School Board Lets Contracts For Supplies

Venetian blinds for three new grade schools and three school additions were purchased Monday night by the Kankakee Board of Education.

The board accepted the base proposal of $8,231.75 submitted by Mulvill Studio, 100 E. Court St., and alternate of $2,087.23 for institutional type audio-visual aids for rooms to be darkened for showing film strips and films.

The blinds will be installed in more than 600 window openings at the new Taff, Edison and Twain grade schools and additions at East and West Junior high schools and Lafayette Grade School.

The low proposals on fuel oil submitted by Barton Brothers, 104 S. East Ave., also were accepted by the board. The price is 2.2 cents below tank wagon price on No. 2 oil. The price is 9.4 cents on No. 5 fuel oil, and will vary with the posted tank wagon price.

THE BOARD ALSO instructed the administration to get prices on additional playground fencing needed this year. It approved a 6-foot fence along the north and south boundaries of the west playground and a 4-foot fence along Fifth avenue at Lafayette School, and a 4-foot fence at the northwest corner of the Lincoln School yard and a 6-foot fence on Dearborn avenue.

Board Pres. Roy Strassma said the board can decide on site improvement at the new schools when it passes the annual budget.

The board approved a change in the driveway area of Taff School to a modified oval shape.

Payment of $15,020.72 for a storm sewer for the Mark Twain School was approved. Strassma said the district has received full payment from a sub-divisor for his share of the cost. The sub-divisor is the sewer to the school site, and all the cost beyond the school site.

MONDAY'S PAYMENT included $14,899.38 to Triangle Construction Co. for construction work and $900.14 to Tyson Engineering Service for engineering services.

Herbert Hess, chairman of the building and grounds committee, said dead trees at Lafayette, Twain, and Edison schools have been removed.

A request from the Kankakee American Legion post to use Alameda field for color guard practice was granted.

Strassma reported there has been a departure from the board policy on vacation for new janitorial and clerical workers. The board said closing of offices at Christmas time and institute days remain to be clarified, and tabled both matters for future discussion.

U.S. Probers Study FDIC Role In Quiz

CHICAGO (UP) — Three staff members of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee opened an inquiry Monday into the role of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. in the Orville E. Hodge case.

Hodge, former state auditor, is the central figure in a million dollar financial scandal.

The three Senate committee staffers are Donald L. Rogers, committee counsel; Robert Wallace, staff director; and Clyde Yeomans, an accountant.

They said they will try to determine how two former FDIC officials — John H. Russell and Clare T. Ireland — became officers in two banks connected with Hodge. The three will decide if full scale committee hearings are warranted.

RUSSELL, former counsel for the Washington FDIC office, became president of the Bank of Elmwood Park after its predecessor, The First State Bank of Elmwood Park, was closed by Hodge in 1953. Russell took part in liquidation proceedings of the defunct bank.

Ireland, senior examiner in the Chicago FDIC office, became executive vice president of the Southbrook Bank and Trust Co. on July 14 after Edward A. Hitz resigned as the bank's president. Since then, he has acquired 55 per cent of the bank's stock.

Hitz, Hodge and a Hodge aide, Edward A. Epping, were indicted Saturday by a federal grand jury for misappropriating $11,165 shares in the Southbrook Bank. The amount was set at $372,000.

The committee members, dispatched from Washington at the request of Sen. Douglas (R-Ill.), also will investigate Hodge's reported acquisition of 11,165 shares in the reorganized Bank of Elmwood Park.

Wallace said his group will seek to question Hodge, Hitz and Epping. He said they will also call former Illinois Gov. Dwight H. Green, now board chairman of the Bank of Elmwood Park.

In addition to the varied program of matches, overtures and popular selections by the band, the audience also heard some special numbers. These included a vocal solo by Lewis Hubbard; and selections by a male quartet from the Chicago area known as "The Argylees."

Edward Daniel, director of the band, said that next summer the band plans to tour several enemy groups within the band for specialty numbers. The program was started this year with the formation of the "Disland Jazz Combo." He said the group also is planning to feature vocal soloists and barbershop quartets at some of the 1957 concerts. Consideration also is being given to increasing the number of outdoor concerts to eight, he said, and tentative plans are for including a children's concert in the summer program.

