COUNCIL LAUDS ALL WHO AIDED AT SUNDAY FIRE

Firemen Come In for Special Commendation

Members of the city fire department and all other organized forces who assisted in extinguishing the two fires which threatened the business district last week-end were highly complimented by the city council at its meeting Monday night.

Alderman Myron Deneau, James Lamb and Huntington James voiced their approval of the efficient work which prevented the two blazes from spreading to adjoining property and causing heavy losses. With the aid of fire forces from Bradley, Kankakee state hospital and American Legion volunteers, city firemen were able to check the flames in the Chabot building Sunday afternoon and St. Joseph hall early Monday morning.

Mayor Albert F. Hattenburg said several persons have gone to the trouble to call him up the past two days to tell him what a fine job the firemen did. The police department also came in for its share of credit in handling auto and pedestrian traffic and preventing injuries.

Order Gas Masks

After viewing the rescue efforts of firemen who were equipped only with dust masks to enter a building hot with choking gases, Alderman Deneau last night sponsored a motion authorizing the purchasing committee to buy four gas masks of the latest type for the protection of fire fighters. It was approved as was also the motion of Alderman Lamb to send letters of appreciation to all organizations who cooperated in battling the flames.

A resolution designing several additional city thoroughfares as arterial streets which may be improved with state motor fuel tax receipts was passed by the council for submission to state highway engineers for their approval. The thoroughfares: Birch street from Schuyler to Hobbie; Hickory street from Fifth to Nelson; Bourbonnais from Fifth to Nelson; Eagle from Harrison to Nelson; Water from East to Hawkins; Locust from East to Hobbie; Emory from Chicago to Nelson; Albert from Court to Aroma Park road; Sixth avenue from Court to Station; and extension of East avenue from Chestnut to Locust.

Mayor Hattenburg, in response to a recent request by Kankakee Recreation association leaders, named

Recognition of Nazi Acts Refused By U. S.

Holds Answer

All the world watched the English house of commons for an announcement of how Great Britain proposed to effect a "stop Hitler" policy. Addresses by Prime Minister Chamberlain and Foreign Minister Viscount Halifax (above) were expected to give the answers. This picture, radioed from London to New York, shows Halifax as he left the foreign office to attend the first of two emergency cabinet meetings.

NAZI FUEHRER NOW AWAITING DEVELOPMENTS

"Stop Hitler" Drive Causes Hitler to "Slow Up"

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG, JR.

Berlin, March 21—(UP)—Germany must revise her whole attitude toward Great Britain and the European continent as the result of a "stop Hitler" drive, inspired Nazi sources said today as Adolf Hitler continued a series of urgent consultations with his political and military aides.

At the same time it was intimated that Nazi leaders already were considering retaliatory action against the United States for a 25 per cent tariff boost on German imports, and that similar imposts against American imports to Germany might be expected.

It was indicated that as regards efforts to form a stop Hitler bloc, the Nazi fuehrer would await developments.

Look Towards Memel

But it was understood that some development might be expected before the week-end as regards Memel, the former German area now under Lithuanian sovereignty.

Well-informed sources believed that Memel would be incorporated into reich territory within the next few days.

Foreign Minister Juozas Urbsys of Lithuania concluded a series of negotiations late last night with Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop. A high foreign office official said that the conversations were purely informative and led to no agreement on the status of Memel. Lithuanian quarters, however, reported that some sort of "amicable settlement" of the Memel question might be expected this week.

Well informed foreign quarters said that no unusual troop move-

SAYS THERE IS NO BASIS FOR PROTECTORATE

Over Bohemia and Moravia in Central Europe

Washington, March 21—(AP)—A United States note to Germany, released by the state department today, said this government "does not recognize that any legal basis exists" for Germany's protectorate over Bohemia and Moravia.

Enclosed with the note was a copy of the statement acting Secretary of State Welles made last Friday containing this country's "condemnation" of what were described as Germany's "acts of wanton lawlessness and of arbitrary force."

The United States note acknowledged receipt of the German note of last Friday informing this government of the terms of the decree issued March 16 by the government of the reich announcing the assumption of a protectorate over the provinces of Bohemia and Moravia.

No Legal Basis Exists

"The government of the United States," the American note said, "has observed that the provinces referred to are now under the de facto administration of the German authorities. The government of the United States does not recognize that any legal basis exists for the status so indicated."

The note then said that the views of this government were made known last Friday and for the information of the German government a copy of Welles' statement was enclosed.

This last paragraph had the effect of placing Welles' statement, which had been made to the public, on a diplomatic basis.

The state department released the text of the March 17 German note which consists almost entirely of a text of the March 16 decree.

"Under article 6 of this decree," the German note said, "the German reich takes charge of the foreign affairs of the protectorate, in particular, of the protection of its nationals in foreign countries. The former diplomatic representatives of Czecho-Slovakia in foreign countries are no longer qualified for official acts."

No Exchange of Views

The American note of reply did not respond specifically to this paragraph, but an official said the refusal to recognize any legal basis for Hitler's acts toward Czecho-Slovakia could be taken to include be taken to include reference to Czecho-Slovakia's diplomatic representation.

Welles, commenting on Lord Halifax's announcement in British house of lords yesterday that the British government was consulting with other nations, said that no communication had been addressed to this government on this subject by any other government.

The acting secretary of state repeated his statement of yesterday that no exchange of views had taken place between this and any

Sheriff Refuses to Reveal His Age

All last week Sheriff Dan Bergan sported a bright green tie because Friday was St. Patrick's day but yesterday he forgot his own birthday.

His granddaughter Sharon Schultz, 3½, didn't forget, however, and she presented him with a gift.

He said it was a clown doll but she said, indignantly, "It was not, it was a whatnot."

He refused to give his new age, except to say he's still a young man.

Sisters Share in Hashbargen Will

Watseka, March 21—(RN Special)—The will of Daniel K. Hashbargen, former resident of Danforth who died last Feb. 3 in Chicago, was probated here today.

A sister Rita is awarded the home and furnishings and she and another sister Maggie Pree are to divide the remainder. The estate is valued at $8,500 and names Charles Kremer executor. The law firm of Pallissard and Smith represented the estate.

Find Missing Seat Of City Government

Mayor Albert F. Hattenburg is a patient, trusting soul. For the last three council meetings the chair from which he presides has been missing.

He suffered in silence the first two, uttering only a polite "Wonder where my chair went?" and hoping that whoever took it would be kind enough to return it. While City Clerk Ralph Farmer and Deputy Loretta Cassatt rocked in upholstered swivel chairs with arm rests and rollers at the mayor's side, he had to struggle along in a straight model which severely cramped his style of presiding.

In desperation Monday night "his honor" put together a few well chosen words "off the record." Near the close of last night's session, Alderman Huntington James decided that something should be done. On his motion, the mayor was authorized to appoint a committee to obtain a search and seizure warrant, if necessary, for certain furniture removed from under him. Aldermen James, Clarence Sanborn and David W. Wood accordingly were given this commission.

Sitting in the rear of the council chamber was Superintendent of Streets Joseph Nicholson whose face had grown quite crimson. He had that chair in his office all the time and thought it was a spare which nobody would miss.

Brensley Resigns as Overseer for City Sewer Plant

The resignation of Albert A. Brensley as superintendent of the municipal department of sewers and sewerage treatment was accepted at last night's regular meeting of the city council.

Philip Schriner, who has been assistant superintendent for the past several years, was placed in charge of the plant on the motion of Alderman John Costello of the Sixth ward.

Mr. Brensley was employed to supervise the operation of the plant until such time as it was working properly and could be turned over to the supervision of a local resident who had acquired the necessary experience.

The mayor and the council realized that it is no longer necessary to retain the supervision that was necessary when the plant was being built and that they could make a considerable saving for the city by the change.

Acceptance of Mr. Brensley's resignation was on the motion of Alderman David W. Wood of the Fourth ward. In a letter to the sewer board he thanked the council for cooperation and announced the intention of continuing his work as a consulting engineer in this vicinity.

New Burnside, Ill., March 21—(AP)—Billy Hampton and his wife, Mary, both 70 years old, burned to death early today in a fire which destroyed their home here.

Hampton's body was found in his bed, but his wife evidently had been awakened and she had walked to the door of the bedroom before being overcome.

Ines Reed, who lived with them, narrowly escaped.

Rumanian Soldiers Prepare to Defend Homeland

Rumania laid plans to ward off by arms, if necessary, any attempt by Germany to grab control of her natural resources and industries. Thhese machine gunners are shown during maneuvers last year. It was reported that 500,000 men had been moved to the border after Germany was reported to have asked Rumania to submit to complete economic subjugation in return for Nazi assurances of Rumanian territorial integrity.

Fair and Warmer, Says Weather Man on Spring's 1st Day

Spring arrived officially at 2:29 o'clock this morning, bringing to Kankakee a warm sun and bright, clear skies.

After dropping rapidly after noon yesterday, the temperature observed the occasion by rising to 48 degrees at noon and promised to rise 10 degrees more this afternoon. A year ago the high was 72.

Most of the nation had fine weather today. Michigan and the northeastern states, however, experienced some cold but warmer weather was on the way. Light snow fell in upper Michigan.

Increased warmth is forecast for the Chicago area.

Kankakee Pioneer, Jesse B. Van Meter, Buried at Danville

A number of Kankakeeans attended the funeral yesterday in Danville of Jesse B. Van Meter, 92, who died there Saturday after a short illness. A pioneer resident of Kankakee county, he was born on a farm northeast of this city on Aug. 29, 1846, the son of James and Lucinda Brown Van Meter, who were among the first settlers.

He was married in 1871 to Isabella Bickle and they resided on a farm east of Danville where he was actively engaged in stock raising and farming until he was 86 years of ago. He was a brother of the late Osborn Van Meter, lifelong resident of Kankakee. Surviving are a daughter Mrs. Ella Jones, with whom he made his home, and son Ollie of Portland, Ore.

Those from here who attended the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Burrill, Mrs. Mary McCuen, Mr. and Mrs. James McCue and daughters Mary and Mrs. Roy Clark, Mr. and Mrs. E. Forbes of Kankakee, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lane and Mr. and Mrs. George Lane of Chebanse.

Discarded Suicide After 2 Attempts

Geneva, Ill., March 21—(AP)—Frank Shelton waited 10 hours for death last night and then decided maybe he'd like to live.

Shelton registered in a hotel here last night and gave his address as Chicago. About 3 o'clock this morning, his room light flashed on the switch-board and he told the room clerk to come up.

The clerk found Shelton wounded and called sheriff's deputies. They took him to the Geneva Community hospital where he told his story:

He decided to commit suicide, he said, so at 5 p. m. yesterday he slashed his wrists. At 6 p. m. he shot himself through the head with a .22 caliber pistol. At 3 a. m., he discarded the idea of dying and called for help.

