DIPLOMAS TAKEN BACK

PARIS, Ky. (UP)—North Middle-town High School handed out diplomas to 25 seniors, then took them back. The next day the class returned for final examinations. It wasn't an oversight. Bad weather and a flu epidemic forced North Middle-town to extend the school term, but it couldn't work out a satisfactory date for commencement exercises after final examinations. Officials decided to give out the diplomas—ungraded. Seniors who pass will get their back-diplomas in an informal ceremony Friday.

GM Told UAW To Cut Demands

DETROIT (UP)—United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther said today the UAW is willing to retreat in its bargaining demands but "we will not surrender" to reach agreement before the contract runs out at midnight.

Reuther entered bargaining at General Motors for the first time since negotiations opened there March 23.

GM Vice President Louis G. Stettin, who has been leaving the bargaining table until the deadline at midnight, Reuther told newsmen. "We have always worked against a deadline and I am hopeful we can work out a fair and equitable settlement again."

Stettin said he is "always an optimist" in hoping for settlement of the negotiations covering 325,000 UAW members.

NEGOTIATIONS OF the International Union of Electrical Workers covering 18,135 GM workers were going on in another part of the GM building.

In the past week, Reuther and the UAW have jettisoned profit sharing and other demands by the dozen. But Reuther has declared the union will "sue" sign the industry offer of two-year contract renewals.

At Ford, where 125,000 workers are involved and at Chrysler, with 15,000 workers, there were the same big gaps in the bargaining. But Ford and Chrysler contracts were set to expire at midnight Sunday.

General Motors, if there is no settlement, will start running plants without a contract Friday.

The first test will come at plants in Atlanta and other southern states which do not observe Memorial Day.

DR. YOUNG ALSO pointed out that responsibility follows knowledge. He quoted Jesus as saying, "To him that knoweth to do good and doeth it not, to him it is a sin."

He questioned the graduates: "Will you carry your cup of responsibility without deliberately spilling it or abusing it?"

The speaker warned the graduates that examinations do not always reveal the true answer and grades are sometimes misleading.

He said that if the graduates' Christian view changes, and their philosophy of life is not intimately related to the Christ of Calvary, then the college and church investments had been in vain.

"The test of the class of 1956 will probably not be answered fully in less than 25 years," said Young. He said the test would be: "Is your life shaped around the goal of building an estate to leave behind you, or is it to build God's kingdom through a life of service?"

An estimated 1,100 people attended the program held in the Birchard Field House. The diplomas were presented by Dr. Harold W. Reed, college president.

ALSO ANNOUNCED were senior citizenship citations awarded to two students, Zena Havens of Decatur, Ind., and Frank Bowens of Cincinnati, Ohio. The citations were read by Dr. Reed for outstanding citizenship and leadership in their class.

Also announced at the ceremony was the death of Cardinal John Henry Cardinal of Chicago, cut the number of cardinals to 53.

Pontiff Expected To Call Consistory To Name Cardinals

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The death of Samuel Cardinal Stojich has renewed speculation that Pope Pius XII soon may call a consistory to bolster the diminished ranks of the College of Cardinals.

There has been no official word on a consistory, the gathering of cardinals which chooses the pope's nominees to their ranks, and there will be no official word until the date for the meeting is announced, together with the names of the prelates who will be elevated to the princely rank of the Roman Catholic Church.

Pius XII had held only two consistories during his 19 years on the papal throne. In 1946 he named 22 cardinals, the largest number ever elevated at once. Seven years later he named 24 more, including the first cardinals from India, Ecuador, Colombia and Yugoslavia.

The pope said he was considering an increase in the number of cardinals, set at 70 by Pope Sixtus V 400 years ago, when the population of the world was estimated at only 300 million people. Today Roman Catholics alone number nearly 500 million—a fifth of the world's expanding population.

The death of Cardinal Stojich, 78-year-old archbishop of Chicago, cut the number of cardinals to 53.

