen's dismissal from the teaching staff at Bradley-Bourbonnais High School will be final or whether he has won reinstatement, will be made this week.

The board of education of the school will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. to vote on the issue, having held hearings.

Cancel Plans For U. S. Fleet Visit To Crete

ATHENS, Greece (UP)—The U.S. 6th Fleet has cancelled plans for a good-will visit to the island of Crete because of the anger aroused in Greece by Britain's execution of two young Cypriots. It was announced Saturday.

A U.S. embassy spokesman said the visit was called off on the advice of the Greek Foreign Ministry.

The newspaper Kiri, published in the Cretan city of Cana, warned today that American sailors "might not get a pleasant reception" if they visited the big Greek island under present conditions.

KIRI SAID Mrs. Fleck's proposed stay in Cana harbor should either be cancelled or that its hungry sailors should be kept aboard ship while the naval visitors were in Crete.

The 6th Fleet, however, is still scheduled to carry out the remainder of the calls on its cruise of Greek waters.

The Foreign Ministry refused comment, but American sources said Crete naval authorities called Friday night warning of anti-American feeling on the island.

The United States had nothing to do with the executions on the island — but Greek fury has been vented in part on U.S. installations.

Greek mob stoned the U.S. Information Service office here Wednesday in a riot in which 3 persons were killed and 124 injured.

A. S. Widholm, 80, Of Clifton, Dies; Funeral Monday

CLIFTON (JNS)—Adolph Seigrist, 80, former 1000 Miles Grove Township supervisor, died at 3:30 p.m. Friday in Iroquois Hospital, Watseka.

The body is at the Clack-Croft Funeral Home here, where friends may call after 2 p.m. today. Funeral services will be Monday at 1:30 p.m. in the funeral home and 2 p.m. in Zion Lutheran Church, of which he was a member.

The Rev. Carl Boer will officiate at burial which will be in Clifton Cemetery.

Mr. Widholm served 15 years as township supervisor and two years on the board of review. A retired farmer, he had been a resident of the county 50 years. He belonged to the Clifton Masonic Lodge 30 years.

Born Jan. 16, 1878, in Motala Varlsted, Sweden, he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Widholm.

Oct. 2, 1901, he was married in Mills Grove Lutheran Church to Neva Christensen, who survives. Also surviving are sons, Elmer, Madison, the pupils composed of other civic agencies in carrying out their projects.

They posted "litter bug" stickers on 3,000 paper bags and distributed them to service stations to remind motorists to carry a similar container in the car rather than dump rubbish along the highway.

They decorated and operated a booth at the Kankakee Home Show, distributing anti-litter material.

Louis Calhern, Veteran Star, Dies

NARA, Japan (UP)—Louis Calhern, veteran star of stage and screen, died of a heart attack Saturday as he was preparing to start work on his 69th film, "Tebowho of the August Moon."

The 62-year-old actor had been in Japan since last month and had appeared to be in good health except for a slight cold during the past few days.

Calhern's body was taken from the Nara hotel, where he died, to the U. S. military hospital in Osaka to await instructions from relatives.

The Brooklyn-born Calhern, veteran of 40 years on Broadway was considered one of the top scene stealers in the movies. Often he could play a scene over and over—without most of his back to the audience—and steal it completely from Hollywood's biggest stars.

On the stage Calhern is best remembered for "Life With Father" and as Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes in "The Magnificent Yankee."

Death came to Calhern at 8:30 p.m. Saturday night, in Nara, the location site about 300 miles from Tokyo. The difference in times, of course, is due to the International Date Line which adds a day's difference to the oriental time.

Report Theft Of $70 From Home
Kankakee Police Sgt. William Paulauskas Saturday investigated a reported theft of $70 from the Marshall Ervin home, 1340 S. Fifth Ave.

Mrs. Ervin reported that the money, all in silver, was taken from a desk drawer in the living room of their home sometime between 8 p.m. Friday and 16:15 a Saturday.

Mrs. Ervin said that entry was gained through an unlocked front window. Paulauskas said there was no evidence of forcible entry.

On The Book Beat

"OLYMPIO: THE LIFE OF VICTOR HUGO"
By Andre Maurois, translated from French by Gerard Hopkins. Harper.

Born in 1802, died in 1885 Hugo was the son of a Napoleonic general who had an insatiable appetite for women, and of a woman whose passion it was to have her victim.