The play will be produced the first week in September by the Park District Teenage Drama Club. Miss Jansen said that all teenagers in the Park District area are eligible to tryout.

Cure For An Obstacle

Files $10,000 Suit, Charging False Arrest

A false arrest suit asking $10,000 has been filed here in Circuit Court against Martin Koerner, 828 S. Third Ave., by Ambrose Baskin of Limestone Township.

The suit arises from a complaint Koerner filed in May charging Baskin with threatening him with a shotgun.

Baskin alleges that Koerner made the charge without reasonable cause or proper cause. Baskin was "fully acquitted" by Justice of the Peace George Genette, his complaint continues.

Baskin alleges that his credit and reputation have been greatly injured as a result of Koerner's action. He says he also has incurred legal expenses in defending himself.

Baskin also has pleaded innocent in County Court to a charge of assaulting Koerner's brother, Roger, with a deadly weapon, and of tampering with an airplane owned by their uncle, Delbert Koerner.

According to the state attorney's office, Baskin is alleged to have fired at a plane piloted by Roger Koerner. The case is on the jury calendar for Sept. 26.

Barbara Neal Exchanges Vows With Walter C. McLaughlin

Miss Barbara Neal and Walter C. McLaughlin exchanged wedding vows Saturday at 3:30 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church, Birmingham, Mich.

The Rev. Robert W. Gibson performed the double ring ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. James Gerald Neal of Birmingham are the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Dugan McLaughlin, now of Chicago and formerly of 1546 E. Maple St., are parents of the bridegroom.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white Italian silk peau de soie with a deep collar of heron duchesse lace on a tightly fitted bodice with short sleeves. The floor length skirt formed a chapel train.

A tiny cap appliqued with heron-loom lace held her two tier finger-veil of silk illusion. Her bridal bouquet was white ruffled lilies and stephanotis.

Miss Linda Neal, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were the Misses Charlotte Hine of Garden City, N. Y., Anastasia Ludlow of Easton, Md., and Mary Kearns of Chicago.

All wore waist length gowns of white organza embroidered in tiny ice pink motifs. The empire styled bodices were fashioned with a crushed band of ice pink satin forming a small bow in the back. Pink straw crowns with tiny pearls completed their outfits. They carried pastel pink satin hand bouquets.

Jerome McLaughlin was the son's best man. Ushers were Richard Hill of Chicago, John Purvis of Gray Point, Mich., and Josephine Gray DeCamp of Cincinnati.

The bride wore a brown silk tweed dressmaker suit with a natural straw hat and blond accessories. Her wedding ring was set in a diamond. She carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies.

The bride is a graduate of Smith College, McLaughlin was a graduate of the University of Chicago. He is stationed as a lieutenant in the Marine Corps Reserve.

The Worry Clinic

Tries 'Teamwork' To Cure Insomnia

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Opal S., aged 29, is a public school teacher who attends my Bible class regularly in the Chicago Temple.

"Dr. Crane, I get so tense at times that I can't drop off to sleep at night," she confessed.

I tried your suggestion about asking God to take over the night shift.

"It worked so quickly and completely that I am astonished. Last night, for example, I lay on my bed tossing and fretting and growing more irritated because I couldn't fall asleep.

"Then I remembered what you had said and I decided to test it. So I said a little prayer. 'I told God that I was worried and uncertain about what to do about a certain problem.

"And I asked Him to help me. Then I concluded my prayer by promising Him I would try my very best to be a good Junior Partner of God, and so I asked Him to look after me through the night while I slept.

"Well, Dr. Crane, the tension left me at once and I must have fallen asleep right away for I don't remember anything else until I awoke this morning more rested than I have felt in months.

"Millions of Americans are beginning to team up with God in this fashion, and they find that it benefits them immediately.

"During the war I was almost a nervous wreck because of my son's crash in a war plane. I knew he was at death's door. And I was so distraught I couldn't sleep.

"Alternately I cried and tossed and fretted. Finally I adopted your idea and said: 'Lord, it's all in your hands. I am an old adage, which means that he doesn't want us lazily to ask him to do ALL the curing when we have insulin and other proved aids.

"But when we get out of our depth, God often steps in and does things we couldn't do. As every experienced physician can attest, the average physician has a shorter life span than does his average patient! And yet he outlives all professional groups.

