KING GEORGE II ABANDONS ATHENS

Opposition Is Developing To New Tax Plan

Legislators Cool To Heavy Increases On Lower Incomes

Washington, April 23 (AP)—The evidence appeared today of developing opposition to the treasury's specific plan for collecting from two to six times as much income tax from taxpayers in the low and middle brackets.

First of a program to raise $3,600,000,000 in new federal revenue, the specific proposal would impose a surtax of new and higher rates on everyone who pays a penny of income tax.

The plan, if adopted, would have the effect of putting a rate as high as 10 per cent on the $2,000 bracket of taxable income compared with the present rate on this bracket of four per cent, plus 10 per cent of that tax added as a special defense levy.

Figuring the normal or basic income tax of 4.4 per cent (four per cent plus 10 per cent for defense), a 10 per cent earned income credit is allowed. But in computing the proposed 11 per cent surtax on the $2,000 bracket no earned income credit would be deductible.

16.5 Per Cent

The first tax applied in the $2,000 bracket, therefore, would be 12.1 per cent (11 per cent surtax plus 10 per cent defense levy). The 4.4 per cent normal tax would become effective on amounts exceeding the earned income credit, to make the total tax on the remainder of the bracket come to 16.5 per cent.

For example, a childless married couple with a net income from salaries or wages of $2,500, would have a personal exemption of $2,000, leaving $500 taxable. The surtax would be 12.1 per cent of $500 or $60. The normal tax would be 4.4 per cent of $250 ($500 minus the earned income credit of 10 per cent of $2,500) or $11. The total tax, which includes the 10 per cent defense levy, would be $71.50.

Under present law the tax would be 4.4 per cent of $250 or $11.

It was estimated that these higher rates would yield an estimated $2,100,000,000 of the new revenues sought. Other levies would produce the remainder.

Surtaxes

In normal times, surtaxes are something that cause no concern to the taxpayers in the lower brackets. At present an individual does not have a taxable income of more than $4,000 before he has to pay income tax. If the treasury program is adopted, however, the surtax and the basic tax would apply simultaneously to the very first dollar of taxable income.

Both the current and the proposed income rates include the 10 per cent defense supertax—or tax-on-a-tax—imposed by congress last

Claim Real Estate Contract Broken

Claiming that Gus Neckopulos and his wife Mary, 419 South Harrison avenue, failed to complete a contract to trade real estate, T. P. Collins and J. Bert Fraser filed suit against them today for the circuit court.

Collins alleges that the contract contained a stipulation that the defendants were to pay $1,000 if the contract was defaulted and he is suing for $1,500. Fraser seeks brokerage fees of $440.

The plaintiffs are represented by Attorney Vernon G. Butz.

U. S. Observer Killed

The war department said Colonel Gerald Brower (above), 47, a United States military air observer, was killed in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan "in an airplane accident." Born in Brooklyn, N. Y., Colonel Brower entered the army in 1916. He served in the world war and was later at Ellington field, Houston, Tex.; Kelly field, Texas; McCook field, Ohio and Selfridge field, Mich.

Nazi Prisoners Are Warned To Keep Out Of U. S.

No Haven Here After Escaping From Canadian Camps Says Uncle Sam

Washington, April 23 (AP)—The United States put a stern new "keep out" policy into effect today for German prisoners of war who seek a haven here after escape from Canada.

The action followed the disclosure that Franz Von Werra, Nazi war flier who escaped three months ago from Canada, had jumped bond of $15,000 and fled the United States for Peru.

Orders Borders Closed

Von Werra's bond, posted by the German consulate in New York covered deportation proceedings and a charge connected with his illegal entry January 25 into this country at Ogdensburg, N. Y.

Attorney General Jackson ordered the borders closed to escaped prisoners last night.

Hereafter, Jackson directed, all escaped prisoners reaching the border must be turned back with "any force reasonably necessary." If one should be apprehended after slipping through, the attorney general added, under no circumstances should he be released in the custody of consular officials.

Used Ship to Escape

Jackson did not reveal any details of Von Werra's flight but it was reported that he left on a Swiss passport after going to the south for a "vacation" with a German consular officer.

From Canada, meanwhile, came indications that the Nazi aviator had used a ship to escape. Col. Hubert Stethem, director of internment operations for the dominion, said that Canadian and British authorities would be prepared "to send a destroyer" in an attempt to intercept the ship on which Von Werra was believed enroute to Peru.