The boy was no disappointment to either parent.

He was a poet first, the lyric Olympio, and then a dramatist and a novelist. The highlight in his fabulous career was his marriage to his childhood sweetheart, Adele Foucher, "Hernani," symbol and substance of the romantic revolt; his love for Juliette Drouot as the first of apparently countless affairs which continued to within months or perhaps weeks of his death at 83; his spectacular defiance of "Napoleon le Petit" and his exile; "Les Misérables," finished in 1861; his triumphant return to Paris; the trial of 1800,000 on the occasion of the National Festival declared for him by the Third Republic; and the 2,600,000 who followed the hearse to the Pantheon.

There were a few dissenting voices—new poets like Baudelaire and Mallarmé questioned the old; rights opposed him.

Few writers have been so great and also so popular; few have been so involved in their time. Maurois gives us Hugo in his matches, as a biographer—Hugo the Great with enough of Hugo le Petit to provide the savor.

EVERY OTHER BED: By Mike Gorman. As Gorman points out, mental illness is a bigger problem than cancer, tuberculosis and infantile paralysis combined. Every 100 people in the United States is occupied by a mentally ill person.

Above the inestimable toll in human misery, mental illness costs this nation $25 billion a year. This does not include the $16 billion in lost wages and productivity that the millions they incur in the federal income taxes, if employed.

Essentially Gorman's book is a carefully documented plea for a vast increase in expenditures for psychiatric research. He deals extensively with the results of new drugs, but deprecates the reference to them as "wonder drugs." The only wonder he sees in them is "they are a fast cry from what American science might have achieved if it had devoted even a small amount of its resources and ingenuity the past few decades to an attack upon mental illness."

In his discussion of "The Decade and Beyond," is a report on "Reserve," a new "Mental Hospital," by Drs. Dean C. Trasher and Marianne Chermak of the hospital.

Harlan's Mayor Goes To Work In Overalls

HARLAN, Ky. — Mayor Roscoe Petrey's attire and actions might raise eyebrows in some cities. But here they love him.

Beau Brummel would faint at the sight of Petrey going to a City Council meeting.

He wears bib overalls!

What's more it's not uncommon to spot him manning a shovel with city maintenance crews.

WHY DOES the city love this 65-year-old bachelor who neither drinks, smokes nor chews? Well, and this could be a shocker for some of his pastirized contemporaries, he has:

Reduced taxes.

Rid the city of debt.

Built up a sizable reserve fund.

His secret? Petrey thinks it's simple: "We don't buy anything we can't pay for."

For his working day usually runs 12 to 14 hours, the salty farmer coal miner is paid $5 monthly. This he turns over to the city library for new books.

One thing bothers Petrey—the reputation Harlan was tagged with in the 30's during bloody fighting over labor organization of coal miners. Bloody Harlan—a name this eastern Kentucky city has found hard to shake.

"I'M SICK and tired of people thinking we're all a bunch of thugs and gunmen," Petrey said. "I've lived here for 33 years and not a bullet hole to show for 'em."

When Petrey took over two years ago the city owed more than $16,000. The tax rate, when the bills were paid, was reduced 10 cents on each $100 of taxable property. Currently there is more than $60,000 in the general fund.

While taking the city out of the red and accumulating a surplus, 28 streets were paved, 2,000 feet of concrete sidewalks were laid and a new $3,000 fire truck was purchased.

Petrey begins his day around 7 in the morning and can be seen around city hall as late as midnight.

BORN ON A FARM in nearby Whitley County, he came here as a coal miner. Today he owns considerable real estate.

Petrey has hopes of someday losing his bachelor status.

LT. ROBERT SICARD, a jet pilot stationed with the Air Force in Japan, is enjoying a 30-day leave visiting Hong Kong, Macao, Singapore, Manila, Bali, Sumatra and Formosa in the Far East. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Sicard, 296 N. Washington Ave., and is expected to return to the United States in September.

Sgt. Armond J. LaMontagne has graduated as an honor student from the school for Air Force supervisors conducted by the Alaskan Air Command at Ladd AFB, Fairbanks, Alaska. LaMontagne is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. LaMontagne, 30 Bel Air St., Bourbonnais. He entered the Air Force in 1946 and has served in Korea and Hawaii.