"The physicians need to take some of their own medicine more regularly as regards relaxation and letting God help with the night shift.

"Clergymen probably have talked with God more often and have cultivated this ability to lean on God in a crisis.

"Don't insult God, moreover, by deliberately irritating your lungs and thus producing cancer via cigarettes; then asking God to grant you long life.

"The floating prize was won by Mrs. Henry Kieren.

"Refreshments were served.

"The next meeting will be Aug. 17 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kieren, RR 2, Kankakee.

God is STILL the best medicine that we physicians can ever prescribe. But he expects us to team up with him and utilize our wits, plus all the available drugs and other techniques that scientists are developing as a specialty called "Psychosomatic Medicine" to deal with such ailments largely rooted in emotional and mental disturbance.

Here's Most Vital Job For Woman

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Staff Writer

The most important job in every woman's life is to get along with men, says Mrs. Florence Pew, who has made a life work of teaching women of all shapes, sizes and ages to be happy, charming and successful.

This sparkling, silver-haired lady, herself a highly successful wife, a career or running a house, has to know how to manage men. A woman must deal with men all her life. She starts by learning how to get along with her father. Next she must learn to be popular with the boys at school.

"Later her life still is ruled by men. She must know how to help her husband, make him happy, and aim in his work and keep him devoted."

"If she has a job, she must get along with her boss. And in everything she does there is some man to be met and won over—the doctor, the butcher, the grocer and the milk man."

Mrs. Pew is vice president of the Dale Carnegie publishers and founder of the firm's special courses in human relations for women. As such she spends a good deal of her time traveling all over the world, setting up new courses for women who want to learn to speak up and enjoy life.

Mrs. Pew gives some well-tested advice on her favorite subject: "Help a man to be gallant. Let him light your cigarette and open doors for you. Seek his advice and respect his opinions. Don't shorten your man on sugar. Nobody ever had too much love. So if you love him, don't be afraid to show it."

Retarded Tots Differ

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M. D.

AP News Features

A "RETARDED" CHILD is one who develops slowly, and who cannot be expected to reach the same degree of maturity as a normal person. The term does not signify a single disease—there are many types of retardation—and it usually means how slow the development will be, not what level of maturity finally will be reached.

A few types do seem to be hereditary—they run in families, but the vast majority result from some type of retardation which the child before or during birth or soon thereafter. Sometimes doctors can give a name to a type of retardation but very seldom can they answer the question all parents want to know: "Why did this happen?"

Even though the question of the cause cannot be answered it is useful to classify the retardation into its type. Because doctors have much experience with the types, they can learn to detect a few predictions of what symptoms are likely to develop in various types of retardation.

A mongoloid child is almost always sweet tempered and docile. A cretin is likely to be apathetic. Some kinds of brain-injured children are aggressive. The type of retardation, however, tells us nothing of the degree—how early the child will develop.

1. The marginal independent. Such a child develops too slowly to profit by the ordinary school program. He can, however, learn many skills in special classes. His learning rate is about one-half to three-fourths that of the normal child. By the time he is 16 he can have completed the schoolwork of the fourth grade. He can learn to do unskilled work and in a protected environment can support himself as an adult.

2. The semi-dependent retarded child is not able to profit from even special classes in the schools. His rate of development is from 1/4 to 1/2 the normal. He eventually will learn to dress himself, take care of his toilet needs, feed himself and get along in the family. He may do simple chores under direction. His speech will be quite limited. He will require some care and supervision, but full economic support all his life.

3. The total dependent retarded child will not learn to take care of his own physical needs. He will need help in feeding, dressing and toileting all his life. His development is less than 1/4 that of normal. The National Association for Retarded Children estimates that there are 25 children in every 1,000 who are marginal independent, 4 out of 1,000 who are semi-dependent and 1 out of 1,000 who is a total dependent.

Motorists Feeling Pinch Of Battle Against Accidents

Motorists are starting to feel the "pinch" of the stepped-up battle against traffic accidents.

Fifty-three persons were killed in Kankakee County last year, a number less than in previous years.

The records of Sheriff James W. Laffey indicate that operators' licenses of more than 80 Kankakee County motorists are under revocation or suspension by the Secretary of State.

