Antibiotics Efficiency Lowered By Over Usage

NEW YORK (UPI)—Medical science is so worried over sub-tribes of disease-causing bacteria getting wise to its most effective way of killing them that it has needed the government into acting.

U. S. Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney is sponsoring a medical-hospital conference in September to go into this deepening problem.

Simply stated, the problem is this: disease-causing bacteria are being educated in how to live and flourish in the presence of the antibiotic drugs.

This education is being administered by physicians and often in hospitals—unwillingly and usually unwittingly, of course. It is a pity because antibiotics are the most effective weapons we have against disease-causing bacteria nearly as effective as those. But where will we be if and when the day comes when all bacteria are able to resist all antibiotics and there is no new antibiotic to save the day?

PHYSICIANS USE antibiotics in quantities. Hospitals seem to use the greatest promise in the field of medicine. You have a human body in which there are x-billion bacteria making it very sick. You inject an antibiotic. It kills all the bacteria. presto, and the body rebounds into health. But if you repeat it often enough in enough bodies you're going to run into a relatively few bacteria which adapt themselves to the drug.

THESE FEW BECOME parents of a new sub-tribe of their kind, all of whose members are resistant to that particular antibiotic. This is going on right now. More and more of these bacterial strains are appearing around the country; indeed, around the world.

They still are a very small minority of disease-causing bacteria, and the common way of dealing with them is to inject a different antibiotic—one to which they are not resistant.

It fully and often, naturally. But the more the antibiotic was used, the greater is the chance of it becoming progressively less effective.

Small epidemics of illnesses caused by resistant bacteria now appear occasionally in hospitals. They're quickly put down with a newer antibiotic, but they show what's going on. Bacteria are everywhere, even in hospitals, and so hospitals are places where bacteria get educated, since all the antibiotics are always around.

Leaders of medical science believe the antibiotics should be used against offending bacteria only when the need is great and nothing else will do. Hospitals should rely more on older drugs and older methods for holding down the bacterial population to the barest minimum and less on antibiotics, they say.

Free Sub Trapped On Sand Bar

PROVINCETOWN, Mass. (AP)—The snorkel submarine Piper caught on a sand bar in calm sea off the fishing and resort town early Saturday, setting into high gear Navy rescue operations that ultimately were not needed. The sub was pulled free six hours later.

The Piper, out of New London, Conn., was riding the surface as dawn broke when it suddenly halted, held fast on Wood End Bar. It was making calibrated tests along a measured mile course.

Word of its plight was flashed to New London and to Boston. The submarine rescue ship Sunbird sped from New London, and the Navy's radio and TV stations in Boston to broadcast an appeal for the crew of another rescue craft, Skylark, to report to their ship immediately.

Before either vessel had reached this town, on the tip of Cape Cod, the Piper was pulled off its sandy perch by the Coast Guard cutter Frederick Lee.

The Navy said it apparently had suffered no damage and proceeded under its own power to New London.

What, Christmas in July?

While the rest of these Atlanta kids seem to be making the most of this "Santa Claus in July" affair, young John Flak can't seem to get things straightened out. Picture shows him examining his calendar (L) as Santa entertains the rest of the gang. Occasion.

was a charity drive by a local Kiwanis Club to raise money for the underprivileged children at Christmas. Temperature in Atlanta was 95. (Unifak)

President Sends Message To U.S. Mid East Troops
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower cautioned U.S. fighting men in the Middle East Saturday to be on guard against "deliberate attempts" to provoke them into incidents that would give cause for anti-American propaganda.

In a personal message broadcast to troops in the crisis-ridden area, the President also told the service men they would be withdrawn "as soon as the independence and integrity of Lebanon are secured."

He warned them they face "a trying time" but that their performance of duty "is the greatest contribution you make to the peace of the world—the saving of freedom of a small and friendly country."

THE MEN arrived looking cheerful and in good health, but the strain of the uncertainty of their imprisonment still showed on their faces.

They were turned over to American Red Cross authorities at Hor on the West German border and flown to their 3rd Army Division headquarters in Frankfurt by helicopter.

The ceremony lasted hardly five minutes, and then the men were escorted to an Army bus which took them to division headquarters for a medical checkup and questioning. Families of the men waited at their homes. Army officials waited at a news conference with the men for the press.

THE AGREEMENT concluded Thursday for release of the men provided for the payment of $4,000 in cash marks for the keep of the men in East Germany. The agreement mentioned both the U. S. government and the government of the German Democratic Republic, as East Germany calls itself.

Maj. George E. Kemper of Escondido, Calif., was the first of the returned soldiers to jump out of the helicopter and salute Gen. Van Natta. The others:

1st Lt. Mike Ellis, 27, Bremen, Ga.
Capt. William Officer LeRoy J. Malone, 30, Reno, Nev.
Maj. James R. Zeller, 34, Mount Joy, Pa.

Capt. Allan A. Brister, 31, Wynonah, N. J.
Capt. Paul E. Jones, 36, Cleveland, Ohio.

Capt. Frank A. Athanasios, 31, Greenville, S. C.
1st Lt. Thomas J. Westbrook, 27, Macon, Ga.
Maj. Sgt. Carol T. Ruffin, 36, Howe, Tex.

Neither did he refer at all to President Nasser or the United Arab Republic with which the Soviet government officially regarded Israel as a belligerent.

The impression of diplomatic observers in Moscow was that Khrushchev was not threatening Soviet intervention in the Middle East.

If anything, they said, Khrushchev's latest correspondence appeared to amount to an offer to bargain with the United States over the fate of the Middle East.

THE LETTER to Eisenhower included a comradely reference to the United States and the Soviet Union as allies in World War II. This was another indication, they said, that Khrushchev was calmer than he was threatening.

The proposed date—less than three days away—appeared to be a gambit rather than a serious suggestion.

Khrushchev's insistence on an early meeting, even after July 22, was interpreted as an attempt to reach some kind of agreement before the Western pile-up of arms and troops in the Middle East placed the Soviet Union in a disadvantageous military position.

BUT IN COMMUNIST China and Soviet Russia there were reports that popular emotion was running high against the Anglo-American intervention in Lebanon and Jordan. Millions of Chinese paraded in protest demonstrations in major cities. In Moscow, press and radio reported country-wide mass meetings of protest. These included rallies among Russian troops now on massive maneuvers just north of Turkey and Iran.

German intelligence reports in Hamburg said the massed Russian troops and armor on the Turkish and Iranian borders far exceeded Allied forces in the Middle East. The reports said there were 24 Soviet divisions, including many armored and mechanized units, on the borders.

United Press International correspondent Daniel F. Gilmore, who crossed the Lebanese-Syrian frontier, 35 miles east of Beirut, Saturday reported that U.S. Navy jets were patrolling the air space along the frontier. He said there were no Syrian planes in sight. The Syrian air force is equipped with Soviet jet fighters.

A U.S. EMBASSY spokesman said the embassy has reports that some Russian MIG fighters with Soviet pilots have arrived in Damascus. However, the reports were not from official sources, and the embassy doubted their authenticity.

UPI correspondent Jack Sal reported from Baghdad, Iraq, that five days after the revolt the capital was bustling with normal Oriental life. There were only a few tanks and soldiers at strategic corners.

All signs, Sal said, were that the regime set up by revolutionary Premier Brig. Abdel Korim Kassem was in control throughout the country.

IN LONDON, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan left for a country weekend. He was reported to be confident that the crisis would not turn suddenly into an East-West conflict.

Grabs Purse, Flees In Car With Accomplice
A man grabbed a purse from a woman's arm and then fled in a car driven by an accomplice Saturday evening.

Miss Lucas told police she was walking east in the 800 block of E. Commercial Street about 8 p.m. Saturday when a man, about 21 years old and dressed in a white sport shirt and khaki trousers, approached from the west.

He grabbed the purse and ran into the street where he jumped into a slowly moving, black, 1950 model car which sped away, she said.

Two men in another car, who had seen the incident, pursued the auto and stopped a similar car in the 500 block of S. Schuyler avenue. But the occupants of this car apparently cleared themselves and drove away.

Miss Lucas said the white purse contained a $5 bill and some change.

$3,072,054 Budget Set For Kankakee School District

A tentative budget of $3,072,054 and tentative appropriation ordinance were adopted by Kankakee District 111 board of education Friday. The tentative ordinance estimates that at a tax rate of $1.89 per $100 assessed valuation on an estimated valuation of $122,000,000, the district will receive $2,258,891 in taxes for operation of the district's schools during the 1958-59 term.

This allows for a five per cent loss caused by non-payment of other taxes and other reasons. The budget estimates that $304,556.83 will be received in state aid and $20,000 in federal aid for the federal lunch program, reimbursement for transportation and special education programs.

THE BUDGET WILL be available for public inspection until Aug. 25 when the public budget hearing will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the board of education room in Kankakee Senior High School.

The hearing is regularly advertised but no one ever attends. An educational fund rate of $1.40 per $100 assessed valuation, the maximum limit, will cover most of the schools' expenses. Other rates set by the tentative budget and appropriation ordinance are:

Educational fund, Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund, .025; Building fund, .250; Building fund, Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund, .025; Building fund and interest retirement fund, .26; and transportation fund, .60.

ESTIMATED RECEIPTS and expenditures set up in the tentative budget are:

Educational fund: receipts, $2,365,894; expenditures, $2,365,894. Building fund: receipts, $20,000; expenditures, $20,000. Balance, $220,000.00.

Transportation fund: receipts, $20,000; expenditures, $20,000. Balance, $20,000.00. Of the $2,365,894 expenditures estimated for the educational fund, $1,500,000, or more than 60 per cent will be used for instructional services—$1,495,000 for teachers salaries and the remainder for instructional supplies, principally of office salaries, education tests, etc.