At the hospital physicians said he had a good chance to recover. Shelton, 66, said he was despondent over the recent loss of a leg.

3 Kankakee Youths Pass Bar Exams

Three young Kankakee men, who recently took the state bar examinations, were notified last week that they had successfully passed. They expect to be admitted to the bar at the next session of the supreme court.

Richard Schneider, son of Attorney Walter C. Schneider of 959 South Wildwood avenue; Frank Curran of Chicago, and Paul LaRocque, son of Mrs. Lillian LaRocque of 254 West Station street, are the prospective lawyers.

Mr. Schneider completed his legal training at the University of Illinois, where he attained a splendid scholastic record. He graduated last June and during the summer spent some time in Mexico pursuing his avocation, botany. At present he is connected with his father's law office.

Mr. Curran attended St. Viator college following graduation from Kankakee high school and then took his legal work at John Marshall Law school in Chicago. He is now associated with Frank J. Burns.

Mr. LaRocque, another Viator student, is a graduate of Loyola university law school. For the past three years he has been attached to the law office of Robert E. Crowe in Chicago.

Colored Clubs of Kankakee Unite for Convention

A group of colored people of Kankakee met last evening at A. M. E. Zion church to organize a cooperative council among various clubs, including the 4 and 8, Ritz girls, Deluxe, 400, Elite, recreation association and the cabinet of the mayor of Brownsville.

Mrs. Jack Luckey was chosen chairman of the council; Alex Newborn, vice chairman; Mrs. Ike Williams, secretary; Mrs. Robert Nappier, assistant secretary; and Fred Foster, treasurer.

Plans were drawn for a two-day convention to be held March 31-April 1, at which time a program on better living conditions for Negroes of Kankakee will be considered.

Extinguish Small Fire at Factory

Firemen answered the third business building fire in 30 hours at 7:48 o'clock last evening when they made a run to the Amberg File and Index factory, Nelson and Duane streets.

Gilbert Amberg, working in the office, smelled smoke and turned in the alarm. Workmen engaged in remodeling the plant had been cutting pipes with acetylene torches during the day and some of the insulating material had caught fire in a stack of pipes, smoldering for several hours. Damage was confined to the pipes.

Yesterday afternoon a defective chimney flue caused about $10 damage to the wall of the residence of Charley Wright, colored of 730 North Wildwood avenue.

PRESIDENT OF FRANCE MEETS WITH BRITISH

LebrunGoesToLondon with Foreign Minister

London, March 21—(AP)—Britain today asked Soviet Russia, France and Poland to sign a "halt Hitler" declaration binding them to "consult as to action they would take" in case of further German expansion attempts.

The "final draft of the declaration," authoritative British sources said, also had been brought to the attention of Rumania, Turkey, Greece, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria.

They stressed that it would not operate if Germany and Lithuania made a deal over Memel, which was German territory before the post-war settlement. It was designated to counter German action against non-Germanic territory, they said.

The announcement of Britain's action came after the Soviet government had disclosed at Moscow that London considered an immediate six-power conference as "premature." This had led to a belief that Soviet support for a strong "stop Hitler" move was highly uncertain.

French President Arrives

British sources emphasized that the declaration would be entirely compatible with a conference at a later stage. Russia, they said, was likely to accept such a procedure as a satisfactory alternative to a conference now.

Meanwhile President Albert LeBrun of France arrived in London for a three-day state vsit amid increasing French-British collaboration in the face of German expansion.

Report that Germany might denounce the British-German naval treaty drew from an official spokesman the reply that the treaty was permanent and could not be terminated legally except with the con-

BALTIC REGION BELIEVES IT IS THREATENED

France Reorganizing National Defense Setup

By the Associated Press

Europe watched apprehensively today for some hint of Adolf Hitler's next move to extend the borders of expanding Germany.

Soviet Russia announced it had proposed a conference of the six "most interested" powers but that Britain had found the suggestion "premature."

Lithuanian officials were said to be moving their families out of Memel, lending support to the belief that the Baltic region was marked by Hitler for his next territorial advance.

Italians reported their government had called further military reserves to the colors, supplementing 60,000 men called in January.

Reorganizing French Defenses

The president of France arrived in England to visit the king and queen. During his three-day stay France and Britain were expected to formulate additional measures designed to halt Hitler.

Premier Daladier, wielding new dictatorial powers, started a reorganization of French defenses through a series of decree laws.

Rumania, fearful that the disappearance of Czecho-Slovakia made her next on Germany's march to the east, appeared to have, at least temporarily, put a brake on the German advance by persuading Britain to buy more Rumanian products.

Hungary had at least 300,000 troops along her eastern frontier facing Rumania, where 1,500,000 Hungarians live.

The source of European forebodings, Germany, looked to her own political fences. High Italian sources said Hitler had sent a personal letter to Premier Mussolini to reassure Il Duce concerning Germany's mid-European expansion.

Believe Il Duce Displeased

Some speculation has been aroused by the fact Mussolini, as far as is known, has sent Hitler no congratulatory message similar to the one he sent after the absorption of Austria, perhaps indicating the newest German advance had not pleased him.

Hitler's letter was being taken to Rome by Italy's Berlin envoy, who was called home to report on the partition of Czecho-Slovakia.

The French decrees, to step up production of military supplies, were regarded as only the first of a series aimed at putting France on an equal footing with the totalitarian powers.

Britain's foreign policy turned toward collective security as a check to German expansion, if not by participation in such an anti-aggression conference as Soviet Russia

State Approves Bonfield Bridge

Construction of a bridge on Kankakee county's state aid route 24, a mile and a half west of Bonfield, was approved in Springfield today by the state division of highways, according to press reports.

To be constructed out of motor fuel tax proceeds, the bridge will cost $7,500.

Also approved was surfacing on Iroquois county roads 2 and 2A, a mile east of Watseka, north and east to state air route 2D, and on state aid route 17 from state aid route 2 west and north 1.9 miles. The cost is $16,000.

Peace Negotiations in Spain; See End of War

Paris, March 21—(UP)—Official dispatches to the French government from San Sebastian today reported that peace negotiations have begun actively between the Burgos and Madrid governments, hinting at the possibility of an early end of the Spanish war by surrender of the republican army.

Negotiations the government was informed, began last night after Burgos had reiterated its refusal to anything but unconditional surrender. Burgos warned that the nationalist army would march on Madrid in comparatively a few hours unless Gen. Segismundo Casado negotiates.

Unconfirmed border advices said Casado was holding his lines intact but had moved many personalities who are on the nationalist black list toward seaports, although military evacuation of Madrid has not begun.

Burgos demanded that the Madrid troops lay down their arms and show a white flag as a signal for the nationalist army to occupy the capital. Gen. Francisco Franco would assume responsibility for food supplies and policing.

Burgos warned refugees and others outside Madrid that they would not be allowed to return to the city within a month while the administration of food distribution is reorganized.

Kiwanis "Widows" Get Dope on Big Stag Party

For the information of Kiwanis widows, the tomfoolery at last night's stag party wasn't much worse than bingo, in spite of George Piersol and other leaders in the merriment.

The meeting began with dinner at McBroom's cafe. Without any refreshments stronger than coffee, the atmosphere approached the club's customary hilarity when Program Chairman Fred Hefter called for a quartet and five tenors responded, left to right, W. R. Hickox, E. L. Longpre, W. A. Schneider P. M. Lockwood and Monroe Curtis.

Sid Fouse essayed a solo while the clubmen hooted and gleefully threw a barrage of fresh onions and radishes.

In the quiz contest the side of Howard Moore defeated the team of George Piersol when Dr. G. E. Irwin slipped up on a medical term meaning a very common complaint.

Arthur Beckman and C. A. Rollinson gave talks on the effect of seasickness on deep sea fishing, a subject with which they are familiar.

At bingo the prizes went to the following—Vernon G. Butz, A. C. Willman, Sid Fouse, Arthur Beckman, Al Merritt, H. T. Reishus, George Piersol, E. L. Longpre and Bruce Brown.

After all this, the clubmen played cards.

Lithuanians Move Families Out of Memel is Report

Kaunas, Lithuania, March 21—(AP)—Lithuanian officials were reported reliably today to be moving families out of Memel, supporting a widespread belief that reincorporation of Memel into the German reich was imminent.

Reports from Berlin" indicated the Lithuanian and German foreign ministers during a talk yesterday reached an agreement for unconditional absorption of Memel into the reich. When the Memel diet meets Saturday it is expected by many to vote approval of reincorporation into Germany.

Dr. Ernst Neumann, Nazi leader in Memel, announced that he expected "Lithuania to surrender the Memel territory in the near future."

Dr. Neumann declared that the continued association of Lithuania and Memel was "economically and culturally impossible."

In return for annexation to Germany, he said, Memel was prepared to grant Lithuania harbor rights.

Budapest, Hungary, March 21—(AP)—Hungary moved up more troops to her eastern border, facing Rumania, today and thousands of families moved out.

An estimated 300,000 men already were massed at the border but in the early morning trucks still were bringing more. Artillery also was being moved up.

Peasants living in exposed areas of the Carpatho-Ukraine and northeastern Hungary departed—some walking, some in trucks and others with horse-drawn carts.

Officials said the measures were entirely precautionary.

They denied emphatically that any military movement toward Rumania—where almost 1,500,000 of Hungarian lineage are living—was contemplated.

Seek Cause for Air Disaster in Which Ten Died

Seattle, March 21—(AP)—Federal and company investigators questioned every available eye-witness and studied broken plane parts today in a search for the cause of the wreck of Boeing Aircraft company's Stratoliner Saturday with a loss of 10 lives.

Frederick Glass, chief examiner for the air safety board of the Civil Aeronautics Authority, heard a dozen witnesses yesterday at Alder, where the 33-passenger plane crashed. He planned to question others today.

More than a dozen actually saw the plane fall. "I think we'll get something of material benefit from their accounts," Glass said.

Broken parts of both plane wings, the altimeter, oil pressure guage and some other pieces were trucked to the Boeing plant here for examination.

Thomas Hardin, vice chairman of the safety board, expressed belief pilot-failure was not a factor in the wreck.

"There were enough pilots aboard to get them out of any pilot difficulty," he said.

Boeing officials said they were so confident structural fault was not a cause that they were proceeding with construction of nine sister ships without change of design.

U. S. Minister to Prague Ready to Return to States

Prague, March 21—(AP)—Wilbur J. Carr, the United states minister to what was Czecho-Slovakia, started packing today on orders from Washington to close the legation and return home.

