Progressing Ahead Of Schedule

Work on the Dresden Nuclear Power Station, east of Morris at the confluence of the Kankakee and Illinois Rivers, is reported to be ahead of schedule. The construction contract called for it to be in operation by Dec. 7, 1968. The Commonwealth Edison Co. plant will contain the largest nuclear power reactor now under construction. Research and development work for Dresden is being financed by seven utility companies and a West Coast engineering firm. Cost of research and building the plant will be more than $60,000,000. The companies pooled their resources to prove that private industry is very much interested in finding the answer to economic nuclear power. No government subsidies are involved in the project.

Profile Of Adm. Rickover

Father Of A-Sub A Determined Man

WASHINGTON (AP)—If you were searching for a single phrase to summarize the latter-day career of Hyman George Rickover, it could be this: he rocked the boat.

Rocking it, the 125-pound, gray-haired, slightly built rear admiral acknowledged as the father of the atomic-powered submarine—has had the Navy charged and embarrased. Even, some people say, ready to make him walk the plank.

MANY WHO KNOW Rickover trace his troubles to his dogged determination to get a job done—no matter what. They say he doesn't care whose toes he steps on in his drive for nuclear-propelled ships for the fleet.

He has defied protocol, blasted at conformity, pushed projects through over the heads of superior officers. Over the years, he has become a man apart in the tradition-bound Navy, a lone seafarer hard to know and, by many accounts, hard to work with.

As for the 58-year-old Rickover himself, "forget the personal stuff," he advised a reporter. "The real issue is what a man accomplishes."

He wanted no part in explaining why, despite Rickover's accomplishments, it took congressional action and the intervention of two civilian secretaries of the Navy to get him promoted to admiral and keep him from forced retirement.

"I can't get involved," he said. "I can't hurt my work terribly. I'm too busy to get involved."

When the world's first atom sub, the Nautilus, cruised under the polar icecap in a pioneering voyage recently, the White House marked the event with pomp and ceremony. Rickover wasn't among the Navy brass invited, and an outcry followed.

The sub-deliberate or, as the White House said, unintended—quickly turned into Rickover's favor. "It's too busy to worry about me," Rickover said. But others weren't.

HIS WIFE, RUTH, obviously in a moment of pent-up anger, gave a newspaper interview in which she said the Navy's top brass was determined "to hurt my husband for his independence and free spirit. She herself had not been invited to christen any of the atomic subs her husband helped build, she disclosed.

Rickover kept silent. But the incident brought his case to the fore and Congress voted him a special gold medal for his achievements in developing not only the nuclear sub but also the first large-scale nuclear power reactor at Shippingport, Pa.

He received an official apology from Secretary of the Navy Gates, plus assurance that he would be promoted to vice admiral and stay in the service. Previously there had been reports that promotion was unlikely and he might be forced to retire in 1969. Mrs. Rickover will christen a forthcoming A-Sub, and President Eisenhower named the admiral his personal representative at the Nautilus' homecoming ceremonies late last month.

From his days at Annapolis (1918-1923), he adopted a solitary role. Neither he nor his wife joined much of the Navy's stratified social life. Today they live quietly in a Washington apartment. Mrs. Rickover has a Ph.D. in International Law from Columbia. The admiral's sole hobby is reading.

Gardner-South Wilmington Has 3 New Teachers

GARDNER (JNS)—The Gardner-South Wilmington Township High School began with three new faculty members.

They are Miss Rebekah Hotz, who will teach English and direct play; Joe Covardill, civics, boys physical education, and assistant coach; and Bill Ward, mathematics.

The enrollment this year totals 173 students, 91 boys and 82 girls. There are 61 freshmen, 41 sophomores, 44 juniors and 30 seniors.

The Emma L. Allison Patti McIntosh Club met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Harry Howard.

The business meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Mildred Green. Devotions and the social were presided by Mrs. John B. Allison. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Charles Treasure.

That started the trail to the Nautilus and beyond. Today Rickover holds dual jobs as head of the Nuclear Power Division of the Navy's Bureau of Ships and the Naval Reactor Branch of the AEC.

