U. S. OUSTS RED ENVOY

French Cabinet Backs De Gaulle

PARIS (AP)—The cabinet rallied behind Premier Charles de Gaulle's drive for French unity Saturday, endorsing decisions he made on his dramatic peace making flight to Algeria.

De Gaulle pushed through a cabinet decision promising local elections in Algeria in about a month. He told the Arab-Berber population that in these elections they would have equal votes with the French population, for the first time in history.

The ministers further underscored their bid for support of the Arab-Berber masses by agreeing to a military commander's proposal that they would have equal votes with the French population, for the first time in history.

De Gaulle also gently but firmly began to slap down the rightwing public safety committees that swept to power in De Gaulle's name and are reluctant to surrender their authority.

Despite his speed and obvious determination, the general's problems were staggering, and he made his maneuvers with the caution of a military commander feeling out a fortified line.

De Gaulle called his cabinet to his official residence—where he set up housekeeping Saturday morning—and reported on the three-day Algerian trip that ended Friday night.

De Gaulle's scholarly information minister, Andre Malraux, said his chief had returned to France convinced that Algeria's Arabs and Berbers as a guarantee of equality.

Malraux said De Gaulle is convinced of the loyalty to the government of the army, which fully supported the May 13 insurrection of the French colonialists in Algeria.

Despite Malraux's statement, it was known that De Gaulle is anxious to ease into less sensitive spots some of the more fiery officers who participated in the Algerian revolt.

De Gaulle reaffirmed the special military and civilian powers he had given Gen. Raoul Salan, the commander in Algeria.

De Gaulle wrote Salan, however, telling him that he expects him to work toward the establishment in Algeria of regular authority.

De Gaulle also decided to send to Algeria a top civil administrator to work with Salan. The administrator, as yet unnamed, would have the title of secretary general.

De Gaulle told Salan the committee of public safety in Algeria under no circumstances have the powers of the regular authorities. This was what he told members of the French civilian-military junta to their faces in a final meeting at Oran.

Salan was told the committee then could work under his control—to unite public opinion in support of measures to unite the European and Moslem communities in Algeria.

The situation in Algeria remained far from clear.

The newspaper Le Monde asked just who was running Algeria. It said its edition in Algeria was seized Friday even while De Gaulle was on the spot. The paper said censorship in the territory is still exercised by a committee of public safety, Salan's own office, and the local police forces.

Algeria radio remained under the control of the men installed by committee of public safety.

De Gaulle's discussions with the President will not begin until Monday, he held a conference late Saturday at the French Embassy with German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano and dined with Dulles Saturday night at the secretary's home.

Today he will fly to Green Castle, Ind., to speak at De Pauw University commencement exercises and continue on Page 6, Column 1

Greeks, Turks Riot On Cyprus After Explosion

Nicosia, Cyprus (AP)—Bitter fighting broke out here Saturday night at the Key City Drum and Bugle Corps Festival after a bomb shattered a Turkish consulate office.

A duty medical officer at Nicosia General Hospital said three persons were killed and 15 injured in the fighting. He said all were Greek Cypriots.

The two factions have been feuding over the political future of this British colony island in the eastern Mediterranean.

British troops with machine guns halted the fighting after Turkish Cypriots stormed into the Greek Cypriot quarter of the walled old city with iron bars, knives and weapons. Automobiles and property were smashed and burned.

Outside the old city's walls, a mob stoned a bus filled with British women returning from an army camp-dance. Five occupants were injured.

A newsmen driving through the borderland area between the two communities reported he was struck by missiles and bloodied before he reached the protection of British troops. The reporter, AP Correspondent Alfy Eddy, described his attackers as Turkish Cypriots.

Turkish Cypriots have been demonstrating against an expected Greek takeover of the island, the bar partition of the embattled island between the 80 per cent Greek-speaking population and the 20 per cent Turkish-speaking minority.

But There'll Be Some Changes Made

Ike To Get Most Of His Program Passed: Bridges

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH) predicted Saturday Congress will approve major parts of the administration's legislative program, but probably not in the form President Eisenhower wants.

Bridges, who heads the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said he believes compromises will be necessary on Eisenhower's defense reorganization, reciprocal trade, and foreign aid requests.

He said a House bill creating a civilian space agency is likely to be revised by the Senate. He expressed the belief the administration's hold-the-line tax legislation may be approved without much change.

"WHEN CONGRESS finishes its work, I believe that most of the major measures proposed by the President will be enacted," he said in an interview. "But I am afraid some of them are not going to be in a form entirely pleasing to him."

His last words were the first of a series of remarks he made since he was condemned to die for the murder of George Jackson. But otherwise, Kirkham, 21, lived to the end of the hardcase reputation he had earned so carefully to build during two years' imprisonment.

"I've asked God to forgive me," Kirkham told Sheriff George Beckstead through the black hood that was designed to hide his face from the public.

Roads leading to the peninsula were closed as reports reached Horta of yard wide cracks opening up.

Meanwhile, the eruption of the Capelinus Volcano, which swelled out of the Atlantic last September, increased its fantastic show of fireworks, shooting up lava and red sparks 1,200 feet into the air.

When Capelinus loomed up out of the Atlantic it formed an island about a mile from the Cape Verde lighthouse, but then it expanded and is now part of Fayal. Its three craters have been in continuous activity ever since.

Convict Saud's Kin Of Plotting To Kill Egypt's Nasser

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—King Saud's father-in-law was convicted Saturday of plotting to assassinate President Nasser and sentenced to life imprisonment.

A three-man military tribunal tried the father-in-law, Asad Ibrahim, Meri, and his brother, Majed Ibrahim, Meri, in absentia. The brother also got a life sentence.

Both defendants were found guilty of plotting to assassinate Nasser and launch a military coup d'etat in Egypt. Syria charged the plot was designed to sabotage the Egyptian-Syrian merger of last February into the United Arab Republic, headed by Nasser, Saudi Arabia denied the charge.

The body hung for 14 minutes, almost concealed by the tarpaulin covering around the bottom of the structure. Then Dr. W. C. Knott pronounced Kirkham clinically dead.

Kirkham had declined to ask for religious comfort during his final hours. He had scoffed at suggestions that he should be removed to the slaying of Frank and Mrs. Ruth Webster, 35, during a holiday Aug. 31, 1956. Kirkham never was tried for Mrs. Webster's death.

Paid American $450 To Get Secret Data

Nikolai Kurochkin, Red Embassy's 3rd Secretary Expelled

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is expelling a Russian diplomat on the grounds he paid an American citizen at least $450 in an effort to obtain secret military documents.

Announcing the ouster order Saturday, the State Department said the Soviet Embassy had been warned more than a year ago that this kind of spy activity "would not be condoned."

The diplomat was identified as Nikolai I. Kurochkin, third secretary of the embassy.

U. S. officials said Kurochkin did not obtain the secret documents he sought but got some nonsecret documents, described as U. S. Army manuals. Such manuals are sold to the public by the Government Printing Office.

THE AMERICAN was named by a Justice Department official as Charles Theodore Beaumont, 25, of nearby Arlington, Va. Beaumont was described as a magazine writer on military matters.

Nathan B. Levin, head of the Justice Department's foreign agents registration section, said the department learned Beaumont had been dealing with Kurochkin and notified Beaumont he was required to register as a foreign agent.

Beaumont did so in April and listed Kurochkin as his "principal" Levin said.

Beaumont told the Justice Department, Levin said, that between September and December last year he gave Kurochkin about 25 non-classified training manuals and that the Russian paid him about $450.

"Neither Beaumont nor Kurochkin could be reached for comment immediately," Levin said.

THE FBI DECLINED comment but it was understood the agency had kept an eye on Beaumont for Continued on Page 6, Column 1

BRUSSELS (UPI)—A hovering helicopter and its wide-eyed occupants cost eight hostesses their jobs Saturday at the Brussels World's Fair.

Doubled Roads Seen By 2000

WASHINGTON (AP)—In 2000 the cornerstone of the new head-quarters building of the Associated General Contractors of America will come into its proper place in the scheme of life, as a delightful place to live and to work.

The editors see city-center traffic carried on fast, clean transit lines in depressed rights of way, or high in the air; they will carry owners to the fringes of the city where their auto will wait in municipal garages.

"The nobility of the city will return," said the prediction of Joseph Watterson, editor of The Journal of the American Institute of Architects.

"Through the suppression of traffic and the creation of neighborhood, communal life will return to the streets, similar to that of the medieval cities. The city will come into its proper place in the scheme of life, as a delightful place to live and to work."

Highways of the 21st century will be built, according to Col. W. A. Hardenbergh, editor of Public Works magazine, fusing earth and stone on the spot with portable concrete reactors to form the road foundation.

While nuclear fuel may be the chief energy source in the rest of the world, George B. Roscoe, editor of Qualified Contractor magazine believes North America may generally skip atomic power.

Coal, oil, and gas are abundant here, Roscoe reasoned, so this continent may move directly to solar energy for heating homes and running smokeless factories.

But he said the Senate is certain to make basic changes in Eisenhower's proposal to extend the reciprocal trade program for five years.
"The term of the extension certainly will be limited," he said. "A half dozen approaches also are under study which would provide more protection from import competition than the President originally suggested."

As senior GOP members of the Senate Appropriations Committee, Bridges said he believed it is likely that the actual funds provided for foreign aid will be short of the $3,750,000 ceiling put on next year's program by the Senate in an authorization bill which has passed both houses and is awaiting compromise.

Bridges predicted that the House space agency bill will be revised to provide for a more powerful board to run the proposed civilian agency. He said he believes the military will get a greater role than Eisenhower at first proposed.

some time before discussing the Kurochkin matter with him.
Sources said Beaumont then cooperated fully with the FBI and told agents he met the Soviet diplomat socially last fall. As the two men became friendly, the sources said, Kurochkin told Beaumont he was interested in writing.
According to this account, Kurochkin didn't ask for classified data as such, but that some material he asked Beaumont to get turned out to be of a secret nature.
However, Beaumont knew some of the material Kurochkin wanted was classified and didn't give it to the Russian, the sources said.
The Russian is expected to leave the country by the end of this week.
The State Department's action declaring Kurochkin persona non grata—personally not welcome—came about three weeks after Russia had expelled a young American diplomat on grounds of improper behavior. The United States denied the charge.