DNB, the official German news agency, in a Prague dispatch said that President Emil Hacha of the vanished Czecho-Slovak republic had dissolved the Czech parliament and that no provision had been made for new elections.

Carr will remain here several days for personal reasons before leaving for Washington with Mrs. Carr. Leaving with him will be Major Lowell M. Riley, military attache.

Edward B. Lawson, commercial attache, is absent on leave but his assistants step work tonight. A newly-appointed consul general, Irving N. Linnell, who is due from Canton, China, henceforth will represent the United States in Bohemia and Moravia.

The second secretary of the legation, George F. Kennan, will remain here in the consulate.

Women-on-Juries Bill is Facing a Legislative Snag

Springfield, Ill., March 21—(AP)—Backers of the women-on-juries bills attempted to steer them away from a threatened snag as the legislature reconvened today.

At the passage race in the house was the bill of Rep. Robert M. Woodward, R-Chicago, to grant the privilege to women representatives of women's organizations asked that a vote on it be made separate from the senate measure, passed another bill—by Senator Harold G. Ward (D-Chicago).

Instead they wanted the house judiciary committee to act on the Ward bill and send it out for say home vote next week.

"We don't care what the bill is passed, but if the house follows the Woodward bill after the senate already has passed the Ward bill, I'm afraid we'll run into difficulties and amendments," explained Matilda Rindberg, Chicago attorney who is chairman of the ways and means committee of the Illinois committee for women on juries.

Representative Woodward's bill would be effective next January 1, while Ward's would not go into July 1. Most of the major women's organizations in the state are backing the bill.

When the senate convenes this afternoon, the bill also carries criminal court salary authority to fix minimum and maximum prison sentences for all crimes and second reading, the passage stage.

Scheduled for house committee hearing today are bills to provide workmens compensation payments from the present 50 per cent to 66 2-3 per cent of wages. Final action also was scheduled to be taken on the city manager permissive bills by the house committee on municipalities late today.

ITALY AWAITING CHIEF'S STAND, CZECH SEIZURE

Mussolini Calls Meeting of Fascist Council

Rome, March 21—(AP)—Italians received the government announcement for training [illegible] of whom 60,000 [illegible] immediately [illegible] not responsible [illegible] taking precautionary measures in view of developments in Central Europe.

[illegible] that Italy was [illegible] September agreements were [illegible] between the reports and the press [illegible] was not at [illegible] viewpoint on [illegible] Italian press had been summoned [illegible] report. The envoy, Bernardo D. Attolico, left Berlin last night.

It was believed in diplomatic circles that Mussolini had called Attolico to Rome to give him an idea on how far he could count on German support in pressing Italian claims on France. He was due to arrive before tonight's meeting at the Fascist grand council.

Some of the 38-year old recruits of the class of 1901 previously called were exempted from service when they showed they had jobs already waiting for them and these men had received new cards instructing them to report for duty.

Official Attitude Unknown

But whether the second call was to fill the original quota of 60,000 announced Jan. 25 or whether the entire class estimated at about 120,000 was being called was not ascertained.

It was thought Mussolini would [illegible] official attitude toward German absorption of Bohemia-Moravia and Slovakia [illegible] far no announcement has been made of congratulations by Il Duce to Chancellor Hitler.

Some circles in Berlin noting that Mussolini had sent congratulations soon after German seizure of Austria and Czecho-Slovak Sudetenland, speculated on the possibility Hitler's recent map-changing was not to Il Duce's liking.

The council which is the Fascist executive body will meet at 10 p. m. (4 p. m. est) at Palazzo Venezia.

Many well-informed Fascists expressed the opinion that actual communication of Italian demands on France might not be made until possibly next Sunday when Mussolini will speak at a celebration of the 20th anniversary of the foundation of the Fascist movement.

Mass meetings throughout the kingdom on that day will be much like those held Oct. 2 1935 when Mussolini, by national broadcast announced the start of the Ethiopian war.

Should territorial demands be made such as cession of Corsica and all or part of Tunisia, political circles said Europe almost certainly would face a new, major crisis.

Berlin, March 21—(AP)—Adolf Hitler made doubly sure today that Italian axis partner Premier Mussolini understands developments of last week when German absorbed parts of Czecho-Slovakia.

The Reichsfuehrer gave Italian Ambassador Bernardo D. Attolico a personal letter to Mussolini, persons close to the Italian embassy said, before the envoy left last night for Rome to report to Il Duce. He was expected back in a few days.

It was believed the next expansionist move would come from Memel this week-end.

Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering was due to leave for Italy late today to resume his vacation on the Riviera interrupted last week, and later to see Mussolini and possibly also Marshal Italo Balbo, governor of Libya, in Africa.

Japanese Congratulations

Japan sent Hitler congratulations on the Nazi absorption of Bohemia-Moravia, but the absence of similar felicitations from Rome was interpreted as a possible indication that Mussolini did not approve of it.

Foreign observers felt that Hitler's permission to Goering to continue the holiday was an indication that the question of the return to German of Memel—a 1,099-square mile Baltic strip under Lithuanian sovereignty—had been settled and that Lithuanians had promised not to attempt to prevent that former German district from getting "home to the reich."

Virtual Armistice Reigning in Spain

Valencia, March 21—(AP)—Workmen on one of Valencia's latest buildings today nailed up a new signboard which would have been unreasonable not long ago.

We want a country where Spaniards can live in dignity together free of foreign influence," said the sign showing a picture of a soldier having an arm.

Women, children and soldiers stood by silently to read the sign, which symbolizes the profound change which has come over government Spain since Republican capitulation January 26.

Promises of peace are freely published and actively discussed.

A virtual armistice reigns on all fronts although Nationalist bombing planes occasionally visit government territory shattering the belief that the war is practically over.

Thousands in Valencia in a city today prayed for peace and peace appeals arises that it must be an honorable peace."

Self-torture Ritual Will Climax Lent Observance By 'Los Hermanos Penitentes'

Denver, March 21—(NS)—Again this year Lent is bringing preparations in the remote mountain villages of southern Colorado and northern New Mexico among Los Hermanos Penitentes—the penitent brother—for their realistic passion play on the ancient holy day of flagellation commemorating the crucifixion of Christ.

Actually in the fraternity is pointed to the rites performed on Good Friday when members of the order lash their sun bodies to emulate the suffering of Christ on Calvary.

The ritual of the mysterious organization represents a strange heritage of the original Penitente order brought over from Spain in 1594. Its membership is secret, the number of members unknown. Most of those belonging to the order are believed to be in the mountainous regions surrounding the San Luis valley in Colorado and extending down into New Mexico, perhaps as far south as Taos.

Membership Widened

Originally the brotherhood was limited to descendants of the early Spanish conquerors. However, during the four centuries of the cult's existence in this country, interracial mingling has produced a membership of persons of mixed Indian and Mexican blood, some illiterate and less-castle, but others of high estate and political leadership in their communities have been known to belong.

The Good Friday climactic ceremony is preceded by the forty days of Lent during which members fashion many-thonged whips of the razor-edged yucca plant, even studding the lashes with bits of broken glass and cactus spines. During their weekly Lenten meetings in the windowless 'morada' or chapel, members subject themselves to periods of self-torture which reach a severe climax during the Good Friday ceremonies.

The Good Friday ceremony has its inception in the biblical story of the crucifixion. A member of the order is chosen by lot to play the role of 'El Christo'—the Christ. His identity is kept secret. It is the rigors of the ceremony proclaim, his family and friends of his "honor" when his stoics are left on the mountainside for the duration of the century ago. El Christo has actually nailed to the cross, but is bound to it by passing thongs.

Parade to Ritual

On the night of the crucifixion, the shrill piping of sacred fife blown by 'Pitero' leads the parade to Calvario,' the site where the ritual is held. Behind the pipe is 'Hermano,' the chief of the local chapter, and following him the disrobed figure of "El Christo."

'El Christo' carries on his back an immense cross, sufficiently large as much as 400 pounds. He is bound to it by rope and two crossflash him with white cloth strips at his waist.

Behind and around him are the devout brothers, all hatless and clad only in loose fitting cotton trousers. In measured cadence they lash their bared shoulders and backs with their whips, many wear crowns of thorns and the more devout work themselves up to such a frenzy of religious fervor that they thrash themselves into unconsciousness of cactus to intensify their ritualistic suffering.

Following this bloody parade are the women and children. Male children attend the ceremonies in preparation for the time when they will become members of the fraternity.

This weird procession, punctuated by moans, sobs and shrieks, ends at the hill designated as the 'Calvario.' Here 'El Christo' is bound to the cross he has borne, and amid an impressive ceremony, the cross is raised to an upright position, bearing its human figure. It is only when 'El Christo' faints from the pain and torture of being suspended by his wrists and ankles, that he is cut down. This climaxing another annual event in the world's strangest religious order.

Boosts Chicago for the GOP Convention

Washington, March 21—(NS)—The movement national committee was formally urged by Representative Leo F. Allen (R-Ill) to select Chicago as the meeting place of the 1940 national convention.

The Cook county congressman made certain that Mr. Hamilton Fish, the nation's second, largest city was acceptable to all parts of the country. Aggregate facilities for transportation and ample hotel accommodations.

Allen, who is chairman of the Illinois Republican delegation in the house also wrote to the Illinois Republican State Central Committee, to the state and local Republican organizations urging that the convention be held in Chicago.

"Our other essential requirement," the letter said, "is the conviction that we would flow out of a convention in the very heart of the United States in a locality accessible from all American cities. . . . From the point of view of the country at large, the convention city is very heart of the country. . . . Its central location would doubtless be a weight of them area political influence the city would be what might fairly be called the landmark in the coming convention."

You can pick up quite a good sum of money if you know where your work or equipment is needed . . . and when. That's where the man with a telephone has a big advantage. He can call around looking for work . . . and he's the man others can reach when they need help. The telephone on the farm is a business proposition that more than pays its way. And it's a protection, too . . . in any kind of emergency. If you haven't a telephone, order one right away.

ILLINOIS BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

ILLINOIS CENTRAL

Pleasant Service

One of our announced aims in the conduct of the Illinois Central System is to give pleasant service.

Our definition of pleasant service is friendly, personal attention to those who use our trains. It is a definition which, with occasional exceptions, our patrons tell us we live up to pretty well.

For the traveler our ideal of pleasant service includes help in planning trips, looking after baggage, comfortable seats and berths, good lighting, clean and attractive surroundings, fresh air warmed or cooled to need, good food, as little disturbance as possible.

For the shipper and receiver of freight our ideal of pleasant service includes prompt and accurate rate information, free pick-up and delivery of less-than-carload shipments, equipment designed to handle what there is to ship, painstaking loading and stowing, effective tracing, correct billing.

