In Piper City: Getting In Trim For The Big Game

There's more than one way to get in trim for the big game as demonstrated by Mrs. Lloyd Hornstein of Piper City (kneeling) while her teammates, City Slickers (in shorts) and opponents, Country Hicks, resort to more fundamental tactics. In any event, they'll be in shape for the female basketball games scheduled by the Piper City High School Alumni Association for Monday night in the school gymnasium. The first game at 7:30 p.m. will feature two high school teams. The slickers and Hicks will follow. E. M. Coltray and Thos. Sternberg, with nerves of steel, will referee. Demonstrating some of the finer techniques of the game are (from left) Mrs. Charles Pokorny, Mrs. Richard Kopp, Mrs. Ralph Froehlich and Mrs. John Walker. (Journal photo)

Begin Organization of Group To Combat Smutty Literature

Formal organization of a civic group to combat what was termed "the problem of indecent literature in our community" was advanced at a public meeting held Tuesday evening in the Kankakee City Council chambers.

The meeting was attended by approximately 100 persons including many city and county officials. A temporary chairman, temporary executive board of five members was named to plan future action and organization details. A second meeting was set for March 4 at the city hall.

James Fitzgerald of 305 S. Osborn Ave., who presided at the meeting, was nominated as temporary chairman along with Miss Betty Stella of 114 S. Osborn Ave., who served as secretary, as temporary secretary. Nominees from the group for the board members, who were unanimously approved by voice vote, were S. O. (Bob) Swager, Henry Keminsky, the Rev. John T. Frazer, Mrs. Glen Brougham and Mrs. Herman Olson.

The meeting opened with a summary of the purpose of Fitzgerald and reports from various individuals on the problem of indecent literature, what the situation is locally, a resume of activities which the organizing group had done and a report on what has been done in other communities.

FIRST SPEAKER was Mrs. Thomas R. Houde, president of the Junior Woman's Club. She reviewed the efforts of the club and the Woman's Club on a national and local scale. Mrs. Houde said that last November the matter of indecent literature was considered by the board of directors and public welfare committee of the JWC and letters were sent to local dealers asking them to clean up their magazine racks. "The situation hasn't noticeably improved," she reported. Mrs. Houde also quoted a city ordinance, passed Nov. 7, 1955 which she said was instigated by the JWC and is on the city's books. The ordinance provides it is unlawful to sell, offer for sale, circulate or expose "in any public place or anywhere in view of a store or place frequented by the public any immoral, indecent or obscene pictures, printed or written matter, or picture or photograph or other representation." The ordinance provides fines from $25 to $200 per offense.

William Flynn reviewed a group of approximately 15 current magazines, reading cover titles and showing pictures, which he said could be bought on many stands in Kankakee. Mrs. Herman Olson gave a resume of activities of the promoting group. She said that she had interviewed 15 current magazines and that she had asked three questions.

FIRST, THEY ASKED IF THE group had seen the distributor; second, if other magazine dealers would go along; and third, if they could be furnished a list of publications considered indecent. Mrs. Olson reported that one distributor said he has a major problem with teenagers taking magazines to booths to read while eating or drinking soft drinks. She said several dealers reported magazines were considered a sales attraction and there was little profit in them.

The group applauded a remark by Mrs. Olson thanking the Kankakee Daily Journal for its editorial and publishing a recent series of letters to the editor.

Monroe Flynn reported to the group on activities in other communities which have become com-

Michael Floriant, Infant, Dies; Funeral Thursday

Coroner William Spillane has announced that an infant will be held in the death of 4-month-old Michael Floriant, found dead in bed at his home in Otto, Ill., Tuesday.

Michael, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen A. Floriant, apparently had been dead for several hours before he was found.

The baby was reported to apparently have been in normal health at his last feeding and an autopsy as well as failed to show the exact cause of death.

Michael was born Oct. 17 in the newstands. He died at activities in Coral Gables, Fla., including a city and state law passed there and activities in other communities.

The categories range from under $50,000 of annual gross retail sales as the lowest, to over $50,000, as the highest.

William Jardine, assistant manager of Commerce manager, is to conduct a survey among retailers to determine what category each belongs and also to determine the number of employees in each retail establishment at a peak season. These two factors are to be employed in establishing membership fees.

The retailers also discussed the recent Dollar Day sales here and the "convention" for retailers and the Future Distributors' Club of the high school. Both events were termed successful.

There was a brief discussion about improvement of local parking facilities but no action was taken.

Plans for the new cafeteria for the St. Patrick's Grade School were announced at the Parent Teacher Club meeting Tuesday night. The Rev. F. A. Heater Ignites Blanket Used To Keep Car Warm

A car owned by Thomas Martin, 729 Hammes Ave., sustained $200 damage early today when an electric heater ignited a blanket placed over the car motor.

The blanket and heater were being used to keep the engine warm. A neighbor, Mrs. James Stansbury, 729 Hammes Ave., noticed the blaze and called the fire department about 3:50 a.m.

After receiving a call about 12:15 a.m. today that the home of George Ward, 937 S. Dearborn Ave., was filling with smoke, firemen discovered that a pipe on the furnace had become loosened. There was no damage.

Robert Cook Kefauver, 87, father of Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), died today at his home here. He was a former mayor of Madisonville and long-time business leader.

Rocky Road To Independence

Developments on the Tunisian business will continue long after the present dispute is equated.

The French bombed a Tunisian border village some 10 days ago because Algerian rebels fleeing their pursuers found refuge there. The rebels were conducting raids against the French from Tunisian sanctuary.

