Human Radiation Tolerance Stalls A-Plane

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Final development of an atomic aircraft is stalled until it can be learned just how much radiation the human body can take.

It has been discovered that it's probably not possible, and definitely not practical, to build an A-plane with a radiation shield giving complete protection to flight and ground crews.

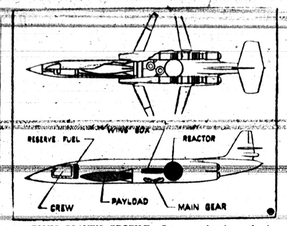
A shield with 100 per cent protection would be so heavy that it would make the plane impossible to fly. Even the atomic submarines, would be too heavy for a plane to lift. Or it would make the plane so slow as to be worthless as a weapon.

Thus, there either has to be a breakthrough on the shield design, or it has to be determined that crews can safely absorb a lot more radiation than has hitherto been believed possible before the atomic plane can be declared a useful reality.

WHEN THE INTENSE studies now being made on the human tolerance to radioactivity are completed much light will also be shed on the current fallout debate.

The problems delaying the A-plane are revealed for the first time in a report by Clarence L. Johnson and F. A. Cleveland, engineers for Lockheed Corp., the firm with one of the contracts for building an atomic aircraft frame. They say:

"Determination of the tolerable human radiation dose is very difficult and may well prove to be one of the most complex research areas in the attainment of operational atomic aircraft. Gamma rays and neutrons of the same intensity damage the body to different degrees and the effects of each vary with the energy of the radiation.



ATOMIC PLANE'S PROFILE: Cut-away drawings of what nuclear-powered airplane may look like when it is built for the U.S. Air Force were made public by Lockheed Aircraft.

"As a further complication, various organs of the body are sensitive in varying degrees to radiation, and the effects on these organs become maximum at various times after exposure."

IN THE MEANTIME, work on A-plane has been slowed down. But it is still proceeding on the assumption that crews will be able to take certain minimum exposures. A plane has been designed which puts the crew far forward in the nose of the plane, encased in a shielding shell, with the reactor far to the rear of the fuselage.

Here are other facts and problems about the A-plane revealed by Johnson and Cleveland for the first time:

Four turbo-jet engines will be clustered around the reactor inside the fuselage to transform the atomic heat into usable thrust.

The plane will take off and land with a conventional fuel mixture.

Flight crews will have to be rotated frequently to prevent them from absorbing too much radiation. The duration of flights will be limited by this factor. And the nuclear fuel core will be removed from the plane on the ground to make it safer for ground crews to do their maintenance work.

A PHENOMENON called "afterheat" exists in the reactor for a week or two after the fission process is stopped. This requires a special cooling system. But if the plane's engines should suddenly be stopped by a take-off or landing accident, afterheat would melt the reactor.

The A-plane is likely to have slow acceleration because of complex problems encountered in the reactor. Radiation from the reactor will also have an adverse effect on the plane's radio and radar systems.

Finally, the plane will probably require an elaborate overhaul after each flight. One reason: Even the radiation tends to make a thick sludge out of the lubricating oil and hydraulic fluid tends to deteriorate. These substances would have to be replaced frequently.

Although Cleveland and Johnson present a gloomy picture on the immediate future of the atomic plane, they conclude:

"The endurance characteristic of the plane is such as to dominate completely the disadvantages and render them unimportant."

SALUTE TO NEGROES

NEW YORK (AP)—A musical cavalcade, "Happy Times" is being credited as a breakthrough in Broadway stage salute to the role of the American Negro in show business.

The work is being written by Noble Sissle, Eubie Blake and Flournoy Miller, will span a half century and feature dance forms from the cakewalk to rock'n' roll.

NOW THEY'RE GOING TO TAKE THE ENGLISH OUT OF WALNUTS

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Agriculture Department announced today that it's going to stop calling english walnuts "english."

Effective Aug. 18 with the adoption of a new set of official crop standards, they will be just plain walnuts, the department said.

Officials said all comsercial walnut production in the U. S. today is concentrated on the Pacific Coast—as far away from England as you can get on the country. The term "english" is a misnomer carried over from the time when the walnuts were brought to this country in English ships," the department said.

The British embassy commented that "her majesty's government makes no claims to the name, although we like the thought of using the term "english walnuts."

A NEW Super Performance
PHILLIPS 66 Flite-Fuel

It's easy to figure.

Industries must have transportation that fits their growing, changing day-to-day needs.

Illinois Central communities have the kind of transport service that attracts new industry and creates new jobs and new pay checks.

True, there are other kinds of transportation. But no other transport system handles everything from heavy machinery to zippers in lots of 100 carloads or 100 pounds.

Each year the Illinois Central spends many millions on new diesel locomotives, new freight cars, better rail, better signals, better ways of serving customers, old and new.

Bettering our service to industry helps you to enjoy more of the good things of everyday living in Mid-America.

Plan Community Drive To Aid Flood Victims

Organizations Hold Preliminary Meeting To Start Appeal

Ground was being laid in the Kankakee county today for a community-wide appeal for funds to aid the scores of victims of the past weekend's devastating floods.

A meeting was held at the Kankakee Chamber of Commerce this morning to explore the possibilities of carrying on such an appeal. The meeting was called by the Kankakee County chapter of Red Cross which is asking organizations, groups, churches, clubs, etc., in the community to join with it in the effort. Attending the meeting were representatives of many groups which have indicated they wish to participate in such an appeal.

Joe Berz is serving as general chairman of the effort with William Gohring as vice chairman.

Berz said that any civic, fraternal and veterans' organizations, churches, clubs and other groups in the community which wish to cooperate in the appeal should immediately contact the Kankakee County chapter of Red Cross, 183 N. Indiana Ave. (Telephone 3-6627).

HE SAID IT IS hoped that any organizations which have launched fund appeals for flood victims will cooperate with this community-wide effort.

Further meetings of committees are scheduled for the rest of the day as organizational plans are being made to begin the appeal as soon as possible.

Organizations which were represented at this morning's meeting and which have offered to supply workers for the appeal include the following: Kankakee Rotary, Kankakee Exchange, Kankakee Kiwanis, Bradley Ligns, Kankakee Lions, Zonta International, Kankakee Association of University Women, Salvation Army, Loyal Order of Moose, Knights of Columbus, Kankakee County Ministerial Association, Elks Lodge, Bradley Amvets, Kankakee American Legion, Kankakee American Legion Auxiliary, village of Bradley, village of Bourbonnais, city of Kankakee, Catholic churches represented by the Rt. Report Colombian Violence Toll 102

BOGOTA, Colombia (UP) — At least 102 persons were killed last week in a new eruption of violence throughout Colombia, according to reports today.

An official statement reported 89 deaths. Unofficial reports said an additional 22 persons were killed in "nuisance" attacks on the town of Cajamarca in the state of Tolima.

Interior Minister Jose Maria Villarreal recently expressed confidence that an agreement would soon be reached to normalize the situation in the eastern plains where large armed groups still are active.

No deaths of the various acts of violence were reported.

U. S. Winding Up Evidence In Tennessee Race Hearing

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Federal attorneys were calling the last key witnesses today in their effort to prove that 15 segregationists conspired to keep Negro students out of a previously all-white school in Clinton, Tenn.

"Proof is developing very nicely," said U.S. Dist. Atty. John C. Crawford Jr.

He had already put one of his big guns on the witness stand. (The Rev. Paul Turner, a Baptist minister, described how he was beaten — so that his blood spilled over a parking automobile — after he accompanied six Negro students to the school last Dec. 4.

Further details of that episode, possibly implicating persons yet unnamed, are still to come.

Other witnesses will fill in the story of the events leading up to the anti-integration violence in Clinton last fall.

ON TRIAL ARE 14 Tennesseans, including a woman, and Northern segregationist John Kasper, their alleged leader. The government accuses all 15 of "acting in concert" to prevent Negro students from attending the school. It charges they knowingly violated a federal injunction against such interference.

An all-white jury is hearing the case, now in its second week. Legal experts believe the outcome may have important bearing on other civil rights cases in the South.

In a low, composed voice, Turner described how he went to the Negro section of Clinton last Dec. 4 and escorted the Negro pupils to school. He said he had determined to see them safely to school.

"I didn't offer them protection," he testified. "I merely offered to walk with them as a witness of Christianity."

The minister said that when he first appeared near the school, a crowd there shouted, "Nigger lover." He said one of the defendants, Clyde Cook, 35, a fireman, came up to him and said,

Son Of Kidnap Figure Held By Hoosiers

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Louis D. Shoulders, 29, son of a key figure in the missing $300,000 Brinks Greenlease ransom money, was arrested here early today after police said he broke into a supermarket.

Lt. Jack Lake of the detective bureau said Shoulders was armed when officers grabbed him.

Shoulders is the son of former Police Lieutenant Louis Shoulders of St. Louis, who served a prison term for perjury, in connection with $300,000 missing after it was paid by a wealthy Kansas City auto dealer for the release of his kidnaped son. The boy was found dead.

LAKE SAID YOUNG Shoulders broke into the supermarket through the roof and set off a burglar alarm.

Lake said Shoulders climbed back out through the hole in the roof when the alarm went off and was jumping to the ground when officers arrived.

Shoulders was booked on a loitering charge pending the filing of more serious charges. His bond was set at $5,000.

Lake said Shoulders told him he was under indictment at St. Louis in the 1955 slaying of Bobbie Carr, an East St. Louis cab driver. The officer said Shoulders told him he was free under $25,000 bond in the case.

Heap Abuse On Fired Reds In Bulgaria

VIENNA (AP)—Satellite Bulgaria's press and radio today launched a campaign of denunciation against three top Communists expelled from party posts in the latest Soviet bloc purge.

Caught in the second satellite shakeup—Romania had one two weeks ago—were First Deputy Premier Georgi Tsankov, former Deputy Premier Dobri Terpeshev and former Gen. Nako Panov.

Tsankov was ousted from both the party's Central Committee and the Politburo. The others were thrown out of the Central Committee.

Announcing the shakeup, radio Sofia charged the three with "systematic opposition against the policy of the party and its political unity." The Kremlin used much the same words to denounce V. M. Molotov, Georgi Malenkov, L. M. Kaganovich and their associates who lost out for opposing Nikita Khrushchev's policies.

RADIO BUCHAREST indicated the Romanian purge is not over. It said: "The party is determined to unmask all enemies who oppose its policies."

Bulgaria is in such severe economic difficulties that thousands of its unemployed have been sent to Soviet Siberia to work.

It was expected that Tsankov, who is also chairman of the State Planning Commission, would be made the scapegoat for the economic distress.

Diplomatic observers in Vienna have suspected that the satellite purges are being used by the party bosses to get rid of rivals by accusing them of trying to split the party and by blaming them for economic failures.

Kankakee Truck Driver Involved In Fatal Crash

A 37-year-old Kankakee truck driver employed by a Chicago firm was involved in a fatal truck accident late Tuesday night near Sioth Bend, Ind. on the northern Indiana toll road. Joseph V. Stefani, of 305 W. Hickory St. was not injured.

Killed in the crash was 19-year-old Raymond D. Dugger, Chicago.

Steffani's wife said a Bradley man, Alfred Osmond, of 330 S. Forrest Ave., who is also a truck driver was traveling about 200 or 300 feet behind Steffani's truck which was heading for Cleveland.

Indiana state police said Dugger's car was stalled and partly on the pavement with the car door open. Dugger had one leg outside the car trying to get the motor running. The Steffani truck started to pass the stalled car, struck the door, knocking Dugger from the machine. He suffered a broken neck. Dugger's wife, Patricia and three other occupants of the car were not hurt.

Hoffa Denies Cheasty Scheme As Bribery–Conspiracy Trial Ends

WASHINGTON (AP) — Testimony ended today in the bribery-conspiracy trial of James R. Hoffa with the Midwest boss of the Teamsters Union insisting he never knew John Cye Cheasty worked for the Senate Rackets Committee.

The government contends—and Cheasty has testified—that Hoffa hired Cheasty to get a job on the staff of the committee and feed him confidential information on its operations.

Hoffa insisted he hired Cheasty only as a lawyer to help represent the Midwest Teamsters Conference at the hearings. Not until he himself was arrested on March 13, Hoffa said, did he know Cheasty worked for the committee.

EDWARD BENNETT Williams, Hoffa's lawyer, rested the defense case upon completion of cross-examination of Hoffa by Asst. U.S. Attys. Edward P. Tronsil. Final arguments are scheduled for Thursday.

Under cross-examining Hoffa, Tronsil suggested he wanted Cheasty to get information as to what witnesses from the Teamsters Union were to be called, when they would testify and what they would be asked about. Tronsil asked if that wasn't correct.

Hoffa, a Teamsters Union vice president is being tried on charges that he bribed Cheasty to get a job with the Senate Rackets Committee and feed its secrets to him.

Cheasty, the government's star witness in the case, already has testified he furnished Hoffa with information from committee files, but only after disclosing his identity and purpose to the committee and the FBI. He said he cooperated with both in events leading up to Hoffa's arrest.

HOFFA, TAKING the stand in his own defense Tuesday, said he had never had any discussion either with Cheasty or with Ithia I. Fischbach about Cheasty's getting a job with the committee.

"Mr. Cheasty was to be co-counsel with Mr. Fischbach," Hoffa testified.

Fischbach, a Miami attorney, was indicted jointly with Hoffa on the charge, but the government successfully moved for a mistrial in Fischbach's case last week when his attorney became ill.

Called as a defense witness, Fischbach refused to testify Tuesday because he still is subject to a later trial.

Hoffa said he decided to hire Fischbach as a lawyer for the Teamsters because of Fischbach's past experience as an attorney for various congressional committees.

He said Fischbach brought Cheasty to see him in Detroit and suggested that Cheasty be hired as co-counsel. He quoted Fischbach as saying they had worked together in the past on lawsuits and would make a fine working team.

Ike Against Use Of Force In Civil Rights

Says Talks By Zhukov, Wilson May Aid World

President Remains Firm On Enforcing Pacts Covering GIs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today he can not imagine any circumstances which would induce him to try to enforce school desegregation through use of troops.

The President's suggestion that a Zhukov-Wilson meeting might be worthwhile stemmed from a request for comment on the recent shakeup of the Kremlin top command.

On that point, Eisenhower said in his opinion the shakeup resulted from fundamental changes within the Soviet government.

Eisenhower recalled that he and Zhukov, now Soviet defense Minister, became quite well acquainted at the end of World War II. They were both in Berlin at the time.

The President went on to say that he and Zhukov at that time cooperated very closely, and that a Zhukov-Wilson meeting at this time might prove profitable by bringing together defense ministers of the two countries.

THE PRESIDENT also discussed these topics:

Atomic stockpile—As Secretary of State Dulles did Tuesday, Eisenhower said this country is considering the possibility of putting a stockpile of atomic weapons at the disposal of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

A reporter suggested that such a program might be illogical in the light of current disarmament talks. Eisenhower disagreed, saying NATO was created to help our allies defend themselves — and that the means and methods of doing so should be made available to them.

Manpower—The President also said there is no connection between the disarmament talks and Tuesday's Pentagon announcement that U. S. armed forces will be cut by 100,000 men by the end of this year.

Discussing the projected manpower reduction, Eisenhower said both he and Secretary Wilson believe the United States at present is a little stronger in manpower than is necessary. Just precisely how much, he said, is not yet clear.

HOOKED!

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)— James Scruggs, 45, of San Antonio, was charged Tuesday with casting a fish line through the window of a home and hauling in white shirts.

VERN GREENWELL, 10, of Dixmoor, describes the drowning of his brother and step-father for Matt Egan, Kankakee County deputy sheriff in Kankakee River State Park Tuesday. Vern was fishing with his brother, 7-year-old Jack, when Jack toppled into the swift river. Their step-father, Ted Wojcik, 32, perished in an effort to save his son. The search for the bodies of the two victims, who could not swim, continued today. (Journal photo)

Father, Son Drown In River At State Park

Authorities continued to probe the bodies of a boy and his step-father who drowned Tuesday.

Seven-year-old Jack Greenwell was fishing from a rocky ledge at State Park.

His step-father, Ted Wojcik, 32, of Dixmoor, fishing on the shore nearby, plunged into the water in an effort to save his son. Both were swept under the surface by the swift, swollen current.

Vern Greenwell, 10-year-old brother of Jack, said neither victim knew how to swim.

Vern was on the ledge with his brother when the tragedy took place, just before 2 p.m.

"I turned around, heard a splash, looked back and couldn't see my brother," he said.

THE BROTHER SAID he didn't catch sight of the boy again but did see his father step into the water. His father "groaned" and went under. Neither father or son appeared above the surface again.

The boy fell into the main stream of the river but the father entered a comparatively quiet stretch of water that covered what would normally be a part of the park's picnic area.

The Kankakee County sheriff's office, Aroma Park rescue squad and the Bourbonnais fire department started rescue operations shortly after the accident.

House Prepares To Vote On Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — House voting on foreign aid begins today with Eisenhower supporters expressing confidence they can beat off Democratic cut deeply into the overseas program.

The Foreign Affairs Committee recommended a ceiling of $3,343,355,000, about 600 million dollars below what President Eisenhower asked and 375 millions less than the Senate approved for the new fiscal year.

A motion by Rep. Selden (D-Ala) to knock out the long-term feature of a new economic development fund provided the main threat to the authorization bill. The Senate has approved the three-year plan Eisenhower proposed. Selden is seeking to cut it to one year.

Both House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) and Minority Leader Martin (R-Mass) urged passage of the measure without substantial change.

A MOVE TO TIE onto the aid bill a ban on foreign trials of Gis lost headway Tuesday when Rep. Bow (R-Ohio), chief architect of the proposal, announced he himself would not offer the amendment.

Bow told the House he believes only a watered-down version of his proposal would be ruled germane, or in order, on the aid authorization bill. He said he prefers that consideration of his proposal as a separate bill.

As approved by the Foreign Affairs Committee, the foreign aid bill would permit use of 500 million dollars a year for the next three years for a new loan for projects designed to promote economic development overseas.

Foreign aid officials say the long-range authority is essential to allow sounder planning for the projects.

Selden, seeking to strike out the 500 million dollars earmarked for the second and third years, said the 500 million dollars for the first year is enough to get the program started.