For both it includes smooth track, convenient schedules, expert handling of trains, on-time arrival and departure, plus the knowledge that every man on the railroad appreciates the patronage given.

CARDS ARE DOWN IN EUROPE

The conquest (it is nothing else) of Czechoslovakia has at least this merit:

The world now understands quite clearly that Adolf Hitler, backed by all the military might of Germany, is prepared to seize anything he wants without a shadow of regard for right.

Many have believed this all along. But the taking over of the Sudeten areas of Czechoslovakia had a certain amount of reasonableness in its favor. After all, the Sudetens, a large majority of the people of the area, were German and were at least willing, perhaps eager, to join the Reich.

It would be useless to pretend that the Czechs of Bohemia and Moravia are German, so a new phrase is invented by Hitler to cover them: their lands are "part of the living space of the German people." Such a phrase means nothing, or if it means anything, it would include Yorkville, Cincinnati, and Milwaukee.

So now we have the picture of a small neighboring country, inhabited by people entirely outside Hitler's "racial" orbit, who are overwhelmed and taken into the Reich without a shadow of warning or any appeal to the rights of the case that would register in the mind of a 10-year-old child.

When Hitler said at Munich that he had no more territorial ambitions in Europe, and when he joined in guaranteeing the borders of the dissected Czech state, some people doubted the validity of his words. Now everyone knows just how valid they were.

No one can have any patience with a quibble about the "protectorate" status of the Bohemian-Moravian state. Anyone can see how much independence and autonomy is left to a state in which a foreign power can arrest thousands of people, deprive all except minority Germans of citizenship, appoint a foreign governor and impose foreign laws, conduct the area's foreign and economic affairs, maintain military garrisons of foreign troops, supervise all communications and control money. And that is Hitler's program for his new territory.

No country directly concerned has seen fit to act, or even to protest. Britain has merely wrung its hands. France has maintained a shocked silence. Russia has said merely, "Huh! Better not come too close to ME!" The United States, infinitely farther removed than any of these countries, can scarcely be expected to be more active in the matter.

But the implications must not be missed. As good an excuse for seizing any country in the world can be made by Adolph Hitler as he gave the conquest of Czechoslovakia.

TWO SIDES AND TOP

Philadelphia just went through a demonstration that reversed the famous Nazi meeting in New York's Madison Square Garden.

In New York, Nazis met while thousands of anti-Nazis surged outside trying to get in and break up the meeting. In Philadelphia a Committee for Racial and Religious Tolerance met in a Y. M. C. A., and members of an Anti-Communist association got in and tried to break it up.

In both cases the police kept a tight grip on the whole situation. That is their duty.

The United States dislikes too much police supervision of their affairs. But those who bring violence to otherwise peaceful meetings must expect it.

The future of the United States is not to be settled by street brawling. It is to be settled by orderly discussion and debate and the free vote of majorities. When any party or faction takes to street brawling it must be met with an immediate and effective lesson in the republic, only one element governs public order, and that is the various forces duly constituted by all the people.

MUSKRATS ARE MENACE

Colusa, Cal.—(INS)—Muskrats in the surrounding Butte creek swamp area have caused farmers to become fearful of floods.

With winter waters reaching high marks and damage, from last year's floods still vivid, steps have been taken to lessen the huge colonies of muskrats, which have proved themselves adept at tunneling the dikes, weakening the flood control walls at vital levels.

Boombody stole two alligators from the Manchester, England, zoo. That's not larceny; it's courage.

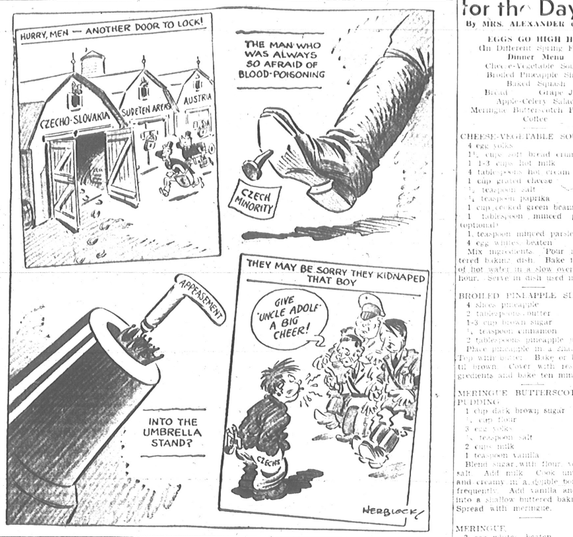
POST-MORTEMS



Your Children

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Gray were talking about their daughters, as mothers will.

Mrs. Brown seemed to be quite frank about her Kay, but actually she was not telling one thing off the record. Mrs. Gray, on the other hand, chatted on, becoming more and more confidential about her Betty.

"Betty can't bear the Jones boy," she said. "He bothers her to death, asking her to go here and there with him, but she simply won't do it." And, "Betty plans to take up a special course in social work. She is so tired of this town." Also, "Betty had a letter from Mary this week. Mary tells her everything. It seems that James Smith, who used to live here, remember, his mother's girl now and Mary is simply wild."

Mrs. Gray did not realize that she was betraying sacred things. Mrs. Brown was a good listener, and quiet. She did not repeat things too readily but the trouble was that Mrs. Gray talked to everyone about her daughter's private affairs. And many were not so reticent about repeating.

Betty often wondered why it was that a friend would suddenly drop her. Or why some relative of a friend openly cut her. It appeared that she was losing friends faster than she could make them.

All this time Betty did not know that her mother was telling tales out of school. Poor Mrs. Gray did not realize it, either. She had a habit of forgetting what she had said to people as soon as the words were out of her mouth.

Daughter Catches On

In time it dawned upon the girl that the only one who could possibly be trusted was her mother. Betty was terribly fond of her mother. She told her every thought she had and all her hopes and plans.

A girl's private affairs are very sacred to her. It is a wonderful thing if she makes her mother her confidante and goes to her with everything.

But a word here and a hint there finally convinced her that the trouble lay right in the house. She did not blame this kindly mother of hers who spent her life in making her girl happy. But Betty did decide at last that she had better keep her thoughts and experiences to herself. She hid her letters. She became silent and uncommunicative.

Mrs. Gray said one day, "Darling, you have changed so. I might as well be a stranger for all you tell me. Why is it?"

Betty could never tell her. She probably never will. But Mrs. Gray, through carelessness, has lost the loveliest privilege a parent can have.

VIENNA CHOIR TO TOUR

Vienna—(INS)—Vienna's famous Mozart choir will tour the United States, singing in a number of American cities. After their last concert of the tour in San Francisco, the choir will proceed to Hawaii and islands of the South Seas. They will return home to Vienna by way of Ceylon, the Suez Canal and Genoa. The choir consists of 20 boys each aged about twelve. Their choirmaster, Dr. Georg Gruber, of Vienna, will take charge of the tour.

DOUBLE INJURY

Portland, Ore.—(INS)—Insult was added to injury when a motorist struck down Mrs. Zoe Witt as she crossed a street. After knocking her down, the driver returned and upbraided her for being in the street, Mrs. Witt who was only slightly hurt, complained to police.

Happenings in New York

By GEORGE ROSS

New York, March 21—Ever since Minskian deshabille was banished by the puritan fathers in Manhattan, it has been up to wily impresarios to slip around the ordinance.

A certain display of nudity is an essential ingredient of any profitable rowdy-dow and the showmen are not yet inclined to commit financial suicide.

Now, at one of the cabarets, visiting firemen are pleasantly startled to observe a scene entitled "Anna Held's Milk Bath" reproduced faithfully, with "Anna" and her handmaidens quite visible to the naked eye.

"How," the visitors inquire, "do they get away with it? What with the law and all—"

Fact is, the municipal fathers consolidated provided a loophole for such displays. They said that nudity must not be exploited in mobile cause; but that it is all right to emulate Eve in a tableau.

Thus, the impresarios are sure to have at least one tableau on their bills. And everybody is happy. Thus do the city fathers administer to their constituents' souls and "Anna" never fails to make the Grade A every night.

Mysterious Manner

The Stork Club's Sherman Billingsley is the cafe man with the most lavish hand. He is the bonifface who casually sends costly champagne, perfume, neckties, shirts, cigars, jewelry and luxurious whatnots to his customers from time to time.

Not necessarily to celebrate an occasion, he often sends these gifts without rhyme or reason.

Now one of Mr. Bs beneficiaries is James Thurber, the whimsical artist and humorist. Thurber has received more than one of Billingsley's offerings and the other night he decided to reciprocate and dine with his wife and friends at the Stork Club.

When he arrived there, the rope was strung across the doorway. "I'm sorry," the headwaiter said, "but only people with reservations can get tables. I can't help you."

So Thurber and his party went to Toots and there he brooded for long hours on the mysterious manners of New York.

Ross Picks a Queen

Now that I am "an official judge in the World's Fair Beauty Contest courtesy of Grover Whalens, I feel qualified to call out the comeliest lady at the moment in New York. He name is Della Lind. She won't be in the contest, so this is not by way of justifying a prejudicial vote.

Della Lind is the Lillian Russell of the Diamond Horseshoe extravaganza, Lixsome, flaxen-haired, ivory-skinned, she is the most startling beauty of the town.

Her's is an ironic story, too. Fleeing from Vienna, she was lured to Hollywood with promises of a big future and with assured lavish income.

So she lingered in the cinema citadel a year and a half, earning her fabulous stipend and joining for something to do.

Finally, she upped and left, abandoning a hurriedly fiat Hollywood career as a singer. In short time, she was in the limelight where this connoisseur decided that she was the fairest of them all.

Hollywood: When you can't remember who you are—they call that amnesia. That's what happened to Police Lieutenant Forbes of Chelsea, Massachusetts after he fell an' hit his head. Three days later, he was in a Chelsea drug store with fifteen cents in his pocket and the next thing he knew, he came to in Miami, Florida with a lot of new luggage an' 38 dollars!

Now, how do you figger that one? It kind of looks like people are more successful in life when they don't know who they are! Will somebody please hit me on the head? Maybe I could come to mayor of Hollywood or president of a bank! An' if a rap on the bean wouldn't do that much for me, I could always settle for less—like head of the vice-president in charge of Hollywood dog-catchers! Don't laugh! Both of them jobs have plenty of class out here!

All Suicides, Except Those Of Really Insane Persons, Blamed on Injured Vanity

St. Louis, March 21—(INS)—All suicides, except those of really insane persons, result from injured vanity, Dr. Lee D. Cady, former president of the St. Louis Medical society, declared in a recent talk before the society.

"At first glance," he said, "the injured vanity motive may not seem operative in the case of the person with a hopeless and painful disease. That person knows society, law and religion do not encourage or approve suicide. He also knows he would be held blameless if he allowed nature and time to take their course. He is faced with the prospect of additional suffering that way.