This is not going to stop. Algerian rebels will keep seeking asylum in neighboring Morocco and Tunisia. Both these nations were granted their independence by France less than two years ago but their people remember colonialism with bitterness. They also feel that Algeria is a hostage of this system.

It is difficult to equate this particular set of unhappy circumstances. It would be the same if Tunisia and Morocco became active members of NATO. They couldn't guarantee that their people would stand idle while their Algerian friends were fighting the French.

Prestige May Dip At Brussels

At the coming Brussels World Fair, one of the biggest and most intelligently conceived in history, the United States will have a rare opportunity to portray for millions of visitors the exciting story of its achievements and its hopes for the future.

Unhappily, this is a story we have not told too well in the past. We have an urgent need to tell it better. American prestige has only just begun to come back from the depths to which it sank after Russia's 1957 satellite launchings.

The Brussels exhibition, opening April 17, gives us a remarkable "platform" upon which to display the full range of American life for seven long months. Belgium is outdoing itself to provide the participating nations with an expansive physical and cultural setting.

It is incredible to realize, therefore, that as matters now stand the United States will not be adequately represented at Brussels. Congress has voted only $12,345,000 for our effort, as against $60 million to be spent by Russia, not including its 10 million for related propaganda.

Complete Arab Unity Still Far Off

The dream of the Arabs for a big United Arab Nation received a big boost as a result of the recent Egyptian-Syrian merger and the even more recent federation of Jordan and Iraq.

The complete fusion of the 11 far-flung Arab States, however, still appears to be a long way off for many reasons. One small part of the Arab world, is so far federated and some Arab areas, such as Algeria, still remain under the domination of western colonial powers.

Few westerners realize the vast extent of the Arab world. Geographically speaking, the 11 nations comprising the

While the misdeeds... race is of critical importance, it probably is of no more so than the race to win the trust, respect, confidence and regard of the people of the rest of the world, no matter where they live.—White House Assistant SHERMAN ADAMS on Ike's call for East-West cultural conference.

Well-conceived comic books with all their fantasy can cause day dreams in children that some day may rise to new scientific frontiers. The present challenge to scientific writers in the production of juvenile books is tremendous.—Dr. CARROLL V. NEWSON, president of New York University.

The big problems are on this planet, not in outer space. There's not much time to put this planet in order.—ARNOLD J. TOYNBEE, British historian.

"Not So Hot—How're You Doing?"

Lenten Meditations: I. Good News

By DR. EDWIN T. DAHLBERG
President, National Council of Churches

Mark 1:14, 15: "Now after John was arrested, Jesus came into Galilee, preaching the gospel of God, and saying, 'The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand; repent, and believe in the gospel.'"

One cold winter morning four or five years ago I was sitting in a bus at a suburban station on the edge of Pittsburgh, Pa., waiting to go on to Lewisburg, where I was to speak at a student convocation at Bucknell University.

It was a bitterly cold day. The door of the bus was open, and we were all sitting rather dimly in our seats, waiting for the bus driver to finish his coffee and doughnuts in the depot.

Suddenly there was an electric change in the whole atmosphere. An old news dealer got on board with a bundle of newspapers under his arm. His head was hunched down in his coat collar but his eyes twinkled merrily as he began to call out in the cheeriest voice you could imagine: "GOOD NEWS HERE! Local news, world news, sports news, society news. Morning papers here—five cents a copy."

I HAD ALREADY READ the morning paper. But the spirit of this old news butcher was irresistible. I simply had to buy one of his papers. A man back of me said, "Haven't you got any bad news?" Only in fine print on the back page. I wish to the reply. He sold a paper to every passenger on the bus. As he returned to the front of the aisle, he turned around, bowed to us grandly, and said, "In the name of the bus company, I wish to extend my best wishes for a safe and pleasant journey."

In a far greater and more glorious way than this way Jesus Christ broke in upon the attention of the world: He came saying to the nations, "Good news!"

Man Is Still Balked By Weather

WASHINGTON — Man may be talking big about going to the moon, but actually he hasn't conquered his own problem of communication on earth. The reminder came from blizzards and freezing temperatures in our big cities and communications in the Arctic.

So far as automobiles are concerned, the Soviets have only about 700,000 passenger cars, in contrast to about 56,000,000 passenger cars in the United States. Yet the Soviets have more than 2 1/2 times the number of square miles of territory to cover.

COMMUNICATION DOES substantially affect the opportunity of a people to enjoy a high standard of living. Russia has lots more wintry weather than the United States. What is occasional here is the way of storm paralysis is frequent in Soviet Russia.

There is, in other words, a lot more of progress the Soviet rulers have to make before their people can enjoy the earthly things they would stand in all the aisles and queues, exaggerated response to a variety of emotional disturbances.

The eczema patient becomes more easily excited and gives an exaggerated response to a variety of emotional disturbances. It is whether eczema is primarily induced by emotions or by sensitivity is something about which doctors are in dispute. For example, it was revealed that seven times as many infants on cow's milk develop it.

Manners For Moderns

HERE IS A STANDBY means of transportation which America cannot afford to let fall. The importance of iron tracks which could be cleared for travel in the worst storms, while many auto litter the highways unable to move and themselves blocking other cars, cannot be overestimated. As long as there are steel rails to rely on, the American people can maintain a semblance of normal life no matter what happens in the way of weather.

It makes one wonder, incidentally, what kind of life the people of the United States are enjoying in transportation. It takes a population of more than 200,000,000 the Soviet Union, which is only 7 1/2 times as large as America's 220,000,000. Turning to ordinary highways, the Soviets have only 127,000 miles of road compared to about 2,300,000 miles in the United States. This would ring the earth more than 96 times.

As for telephone, there are only 861,000 in the entire Soviet Union.