The fair skies and warm weather for Kankakeans this Memorial Day weekend with a chance of a few scattered showers on Friday.

The high Friday is expected in the mid 80s. Thousands are expected to jam Kankakee area parks and boaters by the score will be churning the river. Last year on Memorial Day 14,000 persons made use of the Kankakee River State Park picnic facilities.

The fair weather forecast generally holds true for the entire nation. The long range report from the Washington Weather Bureau predicts a generally pleasant weekend with only one major band of precipitation to dampen the holiday.

COTY CALLS DE GAULLE

PARIS (AP)—Gen. Charles De Gaulle arrived in Paris tonight less than three hours after President Rene Coty announced he was being summoned to be premier. Coty called the World War II hero the only man who can save France from civil war.

De Gaulle disappeared from public view shortly after reaching the capital from his village home 130 miles away. But he was expected to appear at the President's palace Monday, security to arrange for the process of attempting to form a government.

Coty, in announcing that De Gaulle was being called, told the French Parliament he would resign if the National Assembly refuses to accept De Gaulle as premier.

Coty's unprecedented message was received in the National Assembly with shouts of devotion from the Communists and cheers from De Gaulle's supporters.

"We find ourselves on the brink of civil war," Coty said.

THE MINISTRY of Interior reported that De Gaulle had been in Paris, already an armed camp. Authorities feared clashes between Communists and rightists.

De Gaulle's supporters set up a committee of public safety at Tarbes, a city of more than 42,000 in the south of France. They said they would not take over from local authorities, however. News of the committee's formation was spread off an anti-Communist demonstration by 2,000 factory workers.

The assembly recessed and parties began feverish caucuses. First reports said the Socialists, who hold the balance of power, were not firmly opposed to De Gaulle. Coty told the Assembly he could see no alternative to De Gaulle.

He said he intended to designate De Gaulle as chief of government and if the Assembly did not accept him he would resign and turn the presidency over to Andre Le Troquer, speaker of the National Assembly and constitutionally the man in line to take Coty's office.

"THUS, IF I have passed the traditional limits which were imposed upon my predecessor, I believe myself authorized to do so," Coty said in his first official statement. He said he would be thanked if on taking office in 1954.

"The state does not cease to be divided," Coty said. "Now I find myself on the brink of civil war."

The idea of the Assembly was packed at Le Troquer, dressed in traditional white tie and tails, read the message.

Officials at Elysee Palace, the French White House, said intelligence sources felt a De Gaulle military coup was only a matter of hours.

This was supported by a warning statement from the Gaullist press in Algeria that it would not accept De Gaulle's accession to power is further delayed.

THE PEOPLE came into the vast darkened rotunda with smiles reflecting the bright spring sunshine of the outdoors. But they quickly fell into the mood of the people single-filed past them in mute homage at the rate of 1,200 an hour.

A special field mass will be held by the Knights of Columbus at Mt. Calvary Cemetery at 8:30 a. m. Friday.

B'nai Temple Dedication Friday

The congregation of B'nai Israel in Kankakee will hold an open house for the public to be held on Sunday the 28th of May at 600 S. Harrison Ave.

The events of the weekend will begin Friday night with the dedication of the building. Saturday a Sisterhood dedication service will be held and on Sunday the open house for the public will be conducted.

The official dedication is scheduled for 7:45 p. m. Friday with Rabbi Philmore Berger of Temple Shalom, Chicago, as the guest speaker. He will speak on the subject, "Build Me a House."

Rabbi Berger was born and reared in Cleveland. He attended Western Reserve University there and then matriculated at the University of Cincinnati where he received a bachelor of arts degree in philosophy. He was ordained in Hebrew Union College in Cincinnati in 1933 with a master of Hebrew letters degree. After two years as a chaplain in the Air Force he went to Temple Shalom where he has been since 1955. As of Aug. 1 he and his family will be in Muncie, Ind., where he has been elected to the pulpit of Beth El.