Traffic arrests in State Police District 6 reached 314 in June, the highest in history. The district commands Kankakee, Iroquois, Ford, McLean and Livingston counties.

Last year they were running 315 to 400 a month.

Traffic arrests all over the state have been mounting steadily for the past two years, according to Ervin Warren, assistant chief of police, who said that the police are doing everything he can to see that traffic is regulated better and more safely without undue interference with transportation.

ENFORCEMENT is only one phase, Warren points out. The others are engineering, to build safer and better highways, and education, being coordinated through the Division of Traffic Safety created by the last session of the legislature.

There are two theories concerning traffic law enforcement. One theory is that police, by their mere presence on the road, are supposed to deter traffic violations and accidents.

Last year, however, they failed to deter 2,195 people from getting killed on Illinois highways, including 207 in Kankakee and five adjacent counties. An additional $2,000 were injured.

There are many who believe the only way to cut the death toll is strict traffic enforcement, a method created with cutting-edge technology. Washington's death rate in 1961, in Illinois, both theories of traffic control are being compared.

Several factors enter into the picture. One is the 100-mile an hour speed limit force obtained by the legislature. This followed an experiment on Route 66 in which highway patrol-

By SAM DAWSON
RICHMOND (AP)—The cigarette makers have rolled with the punches in the last year or so with fair success. Now the tobacco farmer may face some new problems of his own as a result. His crop prospects look reasonably good. But some new tests have crept into the chain of the tobacco auctioneer. Think filter tipper cigarettes and the move to cut manufacturing costs by using parts of the leaf once discarded. These developments could affect both price and quantity of purchases this year. And the appearance of foreign competition in world markets adds still another uncertainty. TOBACCO MEN here say that the new crop, with picking now starting in some sections, has been helped greatly by well timed rains in contrast to the droughts that plagued large sections in the last two or three years. Manufacturers are happier, too, since sales have rebounded from the bad dip that followed health scare talk. For the nation, cigarette production in the first four months of this year was six per cent ahead of the previous year. The outlook for the rest of the year is good, producers add. In dealing with the talk about a possible link of lung cancer with smoking—about which there is still a very wide difference of opinion—the cigarette makers have profited from the big shift to filter tipped smokes, which helped them recapture temporarily lost sales.

BUT KEEN rivalry between brands has led the tobacco companies to new production devices. Some smokers complained that the smoke lost much of its strength, as well as its taste, in passing through filters. Tobacco men say that this has led to experimenting with heavier bodied tobacco—letting more strength get through. Farmers who have heavier bodied—and formerly lower priced varieties of tobacco—stand to gain by the higher demand this year for the leaves they grow. But before the filter tipped cigarette made its great gains, some tobacco companies were emphasizing mildness and advising farmers to plant prime quality tobacco, then commanding higher prices. These farmers complain that the year when their crop comes to market they may find lessened demand for the quality leaf than they had anticipated, while their neighbors, who were growing the variety with the stronger variety may see

Water Fluoridation Aids Children, Adults

WASHINGTON (UP)—The U. S. Public Health Service issued a glowing new report Monday on the "remarkable" ability of fluoridated water to reduce tooth decay. It said a 10-year study shows that fluoridation in Grand Rapids, Mich., cut the occurrence of children's cavities about 60 per cent. Apparently, even adults developed fewer cavities.

THE SCIENTIFIC evidence is conclusive, the service said, "that water fluoridation is an effective public procedure for producing a substantial reduction in the incidence of dental caries." Grand Rapids began adding fluorine to its water in January, 1945, in a bold experiment in cavity prevention. The results of the test at the end of 10 years were published in the current issue of the health service's "Public Health Reports." These showed: A "striking reduction" in dental cavities in baby or first teeth. The reduction in the case of 6-year-olds was about 54 per cent. A "marked reduction" in cavities in permanent teeth. Among the children born since the experiment began, the cavity rate "was reduced on the average by about 60 per cent."

NO UNDESIRABLE coloring of the teeth because of contact with the fluorine. It has been commonly thought that fluoridation does nothing to help adults whose teeth are fully formed and, presumably, already on the road to decay. But the report was somewhat more hopeful. "The effects on the teeth of adults in the survey have not as yet been ascertained," the health service said. "However, the fact that a reduction in caries (decay) was observed for teeth which had already been calcified when fluo-