"Some way of ending his miseries may appeal to him as practical for all concerned. 'What's the use?' he reasons. 'Everyone will sigh and say I did the right thing.'

"Self-pity is another way to describe this state of mind,—no matter how justifiable the pity is. Self-pity is practically indistinguishable from injured vanity, and one partakes of the other.

Unrequited Love a Cause

"It is much easier to discern the injured vanity motive in the cases of the unrequited lover, the erstwhile millionaire who is afraid to face the world with only a hundred thousand dollars, the introverted college student who has flunked, or the deserted wife with only six hungry children to rear. As human understanding and sympathy go, these are hot problems to be faced with levity, but neither should they be regarded with paralyzing seriousness."

Bureau of census reports since 1900, Dr. Cady declared, show that social crisis, like depressions, wars and revolutions, have a very definite effect on the suicide rate.

While suicides increase during depressions, war actually does prevent thousands "from stepping off the short end," Dr. Cady continued. During the world war, the German and English suicide rates fell off 24 to 26 per cent, respectively. In 1937, the Japanese suicide rate fell 14 lper cent, which was not quite enough to indicate patriotic fervor as regards the war in China.

Suicide Rate Fluctuations

In 1900, the suicide rate in the United States was 11.5 per 100,000 population. The increasing tempo of life jumped the rate to 16 in 1905, Dr. Cady said, but in 1906 it dropped to 13.9 because the San Francisco earthquake made the world be suicide feel "that he really was better off than many other people." By 1909 panics and depression had raised the rate to a new high of 17.8.

With the United States' involvement in the world war, the suicide rate slipped from 13.4 in 1917 to a low of 10.3 in 1920. War excitements, misguided patriotism and general maladjustments started those levides up in 1917, when the rate was 7.7, but potential killers also had their distractions, and by 1920 the homicide rate was down to 7.1.

"Say what you will," Dr. Cady asserted, "the mass emotional forces of war saved some thousands of persons from suicide and civil homicide. People were still primitive enough to enjoy war and shedding the other man's blood.

"The suicide rate gradually increased from 1924 until it had reached 17.4 in 1932 at the height of the depression.

"In 1933," Dr. Cady said, "President Roosevelt put us all into the same boat with a bank holiday, and people quit being irritated by the failure of banks. The suicide rate eased off to 15.9.

Mr. Beedy was formerly with the Ash Grove dairy and is now farming for himself.

LOYALTY LEAGUE OF KANKAKEE

(ad+)

Orange Crush is Thirst-Quencher

"Orange Crush is more than an orange drink," Joe Bott, proprietor of the Orange Crush Bottling plant, 147 North Fifth avenue, told this writer in describing his largest selling product.

"It is a wholesome, natural product made from pressed oranges and contains no artificial color or flavor. An individual distinctive beverage, it is different from any other in flavor and is a real 'thirst-quencher,'" said Joe in urging more Kankakeeans to get acquainted with the product which has the seal of approval of Good Housekeeping institute.

Bott took over the local agency a year ago after six years' experience in the field. He also handles other popular brands of soda water and is agent for Pilsner beer.

Gousset Candy Sales Increase

The Gousset Sales company, 444 South Schuyler avenue, wholesale distributors in eastern Illinois for Mrs. Stevens home made candies, has sold many thousands of pounds since taking over the agency.

William D. Gousset, who has operated the firm for close to 11 years, revealed that sales last year surpassed all previous records and he anticipates another big year in 1939. The downtown outlet for this well known candy is Hattenburg's pharmacy, Arcade building.

Mrs. Stevens started making candy in her own home on a small scale a few years ago. Now she owns a string of retail shops in Chicago.

Gousset also is distributor of Wurlitzer, Rock-Ola and Seeburg electric phonographs and all types of pin games.

Boudreau Stocks Home-Killed Meat

Home-dressed veal and pork of prime quality are hard to get in this community, Max Boudreau, Westside grocer, however, endeavors to keep those products on hand at his store, 448 West Station street.

He stocks a full line of fresh and smoked meats, fresh fruits and vegetables which compare favorably with competing stores. As a member of the independently owned and operated Royal Blue stores, this grocery also handles Royal Blue canned goods.

Boudreau has been in business 11 years, starting on Fourth avenue but moving to a larger location on Station street eight years ago. Four persons are employed full time and service is in the watchword of the organization.

This Firm Solves Glass Problems

"Whatever your problem in glass, the Kankakee Glass company, 238 West Court street can solve it for you," That is a claim upon which this 15-year-old local firm has built a reputation.

Expert glazers are equipped to install safety glass of any style and shape, including the new highest type which will not cloud up, to cut glass tops for desks, tables and dressers in any size and shape, and to furnish mirrors of any description.

The Kankakee Glass company also resilvers old mirrors, making them like new for about half the price that it would cost to replace the old ones. A new catalogue of mirror designs has been issued.

Trading Post Sells 'Mileage' Gasoline

The "Mileage merchant" on U. S. highway 45 in Bradley is Clarence Chambers who operates The Trading Post.

This Conoco filling station sells Bronze-o-z gasoline which has recently been stepped up to 74 octane rating and Conoco germ-processed motor oil. Three grades of clear gasoline are handled for stoves and a high grade kerosene is sold at wholesale prices to purchasers of five gallons or more.

The Trading Post offers special rates on oil drain jobs and has a spacious drive to accommodate a large number of cars. A complete line of soft drinks, candy, cakes, pies and bread are also sold by Chambers.

Brown Takes on Outboard Motors

Jack Brown, gun and locksmith of 326 South Schuyler avenue, has taken on the Evinrude and Elto outboard motor agency in Kankakee, it was announced today.

He also has added four types of boats, Century, Chippewa (for canvas tops), Thompson and Pioneer, with service in connection. Brown has three current motor models on display, will sell on the deferred payment plan and will offer a trade-in allowance.

He carries a complete line of first grade nationally advertised fishing tackle and operates a well-equipped general repair shop. Recently a lawn mower sharpening machine was installed, to turn out a factory re-conditioning job. "Dull, hard-running, rickety mowers will run like new after this machine gets through with 'em," Jack claims.

He operates delivery service in the city limits and his shop is open evenings and Sundays.

Forced Landing in Sea; Two Lose Lives and Two Are Saved

San Pedro, Calif., March 21—Five 19-year-old airplane pilot, incident after more than an hour of swimming in the Pacific was brought here today with a story of a forced landing on the ocean and the assistant drowning of his father and uncle.

Richard Carey, 19, and James Buntini, 39, both of Long Beach, were pulled from the ocean late yesterday by the crew of a tugboat.

Carey said his father, Anthony J. Carey, 40, Long Beach mining man, and his uncle Jack Carey, a Long Beach city employee, both drowned within 20 minutes of the forced landing.

Fog bound since Sunday, the four took off from Victorville airport for Long Beach. Buntini flew the first break in the clouds. Buntini said, showed they were over Santa Catalina island. Buntini took the controls and they ran out of fuel and were forced down at sea.

Appointment of Douglas Will be Confirmed; Senate

Washington, March 21—(INS)—President Roosevelt's nomination of William O. Douglas to succeed Justice Louis D. Brandeis on the supreme court appeared headed today for speedy and overwhelming senate confirmation.

Although most western senators expressed disappointment that Associate Justice Brandeis was not chosen from their region was not chosen, none said specifically he would oppose the sandy-haired, 40-year-old chairman of the securities commission. Republican Leader McNary joined Democratic Leader Barkley in predicting quick approval.

Rep. Rankin (D-Miss) said the appointment probably would mean Douglas, nomination for president on the Democratic ticket next year.

Speculation arose over the choice of a new SEC head. The remaining commissioners are understood to feel that on this selection will depend to a great extent whether the agency will continue its active course in stock regulation and in "regional reorganization" of utilities holding companies; or whether, as the administration adviser put it, there will be a trend "to the right."

Some well-informed persons said Commissioner Jerome Frank, who was reported planning to resign, might be persuaded to stay on and become chairman. There were also proposed filling the vacancy on the commission from the present staff.

Jaywalker Tickets Given to Peorians

Peoria, Ill., March 21—(INS)—Jaywalkers were reminded in a rather subtle informal manner yesterday that they were breaking a part of the city's annual safety campaign, policemen were handing out tickets to pedestrians who violated traffic regulations.

Those guilty failed to see the washing.

"You have violated one of the following traffic ordinances affecting pedestrians: (1)—Crossing across an intersection to the right. (2)—Crossing between intersections. (3)—Crossing at an intersection."

'King of Gate Crashers' Off To Ply His Trade At Competing World Fairs

Ashley Tex.—(INS)—March 21—Behind a borrowed white coat, and from a concession stand, and practical joke to San Francisco and New York Omelette Contests to see who was the best cook, Ashley Tex. Chamberlain is getting ready to leave for the respective worlds fair officials.

Chamberlain, who has been crashing gates for years, has been appointed as Hardin-Simmons University's official gate crasher to San Francisco and New York.

Chamberlain's appointment was announced by Dr. Jack Pearce, president of the university. He leaves for San Francisco June 10.

Branding some of the fact that President Roosevelt had participated in the ceremonies which most people thought opened the San Francisco exposition, Chamberlain entered the "gate crashing" contest by impersonating Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Arriving at the gate in a chauffeur driven car, Chamberlain stepped out as Hardin-Simmons' president and walked up to the gate. Surprised guards, thinking it was the president, let him through.

Chamberlain's next gate crashing attempt was at the New York Omelette Contest. Dressed in a white cook's coat, he entered the contest by impersonating Jacob Fabian.

His Hardest Gate

Chamberlain's hardest gate-crashing attempt was at Hoover Thirty Acres, Iowa, during the Democratic campaign last fall. Chamberlain was one of the few persons who determined that it was a crash-like gate that gave Herbert Hoover his start in politics. He failed in the attempt.

The gate crasher came out of the attempt with a bruised shin and a determination to succeed at the next opportunity.

Indictments in Champaign Vice Inquiry Awaited

Champaign, Ill., March 21—(UP)—A Champaign county grand jury investigating vice and gambling near Rantoul and Penfield was expected today to return a number of indictments by Saturday night.

Time to be studied in was said to be allotted to keepers of disorderly houses and minor gamblers.

Nearly two hundred witnesses have appeared before the grand jury and more have been questioned by special state prosecutors since the jury began its investigation about a month ago. Those questioned included alleged gamblers and their operators, university students and university officials.

Yesterday Irene Dunham, separated from the fifth time before the jury, was questioned concerning vice conditions near the university town. Two girls, Jean Ross, 22, and Sally King, 28, who were said to have worked for Miss Dunham, were also questioned.