SEN. JACKSON (D-Wash.) says of him: "He is a determined man, a scientist and a genius. You would search hard and long to find a good scientist who is not a bit difficult. I was attracted to him 10 years ago because he was like a breath of fresh air."

Some of Rickover's project workers, who have been with him for years, say Rick (they call him admiral to his face) is not a scientific genius but rather an outstanding engineer with mature technical judgment. But they credit him with a sixth sense for anticipating trouble before it gets started.

They aren't surprised at the admiral's failure to get along with the Navy brass. Many people make friendly compromises and adjustments in working with others. Not Rickover.

Revolt Crushed; General Strike Grips Venezuela

20 Slain, 200 Hurt
In 8-Hour Protest
Fight Against Junta

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—A general strike closed this troubled country today in the wake of another military attempt to seize power from a government Junta striving to restore democracy in Venezuela.

Union leaders threatened to continue the walkout until their demands for disbanding rebellious military police and for abolishing some army officers were met.

Eight hours of street fighting in downtown Caracas reportedly killed about 20 persons and left 200 wounded. Most of the casualties were said to be unarmed youngsters who played a major part in laying siege on the rebel headquarters downtown.

The government of Rear Adm. Wolfgang Larrazabal denounced one leader of the coup was under arrest and three others were being held out in the Cuban Embassy.

INSTEAD of allowing them to continue in the 125-2000 American practices, the government said it would seek return of the immigrants as common criminals and refuse to let them leave the country.

Larrazabal hurried back from a tour of eastern Venezuela and promised the plotters would be punished. He said he would clamp down on a curfew from 11 p.m. to 5 a.m.

After the first attempt to seize the government failed July 23, political leaders charged Larrazabal with a coup d'etat.

Both attempts involved discomfited soldiers who lost much of their prestige and privileges in the January revolution which overthrew the dictatorship of Gen. Marcos Perez Jimenez.

THE GOVERNMENT said Sunday's plot was led by military police personnel and by a group of officers who were in the country since the January revolution.

The rebels seized police stations before dawn and began broadcasting charges that the junta was a failure and that officials were friends of Perez Jimenez.

Loyal officers regained control within minutes and called for the people to support the government.

The president arranged to talk by phone later with Secretary of State Dulles, also in Washington. The word the Chinese Communists had resumed bombardment of Quemoy after a lull of 2 1/2 days—came less than 24 hours after the President had issued a notice that free world allies bound under the Southeast Asia Treaty will stand firm against the general Communist challenge.

Eisenhower expressed his conviction at his vacation headquarters Sunday after a fresh assault by the Formosa Strait garrison with National Security Council members in Washington Saturday.

The President interrupted his Newport stay for a few hours for a round of White House commences.

Courts Decide School Woes This Week

LEGAL ACTION simmered in Arkansas and Virginia today at the start of a week of decision in the nation's integration crisis.

The decision was expected to come after Thursday's U.S. Supreme Court hearing on the Little Rock case—a decision that may have decisive influence on the speed of integration in the South.

In the meantime legal maneuvering continued and a slowly growing number of children at stake in the case.

The Deep South remained segregated, however.

AT VAN BUREN, a northwest Arkansas city, U.S. Supreme Court Justice William Brennan today said he was making legal plans for the return of 12 Negroes to Van Buren High School despite threats of some white pupils to block integration by force. He declined to say what kind of action he would take.

Integration resistance flared last Tuesday, the start of the fall term, when hostile white youths greeted Negroes with jeers and warnings to stay away. About 40 white pupils threatened to block integration by force. He declined to say what kind of action he would take.

The British foreign office said today it "welcomes" the readiness of the governments of the People's Republic of China and the United States to resume their discussions on the issues involved in Formosa Strait.

The longer the Americans stayed in Formosa, Lebanon and on overseas bases, he said, "the tighter will become the noose around their necks."

He added: "The U.S. monopoly capitalist group will be hanged by the people of the world if it persists in its policy of aggression. The accomplices of the United States will suffer the same fate."