Can't Imagine When He'd Send Troops South

Backs Enforcement Without Jury Trial, Bill's Voting Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today he can not imagine any circumstances which would induce him to try to enforce school desegregation through use of troops.

Eisenhower stuck by his statement of Tuesday night that he wants four objectives met in any civil rights bill on which the Senate finally acts.

In the statement the President said he wants enforcement, without jury trial, of voting rights and similar enforcement of "other" civil rights.

He mentioned establishment of a civil rights investigating commission and the addition of a civil rights division in the Justice Department.

Eisenhower was asked at his news conference his attitude toward an amendment by Sens. Anderson (D-NM) and Aiken (R-Vt) which would knock out of the bill a provision under which school integration and desegregation in public places could be enforced by injunctive action.

He was asked if he would be satisfied with a bill which involved only voting rights.

Eisenhower replied that the voting rights aspect of the measure should be emphasized.

Eisenhower said he had been told by some experts that the section of the bill which authorizes injunctive action to enforce civil rights in general—sections 3— might involve great dangers.

A reporter pressed Eisenhower on the question whether he favors permitting the attorney general on his own motion to go into court to enforce school integration.

NO, THE PRESIDENT replied, when it is stated that way, without some request from local authorities for action.

Ahead of Eisenhower's discussion of civil rights, Republican senators held a closed-door strategy session to plan for the all-out fight now under way in the Senate.

One senator, who came from the meeting while it was still under way told a reporter:

"No compromises have been proposed or agreed upon. We are discussing all phases of the bill."

With the critical battle touched off, President Eisenhower reaffirmed his support of all the basic provisions of the bill.

Eisenhower's statement was issued by the White House within minutes after the Senate voted 71-

Ike Tells Why Lid Must Be Kept On Files

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today incalculable damage could result from opening up confidential FBI files to defendants in court cases.

Eisenhower made that comment when asked at his news conference how the administration stands in its attitude on FBI files with its action in disclosing a confidential statement made by William S. Girard. Girard is the Army specialist turned over to Japan for trial in the killing of a Japanese woman.

Eisenhower said the government has always been willing to make available specific secret FBI papers to defendants who could show in court that the statements of a trial witness differed from evidence he had previously given.

WHAT THE government opposes, Eisenhower said, is the opening up of confidential FBI files. He said as many as 15 people might be mentioned in a single individual's file, and some of them might be described as skunks or worse.

Eisenhower said it would cause incalculable damage to just open up the FBI's files.

As for the Girard case, Eisenhower said he had refrained from commenting on the matter and he thinks public any comment or story information because he did not want to prejudice Girard's chances in the trial.

But he said that when the government was required to go to the Supreme Court to sustain its decision to turn Girard over to Japan for trial, certain information from making public any documentary information because he did not want to prejudice Girard's chances in the trial.

Committee Okays $1½ Billion In U.S. Water Projects

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Public Works Committee today approved a bill to authorize future construction of numerous water projects costing slightly less than 1½ billion dollars.

As reported to the House by the committee, the bill carries authorization totaling $1,456,461,200, a cut of nearly 100 million from the bill as it passed the Senate earlier this year.

The bill is quite similar to one which Congress passed last year but which President Eisenhower subsequently vetoed.

Vetoing the measure last year Eisenhower said he had two objections:

That Army engineer reports on numerous projects hadn't yet been completed; that some of the projects should not be authorized, and that in some instances local interests should make larger contributions toward construction of the projects.

Rep. Davis (D-Tenn), chairman of the subcommittee handling the bill, said it now has only 18 projects objected to by the administration, compared with 47 per cent of the total in the bill, compared with 27½ per cent a year ago.

Teamster Freed In Bribe Case

PORTLAND, Ore. —The head of the Teamsters Union in Oregon was acquitted Tuesday night of a charge of conspiracy to receive a bribe while serving as a Portland city commissioner.

Clyde C. Crosby dropped his head on his chest when the verdict was announced, closed his eyes momentarily and then flashed a broad grin at the jury.

The State Circuit Court jury of seven women and five men deliberated 2 hours and 40 minutes before returning the unanimous verdict of not guilty. The jury took only one vote.

Thus ended the latest major trial stemming from Portland's lengthy vice investigation.

Crosby, the Teamsters' international representative in Oregon, had been charged with conspiring to place the site of an eight-million-dollar sports center here. The prosecution said Crosby and others conspired to obtain property options at the site.

Bourbonnais To Move Sign At Danger Spot

A recommendation by Bourbonnais Police Chief Bernard Schore that the location of a stop sign at the intersection of Routes 113-N and 45 in Bourbonnais be changed was approved by the village board at its regular meeting Tuesday night.

Schore, acting on the suggestion of the state highway engineer, recommended the sign on Route 113N be moved to the north side of River street instead of just south of the River street intersection as is now the case. It has been the site of numerous stop sign violations.

In order to provide better vision at the intersection, a resolution was passed prohibiting parking on both sides of Route 113N for 400 feet north of the intersection with River street and Route 45.

The board also approved a recommendation by Albert Lafine, chairman of the police committee, that a special fund be set up in the general fund as a police fund to show receipts from police fines. The money will be available for general village purposes, as specified in the resolution.

A report from the Illinois Department of Revenue for April showed sales tax collections of $265.63 less $15.94 for administration for receipts to the village of $249.69.

The monthly financial report as of June 30 showed a balance of $2,520.06 in the contingent fund, $2,267.30 in the general fund, a deficit of $794.68 in the road and a deficit of $4,360.33 in the road and bridge account. The overall general fund including the four listed accounts showed a net balance of $32.35.

In separate accounts, the water and sewer fund showed a balance of $1,438.15, the motor fuel tax fund a balance of $2,437.90 and the street improvement bond and interest account $1,670.89.

NEWLY ELECTED AND appointed officers of the Masonic Lodge were installed Tuesday at 8 p.m. Ray M. Gault, new worshipful master, is shown here receiving the gavel from the retiring master, Lawrence McFarland. New officers were elected and appointed several weeks ago. (Journal photo)

THE 43-YEAR-OLD Crosby said he favored the Broadway-steel bridge site here. That was where, the state said, the options were obtained.

But the commission charged with selecting a site chose another location, only to have the Broadway area picked at a general election.

The prosecution told the jury in its closing argument that its entire case rested on the testimony of racketeer Ray Elkins.

Elkins had testified that Crosby was in on a plot to obtain options at the Broadway site. Crosby denied the charge from the witness stand.

Of the major trials thus far in the probe, two have ended in verdicts of innocent. Earlier, Mayor Terry Schrunk was acquitted of a perjury charge.

Masonic Lodge Has Installation

Ray M. Gault, 344 S. Evergreen Ave., was installed as worshipful master of the Masonic Lodge here at ceremonies in the Masonic Temple at 8 p.m.

Gault was escorted to his station by a group of Job Daughters, led by Queen Gaylene Mosley.

Other elected and appointed officers also installed were: David B. Bain, senior warden; John R. Fulmer, junior warden; Clyde O. Costello, treasurer; Glendon P. Channel, secretary; and Lawrence S. McFarland, chaplain.

Also, Harold H. Wilfang, senior deacon; William H. Bossert, junior deacon; Burton E. Taylor, senior steward; Dean Mueller, junior steward; Fenton E. Pilotte, marshal; and Thomas C. Jefferson, tyler.

Installing officers were Humphrey Christensen, Stanton G. Manner, the Very Rev. James G. Parker and Edward J. McFarland.

Organist for the ceremony was Elwin L. McCray.

Issues 22 Building Permits

Building inspector Richard Tyson of Kankakee issued 22 permits for construction valued at $74,685 during the first 15 days of July.

The largest project was for construction of five storage tanks valued at $38,000 by A. L. Book & Co., 600 N. Entrance Ave., grain elevator operators.

Permits for two new homes, valued at $26,000, were issued to Bud Campbell of Duane street in Sunnyside and Elmer Brinkman of N. Hammes avenue.

Northern Illinois Gas Co. was issued a permit to construct a radio transmitter valued at $1,000.

U.S. Not To Cut Down Payments On Homes Until Fall

WASHINGTON (UP) — Administration sources said today the government will not immediately lower down payments on federal-backed home loans despite new authority to do so.

The sources said FHA Commissioner Lowell P. Mason will issue a statement later this week refusing to lower down payments at least until next fall because of inflationary dangers.

The administration had been considering an immediate cut as authorized under legislation recently signed by President Eisenhower.

Husband Kills Wife With Animal Shots

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A second degree murder charge was placed against the superintendent of the Daytona Beach humane society after he admitted he jabbed into his wife's stomach two shots of an anaesthetic he kept to kill "small kittens and dogs."

Walter R. Hoffman, 44, said Tuesday the act followed a day of beer drinking. He told State Atty. W. W. Judge he made the injections as his wife sat "sagging in a chair." He said he had no idea why he did it.

"MY WIFE was the best woman in the world," Hoffman told the state attorney. "That's why I can't understand any of this I've been begging the Lord to give me an answer."

Mrs. Hoffman died an hour after the shots were injected.

Hoffman said he was haunted by the trust and friendliness of animals he had been forced to put to sleep.

"Something may have gone wrong with me somewhere because it's really bothered me, putting those animals to sleep," Hoffman said. Hoffman is also the city warden.

Committee Split On 100,000 Troop Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three members of the Senate Armed Services Committee said today they want to take a closer look at a Pentagon order for a 100,000-man reduction in the armed forces authorized by Congress.

Their comments came as two members of the House Appropriations Committee — Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) and Rep. Mahon (D-Tex) — generally approved the reduction.

SECRETARY of Defense Wilson, acting with President Eisenhower's approval, announced the cut Tuesday to be effective by the end of 1957. He said it would save about two million dollars "without materially affecting deployments of major combat units abroad, including those in Western Europe."

Chairman Russell (D-Ga) of the Senate committee said he had not been informed in advance of the reduction plans.

He said he can't see how the committee could wait to find out what these reductions will mean in the Air Force and its striking power."

Sen. Francis Case (R-SD), another committee member, said he wants to know "how much of a reduction this means in our combat power."

The Army was ordered to absorb half the cut, or 50,000, the department's two top officers said.

Ordinarily, that would clear the decks for Senate action on a House-passed measure to permit increased Lake Michigan diversion by Chicago.

But the bill, vigorously sought by Illinois members of Congress and just as vigorously opposed by lawmakers from other Great Lakes states, appears to be caught in the civil rights logjam.

WATER DIVERSION bills were vetoed by President Eisenhower in 1954 and 1956, and he stressed Canadian objections in last year's veto message.

The State Department spokesman declined to say whether Canada has withdrawn its objections as a result of the talks.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) today expressed the belief that the measure would clear the Senate this year. Backers of the bill have maintained that increased diversion is needed as soon as possible for Chicago's huge sewage system and to aid navigation along the Illinois waterway.

Opponents have replied that the proposed additional diversion of 1,000 cubic feet a second would hurt Great Lakes shipping

"should find out from the Department of Defense just what their long-range plan is."

Russell said he believed "some limited reduction in our armed forces might be warranted."

Cannon said: "There is no need for so much manpower and more reductions can be made. We fight nowadays with chemicals and machinery rather than in hand-to-hand combat."

Mahon, chairman of the House Appropriations Subcommittee which handles defense funds, called it "a good move that won't hurt defense."

U.S., Canada Finish Talks On Diversion

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Department talks with Canada about the touchy subject of diverting more water from Lake Michigan have been concluded, a department spokesman said today.

Ordinarily, that would clear the decks for Senate action on a House-passed measure to permit increased Lake Michigan diversion by Chicago.

But the bill, vigorously sought by Illinois members of Congress and just as vigorously opposed by lawmakers from other Great Lakes states, appears to be caught in the civil rights logjam.

MARTINTON (JNS)— Martinton is trying to clean up from the worst flood experienced here.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Whalen on N. Third street, and the Harold McGill family on W. South street were forced from their homes because of the flood.

Nearly all of the basements were flooded. In the country, the damage to crops cannot be estimated.

The Church of Christ was completely surrounded by water. Sunday morning services were held in the parsonage. The attendance was small because of flooded roads and streets.

Moderation And Civil Rights

Civil rights legislation seemingly has the best chance of becoming some sort of law this year that it has had in almost 100 years. Reason appear to be:

There are forces both for and against such legislation which are tending to moderation. On the side of northern liberals, for instance, there are some who are frankly uneasy at the scope of the bill passed by the House. They are lending weight to the more moderate version in the Senate.

On the side of southern conservatives, there are those who recognize widespread seeds of impatience over the fact that a southern minority should be able to enforce its will for so many years. There is a feeling that a strategic retreat is in order lest a heading retreat be enforced in the future.

Moreover, the civil rights issue has taken on strong political overtones. Republican Party managers feel their side has made substantial gains in the past few years. They see gains in the ranks of the Negro populations in big cities. They see the possibility of further gains treat is in order lest a headlong retreat in the south.

The Republican Party can present a reasonably united front on the issue of civil rights, while Democrats find themselves sharply divided.

Northern Democrats are under pressure to support the civil rights proposals. But their party has been entrenched in the south for almost 100 years, since a radical Republican Congress overrode the conciliatory program of Abraham Lincoln following the war between the states.

Democrats in both north and south are acutely aware of their problem. They are looking for some compromise that will be satisfactory to the northern wing and will not be too unsatisfactory to the southern faction.

In this explosive issue that nation has a testing ground for the forces of democracy which, at their best, provide for peaceful change enforced by the weight of opinion rather than at the point of bayonets.

Summer Calls For Brake Check

Since no car is safer than its brakes, motorists will do well in summer to be particularly careful about the evaporation of brake fluid, which may cause brakes to fail in emergency.

Brake systems of most modern cars require heavy-duty fluid. Repeated stopping at high speeds frequently raises fluid temperature to the point where moderate-duty fluid will thin out and evaporate.

When new cars are delivered, the brake systems are filled with heavy-duty fluid. During servicing, however, sometimes moderate-duty fluid may be added, lowering the evaporation point drastically. It is up to the motorist to protect himself by having brake systems handled by a reliable mechanic.

Swerving to one side when brakes are applied, loss of the cushion effect or positive action and squeaks in the brakes or the brake pedal are all symptoms requiring the immediate attention of a qualified mechanic.

Safety in a car is a matter of stop and go—especially the "stop"!

Rabies Still Too Prevalent

DANVILLE COMMERCIAL NEWS

A surprising number of people are still being being bitten by dogs. Reports of such incidents appear frequently in this paper. Aside from the pain and the annoyance, the danger of rabies is already present.

Campaigns to get all dogs vaccinated have reduced the number of human deaths over the years, but there are still too many. An article in the Journal of the American Medical Association reports that eight persons died of rabies last year.

Dogs are not the only carriers of rabies. Cats, over which people have less control than dogs, also have it. So do foxes, skunks, bats, squirrels and other animals. But dogs transmit it to humans through bites more often than do the other carriers.

Anyone who owns a dog should assume this responsibility to society by keeping in confined or having it vaccinated, or both.

By Rep. Leslie C. Arends

Economy All Right For Other Fellow

By a record vote of 230-183 the House defeated our amendment to strike from a military construction bill an extraneous provision giving either house of Congress "veto power" over the secretary of defense in terminating, or even reducing, any commercial or industrial-type activity owned and operated by the Department of Defense.

Both in our Committee on Armed Services and on the floor of the House we vigorously, but unsuccessfully, opposed this restrictive provision of the program to take the federal government out of competition with private enterprise. It simply doesn't make sense for the Defense Department to be operating paint and rope manufacturing plants, to be running laundries and dry cleaning establishments, and such things as shoe and jewelry repair shops. Why should the cost of such activities be defrayed by taxpayers, and particularly when they are in competition with small business which can do the work at less cost?

The Hoover Commission reported that there were over 2,500 such activities in the Department of Defense, constituting a capital investment of around $15 billion. Wherever practical the Secretary of Defense has been terminating and reducing them. In the last fiscal year he did so in 500 instances. And in so doing he has doubtless received complaints from members of Congress who districts were affected and from the government employes who thereby lost their jobs.

IT IS THE SAME old story. Every one is for economy so long as it doesn't affect him in any way. Every one is for getting the government out of business rightfully belonging to private enterprise so long as it is not a government activity from which he, or the community where located, derives special benefit.

That is why we find this "veto" provision written into the bill. As we characterized it during the debate on the floor of the House, it is nothing more or less than a political provision. In not the secretary of defense better qualified to determine what can and should be terminated on a basis of actual need and costs? Of course, the Congress, through the Committee on Armed Services, can and should review whatever is done. But there is no sound reason whatever for the Congress having actual "veto power" over the secretary's decisions which would only serve to impede and obstruct.

If the Congress should have the "veto power" in this respect, carried to its logical conclusions one might say that it should have "veto power" over other decisions made by the secretary of defense in the operation of his department. That would be chaotic. But if the principle is sound in one respect, why is it not sound in other respects? It constitutes a violation of a fundamental Constitutional principle that each branch of the government is separate and coequal, and one should not transgress upon the functions of the other.

We lost that fight, but, it may yet be won before the bill is finally enacted. It now all depends upon what the Senate does.

WE WON: Thanks to the Senate, one fight recently won was in the Agriculture Appropriation Bill.

As passed by the House, the bill did not provide funds for continuation of the soil bank program, but these funds were restored in the Senate and the House has receded from its position.

As we have many times said, we do not contend that the soil bank is the complete answer to the farm problem. But we do believe that it should be given at least one full year trial. Should there prove to be defects in the program, they can be corrected; or, if the program as a whole proves to be a failure, we can develop some alternative or substitute.

We won the fight for a, "fair trial" insofar as the soil bank is concerned. In the meantime, there should be a complete review of our whole agriculture program. Secretary of Agriculture Benson has already pointed out some of its inadequacies.

Manners For Moderns

The man who is such a TV fan that he hushes his wife and children every time they open their mouths is rude. He is saying, in effect, that the TV set is more important than his own family.

Wives and children who never get to talk to the head of the family except during commercials have a right to feel ignored.

"He Worked for Us Once—Let Him Work Again"

By David Lawrence

Congress Has Power Over Supreme Court

WASHINGTON—This is the week when the American Bar Association is meeting in New York, and already there are the usual tirades against those lawyers and laymen who have had the temerity to criticize recent decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States.