1,750 Miles Of New Roads Beckon Auto Vacationers

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Eighty million Americans will take auto vacations this summer and attempt to beat the recession with maximum use of the nation's free tourist attractions and sightseeing wonders.
And the vacation hotel and motel owners, the operators of resorts and other vacation-for-pay enterprises are braced for price-haggling such as they haven't encountered from tourists in many years.
Nevertheless, auto vacationers will spend about 12 billion dollars this summer. It is about as much as they spent the year before, a survey by the American Automobile Association reveals.
Many persons are deciding to take inexpensive driving vacations instead of their usual stay at expensive resorts. Many people who customarily take long, cross-country trips this year will take shorter ones in the interest of economy.
And the camping boom which has been developing the past several years is expected to reach a new high this summer.
TWO OF THE BIG reasons for general optimism by the AAA experts today for better travel opportunities are the record savings which Americans have in the bank, and the new travel opportunities which have opened during the past 12 months.
Official state and federal statistics on the completions of new highways sometimes lags more than a year in being reported to the public because of red tape. But a private survey published by the AAA shows that more than 1,750 miles of new roads have been completed in the past 12 months.

San Francisco Woman Charged In State Fraud

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Mrs. Betty Keene, 28, faced charges today of taking part in a fraudulent Illinois food brokerage business which federal authorities said swindled canning companies of more than $40,000 in merchandise.
The San Francisco household was arrested by the FBI Friday and arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Joseph Karet on a charge of fraud by wire. The FBI said she helped set up the related Central Grocery Co. and Miller Brokerage Co. in Chicago, Ill., last year. The companies allegedly ordered groceries from canners in Seattle, Wash.; Hollister, Calif.; and Ojai, Calif.

MELVIN RIDDLEBERGER

Nazarenes
Build Church
In Limestone

Melvin G. Riddleberger, Kankakee for the past seven years, has been appointed pastor of the new Limestone Community Church of the Nazarenes.

The church, on the south side of Limestone, is the first to be erected in the township. This is not the Rev. Mr. Riddleberger's first pastorate. He was pastor of the Kempton Church of the Nazarenes for 2½ years.

The minister worked his way through Olivet Nazarene College here by operating Oakdale Acres, Inc., and Bird-Rite Builders. While working his way through college, the pastor found time to learn to fly. After he was ordained in 1956 and built his home on a 46-acre Limestone Township site which affords a runway, the Rev. Mr. Riddleberger began commuting by air between Kankakee and Kankakee, Mo., to do graduate work at Nazarene Theological Seminary. He has completed 1½ years' study there and has that much more to finish in the future.

WHILE HE ATTENDED classes, Mrs. Riddleberger divided her time between their two daughters and a son and doing office work in the family firm.

The pastor and his wife contributed their time and money to construction of the church, which was sponsored by First Church of the Nazarenes, whose pastor will be Rev. Bennett Dudley, and congregation donated money and labor to help build it.

The two-acre plot, five miles west of Kankakee on Route 17 and a mile north, where the Limestone School property, construction was started last fall and landscaping will be completed in time for the church's open house June 15.

THE CHURCH EXTERIOR features a limestone and brick finish while inside the pews and pulpit are of lined oak. She has kept singing, and in the last few years has received acclaim and recognition both here and abroad.

She has been featured in six concerts at New York's Carnegie Hall which broke the attendance records set by Benny Goodman and Arturo Toscanini; she has appeared twice at the annual Harvest Moon Festival in Chicago; sang to a capacity audience at Royal Albert Hall, London, England, receiving greetings from Queen Elizabeth and the Prime Minister Churchill; and participated in a sellout European tour — appearing in every principal city not behind the Iron Curtain.

PROCEEDS FROM HER Kankakee appearance will be used to aid in maintaining Bethune Youth Center and its activities.

Mervin Grob is chairman in charge of the singer's appearance here.

Tickets will be sold following each mass Sunday at St. Rose Church and at the door the evening of the performance.

ST. PATRICK CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL commencement Friday night attracted a standing room only crowd in the high school gymnasium. The 96 graduates, faculty, clergy, chorus, and members of the Knights of Columbus who assisted in the program, were seated on the floor of the circular auditorium with the speakers in the balcony. 96 Receive Diplomas At St. Patrick Central High

"Your assignment and commission is to spend yourself for God," the Rev. Bonaventure Draude told 96 St. Patrick Central High School graduates in commencement ceremonies Friday night. The program was held in the St. Patrick Central gymnasium.

Presiding over the commencement was the Most Rev. Martin D. McNamara, bishop of the Joliet Diocese. Bishop McNamara, also presented the diplomas to the graduates.

The Rev. Fr. Draude in the commencement address, stressed the value of the Catholic education which the graduates had received. He told them they had not only learned reading, writing and arithmetic, but the Catholic faith as a way of life.

"You now should be able not only to think rightly, but to act rightly," he commented. He told the graduates he was confident they would be a true success in the eyes of God, their neighbors, parents and conscience, but warned that to be a success they must be true to the precepts of God.

FATHER DRAUDE said that all of their dealings in life would fall under the Ten Commandments. He suggested that when they are tempted to cheat, steal, lie or sin in any way to tell themselves, "I will not do this sinful thing because God says I must not." That is the true test of sterling character, the speaker stated.

He called God "an all consuming fire." "The love of God is a flame that should always burn in your soul," he told the graduates. "One concrete way to show the love of God is being Christlike to your neighbor," he continued.

Father Draude compared each of the students to a satellite being sent into the orbit of the world. He called the high school the launching platform, the "rocket fuel" he described as "the flesh of the son of God," and he told them if they were to reach their celestial destination it would depend on them as individuals. He urged them to take Christ into their cockpit for the journey. He told the graduates if they strayed, they could refuel at space platforms he likened to "Mary's Mantle" and their rosary. Burns served as deacon, the Rev. John Kinney as sub deacon and the Rev. Matthew Noonan as master of ceremonies.

Following the address, Bishop McNamara spoke briefly. He reminded the graduates of the sacrifices made by Catholic parents and families who believed enough in a Catholic education to build their school. He urged the graduates to represent St. Patrick Central High School and to be active alumni.

Prior to the commencement address, Bishop McNamara presented the diplomas to the graduates from his throne set up in the gymnasium. Also introduced in the ceremonies were the valedictorian, Thomas Draude, and salutatorian, Judith St. Aubin.

The solemn benediction service was sung by the St. Patrick Central High School choir. The Rev. Burns served as deacon, the Rev. John Kinney as sub deacon and the Rev. Matthew Noonan as master of ceremonies.

Former Teacher In Jordan To Address Lions

A man who taught for 35 years in an Arab country will be the guest speaker at the Tuesday luncheon meeting of the Kankakee Lions Club.

He is Delbert Reynolds of Momen, now a Bradley Grade School teacher.

Reynolds taught in the Friends Mission School at Ramallah, Jordan, in Arab territory about 10 miles north of Jerusalem. He will speak on education in the Middle East.

Reynolds is a graduate of Wilmington College, Ohio, obtained his master's degree at the University of Tennessee and is now doing graduate work at the University of Chicago.

Don't Let A Burglary Spoil Your Vacation

During the next few months, hundreds of Kankakee families will happily head off on their annual vacations.

But for some, perhaps, the homecoming may be less than happy because a vacant house—especially one easily spotted—is an invitation to burglars.

A few simple precautions, however, will go a long way towards preventing most burglaries, says Wallace Flannery, Kankakee police chief.

Flannery's remarks were prompted by the observation of Burglary Prevention Week, starting today under sponsorship of the Illinois Police Association.

Experienced burglars know when to invade a house, the chief said. It's up to the home owner to fool them by creating the impression someone is home, though the house may be empty.

ONE OF THE FIRST and easiest precautions vacation bound home owners should take is to notify Kankakee police of the date they are leaving and when they will return.

If a home owner takes this step, police will check the house twice daily, one at night and once during the day.

The program of checking homes left empty by vacationers was inaugurated by Kankakee police last year. Not one of the homes listed with police was burglarized, Flannery said.

The vacationer should also ask one neighbor to check his house periodically and notify police if anything is amiss. But police caution against broadcasting the news of your trip to the whole neighborhood.

Fooling the would-be burglar is another thing... but riot of the precautions are well worth taking.

YOU SHOULD CANCEL all deliveries and arrange for someone to hold your mail. Close and lock all windows and doors, using pin tumbler cylinder locks on all outside doors since they are the most secure type. And, don't forget the basement, porch and garage doors.

Your blinds or shades should be left the way they would be if you were home.

And, if you are planning a long trip, you should arrange for periodic care of your lawn.

Democrat Powell Endorsed By GOP In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell D-NY officially was endorsed Friday night to run for reelection on the Republican ticket.

The Negro congressman was approved unanimously by 125 county committeemen of the 16th Congressional District. Powell last week won the support of the majority of GOP Harlem district leaders, in defiance of the wishes of Thomas J. Curran, Republican county chairman.

Later Friday night Powell, in a brief speech before a state convention of Negro Masons, said he was grateful for the GOP endorsement but added:

"I am a Democrat and intend to remain one."

Powell did not elaborate. However, observers have noted that Powell, if he gives up his Democratic Party label, stands to lose seniority rights in Congress.

Powell was ditched by Tammany Hall—Manhattan Democratic organization—because he backed President Eisenhower in 1956. Powell had expressed dissatisfaction with the Democrats' stand on segregation.

The Harlem congressman, who also is a Baptist minister, has been indicted on federal income tax evasion charges. He has pleaded innocent.

Shades Of The Flying Dutchman

U. S. May Use Crewless Vessels To Crack Sub Threat In Next War

WASHINGTON (AP)—Remember the legend of the Flying Dutchman, the ghost ship that sailed the seas with a phantom crew?

Now the U. S. Maritime Administration is studying the feasibility of using ghost ships, without a living soul aboard, if American sea-going traffic is ever blockaded by Soviet submarines.

The idea would be to ram vital cargoes through submarine-infested waters to overseas bases without risking the lives of American seamen.

Col. Charles R. Denison, chief of the Maritime Administration's research branch, says the nerve center of the proposed ghost ships would be based on the Navy's top secret "Ship Inertial Navigation System."

With SINS, he says, it would be possible to set a crewless ship of submarine tanker on course and have it cross the Atlantic unerring regardless of wind, waves, or stormy weather.

As presently outlined, the ships would be huge, high-speed undersea craft.

Federal Maritime Administrator Clarence C. Morse says he believes it is now possible to achieve automatic navigation—the mariner's dream for centuries—through a major breakthrough in the development of inertial guidance systems.

At a pre-arranged point off the English coast, another pilot and crew would meet the ship and guide it through harbor traffic into port.

Navy experts call it the greatest navigation development since the invention of the compass.

SINS, with its fantastically complicated system of gyroscopes, accelerators and computers, provides the Navy with precise data for missile alignment—or navigation—without reference to the stars, radio, radar and other conventional methods.