HAROLD E. WULF, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Wulf, 388 W. Mulberry St., has been appointed squad leader of his recruit company at Great Lakes.

James U. Thomas Jr., whose parents live on RR 2, Onarga, has completed a field training exercise with the Army's 1st Infantry Division at Ft. Riley, Kan.

Gerald M. McTaggart, son of Edward McTaggart, RR 3, St. Anne, Ronald E. Schoelman, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Schoelman, RR 2, Onarga, Gerald R. Hubert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hubert, RR 1, Marionton, Ronald E. Hansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Hansen, RR 3, Clifton, enlisted in the Navy Thursday and have been assigned to recruit training at Great Lakes.

Compare Flower Pictures

A mutual interest and enthusiasm in color photography of wild flowers brings together Miss Vera R. Hub, Fulton County home advisor, right, and Mrs. Edward Hayes of St. Anne. They compare pictures of flowers abounding in Northern Wisconsin and desert regions in the Southwest.

Miss Hub became interested in flower photography 15 years ago while serving with the Wisconsin Extension Service. Mrs. Hayes, who has a doctor's degree in botany, developed interest in the hobby in 1947 as a student at Northwestern University. (Journal photo)

Firemen Hose Station Driveway

Kankakee firemen early Saturday washed down a filling station driveway as a safety measure. Oil drums at a station at Court St. and Greenwood Ave. had leaked part of their contents onto the drive.

Firemen washed away the oil at 1:45 a.m. Saturday.

At 1:35 a.m. Saturday, the emergency unit was called to revive Mable Green, 1809 E. Eagle St., who was having difficulty breathing.

She was administered two tanks of oxygen.

STATUE COMPLETE. CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. — The 14-foot, 11-ton Liberty statue which will be placed on the Victory Monument at Yorktown is complete after six years of work by Sculptor Orskar J. W. Hansen. It will replace a statue which was decapitated by lightning in 1942, but first government officials must decide whether the shaft, erected in the 1880's, is strong enough to bear the statue's weight.

2 Seniors Win Scholarships

WITTHOFF HERZOG

Recipients of two scholarships among high school seniors in Kankakee have been announced.

Geraldine Witthoff, a senior at Kankakee High School, has been awarded the American Legion Auxiliary three-year nursing scholarship by Kankakee unit #5.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Witthoff of 456 Wood Ct., she will enter nursing training at Augustana Hospital, Chicago, the latter part of August.

This is the fifth year that the auxiliary has awarded the scholarship to a senior at Kankakee or St. Joseph's Seminary.

Geraldine has played in the Kankakee band for three years and been active in other school organizations.

Thomas Paul Herzog, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Herzog, 787 S. Osborn Ave., has received a scholarship of $70 a year from Knox College, Galesburg.

A senior at Kankakee High School, he is a member of National Honor Society, Future Teachers of America and the Romance Language Club, and is president of the Luther League at Trinity Lutheran Church. He hopes to become a mathematics teacher, and also is studying piano.

Honor 50 Gold Star Mothers

Fifty Gold Star Mothers attended the annual banquet for the group sponsored by American Legion post and auxiliary Thursday night at the Legion Home. The mothers of sons who died in wars heard a talk by the Rev. Basil Doyle, pastor of St. Martin of Tours Church. His talk included the reading of a "letter" written by the Rev. Fr. Doyle but worded as if from a son in combat to his mother. The letter referred to the mother's life as "a hard-fighting soldier" and the inspiration to the son.

Mrs. Louis Haarer of 325 N. Sixth Ave., 91-year-old Gold Star, attended the banquet.

Mother's Day Celebrations Could Include Thankfulness, Say Generations Of Mothers

"Happy Mother's Day" will be repeated today in many ways to many mothers. Here Mrs. Elmer Merkle of Ashkum poses with a typical corsage and greeting card as a representative of Kankakee area mothers so honored. Also typical of mothers, no matter what generation, is the smile which Mrs. Merkle wears. She has two children, Mrs. B. J. Brown of 1906 E. Pine St. and Robert of Ashkum.

Mothers change very little through the years and no matter to what generation a mother belongs, she has a common bond with others who have loved children of their own.

But conditions around them change and, it seems, for the better. Kankakee area mothers interviewed and pictured here agree that the housework connected with rearing a family is becoming easier.