THE SISTERHOOD dedication service will be at 10:30 a. m. Saturday with Rabbi Harry Kransen of the Kankakee temple in charge. The open house Sunday will be from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m.

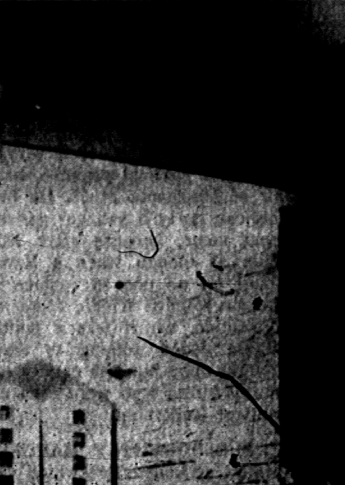

The new temple includes the sanctuary, a community hall with stage, a kitchen, a multi-purpose room, a kindergarten department, two classrooms, the largest synagogue in the area, a basement recreation room and a basement recreation room.

Rabbi Kransen points out that the new Kankakee temple takes its place in a tradition of religious buildings stretching back thousands of years. It is a "home" for religious study and worship and as a center of community and social life for a group of people whose unifying force and interest is a traditional approach to life's problems through religion.

"During the centuries the architectural expression of the synagogue has changed with the times, the place in which it was built and the building materials available," the rabbi asserted. "There have been synagogues in every style but always the name of the style has evolved afterwards; sometimes long after these buildings were completed. We are apt to think what we do today is 'modern' but that is only a name for new things in every age."

B'nai Israel Temple is traditional in its approach to the problems of its members and we only call it modern in that it uses modern materials and modern methods of construction. The building is a blend of contemporary design in architecture, free of reference to specific ages or eras past, but for today and tomorrow and expressing in well respected materials its purpose.

The sanctuary, or prayer hall at the temple rises above the rest of the building, reflecting the importance of the religious aspect of the building. The other parts, particularly the school wing, is scaled down, recognizing the use of this area by children for their important social and religious education. Outside, two stone pillars in the tower symbolize the "Tablets of the Law," the foundation of the Bible. Located in the tower of the building is the memorial wall where the honored dead are remembered with memorial plaques.

Olivet Board OKs Women's Dormitory

Tentative approval for construction of a $400,000 women's residence hall at Olivet Nazarene College was given by the college's board of trustees at its annual May meeting Tuesday.

The board viewed preliminary architect's sketches and authorized proceeding with working drawings and specifications, and securing of bids. Construction of the building is to begin when the college has $200,000 in cash and bonds, pledged in its fund for the first of five proposed buildings over a 10-year span. Nearly half of the $200,000 has been raised.

Dr. Harold W. Reed, college president, reported that the $400,000 figure should include cost of furnishing the building. It will house 150 women on four floors. The dormitory is to be called Nesbitt Hall in honor of Orla Nesbitt, college founder, and Miss Mary Nesbitt, his sister, who was his first teacher.

The building will be 38 by 100 feet with a 20 by 20 foot parking wing on the first floor. It will be located immediately south of the present Williams Hall, also a women's dormitory. Its architectural style will be similar to that of the college building completed in 1956.

J. HARLAN MILBY, special assistant to Dr. Reed in charge of financial development, reported that in the first six months of the three million dollar, 10-year fund drive $2,235,575 was received in cash and pledges in the Kankakee area out of a goal of $10,000,000 to be raised here the first year. He said the local drive will continue until Sept. 1, when he will begin working on contributions from outside of the Kankakee area. This money will go for the new dormitory.

Milby stated, "If the remaining uncontacted business firms contribute according to the pattern set by others that have given, and each contribute for the other four buildings, the complete goal of $10,000,000 for Kankakee giving will be made."

THE BOARD APPROVED the hiring of four new faculty personnel with provision for hiring one or possibly two more. Those approved by the board were:

Prentice Tomlinson, a graduate of Olivet who will receive his M.A. degree from Ohio State University June 12, as an instructor in mathematics.