Since the Navy fights with its ships, either to seek out the enemy or ward off attack, it has no known plans to develop crewless vessels. Navy officials, however, express keen interest in the Maritime Administration's proposal to build commercial ghost ships for possible wartime use.

Men Who Make the City National

"How 'Ya Gonna Keep 'em Down On The Farm..."

When this song was popular, Howard O. McCracken was farming in Inquois County. After graduating from University of Illinois, College of Agriculture, in 1914, he farmed for 8 years.

Then, for one and one-half years, he was a Federal Appraiser for the First Trust Joint Stock Land Bank, an affiliate of the First National Bank of Chicago.

Howard joined the staff of "the bank on the corner" on March 1, 1924 as Assistant Cashier.

Today he is Vice-President and Cashier, and also has been a Director of City National for some years.

In the work of local, civic and charitable organizations, and in his church, Howard is ever ready to help. He's still keenly interested in farming; a living example of the rule that you can take a man away from the farm - - - but you can't take the love of farming away from the man.

Illinois College Trustees Laud Church Mergers

CHICAGO — Two major church unions consummated in the past year today were applauded by the annual meeting of the board of trustees of Illinois College, Jacksonville, preceding this historic liberal arts college's 125th commencement exercises Sunday.

The college, founded in 1833 by the Yale band (Congregational) and a Presbyterian missionary (John M. Ellis) and presently governed by a 25-member board of trustees, congratulated the United Church of Christ and the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. and commended "the thoughtful and careful labors invested by the four uniting denominations to thus further evidence, in the visible church, the oneness for which our Lord prayed."

The United Church of Christ was formed last June 23 through union of the General Council of the Congregational Christian Churches with the Evangelical and Reformed Church. The United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. came into being last month through union of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. and the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

Illinois College, while legally independent, has "in origin and life maintained an intimate relationship" to the Congregational Christian Churches and the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

The Rev. Dr. Fred Hoskins, chairman of the board of trustees, is minister and secretary of the General Council of the Congregational Christian Churches and co-president of the United Church of Christ. An Illinois College alumna, he formerly was pastor of First Congregational Church, Oak Park.

The moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. at the time of Presbyterian union, Rev. Dr. Harold Martin, pastor of Second Presbyterian Church, Bloomington, also is a trustee.

Rock But No Roll

STANTON, Mo. (UPI)—Dr. Sigmund Sparsh, named to oversee musical programs at the 100 million year old Meramec Caverns, has banned a recent innovation.

Monroe Woman's Club Elects Year's Officers

MONROE (JNS)—The Woman's Club elected officers for the 1958-59 season.

They are Mrs. Edward Kautz, president; Mrs. Harry Gottschalk, vice-president; Mrs. Robert Page, secretary; and Mrs. William Simkins, treasurer.

The club will hold its annual dinner at Poor Richards in Glenwood on Thursday at 7 p.m. Members will meet at the Charles Bimba home at 6:30 p.m. to leave for the dinner.

Receives Doctorate

Leslie Parrott, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Parrott, 403 S. Main St., Bourbonnais, will receive a doctor of philosophy degree from Michigan State University this afternoon.

He received his bachelor's degree in 1948 and his master of arts degree from Willamette University, Salem, Ore., in 1951. He is now serving his sixth year as pastor of First Church of the Nazarene, Flint, Mich. He is a member of the Eastern Michigan District Advisory Board and of the board of trustees of Olivet College. He is married to the former Lora Lee Montgomery of Fort Wayne, Ind. They have two sons, Richard and Roger. Dr. and Mrs. Parrott have resided in Kankakee since 1948, the former serving as president of Olivet College from 1953 to 1955.

"There'll be rock but no roll in this cave," he declared.

Police Building Target Range

There's a spot out in the Limestone Township wilderness where—on most bright, warm days—you'll find some Kankakee police officers wrestling with bulldozers and dump trucks.

Their goal is the construction of a pistol range for members of the Kankakee police department.

The range—with firing positions at 25, 50, 75 and 100 yards—will be completed by late summer or early fall.

Aroma Park Will End Courtesy Tag Program

AROMA PARK (JNS)—The practice of giving courtesy tags to law violators in Aroma Park will come to an end today, according to Elmer Wilkens, Aroma Township justice of the peace.

Since his appointment police officer in Aroma Park, Willard Deschand has been passing out the tags in lieu of arrest tickets.

The tag informs the violator of the offense and warns him against repetition. Wilkens said most persons in the area have had an opportunity now to become acquainted with the laws of the community. Therefore, further offense will be subject to fines.

Power Line Poles Tumble Down In Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI) — Wooden street poles toppled like ten-pins for 10 blocks on a South Side thoroughfare Friday night, injuring five persons and tying up evening rush hour traffic.

Police said the poles' foundations apparently were weakened by digging of trenches for a new curb. The 34 poles on 63rd Street supported street lighting wires and obsolete trolley wires. The freak accident apparently began when the elevated shovel of an excavator truck pulled down a trolley wire at the same time a semitrailer truck, turning off to avoid the excavator truck, hooked a second low-hanging wire.

Beware Of The Termite

By JOHN O. B. WALLACE
Associated Press Home Editor
It's spring, and you see a lot of insects swarming around, look closely. If you come upon a collection of wings, crawl under the house. And if you find a mud tube there, call for help—quick.
Because the American home, although secure against many hazards, is under fierce attack by an enemy that is an inconspicuous mixture of royalty and communism.
The business meeting and report of the county nominating committee and election of county officers will be held in the morning session. The noon luncheon will be served at the fellowship hall of the church by the Married Couples Class.
During the afternoon a pageant, "Thru The Years," will be presented. Special guests will be past home advisors, county presidents and other various officers.
Mrs. Lund will preside at the memorial service and will be the installing officer.

Campus Man Makes, Fourth Wife Call Marriage Off

CAMPUS (JNS) — When the idea of making a violin strikes the average individual, he usually lies down until the thought goes away. But not so with Andy Galeaz, industrial arts teacher at Reddick High School and a handy person with a piece of wood. Galeaz, who also plays the violin, got the idea of making one in 1954 while working with J. Fred Fehr, who then was the Reddick band director.

At that time, they were repairing violins and Galeaz decided to try to make one. To date, he has made three large violins and a half-sized model. Working part time on this tedious hobby, it takes him about six months to complete one.

According to Galeaz, it requires five different kinds of wood to make the instrument. The best for this purpose are types imported from Germany.

The back, side and neck of the violin are carved of flamed maple. The top is made of spruce and the finger board and pegs usually are constructed of ebony. The purfling, inlaid a fraction of an inch from the edge on the top and bottom of the violin, is of holly and ebony, laminated together.

Galeaz said the most important thing in violin making is to have the top carved to just the right contour and thickness to insure the proper air space. This determines the tone received from the finished product.

The sides are shaped by wetting and steaming wood on a special hot iron to acquire the correct contour. They are fastened to corner blocks, which are at-

Mickey Rooney, Fourth Wife Call Marriage Off

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Mickey Rooney, 37, and his fourth wife are both seeking happiness — but they're going to look for it without each other.

"Elaine is a sweet girl. She deserves all the happiness there is," Mickey said Friday when word got out that his wife, actress Elaine Mahan, had consulted a lawyer about ending their six-year marriage.

"But I'm not a bad guy either," Mickey said without pride. "I feel I deserve happiness too."

"We just can't seem to find it together," Mickey said.

The talented actor-comedian who has been a show business star since his childhood said he didn't want to talk about his private life, but then he paused and said:

"I guess my personal life is as private as a fish bowl."

Mickey said he and his wife were together for four years to find they were incompatible.

"I can't explain it," he said. "I guess we're just not temperamentally suited to each other."

Famous Hog's Grave To Be Relocated

ANNA (UPI) — Landowner Don Lingle conceded today that the new state highway must go through — even at the cost of relocating the grave of a high-priced hog.

Lingle in a change of heart settled his controversy with the state of Illinois which plans to cut across the property in construction of a new highway project.

The proposed road will pass right through the site where "King Neptune" is buried, just outside the Anna town limits.

"King Neptune" is a hog which was euthanized off during World War II as a promotion stunt which helped sell 18 million dollars in war bonds for funds in building the battleship Illinois.

The big died in 1950 and was buried with appropriate honors in a spot which residents have come to call "Neptune Park."

Lingle owns the land and looked after the pig when it "retired" to a farm after the war until its death.

The pig was something of a celebrity in its day.

Lingle took it throughout the state for bar bond rallies. The buyer would bid for the pig in war bonds. "The highest bidder would get the bonds and the pig, although he was sworn of the animal for a brief minute."

Then the pig would return to the auction block.

Up 'til Now

A Scrapbook History, Old And New, Compiled By The Kankakee County Historical Society

Kankakee History THE PRAIRIES OF KANKAKEELAND 100 YEARS AGO By Harold W. Simmons (Part Two)

It is almost impossible to try to visualize the scene a little more than 100 years ago when the pioneers were beginning to settle in Kankakee. The changes that have taken place are almost beyond comprehension. What we take for granted now were not even thought of then.

The food in those days consisted mostly of corn meal which was ground in a coffee mill; salt pork, corn bread, potatoes, molasses and milk. During the Civil War coffee and molasses were used. Cooking utensils and milk pans were made of wood. For tea an herb called "shooting star" was dried and brewed. Threshing was done by hand and wheat was separated from the chaff with a fan.

"Later water mills were used to grind corn and saw wood. The distance to these mills was some 20 to 40 miles from the settler's homestead. The hauling of products to market was a problem. The wagon often sank in the mud, and the solution was to unload, carry the sacks of grain to the nearest high spot, then reload and proceed — only to have a similar occurrence within a short distance. There were no bridges to cross streams. The wagon was made into a raftlike arrangement and the oxen swam the stream. The early settlers had no horses and a nice yoke of white oxen was an object of admiration.

"WHEEL WORMS WERE MOSTLY DONE BY manual labor. No implements were available. Corn was planted by making a little hole in the ground with a stick. Bundles of grain were tied with strands of straw. To keep warm, corn stalks and timber logs were used and of old straw. To keep warm, corn stalks and timber logs were used and of old straw. To keep warm, corn stalks and timber logs were used and of old straw.

"The value of money was unstable. To borrow money was to have 15 or 20 per cent taken from the loan as interest. The frequent failure of crops due to the ravages of grasshoppers disheartened the ambitious settler. The dreaded prairie fires were another hazard. When started the flames would increase with incredible velocity, destroying corn fields and buildings in its path. The flames would change direction and race on in its devastation, lighting up the heavens with angry crimson. In the frantic efforts to hold the fire, furrows were ploughed and the grass burned between them. The flames often leaped over the division and continued onward. Water soaked grain sacks and even clothing were used in fighting the furious element, with women and children joining the men in the battle.