Even the eldest of mothers (now great grandmothers) do not let the nostalgia of past years interfere with their objective viewpoint that modern conveniences do save a mother's time and health. And they say too that the time-saving devices add to family happiness because a mother has more time to spend on her children, her husband and herself.

WHAT HOUSEHOLD CONVENIENCE seems most popular with all the generations? The vote of those interviewed goes to the automatic washer. Mrs. D. F. LaVole, a great grandmother, is pictured on this page with her granddaughter's washer. She cannot help but recall the many long hours she spent washing her children's clothing—in not so convenient an apparatus. Mrs. LaVole also eyes the automatic dryer with wishfulness. Well she remembers her clothes freezing in the basket before they could be hung, on a winter's day.

The food situation, through the generations, also rates special mention. Mrs. Hattie Holder, another great grandmother, is glad her granddaughter can be assured that her children are getting the right vitamins in their food. She thinks the prepared baby foods, vitamin supplements, special milk preparations and modern sterilizers are truly blessings.

The list of modern conveniences, not available to mothers of past generations, is a long one. It might be a worthwhile pastime today, Mother's Day, to list those most precious in your household.

Mothers' duties remain basically the same but are quite different in detail in five generations. A five generation family is pictured here with attention on the youngest generation. The four generations of mothers will agree that Deborah Lewis, now 3 months old, can look forward to even further changes in homemaking and child care when she, too, becomes a mother. — Deborah's mother (lower right) is Mrs. Thom Lewis of St. Louis, Mo. The first generation is represented by Mrs. Katherine J. Johnson, 94 (lower left). Standing (left to right) are Mrs. Johnson's granddaughter, Mrs. Dorothea Lowe, Lowe Manor, and Mrs. Johnson's daughter, Mrs. William Roth.

On The Social Side

SECTION TWO—SOCIETY, HOME, FARM, CLASSIFIED—KANKAKEE SUNDAY JOURNAL, SUNDAY, MAY 13, 1956—PAGE 17

The youngest of three generations of mothers in her family, Mrs. Lawrence Dupuis of 358 S. Poplar Ave., is glad to be a modern-day mother. Pictured as she feeds the youngest of her three children, Jeffrey, 8 months, Mrs. Dupuis approves of the progress which makes possible prepared foods for children and special milk preparations. The other two children are Gary, 5, and Diana, 3.

Mrs. Dupuis' mother, the second generation, is Mrs. Albert C. Anderson of 1122 E. Merchant St. She poses with baby food ingredients and the strainers which were ever present as she recalls the time and effort necessary when her two daughters were babies. The best thing about baby foods available for mothers' use today, says Mrs. Anderson, is that vitamins can be assured. Her other daughter is Mrs. Vern Keeler of Oklahoma City, Okla.

The first generation, Mrs. Hattie Holder, tells her great-granddaughter, Diana Dupuis, of the days when she was a mother of small children. She tells Diana that the high chair (in foreground) has been in the family for 90 years. Mrs. Holder sees much improvement in the new high chairs. She had to tie her children in the chair with diapers. Mrs. Holder's children are Mrs. Anderson (also pictured at left), Mrs. Adolph Hedlin, Mrs. H. K. Madison of Las Vegas, Nev., Ross and Bert Holder.

Third generation mother, Mrs. Phillip Worth of 1143 E. Bourbonnais St., counts among her housekeeping blessings the new fabrics which require little care. She praises the no-iron and crease resistant materials which give the modern mother more time for other things. She is pictured with her son, Billy, 4, and daughter, Linda, 2. Mrs. Worth's mother and grandmother are pictured at right with their viewpoints.

Mrs. S. C. Hensley of 1295 E. Merchant St. is Mrs. Worth's mother. For her comments on the changes, from generation to generation, in clothing children, Mrs. Hensley refers to her photograph album. There she notes the hard-starched clothing worn by Mrs. Worth as a child. She also recalls that many of the clothes for youngsters of that era were homemade and so clothing a child was a time consuming matter.

The eldest mother in the family of Mrs. Worth and Mrs. Hensley is Mrs. D. F. LaVole of 596 Hannes Ave. She is Mrs. Hensley's mother. Mrs. LaVole wishes that she could have had automatic washers, dryers and ironers when she was a young mother. These modern conveniences are her nomination for the biggest and best improvement in aids for mothers-through the years. She poses here at the automatic washer in the home of her "fortunate" granddaughter, Mrs. Worth. Mrs. LaVole also has a son, Elmer H. LaVole of 594 Hannes Ave.