Miss Joan Noble, who has a B.S. from Greenville College, Greenville, and will receive a master of music degree from the University of Michigan in August, as instructor in piano.

Teachers May Deduct Expense Of Summer School

County School Superintendent Ruel Hall has reminded teachers that they can deduct summer educational expenses from taxable income.

Teachers may deduct such expenses if for either of two reasons:

1. To maintain or improve skills.
2. To meet requirements of his employer.

If the second of the two reasons is given by the teacher in filling out his income tax, he should attach to the tax form a statement signed by the school superintendent or president of the school board stating that the educational expenses were incurred "as a result of a requirement imposed for the benefit of the school system."

The benefits from additional education must be principally for a business purpose and not primarily for the teacher's personal benefit—such as to render him eligible for a specific new job or substantial advancement in position.

Extended Jobless Pay Measure Goes To Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Only President Eisenhower's signature was needed today to authorize federal advances to the states for a temporary extension of unemployment benefits.

A bill to permit the states to receive $4.50 a week for each unemployed person was passed by the Senate Wednesday night after all attempts to broaden and strengthen it were defeated.

The House passed it May 1. The bill authorizes the federal government to advance funds to the states to extend by one-half the number of weeks in which workers eligible for unemployment insurance may draw benefits.

In most participating states, this would amount to an additional 13 weeks. The extended payments, at prevailing state rates, are authorized by the bill for weeks of unemployment beginning 15 days after enactment and prior to April 1 of next year.

Insured workers whose benefits have been exhausted since June 30, 1957, or such later date as a state might elect, would be eligible for the additional payment.

Participation in the program by each state would be optional.

The Rev. Mr. Parker said that by remembering the burdens these men carried, we can gain the courage to go on.

Keep In Trim

Reducing Pals Are Better Than Pills

By IDA JEAN KAIN

What does it take to reduce successfully? Spirited competition coupled with genuine enthusiasm. Get in the spirit of things and reducing becomes a challenge. But how does one spark enthusiasm for banishing the pounds? By having a bond of interest that motivates action.

A group of overweights in New Jersey have banded together to fight the battle of the bulge. They write:

"We are a group of five 'fatties' who are striving to return to our former weight and glamorous figures."

"Since we are homemakers, we can exercise in the mornings. We get together every weekday morning and go through our stretches and swings. We are all on our honor to exercise alone the weekends."

"Three of us are also dieting. The other two really need only muscle toning. I'm happy to report that we are getting wonderful results. We particularly like the exercises in your leaflet Slim Tips in a Hurry."

"WE HAD ALL TRIED dieting and exercising on our own, but soon found ourselves slipping. Getting together and streamlining as a project has done the trick. Willpower is fine if you have it, but competition can add steam to your drive. We're passing this report along hoping it will help other overweights."

GOOD! It's always more fun to exercise and diet along with others. The camaraderie and spirit of competition generates enthusiasm. This group is doing wonderfully well. They are sure to be bathing in beauty by the time hot weather arrives.

If you can join a group and reduce with them, by all means do so. Or, you might prefer the reducing pal technique as suggested in this letter:

"I lost a total of 80 pounds reducing together and we felt wonderful. Now we are back on our diet because we had been neglecting ourselves in proper eating and it was beginning to show."

"Although we are not 'over the fence' neighbors, we keep in touch with telephone calls and notes. We get a big kick out of seeing each other about once or twice a month. We've found that our honor system really works, and it's so much fun to diet with someone else!"

These spirited letters are convincing proof that dieting with a partner or partners not only takes the loneliness out of dieting but makes reducing a stimulating challenge. If this plan is feasible for you, why not try it?

Your Family And You

Don't Crush Children With Responsibility

By DR. PAUL POPPENO

George is 11 years old. But his father has recently died. "You'll be the man of the house now, George," friends and relatives assure him. "It's mighty fine that your mother has you to look after her."