The misleading theory that the Supreme Court is the "last word" and that, once the court has spoken, there is no right of criticism or any opportunity to secure a reversal has been widely propagated.

LAWRENCE

Actually, Congress has authority over the Supreme Court and can nullify its decisions at will in many instances by the simple method of specifying by law what cases the Supreme Court may or may not pass upon thereafter. The Constitution says:

"In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a state shall be party, the Supreme Court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned, the Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions, and under such regulations as the Congress shall make."

This means that Congress can issue a set of "regulations" in which it can be stipulated, for example, that the Supreme Court may not review or accept for appeal any cases involving testimony taken by committees of Congress relating to contempt or refusal to answer.

THE CONGRESS ALSO could by law specify that no cases shall be received by the Supreme Court for appeal involving local law-enforcement problems, such as the right of the federal government or a state or city or county government to question before or after arraignment persons arrested and suspected of crime. Congress can specify that these shall be hereafter decided by lower courts or specially constituted tribunals.

It is not generally realized that Congress has the power to create or abolish lower courts. The Constitution says:

"The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one Supreme Court, and in such inferior courts as the Congress may from time to time ordain and establish. The judges, both of the Supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior, and shall, at stated times, receive for their services a compensation which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office."

NOT ONLY DOES THE Congress have power to specify by law what "good behavior" means but also what the District Courts and the U.S. Circuit Courts of Appeals shall rule upon. Through its power to "ordain and establish" special courts, Congress can deal with particular problems that may arise. The Constitution, indeed, gives a very narrow jurisdiction over cases to the Supreme Court and gives the widest jurisdiction to Congress to declare what cases the highest court may properly undertake.

If, therefore, the Congress wishes to pass a law stating that the Supreme Court shall not review any cases involving schools or educational problems, this can be done without violating the Constitution. Education can be left to state courts, and, when a federal question arises, it can be given to federal district courts for final judgment.

The people, therefore, have a right to appeal to their elected representatives in Congress to take steps to curb what they believe is the recklessness and arbitrariness of the Supreme Court. It is an inherent right which the people have to express themselves on these points.

CERTAINLY THE RIGHT to criticize cannot be denied to the people when the members of the court itself exercise that privilege. It was Justice Clark of the Supreme Court who on June 17 last, in a dissenting opinion in the Watkins case, said:

"As I see it the chief fault in the majority opinion is its mischievous curbing of the informing function of the Congress. My experience in the executive branch of the government leads me to believe that the requirements laid down in the opinion for the operation of the committee system of inquiry are both unnecessary and unworkable."

Here is a justice who tells the nation that the investigative function of Congress itself has been seriously interfered with. He calls this "mischievous." Yet there are persons who claim that what the Supreme Court has said is sacrosanct and that anyone who criticizes the court is out of order. One President of the United States has said in a public speech that the decisions of the Supreme Court are not "irrevocable." Another President, also in a speech said:

"Our difficulty with the court today rises not from the court as an institution but from human beings within it. We have reached the point as a nation where we must take action to save the Constitution from the court and the court from itself. The court, in addition to its proper use of its judicial functions, has improperly set itself up as a third house of the Congress—a super-legislative, as one of the justices has called it—reading into the Constitution words and implications which are not there, and which were never intended to be there."

Certainly this is a legitimate form of criticism, and certainly there still is a right to differ and dissent from so-called "judicial" opinions as well as from presidential utterances.

Grim Survival Picture

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Next to President Eisenhower's scheduled escape from Washington by helicopter, the loudest pin dropped in this year's "Operation Alert" Civil Defense Administration test is its issuance with the Atomic Energy Commission of a new handbook on "The Effects of Nuclear Weapons."

In brief, it is 579 pages of bad news, any way you look at it.

This paper-backed volume—which you can buy for $2 like any other losing horse—replaces a 1950 handbook on "The Effects of Atomic Weapons." The change in title is significant.

Seven years ago the worst thing they had to be afraid of was an atom fission bomb the equivalent of 20,000 tons of TNT in explosive force. Two bombs of this size, exploded over Japan, killed "only" 100,000 people.

But on March 1, 1954, the first hydrogen fusion bomb was exploded over Bikini with a force equivalent to 15 million tons of TNT and a radioactive fallout that covered 7,000 square miles. That made the original weapons effect handbook obsolete.

MOST OF THE INFORMATION in the new nuclear weapons job has been issued before by AEC or CDA in bits and pieces. Now it is pulled together to give you all the gloom in one package.

There are brand-new chapters on "Worldwide Fallout," which could be terrible, and on "Protective Measures" that can be taken, which aren't very many and won't do much good.

The new handbook makes no mention of the so-called "clean" bomb, which is still pretty theoretical. What it has to say is all about dirty bombs. This should be taken seriously — particularly in Civil Defense Test Week—but, it probably won't be so taken.

The general impression from previous releases is that the worst effects of fallout from an H-bomb would be in areas up to 40 miles wide and 200 miles long, downwind from ground zero point of explosion. This local fallout is described as ceasing to be a serious hazard within a few weeks.

BUT THERE IS ANOTHER form of fallout, says the handbook. It consists of very fine material suspended in the air for from a few days to years. This may be deposited in parts of the earth remote from the point of burst. This is "worldwide fallout."

The major part of this fallout is moved by the winds at high altitude. In general, it is carried in an easterly direction.

It makes a complete circuit of the globe in four to seven weeks. Only 10 per cent of this debris descends to earth annually.

Rain and snow are the principal scavengers that bring it down. Its two worst hazards are the radioactive isotopes Cesium 137, which is deposited in muscles, and Strontium 90, deposited in bones.

Strontium 90 may lead to anemia, cancer and possibly lukefnia.

"If nuclear tests are carried out in the future at about the same rate as in the past," says the new handbook, "the long-term biological effects of Strontium 90 will not be detectable." On this point, many other scientists differ greatly.

THE MOST EFFECTIVE but not necessarily the most practical method of minimizing the danger of nuclear weapons, says the handbook, would be by dispersal and underground construction.

Evacuation—removal of the population from a contaminated area—is by no means simple because it involves passage without protection through contaminated areas.

It may be that the best initial step is to seek shelter in relatively closed areas, but the handbook admits that "an ideal shelter is virtually impossible to attain."

Such shelters as can be found may have to be occupied continuously from two to seven days. Food and water supplies should be kept covered to prevent access of fallout particles.

'Dig' For New Drugs

Sometimes you really have to dig for new medicines.

That is exactly what representatives of various pharmaceutical firms are doing throughout the world. In fact, one of the larger drug manufacturers has some 1,300 salesmen, plus hundreds of volunteer employes, collecting soil samples in an unending search for new antibiotics.

The earth already has yielded numerous medical remedies which, when combined with man's scientific skills, have helped cure the ills of its inhabitants.

The antibiotic Chloromycetin is one example. Soil used in its discovery was South American.

Here is the way one pharmaceutical house gets soil examples.

The salesmen and other employes collect soil from any spot they choose—a field, a backyard, in the midst of a forest. One salesman collector in the western area sent in a sample taken "from the fifth tee at the Washoe County Golf Course" at Reno, Nev.

Another came from the flower garden of a Bermuda hotel.

Most soil contains three classes of microscopic plants—molds, bacteria and actinomycetes—and anywhere from five to 20 species of each class.

At the laboratory these samples are put through a long process which includes two incubation periods and two phases of agitation on a shaking machine.

Each species is isolated, grown in test tubes and tested against various bacteria to determine its ability to inhibit growth of specific types of bacteria. Less than a third prove active. Then follows chemical and biological investigation.

Tests are made on animals and a year or longer is required to make certain the antibiotic will not adversely affect human. All together, it may take three or four years to develop a new antibiotic after the soil sample is received.

You never know which will produce a new medicine. Maybe your backyard contains the cure for one of mankind's most dreaded diseases.

ALLERGY OR JUST FANTASY

Your mind can do some strange things.

We know for a fact that this tension often triggers an allergic attack.

But we also have reason to suspect that anxiety and tension alone will produce allergic symptoms in a person who apparently has no real allergy. Numerous experiments seem to bear this out.

In certain persons, the problems and challenges met in everyday life are enough to initiate body disturbances identical to those produced by allergens. This means that actual asthmatic attacks may be brought about simply by troublesome situations, even though the person is not allergic to the usual foreign proteins which bother asthmatics.

Perhaps it is the illness of a child, loss of a job or some grave domestic difficulty. Quite often a disturbance, strong enough to produce an allergic reaction, is unconsciously associated with feelings of guilt, resentment or remorse.

Not only do such situations bring the familiar wheezing and coughing of an asthmatic, they frequently produce nasal congestion and redness as well.

Some individuals are allergic to milk; many more simply think they are.

In some instances, skin tests indicate a patient may be allergic to milk. Then, after knowingly drinking the liquid, this person reacts accordingly, with nausea and abdominal discomfort.

I recall one case in particular, that of a middle-aged woman.

During an experiment, when she was given water and advised that it was milk, she promptly showed all her previous symptoms. Yet when given milk and told it was water, she developed no symptoms at all.

And you think we doctors know all the answers!

Batter Up, It's Blueberry Time

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

BLUEBERRY GRIDDLE CAKES are a summer favorite at our house for Sunday breakfasts. We never mind preparing them because we bake them on an electric skillet right at the table. When the weather's right, breakfast is served on patio or porch and then skillet and electric coffee-maker are easily transported and plugged into outdoor outlets.

Along with the pancakes go maple syrup, of course, and crisp bacon slices. We usually cook the bacon in the electric skillet in the kitchen while we are putting together the pancake batter; then we pour off the bacon fat because we like to use a little butter or margarine in the skillet for baking the griddle cakes. If you want a change from bacon, you'll find a grilled ham steak is also a delicious go-along.

This recipe for griddle cakes calls for a cup of fresh blueberries that sometimes by the time we have come to ladling out the batter for the last two or three cakes, there aren't any berries left in it. So we throw in some extra berries and everyone is satisfied.

Although these griddle cakes are the regulation large ones, each made with ⅓ cup batter, they're definitely on the light and airy side.

BLUEBERRY GRIDDLE CAKES
Ingredients: 1½ cups sifted flour, 2½ teaspoons double-acting baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, 2 eggs (separated), 1¼ cups milk, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine (melted), 1 cup blueberries.
Method: Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Beat egg whites with rotary beater (hand or electric) until they hold peaks that flop over slightly when beater is slowly withdrawn. Without washing beater, beat egg yolks and milk together until combined. Add sifted dry ingredients and melted butter and stir quickly together just until flour mixture is moistened. Fold in beaten egg whites and blueberries. Cook on a hot lightly greased griddle or skillet, allowing about ¼ cup batter for each griddle cake. Turn to brown other side when bubbles form over surface. Makes about 14 pancakes, each about 4 inches across.

HOT OFF THE GRIDDLE—But the cook keeps cool because these delicious blueberry pancakes are made in an electric skillet plugged into a porch or patio outlet.

Enter Injunction Here Against License Service

An injunction was entered here Tuesday in Circuit Court forbidding the Kankakee LiEense and Title Service to sell stock "unless and until" a registration or qualification of the shares has been made under the state securities law.

The suit was not contested by the service or its three incorporators, Cleon A. Gillespie, Donald Swearingen and George A. Walter.

Illinois Sec. of State Charles Carpentier previously issued a similar order.

Gillespie has pleaded innocent to charges of embezzling funds from the corporation while he was president.

Victor N. Cardosi, assistant attorney general, appeared in the case on behalf of Attorney General Latham Castle.

Circuit Judge C. D. Henry granted the injunction.

They held the picnic dinner in Mann's Park.

THERE WAS no service Sunday evening in the Presbyterian Church. The Rev. W. Werneke of Watseka was unable to travel here due to high water at Watseka.

Rule Accidental Death In Kankakee Boy's Electrocution

DWIGHT (JNS) — Accidental death by electrocution was the verdict of a Livingston County coroner's jury Monday night in the case of Bruce Jay St. Pierre, 20, of 1680 E. Emory St., Kankakee.

The inquest was held in the Dwight Village Hall under the direction of Coroner Vernon Vaughn.

St. Pierre was electrocuted Friday afternoon while working as a line crewman for the Public Service Co. The accident, which occurred three miles south of Reddick, hospitalized Eldon Hertz, 25, of 678 S. Evrgreen Ave., Kankakee, with shock and burns of the right arm and cheek. He is reported in good condition in St. Mary's Hospital.

Hertz was unable to be present for the inquest. However, members of the crew, with which he and the deceased were working, testified.

According to the testimony, both boys had their hands on a pole they were guiding into a hole some two feet away from an old pole, which was to be replaced. The top of the new pole came in contact with a 7,200-volt power line and flashed a charge.

The three other members of the crew tried to free Hertz and St. Pierre, using a pike pole, which has a hook attached. The arms of both men gripped the pole like vises. They were able to free Hertz first.

St. Pierre was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold St. Pierre. His father is a commercial engineer with the Public Service Co. Young St. Pierre, who would have been a junior at DePauw University, was spending the summer working on the line crew.

On the coroner's jury were T. O. Pattern, foreman, Fred Peterson, Kenneth Jensen, Glenn Bloxam, Elmer Leopold and Chris Fredensborg, all of Dwight.

In Congress for ending status of forces treaties, requiring foreign trials for American servicemen in some instances, Eisenhower made it emphatically clear he is against any such move.

The status of forces treaties are absolutely essential, he said, adding that without such alliances we would be compelled to bring home American troops stationed abroad.

Eisenhower also said that he believes the case of Army Specialist 3C. William S. Girard has been whipped up all out of proportion to its importance. Girard is charged with firing a shell casing which killed a Japanese woman.

The Defense Department decided to turn Girard over to a Japanese court for trial and the Supreme Court last week upheld that decision.

"Preacher, what business have you got coming up here?"

The clergyman quoted Alonzo Bullock, one of the defendants who is a carpenter and itinerant preacher, as saying, "If a lot of these nigger lovers would keep their nose out of things that aren't their business things would be all right."

HE SAID HE walked the Negro students to the school through "heckling," and saw them safely inside and came out.

The beating occurred after that.

Defense lawyers battled strenuously to keep this part of the story away from the jury.

They argued that, once Turner left the school grounds, he was beyond the scope of the federal injunction against interference. One accused him, rather than the 15, of being the instigator of the troubles.

U.S. Dist. Judge Robert L. Taylor heard all the arguments — they took up long moments — and then overruled defense objections.

Turner then described how, across the street from the school, Cook "jumped me." He said he held Cook at arm's length, meanwhile backing rapidly toward a wall.

There, he said, someone — so far unidentified — pinned his arms against his sides so that he was powerless. Cook hit him on the nose, he said.

"The impact separated us by some eight feet," he said.

18 and 21 have to take up the legislation for debate and action.

"That's good," exclaimed Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn), a leading supporter of the bill, when he saw the President's statement. Other senators backing the measure also hoped it would stiffen resistance to compromise moves.

Sen. Potter (R-Mich) said he didn't think more than five or six Republican senators would vote for any amendments to the administration bill, passed by the House last month.

But Sen. Russell (D-Ga) said the Southern opponents he is leading "were prepared to expend the greatest effort ever made in history to prevent passage of this bill in its present form."

The Dixie forces already have drawn support outside their own ranks, from Democrats and Republicans alike, to delete or modify key features of the bill.

BUT IF THEY fail in that effort, they still will be free to filibuster against the bill — a last-resort course with which they have blocked all civil rights measures in the past.

To choke off a filibuster takes the votes of 64 senators — two thirds of the entire membership.

In rapid-fire order Tuesday, after eight days of debate, the Senate voted to take up the House-passed bill and then rejected 54-35 a motion of Sen. Morse (D-Ore) to send the measure to its Judiciary Committee for a week's study.

This cleared the decks for getting down to action on the bill itself and the various amendments already proposed.

Sen. Anderson (D-NM) immediately called up an amendment he and Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) have offered to strike out Section 3 of the bill. Under this provision injunctions could be obtained to prevent interference with a number of civil rights—the right to vote being just one of them.

Another section of the bill, left untouched by Anderson's and Aiken's amendment, similarly would empower the attorney general to obtain federal court injunctions against violations or threatened violations of voting rights.

Persons accused of disobeying injunctions obtained by the government could be convicted and jailed for contempt of court without a jury trial.

Other parts of the bill would establish a civil rights division in the Justice Department and create a bipartisan presidential commission to make a general two-year study of the protection of civil rights.

Pontiff Ailing From Infection, Delays Vacation

VATICAN CITY (UP) — Pope Pius XII is suffering from a "slight indisposition" that will delay his Saturday departure for his summer villa at Castel Gandolfo, Vatican sources said today.

The sources said the Pope is suffering from a tooth infection which resulted in the swelling of his lips.

The sources emphasized the indisposition is slight and that it gives no cause for concern for the 81-year-old Pontiff. But they said the treatment may force him to postpone his trip for a few days.

The Pope attended the customary Wednesday general audience in St. Peters today but papal gendarmes asked photographers not to take pictures. The audience lasted only 25 minutes, much shorter than usual.

Earlier Vatican sources said the Pope had advanced the date of his departure for Castel Gandolfo by 10 days to beat the stifling Rome heat which has sent temperatures into the 90s and left more than 200 persons dead in a countrywide heat wave.

The Pope is expected to remain at his walled castle-like villa overlooking placid Lake Aubane in the Alban Hills, 15 miles southeast of Rome, until late in the fall.

Shops For Baby Clothes, Has Tot

DETROIT (UP) — Mrs. Michael Madin, 26, expecting her first child next month, went downtown to shop for baby clothes Tuesday and not a moment too soon.

Mrs. Madin, of suburban Dearborn, gave birth to a 6-pound, 8-ounce girl in a bus station washroom.

Mother and child were taken to a hospital by a police car. Both are reported doing fine.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Brunner and family of Fort Worth, Tex., were weekend guests of Brunner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Brunner. Roger will remain with his grandparents for a two-week visit.

Jack Olson of Janesville, Wis., spent the weekend visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Thiede.

Gardner School District Elects Board Of Directors

GARDNER (JNS) — A board of directors for the newly-organized Gardner Grade School District were elected Tuesday.