"THERE WERE NO WAGON ROADS in those days, only trails leading in certain directions winding around sloughs and ponds. As a guide for a returning member of the family at night a candle was placed in the window, or a fire started out in the open.

"A doctor was rarely seen, in fact each settler had to be his own doctor, and resorted to a concoction of herbs to keep the health of his family.

"In those days pork sold for 3 cents a pound. If eggs cost more than 12 cents a dozen, they were not eaten as they were too expensive. Women were busy knitting stockings. I remember my grandmother with her spinning wheel, making her own clothes, which were worn until they were unrepresentable. Women helped a great deal in out-of-doors work, driving oxen and binding grain.

"My mother selected me, being the oldest of four children, as a general helper, for which she gave me the care and comfort that shall never be forgotten. I remember her putting on my mittens, overboots, scarf, cap and giving me a general survey — with sound advice — before my leaving for my daily journey in the morning to light the fire at the school, some 1½ miles across fields. My father, who was school director, paid me the sum of 50 cents a week which I thought was good pay — perfectly contented — with no thought of asking more."

Benson Tells Dairymen Price
Support Unwise

HARVARD (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson said Saturday the best way for then dairy-dairymen to increase their income is to promote greater use of their products.

He said government price support programs of the past had been unwise and had helped turn consumers away from milk and its products.

In a talk prepared for the 17th annual Harvard Milk Festival, Benson said milk production in recent years has not increased as fast as the nation's population.

"EVEN SO WE are still left with a surplus year after year," he said. Benson said that since 1949 consumers have given up one glass of milk out of nine they used that year.

"We must face up to the fact that milk and dairy products have been hampered by unusual government price programs and have been out-promoted in the market," he said. Benson said it has been a "hard and constant struggle" to turn agriculture away from "too much dependence on government" and toward more self-help, more freedom.

"LET US HAVE realistic pricing and really aggressive marketing," he advised.

"The more aggressive elements of the dairy industry are making increasingly successful efforts to meet the competition for consumer dollars. Marketing and merchandising are looking up. Consumption is beginning to rise. But we are only at the beginning of a long road."

Iroquois 4-H To Hold Livestock
Judging Contest

The Iroquois County 4-H livestock judging contest will be held Wednesday, according to Arlin Obit, assistant farm adviser.

The contest will start at 8 a.m. at the Robert E. Meyer farm located 3 1/2 miles south of Crescent City. After judging three rings of swine at the Meyer farm, the 4-H'ers will move to the nearby Walter Ziegler farm to judge two rings of sheep. The contest will end with the judging of three rings of beef cattle on the George Bauer farm near Woodland.

The six highest scoring individuals, with livestock projects, will be eligible to represent Iroquois County at the state livestock contest at Urbana July 1. All 4-H club members are eligible to participate in the livestock judging contest.

Dry Weather Kept
Randox Ineffective

Farmers who applied Randox, Randox-T or Simazine earlier this spring to control weeds may be disappointed in the results.

The chemical in 20 gallons of water is apparently just not enough to suppress the herbicide in the soil without some assist from normal precipitation. And up until a week ago there just wasn't any precipitation.

Having Trouble With Stumps?
Here's News

Two forestry researchers at the University of Illinois have developed a new chemical mixture that helps home owners destroy stumps by burning.

C. S. Walters and K. R. Peterson call the new mixture Stumpfire. This combination of chemicals has been patented by the university.

Stumpfire can be made of the following mixture of powdered chemicals: three parts by weight of cupric chloride, nine parts of sodium dichromate, two parts of lead acetate and two parts of manganese chloride. For use, this mixture is thinned with water to the consistency of thick molasses.

The forestry researchers recommend cutting the stump as close to the ground as possible. Then bore vertical holes 1 to 1 1/2 inches in diameter about 5 to 6 inches deep but not cut through the bottom. Keep outside holes within 2 inches of the bark. In root extending to the surface, bore holes 3 to 4 inches apart and as deep as possible without going through the bottom.

Four about one-fourth cup of Stumpfire into each of the holes. Let it diffuse through the wood for two to three months before burning. Burn the stumps after a 10 day dry period in August or September. Cover the stump with plenty of dry kindling to start the fire. It's a good idea to fence around the stump to keep small children and animals away.

PETERSON AND THE other five private farmers cooperating receive no special payment for use of his land except that the seed is furnished for the tests.

Earl Long, corn breeder at the university with this mixture have shown about 80 per cent of stumps destroyed. Tests are being made for full information to the College of Agriculture, Urbana, for a copy of the new circular 735, "Burning Tree Stumps With Stumpfire."

FRYMAN SAYS IT also pays to check long range weather forecasts. When the weather is threatening, cut no more hay than can be quickly cured and stored. Also, don't let the forage get too dry before it is baled or chopped.

One way to beat the weather is to use a cracker to help cure hay faster. Or a barn drying system can be used to get the crop in earlier and produce high quality hay, Fryman said.

Weed Control
Plots Located
At Wellington

With the rapid developments in chemical weed control, Iroquois County farmers will be interested in watching a demonstration plot planned as a part of the county fair. For full information to the program, send Kenneth R. Imig, farm adviser.

Results of three of the latest weed control chemicals are being studied on the demonstration field located on the farm of Franklin Pruitt, one-half mile south of Wellington. Just off the black top road.

On one part of the field, there are soybeans which had an application of Randox applied in a band over the row at planting time. This chemical is designed to kill all types of grass weeds. It is particularly helpful in areas where Giant Foxtail is a problem. Along side the Randox treated beans are several rows without treatment.

In another part of the field there is corn which received a pre-emergence treatment of Randox for grass control. On still another area, Simazine has been applied as a pre-emergence treatment for corn. The new chemical, just released for limited use this spring, is designed to control both grasses and broad leaf weeds without damage to the corn.

On still another area, Randox-T was applied. This is another new chemical designed to kill both broad leaf and grass weeds. Untreated corn rows in the demonstration field will give an opportunity to observe the comparative benefits for each type of spray material.

Imig said each plot will be marked so that farmers can observe the results of each treatment throughout the summer.

4-H's To Hold
Special Lamb Show

A special show for market lambs will be held for Iroquois County 4-H members with sheep projects on June 18. The show will be held on the Iroquois Service Co. grounds at the west side of Watseka.

The show will start promptly at 9:30 a.m. The 4-H'ers may exhibit two single lambs and one pen of three lambs. Only fat wether and ewe lambs for market are eligible to be shown. Animals will be judged by the Danish system and will be placed in groups according to their individual merits. Club members exhibiting fat lambs will not be eligible to show these lambs in the purchased 4-H sheep classes at the Milford Fair.

Each entry that is tested consists of two rows five hills (16g, repeated three times).

TEST FIELDS at Dekalb, Urbana and Brownstown are on University of Illinois experiment fields. At Wolf Lake in extreme southern Illinois, the test field is located on the property of the Shawnee High School.

University of Illinois agronomists will conduct 1,022 different corn tests during 1958 at 10 different fields around the state. This seed will be supplied by the state. This seed will be supplied by the state. This seed will be supplied by the state.

THE ASHKUM TEST should benefit both seedsmen and farmers throughout this whole area. Farmers can find out which hybrids do best in the area. Seedsmen can find out which of their hybrids perform best and will prove most profitable for their customers.

The forestry researchers recommend cutting the stump as close to the ground as possible. Then bore vertical holes 1 to 1 1/2 inches in diameter about 5 to 6 inches deep but not cut through the bottom. Keep outside holes within 2 inches of the bark. In root extending to the surface, bore holes 3 to 4 inches apart and as deep as possible without going through the bottom.

Four about one-fourth cup of Stumpfire into each of the holes. Let it diffuse through the wood for two to three months before burning. Burn the stumps after a 10 day dry period in August or September. Cover the stump with plenty of dry kindling to start the fire. It's a good idea to fence around the stump to keep small children and animals away.

PETERSON AND THE other five private farmers cooperating receive no special payment for use of his land except that the seed is furnished for the tests.

Earl Long, corn breeder at the university with this mixture have shown about 80 per cent of stumps destroyed. Tests are being made for full information to the College of Agriculture, Urbana, for a copy of the new circular 735, "Burning Tree Stumps With Stumpfire."

FRYMAN SAYS IT also pays to check long range weather forecasts. When the weather is threatening, cut no more hay than can be quickly cured and stored. Also, don't let the forage get too dry before it is baled or chopped.

One way to beat the weather is to use a cracker to help cure hay faster. Or a barn drying system can be used to get the crop in earlier and produce high quality hay, Fryman said.

Leyden To Quit South Suburban?

The long-contemplated realignment of some of the suburban leagues may be far from dead, as hinted from time to time, Kankakee High may be left high and dry.

According to reports, Leyden, newest member of the South Suburban League, will withdraw in 1959 or 1961. The Franklin Park school, which never was geographically suited to the SSL, is expected to help form a second Suburban League while its new sister school, West Leyden, will enter a second West Suburban.

Thornton Fractional (Calumet City) has already signified its intentions of quitting the South Suburban in 1959. Fractional has already been divided into two schools, one at Lansing, but the two schools will operate for at least another year as one athletic unit.

With both Leyden and Fractional out, the SSL will be reduced to six teams. It could, however, pick up the new branch of Thornton Township, now under construction, and possibly Joliet, which is expected to quit the Big Eight.

But the constant and rapid mushrooming of the schools around Chicago, plus the rapid growth of some already in existence, makes a wholesale shuffling of all suburban leagues impractical as each school seeks competition of its own caliber.

Kankakee, although a charter member of the 31-year-old South Suburban, has long been considered something of an "outsider" since this city certainly is not a suburban community. Even the 30 or 40 miles other SSL teams have to travel to Kankakee for athletic contests makes a "long trip" in comparison to the 10 or 15 miles these schools have to go to play each other.

There isn't the natural rivalry between Kankakee and other SSL schools that develops among close neighbors, either, so the Kays don't draw well up around the south suburban area.

Now that Bradley-Bourbonnais has elected to quit the Wil-R-Kee Conference even though it means the Bulldogs must leave the league membership affiliations seems to be to line up with Bradley and St. Patrick Central with the idea of forming a new Central Division and when the Kays are squeezed out of the SSL.

Walleyes Bite For Notice In Wisconsin

Walleyes are biting, even for the amateurs, in the Flambeau Flows of Wisconsin these days.