Sometimes a father himself on his deathbed passes this burden to his son. "From now on, Billy, you'll have to take my place. You'll be the man of the house." The intention is all the more understandable when the father is ill, but the results are likely to be deleterious.

No 11-year-old boy can ever be the man of the house. No 11-year-old boy can ever take the place of his father in looking after his mother. Merely to state the case this bluntly is sufficient to show how unrealistic and absurd the idea is. Why, then, should a conscientious and unhappy boy be broken down with such a load? George, like any other boy, should be given responsibilities proportionate to his age and should be given proper recognition when he lives up to it. If he's 11 years old, we don't praise him for behaving like a normal 6-year-old. No more should we be satisfied when he behaves like a normal 16-year-old if he were, in fact, capable of doing so. It wouldn't be a desirable ideal for him.

EVERY BOY and every girl should be expected to behave appropriately to their actual age. Sometimes they'll do a little better than we have any right to expect. Sometimes they don't do as well. This could be said of every one of us.

But it is unfair, it is damaging, occasionally it may even be disastrous to a child to be assured that he must take the place of an adult. It can't be done and it shouldn't be tried.

In the case of a father's death, the boy has enough difficulties to face without having a burden thrust on him that doesn't belong to him. Older relatives can assure him that they will help and count on his assistance. That's what he would give his own father and that's all that anyone can ask.

A death in the family brings many inevitable changes and many shifts in responsibility. When the father is taken, the mother has to assume many obligations that formerly didn't belong to her. Both she and everyone else concerned, however, should take care that the children are not deliberately harmed, even with the most pious and most loving intentions, by being allowed to suppose that they

Wives Air Pet Peeves About Their Husbands

By JEANNE D'ARCY

Women shouldn't let down after marriage and neither should men. Mr. Tall, Dark and Handsome must keep up his appearance, be well-groomed, if he'd rate with the little woman.

Some men do. Some men don't. We've been listening to the ladies complain, and here are some of their comments:

1. "He's going to pot! Tom used to have a wonderful physique, but he's gained so much weight. If I try putting him on a diet his disposition is fierce."

2. "Honestly, he looks like a bear in the morning. He doesn't shave before breakfast, but he could at least comb his hair."

3. "He's so sloppy with his clothes. Never hangs anything up—including his bathroom towels."

4. "Why does he think that using deodorant is silly stuff?"

5. "He looks so handsome going off to work every day, but you should see him weekends! Sometimes he doesn't shave and he scrounges around in old dungarees and sweatshirts, looking like a squalor."

These are just a few of the pet peeves that wives have aired. They are also vocal on the matter of manners.

Husbands, it seems, will race to open a door, light a cigarette or pull out a chair for any woman in the world except their wives. It makes married ladies livid.

Where indeed?

Watch it, men! You can't just ever roll pieces of chicken that are to be fried in cornmeal seasoned with salt and pepper?

Players To Vote For All-Star Teams June 22

BALTIMORE (AP)—American and National League players will choose their own all-star teams by ballot on June 22. In addition to the active players, the managers and coaches will also vote for the stars they consider the best to represent the majors in the silver anniversary game here July 5.

About 500 are expected to take part in the balloting, which will be completed about June 25. The teams will be announced June 29.

BASEBALL Commissioner Ford Frick met here Wednesday with officials of both leagues and the Baltimore Orioles, who play host to the game in Memorial Stadium.

Frick authorized the Orioles to arrange for the public ticket sale. Details are expected to be announced next week.

This is the first year the players will have a chance to elect their representatives in the mid-season classic.

The former habit of letting fans choose up sides worked pretty well until last year. Then fanatical Cincinnati fans deluged the balllot box and it looked as though eight Red Legs might take the field against the American League.

FRICK ARBITRARILY put three Cincinnati players on the bench and their places with stars from other clubs.