THE BUDGET estimates total receipts for the 1958-59 school year at $2,365,894; expenditures, $2,365,894, with a balance on June 30, 1959, of $220,000.00. The district's income will be helped by an estimated $15 million growth in valuation. It is estimated that the valuation will be $122 million compared to $110 million in the previous budget.

Comparing the 1958-59 school budget with the budget of five years ago in 1953-54, Roy Strassman, school board president, noted that the number of teachers, principals and administrators has increased from 178 to 268, an increase of 50, or 28 per cent.

Pupil enrollment is 6,321, up 2,010 or 45 per cent from the 4,311 enrollment of five years ago. The educational fund tax rate of $1.04 in 1953-54 compares to $1.40 for 1958-59, a 35 per cent increase.

ASSESSED VALUATION of district 111 was $98 million in 1953.

Chance Of Farm Legislation Dims

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A leading House Democratic farm spokesman, warned today there is "not better than a 50-50 chance" Congress will pass major farm legislation this year for such crops as cotton, rice and corn.

Rep. W. R. Poage (D-Tex.), ranking Democratic member of the House Agriculture Committee, added in an interview that an administration — backed farm bill awaiting senate action was a "low price" measure.

Prospects that Congress will agree to a bill that would be as good as good now as they were on Jan. 1. Page added.

Wage War On Pembroke Weed

Large areas of growing marijuana plants along the roads in Pembroke Township have been sprayed with a killing chemical by the Pembroke Township Road Commission.

A representative of the Illinois Division of Narcotics supervised the spraying along the township roads.

The plant, from which illegal earnings can be made, grows easily in this area. State, county and township officials can control it only along roadways and on public owned property.

According to State's Attorney Frank Curran, control of the weeds on private property is the responsibility of the owner. Under a new state law passed by the last legislature, Curran said, a Bureau of Narcotics was set up with fines of up to $5,000 and jail terms of from three to 10 years set up for possession of narcotics.

This, Curran said, would also include growing of the weed.

THE WEEDS sprayed Thursday and Friday were mostly in the southern end of the township, although some were sprayed north of Hopkins Park.

Birds like the seeds marijuana, thus contributing to its spread. Federal and state laws provide heavy penalties for the possession, transportation and sale of marijuana.

Although marijuana is itself not habit forming, cigarettes made from the plant provide the user with a "lift" similar to that of more potent drugs.

Officials point out that marijuana users usually are introduced into the use of more powerful habit-forming narcotics.

DEPUTY SHERIFF Dan O'Loughlin looks over a patch of weeds sprayed with chemical last week along Pembroke Township roads to kill marijuana. The weed patch behind O'Loughlin contains many of the illegal plants. (Journal photo)

War Would Melt Farm Surpluses At Fast Rate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's farm surpluses would melt away quickly should the country become involved in a big new war. With doubt, shortages would develop quickly for some items and rationing would be needed to assure equitable distribution and to prevent skyrocketing prices.

Recent developments in the Near East, involving the landing of U. S. armed forces in troubled areas, has set farm and food officials on a new appraisal of the food supply situation.

There are some surpluses, but they are limited almost wholly to food raw materials, such as wheat for flour, corn and other grains for livestock and poultry feed.

True, the government does own stocks of such items as butter, dried milk, cheese, rice and dry beans. But measured against year long needs, they are insignificant. The department owned nearly 100 million pounds June 1. This represents only about five weeks' supply for consumer markets.

The government holds no stocks of meats. The only surplus available are those held in processing and distribution channels and those represented by livestock still on farms.

It would be possible to step up meat production somewhat, but not for long unless grain production were increased. Present surplus stocks of corn and other feed grains—while at record high levels—represent only about six months' requirements.

Only in the case of wheat are the stocks sufficient to maintain a high consumption rate for an indefinite period. Of course, there is a possibility the United States would be called upon to share these supplies with allies.

Now plentiful sugar would become hard to get in the event of a conflict. That's because this country depends on offshore producing areas such as Cuba, Puerto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippines for nearly two-thirds of its needs. Wars interfere with oceanic movement of sugar.

Much has been said about the like to have more. The per capita consumption is averaging about 181 pounds a year compared with a postwar peak of 167 in 1956.

Egg production is below a year ago and considerably below levels of World War II. Production of poultry meat is larger. But certainly there are no surplus stocks of these poultry items.

The government owns some surplus soybeans and peanuts, raw materials for vegetable oils used in making shortening, margarine and similar foods. These stocks are insignificant from the standpoint of annual requirements.

OF COURSE, agriculture has a large, unused productive capacity in the form of cropland idled under crop control and soil bank and retirement programs.

The extent to which this land could be put back to use would be governed to a considerable degree by the availability of additional manpower, farm machinery, equipment and supplies.

Lost Children Find Way Out Of Forest

ASH LAKE, Minn. (UPI)—A young brother and sister, lost two days and nights in a bear-infested wilderness, calmly climbed a fire tower, got their bearings and walked out of the forest while 100 volunteers frantically searched for them.

Searchers had feared that if Francine Crego, 10, and her brother, Michael, 8, were not found by sundown, they would not survive another cold night in the woods.

But the children who became lost in the timberland surrounding Ash Lake Wednesday afternoon while picking berries, explained that when night came they put down branches for a soft bed and warm blanket and used their seven-month-old dog, Mickey, as a pillow.

The youngsters and their cocker spaniel emerged from the woods late Friday little the worse for their experience.

Sheriff Sam Owens, who directed the volunteers and National Guardsmen seeking the children, said the youngsters apparently wandered deeper into the woods than the searchers had anticipated. Francine, after drying her tears, said soberly "I'm awful glad to get out."

"But we weren't scared," the girl insisted. Later, Francine broke down and told her mother they were frightened and cried themselves to sleep the first night "but we didn't cry the second night."

Goldfine Only A Squall
Scandals In Government

WASHINGTON (AP) — The furor that has swirled around Bernard Goldfine's gifts to Sherman Adams is little more than a mild squall compared to storms that buffeted administrations as far back as George Washington.

The list is almost endless: Andrew Jackson's spoils system, the "Credit Mobiliere" railroad giveaways and Whiskey Ring scandals of the Grant administration, the Teapot Dome, the Ohio Gang and the Little Green House on K Street of Warren G. Harding's presidency, the milk costs, deep freezes and five percent of the Truman era.

Even honest Abe Lincoln had the backache late in 1861. Lincoln said the "30 to 100" razor cuts were superficial and said he would recover.

When PATROLMAN Donald G. Ellis arrived, Goldfine's estranged wife, Claire, said her husband was locked in the bathroom and "I think he is committing suicide."

Mrs. Nasser Dislikes Presidential Palace

LONDON (UPI)—Tahia Nasser's face is almost as unfamiliar in her own land, and abroad, as her husband's is familiar.

The wife of President Abdel Nasser and first lady of the United Arab Republic is virtually unknown to the world beyond the Nile, and not much better known at home. Her recent visit with Nasser to Yugoslavia was her first journey outside Egypt.

She has remained so completely behind the scenes that one high Egyptian official said not long ago he would surprise to learn of her existence.

An interview with Mrs. Nasser two years ago was the first she ever gave to a Western correspondent.

On that occasion, plump, dark-haired Tahia Nasser sipped a soft drink and surveyed the magnificent gilt throne room of the palace.

"I do not feel at home here," she said in slow, staccato English. She obviously did not. She explained that their home in the Abbasid military barracks, where they have lived since Nasser assumed power, was being re-decorated. In the meantime the Nassers were living in the presidential palace.

"I would like to show you the house," said the shy, soft-spoken woman.

Nasser vetoed the suggestion. He insisted that in the Moslem tradition his wife should remain in the background.

"Tahia likes it that way," said an old-time friend who has known the Nassers since Nasser's aunt and Tahia's mother introduced them in 1944.

"She prefers cooking and sewing to public life. She is devoted to the children—Hoda, Mona, Khalid, Abdel-Hamid, and Abdel-Hakim."

Tahia wanted her husband to take her with him to Yugoslavia on his previous state visit there in 1965, but it was decided otherwise.

"She simply accepted his word," said another close friend. "The days before Nasser became president, he told her he would occasionally go to the movies. Now he does not have time for that. She accepts this too."

To Tahia, like her husband, the simple, almost childlike faith in the man who now rules the United Arab Republic, goes back to the early days of their marriage.

"He tells her very little and what she knows about him she gets to herself," said one of Nasser's closest associates.

He recalled the morning in pre-revolutionary days when Tahia, unaware of her husband's attempt to overthrow the Farouk regime, found a box of hand grenades in a fruit crate hidden underneath their bed.

"She told me later that she was terrified but that she would be the first to tell him that she knew. Part of it was fear and part of it the faith that he could do no wrong."

Alcorn Discounts Goldfine Case

DENVER, Colo. (UPI)—Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn discounts the Sherman Adams-Nasser Goldfine case as an election issue.

Arriving here to keynote today's Colorado GOP convention, the party leader said Friday the American people will have forgotten the present furor over President-elect Sherman Adams and Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine by election time.

He said once before to depict King Farouk.

"I do not feel at home here," she said in slow, staccato English. She obviously did not. She explained that their home in the Abbasid military barracks, where they have lived since Nasser assumed power, was being re-decorated. In the meantime the Nassers were living in the presidential palace.

"I would like to show you the house," said the shy, soft-spoken woman.

Nasser vetoed the suggestion. He insisted that in the Moslem tradition his wife should remain in the background.

"Tahia likes it that way," said an old-time friend who has known the Nassers since Nasser's aunt and Tahia's mother introduced them in 1944.