The new district is a consolidation of the Garden Grade School and the Danish Grade School districts.

Elected to office were James Morris, 142 votes; Genzel D. Ollar, 140; Bernard Carlsen, 135; Harry Tjelle, 124; Mrs. Virginia Mehochko, 150; William L. Treasurer, 120, and Eugene Hillman, 147. There were eight candidates for the seven board vacancies. Mrs. Beryl Wright lost in her bid with 90 votes.

Morris, Ollar, Carlson and Tjelle had been members of the old Gardner Grade School District board of directors.

A total of 174 votes were cast in the election.

The Danish Grade School, which has not been in use during the last three or four years, is located three miles southwest of Gardner. Children who would have attended that school are now attending the Gardner school.

The two districts were consolidated during an election last Spring. The Gardner School District held an election of board members in April. The consolidation made a new election necessary.

the river. Each had to be tied to a tree on shore to prevent the boat from being swept downstream.

Sheriff James Laffey said that spectators hampered rescue efforts Tuesday.

The search for the bodies was called off at dark Tuesday night and resumed at 9 a.m. today.

AMONG THOSE HELPING in the recovery operation was Wilbur Benjamin, who piloted the waters with diving equipment provided by the Manteno Sportsman's Club.

Others at the scene included sheriff's deputies Walt Jacobs, Amel Peeler, Dan O'Laughlin, Matt Egan, Ralph Denoyer and Tom White.

Wojcik, a car loader for an Oak Forest lumber company, was on vacation. He was at the park on a picnic with his wife, Betty, their two other children, his mother and several other relatives.

Tuesday's drownings raised the river's toll to four in three days. Two men were drowned at midnight Sunday near Sand Bar beach when their boat overturned.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK (UP) — The stock market retreated in moderate trading early this afternoon after two days of failure to match the historic highs of 1956.

Key stocks were down fractions to around a point. Aircrafts and a number of selected issues resisted the trend, posting sizable gains.

Motors were fairly firm. But steels, nonferrous metals, rails, most oils and chemical were on the downside.

There was no particular selling pressure and the market was seen by Wall Street observers as going through a period of routine profit-taking after its long-sustained advance to a series of new 1957 highs, bringing it within striking distance of the all-time peak.

Boeing, Douglas and United were all up by around a point or so.

General Tire added around two. Fractional losses were the rule for U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic Steel and Youngstown Sheet while Lukens dropped around a point. Losses of around a point or so were taken by Kennecott, American Cyanamid and Johns-Manville. Du Pont dropped more than a point.

U. S. government bonds showed a tendency toward the upside.

Predict Randall To Replace Wilson

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower is reported considering appointment of steel executive Clarence B. Randall to succeed Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson.

The report from informed sources followed widespread speculation that Wilson will retire some time this year—possibly after his defense budget clears Congress.

Randall is a director and former chairman of Inland Steel Co. He is chairman of the president's council on foreign economic policy.

Wilson, talking to reporters Tuesday night at the Pentagon before a dinner with Eisenhower and several other cabinet members as guests, brushed aside as old stuff reports that he will retire soon. He also laughed off reports that he will stay through the year.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO (UP) — Continued good cash demand caused heating and short - covering which boosted wheat futures more than a cent at times on the Board of Trade today. Profit-taking cut the advances, however.

Soybeans were up more than two cents in some cases, while corn held steady to higher most of the time and oats again lost ground.

Wheat receipts have been somewhat light in Chicago and the basis for cash wheat moved upward one-half cent. There also were reports of flour sales, although they were understood to be family flour and of light volume.

Buying and short - covering boosted soybean prices despite apprehension because there have been no deliveries on the July contract.

Estimated carlot receipts at Chicago: wheat 119, corn 86, oats 20, barley 15.

Missing Military Plane With 16 Aboard Sought

TAIPEI (UP)—An intensive air, sea and ground search today failed to turn up any trace of a U.S. Air Force C47 missing with 16 persons aboard, all military personnel.

Radio contact with the plane was broken Tuesday night as it neared the end of a journey to Taipei from Clark Field, in the Philippines.

U. S. Air Force headquarters on Taipei said Wednesday afternoon —more than 20 hours after the plane vanished—there was nothing to substantiate Chinese police reports that it had crashed in the mountains between Taipei and the Formosa Strait.

The police earlier said they had heard an explosion and seen flames Tuesday night on Mt. Chiaopeng.

The missing C47 was attached to the U.S. air task force in Formosa. It was returning to Taipei on what headquarters said was a routine administrative support flight.

Names of those aboard were withheld.

Approve Bourbonnais Appropriation Bill

Approval of a 1957-58 appropriation ordinance upping funds for current expenses during the current fiscal year by $11,665 over the past year was the major item of business conducted in a 45 minute session of the Bourbonnais village board Tuesday night.

The board acted on the ordinance without discussion upon the written recommendation of village attorney Samuel Shapiro. The board had considered revisions in the appropriations ordinance informally at a special meeting last week.

The $11,665 increase does not include $449,000 which is actually a part of the ordinance for construction of the new village sewage disposal plant and sewer and water and improvements. The total appropriation for the current fiscal year ending next April 30 is well over a half-million dollars, probably the largest appropriation in the village's history.

The total amount is $516,870. Without the sewage treatment plant and water and sewer project considered a part, the current total is $67,870, compared to $56,205 a year ago.

THE APPROPRIATION ordinance does not necessarily mean that the village will spend that amount of money, but it has appropriated that much if the need arises. Generally its income is comfortably under the amount of money authorized and expenses are cut accordingly.

In addition to the $350,000 bond issue for financing the sewage plant and water and sewer project plus $33,000 for refinancing an outstanding water and sewer bond issue and $66,000 anticipated from the federal government towards the sewage plant, other appropriation increases were noted as follows:

Salary of president from $200 to $500, salary of clerk $175 to $350, salary of trustees, $1,500 to $2,500, salary of treasurer $175 to $350, labor and repair of streets $3,000 to $5,000, street signs $100 to $300, waterworks salaries $2,500 to $5,000, civil defense $500 to $750, principal and interest payment on street improvement bond issue $3,185 to $3,170 and public benefit for special assessments against village $2,000 to $8,000.

FIGURES IN THE appropriation ordinance which went unchanged were as follows:

Attorney $100, health officer $100, policemen and patrolmen salaries $2,500, health department supplies $10, police department supplies $500, police matron $2,500, village hall maintenance $1,000, firemen's supplies, $2,000, telephone service $100, street lighting $2,500, Illinois Municipal League dues $40, maintain fire house $2,000, heat for fire house $450, material for street repair $200.

Office supplies $175, election expense $250, publication of notices $150, bond premiums $75, auditing expense $400, workmen's compensation insurance $300, liability insurance $100, pump house insurance $500, fire insurance premiums $150, engineer's fees $500, attorney's fees $250, miscellaneous and contingent expenses $400, balance in account from street improvement bond issue available for street improvement $13,000.

Garbage disposal $3,000, sewer labor and sewer cleaning $1,000, water pumping current $800, maintain water system $1,500, miscellaneous water and sewer department expenses $1,000, pump house attendant $1,000, payment of principal and interest on $9,000 waterworks and sewage revenue bond $2,400, and parks $1,000.

All water and sewer expenses and funds for paying principal and interest on water and sewer revenue bonds are to come from water revenues.

Remaining money in the street improvement bond issue account is tentatively slated for use as the village's share of paving River street following the installation of curb and gutter. Money received from the state as motor fuel tax funds are not included in the appropriation ordinance.

Airport Flooded, Uses Belt Route To Land Plane

An unidentified Missouri man made an emergency landing in his two-seated plane at Kankakee Tuesday night.

He successfully landed his plane on the East Belt route highway under construction south of Kankakee. His landing was about a mile south of the intersection of Illinois 50 and U.S. 45-52.

The flier, who parked his plane at the Virgil Clark farm, was unaware that Kankakee had suffered a flood when he arrived over the community. When he saw water standing in the Kankakee Airport area he said he felt it advisable to make an emergency landing rather than chance a landing at the airport.

The Missourian was flying to Kankakee on business.

Bradley Man In Double Trouble

Lyle A. Palmer, 45, Bradley Trailer Court on Route 45, today found himself in double trouble following an accident at 9:10 a.m. and a fire Tuesday evening in his trailer.

Palmer is being held in Kankakee County jail on suspicion of driving while intoxicated. His car went out of control as he attempted to make a turn at the intersection of the Manteno road and Route 45. The vehicle smapped off a utility pole.

Emergency treatment was given Palmer at St. Mary's Hospital for a slight head injury.

Tuesday evening the Bradley fire department was called to Palmer's trailer when a mattress caught fire.

Following the fire he was charged with being drunk and disorderly, and was to have appeared in Bradley Justice of the peace court at 11 a.m. today.

What's All The Fuss About?

Stevenson's 'Lost' Son Found In Singapore Swimming Pool

SINGAPORE (UP)—John Fell Stevenson, 21-year-old son of Adlai Stevenson, took a cooling swim at a seamen's hotel today while anxious officials in the American President Lines wondered why he did not return to his job as purser aboard the liner President Polk.

Young Stevenson left the ship at Hong Kong with a group of passengers and flew to Bangkok. From there they took a sightseeing tour of the Angkor Wat in Cambodia. And then he apparently disappeared—until today.

The steamship line officials admitted reluctantly this morning they did not know young Stevenson's whereabouts. He had been expected to report to his ship when it arrived in Singapore on Monday but there was no trace of him.

1,739 Youngsters Register For Kankakee Summer Park Program

A total of 1,739 youngsters in Kankakee and Aroma Park are registered in the summer recreation program, sponsored by Kankakee Park District, according to Charles Swikle, recreation director.

Old Fair Park has the highest registration with 138. Washington and Beckman are tied for second with 125. However, there is a difference of activities at the two parks. Washington has the regular summer program of games, handicrafts and drama, while the program in Beckman is entirely sports. Eighty-eight are registered in sports at Bird Park.

Registration in other parks is as follows: Jeffers, 120; Aroma Park, 112; Aroma Park sports, 31; Snow, 94; Alpiner, 80; Cobb, 126; and Pioneer, 150.

These figures are taken from the first complete tabulation on the summer recreation program at the close of the first three weeks, July 8. Children may register for park activities up to and including the last week of the 10-week program.

Supervisors in each of the eight parks with supervised summer activities make an attendance record every morning and afternoon, and in the evening if there are activities then.

Based on this record, Pioneer Park has the best attendance record, with 1,735 the first week, 1,310 the second and 1,005 the third.

In other parks, attendance has fluctuated from a large number at first to a lower figure later, and vice versa. Swikle pointed out that family vacations make a difference in attendance. Total is up; 14,447 this year compared to 12,454 last year.

Swikle is in charge of the entire program, with Miss Dorothy Jansen as assistant, and Dan Norton as athletic director.

BRACELETS AND KNICKNACK trays are being made here by a group of youngsters at Aroma Park, one of many activities sponsored by Kankakee Park District in its summer recreation program. Indoor activities are held in the village hall, with the playground a half-block away. Shown working on handicraft projects are, from left, Diane Deneau, Sandra Cupp, Rosemary Balk, David Doris, Sinda Sever, Sandra Wilkens and Linda Sever. (Journal photos)

IF THE HEAT GETS THE better of you, just settle down on a shaded pile of sand and build sand cities, complete with houses, streets and driveways. If your mind runs in a more historical vein, you can build sand castles, but for this you must have a great heap of sand. Enjoying themselves on this shady plot of sand in Jeffers Park are David Helmer, left, and Michael Sexton.

YOU'RE OUT! Sports, especially the minor little league, is a big part of the summer recreation program. About 250 boys are registered in the minors. Games are played on the three diamonds in Beckman Park, under supervision of Dan Norton, 678 S. Nelson Ave. Shown here making an out at home plate is catcher Tom Palzer, putting the ball on runner Johnny Neal. The umpire is Lawrence Walker.

A GREAT VARIETY of table games are provided for children who prefer them to other recreation or as a variation in activities. Here Linda Lambert, left, and Gail Legris engage in a game of carom at Alpiner Park. Table games include dominos, chess, checkers and Chinese checkers. Other less strenuous activities are listening to recordings and reading.

SHOULD THINGS become dull in the park field houses, the situation can be remedied with some rock n' roll and jitterbugging, group singing or participating in a rhythm band. In a dancing spirit here are Sandy Africano, left, and Lee Beedie. The park district's two music supervisors make the circuit of parks to coach the rhythm bands.

PLAYGROUND EQUIPMENT is fine for exercising young muscles to help them grow strong. All of Kankakee's parks now have some playground equipment, including the two new parks, McBroom and Hammes. Having a "swinging good time" are these three girls at Washington Park. They are from left, Donna Shaeffer, Patricia Dupuis and Rebecca Carmain.

ONE SURE WAY of keeping cool on a hot summer day is to have plenty of cold water sprayed on you. Here Pete Smith, Tyrone Finley and Lee Andrew Hughes get a cooling bath in the spray pool at Pioneer Park. There are also spray pools at Washington and Alpiner Parks. Needless to say they are put to maximum use. Water in the pools is turned on about 1 o'clock and is usually left on until 8 p.m. At one end of the pool, not in the picture, is a basketball hoop. What more comfortable way of playing basketball is the one is there than under a spray of cool water?

ALTHOUGH THE SUMMER program is designed for recreation, the fine arts are not slighted. Dramatics also have a place on the program. Groups in six parks just completed a series of playground shows. The youngsters are coached by Miss Margaret Romary (right foreground in dark dress) employed in the summer program for the first time this year. Next to Miss Romary is Miss Nancy Shpiner, supervisor at Cobb Park. Cowgirls practicing their act are Laura Watt, left, and Jane Gerrity. In the background are the rest of the troupe who performed in the Cobb Park show Thursday.

INSTRUCTION IN HANDICRAFT is part of the summer recreation program sponsored by the Kankakee Park District. Miss Nia Berry, art supervisor in the Kankakee school system is the instructor. She makes the circuit of parks with supervised programs, giving morning, early and late afternoon classes. She is shown here working with a group at Snow Park, making wall plaques with paper plates, crepe paper, crayons and water colors. In the group are, from left: Susie Cline, Joyce Buck, Judy Miner, Dale Gordon, Miss Berry, and Warren Sullivan. (Journal photos)

Express Pact Signing May Occur Today

NEW YORK (UP)—The Teamsters Union and representatives of the Railway Express Agency were scheduled to sign a contract today, ending a 13-week strike by drivers in seven major cities.

A majority of the striking teamsters ratified a new contract agreement earlier this week. Company officials said they hoped to restore service by the weekend.

About 1,000 drivers in the Chicago area Monday night accepted the company offer of a 15-cent hourly pay boost retroactive to Jan. 16, 1956.

THE PACT ALSO was accepted by strikers in Cleveland, San Francisco, Cincinnati and Newark, N. J. The agreement was rejected by drivers in Philadelphia and St. Louis.

James E. O'Hara, secretary-treasurer of Chicago Local 72, said in addition to the retroactive pay increase, drivers will get a 35-cent hourly cost of living increase retroactive to May 1, and receive a 7-cent hourly pay hike Nov. 1, 1957, and a similar increase a year later.

The new contract will run to Oct. 31, 1958.

Company drivers in other cities were not affected by the walkout as they are represented by the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks (AFL-CIO).

Believe Youths Burglarize Two Crescent Places

CRESCENT CITY (JNS) — The Iroquois County authorities today are investigating two break-ins here.

According to deputies, it appears youngsters apparently were behind the burglaries at William Bruniga's Motor Sales and the Crescent-Iroquois Grade School.

Evidence indicates the intruders first invaded the motor sales firm by forcing the east door. Bruniga discovered the break-in when he arrived at 7:30 a.m. today for work.

The burglars took 12 cans of motor oil, an electric half-inch drill and a wrecking bar. They also ransacked the office.

They then proceeded to the grade school, where they gained entrance through the west second story window, making their way to the office. An attempt to open the safe failed.

However, they did manage to break off the dial lock. The drill taken from Bruniga's was found in the office as were other tools from the motor sales and the office of the school janitor, C. A. Lee. The drill bit broke off in the safe. Used to work on the safe were the wrecking bar, a hammer and screw driver.

The youths then went to the school kitchen, where they forced the door, opened the deep freeze and took four ice cream cups.

He reported that the post and Auxiliary donated and served coffee and sandwiches Saturday night at the Bradley Municipal building for flood victims. Appropriations were made to distribute money among Bradley victims.

Cote announced that the post color team will participate in the Clifton Centennial and the Manteno Homecoming events.

Pleads Not Guilty To Drunk Driving Charge

A plea of not guilty was made this morning in County Court by Ulett M. Robbins, 53, of 129 N. Rosewood Ave., when he appeared before Judge Robert Goodyear on a charge of driving after his license had been revoked. Judge Goodyear of Iroquois County is substituting for Judge Irwin C. Taylor, who is on vacation.

Robbins asked for a jury trial and the case was continued to Sept. 12. He was freed on $1,500 bond.

Roland Grey Harris, 30, Argo, pleaded guilty this morning in County Court to a charge of driving under the influence of liquor. He was arrested at Bradley June 19.

Harris paid a fine of $125 and costs and was released.

Report Of Boy In Quarry False

Kankakee firemen received a report shortly after noon today that a boy had fallen into a water-filled quarry near the 200 block of N. Fifth avenue.

When firemen arrived on the scene, however, they were told by a group of boys that the report was erroneous.

The fire department inhalator squad administered one tank of oxygen to Leonard LaRoche, 77, of 456 S. Elm Ave. at 11:03 a.m. today. He experienced difficulty breathing.

No damage was reported in a home at 255½ W. Mulberry St. when a hot water heater valve blew off at 9:23 a.m. today.

YMCA Activity Described To Lions Club

Robert Swygert, secretary of the YMCA, described the organization's summer programs at Tuesday's Lions Club meeting.

He said that they include swimming in Rock Creek, all day boat trips and sleep outs.

Family swim nights are held three times a week in the YMCA pool.

During the past year the YMCA organized 42 different church teams and 65 industrial teams for participation in bowling, baseball and basketball leagues. In addition, 75 different youth groups used the YMCA facilities.

Swygert said that the Crows Nest youth center, opened for only a part of last year, had an attendance over 18,000.