We spent the Memorial Day weekend in the north woods and, despite unfavorable weather, brought home all the law abiding (15 for a party of three), most of which we'll have to admit were pulled in by the guide, young Jacques Siehr of Bonfield.

The secret, of course, is knowing where and what they're biting and Jacques knows. The most attractive bait was a spinner with minnow attached, although we hit one on a plug.

The weather permitted only one good day's take, which amounted to 39 walleyes and a sizeable perch for five anglers. An afternoon of flycasting on a small lake netted only a dozen small crappies and bluegills.

St. Pat Cags, Grid Aces Pick College

Most of the athletes who helped give St. Patrick Central its most successful year in the school's history have already decided on which college will get their athletic talents.

Terry Latley and Tom Donahoe, both basketball and football stars, have selected Syracuse. Dick Franz, all-Wil-R-Kee fullback, Bob Lenna, Wayne Sheehan, Joe Martino and Joe Guimond all expect to enroll at Western Illinois. Lenna and Martino were members of the W-R-K championship basketball team and Guimond and Sheehan were on the undefeated and un-

Akins To Give Basilio Crack At His New Title

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Cocky Virgil Akins, the explosive new welterweight champion who floored Gary Vinson Martines nine times for a technical knockout title triumph today, "I'd like to defend against Carmen Basilio in September."

Truman Gibson, president of the International Boxing Club, agreed with Akins that a defense at Illinois State Normal University were Martin Rademacher and Tom Krones, both of whom won the 1957 title, would be a "natural."

GIBSON SAID, "We'll know in a couple of weeks whether Sugar Ray Robinson will defend his middleweight title this year against Basilio. If he doesn't, we'll try to match Akins and Basilio for a September title fight at New York City or Syracuse, N. Y."

Akins of St. Louis gave boxing a robust shot in the arm with his dynamic performance Friday night as he won the vacant world 147-pound crown by scoring a fourth-round TKO over Martinez, who never had been stopped before.

AT THAT TIME, the blood-soaked New Jersey contender lay stretched flat on his back, looking like a man who had been transpired by a herd of elephants. Kessler did not even count over him. In fact Kessler had started to count when Harry Kessler stopped the fight at 52 seconds of the fourth round.

Ahrens Plays In Chick Evans Golf

CHICAGO (Special)—Albin Ogrin of Waukegan will defend his title as a field of more than 150 competitors in the Chick Evans Men's Amateur Golf Tourney, Monday through Saturday.

Entrants include 1957 semifinalist Carl Ahrens of St. Anne. Monday's qualifying round will be at 27 holes with match play following the remainder of the week.

Weber Leaves Track Marks For Kays To Shoot At

Last official act performed by Vic Weber before severing connections with Kankakee High School and departing for a year's residence at Boulder, Colo., was to compile a list of school track records.

It was a job begun back in 1953 by Bron Bacevich, then track and football coach. Because Kankakee track coaches down through the years have the archives of the school are devoid of never bothered with such details and track and field statistics, the task was a difficult one. Even an exhaustive search through newspaper files failed to make the job complete.

Admitting that the list of records he has submitted to the school may not be 100 per cent correct, but feeling that a start has to be made somewhere, Weber hopes that among the athletes or fans who find that better marks have been overlooked will step forward with proof of his act.

WEBER'S LIST credits his crack 1958 team with setting or tying seven records in the 100 yard and 220 yard dashes, the 440 and 880 yard runs, the 800 yard relay, the 1600 and the mile relay. However, the Journal's sports department has taken the liberty of making one change. Weber gives his 1958 mile relay team credit for establishing a school record when the quartet of Clarence Wright, John Griffin, Ed McNeil and Forrest Newton ran the distance in 3:33.1.

A search through 1958 newspaper files show that Roy Dusenbury, Keith Oakes, Ralph Vanliron and Jack Emigh set a record of 3:29 in the Clinton (Iowa) Relays.

The remainder of Weber's list, however, must remain unchallenged, unless proof to the contrary is submitted.

Forrest Newton, Weber's Junior sprinter who won second place in the state 220 yard dash, set one of the records and tied one. His 21.9 timing in finish was second. Bloom's Leroy Jackson in the district 220 bettered the 22 flat set by Emigh "way back in 1936."

Emigh, however, set his record on a curve while Newton's was on a straightaway.

NEWTON'S 100.9 century, again in a second place finish in the district, equals the 1938 standard established by Emigh, now a businessman in Montana.

Ed Mock, a low hurdler specialist who never ran a 440 yard dash, was also on the list.

Boxing BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS ST. LOUIS—Virgil Akins, 147, defeated Gary Vinson Martines, 147, by a fourth-round TKO.

Fishing In This Area Slows Down To 'Fair'

Fishing in general was again slow in this area the past week. A few anglers have been making fair bass and panfish catches but catfishing has been slow for pole and night line anglers. This has been a puzzle to the night line artists who, in past years, have taken big catches out of the river.

Probably the top fishing in the area has been in the Kankakee River near the Kankakee Valley Elks Golf Course. Rock bass and a few catfish are hitting in that area.

Downstream from the dam in Kankakee, the river is heavy with moss in some spots and makes fishing mighty rough. Angling in the lakes and strip mines has been good for bass and catfish. Fish are still in the spawn beds and surface lures should be best.

Despite the run of poor fishing, the anglers never give up. They should start hitting any day and when they do, watch out. It's always the optimistic angler who gets the most out of the season.

KANKAKEE AREA fishermen have found the fishing good in the Kankakee River. It was Dan Bradley hooked a 7-foot, 10-inch sailfin at Miami Beach, Fla.

And Cecil Walters, president of the Kankakee South Side Sportsman's Club, hooked a 7-foot, 10-inch sailfin off Boca Raton, Fla. It took an hour to land the 60-pounder. Walters' fish ended up in second place in the Kankakee South Side Sportsman's Club, hooked a 7-foot, 10-inch sailfin off Boca Raton, Fla. It took an hour to land the 60-pounder. A PROPOSED federal law regulating America's more than four million recreational motor boats has received the endorsement of a special Michigan water study group appointed last year by Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Representing more than 35 public agencies and private boating organizations, the Michigan Water Safety Study Commission has called on Congress to speedily pass the Honner bill, which would set up a numbering system under state control for all inland and outboard pleasure craft. The bill, result of more than two years of hearings and research, is now pending in the House of Representatives.

In an unanimous resolution, the study group pointed out that the Honner bill is the result of joint cooperation between the federal government and the boating industry.

The Commission noted that the bill would "provide for identification of motorboats, assure reciprocity between states and eliminate existing confusion over jurisdiction between federal, state and local governments." The projected federal law would also stipulate state-wide enforcement of marine safety regulations, the Commission said.

If passed and signed by President Eisenhower, the bill will affect some 30 million boating enthusiasts.

Ritter Edges Mitchell In Stock Feature

Corley Ritter of Marinton turned back a late bid by Billy Mitchell of Fairbury to win the 25-lap feature stock car race at the Kankakee Fairgrounds Speedway Friday night.

Mitchell won the main event last week but could not catch the fast-flying Ritter in this race. The two boys also put on a thrilling battle in the third heat race with Mitchell winning by a bumper. Ritter put on a fast finish but did not pass Mitchell until after the cars crossed the finish line.

The feature event was started Indianapolis style Friday night, fastest cars up front and a running start after circling the track for a lap. The races are usually started from a standing start with the slow cars up front. But the question of "struck" — fast cars qualifying with slow times to get a better starting position — came up Friday and the drivers' association decided to use the flying start.

SOME 2,000 CHILLED fans saw Kenny Boyer of Highland, Ind., and Joe Weaver of Kankakee start the race in the first row. Boyer moved right out in front on the first turn with Weaver and Ritter challenging. The Hoosier Hothead held the lead until the seventh lap when Ritter made his bid. The two drivers battled for seven laps before the Marinton driver gained the front position.

Ritter moved out far enough to have good running room and won the race easily. On the 22nd lap, Mitchell caught Boyer but could not overtake the leader. The finish it was Ritter, Mitchell and Boyer.

Chen Edwards of Joliet had little trouble in winning the semi-feature with Jack Spiller of Gary, Ind., second.

HARRY MONTGOMERY of Kankakee was the only double winner. The Kankakee came through with a fine performance in winning the trophy dash and then won his second heat race. Speedway officials announced that the trophy dash will be out from 12 to six cars next Friday. This will give fastest qualifying a chance to show some real speed.

Other winners Friday were Ivan Wines of Kankakee in the first heat event and Harold Kernes of Bradley in the stock car event.

Jim Coleman hurled five-hit ball and struck out eight batters as the AFL team continued its undefeated ways. Coleman also blasted out two hits and drove in two runs.

Baseball To Cost Pitcher $50 Fine

CHICAGO (UPI)—The major leagues cracked down Saturday on baseball pitchers.

Starting with today's schedule, a pitcher will draw an automatic $50 fine if he is warned by the umpire against intentionally throwing at the batter.

If such a pitch is repeated, the pitcher will be tossed out of the game and be liable to further fine or suspension, according to the judgment of the league president.

The new regulation was framed by Presidents Warren Giles of the National League and William Harridge of the American League in a meeting Friday.

The meeting was called after a rash of "duster" incidents cropped up in the National League within the past two weeks.

USAC Lifts Eilian Suspension

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Auto racer Ed Eilian, suspended by the United States Auto Club last week in the tragic Speedway Memorial Day pileup, today was eligible to drive again.

The USAC Friday night reinstated Eilian after talking with him for an hour and then huddling in a closed-door session.

Eilian was suspended for "a series of errors in judgment" just hours after 16 cars piled into one another on the first lap of the Speedway classic. Racer Pat O'Connor, 28, was killed.

In reinstating Eilian, the USAC said it "regrets exceedingly the bad publicity brought by the suspension."

But the USAC said it still agreed the suspension was the proper course to take immediately after the tragedy.

The club said it "wholeheartedly" backed up Competition Director Duane Carter, who pulled Eilian's license.

Eilian, 30, of Oakland, Calif., drove the skidding car which triggered the smashup. He was uninjured but his car was damaged too badly to finish the race. He now will drive on a "provisional" USAC license.

Robinson Receptive To Offer Of Million To Fight Patterson

NEW YORK (AP)—A million dollars is a lot of money. And Floyd Patterson is just a man. So Sugar Ray Robinson is more than willing to listen to a million dollar offer to meet Patterson for the heavyweight boxing title.

The offer came Friday from Sy Weintraub, a television man who recently purchased the Sol Leiser Productions. Weintraub would stage the fight in the Los Angeles Coliseum sometime in September.

In a telegram to Robinson, Weintraub said he had made the same offer to Patterson.