"She prefers cooking and sewing to public life. She is devoted to the children—Hoda, Mona, Khalid, Abdel-Hamid, and Abdel-Hakim."

Tahia wanted her husband to take her with him to Yugoslavia on his previous state visit there in 1965, but it was decided otherwise.

"She simply accepted his word," said another close friend. "The days before Nasser became president, he told her he would occasionally go to the movies. Now he does not have time for that. She accepts this too."

To Tahia, like her husband, the simple, almost childlike faith in the man who now rules the United Arab Republic, goes back to the early days of their marriage.

"He tells her very little and what she knows about him she gets to herself," said one of Nasser's closest associates.

He recalled the morning in pre-revolutionary days when Tahia, unaware of her husband's attempt to overthrow the Farouk regime, found a box of hand grenades in a fruit crate hidden underneath their bed.

"She told me later that she was terrified but that she would be the first to tell him that she knew. Part of it was fear and part of it the faith that he could do no wrong."

C Of C Delegation Visits Gibson City Hospital

A delegation of Kankakee Chamber of Commerce hospital study subcommittee visited Gibson City Hospital Friday. The group will relate the information obtained to the feasibility of planning a community hospital here.

A community hospital, the 36-bed Gibson City Hospital was constructed for $50,000, of which half the funds were raised locally and the remainder procured through the Hill-Burton Act and government funds.

Self-sustaining through its fees, Gibson City Hospital receives $3,000 from the Community Chest to cover the cost of charity cases.

Members of the 17-man board of trustees told Kankakeeans that they have had no difficulty in staffing the hospital with doctors and nurses.

THE HOSPITAL equipment was furnished in part through memorials and other funds. One firm contributed more than $100,000 to underwrite the cost of constructing and equipping an operating room.

A Gibson City family donated a rug for an upstairs lounge. Henry Brandt, chamber manager, said the Oriental rug, once in the palace of an Arabian sultan, is insured for $40,000. One hundred men worked 25 years to weave the rug. Brandt said he learned.

E. B. Silverstein of Kankakee, then a resident of Gibson City, was instrumental in raising the local funds for construction of the hospital.

Kankakeeans on the hospital inspection tour included James Schneider, chairman of the hospital study subcommittee; Dr. Edward L. Hayes, chairman of the Chamber's health and sanitation committee; George Swain Jr., in charge of the tour; the Rev. Louis Swartz, secretary of the ministerial association; Stanley Mamer, president of the Tuberculosis Association; Howard McCracken and Brandt.

The delegates were conducted on the tour by D. K. Rob, Elmer Lohmes, hospital administrator, and members of the board of trustees.

The farm problem of the United States is one of adequately using our great abundance of food and other farm products. A University of Illinois agricultural economist creates some easily and farm prices are often too low. And farm incomes generally average below those outside of agriculture.

Green feeding gets more nutrients from an acre of forage than grazing does, because less feed is wasted and refused by the cattle.

Sheldon Board Hires Teacher For Grade School

SHELDON (JNS)—A teacher for the combined first and second grade class was hired during the July meeting of the Sheldon school board.

Miss Nancy Shultz of Vincennes University, Ind., will fill the vacancy in the elementary school. It will be her first year of teaching.

James Perrone and Maurice Bell were contacted to fill vacancies as school bus drivers.

Standard Oil Co. has low bidder, received the contract for bus products. The company is represented locally by James Eagle, agent.

Hall's Gas, Inc., was a low bidder and was awarded the bottled gas contract for the high school.

A tentative budget for the 1938-39 fiscal year was adopted. The official final adoption will be made at the Aug. 14 meeting. All fore going on to his new assignment expenditures were estimated to be greater than total income.

The board believed the July 1, 1938 balance to be large enough to cover the difference. An increase in the educational tax rate was not thought necessary at the present time.

The board discussed the removal of several dead trees in the high school yard.

Navy Hopes To Put Up Five Baby Moons

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy, which has had trouble launching a second Vanguard satellite, hopes to put up five of the baby moons before the end of 1938.

It said Friday the present program calls for the launching of four 20-inch satellites and then topping things off by sending up a 50-pounder. The 20-inchers weigh 21 1/2 pounds.

The 6 1/2-inch Vanguard fired into orbit last March 17 weighs about 3 1/2 pounds.

The next Vanguard to be fired already is at the Air Force missile test center, Cape Canaveral, Fla., being prepared for launching. The Navy said. Dates for the next launching were not announced.

Meanwhile, technical troubles forced a new postponement at Cape Canaveral Friday in an attempt to fire a fully powered Atlas ballistic missile. It was the third time that technicians had failed to follow through with a firing.

Douglas Presents Dunes Petition To Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) Friday presented to Congress a petition containing 100,000 signatures asking protection of the Lake Michigan dunes in northeast Indiana against industrialization.

Douglas presented the petition to Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, chairman of the Senate Interior subcommittee considering Douglas' bill to create a national monument in the area east of Gary, Ind.

An aide to Douglas said about three-fourths of the signatures came from Illinois and the remainder from Indiana.

The measure has been vigorously opposed by Republican Gov. Harold W. Handley of Indiana and the state's members of Congress.

Phone Company In Cullom Will Keep Old Office

CULLOM (JNS)—An official of the Inland Telephone Co. announced the company is maintaining the old telephone office, the former village jail, for repair service and information.

The number to call is 8-4103. Service on the new dial phones was off to a pretty good start by Thursday morning. Some subscribers do not have their new phones yet.

The company mailed notices on Thursday saying that those who wish to make a long distance call, they must call Chatsworth until Aug. 3, Dial ME 3.

After August 3, long distance calls will be handled through Kankakee.

Don McCaughey, fire chief, asked those who wish to use the fire station dial 8-4335. This number also is used to report fires. Grant Park, will replace the temporary arrangement until all 10 fire phones are installed.

Home Economics Teacher, St. Anne, Resigns Position

ST. ANNE (JNS)—Miss Emma Snook resigned her position as home economics teacher in St. Anne High School.

She served the school and community for 22 years. Miss Snook is publicly rated as one of the outstanding home economics teachers in the state by the State Vocational Department.

She will teach in Steelville, which is close to her home in Cutler.

Miss Margaret Ann Simpson, Grant Park, will replace Miss Snook in the home economics position. There were other indications of price firmness. Both wholesale and retail gasoline quotations went up in some areas. The large steel producer of copper — Kennecott — lifted the price of the red metal. Steel scrap prices rose in Chicago, a good indication of quickening demand for steel.

Business Takes Upward Surge

NEW YORK (AP)—Further evidence of improving business came to light this week. The trend now is an unmistakable up as it was at this time a year ago.

Whether the current move is merely a rally in a long term decline, or truly the beginning of another cyclical upturn, is still unknown. International developments strongly suggest heavy government defense expenditures and additional inflationary price rises.

The entry of American troops into Lebanon and British troops into Jordan quite naturally makes many Americans fearful of another Korea. Actually, no fighting has as yet occurred, but these international events helped produce a dramatic activity in the market place.

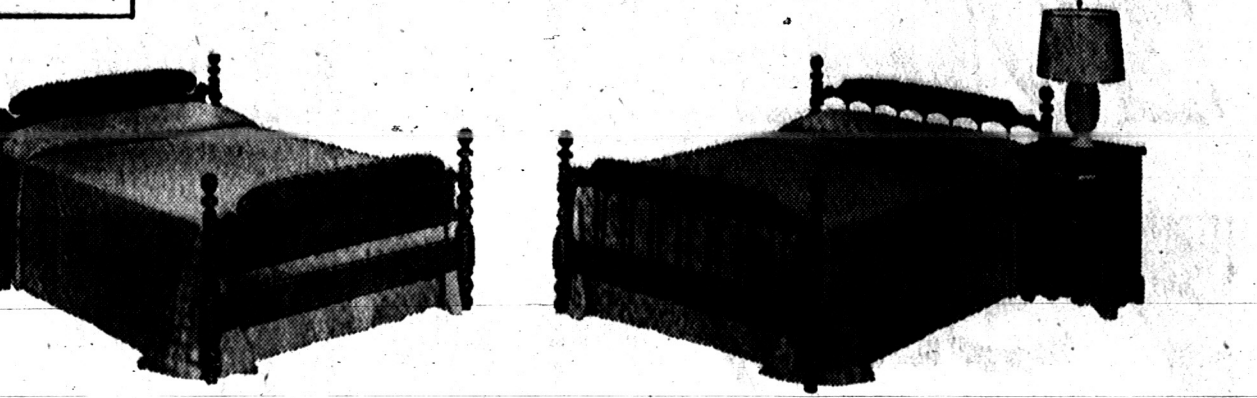

Stocks rose to new highs for the year in active trading. A feature was the relative strength of securities in such cyclical industries as steel, copper and rails. Conversely, utilities and gold mining shares, usually regarded as "defensive" investments, lagged during recessionary periods, lagged.

LATE FRIDAY the Federal Reserve Board said it would buy government bonds to stabilize the market, which has been dropping sharply.

The volatile commodity markets boomed, a fact about which purchasing agents of corporations can hardly be unaware. Rise in these market prices can change a lot of thinking about inventories. Both domestic and international commodities advanced — soybeans as well as copper, corn as well as wool.

There were other indications of price firmness. Both wholesale and retail gasoline quotations went up in some areas. The large steel producer of copper — Kennecott — lifted the price of the red metal. Steel scrap prices rose in Chicago, a good indication of quickening demand for steel.

U. S. Hobby Kit Industry Bitten By The Space Bug

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (NEA)—If they had given him a ticket to the moon, rocket-fueled Terry Griffin couldn't have felt less earthbound. The lad was posing for pictures with a miniature model of a manned satellite at the 7th Hobby Industry Association of America trade show here when asked his age.