This year the players, managers and coaches will vote for full teams in their own league except for pitcher. The eight receiving the most votes will start the game and play at least three innings.

Managers of the 1957 World Series teams, Fred Haney of the world champion Milwaukee Braves and Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees, will name 17 additional players including the pitcher. Managers must have at least one player from each club on the star team.

The game is scheduled for 12 noon (CDT) Tuesday, July 8. If rain forces postponement, the game will be played at 7 p.m. that night, or 8:30 a.m. Wednesday or 12 (all CDT) Wednesday, depending on when the weather clears.

Azzarelli, KFL Winners In Lions Loop

Azzarelli and Kankakee Federation of Labor continued undefeated ways in the Lions Little League on Wednesday evening.

In the opening game the Federation of Labor defeated Roger Stove 7-3 and Azzarelli doped Vanderwater's 4-1 in the second contest. The winners have 2-0 records.

JIM COLEMAN paced the winning attack with three-for-three and was completed about June 25. The teams will be announced June 29.

BASEBALL Commissioner Ford Frick met here Wednesday with officials of both leagues and the Baltimore Orioles, who play host to the game in Memorial Stadium.

Frick authorized the Orioles to arrange for the public ticket sale. Details are expected to be announced next week.

This is the first year the players will have a chance to elect their representatives in the mid-season classic.

The former habit of letting fans choose up sides worked pretty well until last year. Then fanatical Cincinnati fans deluged the balllot box and it looked as though eight Red Legs might take the field against the American League.

FRICK ARBITRARILY put three Cincinnati players on the bench and their places with stars from other clubs.

This year the players, managers and coaches will vote for full teams in their own league except for pitcher. The eight receiving the most votes will start the game and play at least three innings.

Managers of the 1957 World Series teams, Fred Haney of the world champion Milwaukee Braves and Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees, will name 17 additional players including the pitcher. Managers must have at least one player from each club on the star team.

The game is scheduled for 12 noon (CDT) Tuesday, July 8. If rain forces postponement, the game will be played at 7 p.m. that night, or 8:30 a.m. Wednesday or 12 (all CDT) Wednesday, depending on when the weather clears.

Reed-Custer Students Plan Summer Jobs

Summer vacation for 22 Reed-Custer High School students from Braidwood will mean a summer job, but it will also mean an 11-day trip to Florida.

The boys, all members of the Braidwood chapter of the Future Farmers of America, will be making their sixth annual trek. They will travel by school bus with their advisor, A. C. Hammond, and a relief driver, Russ Jennings, leaving June 3 and returning June 14. They will camp out two or three nights, stay in motels the remainder of the time, and see as much of Florida and do as many things as possible during their stay.

THIS YEAR THEY plan to take movies of interesting points on their trip to be used in school next year. Four of the students who are making the trip were interviewed on their summer plans and what they think about summer jobs.

They were Joseph R. Delmastro, senior, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Delmastro; Colin Kelly, sophomore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kelly; and juniors Pete Vaivra and Ronald Bottens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Bottens.

What does this quartet think about summer jobs for teenagers? Says Ronald, "It gives them worth while experience during that time." Colin commented, "You can't do much without money."

Other dignitaries will include Louis Schroeder, village president, and department officials from the Chicago post office.

The new facility is located on W. Main street. It has 1,920 square feet of interior space, 150 square feet of platform space and 1,462 square feet of maneuvering area for use of postal vehicles.

The lessors are Mr. and Mrs. Melvin L. Pickett of Kankakee. Congressman Mason will present to Gorman a flag which has flown over the Capitol in Washington, D.C. Gorman will present the flag to the American Legion Color guard, which will raise it.

Gorman has been postmaster since 1934.

What Youth Thinks

It's Going To Be A Working Vacation!

By EUGENE GILBERT
President, Gilbert Youth Research Co.

Spurred by recession, a growing number of America's teen-agers are turning their back on the old saw that "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy."