Other witnesses yesterday included Ronald Barnhart, Lawrence Hicks, Wayne Wright, Glenn Robinson and Humpe Butts, regarding gambling and pin-ball games in the Penfield area.

Convention Experience

Another ex-Gut-Eye likes to tell us an experience at the national Democratic convention at Houston in 1928.

Tom Hickman, then chief of Texas Rangers in charge of policing the convention, approached Gut-eye after he had been to-ed out of the convention hall seven times. How did I keep you out? Hinchman asked.

Handcuff me to a bench outside. I imagine that might do it, Conolly replied. And that's what Hickman did.

In a few minutes I picked up the bench, marched with it to the convention door and told the doorkeeper I was delivering it inside. There Captain Hickman found me, got a hearty laugh and gave me the run of the floor. Connolly relates with glee.

On the Harden-Simmons university campus Conolly is a stop-over. Connolly spoke at the student chapel. "Do as I tell you not as I do" was the theme of his talk.

MUCH CONCERN OVER SHOOTING; RUMANIAN TOWN

May Be Regarded As an International Incident

Bucharest, March 21—(AP)—The shooting of a German citizen by a Jew at Brasov caused concern today in the Rumanian capital, where King Carol has taken 'the lead in a Balkan struggle to escape complete German political and economic domination.

The German was reported in a grave condition.

Some sources believed Germans might regard the shooting at Brasov, which is 100 miles northwest of Bucharest, as an "international incident."

The wounded German, Dr. Hjalmar Kraatz, had gone to a Jewish community home at Brasov, reports from that city said, and an argument between him and the doorman's wife developed, whereupon her husband appeared and shot him. Dr. Kraatz was taken to a hospital.

Officials meanwhile said trade discussions with Germany would not be concluded for several days. Rumania, they said, has not granted Germany any monopolistic rights, but instead will adhere to a free commercial policy.

Prepared To Defend

As for Hungary, Germany's anti-comintern pact partner, authorities said Rumania's relations with that state were "as good as can be expected." However, a spokesman added that Rumania was prepared to defend every inch of her territory and regarded the present frontier with Hungary as final.

By maneuvering in which Britain was persuaded to buy larger quantities of Rumanian products, King Carol appeared today to have put the brake on Adolf Hitler's political drive into southeastern Europe.

Rumania seemed to have escaped German economic domination and Carol assumed the leadership of Balkan forces opposed to the Nazi political and economic penetration.

At the same time the king won another round in his long fight against the outlawed and Fascist-inclined iron guard which had been urging political cooperation with Germany.

News that London soon would send a trade mission to Bucharest overjoyed official circles there. It came after completion of a new Rumanian-German trade agreement. It was likely that ratification of the pact with Germany would be deferred.

British Economic Support

Officials said additional British economic support would help Rumania make up her mind on whether to cast her political lot with the western democracies or the totalitarian states. It was indicated that additional parleys might be lifted and parliament reassembled.

However, the prospect of an iron guard revival, at least for the time being, vanished overnight when the government took a strong hand in suppressing a so-called renewal of subversive activities.

A German language professor at Bucharest university, I. San Giorgiu, was arrested and the government refused to release Manolescu-Strugra, president of the Rumanian national bank, arrested several days ago on a charge of spreading disturbing rumors.

Manolescu-Strugra, a minister in previous Rumanian governments, was said to be a personal friend of Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Reichsfuehrer Hitler's chief aide.

San Antonio, Tex.—(INS)—Sheriff Will Wood of Bexar county has discovered truth in the old adage: "Always ask a little more than you expect to get." He submitted a request to his county commissioners' court for—an increase in salary for all county jailers; ten more deputies for general assignments; six for night motorcycle patrolmen; and a typewriter.

Commissioners' court granted only the purchase of a new typewriter.

Sign 16 Decrees

Paris, March 21—(AP)—France started quick reorganization of her national defense setup today with the first decree laws issued by the Daladier government under its new-by-won dictatorial powers.

The authorized 60-hour work week —the first product of the premier's new powers—was extended to railways, mines and numerous other industries.

Moving rapidly to whip French productive capacity into shape to match Germany's, the Daladier government announced also that a 60-work week longer than 60 hours may be authorized if found necessary.

A communique said that any person on relief who refused to accept work on national defense would be dropped from relief rolls for a year.

The 16 decrees, signed yesterday by President Albert Lebrun, and only signalled intensified production of war materials and a revamped military command system along the German frontier but authorized the government to call reservists to the colors.

Three of the 16 decrees, ordered published in this morning's official journal, were considered military measures; nine were for increased production, while the other four were "miscellaneous."

French political observers considered them but the first of a series designed to put France on an equal footing with totalitarian states in the rapid military tempo.

Withhold Texts of Measures

The newspaper Le Matin said the texts of none of the present measures, particularly those relating to army reorganization, would for not be published but would be legalized only by publication of their titles.

At the same time France, acting with Britain, redoubled diplomatic activities designed to check German expansion.

Diplomatic observers agreed that President Lebrun's state visit to London, starting today, would serve as the background for talks of far-reaching importance between the French and British foreign ministers, Georges Bonnet and Viscount Halifax, on means of rebuilding the anti-German bloc in eastern Europe.

SERIAL STORY

'MRS. DOC'

BY TOM HORNER

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CHAPTER XII

Alan ripped the envelope open, read the message quickly. He groaned.

"Bad news?" Emily asked solicitously. Alan handed her the telegram.

"LETTER RECEIVED," she read. "IMPORTANT THAT YOU COME AT ONCE TO SIGN CONTRACT. LEAVING FOR EUROPE AT NOON TOMORROW TO SERVE ON INTERNATIONAL COMMISSION ASSIGNING JEWISH PHYSICIANS OF VIENNA AND BERLIN HOSPITALS TO STAFFS OF AMERICAN MEDICAL SCHOOLS. EXPECT YOU BY NINE A.M. . . . WILLIAM PETERSON."

"What's so bad about that?" Emily queried. "You can catch the midnight train and be there in plenty of time. Sign the contract and we'll be ready to move any time Dr. Peterson says. . . . Why, Alan, what's the matter?"

"I can't go tonight!" he answered. "You can't go tonight!" Emily echoed. "Why?" She almost screamed the question.

"I can't leave. Mrs. Howland is in the hospital. Grandma Frank will live through the night. . . . I'll wire Dr. Peterson—"

"You will not," Emily ordered. "You'll call Farrell and tell him to look out for Grandma Frank and to take charge of Mrs. Howland. Then you'll catch that midnight train."

"No, Emily, I couldn't do that. These people have been counting on me. I'm not kidding myself that Farrell couldn't take care of them as well as I, but I owe it to them to stay here. Mrs. Howland engaged me because she had confidence in me, even after she had lost her first baby. She might have gone to a specialist in the city, but she didn't. And when I took the case, I gave my word that I'd be here when the baby came. She needs me tonight. I can't break my promise. And Grandma Frank—"

"Grandma Frank is going to die in spite of anything you can do."

"That's true . . . but please try to understand, Emily. I know Grandma Frank won't get well. She knows it too. When she dies I shall be beside her. I don't do much, I know. Make it a little easier, perhaps. Comfort the family.

"Maybe it sounds silly, but I know this is my duty. I've known Grandma Frank ever since I can remember. She used to give me cookies on my way to school. I've taken care of her and her whole Frank family ever since I came back to Sumner. Dad brought all her children. A Warren has stood beside the Franks in every crisis in their lives. I can't let them down now."

"This is no time for your 'knight in shining armor' philosophy," Emily broke in angrily. "You're too idealistic, Alan, too ethical. And what does it get you? Nothing! No one appreciates what you do, take the sacrifices you make. . . . Come on, be practical. Be human. Be a man!"

"I am trying to be a man," Alan said quietly. "I'm trying to be a doctor. I'm trying to be a good husband to you. I'm trying to be a friend to Grandma Frank. I'm trying to be a son to my own father. I'm trying to be a brother to Ted. I'm trying to be a good citizen of Sumner. I'm trying to be a lot of things, Emily, and I'm not succeeding very well at any of them. But I'm trying. I'm not a quitter. I'm not a coward. I'm not a deserter. I'm not a traitor. I'm not a—"

"Stop it!" Emily cried. "Stop it! You're driving me crazy. You're driving me to—to—I don't know what. I'm not myself. I'm not responsible for what I say. I'm not responsible for what I do. I'm not responsible for what I think. I'm not responsible for what I feel. I'm not responsible for what I am. I'm not responsible for what I'm going to be. I'm not responsible for what I'm going to do. I'm not responsible for what I'm going to say. I'm not responsible for what I'm going to think. I'm not responsible for what I'm going to feel. I'm not responsible for what I'm going to—"

"Emily!" His face was white.

"This can't go on." Emily sent on swiftly. "You can't go on forever—but you can have it without me!"

"What do you mean?" Alan's lips tried to set in a thin, hard line, but they quivered, involuntarily.

"I mean that we're through, Alan. I'm leaving. I'll arrange for the divorce—"

"Emily, what are you saying?" he shouted.

"You can have your patients—they mean more to you than I do."

"But they don't. You can't do this. Think what it means." Alan was finding control again. "Our life—our marriage. Think—think what you're doing."

"I have thought—I've done nothing but think—for months. I know what I'm doing. I don't belong here. I—"

The jingle of the telephone interrupted her. She paused as Alan answered.

"It's Mrs. Howland," he said as he turned to her again. "I'll be at the hospital."

Even now—Emily thought after he had gone—when his own marriage hangs in the balance, they call on him.

The telephone was still warm from his hand when Emily lifted it, called a number. After a long wait a man's voice answered.

"I want to speak to Eric Kane," Emily said.

"He's out on the dam. Can I have him call you?" the man shouted at her.

It's important that I speak to him immediately. Please call him," Emily replied. There was another prolonged wait. At last Eric answered.

"Oh, it's you, Emily. Sorry to keep you waiting. Having a little trouble—this rain—"

Eric, I'm leaving Alan." She spoke rapidly. "I'm going home. I need you, here, now. Will you come down tonight?"

Iowa Professor is Appointed to the New Judicial Post

Washington, March 21—(AP)—Wiley Blount Rutledge, Jr., dean of the University of Iowa law school, was nominated by President Roosevelt today to be an associate justice of the United States court of appeals of the District of Columbia.

This is a new position created by the last congress.

Dean Rutledge had been mentioned prominently for the vacancy on the United States supreme court, to which William O. Douglas, chairman of the securities commission, was nominated yesterday.

The Iowa professor, only 44 years old, has been dean of the university since 1935. A native of Cloverport, Ky., he studied at the Universities of Wisconsin, Indiana and Colorado.