Forrest Township New Supervisor Resigns Post

FORREST (JNS)—Reuben Metz, recently appointed supervisor of Forrest Township, resigned the office because of a change in contracts of the IAA Insurance Service, the company by which he is employed.

The contract prohibits any employe from holding a public office while an employe of Farm Bureau Services.

The supervisor vacancy was created by the death of James W. Brown, who had held the office for 36 years.

Good News On Profits Told By Leading Firms

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Some of the nation's leading business firms are pouring forth good news this week about profits. It helps take industrialists' and stock traders' minds off the current slump and the dreaded profit margin squeeze from rising operating costs.

Profit gains are far from uniform for business as a whole. But they are being reported by some of the top companies in the oil, steel, chemical, aircraft and electronics industries, and by big retail and utility companies and most of the nation's banks.

Increased sales volume is reported by most of these — but some say profits went up even when output dipped, because they'd increased plant efficiency.

Further underscoring the still dominant optimism of industry are reports from companies whose sales and earnings may be down but whose plans for expansion go right on piling up.

AND FOR INDUSTRY as a whole, the Federal Reserve Board notes that in June over-all industrial output remained at the same level as in April and May and topped the like month in 1956 by two percentage points.

Some of the reports of gains in net profit after taxes so far this year compared with last follow:

The nation's third and fourth largest steel makers report gains. Republic Steel officials say first six month profits will top those of a year ago. Jones & Laughlin says net income in the April, May and June increased over the first three months of the year by 7.3 per cent, although its production of steel fell off a bit. Officials credit increased efficiency with making the difference. Kaiser steel reports record sales and profits in the first six months of this year, with net income zooming just 1.5 per cent behind the big figure for the same period last year.

Jersey Standard Oil officials say both the six months and the second quarter earnings are better than a year ago. Net income for the industry's largest firm is up an estimated 15 per cent so far this year.

DU PONT, LARGEST in the chemical industry, reports first half sales up 7 per cent and net income up 7.2 per cent over a year ago.

General electric, largest in its field, in its first half statement shows its earnings running 13.2 per cent ahead of a year ago, despite the failure of a spring boost in sales of consumer durable goods (one of its chief divisions) to develop on schedule.

Detroit Edison reports gains in both income and revenues this year over last, and most other utility companies are expected to make like announcements in the days and weeks just ahead.

Most of the nation's banks show profit gains in the first six months of this year, the average being around 12 per cent over last year.

These pleasant reports, however, are offset in some degree by a large number of companies whose earnings have been clipped by declining sales or rising costs. But the cheerful reports of the gainers brighten the summer scene.

BORON FUEL

As far as we can make out, the new boron high energy aviation fuel developed by the air force and Olin Mathieson Chemical corporation doubles the effectiveness of our air force at one stroke. It is expected to yield one-third to one-half to the range of our bombers and to enable the big new B-52 jet bomber to fly around the world without refueling.

The fuel is developed from borax, a common cleaning agent. The value of the new fuel is that it creates much more energy per pound than fuels derived from petroleum. Initial production cost on a pilot plant basis ran $5,000 a pound, but within 20 months the price is expected to be brought down to $4 a pound.

This development should suggest to our military establishment that it may be far more valuable to put money into research than into the dead weight of armament and forces in being. We seem to have got a large jump on the Russians in a field that will greatly enhance the effectiveness of our aircraft and missiles by extending their striking range.

Rather Wet Wash In Watseka

When the clothes were hung on the lines above, they weren't really as wet as might be indicated by all of the water beneath. Actually, this view is typical of that seen during the flooding the last few days in the Watseka area. This particular photo was taken in the west part of town near the junction of Routes 1 and 24, which have been blocked to auto traffic. The water here was dumped by the swollen Sugar Creek. (Journal photo)

Watseka Youths Take Flood In Stride

For some in the Watseka area, the attitude toward the flooding was all a matter of point of view. The youngsters above have adopted a rather optimistic outlook and are making the best of an otherwise intolerable situation. Enjoying a dip in the somewhat murky water are Gary Sorley, 13, left, and Terry Fetzer, 14. Swimming toward them is Gary's dog, Taffy. They are hip deep in what had been Scharlach's pasture. Nature In Watseka Wrecking Business

Above is another view of the vast destruction caused by the torrential downpour last weekend in the Watseka area, which continues today in its attempts to recover from the devastating rains. The water is covering property of the Triangle Wrecking Co., a firm which learned nature was something of an expert in this field. Triangle is located on Route 24 on the west edge of Watseka, where most of the destructive flooding occurred. (Journal photo)

Reduce Toll To 76

MANILA (AP)—The government said today 76 persons were known dead and 300 missing in the flood that swept part of Pangasinan Province in the wake of typhoon Wendy. The Philippine News Service reported earlier that 130 persons drowned and more than 1,000 were missing in the area. Officials estimated at least 10,000 houses were destroyed. The Agno River raged suddenly out of its banks at night after the typhoon brought torrential rains.

ROBS by APPOINTMENT

NEW YORK (AP)—A bandit telephoned a liquor store to make a robbery by appointment.

The clerk, Herman Chernow, 58, said a man with "a gruff, sounding voice" phoned and said: "This is a stickup. Get in the back of the store. If you're not there in four seconds, I'm coming in and kill you."

Chernow retired to the washroom. Minutes later he heard the cash register tinkle open and shut. He peeked out in time to see a man slip out the door with $107.

Postpone A-Test

LAS VECAS, Nev. (UP) — The Atomic Energy Commission has postponed for 24 hours firing of the eighth nuclear device of the summer series because of "technical and operational difficulties." The AEC Tuesday night rescheduled the shot for 5:30 a.m. CDT Thursday. The blast, dubbed "Owens," is expected to equal nearly 6,000 tons of TNT.

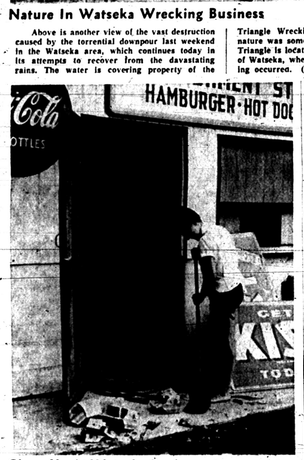
Squashed Melon Wins Acquittal

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Squashed watermelon figured in the acquittal of Edward S. Ferebee on a charge of disregarding a red light.

Ferebee, an attorney, told Judge Vernon D. Hitchings the watermelon was scattered across three traffic lanes at the intersection and wasn't pink, but "blood red."

His first thought was that there had been an accident, Ferebee said, and his attention strayed from the red light momentarily.

Case dismissed, the judge said.



Clean-Up At Watseka Pool

The Watseka Community Swimming Pool was opened today for the first time since the flood. Pictured is Barbara Marcier, 14, at the pool concession stand during clean-up operations Tuesday. Flood waters reached the top of the pool but failed to spill into the pool water. Gordon McKenzie, manager, was authorized by K. L. Baumann, sanitary engineer of East Central Region, State Department of Public Health, to open the pool for both swimming and instructions. Grant Park in Watseka, where the pool is located, was transformed into a sizeable lake. (Journal photo)

Our thanks... to some wonderful people!

The week-end storm that struck Chicagoland with torrential rains, wind and floods caused widespread damage, including 67,000 telephones knocked out of operation.

In Kankakee crews rushed to get your phone system back in order, as they did in dozens of other communities. They were able to get this job done quickly, in spite of tremendous obstacles. As you read this, practically all telephones in this area are back in service.

We wouldn't have been able to accomplish this had it not been for the cooperation of our customers and friends. We'd like to take this opportunity to thank these fine people for their invaluable help . . .

—Our customers, for limiting their use of telephone service for the short time this was necessary, and for being patient while complete service was restored . . .

—The Red Cross, the Kankakee Fire Department, the Kankakee Police Department, Radio Station WKAN and the Kankakee Journal.

—And many, many others whose hard work and cooperation helped restore operations.

It's wonderful how people work together when the chips are down. And it's wonderful too, that we have so many friends in Kankakee.

Portrait Of A French Enemy, Algerian Rebel

ALGIERS (UP) — He marches for days over the worst terrain known to man. He lives on next-to-nothing without pay.

He fights bravely and well as an individual or in small groups. He is poorly trained for team combat and inexperienced.

This picture of the Algerian rebel soldier emerges from personal observation and from conversations with French soldiers—from Gen. Raoul Salan, commander-in-chief in Algeria, down to Sgt. Emile Coyande of the Franco-Moslem militia.

Two years ago the rebel soldiers numbered 1,500. Today there are 22,000.

When the rebel is outnumbered by the French and has a chance to escape, he scampers like a rabbit. When he is cornered, he will fight to the death, even when wounded.

HE MAY BE A veteran of the French Army of World War II or Indochina. He may be an unemployed law clerk or druggist's assistant. But more likely he is a half-literate villager or country boy.

He may have joined because he believes in the Algerian nationalist cause, or because he hates the French—or both.

He may be convinced that as long as France runs Algeria he will be a "second-class citizen."

He may have a brother or friend who was shot or imprisoned by the French.

Or he may have been "drafted" by rebels who descended on his village and gave able-bodied men the choice—join us or have your throat cut.

If he is a villager, he probably grew up with hunting rifle in hand and is an expert marksman. He is less expert with machine guns.

His training consisted of a few days of rifle squad drill.

His uniform could be khakis with an American-style helmet or Moslem civilian clothing—skullcap, tattered suitcoat and pants.

HE WEARS RUBBER-soled field shoes—or goes barefoot.

His weapon is usually a pre-World War II bolt-action rifle of British, French, German, Spanish or American make.

He also has sten guns, a few mortars, even bazookas.

He has no aviation, no artillery. He has no motor transport to speak of but he does have some radio equipment.

He lives off the countryside, fighting in 10-men sections or bands of 20 to 500. He is a guerrilla—marching by night, ambushing by day and night.

If he is a member of one of the wilder tribes, he may mutilate his dead foe's body, gouging, cutting, chopping.

He has no chance of beating the French Army in a pitched campaign. But the French have no chance of obliterating him short of an all-out atomic war of extermination.

Thus, Frenchmen believe, a pure military victory by either side here is impossible.

First, decide what your investment objectives are.

Second, get to know the world of finance and business.

Attack Won't Be First, Last On President

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Robert S. Kerr's remark about President Eisenhower's "brains" is not the first time Eisenhower has been the target of sharp personal attack. In fact, some Presidents since Washington has been subjected to caustic criticism.

The Oklahoma Democrat charged Monday that Eisenhower could not understand fiscal policies because that takes "brains and he doesn't have them."

Presidents have been attacked for everything from their choice of wives to trapping squirrels on the White House lawn.

George Washington hadn't even arrived in the capital to begin serving as the nation's first chief executive before congressional critics were accusing him of being too "monarchial."

Thomas Jefferson was labelled a "revolutionary" and a "dangerous radical" while Andrew Jackson was termed a "demagogue" and "rabble-rouser." Franklin D. Roosevelt was called a "dictator" and Theodore Roosevelt was castigated as "that damn cowboy."

Eisenhower is not the only president who had to endure attacks on his intelligence. The late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) quoted a "Democratic senator" in 1951 as saying that President Truman was "stubbornly stupid."

Eisenhower also has come under attack from Democratic senators for such things as White House squirrels and his religious habits.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore) criticized the President because three White House squirrels were trapped and removed for "scratching Dwight D. Eisenhower's favorite putting green."

Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind) rose to the defense of the President Monday telling Kerr "You should be ashamed of yourself." Kerr promptly referred to Capehart as the "midget from Indiana."

4 Men Picked Up By Police—2 Assessed Fines

Four men were picked up by Kankakee police early today at Court St. and Chicago Ave. when they drove by in a car without license plates.

Two were found to be carrying guns — small caliber automatics.

They were Donald Victor Rowell, 20, of Modesto, Ill., and Lacharles E. Ryan, 24, of Elizabethtown, Ky.

Rowell was fined $100 today for carrying a concealed weapon and $25 for illegal transportation of liquor. Ryan was fined $100 for carrying a concealed weapon.

No charges were placed against the other two men.

The fines were levied by Paul F. Davidson, police magistrate.

Drum Of Atomic Waste Destroyed

NEW YORK (UP)—Two Coast Guard attack planes Tuesday destroyed a drum of radioactive sodium which had posed a navigation hazard in the Atlantic since Sunday.

The 21-by-6-foot cylinder was blown up 155 miles southeast of New York. The Coast Guard earlier reportedly withdrew a warning which had cautioned shipping to avoid the obstacle.

The danger stemmed from possible collison damage and a sodium explosion on contact with water, not from the low radioactive level of the sodium waste material.

Walks Through Glass Wall, Hurt

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (AP)—Jay C. Van Nuys, an architect, suffered minor cuts of the hand Tuesday when he walked through a plate glass wall at Rugers University.

The wall, which apparently succeeds in being "invisible," is part of the university's ultra modern library.

Van Nuys is the second person in three months to miss seeing the wall.

They will be assisted by the Rev. Patrick Bacchus, Normal, foreign students from Illinois Wesleyan University and world citizens.

Mrs. Cecil Reise of Downs, president of the Bloomington district is planning director, assisted by Mrs. Arthur Washington and Mrs. Virgil Stewart, Forrest, district secretary of Christian social relations.

Blackjacks Dinner Companion

It isn't often that a shapely young woman winds up in jail accused of assaulting a man, but Loretta Bancroft, 18, (above) clobbered James Brennan, 45, with a home-made blackjack in San Francisco because "he got fresh." Having met Brennan in a bar who persisted in taking her home after having dinner together, she whipped out a blackjack (made of a lead weight in the toe of a sock and wrapped with adhesive tape) hit him, and hid under a parked car where harbor police found and arrested her. Brennan wound up with five stitches in his scalp. (Uniflax)

Youth, 18, Slays Mother, Sister

VIRGINIA, Minn. (UP)—A hard-drinking boy showed no remorse today in the wake of a shooting binge that left his mother and baby sister dead, and his father and another sister wounded.

William Louis Niemi Jr., 18, was charged Tuesday with two first degree murder counts and was held for the grand jury.

"The boy, known as "Billy," had served time in a correctional institution, Ard Jons, known to be a heavy drinker, Detective Earl Lindeman said.

Lindeman said Billy confessed to drinking 8 to 10 cans of beer stolen from a warehouse and pondering suicide late Monday.

"I figured I was no good," he said.

Billy feared his parents would have him returned to correctional school because of his drinking, Lindeman said. The youth planned to rob his father's car at gunpoint and kill himself by crashing it into a viaduct, the boy told Lindeman.

THE BOY'S PARENTS returned home and snapped off his blaring record player. Billy took the pistol he had been using with his mother two times, grazed his father with a bullet, and fired at his sister, Marilyn, 15, inflicting a powder burn.

Hearing his 3-year-old sister, Mary, crying upstairs, Billy ran to her crib, pistol-whipped her with his empty gun, then loaded and fired a 20-gauge shotgun into the crib, the boy told Lindeman.

Police burst into the room as he said.

WILLIAM NIEMI

Billy and Marilyn, who had returned, were struggling with the rifle.

Later, Billy confessed he would rather not have shot his parents.

"But I don't like babies crying," he said.

The Worry Clinic

How To Improve Memory

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

George B., 27, has the makings for a successful life insurance salesman.

"There is one thing I still lack," he admitted, "and that is a good memory for names and faces."

He embarrasses me to be introduced to a man at a luncheon and then forget his name within a couple of minutes.

"Dr. Crane, how can a person perk up his memory in a hurry?"

Anything that increases your interest, will thus add to the motivation power and thus increase your memory.

You married men can make a contest out of such a thing as seeing whether you or your wife can come home from a party and repeat the greater number of names of strangers whom you have both met.

To add more zest and thus whet your interest further, agree to pay each other 10 cents for each additional name the winner can remember.

You'll be surprised at how this little contest between husband and wife will zoom your memory via zooming your interest.

ONE OF AMERICA'S greatest memory experts once told his audience that he'd pay $5 apiece to any person he failed to name correctly at the end of his evening program.

He had gone around getting acquainted with 120 at the beginning of the banquet. Later he missed only two, and those folks had moved from the ground floor to the balcony, thus upsetting his special pattern for recalling their names.

So he paid each of the two the $5 he had promised, and said most of those present at the banquet could remember the names of at least 50 strangers if they also had to fork over $5 to every one they failed to identify.

That dime to your wife, like this memory expert's $5, thus will add more motivation to the game.

Solely as a matter of power but failure to use the proper technique that causes you to forget names.

So be sure you get a clearcut impression of each you are first introduced. Recalling a name later on, is much like printing a picture from an earlier negative.

If your original negative is fuzzy and blurred, you obviously cannot get a clear reproduction.

So have no hesitation in asking the stranger to restate his name or even spell it.

Then you should repeat the name immediately, even in the acknowledgement of your introduction, and by saying, "I'm glad to meet you, Mr. Speeden."

THEN QUICKLY TURN to others in your party and be sure you present them so you can again state the name, as:

"I want you to meet Mr. Sneeden."

In the case of the name "Sneeden" imagine you are playing "Hide and Seek" and looking for a boy named "Ned."

An accomplice may be pictured as whispering "S-s-s, Ned," as he then points to the "Den."

This bizarre method is used as a standard policy by memory experts. It adds visual imagery and causes you to spend more time with the new name.

TASTES IN BEAUTY are varied. Some think Jayne Mansfield's the most! Others prefer the gamin charms of pert Audrey Hepburn.

Good News For Gals!

By JEANNE D'ARCY

A woman should never despair of her looks, for what's "Ugh!" to one man is "Ahhh!" to another.

Right now, a bevy of assorted beauties attracts male fans.

Take Jayne Mansfield, who thinks the well-rounded charms of Marilyn Monroe or Jayne Mansfield are the ultimate. Others go for the boyish, slim look of Audrey Hepburn. Vivacious Rosalind Russell has her admirers and Shirley Booth attracts whistles, too.

So it's always been. Beauty, as some sage once remarked, is in the eyes of the society decided to hold its next meeting on Aug. 4. It will include a farewell party for those leaving shortly for school this fall.

Mesdames ZumMallen and Donas Boren were the lunch committee.