Simple Economics

In the old-fashioned capitalistic economics, the determining factor in all situations was the free market. In a word, the law of supply and demand decided prices, wages, profits, prosperity or bad times. Of course, the law of supply and demand was often impaired by natural or unnatural causes such as earthquakes and other disasters generally referred to as acts of God, and wars, rebellions, revolutions and such acts of man.

In recent years, the capitalistic countries have been profoundly affected by the economic philosophy of John Maynard Keynes and his disciples. Their ideas have had their greatest yoke in the United States where they were used by the name of the new deal. Separation of the jargon of the schools from their facts may be stated quite simply as follows:

1. Taxes are to be employed not only as a means of raising revenue for the government but also to control the operations of the economy.
2. When times are bad, the government intervenes (pump priming) to get the economy moving and supports are provided (subsidies, farm relief, etc.) to maintain and protect the economy.

WHAT KEYNES COULD NOT EXPLAIN was how, in a country such as ours, it is possible to get rid of special interest benefits, which subsidies and tariffs are, even in the most prosperous times. After all, elections for the politicians to become statesmen, even temporarily. The result is that most subsidies for individuals or groups, established as emergencies during a depression or a war, have continued even in time of peace.

As the subsidies and reliefs became permanent, the cost of government rose, taxes rose, the value of the dollar fell, and the high cost of living plagued the people.

To avoid inflation in a period of declining currency value, the government resorted to devices which made money tight in a country whose day-by-day postponable purchases are based upon credit. As money became tight, the economy began to move in the direction of a depression so that now we have about 5,000,000 unemployed. The President believes that he can solve this by March which would be impossible. Four income tax returns amounting to $36,000,000,000 as compared with $2,188,000,000 in 1939. The total amount taken out of private possession by the government in 1956 was $78,820,000,000 as compared with $5,667,000,000 in 1939. It was not necessary expenditures as was established by the Hoover reports and various Congressional investigations.

THE LARGEST NUMBER OF RETURNS are in the class of those who have incomes from $500 a year to $10,000 a year. Those who earn between $500 and $1,000 and over number very few, roughly between 200 and 600 returns. If we could find a way of recovering American money from tax and profit havens abroad, this number could be increased, but not too much. The number of returns, for all men, it was the good news that the government had received in 1953 (last complete figures available in the "Statistical Abstract") $10,000,000,000 as against $163,000,000 for all men. It was the good news that the government had received in 1953 (last complete figures available in the "Statistical Abstract") $10,000,000,000 as against $163,000,000 for all men. It was the good news that the government had received in 1953 (last complete figures available in the "Statistical Abstract") $10,000,000,000 as against $163,000,000 for all men.

IT WOULD SEEM LOGICAL, therefore to make it possible for those who, having earned income, put the money back in circulation, to have a break by cutting taxes. Until that is done, buyer's resistance to postponable purchases will continue. If we could find a way of recovering American money from tax and profit havens abroad, this number could be increased, but not too much. The number of returns, for all men, it was the good news that the government had received in 1953 (last complete figures available in the "Statistical Abstract") $10,000,000,000 as against $163,000,000 for all men. Allergies And Emotions

Both allergic and emotional factors apparently play a part in the development of eczema.

A careful study of medical literature on eczema patients reveals that eczema is a skin condition which is physiologically and psychologically a person with this skin trouble often differs from a person without it.

Of course the personality of each patient varies, but most persons with eczema frequently seem to have the following traits:

They have a feeling of inadequacy and inferiority, lack of self-confidence, suppression of aggression and anger, repressed hostility, emotional instability and sometimes sexual difficulties.

Many persons with eczema have above average intelligence. In fact, this is a fairly general trait.

The eczema patient is likely to have a family history of eczema. Often an attack of eczema and asthma alternate in the same person.

An eczema patient probably will be very pale and his skin will be drier and more easily chapped.

In a cool environment, he will chill more quickly and he will not be able to warm himself slowly than persons without similar skin trouble.

He will react more immediately to skin tests. He will react in a different manner than those not troubled by eczema to injections of histamine, epinephrine and other substances.

The eczema patient becomes more easily excited and gives an exaggerated response to a variety of emotional disturbances. It is whether eczema is primarily induced by emotions or by sensitivity is something about which doctors are in dispute. For example, it was revealed that seven times as many infants on cow's milk develop it.

ILLINOIS SENATORS PUSH FOR DIVERSION HEARINGS AGAIN

WASHINGTON — The fight for Senate action on a House-passed bill to increase diversion of water from Lake Michigan by Chicago was renewed today.

Illinois' two senators said they will press for hearings now, and Chairman Kerr (D-Okla.) of the Senate Rivers and Harbors subcommittee said that diversion is a two-front war. He recommended immediate Senate hearings.

Dr. Kerr told a reporter he would ask for the hearings even though the court suit is in progress. Douglas, in a separate interview, said he was drafting such a request and would ask Dr. Kerr to sign it.

THE CONGRESSIONAL and court fights actually involve two fairly distinct issues.

The House-approved bill would permit Chicago to divert an additional 1,000 cubic feet a second from the lake directly into the Illinois waterway, connecting Lake Michigan and the Mississippi River. A 1930 Supreme Court decision limits that total to 1,500 cubic feet.

The anti-diversion states have asked the Supreme Court to re-open the 1930 case and stop diversion of the 1,000-3,000 cubic feet of water pumped by Chicago for drinking and other domestic purposes. The 1,500 cubic feet limit on direct diversion for navigation purposes would not be affected.