He taught in Indiana and New Mexico high schools and after graduating from the University of Colorado practiced law at Boulder, Colo., before becoming an associate professor of law at that university.

He also taught at the Washington University school of law at St. Louis, where he was dean before going to the University of Iowa.

Attorney General Murphy recommended him for the local bench because of his "sound judicial temperament and character and integrity, a legal scholar of repute, broad and liberal in his viewpoint and a man eminently qualified for the post."

The District of Columbia court of appeals is one of the most important in the judiciary system, handling as it does many cases involving federal agencies and questions of constitutionality of federal laws.

Young Vancouver Sets Pace on the Pacific

THE intrepid explorer, Capt. George Vancouver, first saw the site of the city which today bears his name when he entered the beautiful harbor in the late years of the 18th century. But hardly could he have visualized the metropolis that was one day to rise as his monument. Vancouver itself, for that matter, scarcely saw its full future when it had its corporate beginning back in 1886. In 1901 it was only 29,432 in population. Today it numbers roughly 250,000.

This humming modern city is really Canada's gateway to the Orient. Through its exceptional port pass Canadian wheat, flour, copper, lead, zinc, paper, pulp, lumber, sealskins, canned and salt fish. Vancouver's grain elevators could accommodate the whole wheat crop of Alberta at one time. Such is the gauge of this port's facilities.

But Vancouver is not merely a shipping point. It is important for its metals foundries, shingle, saw, paper and pulp mills, for its sugar refineries, clothing and food factories and for its shipbuilding. It is, moreover, British Columbia's largest city and therefore its axis of trade at the end of the trans-continental railways.

Its harbor is one of the most beautiful in the world. Across the harbor from Vancouver is Victoria, the capital of the province. The harbor is shown above on a current Canadian stamp, one of four pictorials portraying the history and significance of the Dominion.

TRIBE MAY FALL SHORT OF '38, TALBOT THINKS

By GAYLE TALBOT

New Orleans, March 21.—(AP)—A fat two-day study of the Cleveland Indians has convinced me they will need plenty of luck to finish as high in the coming American league race as they did in the last, when they wound up third after barking in the latter stages.

I'm pretty certain I saw three clubs in Florida—New York, Boston, and Detroit—that will take the Indians' measure. Their once great pitching staff is beginning to fall apart, and they still are inadequate at second base and shortstop. Oscar Vitt, their manager, is a lot quieter than he was a year ago.

Believes Allen Through

The Indians for the past several seasons have been able to count upon Mel Harder, Johnny Allen and Bob Feller to give them brilliant pitching on about three days out of four. This was a truly fine "big three." But now it looks to me like they've lost Allen, and that's a blow they can't survive.

Allen hurt his arm pitching in the last all-star game at Cincinnati and wasn't worth a cent to the club after that, dropping something like eight out of nine starts. During the winter they slit open his elbow and removed one of those "spurs" that have become so fashionable with our tossers.

Even if by some miracle the wing finally comes back completely, Allen won't be ready to pitch before the first of May, and then only in relief roles for a while. By that time I'm afraid the American league parade will have swept on past the Injuns.

Looks Like Feller Year

Harder still is a great pitcher, and I think the coming season will be the one in which the "kid," Bobby Feller, finally establishes himself alongside the Johnsons, the Alexanders and the Mathewsons. But it takes more than two pitchers to keep a club up there nowadays.

The team's veteran shortstop, Lyn Lary, a holdout, finally pulled in to camp yesterday and signed his 1939 contract, but his position seems to be occupied by Jimmy "Skeeter" Webb of Meridian, Miss. Webb is the frail-looking but sure-fielding player who was taken away from the St. Louis Cardinals in that general housecleaning by Commissioner Landis just a year ago.

Test Tony Today to See If He's Fit to Fight Bomber

New York, March 21.—(UP)—A fat fellow named Tony Galento, who is equally well known as Two-Ton-Tony and the Newark Nightstick, will bare his hirsute chest today to official stethoscopes which are expected to determine whether he will be a physically fit opponent for Joe Louis some three months hence.

Tony, who leaped aboard the water-wagon 24 hours ago, pronounced himself in the best of condition of his career before he ambled into the New York athletic commission's office puffing on a big black stogie at noon.

Promoter Mike Jacobs wants to send Tony and Joe into Yankee stadium the last week in June to fight for the heavyweight title, and the commission just wants to be sure it is not condemning a cripple.

Three specialists, commanded by Commission Physician Dr. William Walker, will cover every inch of the fighting Falstaff's 235 pounds. Stethoscopes, fluoroscopes, X-ray machines, blood-pressure apparatus, and vision cards have been assembled for the afternoon's work.

Bradley Alumni to Practice Tonight

Bradley high school alumni stage a practice tonight for their basketball game Thursday night with Bradley high school five, a state tournament finalist last week. The game is part of a celebration planned for the Bradley preps in honor of their being the first Kankakee county team ever to reach the state finals.

Catching a Few Off First:

By ORREN ALLAIN

What manner of man is this A. R. Trout, who confides the professional-shooting Centralia basketball team that dashed Bradley's hopes in the first round of the state tournament last week? That's the question cage fans hereabouts have been hurling at this department ever since last Thursday night about 8 o'clock.

* * *

Trout is the dean of Illinois high school coaches. . . His record probably stands without equal in the state, all things considered. . . He has won two state titles, 14 regional and seven sectional championships in this time. . . Trout is an Indiana man and worked his way through college doing odd jobs around the campus, and cooking his own meals. . . What are the secrets of Trout's system?

* * *

Nothing more than selecting boys who can hit the basket, who are fast and who can cover all over the floor. . . There is no complicated system. . . The boys play like they enjoyed it, and were really having some fun. . . Racing, tearing, shooting way up in the air, in the rafters. . . Old fashioned, you may say, but the Grand Old Man of southern Illinois is still getting results, and that's what they pay off on. . .

* * *

Nelson Potter, Philadelphia Athletics' pitcher, is a press feeder during the off-season and spends only six more months to go on his apprenticeship. . . Meetings to organize church and industrial softball leagues here will be held late this month, Secretary J. E. Robertson of the "Y" said today. . . Candidates for Villanova's spring grid are strengthening their leg muscles by running up and down the steps of Villanova stadium. . .

* * *

Johnny Lyons, the bowling manager, is moving around again after a serious throat infection. . . Wise: Pete Laffey, Bradley high school basketball coach, was asked yesterday how they treated him in Champaign during the state tournament. James replied, "Everybody was swell to us, except Centralia." . . . Members of the Bradley squad put up in Patten during the tourney. . . In recognition of her support of Marquette basketball team, Mrs. Bill Chandler, wife of the varsity coach, has been awarded a coed's varsity "M" award. . .

* * *

Verle Davis, the Kankakee professional lightweight boxer who has been ailing with a broken bone in his hand, goes back into action in Chicago's White City this Friday night, providing a suitable foe can be dug up before Thursday. . . Jack Barry is starting his 19th season as Holy Cross baseball coach. . . The school is one of a very few colleges that makes money on baseball. . . Al Nettlow, nationally known lightweight boxer who frequently visits friends in Kankakee, has been ranked seventh best in the United States by the National Boxing Association.

* * *

A Pittsburgh court has restored his right name to Jockey Johnny Gilbert. . . From now on he's Johnny Dwyer. . . His name was changed when he was adopted. . . "Red" Sutherland, former Oak Park coach and a well known sports writer, stopped off in Bradley last week to give the Laffeymen a pep talk just before they left for the state tournament. . . Coach Hank Gowdy couldn't figure out why his Red Sox rookies gave him such snappy answers in his daily locker quiz. . . Later he discovered the boys had swiped his notebook the night before and memorized all the answers. . .

* * *

Kankakee will be represented in the American Bowling Congress in Cleveland by the following team: Harry Cheffer, B. E. Coates, Ray Hayes, Emil Martens, and Carl Schneider. . . This organization will enter the famous Budweiser club here Saturday night in a match game.

Italians Shine in Bowling Congress

Cleveland, March 21.—(UP)—While the sport of bowling is believed to have originated in Germany, it later taken over by the Germans—at its acme today in the American Bowling Congress are of Italian descent.

Most of the game's headliners are of Italian ancestry, including Milwaukee's Hank Marino; Cleveland's Skang Mercurio, New York's Joe Falcaro and Brooklyn's Andy Varipapa.

Yesterday another Italian shot up among the bowling leaders, when Jimmy Aprezia of Elizabeth, N. J., soared into the lead in the all-events division with a total of 1868. The Jersey kegler went to the front when he counted 668 on the team event; 627 doubles and 603 singles.

Booster teams again took charge of the big classic today and it was likely that the leaders would remain enthroned.

Finals Wednesday Night in Kroehler Cage

MILLS WILL FACE UPHOLSTERERS IN TITLE GAME

The Mills quipped the Cabinets 32 to 31 Monday night in the second half playoff of the Kroehler basketball league and thereby earned the right to face the Upholsterers, first half winners, at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in Bradley high school gymnasium for the league championship.

Last night's game, staged in Bradley high gym, was one of the best of a long season with every five having more than a four-point margin during any portion of the battle. The Cabinets led at the quarter 9 to 6 and at halftime 17 to 15, but trailed as the fourth period started, 22 to 20.

Nip and Tuck at Last

A nip and tuck final quarter followed with the lead changing hands many times. Casino led both teams in scoring with 14 points on five field baskets and four free throws.

On Friday night Kroehler varsity plays the Naperville Kroehler team on the latters court in the second of a three-game series to determine the inter-plant champion Kankakee winner the last two years, lost the first game played here Feb. 24.

North, South Open Begins Today; Pros Near End of Trail

Pinehurst, N. C., March 21.—(AP)—A lot of folks wonder why some of golf's professionals can wander to all corners of the United States—a rather expensive bit of wandering—without collecting much of the dough put up as prizes.

The answer can't be found easily. It seems they just manage to get by, some way or another. No names could be mentioned, but some of the older fellows in the game recalled today instances where some of the touring pros actually had gone without meals.

Big Vic Ghezzi, of Deal, N. J., on hand hopeful of walking off with the top prize in the $4,000 north and south open as he did there a year ago, gave an idea of how expensive the golf traveling really is.

Vic joined the professionals on the winter tour in Texas. He is a pretty fair golfer as they come and he figured his efforts this far had cost him $650 despite winnings of small amounts in four tournaments.

The professional brigade, nearing the end of the winter trail, squared off today in the first 18-hole round of the north-south.

Blake Chief Scorer in National Hockey

Montreal, March 21.—(UP)—Hector (Toe) Blake, speedy left winger for Montreal Canadiens, was crowned point-maker of the National Hockey league today.