Helping Grandpa Hang Up Some Of The Evidence Of His Provenance As A Fox Hunter

HELPING GRANDPA hang up some of the evidence of his provenance as a fox hunter on a fence in the farmyard is his grandson, Kenneth Jones, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones of 142 N. Alma Ave. Halgh saves the tail after he brings the carcass to the county clerk's office to clip the ears for the bounty. He doesn't bother to skin and sell the pelt because there is hardly any market for them today. (Journal photos)

They Call Him 'Foxy'

"Foxy" is the unofficial name of a Chebanse area farmer who more than lives up to his nickname. He is Lester Halgh, 56, who has been trapping for more years than he can remember and has just completed his most successful season.

From Jan. 1 through May 19 (139 days) Halgh shot or trapped 52 foxes in addition to a small number of muskrats and mink. Halgh owns a 120 acre farm a mile southeast of Chebanse and rents another 80 acres adjacent to his farm.

Last fall Halgh returned to trapping much more heavily than in recent years after a fox got in his chicken yard in the spring. Then he found that the supply of game, mostly pheasants and rabbits, had virtually disappeared from his farm.

The 52 foxes have not come off his farm alone but within a 3-4 mile radius on neighboring farms. Although Halgh lives in Joliet, Ill., he traps in Kankakee County, approximately half of his trapping is in Kankakee County, which is less than a mile from his farm. Seventeen of the foxes have come off his own farm.

THE ONLY MONEY in the fox is from the bounty. Halgh explained, and that is hardly enough to make it pay, but he enjoys trapping. In Kankakee County he gets a $250 bounty and in Joliet County $2 for full grown fox and $1 for pups. Halgh then brings the carcasses to the county clerk's office where he clips the ears off.

Because pelts bring hardly any money, all Halgh says is the tails and disposes of the carcasses.

How does Halgh catch his foxes? "Well, I'll tell you that's a secret," says Halgh. He admits to using a "secret dope." He says he has three varieties, one of which is almost a sure thing and two others which he sometimes uses alone or in combination.

His sets depend on where the foxes have been spotted, but are frequently in an open field near a known den. One reason for his success this year, Halgh believes, is the generally high water level.

Elliott Shrugs Off Missing World Mark

COMPTON, Calif. (AP)—Australia's Herb Elliott is the type of fellow who can shrug off missing a world mile record by the wink of an eyelash.

"No, I'm not disappointed," said Elliott after whipping Ron Delany of Ireland in 3:59.1 Friday night—his fifth sub-four minute mile.

"I'm always happy to run under four minutes and win," said Elliott from Perth, who was clocked just one-tenth of a second off the recognized mile record set by John Landy, a fellow Aussie.

THE RACE AT the Compton International Track and Field Meet had been ballooned as the track died of the year. But Delany, unbeaten this year until Friday night, faded in the final quarter and finished a good 50 yards behind Elliott and Laro Tabor, a Hungarian refugee.

Delany's coach, Jim Elliott of Villanova, blamed the run of final examinations, graduation and a busy indoor season for the skippy Irishman's poor showing.

DELANY SAID the 3.8 mile race was a record. Others blamed the Elliott pace set at first by Bob Shandland of the University of Southern California. "He was timed at 56.9 for the first 440 yards.

Elliott didn't agree. "I wasn't aware of the wind while running," he said. "I liked the pace and I ran the kind of race I wanted."

MAKING THE SET THE PROPER WAY and setting the trap are special techniques which the trapper learns by experience. Here Halgh demonstrates how he sets one of four traps around a "set" in the lower right corner of the picture. The set usually contains the "Bait" or "Dope" used by the trapper to attract the fox.

FOX HUNTING is not all trapping. Here Halgh takes deadly aim at a fox. Although most of his foxes are taken by trapping, he also does some hunting, generally using a 22 calibre rifle. When he traps a fox, he kills it with a shot gun or pistol.

Information On Area Sent To Farm Group

Further information on the Kankakee area has been sent to a firm hired by the Illinois Agricultural Association to make surveys for relocating its headquarters.

The office is now in Chicago, but the statewide Farm Bureau organization has announced it intends to move to a downtown community.

A building program of about $4 million and a payroll of 700 to 900 employees are involved.

Some 30 cities, including Kankakee, have been invited to the IAA. The firm of Panos Factory Lo, which has been hired to survey the possibilities.

The local Chamber of Commerce announced that detailed information, pointing out the various advantages of the area from many standpoints, has been sent to the firm.

Local officials hope that the company will send representatives to visit the area personally.

Four communities in LaSalle County—Streator, LaSalle, Mendota and Ottawa—have joined to promote on a countywide basis to attract the IAA.

A decision by the farm organization's board of directors is not expected until late this fall.

Michael A. Gower, 17, and Thomas Farrell, 17, both students at Notre Dame High School in Niles, were pronounced dead on arrival at Connelley Memorial Hospital in Libertyville.

A third youth, Robert Anderson, 16, suffered shock and lacerations in the accident.

Washington Cops May Be Taking Reducing Lessons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 50 Washington policemen will traipse fearfully to the scales next week for a big test.

If they pass, they won't have to worry. But a verdict of overweight will mean a de-buffing program to make the policemen look more like policemen and less like well-kempt dolls. That's how a congressman described them recently.

The policemen who'll take the weigh-in are members of Washington's motorcycle corps. One of their chief duties is escorting dignitaries and motorcades about the city.

While waiting at National Airport for Vice President Nixon's return from South America a few weeks ago, some of the motorcycle men fell under the gaze of Rep. Arthur Miller (R-Neb). Miller, a physician as well as a congressman, thought some of the policemen were too fat—25 to 50 pounds too fat.

"Kewpie dolls with little pot bellies," Miller said.

Italy has a population of approximately 46 million people.

Men Become Outdoor Chefs, With Wives' Approval

With little ceremony, except perhaps for a lighted fire and crossed forks, women all over town are relinquishing their hold on the frying pans, and turning over a portion of their cooking chores to their husbands.

Ordinarily, this would arouse a storm of protest but (and they can hardly hide their joy) the women have found their husbands eager for the opportunity to show their skills—cooking outdoors.

It's not what they are cooking, but where they are cooking it, that makes the difference. Inside, cooking is often just a chore. Outside, it is an adventure.

How are the women taking it? Not only are they happy with the arrangement, but they are doing all they can to promote the trend toward cooking out-of-doors, with the agreement "the men do the cooking."

One woman shopper is pictured with all the ingredients for a busy summer—grill her husband.

Other pictures on this page show local families enjoying food out in the open, where it seems to taste so much better.

MOST OF THE MEN show favoritism toward steaks, but there is a wide variety of outdoor cooking possibilities, from the meat course to the accompanying dishes which can be prepared ahead of time. The woman of the house (or the yard) can surely enjoy a leisurely meal hour, with hubby cooking and the side dishes ready and waiting.

Equipment for cooking outdoors is particularly fascinating.

For the fire, you may need gravel, charcoal briquets, a fire starter, charcoal lighter fluid, a fire rake, fire tongs, pail of water (for quenching briquets), asbestos gloves, a small shovel, smoke chips and matches. For spit barbecuing, there is a separate list.

You will need long handled forks and tongs, but the list has only begun.

Other possibilities, unless you prefer to cook with only the bare necessities, include salt, pepper and other seasonings, pans for saucers, a coffee pot, carving board and knife and fork, platters, salad bowl, servers, trays, paper or styrofoam plates and cups, paper disposal bags, ice bucket, thermos, folding chairs and table, sponge, canvas cover to protect grill when not in use and, of course, an apron and chef's hat.

In addition to the things you must have, there are certain things you must know. First of all, you must know how to build a fire. This bit of information includes knowing charcoal, how to use gravel as a base, how to start the fire, avoid flame-ups and the distance of food from the heat. If you are really interested, you can even study wind velocity and direction for better results.

AFTER THE FIRE is built, the meat must be selected. A wide variety of food can be cooked on a grill or at a barbecue, including beef, lamb, chicken, turkey, duckling and lobster. Concerning the amount to buy, it is advised that you anticipate healthy appetites out in the open.

Recipe books are printed with special sections for barbecues and cook-outs. The pictures are particularly appealing, with large displays of rich brown meat.

Entertaining at cook-outs is particularly appealing and the meat, as it sizzles or turns, provides its own show for the guests who are almost always found circling the grill and the proud chef.

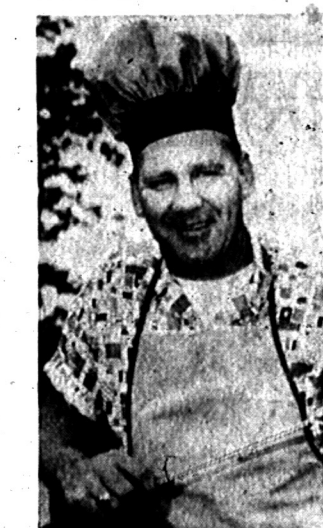

The guests praise the host-chef, he praises the equipment or cut of meat, and the wife pats herself on the back. She was probably the instigator of the whole thing.

On The Social Side

SECTION IV — SOCIETY — HOME — KANKAKEE SUNDAY JOURNAL, SUNDAY, JUNE 8, 1958 — PAGE 38

Harry Lunkusky of 1661 E. Emory St. admits that his wife might start the fire or put the meat on before he arrives home from work, but the finishing touches are his.

Bernard Richard can occasionally be found in his back yard at 1639 S. Fifth Ave., bending over a sizzling steak. An overwhelming outdoor menu favorite is steak.

Ed Lukowski, bedecked in a chef's hat and holding appropriate utensils, is among the many local men who have found an interest in cooking outdoors. (His wife is also pictured.)

Despite the fact that the men take over the preparation of the meal, it is still the woman's job to prepare accompanying dishes. Pictured are Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert R. Frater, 965 S. Evergreen Ave. and their 2-year-old son, Jimmy, as they prepare a roast for an outdoor feast.

John Panozzo (at right) shows that he can fry potatoes outdoors, as well as meat. Relaxing (with an occasional suggestion) are (from the left) Mrs. Panozzo and Mrs. David Neal of 949 S. Chicago Ave., Eddie and Bob Panozzo, David, Johnny and Nancy Neal. The scene is at the Panozzo residence at 1033 S. Chicago Ave.