What is it like to be with the circus? Ask a 16-year-old girl who was born with it. Francesca Blahnik, 16 of Sarasota, Fla., and she will tell you it is glamorous but hard work like anything else that is worthwhile. Says Francesca:

"Always there is something to do. When you are not doing two shows a day, you practice. You must learn to do everything from juggling to being an aerialist if you'd be a real performer."

Francesca doesn't regret her hard work with the Ringling Brothers show. It's just that everybody else in the family—brother, sister, father and mother have accomplished the most and Francesca still has a little way to go, even though she has a part in several of the circus acts—acrobatic and juggling.

"It wouldn't do," she says, "to try to do everything overnight."

circus is to learn a specialty and for that you need lots of practice." The lovely brown-eyed Francesca who looks like a budding movie starlet admits the horses but she can leave the elephants alone. "Not too dependent," she says, "no I'll probably never have an act with them."

Crowns are the most fun in circus life, she says, just as interesting a part of the big happy circus family out of the spotlight as under it. And Francesca has a favorite clown called "Chuck."

Francesca was born with the circus in Italy where her mother and father did a fancy aerial act. They also ride horses and juggle. Her father has an act with the circus now although Mom is at home this season caring for a little brother.

"When I get back to Sarasota in between tours and go back to St. Martin's School I'll be a baby-sitter again," says Francesca.

Catholic Charities Issue Report On Child Care

One hundred and ten children received full-time care through the Catholic Charities office of Catholic Charities during the past year.

This was revealed in an annual report received by Bishop Martin D. McNamara of the Joliet diocese.

Father Thomas J. Holbrook, Director of Catholic Charities, also reported that 23 children received full-time care at Fortin Villa in Bourbonnais and 153 children received social welfare services in their homes.

In the field of family welfare, 189 families and individuals received either emergency financial assistance or social welfare counseling.

Further Holbrook also pointed out that Catholic Charities "strives to maintain and provide a well-rounded program of social welfare activities for children to contribute to their spiritual, physical, social, emotional and intellectual development."

Funds to meet the usual deficit of Catholic Charities are received from the Kankakee Community Chest, of which Catholic Charities is an agency.

Carol Gall Becomes Bride Of Laurence Ponton

The wedding of Miss Carol Gall and Laurence Ponton took place May 8 at 10 a.m. in St. Paul's Mission in Peotone.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gall of Peotone. Mr. and Mrs. Armand Ponton, also of Peotone, are parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. E. A. Doherty officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with palms and ferns.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of white net and lace underlined with satin. It was styled with an illusion yoke, lace bodice, mandarin collar, long tapering sleeves and a bouffant skirt accented with tiers of white carnations and pink roses.

Her fingertip veil of illusion net cascaded from a beaded tiara. She carried an arrangement of white carnations centered with a white orchid.

MATRON OF HONOR was Miss Arlene Ponton of Peotone, sister of the bridegroom. She was attired in an aqua net and lace ballroom dress and carried pink carnations.

The bridegroom was attended by Edward Gall of Peotone, brother of the bride, as best man and Leroy Ponton and Elmer Ponton, both brothers of the bridegroom, as ushers.

A reception was held at 7 p.m. in the Peotone Legion Home. Assisting with serving were: Miss Beverly Meyer, cutting cake; Miss Loretta Rubick, guest book; Miss Andrea Strva, punch and Miss Alice Sovet, gifts.

The couple will reside at 207 N. First St., in Peotone.

Both are graduates of Peotone High School. The bride has been employed at Valentine's as a waitress and the bridegroom is affiliated with the Mansell-Fox Ford Dealers in Peotone.

BROWNIE TROOP 37 met Wednesday after school in the Community Hall. They were taken on a tour of the fire station. Each girl was presented with a treat.

Paula Ruth Phillips, Burton Rivett Wed

The wedding of Paula Ruth Phillips and Burton W. Rivett was solemnized May 8 at 7 p.m. in the home of the bride's parents.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Courtney L. Phillips of Wilton Center. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rivett of Seneca are parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. D. W. Butler officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar of baskets of pastel spring flowers flanked by lighted tapers in candelabra.