"I'm 18 today," he replied with a shy grin.

Thereupon exhibiting manufacturers showed him with a collection of out-of-this-world model assembly kits that set him flying sky high. The gifts made him king of an empire of model space ships, missiles and satellites so new that some of them are not yet on the market.

But Terry won't be king for long. Santa's workshop is getting a big assist in the production of scale model air-space vehicles with the aid of the new kits displayed at the show scheduled for retailing by Christmas.

TERRY WANTS to be a pilot when he grows up, but his hobby of building model airplanes may evolve into a scientific career. If it does, the country's hobby manufacturers won't be at all surprised. In keeping with the advent of the space age, they are introducing space replicas of the latest air-space vehicles with built-in education and motivation features.

Lewis H. Glass, president of the U.S. Hobby Industry Association, said that the kits "provide high motivation to future 'missile managers' with craft of their own to carry them victoriously into outer space and motivate them to science studies in our air-space world."

Like most of his counterparts, Terry wants the facts behind operation of a scale model.

Realizing that youngsters are the first to lift fact from fiction nowadays hobby and toy manufacturers no longer are able to deliver into the fantasy world of Buck Rogers and come up with items without actual scientific foundation.

TO PRODUCE KITS which are scientifically authentic in every detail, manufacturers now retain leading technological authorities to carry them vicariously into space and motivate them to science studies in our air-space world.

One company has designed a fully operative, exact scale model of the manned rocket to the moon and reentry to earth. The model is complete with interior detail, including satellite.

One model kit manufacturer ordered his engineers to develop an authentic scale model of what the first manned rocket to the moon could be like.

THE RESULTING model is constructed so that the three stages can be removed to simulate actual flight to the moon and reentry to earth. Equipped with an elaborate launching platform, swiveling rocket motors and movable landing gear, the model is a complete miniature of the actual rocket.

Nixon Doubts Chances Of Shooting War

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Vice President Nixon says the possibility of a shooting war in the Middle East now appears "somewhat remote."

Nixon, arriving here Saturday for a brief visit to the annual summer festival, told an airport news conference that if there was to be a reaction to the U.S. troop movement into Lebanon it would have occurred by the time the Marines were going into that country.

THE VICE PRESIDENT said the chance of a shooting war was one of many factors weighed when this country decided to send troops to aid Lebanon's government in its current crisis.

"While some of the opposition to President Chamoun of Lebanon, and King Hussein of Jordan was tantamount to fanaticism, it also was instigated and fomented by the Soviet Union," Nixon said.

"Had it not been for the Soviet Union giving militarily to Nasser and Syria, there would not have been the turbulent situation in Iraq and the unsettled situation in Jordan and Lebanon."

Nixon said there is "a clear distinction" between American forces going into Lebanon and the British-French invasion of the Suez Canal zone. He said the U.S. invasion was to help Lebanon and Jordan, and the unsettled situation in Iraq and Lebanon.

Ike's Defense Plan Facing More Handling

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower's defense reorganization blueprint faces further handling—this time by a conference committee—before it can be passed by the Senate.

House military experts said they would demand a conference on the defense reorganization bill passed by the Senate 80-0 vote. Friday night rather than accept Senate amendments.

One highly placed source predicted, however, that differences over Senate changes in the House passed bill would not be insurmountable. He said the Senate bill stuck closely to the principles approved by the House.

THAT LEFT SOME disputed language as the only bone of contention. Certain House-passed provisions termed "unacceptable" by President Eisenhower were modified in the Senate's version.

Foreigners rarely are permitted in the reservoir area, the center of a military installation. But the embassy and its staff, as well as many American tourists were allowed to watch the regatta. It is one of many events in the U.S.-Russian sports and cultural exchange.

AN AMERICAN men and women's track team is scheduled to leave New York by plane tonight for a dual meet with the Russians in Moscow, July 27-28.

The Russians were extremely cordial and the program went off without a hitch. A public address system played American jazz throughout the meet. The regatta and the man at the controls said the music was tape recorded from the music of America broadcasts.

The Huskies, who were unbeaten until they lost to the Trud crew at the Royal Henley Regatta on July 3, were to be guests of honor at an official sports reception Saturday night.

Russians, as expected, beat the Americans in the two events on the program.

Vladimir Ivanov, Russia's 20-year-old Olympic sculling champion, won his specialty in 7:57 for the 2,000 meters at the Henley Regatta. He finished fourth in 8:25. McDonough is a military policeman from Philadelphia. Jurig is a Russian sculler, 1952 Olympic champion, was second and Alexander Berkoutov, a former Olympian, was third.

In the three-shell pair-oars race, John Fish and Gene Phillips, a couple of Washington sparers, finished third behind the Central Army Club of Moscow and Moscow Dynamo. The winners were timed in 7:43.8 and Washington's twosome in 8:10.6.

Yanks Capture Top Events In British Games

CANDIFF, Wales (UPI)—Athletes studying at American universities captured the biggest honors Saturday in the British Empire and Commonwealth games.

In a greater event to the four-day track events, the University of Illinois' Ernie Haley of Jamaica beat Olympic silver medalist Charles Chiles Porter of Australia to win the high jump title. Haley's leap of six feet, nine inches was a new meet record.

Fellow-Jamaican Keith Gardner of the University of Nebraska added another British Empire games record by winning the 100-yard dash in 9.4 seconds—only one-tenth of a second off the world record despite considerable headwind.

SECOND IN A CLOSE finish was the University of Michigan's Thomas Robinson, the one-man track team from the Bahamas.

The performances of the two Jamaican students stood out on a day in which a scorching sun kept most athletes below their usual standards.

One major disappointment was the six-mile run. World three-mile record holder Albert Thomas of Australia decided to save himself for his "specialty" and English favorite Stan Eldon, out for a new world mark, faltered after setting a scorching pace for the first two miles.

THE WINNER, Australia's Dave Power, collapsed with a slight stroke after setting a new meet record of 23 minutes, 47.8 seconds—more than a minute off Sander Iharos' world record.

In the other two finals on Saturday's card, lanky New Zealander Valerie Sloper won the women's shot put with 61 feet, and Colin Smith of England captured the javelin throwing title with 233 ft. 10 1/2 inches. Both feats were also new meet records.

Haley, a 20-year-old pre-medical student at Illinois, said he felt right at home in the heat. His leap was 3/4 inch higher than his 10th place performance in the 1950 Olympics at Melbourne. Haley gave credit to Illinois coach Leo Johnson for his steady improvement.

PAUL FOREMAN was scratched from the high jump, leaving Haley the only Illinois competitor. Gardner won because he was apparently the only man to keep a cool head after lots of fumbling and one false start. He got over the block fast and held a two-yard lead at the halfway mark.

Sam Snead Burns Up Course To Lead PGA

HAVERTON, Pa. (AP)—Sam Snead, at his glorious best, charged in with a three-under-par 67 Saturday and seized the third round lead in the Professional Golfers Association Championship with a score of 207.

The man in the traditional straw hat, winner of 100 tournaments a one-stroke edge over Bill Casper, who missed a 200-yard putt on the 10th hole, and a 10-foot putt on the 11th hole. Casper shot 68 for 208.

Snead took the Limerick Country Club course apart for 18 holes and then reverted to character. He three-putted the 17th and missed a birdie four-foot putt on the 18th which would have shaved him further to the front.

Dow Finsterwald, who shared the halfway lead with Jay Hebert of the University of Nebraska, missed a 13-foot putt on the 18th and finished at 213, had to sink a difficult 10-foot putt on the final green for a 70 which gave him third spot in the packaged finish at 209.

JAY HEBERT, elder brother of defending champion, Lonnie Hebert, scrambled to a 73 which left him five strokes off the pace going into Sunday's showdown round.

Jack Burke Jr., winner of both the Masters and the PGA in 1956, was at 211 after a third round 69. He was followed by Jay Hebert and Doug Ford, tied at 212.

In the 213 bracket, which included the University of Nebraska's Finsterwald, who got a favorable officials' ruling for a 69, and Julius Boros, who shot his groove and took a 73.

DICK MAYER of St. Petersburg, Fla., the 1957 National Open champion, was tied at 214 with Buster Cupit, a club professional from Fort Smith, Ark. Both had 69's.

Golf's reconstructed rebel, Tommy Bolt, lost his form after a brilliant start and finished with a 73. He had a 66 in the first round.

Home run—St. Louis, Mo. (AP)—Mickey Mantle suffered a severe contusion in his left arm during Friday night's game against Kansas City and will be missing from the New York Yankees' lineup for about five days, Dr. Sidney Gaylor, team physician, announced Saturday.

Mantle suffered the injury in the first inning when he collided with shortstop Tony Kubek while attempting to catch a looping fly ball by the Athletics' Mike Baxes. He remained in the game until the seventh inning.

Mantle was batting .270 and had 24 home runs to his credit at the time of his injury.

This Is A Ball Park?

Ted Farr, head groundskeeper of Connel Mack Stadium, the Philadelphia Park home park, scratches his head as he contemplates the task of putting the field back into shape for baseball.

Following the park's occupancy by a rodeo and Wild West show, the new home ground must be completely resodded. The grass at the right makes of putting the field back into shape for baseball.

Dow Making Career Out Of Finishing In Second

HAVERSTOWN, Pa. (UPI)—It's going to take them a long time to get Dow Finsterwald down, financially or mentally. Dow is the 28-year-old golf professional from Athens, Ohio, who is the fellow who, making a career out of finishing second, seems to win nothing but money.