Laud Unique Iroquois Nursing Unit, Watseka

WATSEKA (JNS)—The construction of a modern nursing home in this community was hailed Sunday during dedication ceremonies as a forward step in the treatment of the ill and aged.

Extending congratulatory remarks to all those who took part in the project at Iroquois Hospital were such dignitaries as United States Sen. Everett Dirksen, Leslie C. Arends, congressman from the 17th Illinois District; S. L. Martin, Watseka, member of the Illinois General Assembly, and State Sen. Victor McElroy, Kankakee.

Home cost approximately $550,000. It is a one-story ranch style building and has the latest in equipment, including a kitchen serving both the nursing home addition and the hospital.

"The home is believed to be the only nursing home in the state built for that purpose. All other nursing homes in Illinois are built on a hospital basis, and are not designed to accommodate the aged and the infirm. The new nursing home is designed to accommodate 40 beds and the first residents are expected to move in sometime next week.

Accommodations for residents will be available in the following arrangements: private rooms, semi-private rooms or rooms to accommodate two people, and wards which will accommodate four.

Residents will be admitted under the supervision of their family physician, who will visit the resident at least once a month. It is desired to admit as many ambulatory patients as possible as well as bed residents.

Approximately $100,000 is needed to completely cover the costs of the building.

Burglars Hit 8 Places Over Weekend

First Day At College—A World Of New Experiences

Each fall in early September thousands of students enroll in colleges for the first time and face many new experiences. Freshmen at Olivet Nazarene College face similar experiences—those that are faced by many Kankakee area students who will be matriculating at other schools.

There is the inevitable routine of assemblies, tests, waiting lines, registration plus becoming acquainted with new faces and procedures—and that lonesome feeling of suddenly being on their own for many students.

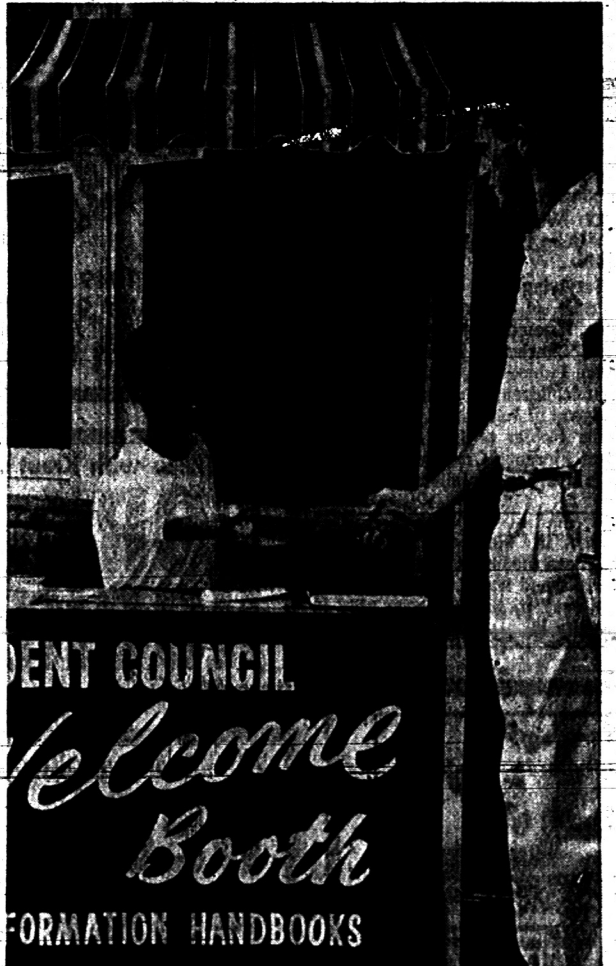

In the accompanying photo series, Journal photographer Arnold Korstik has caught some of the highlights of the three-day orientation and testing program held last week at Olivet, beginning Wednesday morning and continuing through Friday evening.

The orientation program at Olivet is to help the beginning college students to become adjusted as quickly as possible to college life.