For the wedding the bride wore a pink linen suit and a corsage of white carnations and rose buds. Her father gave her, in marriage, a navy blue linen suit as memento of honor. Her corsage was of white carnations and pink roses.

Pouch fresh pear halves in a sugar syrup; add strips of preserved ginger. Serve as an accompaniment for pork as a dessert.

A reception was held in the home of the bride's parents immediately following the ceremony.

The newlywed couple will reside at 408 Joliet St., in Joliet.

The bride is a graduate of Peotone High School and has been employed at the Joliet Arsenal.

The bridegroom, an alumnus of Seneca High School, is with the Caterpillar Co., in Joliet.

Proper Landscaping Adds Value To Home

As outdoor living swings into high gear all over the country, more emphasis is placed on landscaping as millions recognize the pleasant aspects of living, the beauty and higher property values that landscaping achieves, according to the American Association of Nurserymen.

Today's landscaping is beautiful and functional and serves many purposes in providing more privacy, comfort and higher real estate values. Whole neighborhoods are upgraded in their real estate values when neighborhood or group landscaping is engaged in.

Floral officials consider landscaping a "must" for the flowers for the property, its costs to be deducted from the selling price, thus lowering the capital gains tax, when the property is sold.

Landscaping helps make outdoor living more satisfactory. Hedges for privacy... shade trees for coolness... grass for a carpet underfoot... flowers for the table as well as a home fruit tree or two.

Home Of The Week

The most unusual feature in the home of the Wesley Johnsons at 1225 Wilson is the "three in one" bedroom arrangement for their sons, Terry, 16, Tom, 14, and Teddy, 3.

The ingenious arrangement was Johnson's idea. In the original plan the area, which measures 14 by 24 feet, was meant for two bedrooms. By eliminating the dividing wall and using storage partitions to make three separate areas it was transformed to produce private sleeping quarters for each boy. Sliding doors close off the front of each and the remaining open floor space in front is used for a play area and built-in chests of drawers.

Johnson designed and built the home with Mrs. Johnson lending an occasional over-the-shoulder bit of advice. Her special concern was the kitchen. Like all wives she had some rather definite ideas as to how the floor plan and cupboards should be mapped out for the convenience of the woman of the house. Another requisite, she tells, was that the living room have a window wall.

Closet and storage space in the home seems boundless thanks to four single, two double and two triple closets. All this plus a full basement means that there is a place for everything when it's in use.

The natural brick home has a low, rambling look on the exterior and the inside is spacious and airy. Incorporated in the plan are six rooms, a bath and a half, full basement with fireplace (still to be finished as a game room), and an attached double garage. A louvered, maroon fence encloses the back of the triangular shaped lot. Shutters, in a shade to match the fence, are to be added as trim.

Mrs. Johnson planned the colors for the interior and had the work done. Predominant are her favorite shades of gray, maroon and off tones of red and yellow.

Johnson maintains his office in his home in an airy 14 by 25 foot room which boasts a built-in storage wall and desk.

Window wall at right in the living room looks out on the patio and enclosed back yard. Draperies are gray with gold weave and carpeting and walls are also a soft shade of gray. Sofas have black and chartreuse upholstery and matching lounge chairs in perennials add splash of color. Wood surfaces are mahogany. Entrance hall opens at four left.

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER, AP Real Estate Editor

There's news in plaster. You wouldn't expect it, because 10 years ago the dry wall substitutes for this prosaic building material were supposed to be putting plaster out of business. But in spite of the tocsin barking by inventors and builders who were going to save home buyers great sums by making walls out of everything from puffed mud to masticated grocery boxes, plasterers just kept on troweling.

Today you can get acoustical plaster that soaks up sound like a sponge absorbs water. You can get predecorated plaster to give your walls a permanent finish that won't wash off or wear off—eliminates painting. Or you can use quick drying plaster to shorten the usual waiting period for final decoration. Or you can still rely on the tried and tested three-coat plaster job that has distinguished quality construction for generations.

Gypsum, the main ingredient of modern plaster, is now being mined and quarried at a rate of about 10 million tons per year. However, you'd wonder how there could be enough left for plaster, from the way this mineral is being used. Hollywood uses it to simulate snow. Farmers have been using it for fertilizer ever since Benjamin Franklin introduced it for that use in this country. It goes into the making of face powder, dental plates, poker chips, bathroom fixtures and polish for gravestones.