Kerr, considered a pro-diversion senator, said he did not know how soon hearings would begin. He attempted to bring the matter to a vote without hearings last fall, but it was blocked by a Democratic filibuster. The Senate approved a bill to divert water from the lake to the Mississippi River.

Dad, Son Die In Missouri Fire; 5 Saved

WARRENTON, Mo. (UP)—Fire swept through a farm home here late Tuesday, trapping a father and son in the flames while the mother and four other children escaped with burns.

Warrenton Sheriff Paul Wright identified the victims as Dewey Tyarks, 34, and his son, Dewey Jr., 10. Their father, Richard Tyarks, 58, was taken to Children's Hospital in St. Louis with critical burns. He was the last to leave the burning building.

The mother, Mrs. Mary Ann Tyarks, 31, her daughter by a previous marriage, Ann White, 14, Richard Tyarks, 9, and John, 7 1/2, escaped with minor burns.

THE FIRE APPARENTLY started on the rear porch of the residence, about five miles south of here. A neighbor, David Gopier, said he believed the blaze may have started from a lantern near frozen water pipes on the porch to thaw them.

Flames engulfed the kitchen and spread rapidly. Young Ann carried the baby to safety.

Volunteer firemen from Warrenton arrived within 10 minutes. The building was destroyed but Williams and his wife managed to save a few belongings.

Expect Board Ruling Thursday On Leopold, Touhy

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—The state parole board met today but was not expected to consider the cases of thrill player Nathan Leopold and gangster Roger Touhy until Thursday.

Chairman Franklin U. Stranksy said the board decided to advance the start of its meeting from Thursday to today because of a heavy market of cases and the additional time it may take to decide the Leopold and Touhy cases.

Leopold, 35, was asked for freedom from the kidnapping and murder sentences he has been serving since 1934 for the slaying of Bobby Franks, 14, in Chicago.

Touhy, 55, is seeking parole on a sentence for kidnapping John (Jake the Barber) Factor in 1934. But if Touhy wins parole, he will must serve some time on the three years remaining of a prison escape sentence and the earliest he could be freed from prison is August, 1959.

Works Nights To Go To School

Some people work nights because it's a job, some like it better than days and others do it because it provides them with an opportunity to do something they couldn't if they worked days.

White A City Sleeps

Jefferson, O. Brock, 202 E. Duane St., Bourbonnais, fits into the last category. With ambitions of becoming a minister and with a family to support, night work provides him with a chance to earn a livelihood, and still pursue his theological studies.

Brock, a native of Bartow, Fla., is a sophomore at Olivet Nazarene College. He works 40 hours a week as a night janitor in a downtown office, and carries 12 credit hours of study at school. His night work shift is from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Carrying a full load at school and working at night to support a family demands a very tight time budget, Brock says.

When he gets off work at 1 a.m. he sleeps until about 8 a.m. Classes begin at 8:30 and end at 11:30 or 12:30 depending on the day's schedule. Afternoon until it's time to go to work he spends studying, usually at the college library. "My wife tries to assure me some peace and quiet from the baby, but it doesn't always work."

Business Eyes Cutting Costs In Recession

Editor's Note: Cutting costs is one of the first things business turns to in a recession. That's being done now. In the following article, first of a series, an AP business news analyst, Sam Dams, outlines what steps business in general is taking now.

NEW YORK (U.S.) — Going steady is a problem today for heads of business houses too. In this case it's the unwelcome trend for high or even record sales to keep company with falling profits and that's causing management some sleepless nights hunting for ways to cut costs.

In its more painful form this has led to closure of unprofitable plants or retail outlets, layoffs or shortened work weeks.

In its mildest form cost cutting is the old time economy wave which sweeps offices and factories periodically, stressing savings in pencils, phone calls and electric light bills.

When they can, plants are trying to offset rising labor costs by getting more product per man hour — this includes stepping up mechanization and automation.

A recent variant was the reported pact between labor and management in the construction trades for the elimination of featherbedding and other costly tricks of the trade.

Some firms cut back on customer services, prune outgrowth routines and methods, cut away employee deadwood.

Customers complain that some firms are saving money by lowering the quality of their products.

Two forms of cost cutting popular of late — lowering the costs of turning a good into a product by purchasing and postponing plans for building new plant or buying new equipment — have been blamed for starting this recession. The duration of these practices has been called the setter of the slump's time table.

Another form of saving — dodging bank charges for needed cash by postponing borrowing or by asking stockholders to buy new corporate security issues — instead of regularly by some bankers as perhaps as great a reason for softening interest rates as the so-called of the federal reserve board so far.

Some firms are discouraged by the seemingly built-in increases to many of their costs. Long labor contracts include annual wage raises. Transportation, distribution and packaging charges rise. And cost cutting often runs up against customer resistance as a repair bill when a rival firm may be offering the customer more.

Repair bills are getting a closer look. Obsolete machinery and unused buildings are being inventoried. Some firms scrap them for what their metal content will bring.

Railroads and airlines report that executive traveling seems to be dwindling. They figure that some corporate controllers are asking: Is this trip really necessary?

By GAYNOR MADDOX, NEA Food and Markets Editor

Quick, deluxe, meatless and economical, this creamed crab fits into the Lenten schedule deliciously. It costs approximately $2.50 about six servings. The key to its ease, the jelly sauce, is made with instant nonfat dry milk, eliminating the necessity of making a roux.

Gas Withdrawals From Herscher Set Records

Gas withdrawals from the Natural Gas Storage Co. of Illinois near Herscher during the present cold snap have set new records, according to officials of the company.

For the 24-hour period from noon Monday to noon Tuesday 415 million cubic feet of gas were withdrawn to meet the soaring demands in the Chicago metropolitan area.