Crushing Defeat At Thermopylae Declare Nazis

Claim Panzer Units Pursuing British In The Direction Of Athens

Berlin, April 23—(AP)—Authorized sources declared today the German army had inflicted a crushing defeat on the British rear guard at Thermopylae and asserted that at least 250,000 Greeks had surrendered to axis forces in the Epirus sector.

Claiming axis domination of all Greece north of Thermopylae, a German spokesman declared that "the conquest of all Greece is practically effected."

"What remains of the Greek action is the energetic pursuit of the British who are desperately trying to escape," the military informant said.

British Losses

He asserted that British losses already were approaching those of the retreat from the Flanders plains at Dunkerque, France, 11 months ago.

"Another Dunkerque is in full swing," he said.

Nazi panzer units already have passed through the historic gateway of Thermopylae and are pursuing the retreating British relentlessly in the direction of Athens, these sources declared.

A less expansive communique of the high command, however, said simply that moves in Greece were "proceeding according to plan" and that "forces advancing by way of Lamia, further south compelled English rear guards to fight at historic Thermopylae pass."

From 16 to 18 divisions, constituting the best of the Greek army, were said to have thrown down their arms in an unconditional capitulation on the Epirus front.

May End Campaign In Greece

The Germans, recalling that Greece's Macedonian and Thracian armies already had been polished off, asserted there was so little left of the Greek fighting forces that full capitulation rather than an armistice probably will end the campaign in Greece.

They expressed confidence that only small contingents of Britain's Grecian expeditionary force would see home again.

"Only the weather and God," they added, could save the British from annihilation.

"Our scouts are watching every bay and every harbor in Greece so that our Stukas are likely to catch whomever escapes our ceaselessly onrushing land forces.

"Of course if the weather becomes so bad that visibility is very poor

Recover Body Of Man Drowned Last Saturday

Fred Hyer, 387 West Court street, veteran riverman, yesterday afternoon recovered the body of William Ellsworth, 48, of near St. Anne, who was drowned in the Kankakee river Saturday afternoon.

Using a drag equipped with barbed hooks, he located the body only a few feet from where it went down in front of the Joseph Zopf cottage three and a half miles northwest of Kankakee. He was assisted by Louis Stentz at the oars of a rowboat.

The body was found in about 12 feet of water near the center of a huge whirlpool near the mouth of Little Hawkins creek where Ellsworth fell from a boat while setting a night line.

The body is at the Rehr funeral home. Coroner Ed P. Madison was to conduct the inquest today.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Rehr funeral home at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon after which the body will be sent to Earl Park, Ind., for burial.

"Loser" Judged Winner In Election Suit

Watseka, April 23—(RN Special)—Following a hearing in the election contest for town clerk in Papineau township, County Judge Stephen C. Malo today declared Fred Ruebensam, Republican, the victor over Ed Lottinville, Democrat incumbent.

Results posted following the election three weeks ago indicated Lottinville winner by 74 votes to 71.

Ruebensam, however, contested on the ground that all of the 58 ballots thrown out were not spoiled. He claimed that his petition of candidacy was rejected on a technicality and his name not printed on the ballot, forcing his adherents to write in his name.

Judge Malo declared Lottinville defaulted and Ruebensam elected by 80 votes to 74.

Biggest And Most Spectacular Bombardment Of Naval History

By LARRY ALLEN

With the British Battle Fleet Bombarding Tripoli, Libya, Monday, April 21—(Delayed)—(AP)—The guns of Britain's Mediterranean battle fleet set Tripoli harbor aflame today in what officers said was the biggest and most spectacular bombardment of naval history.

They pumped more than a thousand tons of high explosives into the Barbary coast base of the Germans and Italians.

Fifteen-inch, six-inch and 4.5-inch projectiles from the battleships rumbled over the high-bastioned Moorish walls of Mussolini's last big African stronghold, starting great fires, crushing enemy striking bases like egg-shells and terrorizing the population.

The guns' scorching firing continued steadily for 42 minutes from 5 a. m., repeatedly scoring direct hits.

I was aboard the most powerful battleship of the fleet, close to the streaks of flame from her powerful guns. They turned blackness into light and the one-ton shells rumbled through the night with a noise like a rushing subway train.