To meet this market, 10 new gypsum plants are scheduled to be established this year, although the stuff is as old as the Egyptians (before Nasser) and is only what we call plaster of Paris.

WHY DO WE keep on plastering walls? The Gypsum Association says it's because it helps to give lifetime protection to the value of your investment in a home. You can redecorate plaster over and over again as long as you can keep up with a woman's amazing ideas. Other advantages of plaster obviously are its high fire-resistance, its durability, economy and adaptability to any curving or arched architectural styles.

Yet, plaster isn't foolproof. Like everything else that goes into building a house, it gives the best results when both material and workmanship are right. For one thing you have to have a good base to hold the plaster.

Wood lath was a time-honored base. The plaster could bulge through spaces between the lath and lock itself on the wall. But you have trouble. This is why aluminum-backed gypsum lath for plaster can spare you from a lot of headaches, instead of freezing in the insulation, or sliding on a house.

Television room opens off kitchen and provides ideal spot for family to relax. Walls are paneled with mahogany and floors are scuff resistant gray tile. Comfortable furniture is upholstered in chartreuse and brown. Room also houses radio and record player. Three-year-old Teddy is shown with the family cello.

TIPS ON SANDING

AP Newsfeatures

DO... in general, use flint sandpaper only where economy is the prime factor, garnet for faster and better hand sanding; aluminum oxide for power sanding, and silicon carbide for "clear finish" coatings. DO... sand with the grain except in the case of open-grained woods, such as chestnut, when the sanding is done at a slight angle to the grain.

DO... check the smoothness of your sanding result by holding the wood surface just below eye level and looking across it toward a window or other light source. DON'T... use steel wool on carvings or turnings where sandpaper would be impractical.

DO... clean bare wood which has just been sanded by brushing off the wood dust and then wiping the surface with a rag moistened in turpentine.

DON'T... cut sandpaper with a knife or scissors unless you want to dull the cutting edges; tear paper along a metal straightedge. DON'T... attempt to clean clogged sandpaper by hanging it against a hard surface; use a stiff brush or one of the special cleaning preparations.

DON'T... use long strokes when hand sanding; a smoother surface results when overlapping, short strokes are used.

DON'T... neglect the use of open-coated paper on rough surfaces preparatory to further sanding with fine-grit paper.

DO... when cutting it to a pattern, cut about one-quarter of an inch over-size so that it will fit snugly when covered with fabric.

DO... use rubber of extra-soft density when it is being placed over the springs on the back of a sofa or chair.

DON'T... forget to use muslin or some similar material between foam rubber and plastic upholstery material.

ESTIMATING CONCRETE When buying pre-mixed dry concrete containing sand or gravel and needing only water, figure on half a bag for every square foot to be 4 inches deep. This means that a slab, 2 feet long and 2 feet wide will call for two bags for a 4-inch depth—one bag for a 2-inch depth.

DO... cut foam rubber with ordinary scissors, dipping the scissors in water frequently for especially smooth cuts.

DO... use steel wool on carvings or turnings where sandpaper would be impractical.

DON'T... attempt to clean clogged sandpaper by hanging it against a hard surface; use a stiff brush or one of the special cleaning preparations.

When Mrs. Johnson planned her kitchen she did so with an eye for convenience and step saving. Sleekly modern it has built-in stove and oven and four walls of cupboard space. Color scheme of gray and yellow is used for counter tops, vinyl tile floors and companion harvest scene paper on drop ceiling and one wall. Mrs. Johnson is pictured as she arranges a fruit centerpiece for the table. Ceramic tiled half bath opens at right.

Built-in desk is conveniently placed in one corner of the kitchen. Harvest scene wallpaper is gray and bright and is companion paper to that used for drop ceiling. Cupboards here have sliding frosted glass doors.

individually planned homes are SPEEDILY BUILT with LU-RE-CO panels

Here's Bonus In Split-Level Design

High Ceilings, Sunny Play Room Features

A home that demonstrates economic advantages of split-level planning, as well as the planner which this style adds to interiors, is shown in Design HW-1 for The House of the Week.