MR. AND MRS. Marvin Washington and family of Dearborn, Mich., arrived here Monday and will visit 4 days in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rader and family. Miss Jean Washington will stay for a week with the Rader family.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dion and family returned to their home Sunday having spent a week at Lake Tomahawk, Wis.

So it's always been. Beauty, as some sage once remarked, is in the eyes of the beholder and is influenced by local custom and culture.

In Turkey, we've been told, plumpness and beauty are synonymous. Judging from news pictures, this same can be said for Russia. In the Orient, men like their gals with glamorously slanted eyes. Swedes go for blondes—also preferred by a number of other non-Scandinavian gents. So there you are.

It goes to prove that with beauty, as with everything else, each has his own opinion of what's tops. This should be good news to women.

Slim, stout, dark, fair. It's for sure that somewhere, some place there's a man who's bound to say, "This is for me!" You just have to find him.

And while you're looking, remember the best rule of all is "Be yourself."

This doesn't mean you shouldn't try to improve your appearance —that's what cosmetics are for—to give nature a helping hand. It does mean that you should avoid personality affectations. Don't try to be a siren if you're the cute little feminine type. Put on an act and, sooner or later, you'll be found out.

Keep In Trim

Reduce To Take Strain Off A Weak Back

By IDA JEAN KAIN

As life becomes physically easier, two common ailments that beset us are overweight and backache. One condition can aggravate the other. It's no favor to a weak back to be burdened with excess fat on the waist and abdomen. Moreover, you can achieve a shining back once more prone to overweight.

The solution is to stop overeating and start corrective exercises to strengthen the muscles of the back. If your back is not normally strong you should avoid strenuous or jerky calisthenics and all movements which involve twisting. The following exercises are recommended by orthopedic specialists for strengthening back muscles.

Position: Lie on back, with left knee bent, and right leg straight. Arms at sides.

Movement: Pull up snugly with abdominal muscles and press small of back flat against the floor. Now raise right leg a few inches off floor, and hold the muscle contraction to a slow count of six. Slowly lower leg to floor. Repeat this 4 to 6 times. Relax. Then again press small of back against floor, bend right knee, raise left leg and hold. Throughout the exercise maintain the up-and-in pull on the abdominal muscles.

Position: Lie on back on floor, both knees bent, soles of feet flat on floor.

Movement: Place palms of hands on thighs. Lift head and shoulders off the floor, slowly sliding palms toward knees. Hold for a slow count of six, not touching breath. Slowly return to starting position. Repeat 3 to 6 times.

Position: Lie face down, head pillowed on folded arms.

Movement: Contract muscles of buttocks, pulling in toward median line, and hold this contraction for a slow count of six. Repeat a half dozen times.

From the same position of lying face down, clasp hands behind back, with elbows straight. The exercise is to raise head and shoulders off floor and hold to count of six. This exercise strengthens upper back muscles.

Make sure that your mattress gives firm support and does not allow your spine to sink into a hollow. Correct your sitting posture . . . never sit in the middle of your spine. Sit with back of hips against back of chair seat and pull up snugly with abdominal muscles.

Chicago Seen As One Of World's Great Ports After Seaway Opens

(Editor's Note: This is the third of a series by a UP correspondent who has toured the route of the St. Lawrence Seaway to the western end of the Great Lakes).

CHICAGO (UP)—Ride down the Calumet River south of Chicago, pink and apricot plumes curling from the blast furnaces of the biggest concentration of heavy industry in the world, and you'll see a sign in the office of a University of Chicago professor and hear a clanging 136 million dollars to widen and deepen to 27 feet the Detroit River, St. Clair River and Lake St. Clair to enable bigger ships to pass from Lake Erie into Lake Huron; the Straits of Mackinac, to open Lake Michigan, and the St. Mary's River, to start a new era for Lake Superior.

In addition, the Army Corps of Engineers is surveying the requests of 21 lake cities for $1,300,000,000 to deepen local harbors. Congress will grant federal funds to some — but not always in the amount requested.

WHILE ALL BORTE has something for recognition, they all admit that Chicago will be number one on the lakes. It is already the hub of American railroad, highway and commercial aviation transport; the metropolis of a million square miles, with 60 million people and more food products within 500 miles than any city in the world. Its trading hinterland can reach to Pike's Peak and Santa Fe, New Mexico. But it provides an entrance off the lakes into the Mississippi River,

BRIEF INTERLUDE

NEW YORK (AP)—Monumental patience finally paid Broadway Actor Wynn Pearce — briefly.

Understudy for the lead role of the hit comedy "No Time for Sergeants," Pearce found himself recruited for 86 solid weeks to playing a bit part only as Andy Griffith and Charles Hohman, his successor, never missed a performance.

Acute tonsillitis finally felled Hohman and Pearce took over the part on a Saturday night. The audience gave him an enthusiastic reception. But two performances later Hohman returned and Pearce went back to his curt chores.

Pilot Would Like To Try Flight Again

NEW YORK (AP)—A freckle-faced Marine major who has "a lot of fun flying" is the nation's new transcontinental speed king.

Maj. John Glenn Jr., Washington, D.C. shot across the country in a Navy jet plane Tuesday in a record-breaking 3 hours, 23 minutes and 8.4 seconds.

"Everything was smooth as silk," he said.

Glenn, 36, a red-haired combat veteran with a boxer's build, hit a top speed of over 1,000 m.p.h. Flying at 1,000 miles an hour you don't feel speed as much as you do driving 70 miles an hour on the highway," he said. "Speed is just something you read on the dials."

Glenn jockeyed his swept-wing F8U1 Chance-Vought Crusader at an average unofficial speed of 726 m.p.h., faster than the speed of sound. He covered 2,460 miles on the flight from Los Alamitos, Calif., Naval Air Station to Brooklyn's Floyd Bennett Field.

THE OLD CROSS-country record was 3 hours, 44 minutes and 53.88 seconds set by an Air Force pilot in March.

Glenn, a former New Concord, Ohio, resident, is a veteran of World War II and the Korean War. He has three Distinguished Flying Crosses and 17 Air Medals.

He said he would like to try the transcontinental flight "all over again tomorrow."

"It's a real kick," he said. "Anybody would like to try something like this."

Meanwhile, two A3D Skywarrior Navy jets broke the mainland-to-Honolulu record Tuesday.

The first, piloted by Lt. Comdr. James P. Pruitt of Rule, Tex., landed in Honolulu 4 hours and 45 minutes after leaving Alameda, Calif. The second, piloted by Lt. Cmdr. Horace Little of New Orleans took one minute longer.

The previous record of 4 hours and 52 minutes was set by an Air Force B47 Sept. 28, 1952.

Bill Penney's $600 Million Gamble Pays Off With England's H-Bomb

SIR WILLIAM PENNEY: At Bikini, 500 oil drums.

LONDON (NEA) — Boyish, horn-rimmed spectacled Sir William Penney, 47, Britain's atom weapons chief, is one of a handful of men who can make world headlines simply by buying an airline ticket.

He proved this recently when, at the height of the Japanese agitation against the British H-bomb tests, Penney booked a flight which would put him in the Christmas Island testing grounds on June 7 at the earliest.

Immediately the rumors flew that the H-bomb tests, originally scheduled for May, had been delayed by technical difficulties so serious that Penney's presence was imperative.

Actually, Bill Penney, as he likes to be known, was at home with his wife and two children on May 15, when the first British H-bomb was exploded in the Central Pacific.

But the flurry of speculation caused by the airline ticket is a vivid tribute to the power of scientists of Penney's standing in the atom age.

It's ashe, Penney, who 10 years ago was an unknown mathematician, has become a pivot of political policy. For it was largely on his say-so that the then untried H-bomb would work that the British government decided to slash its conventional armed forces and to invest millions in new atomic works.

The gamble looks as though it may pay off handsomely. The Penney bomb (it cost 600 million dollars and took three years to develop) made history as one of the "cleanest" H-bombs yet devised, meaning that the fall-out was insignificant.

For another, the Penney bomb will be cheap to produce, as such weapons go, a fact which has caused some observers to rank Britain equal with America and ahead of Russia in the nuclear arms race.

At 47, Penney still has the bulky, almost clumsy figure of a football end (he once played for the University of Wisconsin), his hair is unruly, his manner as friendly as that of a St. Bernard pup.

A flair for mathematics took Penney to the Imperial College of Science in London, to the Universities of Wisconsin and Cambridge. Finally, when only 27, he became assistant professor of math at Imperial College, specializing in the structure of metals and the magnetic properties of crystals.

With the outbreak of World War II, he was assigned to study the nature of blast waves. For three years he quietly measured the effects of bombs, both foreign and domestic, on buildings, ships and humans beings, discovering among other things the extraordinary resistance of the human body to blast.

Then, in 1944, as a member of an Anglo-American team of scientists, he saw the world's first atom bomb set off in the New Mexico desert. On Aug. 9, 1945, he was one of two British observers who witnessed the atom-bombing of Nagasaki.

Penney's common-sense approach to tough scientific problems is the quality that impresses his American colleagues most. Thus, at the Bikini atom tests in 1946, his suggestion that 300 oil drums be placed around the atoll to register the blast was simplicity itself, but no one else had thought of it.

When America secured atomic relations with Britain with the passage of the McMahon Act, Penney was chosen as head of the British atomic research. His present position as director of the Atomic Weapons Research Establishment at Aldermaston has brought him fame, a knighthood, although his salary (18,000 a year) is derisory by U. S. standards.

For relaxation, he lov fast cars, table tennis, and his golf handicap is eight.

Ump Gives Fans Something Extra

Umpire Shag Crawford does couple of fancy steps to show whence came his nickname as he calls Eddie Kasko of the Cardinals out at third on a pickoff play in the second inning of the Brooklyn-St. Louis game Tuesday at Brooklyn. Florence Nears Lions Little League Crown

LEAGUE STANDINGS

Florence Stove today needs only either one more victory or a Vanderwater's defeat to clinch a share of the second half title in the Lions Little League.

The Stovemen, who also won the first half crown, romped to their sixth straight victory in the second round Tuesday evening by thumping Vanderwater's 11-0. It was the Clothier's second loss in six second half games.

In the evening's other contest last-place MacCarthy Ford scored all of its runs in the last inning to defeat Azzarelli Construction 5-4. It was the Fords' first win in six starts.

Jack Coy pitched and batted the Stovemen to victory. He held the Clothiers to one hit and clouted a home run with two aboard in the first inning. Florence rapped out 15 hits off loser Butch Gosselin. Dave Garrett, Darryl Lehnus and Duane Parker got three apiece. Gosselin made the only Vanderwater's hit.

Tom Pearman, Azzarelli pitcher, banged out the only home run in the second game. Jack Sollo was the winning pitcher on a yield of four hits and Pearman, who relieved Bob Boudreau, in the sixth, was the loser.

The Fords got three of their six hits during their winning uprising and benefitted from three bases on balls. Buck Fogle and Dennis Howell each got two of MacCarthy's four hits.

Grid Cardinals Sign Len Teeuws

CHICAGO (UP) — The Chicago Cardinals today announced the signing of veteran tackle Len Teeuws for the 1957 season.

Teeuws played defense tackle during 1956.

A 6-foot 5-inch 245-pounder, Teeuws came to the Cardinals in a trade with the Los Angeles Rams in 1954.

Tipton To Coach West Point Nine

WEST POINT, N. Y. (UP) — Eric Tipton, former Duke University football star and outfielder for the Cincinnati Reds, has been named head baseball coach at West Point.

Tipton has served as head baseball coach and backfield football coach at William and Mary since 1955.

Aaron, Williams Gain Ground In Batting Races

NEW YORK (AP)—The tight major league batting races had some further interesting developments Tuesday night with Hank Aaron regaining the National League lead from Stan Musial, and Ted Williams moving to within a single point of Mickey Mantle, the American League pacesetter.

Milwaukee's Aaron had three hits in as many at bats against Philadelphia, lifting his average to .348 while the Cardinals' Musial went 1-for-4 against Brooklyn and dropped one point to .342.

Boston's Williams had one hit in two tries against Kansas City and Mantle went hitless in three attempts in the Yankees' game with Detroit. This left Mantle with a .361 mark to Williams' .360.

Aaron and Williams each hit home runs, boosting their league leading totals to 29 and 26, respectively.

'Spoiler' Pancho Says Pro Netters Superior

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP)—"I've always said the pros could beat the best amateurs in the world," said professional tennis champion Pancho Gonzales today, "but a lot of people laughed at me. I think we are proving it this week."

Big Pancho, who has temporarily set aside his money feud with promoter Jack Kramer, was referring to the going over he gave Ken Rosewall and Pancho Segura's victory over Tony Trabert in Tuesday's matches in Kramer's Tournament of Champions.

A couple of years ago, Trabert was regarded as perhaps the top amateur in the world. Then he joined the pros and Gonzales slaughtered him in their world tour.

LAST WINTER, it was Rosewall who turned pro right after the Davis Cup matches and he became Gonzales' sadrificial lamb.

And Tuesday, just to make it emphatic, Gonzales whipped Rosewall, 6-2, 8-6, 6-4, while Segura outlasted Trabert 6-4, 7-5, 9-11, 4-6, 7-5.

"The pros go onto the court with more confidence," said Gonzales, who pocketed the pay-for-play troops in 1949." If you have one big fault in your game, you'll lose on the pro circuit.

"Look at Rosewall and Trabert. It remains to be seen if they ever will become real top pros. But I'll tell you this. Rosewall doesn't have the power and Trabert is not fast enough. That's all they need—one flaw."

As for Lew Hoad, Rosewall's Davis Cup partner, who signed with Kramer for a guaranteed $125,000 for two years, Gonzales said he was reserving his decision.

"He sure seems like he's determined," said Pancho. "He may beat me, but I think I can lick him."

They play Sunday.

'Old Man' Hits 26th Home Run; Batting .360

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

You have to figure Thumpin' Ted Williams as the biggest boon to the aged since Bernarr MacFadden celebrated his 86th birthday with a parachute jump.

The Boston Red Sox slugger will be 39 next month, an old man in baseball, but he's giving the kids a fit in the, American League, wresting the home run lead from Mickey Mantle and closing within one point of the Mick in the batting battle.

Williams has hit 26 home runs and is batting .360. Mantle, the 25-year-old New York Yankee center fielder who last year became the first triple crown winner since Williams did it in 1947, has hit 24 home runs and is batting .361.

THE THUMPER was at it again Tuesday night, belting his 26th round-tripper in 90-degree heat at Kansas City to trigger a three-run ninth that beat the A's 4-3.

Mantle, complaining of feeling weak 0-for-3, but walked and scored the winning run in a 10-4, 10-inning victory at Detroit that padded the Yankees' lead to four games over Chicago. The White Sox were beaten 3-1 by Baltimore.

Cleveland made it five in a row with a 9-3 job on Washington.

In the National, Philadelphia held first place despite Aaron's feat by Milwaukee as Brooklyn beat second-place St. Louis 7-5. Cincinnati lost 6-1 at New York with Redleg slugger Frank Robinson suffering a concussion when bonked by Ruben Gomez.

Pittsburgh's Pirates took two from Chicago, winning 5-4 on Frank Thomas' home run in the completion of a June 16 suspended game, and then taking a regulation game 5-3 as Thomas ripped a two-run double in a three-run seventh after Bob Rush had one-hit 'em 'til then.

WILLIAMS was 1-for-2 last night and put Virgil Trucks, who had an eight-inning four hitter, on the ropes. A walk and Jackie Jensen's 12th homer followed to nail it. Ike Delock won it in relief, although tagged for Woody Held's second home run of the game in the ninth.

The Yankees blew a 4-1 lead in the ninth before Tommy Byrne came on to end the Tiger rally with a fanning out Charlie Maxwell. Byrne hit a three-run homer to cap the six-run 10th off loser Paul Foytack and Al Aber.

Early Wynn, another 37-year-old who has the major league strikeout lead at 117 with seven while winning his 12th by limiting Washington to eight hits. Vic Wertz drove in three Tribe runs with a home run and single.

THE ORIOLES won it on Billy Goodman's two-run homer in the eighth inning.

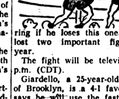
The Braves pulled within a half game of the Phils, one point back of the Cardinals, as Warren Spahn won his 10th with a six-hitter. The Phils had the bases loaded in the ninth when Andy Pafko made a diving anare of Richie Ashburn's sinking liner to end it. Hank Aaron's 20th homer came in the first with a man on against loser Harvey Haddix and the Braves' slugger reclaimed the NL bat lead at .348 with a 3-for-3 night while Cardinal Stan Musial fell to .343 with 1-for-4.

Duke Snider's 20th home run, with a man on, triggered a four-run fifth that bagged it for the Brooks, who scored twice in the fourth on Wally Moon's throwing error. Carl Erskine shot it in relief of rookie Danny McDevitt.

Giardello, Vejar Both Need Win In TV Fight

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Joey Giardello and Chico Vejar, who meet tonight in a nationally televised scheduled 10-round fight, have one thing in common. They both need the win, and need it badly.

Giardello, currently ranked No. 3 among the middleweights, wants a shot at the championship. A loss tonight could imperil his chances.



Vejar could be through in the ring if he loses this one. He has lost two important fights this year.

The fight will be televised at 9 p.m. (CDT).

Giardello, a 25-year-old product of Brooklyn, is a 4-1 favorite. He says he will use the fast-starting, fast-punching technique against Vejar, hoping to finish him in the early rounds.

The 25-year-old Vejar acknowledges he no longer is a one-punch fighter. But he says his stamina and endurance are better, indicating his hopes for a long fight.

Of the two, Vejar owns the most impressive record—75-10-2. Giardello's is 68-13-5.

Pep's Comeback Starts With Win

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Former featherweight champion Willie Pep of Hartford, Conn., started his comeback with an easy decision over Manny (Maestrito) Castro Tuesday night.

Pep, who says he's going to regain his crown, punched Castro, who hails from Miami, Fla., at will and piled up a sizable advantage in points.

First Methodist chalked up its eighth consecutive victory in the YMCA Church Softball League by taking a 10-3 victory over Trinity Methodist at Bird Park Tuesday evening.