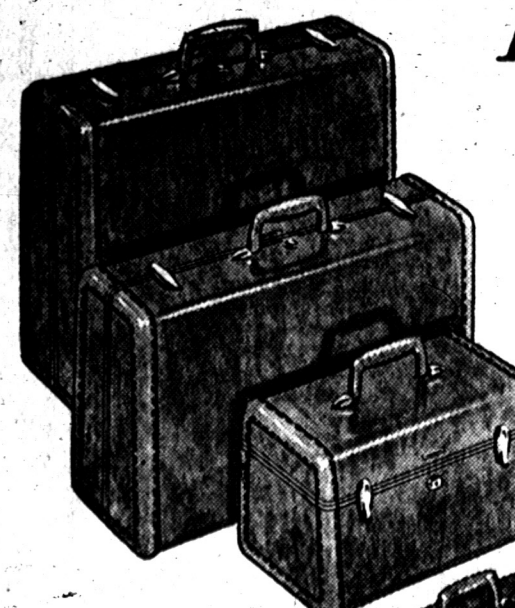

Many homes are now built with outdoor cooking and relaxation in mind. Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Thompson of 1986 E. Linden St. enjoy the patio at the back of their home. The kitchen and living area of their home open onto the patio. As Thompson officiates at the grill, his family looks on. The children are Marcia, 6, Jim, 11, and Carol, 14.

Sondra Sullivan Wed To Owen Hertz

Miss Sondra Sullivan and Owen Hertz exchanged wedding vows at 2 p.m. May 31 in St. James Church, Irwin in a double ring ceremony read by the Rev. Stanley Gray.

Home Of The Week

When Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Schoolman's son, Robert, returned home following a stint in the United States Army it was decided he and his wife could take over the family farm and the senior Schoolmans would move to Gilman.

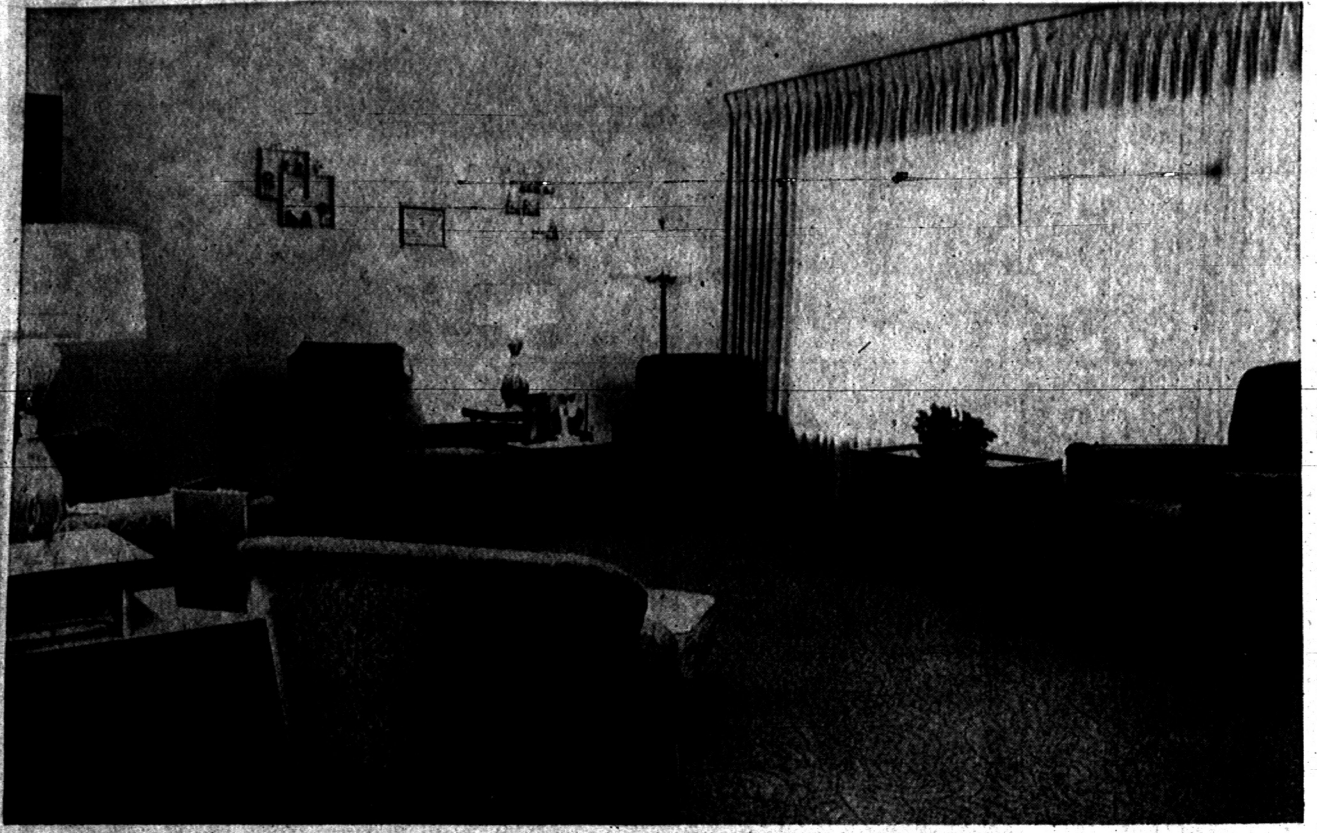

Mr. and Mrs. Schoolman selected an attractive, tree shaded lot in town and settled for the basic idea of a house plan they found in a national magazine. Modifications were made to suit their tastes — they sketched their ideas and then took them to a contractor.

The house was completed last November and the Schoolmans moved in Nov. 15. Rooms include large living room, breakfast area, kitchen, den (which doubles as a bedroom), two bedrooms, full basement, nine closets and bath and a half. Baseboard heat is used. The exterior is an attractive buff brick with Bedford stone and crisp white trim.

Mr. and Mrs. Schoolman did their own interior decorating and the exterior landscaping. Color schemes incorporate her favorite colors of beige, green and pink tones.

The Schoolmans have four children, Robert and Donald of Gilman; Mrs. Glenn DeVall of Onarga and Mrs. Walter Meyer of Gilman. They also have nine grandchildren.

Beige tones predominate in the living room decor—nutria carpeting, soft sand draperies, lined oak woods and beige, brown and turquoise upholstered pieces. Exterior entrance hall at right is painted a cool crystal green. Dinette opens in foreground and hall to bedrooms and bath is at rear left.

Norman Bahler, president, presided. Medford McClatchey led group singing. The invocation was given by the Rev. Wendell Turner. Thirty-three members and three guests, Arlin Obst, William Madix and Udell, were present.

Games were played, lunch was served and Mrs. McDermott received gifts. Members of the Neighborhood Club and some relatives were guests.

Mrs. Frank Berberich went to Chicago Tuesday to be with her sister, Miss Clara Geier, who was to undergo surgery.

Handy Men—Don't Stumble Over Summertime Hazards

BY MR. FIX
Distributed by NEA Service

Summer's the time to refresh your memory on "take care" routines in pursuing your chores around the house and yard. The season adds two hazards to the usual list of potential troubles.

In the first place, the general atmosphere of the season is conducive to a somewhat adrifted approach to things. "Take it easy" is the feeling in the air, and accidents take no holidays.

Secondly, you are physically more vulnerable to minor injuries. Things as concrete block, rough lumber, or what-have-you.

Don't rubber gloves and wear goggles. Your chest may be hairy, but a caustic solution that splashes will bite right through the fur, if you're not protected.

IF YOU SHOULD nick or scrape yourself, take care of the injury right away. A first-aid kit costs little but pays off in protection, and your home shop should number one among its tools.

If you don't have one, now's the time to remedy the lack. It should contain: adhesive bandage, tape, gauze pads, gauze bandage, antiseptic cotton and the type of strip bandage so handy for minor cuts.

If the injury is minor, wash surrounding area and wound thoroughly, apply medication and a bandage.

If any material appears to be buried below the skin, or if you suffer a puncture wound, apply first aid, of course. But, by all means, see a doctor as soon as possible.

SPEAKING OF SUMMER, the sun is just as hot in the yard or garden as it is at the beach. Potentially more dangerous, too, because, with your mind on the bugs, you're not apt to notice how much of a cooking you're getting.

Wear a hat, don't try to get all your tan at once and try to channel your chores into the cooler portions of the day.

If you are doing a lot of work, if it's the sweatiest type of thing, watch your salt intake.

Salt tablets, taken according to directions, can help to offset salt loss through excessive perspiration.

Japan, guided by the noise abatement rules which originated in the U.S. in 1949, is undertaking a program to eliminate unnecessary horn-honking and other noises. 300 Tokyo motorcycle policemen have been equipped with noise-measuring meters.

Green Thumb House Has Terraced Split Levels

WROUGHT IRON TRELLIS COLUMNS and wood stone flower boxes greet the visitor to this multi-level "green thumb" house, see re-

THE FLOOR PLAN at the left shows the terraced levels of the entrance foyer, the living room and the dining-kitchen area. The terrace

By JOHN O.B. WALLACE
Designed for garden enthusiasts this multi-level split makes use of the terrace technique found in formal gardens of the Orient. The result is a large family house with features appealing especially to "green thumbs." We have designated it "X-3" in the House of the Week series.
The terraced effect quickly becomes apparent.
On one level is the entrance foyer. Up three broad steps to the right is the living room. Up two steps from the living room is the dining room and adjoining kitchen.
On the same level as the foyer there is a large terrace room, which lies four steps below the level of the dining-kitchen area. Along one wall of the terrace room is a glass-enclosed greenhouse. This wall is faced glass. The outside greenhouse wall is glass too, so the terrace room not only has filtered natural light, but a curtain of greenery to decorate it on the greenhouse side.
There are openings at both ends of the greenhouse, one leading to a rear terrace; the other leading to the garage.
THE GARAGE, ITSELF, can be entered from the terrace room at a point only a few steps away from a flower-arranging stall. Here the gardener can handle plants and flowers without leaving the house proper in disarray.
Herbert C. Struppman, the architect who developed this "green thumb" house, has carried out the gardening theme still further. The four upper bedrooms are reached from a landing above the dining room-kitchen level and the balcony landing is bordered by a flower box railing.
There are planters in the entrance foyer and in an alcove between the dining room and kitchen. Planters are in abundance, outside the living room's low window, the bedroom windows and the three window sides of a dinette at the rear of the kitchen.
Wrought iron-trellis columns decorate the sheltered, flagstone front porch and there is a lily pool in the rear terrace area.
Struppman has adroitly planned the bedroom area. Three of the four bedrooms have cross ventilation. Each of the children's bedrooms has two closets. The master bedroom, nearly 16 by 16 ft. in size, has four closets, a private bath with a large vanity and an enclaved tub and a dressing room alcove.
Altogether there are 15 closets on the bedroom level alone. The second bath is equal in size to the master bath and has a vanity and tub.
NOT ONE of the bedrooms is less than 12 1/2 sq. ft. in size. These luxurious dimensions usually are found only in the most expensive homes.
In borrowing from the Orient, Struppman has created vistas in all directions by terracing the dining room above the living room and the living room above the dining room. From the living room it is possible to look across the dining room and kitchen into the rear garden. And from the dining room, one can look across the dining room into the front garden.