Blake was second in goals, but his 23 assists gave him a total of 47 scoring points for the 1938-39 season. Roy Conacher of Boston's Champion Bruins scored the most goals, 26, but with only 11 assists, he ended up in a four-way tie for 10th place with 37 points.

"Red" Horner of Toronto again was the league's leading bad man, with a total of 85 minutes in the penalty box.

"PAUL BUNYON" PRESIDE

Corvallis, Ore.—(INS)—A gigantic figure of "Paul Bunyon," approximately 20 ax handles high will tower over festivities of the Forestry clubs' annual banquet at Oregon State college. The famed, legendary woodsman will be rushed to completion in time for the twelfth annual affair.

Refuses To Be Caught Napping

Back to first base in a cloud of dust goes Augie Galan, Chicago Cub's left fielder, to beat a Pittsburgh attempt to pick him off the bag in an exhibition game at Los Angeles. Gus Suhr awaits the throw. The Cubs won, 9-6. They play each other today.

STANLEY CUP PLAYOFFS START TONIGHT; BRUINS ARE FAVORED

By United Press

The Stanley cup playoffs, "world series" of ice hockey, begin tonight with six teams going into action on three fronts.

In series "A" between the first and second place clubs, the Champion Boston Bruins tackle the runnerup Rangers at New York in the first game of a best-of-seven series that will send the winner to the cup final. The Bruins, who set five new records for a 48-game schedule in winning the 1938-39 league title, are favored at 7-5 although the betting is even on tonight's game.

In series "B" the third-place Maple Leafs entertain the fourth-place New York Americans at Toronto. Series "C" sends the fifth-place Detroit Red Wings against the sixth-place Canadiens at Montreal. These are best-of-three series with the winners meeting in a semi-final playoff to determine the finalist.

The playoff schedule follows:

Series "A" Boston vs. New York Rangers, best-of-seven.

March 21 at New York, March 23 at Boston, March 26 at Boston, March 28 at New York, and (if necessary) March 30 at Boston.

April 1 at New York, April 2 at Boston.

(Winner qualifies for final.)

Series "B" Toronto vs. New York Americans, best-of-three.

March 21 at Toronto, March 23 at New York, and (if necessary) March 25 at Toronto.

(Winner meets "C" winner in semi-finals for right to meet "A" winner.)

Series "C" Detroit vs. Montreal, best-of-three.

March 21 at Montreal, March 23 at Detroit, and (if necessary) March 26 at Detroit.

(Winner meets "B" winner in semi-finals for right to meet "A" winner.)

Oregon, Oklahoma Battle for Place in Basket Finals

San Francisco, March 21.—(AP)—University of Oregon's Pacific Coast conference champions clash with a powerful University of Oklahoma team tonight to decide a western division winner to play Ohio State at Chicago March 27 for the National Collegiate Athletic association championship.

Oregon whipped University of Texas 56 to 41, in last night's semi-finals, and Oklahoma, co-champion of the Big Six, eliminated Utah State Agricultural college, 50 to 39.

Marsh Club Shoot Aids Federation; High Scores Made

The Kankakee Marsh Skeet Gun club, in accordance with many other programs which are to be held throughout the United States during this week, held a national wildlife shoot at its club Sunday for the purpose of aiding the wildlife federation in the preservation, protection, and restoration of wild game animals. Although the day was rather cold and windy a large number of shooters turned out to take part in the shoot.

Scores were good considering the conditions under which they were obliged to shoot and more than one of the more experienced and seasoned shooters bore a grim look on his face while the tricky clay pigeons zipped through the air dipping and diving under the influence of the air currents. The shoot was divided into six classes according to the average classification of the National Skeet Shooting association.

High gun of the shoot was won by Marvin Shoup, class A, when he broke 45 out of a possible 50 targets. In the other classes Lou Jessen, with 43-50, won the B class chevron, Dr. Harry Danforth of Cissna Park copped the C class, with 38-50, Rod Channon of St. Anne walked off with the D class honors, while tieing the score of Dr. Danforth, and then Hank Williams took the E class chevron with a 40-50.

The F class chevron was won by P. Kurp, when he knocked 31 of the 50 targets off the shelf. The way things look the Kankakee club has a good chance of taking the honors again this year at the Illinois state shoot in September.

Philadelphia Hit by Legion Leader for 'Hogging Game'

Washington, March 21.—(AP)—The contract under which Philadelphia plays host to the annual Army-Navy football game was called "manifestly unfair" to the rest of the nation by an Illinois American Legion official yesterday.

F. M. Libonati of Chicago, a member of the Legion's Americanism committee, asked Rep. Church (R-Ill) in a letter whether the Army and Navy athletic associations had "the right to bind these service elevens" for a long-term contract.

Libonati wrote Rep. Church that Philadelphia "should not be permitted to 'hog' this game."

The congressman indicated the Illinois group would ask Philadelphia's consent to change the contract to permit the game to be played in Chicago this year. He also said he understood a Chicago group intended to seek the President's support.

Russell Rise Puts Collins in Danger

Los Angeles, March 21.—(INS)—Hoosier Glen Russell's fine showing at first base has given rise to uncon firmed reports the Chicago Cubs will trade Ripper Collins to Phil Cavaretta's apparently is set as regular first sacker with Russell a likely spare. The Cubs plan to send Lary French and Newel Kimball against Pittsburgh today. The Bucs have lost four straight and have trouble keeping the crowd interested at San Bernardino yesterday.

Kuhel's Comeback Heartens Mr. Dykes

Pasadena, Calif., March 21.—(AP)—Manager Jimmy Dykes of the Chicago White Sox is elated over Joe Kuhel's comeback after a poor season. Joe got a homer and single against Pittsburgh yesterday and is playing a fine defensive game.

Loyola Advances Into Cage Finals Against LIU Five

New York, March 21.—(AP)—Two of the nation's top court teams, Loyola of Chicago and Long Island university, will meet Wednesday night in the final of the invitation tournament sponsored by the Metropolitan Basketball Writers association in Madison Square Garden.

Their two furthered their unblemished records last night in one of the fiercest doubleheaders of Madison Square Garden history. Loyola downed St. John's of Brooklyn, 39 to 46, in an overtime period, and L. I. U. whipped Bradley Tech of Peoria, Ill., 36-32.

Long Island U., which now has won 23 straight, played just hard enough to beat Bradley. In the end it was the horde of Blackbird substitutions, fresh and capable, that turned the tide. Bradley, out of it in the first half, came on hard in the second but the stronger L. I. U. reserves turned them back.

Mike Novak, Loyola's six-foot eight-inch center, and Wibskauz, a will o' the wisp forward, paced the Chicago quintets attack. Novak with 20 points. They had to play plenty too, for after being generally outchased in the first half St. John's came back fast in the second and played the Chicagoans off their feet. They tied the score at 34-45 after a series of long arc shots by Ralph Dolgoff and John Garfinkel had pierced the Loyola defense.

They didn't have enough to win however. A hook field goal by Novak plus a heady rain of successful foul shots pushed Loyola well ahead in the overtime.

$50,000 for Louis If He Will Fight Stadium's Winner

Chicago, March 21.—(RN Special)—James D. Norris, Jr., young Chicago sportsman who is making a strenuous effort to bring boxing back to the Windy City on a larger scale than it has known for years, said when he re-opens the doors of the Chicago stadium March 31, with a 10-round bout between Bob Pastor and Maurice Strickland, leading heavyweight contenders, is prepared to offer Joe Louis, world's champion, a guarantee of $50,000 to meet the winner in the stadium some time in May.

Pastor got the blessing of the National Boxing association as No. 2 challenger for the heavyweight crown in the association's latest ratings which were released from the national headquarters in Washington, D. C., last Sunday, while Strickland was placed sixth in the same listing. This state of affairs, have spurred on young Norris, who now appears to have as good a heavyweight attraction in the Pastor-Strickland match as any other heavyweight battle to lead up to a title affair with Joe Louis.

Mike Jacobs the New York promoter who has been dominating the heavyweight situation ever since he tied-up Louis, is depending on either Max Baer, the ex-heavy champ and Lou Nova, the young Californian who meet in New York, May 25th as a possible Louis foe.

Nova, Baer, and Tony Galento, the Newark fatman are allied with Jacobs, but with Pastor and Strickland moving into the picture it looks as though Norris will have something to say in producing a suitable and logical opponent for the Negro champion.

WAR INDUSTRY ON A 64-HOUR BASIS; FRANCE

Army Conscripts To Be Held to the Colors

By RALPH HEINZEN

Paris, March 21 —(UP)— Premier Edouard Daladier, acting under emergency powers, announced today that the class of army conscripts due for release in April would be held with the colors. At the same time he put war industries on a 64 hour a week basis to ensure a big increase in production.

As President Albert Lebrun neared the shores of England for a four day state visit to King George, Daladier moved rapidly to strengthen the country's position in view of the dangerous European situation.

Army Staff Increased

By his order that April conscripts were to remain under the colors, he will increase the army by 90,000 men. But further, he increased the permanent army staff by 422 officers, to a total of 31,060, and added 2,500 non-commissioned officers. He increased the length of the training period for reservists from 15 to 40 days for enlisted men and from 21 to 50 days for officers.

As a compensation to organized labor for the increase in the working week, the government provided a bonus of 10 per cent for wages between the 40th and 45th working hours each week, and an additional five per cent for wages between the 46th and 60th hour.

Jobless men on the relief rolls were ordered to take jobs in war factories.

A special decree divided the vital Metz area near the German frontier into two military regions, each with its own commander-in-chief.

Army Controls Industries

Another decree made the commanders of the Metz, Lyons and Strasbourg areas military governors and thus gave the army absolute control over all industrial and civil activities in those regions.

It was provided that the ministry of war should start at once creating a new native division in Morocco, to consist of picked men.

Navy Minister Cesar Campinchi signed an order to start construction of four 1,772 torpedo boats as part of the 1938 supplementary program.

The finance ministry, following the lead of Great Britain, ordered Czech accounts in France blocked until further notice.

President Lebrun's last official act before he left for London was to sign decrees authorizing today's action and giving the cabinet blanket authority to put France on a war footing by ordering industrial and partial military mobilization under the near dictatorial powers granted by parliament.

WALKS 4 MILES IN SLEEP

Yakima, Wash.—(INS)—Clad only in a nightgown and a pair of stockings, a 16-year-old girl walked four miles from home in her sleep and roused a slumbering family to tell them a bizarre story of being kidnapped amid a hail of gunfire. Investigation by police revealed that the harrowing story had been a nightmare. Her family told of the girl's frequent wanderings in her sleep, but she had never before gone so far from home.

Archaeological research indicates the great flood described in the bible probably occurred about 4,000 B. C.