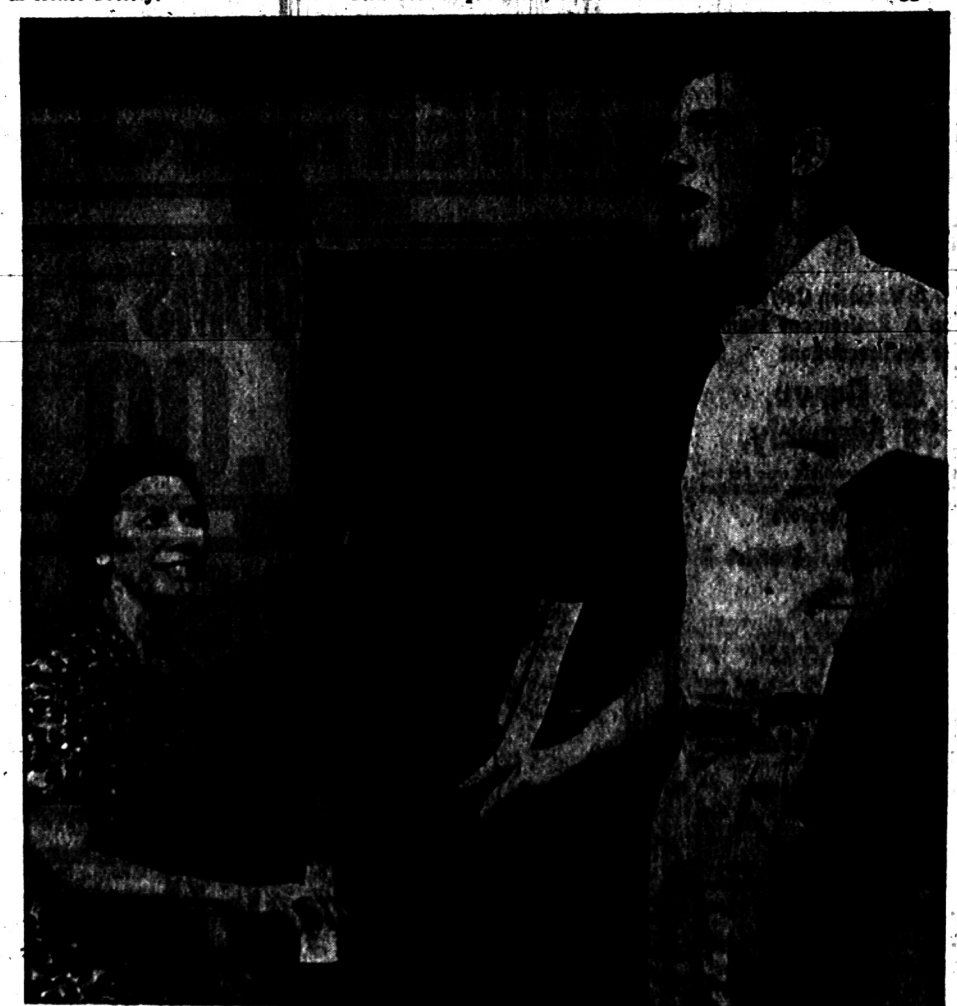

The testing program is to help discover needs, qualifications and abilities of individual students as a guide for their advisers and in planning their college curriculum.

Korstik followed the activities of a typical freshman, Preston Figue, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Figue of Gary, Ind. Figue is a second generation student at Olivet (his mother attended Olivet) and is a scholarship winner (he has won two scholarships to Olivet worth a total of $500).

Figue is also an athlete having won letters in basketball, football and baseball at Lew Wallace High School in Gary where he was also a four-year member of the National Honor Society.

TO HELP MAKE THE FRESHMAN feel at home in their first experience away from home for many of them the Olivet Student Council has set up a "Welcome Booth." Here Keith Sheffer, Student Council president, extends a welcome hand to Preston Figue.