"I cry all the way to the bank," he grins happily. You might expect a fellow who has missed the top spot as often as this bunch-shoosher to be a bit of a pessimist. He hasn't won a tournament in a year and a half and he has finished second 18 times in that period. But it doesn't bother Dow. "I'd like to finish second every time out," he says. "I'm a fellow who makes his living playing golf and that second place money isn't too hard to take."

There are some who contend that Finsterwald would win more tournaments if he gambled more often. He shrugs off the advice by pointing to his record of finishing in the money in 72 straight tournaments, a streak which was broken at Baton Rouge last March.

"THERE'S NO use kidding myself," he explains. "I hit the hole I know I can hit, or at least I can hit it. Sure, even the average player would score a lot better if he played that way. But I'm not a gambler. I'm a professional. I'm not here to have fun."

Finsterwald, who now plays out of Tequesta, Fla., where he lives with his wife and 15-month-old son, explains it this way: "As an example, take that 18th hole at Cypress Point in California. A lot of players travel 2,000 miles and then they come up to that 18th which is a full driver over an arm of the ocean. They could play it to the left, chip up and still probably get their par. But they make seven or eight and they're out of the hole. I know I can hit it, so I hit it. I'm not a gambler. I'm a professional. I'm not here to have fun."

Finsterwald took up golf in 1949 on the objections of his father, who wanted him to follow in his footsteps as a lawyer. "Dad spent so much time playing golf it was either give up golf or go to law," Dow says. "Dad wanted to see me get into the same bug and get in that same rut."

BUT WHEN Dow showed such fine promise, shooting a 90 in the 1950 St. Louis Open as an amateur, his father approved heartily when he turned pro in 1951. The following October, Dow went into service and, playing a great deal while stationed in Louisiana and North Carolina, was ready for the tour when he came out in 1954.

Since then, Dow has been the closest the money and the name isn't on many cups, he's happy just to see it inscribed on those fast second-place checks.

Trinity Wins Sixth Straight Church Game

Undefeated Trinity Methodist won its sixth straight YMCA Church Softball League game by defeating First Methodist 6-5 at Old Fair Park Friday evening.

In other games at Old Fair, First Baptist turned back Fairmount Nazarene 4-1 and Bradley Evangelical United Brethren nipped First Evangelical United Brethren 3-1. At Old Fair Park, Olivet Nazarene College trounced St. John's 10-3 and American Lutheran stopped Central Christian 9-5.

Trinity Methodist was outlasted 9-1 by First Methodist but managed to keep the win streak alive.

The Baptist, trailing 1-0, scored four runs in the fifth to win. Larry Shroud won out over Vincent in a fine pitching battle. Shroud allowed four hits and Vincent six. Don Erickson paced the winners with two-for-two.

Bradley EUB scored three runs in the top of the seventh to nip First EUB. The losers tallied two runs in the last of the sixth to take the initial lead. Hackley was the winning pitcher.

A six-run sixth inning led the contest for Olivet College. The winners had a 4-3 margin going into the sixth. N. Soullier hit a three-run homer in the first to give St. John's a 3-1 command. G. Knorr of St. John's and Miles Simmons of Olivet had two hits apiece.

Wayne Jensen scattered five hits to spark the American Lutheran victory. Jensen had a fairly fancy production when it comes to lining your wallet with a wedge.

Stengel May Be Star Of Writers' Show

New York baseball writers are already plotting to make Casey Stengel's congressional appearance the high spot of their annual writer's show . . . and who'd be better than old Casey playing himself if they need no rehearsal.

George Weiss miffed because TV coverage of the Yanks pans . . . too much on the seats, dugouts, etc. . . so they've put a monitor in the press box for publicist Bob Finkel to check on the camera work.

Gil McDougald stars baseball's conservatism for failure to keep up with the modes in uniforms . . . which begin to drag on players' backs this time of year. . . . Stylist Gil (he studied designing) doesn't like the off-the-shoulder stuff introduced by Cincinnati a couple of years ago ("they just don't look good"), but believes Hollywood had the right idea a few years back with its Bermuda-type trousers.

It wasn't censure of his ability that got Roger Maris a ticket from Cleveland to Kansas City . . . major domo Frank Lane couldn't build a fire under him.

Can't think of a more novel way to turn pro than Gloria Armstrong picked in '55 . . . the only licensed player along in a North and South tournament at Pittsburgh . . . got to a crucial game, muffed a putt that knocked her out of the match play and decided, "If I'm going to miss them, I might as well get paid for it." . . . and joined the cash ranks . . . don't know how many strokes she's lopped off her game, but she's dropped 60 pounds since.

Carmen Basile's not sitting around counting his onions while Sugar Ray Robinson decides whether he wants to help balance Uncle Sam's budget . . . the on-line-glitter is promoting Negro baseball.

Utah football All-American Lee Grosscup is researching beach and "getting paid for what he's doing if I wasn't working." . . . "Believe it or not," says the lean Sammy Sanga, "I've got more riches for volleyball than for football." . . . But nobody ever got rich being a volleyball player, my mom says.

Former UCLA end like Jones has joined the flicker brigade, ennobling before the whirl of the camera with Sammy Davis Jr. . . .

If you're interested in figures, Robin Roberts faced 1,132 batters last year . . . and hit just one of them. . . . The St. Louis Hawks have been offered $20,000 for Frank Selvy . . . and everybody's wondering why they don't take it. . . . Giant Jackie Rossy Grier, coming back to the fold from the Army, checks in at a robust 184 pounds . . . and, though not the gulfie-fence California weather poetry.

Trouble with Barry McKay, the Davis Cup hopeful, is simple: Insult Billy Talbot—"He just doesn't work as hard as the game as he should."

Between you and me, Bobby Bragan's address to the majors took the form of a lengthy pre-game adieu to the Indians in Kansas City . . . so long it caused them to miss batting practice and made Frank Lane mad enough to call him.

Reason J. W. Porter of the Indiana is called Waldo (first nickname of his career) is that outland manager who cull and Preston W. "P. Ritter Wins 4th Straight Feature At Speedway

Cory Ritter of Sheldon gave more proof Friday evening that he is going to be a hard man to beat in the stock car races at the Kankakee Fairgrounds Speedway.

Ritter, the top driver at the track this season, raced to his fourth straight feature triumph Friday evening and also captured the trophy dash. The largest field of the season was on hand for Friday's show. A total of 33 cars, 25 modified and 24 "strictly stock," were on hand to thrill the crowd of 2,500.

Ritter had to come from the last position and catch the fast flying Harry Montgomery of Kankakee to win the feature. Jesse Birch of Kankakee paced the feature for two laps before Montgomery zoomed to the front. Ritter made a move at the same time but Montgomery, looking for his first feature win, held him off.

Yankees See San Francisco As Real Threat

NEW YORK (NEA)—At Yankee Stadium, the case of the San Francisco Giants is a bit more than strong-arm recruits giving the Braves fits.

The Yankees put them in more important terms. Money, of course. "How many seats they got out here," Eddie Ford asked in the dugout while the Yankees were waiting to go out for infield practice.

Between the foyers and the living room are louvers doors. These may be left open for decorative purposes or they may be closed to provide the number of bedrooms needed by the majority of people. This number is three.

The house also had to provide an interesting exterior and offer an entertainment-living area large enough to dispel any small-house, cramped feeling.

"Beyond that, my purpose was to provide an efficient and comfortable home."

A RUN-DOWN of the plan shows the habitable area is less than 1,000 square feet.

The three bedrooms all have at least five feet of closet space. Combined, they have 17 feet of closet space — nearly twice the amount required by the F.H.A.

All closet doors are lowered, and the larger ones are accented and fold back on themselves. This allows a large closet to be opened fully without consuming room space.

The living and dining areas are end to end to give a "big look" to this one-room arrangement.

The third bedroom, which may be used as a den or study, is separated from the living-dining area by a floor-to-ceiling sliding door. With the wall pushed back into its pocket, an expanse of more than 31 feet is thrown open.

In addition, the garage extends outside the house and encloses one side of a rear terrace.

The circulation arrangement of the plan creates marked efficiency. Hall space is kept to a minimum, the bath is located at its most convenient point—and the service entrance leads directly to the kitchen and to the basement stairs.

IN ADDITION to the generous storage space of the living areas, extra space is built into the garage and is separated into three parts: a storage area for porch furniture, a storage area for children's play articles, with a door of its own, and a storage area for tools next to the work bench.

The kitchen, nearly 19 by 10 feet in size, has a large breakfast area flooded by natural light entering through diamond-paned windows.

The kitchen is linked to the dining area, and it shares a turnkey brick fireplace which goes through to the living room.

Sixteen Youngsters Win Trip To State

Sixteen Kankakee youngsters qualified for a place in the Jaycee State Sports Jamboree at Chicago by winning first place honors in the Greater Kankakee Area Jaycee Sports Jamboree at Kankakee High School Saturday afternoon.

More than 60 youngsters took part in the track competition. The winners will receive an all-expense paid trip to the State Jamboree at Chicago, Aug. 15-16.

JOHN MONAHAN, who will be a sophomore at St. Patrick Central High this year, turned in the outstanding performance. He won the 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 440-yard dash and the high jump.

Three other youngsters qualified for two spots. Steve Havens of Kankakee won the intermediate 100-yard dash and was a member of the winning 440-yard dash team.

Mike Reed of Kankakee won the 75-yard dash and the high jump. In the girls' intermediate division, Diane Wakat of Bourbonnais

The House Of The Week

Ranch Designed For Careful Home Shopper

By JOHN O. B. WALLACE
A warm, home-like exterior plus this money-saving ranch house in a class by itself.

While many a home of modest size and cost seems coldly functional, we have one here in which appearances have meant a great deal to the designer, as they will to the owner.