The seven-day record set in January 1957 of 3,500,000 cubic feet of gas withdrawal also has been broken. From Feb. 11 to noon Tuesday total gas withdrawal was 1,774,000 cubic feet.

From Feb. 2 through noon today a total of 2,520,000 cubic feet of gas has been sent out of the storage dome at Herscher.

These figures are estimates on a 1,000 BTU per cubic foot basis. Company officials say experience has shown that estimates are reasonably close to actual consumption. Actual consumption is not known until several weeks after individual meters all have been read.

It being regarded as any sort of "give-away" program.

"STRESSING the economic aid phase and the danger of free food penetration, Eisenhower noted that Communist concentration on monetary assistance and similar aid.

"Military strength alone is not an adequate barrier to this insidious process. To defeat the spread of communism by these means, economic progress is essential," he said.

"The leaders of the Communist bloc are acutely aware that the economic needs of the underdeveloped nations offer communism a valuable opportunity to influence the political direction in which those nations will move.

For the past three years, the Soviet Union, Communist China, and the satellite nations have been offering increasing amounts of economic and technical aid to the countries of the free world, often under conditions that, on the surface, are appealing."

"It is up to the United States, Eisenhower said, to convince those countries—many of them overly stricken—that it is not necessary to sacrifice liberty for aid."

Eisenhower expressed a prayer for the Soviet Union which he said would be "a free world by Communist imperialism," he said.

Prevention of Communist subversion and penetration is another aim and the danger in that area is through Communist economic aid, he said.

suggestions. Ed Poloway, vice president in charge of sales for the Chicago firm that makes PITT dentures, headed the brainstorming demonstration.

"T TROUBLE is fatal to salesmen, said Ernest Conos, director of sales training for Armco and Co. Conos said that 20 cents of the salesmen do 80 per cent of the business, and explained how they do it."

"A canned talk will kill a salesman," he warned. He said sales personnel should take this attitude towards a customer: "Here is a friend and I've got something for him."

The program was sponsored by the Future Distributors of Kankakee-High School in conjunction with the retail trade division of the Chamber of Commerce and the educational division of the Illinois Retail Merchants Association.

Reverend Coach, president of the Future Distributors, presided, along with Edwin Pearson, the students' teacher, Marilyn Orendowski, program chairman, introduced Meek.

Meek spoke at a dinner in the high school cafeteria which preceded the creative selling clinic in the auditorium.

Red China To Withdraw Troops From North Korea

SEOUL, Korea.—Red China said today it will withdraw all its troops from North Korea by the end of this year. The move is another attempt to pressure U. N. forces out of North Korea.

The Communist "volunteers" who poured across the Yalu River from Manchuria during the Korean War will begin retreating by April 30, U. N. forces here said today.

Mrs. Mildred Thompson, who teaches 15 children in a special education class in the public school here, said her class is something like the old-fashioned one-room school.

"However," she added, "it lacks the advantages of the old little red schoolhouse in not having any high school children to help the teacher."

Mrs. Thompson, who said the difficulties and discouragements of handling such a class are sometimes almost overwhelming, pointed out that items of information carefully chosen and presented can have startling effects which greatly encourage her, as well as the children.

For example, she said, her pupils were impressed by the information that George Washington was a slow reader and poor in spelling.

"The children were much concerned about the plight of the first President, the teacher said, and were visibly encouraged in their own efforts to learn."

Demonstrating workbooks was Mrs. Thompson said, however, that she does not use any textbook which identifies the class activity as being any different than that of regular classes of the same age level.

The general subject of special education activities locally was discussed by James Finley, director of these activities, who said that children in such classes are those who are intellectually gifted, at one extreme, or who have speech problems, or physically handicapped, or are socially or emotionally maladjusted, at the other extreme.

"The school's concern for these children," he said, "is not charity, but sound business practice."

He pointed out that state law and local school policy calls for free schools for all children, with no exception for the so-called normal or the retarded.

"The prime goal of education," he emphasized, "is to prepare all children to enter the community on the best possible basis."

IN THE LOCAL SPECIAL-education program, Finley said, there are 12 persons, besides himself, including the school psychologist, a visiting counselor, two special teachers, a teacher for the physically handicapped, five speech correctionists, and two teachers for home-bound pupils.

There are 300 children involved. Also as part of the P-T-A program, an art class demonstration was given by Mrs. Nita McGee, art supervisor at Taft, who had representatives from the art classes during the past year.

During the unit's business meeting, the members approved a proposal by William Bieber, P-T-A president, that he approach the school supervisor about improvement of the telephone answering system in the school.

The telephone is now in the sixth grade classroom and, Bieber said, tends to disrupt the class.

The unit received an invitation from the Washington School P-T-A unit to attend the latter's meeting the evening of March 5, when the speaker will be Dr. Franklin R. Fitch, executive director of the Illinois Social Hygiene League and associate director of Northwestern University's medical school clinic.

His subject, dealing with sex education for children, will be entitled, "Parents are children's first teachers—how would you answer it?"

16 Found Dead Aboard Crashed Plane In Italy

NAPLES, Italy.—Ground-patrols reached the wreckage of a U. S. B-24 Superfortress transport plane on Mt. Vesuvius today, and reported by radio that all of its 16 passengers were dead.

The wreckage had been spotted earlier by a search plane. Patrols battled snowstorms and sleet to the 3,000-foot level of the volcano, where the plane crashed four days ago, after taking off from Naples for Athens.

Heavy fog shrouding Vesuvius and southern Italy since the day and the wreckage was sighted from the air.