In other games at Bird Park, St. John's stopped First Presbyterian 12-6 and Bradley Evangelical United Brethren dropped Central Christian 18-10. At Old Fair Park, undefeated St. Paul's Lutheran won its sixth straight contest by downing Fairmount Nazarene 8-1, Olivet College Church defeated First Evangelical United Brethren 10-1 and American Lutheran won by forfeit from First Baptist.

First Methodist now tops the league with an 8-0 record while St. Paul's is next with 6-0.

TWO HOME RUNS sparked St. John's in its game with First Presbyterian. The winning pitcher, Al Stone, cracked out a two-run round tripper in the second and L. Soulligne had a grand slammer in the sixth. Marshall Dusenbury homered in the first for the losers.

Bradley EUB was out in front all the way in beating the Christians. The winners scored seven runs in the first inning with Rodgers' three-run circuit clout being the big blow. Wilson had a three-run homer for the winners in the fifth inning.

RUDY PETERSON hurled one-hit softball for St. Paul's. The Lutheran outfit collected nine hits in taking the victory. Tom Martin topped the winners with a two-run round tripper in the third inning.

An eight-run first inning was enough to carry Olivet to its victory. Harold Hess gunned the rally with a grand slam home run. Jim Smith tossed a three-hitter for the defending champs.

Maxwell Turns Into Bargain For Tigers

DETROIT (UP)—Shunted aside by the Boston Red Sox and Baltimore Orioles, outfielder Charley Maxwell has turned into Detroit's best bargain since Henry Ford started mass production of automobiles.

Maxwell has been carrying the Tigers this season while higher-priced stars like Al Kaline, Harvey Kuenn and Ray Boone wonder if their bats aren't made of balsam wood. The slender slugger promises to be the Tigers' top home run hitter since Hank Greenberg.

Yet, Maxwell couldn't hold a regular job with the Red Sox in three trials. Paul Richards acquired him in a straight cash deal the 1954 season and used him in only four games in 1955 before letting him go to Detroit for the $10,000 waiver price.

RICHARDS, ORDINARILY a shrewd judge of players, has been kicking himself since.

"To look at Charley you wonder where he gets his power," Tiger Manager Jack Tighe says. "He's the smallest acknowledged home run man in the league. It's those quick wrists."

Maxwell stands 5 feet, 10 inches and weighs 190 pounds.

And the popular 30-year-old fly chaser from Paw Paw, Mich., just seems to be reaching his peak. Last season he broke the Tiger mark for left-handed home run hitters with 28. He has 13 this season and has driven in 56 runs to lead the club — far ahead of Kuenn, Kaline and Boone.

"He SHOULD HIT at least 30 homers this season," Tighe said. "And he could better mightily since Greenberg hit 44 in 1946.

"I felt awful funny playing regularly last season," Maxwell said. "The only time I had been a regular was in the minors."

Charley's success is a starting role with Detroit in 1955 and he didn't play the opening game of 1956. He was platooned all year, he started hitting at a .326 clip, drove in 87 runs, and led the team with a slugging percentage.

"I ghe also calls Maxwell one of the best glove men in left field in the American League.

Beaning Injury 'Not Serious' For Frank Robinson

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Robinson, Cincinnati's All-Star leftfielder, was the latest baseball player being hit by a pitched ball more times than any other National League batter last year, was in the hospital today recovering from being hit for the eighth time this season.

"There is no question in my mind but that Robinson is thrown at," said Manager Birdie Tebbetts Tuesday night after his 21-year old slugger was struck above the left ear by a Robert Gomez fastball in the eighth inning of the game with the New York Giants.

The ball hit Robinson above the left ear, split his protective helmet and rolled into the Giant dugout as the league's 1956 Rookie of the Year crumbled to the ground. He was carried on a stretcher into the clubhouse where an examination showed no sign of fracture. Robinson was coherent and conscious as he was taken to a hospital as a precautionary measure.

Pickoff Play Misses

Hoopeston's Bud Smith slides for the safety of third base in the second inning of Junior American Legion tournament at Beckman Park Tuesday. Kankakee shortstop Carl Coleman had to go high in the air to spear pickoff throw from catcher Bill Johnston. Hoopeston was attempting to use a squeeze play to score Smith and when the batter missed the pitch, the runner had to scoot back to third. Rep. Price Sees 10-Team Major Leagues Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Price (D-Ill) predicted today that major league baseball will be played in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Miami and Houston within 5 to 10 years.

Price, in testimony prepared for the House Antitrust subcommittee resuming sports hearings today, said his own personal idea" is that the two major leagues eventually will expand from 8 to 10 clubs each and the four cities he named will benefit.

The Illinois congressman, a former sports announcer, offered some comfort also to New York, now fearing possible loss of the Dodgers to Los Angeles and the Giants to San Francisco.

"IT CANNOT BE thought seriously that the great city of New York would long remain with a single major league baseball team (the Yankees)," he said, "any more than it would be thought that Los Angeles and San Francisco, to say nothing of Minneapolis and other cities, will remain the sole main without any major league clubs."

The subcommittee is considering legislation to fix the status of professional sports under the antitrust laws.

Price said it would be "a serious mistake . . . to adopt any law, or to encourage the federal courts to reach decisions, that would treat organized baseball merely as a business."

Price told the subcommittee that on the whole there isn't too much wrong with the game.

"It seems obvious that some method should be devised by which cities should not be threatened and harassed by the menace of one owner that, in such and such is done, they will move elsewhere," he said.

Flam Breezes Past 2 Foes In U.S. Tourney

CHICAGO (AP)—Herb Flam, the overworked National Clay Courts defending tennis champion, showed little signs of strain Tuesday in pounding out first and second round victories on the rain-swept courts at suburban River Forest.

Flam, who failed to appear Monday — for a first round match, breezed past Dick Savitt of Australia 6-3, 6-4, and Jerry Dahlke, Hammack, Mich., 6-4, 6-2.

The No. 1 seeded star from Beverly Hills, Calif., was delayed at Glen Cove, N. Y., where he was in the finals of the Nassau Bowl Tennis Tournament.

Flam admitted he was "a bit tired" after his second match of the day.

Only 10 matches were finished during Tuesday's play because of rain.

Sparsely scattered spectators sensed an upset when Ashley Cooper, top ranked player from Australia, dropped his second set to Gregory Grant, Los Angeles, 6-4. The crowd-pleasing upset apparently slowed the Aussie ace's game, but he applied the power when he needed it in the final set. Smashing drives sent the ball into the far corners of the court, invariably out of reach of the Californian. Cooper won 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

Score Works Out; Says Vision Not Yet Perfect

CLEVELAND (AP) — Herb Score says the vision in his injured right eye "isn't as good as I would like it," but he plans a comeback in mid-August as a Cleveland Indians pitcher.

His doctor Tuesday okayed workouts starting Thursday, and said the left-hander's southpaw should be able to pitch "in four to six weeks."

Dr. Charles J. Thomas said he found "great improvement" in Score's eye, hit by a line drive in a game with the New York Yankees last May 7.

Score said he is ignoring advice to stay out of action the rest of the season, because he doesn't want to spend the off season wondering if he can make a comeback.

The doctor has advised him not to travel with the team.

"The doctor doesn't want me out there on the field with a lot of baseballs flying around until I get used to things again," Score said. "I guess it's good advice, too. I'm seeing better but it still isn't as good as I would like it."

The Spaniards who accompanied Columbus on his fourth voyage gave Costa Rica, or "rich coast," its name when they saw Indians there wearing gold ornaments.

Black And White Show Rated One Of Best

The Kankakee district Black and White Show, held Tuesday at the Kankakee County fairgrounds, was the second largest district show in the state this summer and the largest in the history of the district. The district shows are held prior to the state show slated Saturday at Mooseheart.

William Weeks of Rockford, the show judge, termed the show here "one of the strongest shows in the state" with "outstanding winners." Weeks is breed supervisor at the Chambric Farms and operates the Animal Analysis Association.

The Kankakee District Show is put on each year by the district Black and White Association and includes Holstein dairy farmers from Kankakee, Will south Cook and Grundy counties. Only ribbons are awarded in the senior division while in the junior show "A" awards were worth $3, "B" awards $2 and "C" awards $1. Gerry Dubbert of Kankakee is the executive secretary and Roger Stueven of Beecher the president.

THE NUMBER OF OPEN class entries was down slightly from the record of 128 a year ago, but the advent of the junior division for showmen under 21 years of age, brought in an additional 30 entries. There were 120 entries in the open class judging.

The grand champion cow title was earned by an aged cow over 5 years old exhibited by Butzridge Farms of Kankakee. In the final test it won the decision from an animal exhibited by Calmey Farms of Manteno with a senior summer heifer calf which earned the junior champion title. Judged the best uddered cow was an aged cow exhibited by Jim Butler of Chebanse.

Senators To Consider Benson Plan To Remove Corn Controls

WASHINGTON (JP)—Key Senators said today they are willing to consider proposals by Secretary of Agriculture Benson to lower government price supports and remove controls from corn.

Sen. Ellender (D-La), chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said he had urged "some of the proposals that the secretary has made because corn has been the favored crop under past programs."

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt), senior Republican farm committeeman, said he "would like to see corn cut from controls, as are other feed grains. But supporters of wheat, cotton and other basic crops may be fearful that they are next, and oppose this."

Sen. Mundt (R-SD), who led futile drives for emergency corn legislation earlier this session, opposed Benson's suggestion for corn price supports to zero to 90 per cent of parity or even 60 to 90 per cent.

"If we are going to put a ceiling on supports then they should range from 60 to 140 per cent of parity," Mundt said.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices charged them.

All three senators, in separate interviews, said there is little chance for any major farm legislation at this session of Congress.

CORN, LIKE other crops now classed by Congress as basic, must be supported between 75 and 90 per cent of parity now. The others are wheat, cotton, rice and peanuts. Tobacco, also classed as a basic crop, qualifies for a 90 per cent support rate under separate legislation.

Because most corn is fed to hogs, cattle and other livestock, corn farmers have been reluctant to accept the planting and marketing controls and penalties that apply to other basic crops.

Secretary Benson, in a report asked by Congress, proposed to take corn out of this group, remove allocations and lower its supports, effective with the 1958 crop.

This would put it under the same treatment as oats, barley, grain sorghums and a number of other livestock feed grain crops which compete with it.

Benson said his proposal eventually should bring a better balance between feed grain and livestock production and supplies. He conceded that prices probably would be lower but said income and profits might be higher.

In any event, Benson said it would free many farmers from government controls and at the same time reduce the multibillion dollar government outlays on farm programs.

This forecast is based on prospective increases in population and on a rising dietary standard.

Officials say this opens the way for considerable expansion in the livestock and poultry industries, but cautions that not that much growth will be needed in the production of feeds for these industries.

New Floods Cost Illinois Farmers

SPRINGFIELD (UP) — A "new rash of flooding and ponding" brought new troubles and high losses to more Illinois farmers in the weekend downpours, the State-Federal Crop Reporting Service said today.

Crop destruction in the service's hundreds of acres of Sauk-Kaskaskia River bottomlands were flooded for the third time this season, in addition to the Illinois River area near Chicago and in the northeastern section of the state.

There is small likelihood crops washed out in the flooded areas will be replanted, because of the lateness of the season. Many of the bottomland crops in southern Illinois already have been replanted three times because of flood waters.

Before the new floods the weather was generally good for farm work over most of the state, the crop service said, although most crops are somewhat behind schedule.

ILLINOIS' CORN ranges from newly planted fields to some acreage at near maximum growth, the service reported. It said the average corn growth was 3.5 feet, compared to an average of 5.5 feet this time last year.

Only a few early planted corn fields have started tasseling.

Wheat combining has been nearly completed, and oat harvesting has reached the northern quarter of the state, the service reported.

Says 45-60% More Meats, Poultry Needed By 1975

WASHINGTON (JP)—The Agriculture Department now predicts that by 1975 the nation will need from 45 to 60 per cent more meats, poultry products and milk than it has been consuming.

This forecast is based on prospective increases in population and on a rising dietary standard.

Officials say this opens the way for considerable expansion in the livestock and poultry industries, but cautions that not that much growth will be needed in the production of feeds for these industries.

Decentralizing Soviet Economy Herculean Task

MOSCOW (UP) — The resettlement of thousands of officials in new jobs . . . New responsibilities for men accustomed only to fulfilling orders from Moscow. . . .

Whether to increase the power of individual factory managers. . . . Whether to interfere from Moscow in the work of local economic councils. . . . How to cut bureaucracy. . . .

Soviet planners are finding it a Herculean task to decentralize the Soviet economy. They have, in fact, undertaken "one of the largest" redesign in such a way that it may be difficult to achieve the primary goal of the reform approved by the Supreme Soviet in May.

THE GOAL was to raise Soviet production by reducing the army of office workers and cutting red tape in industry. It now appears that the bureaucracy will still be large.

The reorganization program calls for establishment of "sovnarkhoz"—or economic councils—throughout the country to replace 25 central industrial and construction ministries, now abolished.

The sovnarkhoz will supervise the most important of the Soviet's 200,000 plants and factories.

The planners apparently thought in terms of 70 councils. Now the total stands at 105—double the initial estimate and four times as many councils as there were industrial and construction ministries.

MOST OF THESE councils will have 2,000 to 3,000 or more staff members. The upper echelons will be staffed largely with former top officials of the abolished ministries.

Each economic council will draw up production and supply plans for its factories, trying to utilize the manufactured goods and resources within its own area, instead of shopping for its needs far afield.

It is too early to detect effects of the reorganization on Soviet industrial output. They should begin to show at the end of the year.

Peru Woman Dies As Car Hits Train

DIXON (UP) — Mrs. Doris Utz, 41, Peru, was killed and her husband and daughter injured when their car collided on wet pavement and rammed an Illinois Central freight train near here.

Arthur Utz, 49, the driver of the car, and Katherine, 15, were reported in good condition at a Dixon hospital. Not injured in the accident Tuesday was another daughter, Loretta, 4.

An ambulance en route to the crash skidded off another road, but Pat Jones, 22, Dixon, the driver, was not injured.

Find TV That Killed Boy Was Deadly

CHICAGO (JP)—A portable television set involved in the electrocution of a 6-year-old suburban Skokie boy has been termed deadly by an authority on electricity.

Dr. Eric T. Gross, professor of electrical engineering at the Illinois Institute of Technology, Tuesday tested the set and said:

"At this time there is certainly enough electricity coming from the top plate of the set to kill someone."

Cook County coroner, Walter McCarron ordered the tests by Gross and other experts prior to the convening of a jury in two weeks to probe circumstances of the electrocution of "Howard Erenstein Jr.

The boy was killed by an electrical shock Sunday as he brushed against an aluminum cart on which the set had been resting in the Erenstein home. The mishap occurred as the family was watching TV in the kitchen.

In the tests a light bulb was connected with the top of the TV set. Voltage from the set lit the bulb.

ANOTHER SET identical to the one touched by the boy also was tested with a light socket. It failed to light the bulb.

The set, an 18-inch portable, was manufactured by the General Electric Co., Syracuse, N.Y., and was one made earlier this year.

During the tests, the back of the set was removed and an insulated brace that usually connects the chassis to the cabinet was found to be broken.

Experts said the set could become "live" with electricity if the brace touched a terminal of a tube or a charged section inside the cabinet. However, when the set was opened the brace was found intact.

McCarron was told the set was dropped Monday and perhaps the brace was broken then and not before the boy's death.

General Electric called the electrocution an "unfortunate incident." The company promised a thorough investigation.

Mrs. Erenstein, Skokie, daughter of Springfield were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Bard.

The Robert Engelheimers of Peoria visited Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bloomquist during the weekend.

Mrs. Alma Eckerman of Champaign is visiting at the Ernest Swanson home. She spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gustafson.

Robert Bloomquist arrived home Friday night from Rhode Island on a week's leave.

Terry Moore Won't Allow Homely Snaps

By GENE HANDSAKER
For Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD (JP)—Terry Moore says they'll never take a publicity picture of her getting pregnant.

Instead of "all that glowing posture," sweeping the floor or cuddling kiddies by the fireplace.

The shapely actress whose ermine-trimmed bathing suit brought whistles and huzzas from GIs in Korea expounded:

"I feel that the less people know about your private life, the more glamorous you are."

Domestic-type publicity may be good for the likes of June Allyson or Debbie Reynolds because it helps sell their screen roles, Terry continued.

"I may peel potatoes better than June Allyson, but, by golly, my public will never know it!" She was vague about her prowess in the kitchen but indicated it holds little appeal.

"The boys who go to movies look at me romantically. That's why they don't want to see me sitting around the hearth with Junior. They would she say whether she hopes to have tots to cuddle.

AS FOR POSING in an apron like an ever-faithful-wife June said:

"I don't play that kind of parts. I play sirens. I'm a natural for low-cut dresses, fresh scrubbed look. Don't drink or smoke—in private life or pictures."

Miss Moore, lambasted an outdoor girl. The kind of a girl a guy dares to take home to mother. Yes, I'm a wholesome sexpot—you can say that. I think that's my main appeal."

Miss Moore, glamorous as could be for her role as a girl-about-town in "Peyton Place," wouldn't say much, therefore, about her shaky marriage.

She has dropped her divorce suit against Panama businessman Eugene McGrath pending a talk with him after she finishes the picture. She said, "I think we'll work things out."

The best publicity, she opined, is "good parts. I don't think scandal is good publicity for me, because I play wholesome parts. Nor is domesticity good either."

Bullet Ricochets Off Lake, Kills Boy

GRANITE CITY (JP)—A rifle bullet ricocheted off a lake and killed 14-year-old Pete Bellovich Jr., on his father's farm near Granite City, Tuesday.

Old Timers Ball Game At Clifton

CLIFTON—One of the attractions of the Clifton Centennial this Friday through Sunday will be an Old Timers baseball game to be held immediately following the Centennial parade Saturday afternoon.

The game will begin at approximately 4 p.m. at the ball park.

One team will be known as Dock's Aces as one of the local teams was known in the late '20s. Members will include Harvey Miller who managed the Dock's Aces team, Tom Miller, Art and Pat Bertrand, "Checkers" Lanoue, Ed Fronville and Dallas Meyer.

The opposition will be Yonk's All Stars composed of Paul and Ed Yonke, Pat Brown, Byron Wallace, Harry Haitenburg, Ed Karkgard, Elmer Herrold, Lynn Nicholson and Art Goldenstein.