Brick and horizontal wood siding are used on the exterior walls. The roof is of asphalt, shingles. Other exterior details include wood shutters, wood and stone flower boxes and casement windows.
KEMPTON (JNS)—The American Legion Auxiliary will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Legion Hall. An election of officers will be held and tray favors will be made for Veterans Hospitals.
Miss Edna Spires, Mrs. Mary Spires, Mrs. Anson Gates, Mrs. Gilbert Miller are on the lunch committee.
MRS. L. M. ROBINSON of Phillips, W. Va., left Tuesday after spending a week with her father, Frank Malone, and other relatives.

Insulation is like happiness—no home should be without it. Properly installed, good insulation makes a house cooler in the summer and warmer in the winter, and saves money both in heating and air conditioning bills.

So if you're house hunting, anywhere in the country, don't forget to ask about insulation.

With the house-hunting season now reaching its peak, here are some questions to ask about insulation and some hints from heating and cooling experts on what to look for during your inspection tour:

1. What areas of a house should be insulated? All outside walls should be insulated; also all ceilings with unheated areas above them, such as ceilings under an attic.

If there is no basement, there should be insulation in floors over a crawl space or around the edge of a concrete slab. Insulation should form a blanket around the living areas of a house in order to boxes, wiring cables, pipes, and studs and joists.

4. How much insulation should there be? If the house has electric heating or a central air conditioning system, a six-inch thickness of mineral wool is recommended in ceilings. There should be a minimum thickness of three inches in walls and a two-inch thickness in floors over unheated areas such as a crawl space.

If the house has a conventional heating system and no air conditioning, there should be at least four inches of insulating material in the ceilings, three inches in the walls, and two inches in floors over unheated areas. Floors above a heated basement and ceilings below an occupied second floor should not be insulated.

5. IS THE SPACE over the ceiling insulation ventilated? Ceiling insulation is more effective if space between the roof and the surface is ventilated.

6. How much insulation should there be? If the house has electric heating or a central air conditioning system, a six-inch thickness of mineral wool is recommended in ceilings. There should be a minimum thickness of three inches in walls and a two-inch thickness in floors over unheated areas such as a crawl space.

THE BRIDE'S BEDROOM... A room that spells romance, elegance and comfort. The canopy bed and cathedral-type carpet, designed by Magee, should appeal to men.

Charm In The Bedroom

By VIVIAN BROWN AP Newsfeatures

Many a bride puts all her home furnishings money into "her" area of the house seen by visitors. She skips on bedroom furnishings, forgetting that the one person she should be impressing is her husband.

A woman who shies off decorating her bedroom is on her way to a divorce court or an unhappy marriage," commented a psychiatrist recently. He pointed out that men enjoy spending time in the bedroom, relaxing, reading, dressing, viewing TV or listening to the radio. The bedroom should be the most comfortable room in the house.

Many women take the attitude that the "bedroom is just for sleeping anyway," but a man who can't wait to get out of his bedroom in the morning may be anxious to get out of the house, too.

A few queries elucidated from valuable males that these are some of the comforts required:

1. A king size bed or twin bed, one that permits stretching the legs, a night's rest, and an adequate share of covers.

2. A good light for reading. They have no objection to copy lighting, provided it can be turned up for reading.

3. His own chest of drawers and night table, and a closet in the room.

4. Covering on the floor. Men are particularly partial to comfort underfoot, and the softer the rug, the better they like it.

5. An uncluttered room "when he gets ready to retire. "No belts on door knobs or slaps on the backs of doors," one husband says.

6. Don't leave shoes around the bed. Many a man has fractured an ankle stumbling over a high-heeled shoe in the dark of night.

7. Window shades, other blinds or draperies that may keep out the early morning light are other requirements for happy sleeping.

If you can't afford the king size bed and overstuffed bed linen, then give your man a twin bed, or a romantic canopy bed. Modern reading lamps may be in harmony with any decor. Carpets are available in luxury wool piles with shaded uncut loops, and these may be made even more luxurious underfoot with urethane foam underpads.

The rare Australian bird, second in size only to the ostrich, had been waging a battle against infertility since 1935. And now that he's an "oddsier," well, it just didn't seem possible.

Zoo Curator Karl Plath said that since 1935 Aussie has spent eight weeks each year sitting on the batches of eggs laid by his countless wives. But nothing ever came of it.

On May 23, two chicks arrived. So great is communal pride in the eggs that all five of the females bristle whenever anyone comes near the chicks.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Aussie the emu proved the old adage: If at first you don't succeed, try, try again.

Brookfield Zoo officials proudly announced Friday that the aging bird finally became a father after 27 years. Two little chicks were seen bobbing a round the giant bird's enclosure.

Criminologist Interviews
Starkweather

By Dr. James Melvin Reinhardt
Professor Criminology,
University of Nebraska

LINCOLN, Neb. — Charles Starkweather, the 19-year-old killer, has reached the end of the line.

Of 11 killings he has admitted, he was convicted of one. But he awaits with indifference the day of his execution.

Charles Starkweather terrified a city. He put a stop to laughter, made people fearful to step out of doors. He fixed his name in criminal history.

The answer to why he killed must be found inside Charles Starkweather. In his way of looking at life, in the values he gave it. Here is what he told me.

He is the third of seven children — six boys and a girl. He grew up in a law-abiding family, knew good public schools and libraries.

His earlier years were not markedly different from the surface from that of thousands of young people who have grown into respectable adults.

He shared the companionship of the family dog, often went hunting with his older brother and his father, spent weekends with August Meyer of Bennett, a family friend whom he later murdered.

For a number of years he attended church and Sunday school regularly, but lost interest before he finished the eighth grade. He said "I just got tired of it."

Charles Starkweather's school intelligence rating was dull, not normal. Both the psychologists for the defense and the prosecution put his intelligence in the normal range.

It had been nursed in a multitude of grotesque and cruel fantasies. It was unfolded in his language and manner in the interview.

When I asked him for an explanation of his killings, he could say only: "The old man came at me. . . I had to kill him. . ."

The old lady was coming at me with a knife. . . she wanted to break up me and Carl. . . the little girl was crying. . ."

Killing not only served him immediate ends, it symbolized the destruction of opposing forces. Behind his hunger for the feel of power was a covering sense of failure. The gun could do things in a hurry.

He had thrilled to its performance on the television screen. He had watched himself handle it in the mirror.

As far back as Charles could remember he wanted to be important.

He had acquired numerous personal oddities and mannerisms: a withdrawn look, tricks for maintaining social distance—like refusing to answer, appearing not to hear, keeping silent.

"Talk gets you nowhere," he said.

He said, "Why didn't you stay with your brother? He has made a living and stayed out of trouble."

He said: "You think I wanted to be a garbage hauler. . . who gives a damn for a garbage hauler?"

For Charles, life's purposes had no scope. Egotistic and biologic satisfactions, that was about all. A girl to use, a gun to shoot, and power that could be tasted.

Nobody gave it a thought. All the time the inside of him was watching fences go up that he couldn't cross, gates closed that he couldn't open.

In his job at a printing plant, he said, people were "looking down on me."

County Votes
River Patrol

The Kankakee County Board of Supervisors today voted to participate with the city in patrolling the Kankakee River on weekends and holidays.

The board voted to pay the salaries of two patrolmen ($10 per day each) on these days.

Board Chairman George E. Luehrs pointed out that the city of Kankakee now pays for 10 patrolmen on such days and said he felt it was fair that the county participate.

HE SAID "That boating traffic on the river is becoming a 'serious problem' and noted that the river is being patrolled from Kankakee to Aurora Park.

Luehrs said it will be up to Sheriff J. W. Laffey to deputize the two patrolmen.

William Gousard is head of the Kankakee River Patrol, which was authorized by board action.

Semi-annual reports to the board from fee officers were received today. The reports came from the county clerk, circuit clerk, sheriff, recorder of deeds and superintendent of schools. (A quarterly report.)

They showed balances in funds due to the county in each case.

IN OTHER ACTIONS the board: Renominated William Kraus and approved a new subdivision, Division 21, consisting of 21 lots on the north bank of the Kankakee River west of Monroe.

Luehrs announced that he intends to participate in a meeting of the County Board of Supervisors on June 17 in Pontiac.

Received and approved a plat for a new subdivision, Division 21, consisting of 21 lots on the north bank of the Kankakee River west of Monroe.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS, on recommendation of the agriculture committee, entered into a two-year contract with Dr. R. O. Mudd, D.V.M., for the care of Kankakee County tuberculosis patients will be submitted to voters in the Nov. 4 general election, the board of supervisors decided today.

The measure would provide for a tax levy of not to exceed 7.5 cents per $100 of assessed valuation for TB care.

This would be in excess of the 6.5 levy for county general purposes. Although the ballot will contain the wording "additional tax," the TB levy is not new and has been in effect about 10 years in Kankakee County.

The current TB levy is 3.8 cents. The full 7.5 cents has never been assessed.

The board set the referendum after a petition was presented asking for the vote. The petition was signed by more than 200 persons.

Only 100 signatures are legally necessary.

Money from the levy goes to pay for the care of TB patients. They must be Kankakee County residents, although they are cared for in sanatoria outside of the county.

The money is available to everyone, regardless of financial condition. Mr. H. A. Parlin of Ogle County, Ill., reported that 19 residents are now patients in sanatoria, including 17 adults.

During the past year the county paid for 184 examinations following positive reactions to chest X-rays.

A power bloc of protective tariff advocates, whose ranks have grown as a result of the business slump, were ready to try to defeat the measure.

CHICAGO (AP) — An explosion and fire today destroyed a combination restaurant and foreign trade firm in suburban Cicero.

Frank Strickley, acting fire chief of Cicero, said he suspects the fire at the People's Waiting Room restaurant may have been deliberately set. He estimated damage at $100,000.

A sporting goods store and a tavern adjoining were damaged.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's first nuclear-powered aircraft may be unmanned and radio controlled.

It may circle for six months or a year, remote from populated regions, and then be landed for detailed studies of radiation, weather and parts failure.

Such a test flight could bring to light any unsuspected problems and help assure safety of crews later.

These possibilities were being discussed in the aviation industry today in the light of new brochure on "Aircraft Nuclear Propulsion Systems Applications for the National Defense," distributed by General Electric Atomic Energy Division.