Cold Eases In Midwest, Lingers In East

GENE FRANTZ, 16, Cullom High School sophomore literally has his hands full with his FFA prize pig. He saw delivered a litter of 17 pigs, all of which are still living after nine days. He and his grandfather keep a close eye on the litter. (Journal photo)

Giant Litter Keeps Cullom Youth Busy

CULLOM (JNS)—A Cullom boy and his grandfather have practically established an around the clock watch on a litter of 17 pigs. The pigs, now nine days old, have to feed in rotation.

Gene Frantz, 16, normally lives in the village with his parents. But since the arrival of the pigs, he's been staying on his grandfather's farm located 2½ miles east and one mile north of Cullom.

Everett Sandusky, Gene's vocational agriculture teacher, said there is no reason why the pigs shouldn't live unless the mother lies on some of them or they don't get enough nourishment.

If Gene can keep his big litter alive, he will beat the state average of 7.1 pigs per litter weaned by better than 100 per cent.

Gene's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Frantz Jr. and his grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Frantz Sr. Gene is a sophomore at Cullom High School.

Austrians Prefer Carrier Pigeons

VIENNA (U)—In a world talking about an "ultimate weapon" the Austrian army thinks highly of carrier pigeons.

The Cabinet has approved a "carrier pigeon bill 1958." It legalizes the army's use of the birds as a means of communication, hitherto the province of the security police.

"Carrier pigeons are preferred in situations when radio communication can be intercepted and telephone lines tapped," a Cabinet spokesman said.

The season's coldest and stormiest weather appeared easing in some sections of the midcontinent today but the nation's over-all weather picture was not bright.

There was no letup in the big task of snow removal in the storm-battered Northeast and other areas hit by record falls over the weekend.

Business and industry, dealt staggering blows by the violent weather, worked to restore operations to normal.

RELIEF WORK continued for the countless thousands who suffered misery and inconvenience. In Eastern areas there were isolated rural villages, marooned farmers, fuel and food shortages in the wake of the worst snowstorm in years in many places. Transportation was hard hit in the Northeast.

Although temperatures moderated a little in some central parts of the country, winter's longest stretch of cold weather persisted in most of the Eastern half.

Light snow and gusty winds hampered snow removal jobs across the deep snow belt from Michigan and the lower Great Lakes region eastward through much of New York and Pennsylvania and interior sections of New England.

Refreshments were served by the hosts. The next meeting will be on March 13 in the home of Mrs. William Regnier.

Spaceman Goes Home To New York

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (U)—Airman Donald G. Farrell, who soared through simulated space conditions for a week, takes off today in a conventional type of aircraft for a visit with his parents in New York.

Farrell is slated for a round of television appearances and will return to Randolph Air Force Base Feb. 28.

Today, the 23-year-old airman underwent additional physical examinations given by scientists seeking answers to the effects of space flight on man. Farrell emerged Sunday from a sealed cabin at the School of Aviation Medicine, where he spent seven days in isolation.

School officials said he apparently suffered no ill effects on his simulated flight to the moon.

Marooned Scouts Rescued By Tanks

CECILTON, Md. (U)—Three Delaware National Guard tanks crossed into Maryland early today, plowed through mountainous snow drifts and rescued eight Scouts and their adult leader stranded since Saturday.

The nine had been living the past two days on canned tomato soup and dry cereal. None suffered any ill effects.

Delaware's Gov. J. Caleb Boggs ordered the tanks to the rescue after getting permission from Maryland authorities to cross the state line.

Maryland state highway officials had tried unsuccessfully to reach the scouts with a snow plow.

Planned Road Building Cuts Protested

WASHINGTON (UP)—A spokesman for state highway commissioners protested Tuesday against an anticipated cutback in federal spending for superhighways.

C. R. McMillan, president of the American Association of State Highway Officials, told the Senate Roads subcommittee, that such spending should be increased instead. He also is South Carolina's chief highway commissioner.

It now appears that the special highway fund will have collected enough users taxes to finance only $1,000,000,000 of interstate highway construction in fiscal 1959.

McMillan said state highway officials have been planning on the basis of the $2,000,000,000 authorization. But he said that must be increased to $3,100,000,000 to offset higher construction costs. Otherwise, he said, there will be less miles of highways built in the next few years.

The states "are ready to roll," he said. He advocated issuance of special bonds by the federal government to keep the building of the 4,000-mile network of superhighways on schedule.

Near-zero weather was the outlook in northern Alabama and mountain areas of North Carolina, with freezing temperatures into parts of Florida.

Springlike weather prevailed in the Far West, Texas and the Southwest.

Fruit Desserts Are Popular

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Americans are taking to fruit desserts, if we can judge from the frequency with which we encounter them at dinner parties.

One of the best of these sweet and nutritious endings to a meal, is this combination of bananas and grapes in a spicy syrup. The fruit is delicious "as is," but if you wish to glaze the fruit, you can accompany it with a fruit of "spiced cream" (barely sweetened and scented with vanilla), vanilla ice cream or a creamy custard.

If you have a chafing dish that performs well, or an electric skillet, you can prepare this dish in front of your guests and add interest to your supper party. There's something about watching a dish being cooked that enchants an audience and keeps it in suspense. To do this, combine the fruit, juice, grape syrup and sugar in the chafing dish or skillet and place on a fire.

Place on a fire, with the grapes, unpeeled bananas, spices, butter, pat, measuring spoons and a long-handled spoon for stirring and serving. Then when you are ready for dessert, peel the bananas and complete the preparation at the table. An attractive new set of spoons is fine to use for table cookery; it comes in a feather-weight plastic box in four colors—pink, turquoise and yellow—and has a card file giving the answers to questions about which spices go with which foods.