Seafront Seemed Ablaze

The huge shells exploded on Tripoli with shattering force and the entire seafront seemed ablaze.

Shells ripped into the heart of each of the battleships' designated targets. Six axis ships, including several warships, were hit and damaged severely—possibly sunk.

Tripoli's railroad station, freight yards and power plant burst into a mass of flames as armor-piercing shells crashed into underground oil deposits.

As sheets of fire spurted high into the sky, salvos crashed into the axis naval headquarters buildings, destroying them as though they had been made of cardboard.

The surprise bombardment of Il Duce's heaviest fortified African possession, once the base of Tripoli pirates and now the jumping-off place of Hitler's legions thrusting against Egypt, opened a few minutes after a wave of bombers handed Tripoli one of the severest bombardments of the war.

Huge, darkened British battleships, cruisers and destroyers, faintly silhouetted in the moonlight, splashed quietly through a calm sea, maneuvering around a network of mines, until they came within point-blank range of Tripoli harbor.

I stood on a battleship signal deck and then an emergency conning tower for fully 90 minutes before the shelling started and watched Tripoli's heavy anti-aircraft guns spurt flame, trying to hit bombing planes.

Spectacular Scene

Splinters of fire seared into the sky. I saw thousands of tracer "flaming onions" slither snakelike into the darkness from the defense bases. Red, blue, green and white bursts of bullets merged into a scene reminiscent of a Christmas tree. Hollywood couldn't have touched it.

I saw scores of heavy and high explosive bombs crash along Tripoli's harborline. Fires mushroomed. Some defense batteries which for a time seemed to fire from their circular positions ceased. The darkness was splashed with great blobs of ruddy light from explosion of the British missiles.

German and Italian anti-aircraft guns failed to hit the British planes.

More high-explosive bombs plunged down and then British planes doused Tripoli with thousands of incendiary bombs and flew away.

The incendiaries provide just what the battlefleet needed in the way of illumination. The fires, along with long-burning flares, brightly outlined the important targets.

Flashes from shore batteries had ceased, except for two guns, by the time the battlefleet moved into broadside position.

Greco-British Forces Facing Grim Prospects

Will Carry On Despite Dire Adversity Declares Monarch

BULLETIN

Rome, April 23 — (AP) — The Greek front correspondent of Il Giornale d'Italia reported today that British troops had begun to embark at Piraeus and other Greek ports as the Germans approached within 35 miles of Athens.

La Tribuna, another Rome newspaper, said that "British which were cut off were surrendering while the remainder of the expeditionary force was fleeing toward embarkation ports."

Reuters, British news agency, said in a dispatch tonight from Cairo it was reported reliably that temporary easing of German pressure in Greece had enabled the British to consolidate their new positions.

Athens, April 23 — (AP) — King George II of Greece abandoned Athens with his government today in an attempt to continue the fight from Crete after his army of Epirus, holding the left flank of the allied defense line, capitulated under the hammering of German-Italian forces.

The capitulation, which the king said was negotiated without his knowledge, rendered precarious the position of the remainder of the Greek army and of British troops last reported battling Nazi panzer divisions seeking to force a way through historic Thermopylae pass on the eastern end of the Hellenic front.

The fate of the British was uncertain, but it appeared they faced the alternatives of abandoning Greece altogether or undertaking an equally hazardous retreat through Athens to the Peloponnesus.

To Carry on Struggle

Despite the desperate outlook, King George announced it was his intention to carry on the struggle "with all remaining forces with a view to securing the supreme national interests."

It was not clear immediately here how many of Greece's fighting men (estimated by some sources at about 600,000 at the start of the war) had surrendered.

It was the army of Epirus, however, which scored the great suc-

Building Booms In This Territory

Booming building construction in Illinois for the first three months of this year, particularly in Chicago and the northeastern part of the state, was noted today by the state labor department.

The gains in the first quarter for 163 cities were in excess of 20 per cent over the same period a year ago.

In Kankakee during March, 40 permits were issued totalling $76,050.

Boston Evening Transcript To Suspend Publication

Boston, April 23—(AP)—The Boston Evening Transcript, one of New England's outstanding newspapers during its 111-year history, announced at noon today that it would suspend publication April 30.

Richard N. Johnson, the publisher, said in an editorial statement that the paper's "five-cent price in the sharply competitive two-cent Boston field had failed to produce the necessary revenue to continue."