Probably the "oldest timer" expected to be present will be John Gravelot of Chicago Heights. Gravelot managed and played on the Clifton team about 1890. He is 86 years old, is still an active bowler rolling several 200 games last year. He is claimed by some to be the first pitcher who threw a curve ball in this vicinity.

Promoters of the game are urging all old-time players to show up for the game. Many other former players in addition to those named have signed to participate in the game, the committee in charge reports.

Devise Blood Test On Hepatitis Virus

NEW YORK (UP)—A practical test has been devised which will indicate when hepatitis virus lurks in donated blood. It is not going to eliminate that unpleasant liver disease, you can be sure, but it could cut down sharply on the chances of getting it through a blood transfusion.

You will appreciate this advance when you understand which "the possible development of serum hepatitis after transfusion of blood is the most important hazard that is not preventable, even by careful attention to details in the history of blood donors and the application of proved laboratory techniques."

THE WORDS belong to Dr. E. R. Jennings, professor of clinical pathology, Wayne State University Medical College, Detroit, and four associates. They worked out the new testing method which involves putting donated blood into a chemical solution. If the solution reacts by becoming exceedingly clouded then the blood is considered to be highly suspect.

What makes serum or transfusion hepatitis a big problem is that some people seem able to carry the virus around in their blood streams w ever sickening them, and that the virus, like most viruses, is undetectable.

Reporting to the technical journal of the American Society of Clinical Pathologists, the Detroit scientists recalled the failure of efforts to detect blood donor "carriers" of hepatitis virus through their medical histories. It has been proven that donors who never in their lives had shown the slightest symptom of liver disease, were "carriers" of hepatitis virus just the same.

They began working out their test in 1954 in the Detroit Receiving Hospital. Eventually they subjected the blood of 14,755 donors to it. The serum part of the blood of 567 of these 14,755 created a high degree of turbidity in the chemical solution. The whole blood of these 567 was transfused into 193 hospital patients. Ten of the 193 developed serum hepatitis.

BUT WHOLE BLOOD from other donors which caused little turbidity was transfused into 603 patients. And there were no positive cases of serum hepatitis among them.

If the high-turbidity blood had been discarded, it would have meant the loss of 567 units of whole blood in order to prevent 10 positive cases of serum hepatitis and cases of "possible" serum hepatitis. The scientists granted that some colleagues would argue that the seriousness of the disease in the particular patients wouldn't justify discarding so much blood.

They also granted that the test would not detect all "carriers" of the virus. They said, though, they said, of 10 cases of serum hepatitis resulting from the transfusion of low-turbidity blood. These cases were not in their own study.

Nevertheless, they asserted, "the hazard of serum hepatitis is greatly increased when blood is transfused from donors whose serums have significantly abnormal values for thymol turbidity." The principal reactive chemical in their solution is thymol which is derived from thyme, a member of the mint family and a seasoner of soups and sauces.

POLICE COOL TO NEW CARS!

PHOENIX (AP)—Police officers are quickly burned up at air-cooling systems in automobiles.

The reason: motorists can't hear their sirens.

One officer complained, "on a hot call nowadays, you might as well blow your whistle as your siren.

"They roll up the car windows, turn on the refrigeration, switch on the radio and ride along in cool, quiet comfort. But they can't hear a thing."

Find Body Of Lost Tot On Mountain

BRIDGEPORT, Calif. (AP) — The body of little David Allen Scott was brought to this mountain community late Tuesday after the youngster—dead of exposure and exhaustion — was found at the 8,500-foot level of Eagles Peak.

The boy, who would have been 3 next Monday, strayed Saturday from the Sierra campsite of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott of San Diego.

The body, clad only in a T-shirt, red, white and blue socks and one shoe, was found among boulders on the steep slope. He had climbed an incredible 3,000 feet higher than the camp, losing his other little red canvas shoe and his brown play trousers along the way.

Grenade Blast Aboard Navy Vessel Kills 3

Explosion Occurs During Experiments Off Long Island

NEW LONDON, Conn. (UP)—Three sailors were killed and eight others injured, four seriously, by a "king sized hand grenade" which misfired Wednesday night aboard the Navy escort vessel Somersworth.

The bodies of the dead were "severely mangled" by fragments from the 2½-pound charge of TNT in the grenade which is used in underwater sound experiments, Capt. Walter Wellham, chief medical officer at the Navy base here, said.

The Somersworth was conducting "test operations" 100 miles off Montauk Point, eastern tip of Long Island, when the explosion occurred at 5:45 p.m. on the forecastle deck, the Navy said.

From first reports Navy investigators believe a time fuse on the charge may have been defective. A board of officers here is conducting an investigation of the accident, the Navy said.

WELLHAM SAID the flying steel fragments tore holes in the bodies of the dead. One arm was missing from one body, he said. He also said he had reports some of the four seriously injured were in poor condition.

The four seriously injured were taken off the Somersworth by the British liner Queen Mary and treated by the Cunard liner's medical officers before they were transferred to a Navy rescue ship.

A report from the Queen Mary's medical officer, Wellham said, praised highly the quick medical assistance given the wounded by two Navy pharmacist mates.

One, Corbett Radcliffe, of New Orleans, had escaped injury from the explosion by 10 seconds. He had just left the firing group when the blast occurred, Wellham said.

THE QUEEN MARY's medical officers reported that Radcliffe and Chief Pharmacist Mate Clarence Williams, who boarded the Somersworth from the submarine Tirante, had given first aid which meant a difference between life and immediate death to the four injured.

They treated the injured for shock and administered blood plasma, the liner's doctor said. Then they treated the injured's wounds.

The Navy said the charges such as the one which exploded were

Appeal Throughout County Is Backed By Many Groups

Organizations, clubs, churches and groups throughout Kankakeeland will join Friday in launching a county-wide appeal for funds to aid victims of the weekend flood that devastated the Kankakee area.

The appeal will be carried into businesses, industries, and homes throughout the county through hundreds of volunteer solicitors who are being organized today through the efforts of several score organizations.

The appeal is being coordinated and administered by a special organization entitled the Kankakee County Flood Relief working in conjunction with the Kankakee County Chapter of Red Cross. Headquarters will be on the second floor of the Kankakee Armory.

Machinery for the appeal was set up Wednesday through a series of special committee meetings held at the Kankakee Chamber of Commerce. Representatives of organizations which indicated they wished to cooperate in the humanitarian appeal attended a morning meeting and chose an organizational committee to set up the framework for the solicitations. Organizational meetings were held in the afternoon.

Joe Berz, general chairman of the appeal, said that although soliciting will be carried on throughout the county, persons are being encouraged to mail in their contributions if not personally solicited.

CONTRIBUTIONS may be directed either to the Kankakee County Flood Relief or to the Kankakee County Chapter of Red Cross Disaster Fund. Checks may be made out to either. Contributions may be mailed to either, care of the Kankakee postmaster.

Monies derived from the appeal will be administered by the Red Cross as coordinating agency according to its regular policies of aiding victims in time of disaster. Financial aid will be given on the basis of need and hardship, as it is done in all parts of the country by the Red Cross at the time of disaster.

Groundwork for the appeal was laid by an executive committee composed of representatives of organizations meeting Wednesday morning at the Chamber and, by an organizational committee, set

Fight Move To Limit Bill To Voting Rights

Desegregation Of Schools May Lose Out In Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supporters of the administration's civil rights bill fought today against mounting Senate sentiment to confine the measure's terms to the protection of voting rights.

A influential senator who asked not to be quoted by name said leadership polls indicate a majority of the Senate now favors an amendment by Senators Anderson (D-NM) and Aiken (R-Vt) to narrow the bill's scope.

Anderson and Aiken have proposed eliminating a section which would authorize the attorney general to seek injunctions to enforce all civil rights, including desegregation of schools and other public places.

If the amendment were adopted, the proposed authority of the attorney general to intervene would be limited to cases involving voting rights.

SEN. KNOWLAND (R-Calif) told reporters he believes the vote on the amendment "will be close but at this point I don't believe the section would be stricken from the bill."

As an indication he wasn't certain of any such results, however, Knowland joined with Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) Wednesday in a

1,500 Illinoisans Flee Gas Fumes

RED BUD (UP)—About 1,500 of the 2,000 residents of Red Bud fled their homes today when foul-smelling anhydrous ammonia gas enveloped the town.

Twenty-five persons became ill, but none required hospitalization. Tree leaves, grass and garden plants in the northwest portion of the city, where the choking fumes were concentrated, turned black and will die. White houses turned brown.

THE GAS ESCAPED when a hose broke as Claude Simpson was filling a tank truck with the eye-watering fertilizer component at his bulk station. He repaired the leak in about an hour after finding a gas mask.

Mayor Walter Schuchmann said the night watchman at the bulk station called to tell of the leak about 6 a.m. c.d.t. Schuchmann turned on the fire siren and let it blast continuously.

He then went to the town telephone switchboard and answered dozens of inquiring calls, warning them to leave town.

Police officer Henry Braun raced up and down the street in the hardest hit section to warn the residents.

In 10 to 15 minutes, Schuchmann said, about three-quarters of the population was on the way out, some on foot and others in cars and trucks.

Some went to Roma, about five miles south, while others climbed to higher ground on the outskirts of town.

"Everybody kept calm," Schuchmann said. "I'm proud of the way

Loans Appear Only Flood Aid Available

State and Federal government sources indicated today that the only form of federal aid available to Kankakee flood victims is individual loans.

These loans, at 3 per cent interest, are made by the State Farmer's Home Administration on application of the individual.

Each loan application is judged on its own merits.

Applications for such loans should be made to the State Farmer's Home Administration, 14 Federal Building, Champaign, Ill. George H. Reuss is the director.

The loans are available to both urban and rural residents.

State aid is channeled through the American Red Cross, Illinois disaster fund.

The General Assembly has appropriated $50,000 as a reserve for emergency and temporary measures to save life and relieve suffering in disasters.

Gov. William G. Stratton, on June 18, before the Kankakee floods directed the state finance department to turn over $20,000 to the Red Cross to alleviate suffering caused by earlier windstorms and floods in various areas of Illinois.

Drop Charges Against 4 In Clinton Segregation Trial

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The government today dropped criminal contempt charges against 4 of the 15 defendants in the Clinton segregation trial.

U. S. Dist. Atty. John C. Crawford Jr. at the outset of today's session asked for dismissal of criminal contempt charges against Thomas Sanders, Chris Foust, J. B. Long and J. L. Coley.

"In my opinion the evidence is not sufficient to warrant conviction of these men," Crawford told U. S. Dist. Judge Robert L. Taylor. "Therefore, I move to dismiss the charges against them."

Judge Taylor agreed.

CRAWFORD THEN told the court the government rested its case in the nine-day-old trial.

Chief Defense Counsel Robert L. Dobbs, Memphis, immediately moved for directed verdict of acquittal for the 10 remaining Clinton area defendants.

Taylor merely nodded his head without committing himself as to what his decision would be.

The statement setting forth reason for the defense motion for dismissal was dictated to the court reporter by Grover S. McLeod of Birmingham.

McLeod's statement asserted, point by point, that the government had not shown evidence to support charges against the defendants.

The statement said, "it has not been shown" that the defendants had knowledge or notice of the final injunction issued by Taylor prohibiting interference with integration at the school.

The statement denied that they had entered into any agreement together to violate the injunction, or that they entered into an agreement "to cause others to violate it."

It asserted that there was no evidence to show that they entered into an agreement with Kasper to violate the injunction or to "attack and villify the Rev. Paul Turner" on Dec. 4, 1956.

FINALLY, THE defense's blanket motion asserted that the U. S. District Court has no jurisdiction over the case.

J. Benjamin Simmons, Washington, D.C., attorney for Kasper, made an even more sweeping motion for dismissal of the charges against his client.

Among other things, Simmons contended that the evidence produced by the government shows

Israeli-Syrian Armies Poised At Border

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UP)—Highways leading to the tense Syria-Israeli border are clogged with Syrian troop reinforcements moving into the area, reliable sources said today. Syria also was reported to have cancelled all army leaves.

The same sources quoted Syrian army officers as saying Israel had massed artillery and men at its border with Syria and in the demilitarized zones where Israel used tanks last week against Syrian guns in a ten-hour border battle.

A report from Damascus said an army alert was declared in Syria at start of the troop movements, but it was not established here whether the alert was regional or nationwide.

Illinois Legislator James Bowler Dies

CHICAGO (UP)—Rep. James B. Bowler (D., Ill.) died at his home today after an illness of several months. He was 62.

Bowler suffered from complications arising from arthritis.

He is survived by his wife, Anastasia, and two sisters, Mrs. James M. Shea and Mrs. Lillian Rafkis, all of Chicago.

Funeral arrangements were not immediately known.

Bowler had been a member of the House since 1953. He succeeded the late Adolph J. Sabath.

Confidence Vote Sought In France

PARIS (AP) — Premier Maurice Bourgès-Maunoury today staked his government's short life on his demand for special powers aimed to cope with Algerian terrorism in France itself. He called for a vote of confidence Friday on the issue.

Man Told Truth About Murder— But Was It Marilyn Sheppard?

DELAND, Fla. (AP)—A lie detector expert says Donald Wedler told only the truth in a lengthy examination but that he still is a Cleveland woman about the time Mrs. Sheppard was killed July 4, 1954.

"In no place in the examination did Wedler tell anything except the truth," Gregory said, but added he needs further examination before making a final report of Wedler's test.

Gregory said he plans another lie detector test on Wedler today.

Mrs. Sheppard's husband is serving a life sentence for the slaying. The Court of Last Resort, a non-profit organization of legal and literary experts has been investigating for some time to determine whether justice was done.

CLEVELAND POLICE say they put no credence in the confession Wedler made earlier this week while being held in Volusia County Jail on an escape charge.

Herman Lewis, a publicity man for the court, said Gregory had wired his findings to Erle Stanley Gardner, the mystery writer who is head of the courts, and that Gardner in turn had wired the findings to the governor of Ohio.

After Wednesday night's session with Wedler, Gregory said "I'm not satisfied one way or the other now. This is too serious a case to jump to a hasty conclusion."

The test was given in the presence of Sheriff Rodney B. Thursby and Park Street of San Antonio, the court's legal expert Thursby, who gave Gregory and Street permission to see the prisoner, said he would have no statement until "something conclusive develops."

Thursby is also expecting a visit Friday from Dr. Stephen Sheppard, brother of the convicted man, and attorney Fred Garmone of Cleveland.

STEPHEN SHEPPARD has been trying to free his brother. Garmone said he was optimistic about the alleged confession and that "this sounds like it may be the real thing."

Cleveland police say there are several discrepancies between Wedler's account and the facts they gathered in their investigation.

Wedler said he was ransacking a woman's bedroom in Cleveland, hit her two or three times with an iron pipe when she stirred, and that he slugged a man with the pipe as he fled.

Cleveland authorities said Mrs. Sheppard was struck 35 times, her room was not ransacked and that Sheppard claimed he grappled with an intruder both inside and outside the house. Sheppard described the intruder as large and with dark hair. Wedler is 5 feet 11 and is a blond.

Wedler, a native of Washington, D.C., is awaiting trial for prison escape. He was serving 10 years for a robbery at Tampa.

Board Studying Leopold Parole Request Decision

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — The Illinois Pardon and Parole Board met today to weigh executive clemency petition under which Nathan Leopold, jr. seeking his release from Stateville Prison.

After they conclude their deliberations, board members later will submit a recommendation on the case to Gov. Stratton, who will make the final decision on whether Leopold is freed.

Leopold has spent 33 years in prison for his part in the 1924 Chicago slaying of 14-year-old Bobby Franks. Richard Loeb, convicted with Leopold, was slain in a prison knifing in 1936.

The board held a public hearing on Leopold's petition July 8. In his petition, the 52-year-old convict pleaded for his freedom in order to "give me a chance to try to be useful and to justify my existence."

Virginia Boating Tragedy Kills 5

FRONT ROYAL, Va. (UP)—Two women and three 7-year-old boys, all related, drowned Wednesday when their apparently overloaded aluminum boat capsized in the Shenandoah River.

An unidentified man and a woman swam to safety, according to state police. The man made a futile effort to aid the victims, police said.

The 12-foot, flat-bottomed boat capsized only minutes after leaving a dock for a fishing trip on the north fork of the Shenandoah River.

State police said the boat apparently was overloaded.

Committee Approves Postal Pay Increase

WASHINGTON (UP)—A House Committee today approved a 536-million-dollar-a-year pay raise for the government's 850,000 classified employes despite President Eisenhower's opposition.

The measure cleared the Post Office and Civil Service Committee by a 14-10 vote.

It would provide an 11 per cent pay boost. No employe, however, would get more than a $1,000 raise or get his salary raised above $16,000 a year.

A SEPARATE BILL raising pay of postal workers by 12 per cent is scheduled for House action and almost certain passage next Monday.

Enactment of both pay boosts would add an estimated 936 million dollars a year to the cost of operating the federal government.

Eisenhower has opposed any general pay raise as inflationary.

80 Panic As Plane Makes Sharp Dive

EL PASO, Tex. (UP)—A passenger on an American Airlines DC8 told today how panic broke loose briefly when the plane descended sharply from a 14,000-foot altitude hurling all 80 persons aboard from their seats.

Jesse Bibbs, supervisor of the Fresno, Calif., County Hospital, said from his hospital bed that he helped to calm the frightened passengers who were wandering in the plane's aisle and gave first aid to an injured woman.

Capt. Ed Bachmer, a pilot with American for 15 years, said he veered right when he saw a green light ahead, presuming it was the left-wing running light of another aircraft.

THE INCIDENT occurred on a New York to Los Angeles flight. Bibbs and Mrs. Mena Katz of Los Angeles suffered neck dislocations and eight others were treated for minor injuries. The plane made an unscheduled stop at El Paso so that Bibbs and Mrs. Katz could be hospitalized.

"None of us had our safety belts buckled," Bibbs said. "We were all thrown from our seats. At the end of the dive, the plane turned again and threw me back in my seat.

"The passengers had been pretty well shaken up by the incident and everyone kind of panicked and was wandering around in the aisle," Bibbs said.

"I thank God we had a good pilot and we are still alive," Mrs. Katz said.