HOT SPICED BANANAS WITH GRAPES

Ingredients: 1 can (about 8 ounces) seedless grapes in heavy syrup, 1/4 cup light brown sugar, (firmly packed), 1 cup orange juice, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg, 1 teaspoon butter, 1/2 cup sugar, 6 whole medium-sized bananas, extra nutmeg.

Method: Drain the grape syrup in a 10-inch skillet; there will be about 1/2 cup. Add the sugar, orange juice, lemon juice, cinnamon and nutmeg. Stirring often, are a golden transparent looking color on the outside turn bananas over, using a fork and large spoon, and bake constantly with the syrup. Do not overcook. Serve at once, heat, so syrup just bubbles gently, about 3 minutes, or until bananas make 6 servings.

A SWEET SPICY SYRUP adds a touch of glamor to this banana and grape dessert.

Peddlers with vitamin "bargains"

Door-to-door salesmen, some quite respectable, are peddling vitamin preparations and offering a "bargain." They show you capsules with an impressive list of ingredients, then tell you they cost less than the established brands we carry. But it's like buying a pound of pennies or a pound of dimes. Wouldn't you pay a little more for the pound of dimes? Same with vitamins. It's the potency that counts. Potency is the only true measure. We'll be glad to prove this to you next time you stop in.

Your Family And You

The Responsibility Lies With The Parents

By DR. PAUL POPENOE
 Molestation of children by adult sex offenders is a constant worry of parents, and Mrs. von G. doesn't think I've paid enough attention to this problem. "In our own neighborhood recently, there was a case that might have turned out tragically," she writes, "if I hadn't every mother ought to warn her children continually and I wish you'd tell them so."

All right, Mrs. von G., I'm telling them. But I must add that much of the warning is going to do more harm than good, particularly when it tends to make children suspicious of all human beings except their own families. And worst of all, the danger is likely to be in their own families!

Sociologist Judson T. Landis of the University of California, quoted in 1,800 students of all ages. About one-third of the older students said that, as children, they had had unpleasant experiences of this sort, and, especially with the younger students questioned it was often with persons known to them. If not actually related, this was particularly true in the rural areas, where two-thirds of the girls said that the offenders in each case were known to them.

MOST OF THE "literature" that has been prepared for the supposed protection of children is designed to arouse fears. One booklet that was sent to me showed children being approached by men with hideous faces. That's not what they'll see. Another pamphlet informed the child that: "Most people love a little child. Some grown-ups, though, are bad. The bad ones look like good ones. Like any Mom or Dad. This is more nearly true—but it is likely to build good mental health in children?"

Most of the attempts "to protect" children miss the mark. One educational film that is circulated by law enforcement officials in an American state shows a little girl, apparently not more than seven years old, sitting in a motion theater. A pleasant looking young man is sitting beside her, and she gets up and moves away with a disgusted look. Let's go a little further.

In the first place, Dr. Landis' study found 5 per cent of girls encountered difficulty in a motion picture theater, while 15 per cent

Keep In Trim

Does Store Girdle Keep Figure From Spreading?

Take off your girdle, girls, and get out and walk. That was one doctor's prescription for streamlining exercise. Without your girdle, you are obliged to pull up—in with your own muscles, and that's a toning measure.

Many of you ask if going without a girdle will cause you figure to spread. A girdle does ward off a certain amount of outside support. If you take this support away, and your own muscles are not up to bracing the abdominal wall, your figure will spread. But don't overlook the fact that overdependence on a store girdle can promote loss of muscle tone. It's a natural failing to settle into the girdle instead of leaning against your backbone.

The question bobs up frequently as to whether a girdle should be worn while doing housework and while taking corrective exercises. If you are in good healthy condition, it is better not to wear a girdle while doing household chores—use your own muscles and give them this chance to strengthen. To get streamlining rewards, you'll have to work in good posture—pull up with that "stomach muscles" pull in with the side-front muscles. Working in good posture offers perfect exercise.

You cannot hold a strong upward-in pull unless your muscles have a normal amount of tone. You'll benefit greatly from taking daily calisthenics which stretch the abdominals. Never wear a girdle when taking calisthenics.

Until your muscles are up to holding you in good posture as you exercise, it is wise to take calisthenics from a lying-down position. Here are two easy conditions:

Position: Lie on back on floor. Knees propped on elbows or stool. Pull up and in snugly and press small back against floor.

Movement: Bend both knees to waist and then, keeping knees separate the knees. The technique is to force the abdominal muscles to "pull" the rest of the body up. Repeat this exercise 3 to 6 times, always letting the side-front abdominals make the action.

Position: Lying on back on floor. Knees flexed, soles of feet on floor, arms down at side.

Movement: Raise hips to straight line and swing arms back beyond head. After you get the gist of the exercise, add a strong upward-in pull while hips are raised. Lower arms down at side.

Keep In Trim

Does Store Girdle Keep Figure From Spreading?

Take off your girdle, girls, and get out and walk. That was one doctor's prescription for streamlining exercise. Without your girdle, you are obliged to pull up—in with your own muscles, and that's a toning measure.

Many of you ask if going without a girdle will cause you figure to spread. A girdle does ward off a certain amount of outside support. If you take this support away, and your own muscles are not up to bracing the abdominal wall, your figure will spread. But don't overlook the fact that overdependence on a store girdle can promote loss of muscle tone. It's a natural failing to settle into the girdle instead of leaning against your backbone.

The question bobs up frequently as to whether a girdle should be worn while doing housework and while taking corrective exercises. If you are in good healthy condition, it is better not to wear a girdle while doing household chores—use your own muscles and give them this chance to strengthen. To get streamlining rewards, you'll have to work in good posture—pull up with that "stomach muscles" pull in with the side-front muscles. Working in good posture offers perfect exercise.