The designer, Rudolph A. Martin, who specializes in small homes, set out deliberately to keep costs down by keeping the size moderate and putting all the space to work.

"My purpose," he says, "was to get a very small, low-cost home. At the same time, the house had to provide the number of bedrooms needed by the majority of people. This number is three."

The house also had to provide an interesting exterior and offer an entertainment-living area large enough to dispel any small-house, cramped feeling.

"Beyond that, my purpose was to provide an efficient and comfortable home."

A RUN-DOWN of the plan shows the habitable area is less than 1,000 square feet.

The three bedrooms all have at least five feet of closet space. Combined, they have 17 feet of closet space — nearly twice the amount required by the F.H.A.

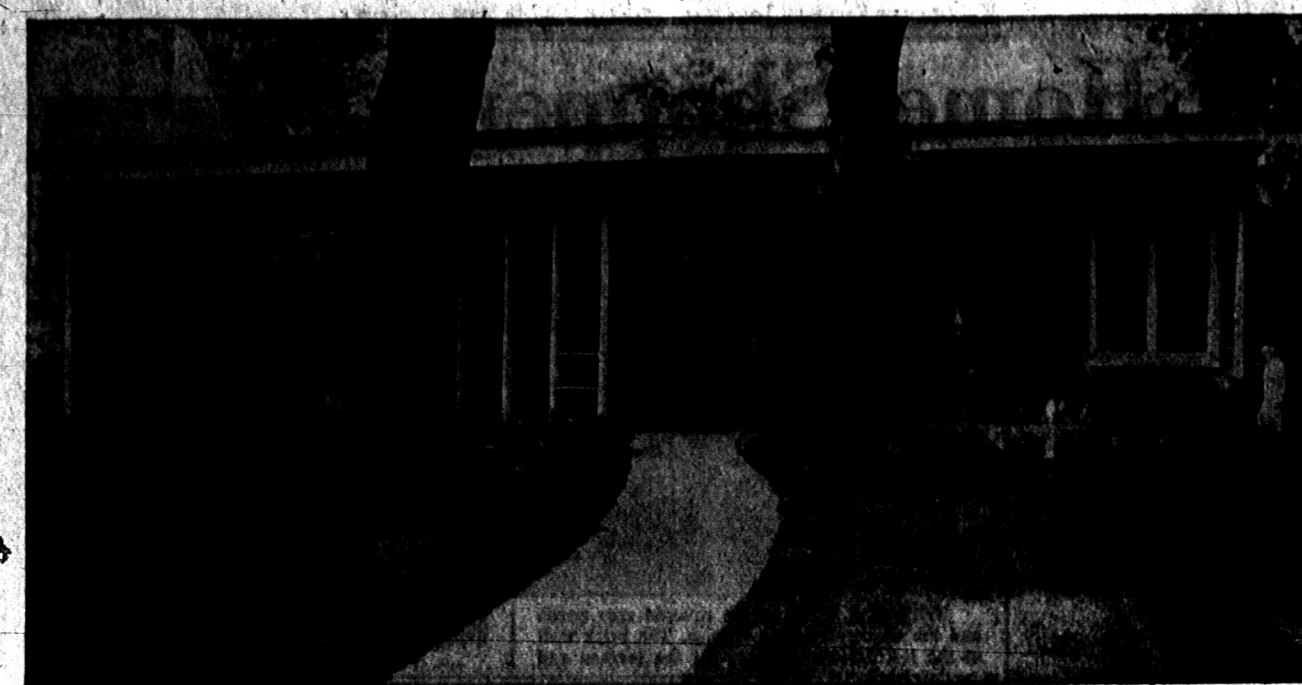

All closet doors are lowered, and the larger ones are accented and fold back on themselves. This allows a large closet to be opened fully without consuming room space.

The living and dining areas are end to end to give a "big look" to this one-room arrangement.

The third bedroom, which may be used as a den or study, is separated from the living-dining area by a floor-to-ceiling sliding door. With the wall pushed back into its pocket, an expanse of more than 31 feet is thrown open.

In addition, the garage extends outside the house and encloses one side of a rear terrace.

The circulation arrangement of the plan creates marked efficiency. Hall space is kept RIGHT — Long and low (11 feet all told) the Tennessee crab stone fireplace serves as the focal point in the living room. Wall area above mantel is paneled with ash, picked an off-white, and brass lighting cords serve as dramatic accent on the raised hearth. Kakemono Japanese silk hanging in sole wall necessary. Carpeting throughout the living-dining area is black and white tweed; upholstered pieces are black and white; wooden surfaces are dull black and burnt orange lamps flaming, sets serve as solo color accent.

Home Of The Week

The contemporary home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hannon of 1233 Cobb Blvd. is individualistic without being bizarre.

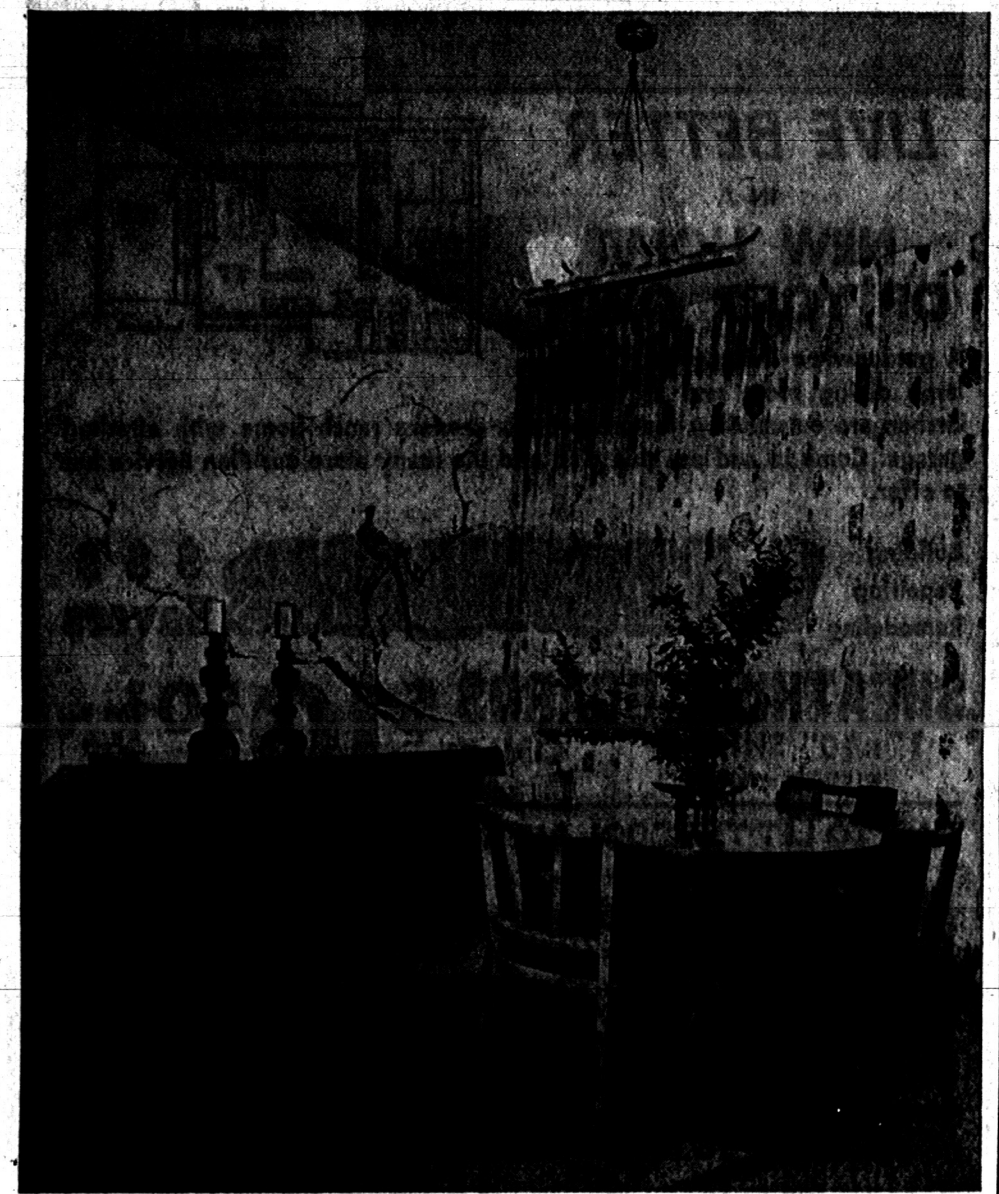

They worked with an architect to arrive at the simple, handsome lines, and well integrated floor plan.

The Hannon knew, approximately, what type floor plan and what size home they wished, and are delighted with the innovations introduced by professional help. The home was completed last October.

Rooms include living room, dining room, kitchen, utility area, two bedrooms, bath, and enclosed porch. A garage and a half is situated at the rear of the lot. Gas heat is featured and the home is completely air conditioned.

Mrs. Hannon was assisted by an interior decorator. The airy delicacy of the Far East predominates in the feeling of furnishings and accessories. Mrs. H. P. Helling, sister of Mrs. Hannon, resides in Japan and has provided many of the articles used so effectively.

The house is set off to advantage on a tree shaded lot (four oak trees grace the front yard) which has been carefully landscaped. Of particular charm is the small formal garden, with figurine, which greets the eye at the front entry.

How To Select Patio Furniture

BY VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures — Some of the fun in outdoor living is the setting we provide for our patio enjoyment. A few colorful cushions, rustic and rugged furniture, lounges and hammocks can contribute to our comfort.