In every community, the split-level house is proving to be the most popular type of dwelling since one-story ranch styles stole the show from two-story homes. This plan combines advantages of both one-story and two-story arrangements. When properly laid out, it adds three bonus features that its predecessors usually lack:

1. Extra high ceilings in living and dining rooms, rising nearly two stories high.

2. A sun-lighted and dry recreation room at grade level.

3. A garage in the house with a short driveway to the road—bonus to be appreciated in bad weather.

Herman H. York, an authority on home architecture, prepared Design HW-1 partly as an answer to critics of the split-level. He calls this plan a logical answer to the way people live.

"WE AUTOMATICALLY divide our homes into day and night zones," York says. "Lately a third zone has developed. A lot of factors—television, lack of increasing parental concern over adolescents, family hobbies, more home conveniences, traffic congestion and high prices for public amusement—all have combined to center interest in the home. "This trend has created the third zone—a multi-purpose zone. The family room, recreation room, lobby or game room—whatever you choose to call it—is now highly important.

One of the best ways to fit these three zones into a house on a modest piece of land is to use three levels for the three major uses."

For good looks, Architect York has used an unbroken roof line over this split-level house. This, he says, is his answer to critics who have contended that split-level structures "look like two separate houses locked in mortal combat."

His sweeping roof line avoids the appearance of a cottage hitched to a two-story house.

THIS PLAN comprises a unity throughout. From the front entrance foyer, where you find a convenient coat closet, you can go westward, through a large recreation room which has sliding glass doors to a rear garden terrace.

This big room has space in a corner for a soda bar for the youngsters. There also is access to the garage and to a private lavatory. If you build this house with a basement under the living room, there are only seven steps down to an open cellar of 796 square feet.

From the foyer, you look up to a balcony dining room and kitchen level which is just four steps up from the entrance. The living room, measuring 23 by 15 feet, has a glass wall facing an upper garden terrace. The living room ceiling rises nearly two stories high at the fireplace wall. Here you can look up to a balcony den which is easily cut off to form a study bedroom for a guest.

You can have three or more fireplaces. In addition to the main fireplace in the living room, there are only seven steps down to a fireplace in the recreation room, a fireplace in the balcony den, and there is a good space for a fireplace in the recreation room.

BIG ENOUGH for a family, needing three or four bedrooms, this house has two complete bathrooms in addition to its extra lavatory. One bathroom serves the living.

A semi-circular breakfast nook is a feature of one corner of the big kitchen. This room is planned for a maximum of modern equipment. There's a place for a wall oven, an electric sink under front windows, separate top burners, a broom closet, large refrigerator and ample work counters.

This is a plan for comfortable living.

UPPER LEVELS, showing front entrance at grade with balcony dining room, living room and kitchen four steps up from foyer. Bedroom level is also steps up from living room. Three fireplaces and garden terrace are among features.

LOWER LEVELS include large recreation room with sliding glass doors to lower garden terrace. This room is one step down from foyer. Optional basement is seven steps lower.

Get Study Plan For 35c

You can get a study plan for The House of the Week by filling in your name and address on the coupon on this page and sending it with 35 cents to this newspaper.

This study plan shows each floor of the house together with each of the four elevations, front, rear and sides of the house.

You can take this study plan to your bank or other mortgage lender and to your builder and get rough estimates on building costs.

WITH THIS INFORMATION you will know whether you will want to proceed with construction by ordering working blueprints direct from the architect and asking for bids for the work.

Manteno Hospital Psychologist To Receive Degree

MANTENO—Ernest Kurtz, Manteno State Hospital staff psychologist, will receive his doctorate degree from Illinois Institute of Technology at ceremonies in June.

He will present his thesis, "A Study in the Validation of the Rorschach" at the Illinois State Medical Society's annual meeting May 16 in Chicago.

James Sacks, staff psychologist, left Monday on a leave of absence to resume studies at the university. He will continue his investigation of the causes of paranoid thinking, hoping to use his findings as a basis for his doctorate degree thesis.

Gilman Man Feted At Birthday Party

GILMAN—Friends visited at the Clinton Hartley home on State St. Wednesday evening to help Hartley celebrate his birthday.

Canasta was the diversion with prizes awarded to Mrs. Wilbur Elmer and Mrs. Francis Thelen. Refreshments were served.

Mrs. Anna Howard returned to her home after a three-month visit in California, New Mexico and Arizona.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas Roland moved to their newly-built home on N. Thomas street this week, vacating an apartment in the Baker property.