You cannot hold a strong upward-in pull unless your muscles have a normal amount of tone. You'll benefit greatly from taking daily calisthenics which stretch the abdominals. Never wear a girdle when taking calisthenics.

Until your muscles are up to holding you in good posture as you exercise, it is wise to take calisthenics from a lying-down position. Here are two easy conditions:

Position: Lie on back on floor. Knees propped on elbows or stool. Pull up and in snugly and press small back against floor.

Movement: Bend both knees to waist and then, keeping knees separate the knees. The technique is to force the abdominal muscles to "pull" the rest of the body up. Repeat this exercise

Players Involved In Indians-Tigers Trade

Indian Fans 'On' Lane For Hegan Trade

CLEVELAND (AP)—General Manager Frank Lane of the Cleveland Indians was undaunted today by the reaction of irate fans to his trade of popular catcher Jim Hegan to the Detroit Tigers.

Hegan, a member of the Tribe since 1981, was sent to the Tigers in a four-player, no-money trade which Lane said was designed to bring more youth into the win-win.

DETROIT GAVE the Indians J. W. Porter, 25, a promising catcher, and Harold Woodschick, a 25-year-old southpaw, in exchange for Hegan and southpaw Hank Aguirre.

A few fans called the ball club offense and vowed not to attend a baseball game here this season.

Lane's comment was that he would be more popular in Cleveland if the Indians win ball games than he would by running "an old folks club."

"Any time I have the opportunity to trade a 30-year-old catcher for a 25-year-old catcher, with great potential, I have to make the deal despite what people say," he said.

MEGAN, WHO WILL BE 28 in August, was upset by the deal. "I hate to leave after all these years," he said. "It has been such a long time. My home is here and everything."

"If it's any consolation, I'm glad I'm going to Detroit. It's a nice place to play and it's a promising club. But I'm still going to miss the Indians."

N. Carolina Snaps Back; Rips Wolfpack

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Maybe those North Carolina Tar Heels, defending NCAA champs in major college basketball, aren't dead after all.

After playing only .500 ball in eight games—and tumbling to 10th in the weekly Associated Press rankings—the Tar Heels perked up and smacked old rival North Carolina State, ranked No. 9, 81-69 Tuesday night in the Wolfpack lair.

It could be the turning point for the Tar Heels, who can still grab a return berth in the NCAA playoffs by winning next month's Atlantic Coast Conference tournament.

North Carolina, now 16-5 overall, led 39-23 in the second half and behind 16th-ranked Duke in the conference. The Tar Heels trailed 40-38 at the 10-minute mark, but then they came back to win 81-69.

For the reserves: Bob Thomas, senior at 5-11; Frank Simister, senior at 6-0; Dan Johnson, senior at 6-5; L. Ramirez, junior at 5-5; and Jerry Anderson, junior at 5-3.

They have scored 1,735 points in 22 games and but one defeat. The lone defeat, at Kewanee, came when captain Gary Kolb, floor general and playmaker and a deadly "outside" shooter, was attending the All-State Football Banquet at Champaign, Rock Falls lost that game 63-50. Since that defeat the Rockets have won 18 in a row.

Already the Rockets have practically won the North Central Illinois Conference title. They won the DeKalb holiday tournament, defeating the host 78-63. They own the Sterling-Rock Falls inter-city title and the Newcomer-Star Trek tournament championship in Illinois.

Without question, we believe the best prep team in Illinois, their main weakness, if they don't go all the way, will lie in too soft a schedule. You can't learn much, if anything, from teams you can swamp with your own.

Well, that's a question that is concerning coach Richard Haselton, the writer and the host of supporters of the Rockets.

Figures 'Prove' Sox Will Win Flag

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago White Sox, pleasantly satisfied over their reinforced pitching staff, might be counting their blessings a bit too soon.

Predicting another first division finish and possibly the pennant, White Sox brass Tuesday pointed to 1977 major league victories coming last year by what will be their 1958 pitching staff.

However, the Sox failed to mention that these same pitchers were charged with 83 major league losses.

That's a total of 190 games, and only 154 are scheduled in the big leagues.

Vice President Chuck Comiskey said the Sox "get away" with that percentage can be considered higher as we can back up our pitchers with the best batters in the league.

The other Sox Vice President, John Rigney, thinks the Sox can reverse their poor showing against the Yankees doesn't tell the entire story, commented Rigney. "We lost six games by one run margin; three by two runs and one by three runs. This is where the added pitching strength and the strong reliever make a difference."

THE ADDED pitching strength was acquired in trades which gave the Sox the veteran Early Wynn from Cleveland and Ray Moore from the Yankees. In the process the Sox dealt off Minnie Mirosso to Cleveland and Larry Doby to Baltimore.

Wynn will be an addition to the starting staff, which already boasts Billy Pierce (20-12), Dick Donovan (16-11), Jim Wilson (15-8), and Melvin Stribling (10-6) Monday night.

FRISCHER (7-3), Wynn, a gargantuan pitcher, had a 14-7 record last season.

Moore, a right-handed relief specialist who was 11-13 with the Orioles, is going to be the Sox No. 1 reliever. He'll be used in the late innings to protect any lead the Sox might have piled up.

"We lost 27 games in the last year," pointed out Comiskey, "eight in the eighth inning, nine in the ninth inning and ten in extra innings."

If the Sox had saved half that money, they could have bought the American League in the World Series. The Sox finished eight games behind the Yankees but were only four in back when the New Yorkers clinched the flag.