The youngsters already have begun their annual quest for vacation jobs—more than usual, earlier than usual, and in something of a frenzy.

"Man, if you don't get in there and get at least a promise of a job," said 16-year-old Ralph Hornbush of Milwaukee, "the next guy will have gone and done it before you can blink an eyelash."

But even the early birds are finding the market tough. The good summer jobs, said Ted Royal, 15, of Miami, Ohio, are "all going to grown men who are out of their regular work but still have to support their families."

They were Joseph R. Delmastro, senior, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Delmastro; Colin Kelly, sophomore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kelly; and juniors Pete Vaivra and Ronald Bottens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Bottens.

What does this quartet think about summer jobs for teenagers? Says Ronald, "It gives them worth while experience during that time." Colin commented, "You can't do much without money."

Jan Krilo, 17, of Minneapolis, said he had worked the last two summers for a construction company. "It's good exercise and I was looking forward to doing it this year," he said. "But, no—they've got too much help as it is and not enough work contracted. So I'm out."

INTERVIEWS WITH 769 teenagers in 25 localities across the country showed 66 per cent of the boys and 35 per cent of the girls expect to hold some kind of job this summer. This is a considerable increase over last year when 57 per cent of the boys and 26 per cent of the girls worked.

A sizeable number, 42 per cent of the boys and 26 per cent of the girls, already have lined up jobs. Those who do not expect to work were vague about their vacation plans. "Good off" was their most frequent answer.

"With things as they are now, I'll have to give part of my summer earnings to the family," said Albert Salvatore, 18, of the Bronx, N.Y. "My father hasn't been working for some time now."

A HIGH SCHOOL junior in Baltimore, Thomas Biggs, 17, said: "Vacation job? That was before. In June I've got to go out and find a permanent job. No senior year for me in September."

Fully 29 per cent of the youngsters plan to use vacation income to give their folks a hand with the family financing.

"Listen," said Fred Massoin, a Newark, N. J., 17-year-old, "what have I got to do with my money that's anyway near as important as my parents'?"

"They haven't said anything yet about needing my salary this summer," said 17-year-old Sandy Roma of Garden City, N. Y. "But in case they do, it will be there for them."

Others feel their vacation income is theirs to have and to hold.

"I can't spare my vacation money," said Gary Sperling, 17, of Philadelphia. "My folks can't need it as much as I do for expenses on my car and other things."

Bill Shatz, 18, of Amityville, N. Y., said flatly: "It's my money and they'll have to pry me away from it."

The boys—9 out of 10—feel both boys and girls should work during vacations. The girls—9 out of 10—feel the boys should work. Only about 6 out of 10 girls think girls should.

"Why shouldn't girls work along with boys?" asked 17-year-old Michael Stav of Chicago. "They are just as strong—even if they're not as intelligent."

BUT THE GIRLS feel they do more part-time work spread over the year. "I baby-sit all during the school year," said 16-year-old Elaine Budd of Syracuse. "That's enough for me."

"I earn some money while school is on, and I expect to continue in the summer," said Toni Moran, Miami Beach 18-year-old. "But a full-time job is not for me."

Carol Curtis, 18, of New York, said, "The most marvelous time of my life was last year when I worked at a resort in the country."

the whole summer. I can't wait to get back in June."

Generally, the girls felt vacation work is necessary for boys to provide them with car and dating money and experience for the future. But they said most girls will become housewives and mothers so the experience of holding an all-day job for several months is not necessary.

ON THE WHOLE, these young people are a mature, thoughtful lot, who can be counted on to help out in a pinch. They are more than willing; they are anxious to assist their families meet expenses during trying times.

They are developing into valuable assets to their communities. Their point of view is aptly summed up by 18-year-old Ellie Brown of Fort Worth, Tex., who said:

"I've been supported for the first 18 years of my life by a loving family who tried to give me everything. So if for the first time I can assist them in some way, you can bet your boots I'll be there."