Some of us manage to clutter up the outdoors, however, by snatching up a willy-nilly assortment of furniture at summer sales. While the summer sale offers great possibilities for adding to patio, terrace or backyard living, we should give some thought to our selections. It's just as important to keep outdoor furniture compatible as it is to keep indoor furniture in harmony.

Ask yourself these questions, for instance, when buying your next chaise or table:

(1) Will it stack easily for winter storage? (2) Can it be moved indoors, perhaps on the porch? (3) Do we have room in the attic, basement or barn for items that will not stack?

These considerations are just as important as the type of furniture and the colors you use because if the furniture must be left out to get waterlogged, you've made a poor investment.

It's a good idea to stick to a theme in your outdoor setting. Add wood to wood, metal to metal when possible or use them in combination when they are compatible. Measure areas where you plan to put tables. If the dining area is out in the sun, a big white metal table with padded seats may be better than a redwood sawback table.

If there are small children in the family, though, wood is a good investment because it can be whitened and hammered, smeared with may be ruined on too, without too much damage. Keeping in mind storage possibilities, chairs that stack easily are better bets perhaps than those that take a good deal of space. Newer metal tables have that advantage also. Small, end-table type tables have round traylike tops with a hole in the center for ice, punch bowls and what have you. These revolving tops slip on neat fold-away chrome tripod stands. When choosing a chaise lounge for the outdoors, consider the material. It's a good idea to get one that can weather rain, but will not lose buoyancy during the long winter.

STACK AWAY TABLE: The metal table is an example of what the wise shopper looks for when buying patio furniture. The chrome tripod legs fold up for easy winter storage while the bucket-center top may be used as a tray.

U.S. May Draft Plans for Possible Emergency Oil Lift
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States may draft plans for a possible emergency oil lift to western Europe to offset loss of Iraqi supplies, it was learned Friday night.
Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton was expected to set the machinery in motion this week-end.
Final details would be worked out by the Interior Department's Foreign Petroleum Supply Committee, composed of oil company representatives. The plan presumably would closely parallel similar emergency plans put into effect during the Suez crisis.

Pave New Orleans With Red Carpets
NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — New Orleans may soon have enough red carpets to lead visiting dignitaries up Canal Street.

Since a United Press International story reported the city's 40-foot welcome mat was worn thin by the feet of celebrities, offers have come for a new 30-foot carpet from a local rug company and a 50-foot carpet from a Pennsylvania firm.

LEFT: A terrace or patio provides a pleasant location for a social gathering in the summertime. This photo was taken at the rear of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Karlock in Mokena. Mrs. Karlock is shown in the foreground with a pitcher of cooling lemonade garnished with fruit. At railing above left is Mrs. Richard E. Peterson of Mokena. Pictured on lower level are, from left, Mrs. Robert Reising of Mokena, Mrs. George Dugway of Lowell, Ind., and Mrs. Donald Ziegler of Mokena.

BELOW: Vacationtime replacements for the bridge table are often a hostess' problem, but the group pictured here is small enough so that they can reschedule a bridge session if one plans to be absent. The foursome began taking bridge lessons together several years ago and have regular sessions every two weeks. They seldom miss. From left are Mrs. Dori Goureaux of RR 1, Bourbonnais, Mrs. Jerome Bernol (hostess) of 1978 E. Spruce St., Mrs. Robert Johnston of 1371 Jeffery St. and Mrs. Bernard Zins of 1971 E. Spruce St.

Calm And Collected Hostess Makes Guests—Cool

ABOVE: Mrs. James Macklin of Mokena poses with an appetizing salad which she served to her Thursday Night bridge club during the past week. The salad's basic ingredients are ice cream and fresh fruit. Cooling salads and desserts are popular choices of local hostesses during the summer months.

Hostess to the Phi Omega Kappa chapter of Nu Phi Mu Sorority on Wednesday evening was Miss Charlotte McKinney, 945 S. Poplar Ave. Here she is pictured at a local candy store, admiring the delicate colors used in the cool-appearing mint candies called pastel trappes.

RIGHT: A change in meeting time is often brought about during the summertime because bedtime for the children is delayed. Here 3-year-old Alice Anne Cahan distributes tidbits for members of the HAW Club. Club members, from left, are Mrs. Robert Finan, 1955 S. Blaine Ave., Bradley, Mrs. Robert Pombert of 271 S. Wabash Ave., Bradley, Mrs. Robert E. Miller of 791 Hammes Ave., Mrs. Lawrence Shelly of 802 Bourbonnais Rd., Mrs. Robert Ader of 442 S. Fifth Ave., Mrs. Levi Rock Jr. of 1180 W. Station St., Mrs. Howard Miller of RR 2, Oakdale Acres and Mrs. Donald Coy of 533 N. Blaine Ave., Bradley. Standing at right is the hostess, Mrs. Gilbert Cahan of 372 S. Dearborn Ave., Bradley. Seated in the foreground is Mrs. Raymond Self of 1440 S. Fifth Ave.

Neither sleet, nor rain, nor the heat of summer can discourage social gatherings. While many clubs have disbanded for the summer, there will always be those groups of women who wish to continue their friendly associations through the warmer, summer months.

So the next move is up to the hostess.

She needs a hostess' air conditioning immediately (but if she has it, her's will be a popular meeting place). There are many other things she can do to make her guests comfortable.

In addition to tall, cool, and frosty glasses of liquid refreshment, there are hundreds of appropriate salad and dessert combinations for the hostess to choose from. Candy stores have special "mint," sometimes discriminately called "mint," trappes, can contribute much toward making both the hostess and her guests—real cool!

There is usually a summertime switch to less formal attire at meetings and gatherings. Hostesses who must then find a substitute place for meetings of young mothers is often delayed because the children are staying up later.

Many summer hostesses search for the coolest spot in the house and decide upon a patio, screened porch or basement room. They find that a light, "uncluttered" room and a simple, well-planned lunch can contribute much toward making both the hostess and her guests—real cool!

When flowers are blooming in her yard, a hostess' decorative problem is partially solved. Mrs. Lee Zimmerman of 354 S. Looking on are Mrs. Anna Osman (left) of 375 S. Cannon Ave. and Mrs. Jack Kirk of 483 S. Michigan Ave., Bradley. Mrs. Osman is president of the club.

Don't 'Whisper' Sweet Nothings—Shout Them

By DR. PAUL POPPONE
Guilty as charged! That's Mr. K's confession. "It's all my fault," he admits. "You had a column sometime ago about husbands who don't show their wives enough affection. Don't express their appreciation, don't put their admiration into words. That's me all over, Dr. Poppone. I'm Exhibit A. I'm ashamed of myself and know I ought to do better, but I don't know how to go about it. There was never any affection shown in the home in which I was brought up. I know I'm not treating my wife fairly, but how can I change the patterns of half a lifetime?"

It's easy, Mr. K. It's being done every day. But let me warn you! It can't be done overnight. You have to form a completely new set of patterns. It'll be a slow job, calling for persistent effort—but it is richly worth the effort! M. Prados studied 50 women who were having an especially hard time emotionally and found that in every case the depression was merely an accentuation of a depression that had existed previously. There was no relation between the intensity of the physical disturbance and the severity of emotional disturbance.

Q. Is it true that the use of tobacco may cause sterility?
A. Experiments with small animals point in that direction, but the evidence is not yet sufficient to make a positive statement about men and women. It is certainly a possibility.

Q. We got into an argument at dinner last night, which we'd like you to settle; which have the most delicate discrimination of taste—men or women?
A. Women. Prof. Kathryn E. Langwell, testing more than 300 persons, found that 77 per cent of women but only 47 per cent of men could distinguish the four basic tastes—sweet, sour, salt, and bitter.

Q. Farmers' wives, with their isolation, hard work and lack of conversation, are much less happy than city wives.
A. Who says so? Certainly not the farmers' wives themselves! A survey of 3,200 marriages by the American Institute of Family Relations found a larger proportion of happy wives on the farm than anywhere else in North America. Largest proportion of unhappy marriages was among unskilled, partly-skilled laborers in cities.

Q. What proportion of all children are "first-borns"?
A. About 31 per cent. In an overall picture of North America, but of course there are great differences in rates of families in various parts of the U. S. and Canada.

Q. Is it true that men and women have different preferences in color of women's clothes?
A. Probably so. Psychologist Winstler found more men preferred blue, more women red. Yellow was particularly disliked by men, orange by women.

Q. Does every woman have to go through a depression or near-depression at the menopause?
A. Certainly not. Most women go through it with remarkably little disturbance. Write me, with stamped, self-addressed envelope, for free reading list on the menopause. Psychologists K. Stern and M. Prados studied 50 women who were having an especially hard time emotionally and found that in every case the depression was merely an accentuation of a depression that had existed previously. There was no relation between the intensity of the physical disturbance and the severity of emotional disturbance.

Q. Write your wife little notes if you can't talk. It's really not as foolish as it may look. Leave a message of love for her that she can find after you've gone to the office. It'll mean a lot to her! 3. Bring her little gifts. It isn't a matter of their cash value but merely of the thought that you put into them. A single violet might be appreciated as much as a dozen hollow roses.

Q. Pick out short poems, greeting cards and other things of that sort that express your feelings. Send them to her by mail or leave them where she can find them. The couple will be at home in Gardner after July 13.

Ingredients: 2 cups sifted flour, 4 teaspoons double-acting baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup butter or margarine, 1/4 cup sugar, 1 egg (beaten until thick), 1 cup milk, 1 can (8 1/2 ounces) cultivated blueberries in heavy syrup (well-drained).
Method: Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream butter and sugar; beat in beaten egg. Add sifted dry ingredients and milk; beat gently just until almost smooth; do not overbeat. Fold in drained blueberries. Fill buttered wells of muffin pans two-thirds full; bake in hot (325 degrees) oven until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean—15 minutes for medium-sized muffins. Makes about 2 dozen small muffins, about 1 dozen medium-sized. Serve hot. Don't worry if some of the blueberries get mashed in folding them into batter.