"DO-RE-MI-FASOL" sings Figue as he takes a vocal audition trying out for vocal lessons and one of the college's choir. Giving the audition is Mrs. Naomi Larsen, head of the college's fine arts division. Vocal and instrumental auditions are conducted during the orientation program for students interested in taking part in any of the college's music organizations, whether or not they take lessons.

PLANNING A FOUR-YEAR college program is no easy task for a beginning freshman so each freshman is assigned an adviser to help him make out his schedule and plan ahead. Here Preston Figue meets with John Noble who is also new this year. Figue is an instructor in piano.

CLASSMATES SUCH AS Dwight sophomore Richard Burkhardt (left) and Russell Feltz have made the return to high school of Loretta Ann Yates, 15, polo victim since 1931, a success. Her enrollment this year in Dwight High School was like a dream come true. She was in third grade when polo struck. Since then, she had to study in hospital schools, where she was a straight "A" student. Burkhardt and Feltz are shown as they prepare to take Loretta from the second to the first floor at Dwight High School. (Journal photo)

New World Opens For Dwight Student

DWIGHT (JNS)—A new world of activities opened this month in Dwight High School to a girl who had been unable to attend public school since she was in the third grade.

Loretta Ann Yates, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Graham, Dwight, has been a victim of polo since Oct. 12, 1931. Over the years, she has progressed from an iron lung to the wheel chair.

Today, according to Loretta, she can do anything most other girls can do, except walk. And she has given up on that idea.

Her dream, to resume normal scholastic endeavors, not to mention the extra-curricular activities, became a reality with her enrollment this year as a sophomore in Dwight High School.

She is able to carry a full schedule of subjects. With the aid of a new friend, Arlene Dunbar, and her stepfather, James Graham, Loretta is assisted to the second floor of the school for her morning classes. Friends help her to the first floor at noon for lunch in the cafeteria, followed by her afternoon classes. Arlene assists her in the cafeteria.

HER CLASSMATES have accepted her as any other new student. Activities which long have been beyond her reach are now being enjoyed. Already she has watched football practice and attended a meeting of the Dwight Methodist Youth Fellowship.

Loretta came to Dwight with a straight "A" scholastic record. After she was stricken with polo, she spent 18 weeks in an iron lung. Following that, the years included numerous operations. During this period, she attended schools for the handicapped.

Prior to her illness, she was a pianist and had taken part in many recitals. She also is considered to be a fine singing voice.

Loretta has a new portable sewing machine, with which she makes many of her own dresses, using her right hand to operate the foot pedal and her left to guide the material.

Today, her paralysis is in her legs and upper part of her right arm. To write, she guides her right hand, which holds the pencil, with her left.

Among her other activities out of school are shell craft and sarring hobbies, not to mention swimming.

Her one big desire is to be able to attend her junior and senior prom.

PORTLAND, Maine (UPI)—Maine voters followed today and gave the old saying "As Maine goes, so goes the nation" one final fling. This is the last of the early Maine elections. After this year Maine has no federal elections until the November 3, 1960, election, and votes with the other states in November.

Why Maine Chose To Cast Early Ballot

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP)—Today's Maine election is the last to be held in September. Why is it the last? And why was September chosen as the first place? Records of the 1893 constitutional convention, just before Maine became a state, show that delegates wanted a date between early and late harvest. "As being the best busy season." Apparently November, when all the states elect, was considered. In those days November rains often made dirt roads all but impassable.

FOR 30 YEARS opponents of September voting, mostly Democrats, fought to have Maine join the other states. They argued that the state got little for the thousands it spent on an extra election every presidential year. Supporters talked of the early election's publicity value and greater campaign contributions from national party warchests.

But it wasn't until 1957 that the proponents of change mustered enough bipartisan support in the Legislature to get a constitutional amendment before the people. The electorate ratified it. And starting in 1960 Maine will vote on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November.

NO ONE WHO has studied the tables of Maine and national elections returns over the years takes the old adage seriously. It has been discarded much too often. However, national election observers are looking to the "early" vote as a barometer of the voters' reaction to changes of influence peddling in Washington.