Keeping in Step

By Mary Jean Mowde
Four local girls returned this weekend from a conservation camp in Springfield. They had received conservation camp scholarships from the Woman's Club of Kansas.

The girls are Beverly Billingsley of 801 S. Elm Ave., Terry Ann Donley of 723 S. Evergreen Ave., Judy Kelly of 104 S. Sixth Ave. and Karen Ducharme of Aroma Park. Chairman of the garden study and conservation department of the Woman's Club is Mrs. E. G. Warmbr.

A large trip to the beach resulted Wednesday and Thursday when 25 girls between the ages of 14 and 18 and five adults drove to the Indian State Park to stay overnight in a rustic house on the beach of Lake Michigan.

In charge was Mrs. William McInturff, summer program director for the YWCA. The girls, in five cars, were accompanied by Mrs. Harold P. Shekey of 650 E. Station St., Mrs. Kenneth Shekey of 245 S. Fourth Ave., Mrs. William Phillips of 168 S. May Ave. and both Mr. and Mrs. McInturff. The girls slept in one large dormitory room in the beach house and cooked their own meals. "Work committees proved efficient," says Mrs. McInturff. After hiking and swimming, the girls spent the evening Wednesday around a batch fire, roasting marshmallows for a snack they called "Smores." You can guess why, because once you eat them, you want "smores." They are made with a layer of graham cracker, a roasted marshmallow, square of chocolate and topped with another graham cracker. The girls also popped corn over the open fire.

MRS. WILLIAM MCINTURFF Making the trip were Judy Wilcott, Marilyn Friedman, Key-Mo-Mullen, Paula Smith, Freda Cavender, Beverly Shekey, Ruth Hatley, Vanda Steen, Charlene Bramson, Barbara Barnett, Nancy Quigley, Judy Peterson, Margo Frenke, Sharon Phillips, Jeanne Anderson, Linda Carlstrom, Barbara Kramon, Roberta Quigley, Ruth Godin, Sherry Trudeau, Joanne Lunsky, Marilyn Harris, Janice Peterson, Linda Gohlie and Sue Owens. The trip was a YWCA Y-Teen project.

One of the hostesses pictured on the cover page of this section very nearly turned a Thursday evening bridge session into a surprise party—but the surprise would have been on her. Mrs. James Mackin of Monmouth, having been away on vacation, had completely forgotten that her bridge club was to meet at her home last Thursday evening. She was reminded only when a Journal reporter called to ask if she might pose for a picture of a club hostess. "Who, me?" was her first reaction.

Mrs. Bryan Hein of Royal Oak, Mich., was in town last week to visit family and friends. She is the former Louise Remillard. A friend, Mrs. Leopold Zullo of 463 W. Charles St., entertained Mrs. Hein and 13 other grade school classmates on Thursday evening at her home. It had been 17 years since the group left grade school at St. Joseph's Seminary and many had not seen each other since. After two of the long-lost friends compared notes, they found they actually live only two blocks apart. It's a big world!

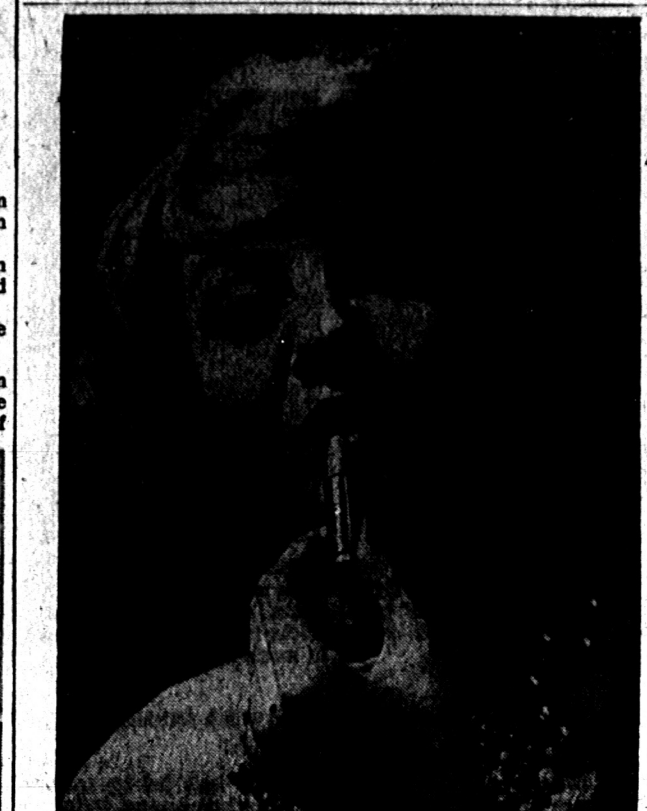

Last Sunday we used an item about a downtown Kansas receptionist who was formerly a performer in an underwater show in Florida. "By popular demand," we are printing a picture of the receptionist, Susi Irons, as she appeared in an underwater ballet not long ago in Weeki Wachee Spring near Brooksville, Fla. The spring is 137 feet deep and Susi was a "mermaid" in several shows a day, lasting 30 minutes each. The girls eat and drink underwater. They fish from their hands and never come to the surface during the 30-minute performance. Spectators watch through glass windows just below the surface of the water. The temperature of the water is a constant 74.3 degrees. Susi, who misses her glamorous life as a mermaid "just a little," found it fairly easy to learn to eat, drink and hold her breath underwater. She found it hardest to open her eyes underwater. Very photogenic, Susi was used as a model for a folder used to advertise the Weeki Wachee mermaid. (She looks pretty nice in her white uniform too.)

Among those returned recently from vacation trips are Mr. and Mrs. Eldo Regnier and Mr. and Mrs. Donald P. Dandread of 813 N. Cleveland Ave. They spent three weeks in Treasure Island, near St. Petersburg, Fla.

When lightning struck the Glen Staebus home at 339 S. The Ave. recently, Mr. and Mrs. Staebus were vacationing at Lake Wawasee, Syracuse, Ind. With them on the trip were two other local couples, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Baron and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Marcotte.

It's Best Not To Copy Fashions In Lip Lines

By JEANNE D'ARCY
Lip-line fashions come and go. Generally, a woman's wisest to ignore them unless, of course, they really glamorize her. Usually, they don't.

In mother's day, it was Clara Bow's pouting lips that made Dady's heart flutter. A million women copied Clara's Cupid's bow, most of them unsuccessfully.

Then, along came lovely Joan Crawford, who made a wide, big lip line stylish. Suddenly, every lady in the land was smearing lipstick all over her face. Rather messy!

Bette Davis introduced a straight-across-the-top look in lips. She just lipsticked over the natural Cupid's curve.

Lauren Bacall gave the grim lip glamour—narrow, tightly held, with lipstick used within the outline instead of being applied to build out the lip and give it more substance.

SO IT IS EVERY DAY. A reigning movie queen seems to set a style, it's perfect for her, but not so to be flattering to all the women who copy it.

Make up a package of instant chocolate pudding and fold about three-quarters cup of coarse macaroon crumbs and one-half cup of whipped cream into it, then chill until set. If you like you may add a quarter teaspoon of almond flavoring to the cream and serve the pudding with extra whipped cream.

Enjoy getting a rich, fast tan. Tartan gives 8 times longer protection in the sun. Safe for tender skins. No sticky and problem. Soothing—smells good.

Fall Hats Feature Fur And Feathers

THE LITTLE FOXES... They're back with a bang in the fall fashion picture. IRENE designs this hat and three-year-old boy in cross fox.

HIGH DOME... She may not be an intellectual but she's right in style in John Frederick's yellow solid dome cloche over mesh veil.

MONKEY BUSINESS... This is the new look in fall hats. Lily Dache designs a deep bucket cloche in brown velours covered in monkey fur.

EMPIRE BONNET... This is the romantic mood of the season—a little Carnegie design in supple blue angora felt with a froth of veil.

BUBBLE CLOCHE... This startling confection is made of pink avas feathers and peacock cloche in brown velours designed by Alice.

Furs, Feathers and Froth-Frou will go to the head this fall, as hats fall in step with the Empire fashion mood.

Various crafts and projects were on display and will be shown at the fair. Refreshments were served by Mesdames Harold Salzman, Ben Sillman, Leroy Tatro and George Fortino.

The furs and feathers are likely to be used in high toques or deep cloches, although there are many variations. Sally Victor makes a high, back-slanting bonnet of fox, and Lily Dache covers a deep brown velours cloche with black monkey fur.

New hats must have either height or depth—there are no insignificant beanie in the fashionable lineup. When you wear a hat this fall, everybody will know it, and in evidence, in draped and crushed velvet or rich metallic brocade.

Some of the hats have a poke bonnet look. Others suggest the bouffant caps of another generation.

DESIGNING WOMAN

By Elizabeth Hylter

Television constantly makes it easier to find places to sit in the house, with lighter sets to be moved easily, with thinner sets that fit more cabinet and table tops, and with swivel sets that turn glowing faces inches at a time to accommodate corners where they couldn't be if they started straight ahead only.

But almost as much is being done with furniture to promote a softer life with TV, furniture that faces the reality that people like to lie down to look at. Now that the neighbors have long since stopped coming over to watch, and have two sets of their own, group viewing problems bother very little. Solitary viewing in the latest comfort possible is more of a prime objective now.

Instead of the small furniture that used to take care of the crowd, this furniture is large. Big, fully upholstered chaise longue types are styled for the living