20 Fast Motor Torpedo Boats On Their Way To Aid Britain

Washington, April 23—(AP)—Secretary Knox said today that about 20 fast motor torpedo boats were ready for delivery to Great Britain as a part of the lend-lease program, and possibly were on the way now.

Knox said the boats, capable of speeds of more than a mile a minute, were to be shipped across, rather than undertaking the trans-Atlantic trip under their own power.

The navy had 28 available, Knox said, and the British were supplied from these. Other "mosquito" craft, mostly of a type 70 feet long and able to speed 70 or more miles an hour, are under construction.

Knox told his press conference also that the navy was negotiating with Canada for construction in Canada of a number of warships, probably of the new British corvette type, such as are used to escort convoys.

Any combat ships Canada would build for the U. S. navy, Knox said, might be turned over to Great Britain under the lease-lend system. The decision, he said, would be made when they neared completion.

Aside from providing Canada with needed dollar exchange, Knox said the arrangement would tend to reinforce United States construction.

He said the arrangement was projected as a part of the cooperative program worked out last weekend between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada.

To questions about American aid to Britain and the battle of the Atlantic, Knox said he understood that the larger and faster cargo ships had been seeking independently to run the gauntlet of Nazi U-boats and bombers for some time.

Knox said the United States, like "every nation in the world," suffered from a shortage of anti-aircraft guns but that mass production was starting on shorter-range weapons. He called the navy's new five-inch anti-aircraft gun the "best in the world."

1,000 American And Canadian Aircraft Handed Over To R.A.F.

London, April 23—(AP)—Lord Beaverbrook, British minister of aircraft production, told the house of lords today that "nearly 1,000 assembled American and Canadian aircraft have been handed over to the R. A. F."

Beaverbrook said that "up to this moment we have only lost one aircraft on the ferry service between America and this country."

Beaverbrook said the British admiralty had received "within the last few days 95 aircraft by sea, 355 tone of airplane parts and 326 engines."

"Five new types of engines have been brought into use, of which the sabre is perhaps the greatest engine produced," he said.

The "flow of aircraft from America is increasing rapidly," Beaverbrook declared.

"I am pleased to say with authority that they are fine machines and that they are ready to fly and fight.

"Of five principal operational types we have reserves now in storehouses scattered far and near—a reserve total equal to the total operational strength. That is 100 per cent reserve."

"Do not suppose that we are satisfied with this reserve," the minister of aircraft production added.

"We think the R. A. F. is entitled to a reserve of 200 or even 300 per cent and that ought to be the object and purpose of the aircraft industry."

British "fighter and bomber airplanes are being sent to America," Beaverbrook said.

"Practically all operational types are being sent out, some by sea and some by air. Very shortly, Americans will be in possession of every British type and will have available several types of engines."

Press Search For London Heirs To $30,000 Estate

Los Angeles, April 23 — (INS) — Somewhere in England—if they survived the bombings of London—is a family, members of which would receive a substantial part of an estate worth $30,000 if they could be found.

But so far all efforts to locate them have failed, and information at hand indicates that their home may have been bombed and all or a number of them killed, according to Attorney George Appell of Los Angeles.

The estate is that left by Sallie Cohen, old-time stage actress, who died in Los Angeles last March 20 at the age of 80, and the English beneficiaries are her son, whom she had not seen since he was a baby one year old, and his family, including his three sons and a daughter and also two of his grandchildren.

Miss Cohen—she used her maiden name, although she had been married twice—executed her will last July 2, and included the following bequests:

To her son, Willie Levy, $10.000 in cash plus an interest in a $5,000 trust; to his children, George Morris, Joshua and Dollie, $500 each, and to the two grandchildren, whose names she said she did not know—$1,000 each.

Punishment Is Always A Problem

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

Repeatedly I have uttered in this column that the baby should learn the meaning of No as soon as he begins to toddle. I favor moderate spanking for this purpose. I have also cited for whom love will not do it physical pain is necessary and how to administer it. I have even mentioned the use of a switch for the child of early years. But I am sorry to say that I have failed to make it clear that for an admitted period without punishment the child should be taught to understand that No means No. I have never advised spanking as a form of punishment for the child to do what you want him to do. Punishment for fixed forms of conduct the child should associate with what had happened. But the child should be taught to understand that No means No. Punishment is not necessary. Sometimes the best approach is through gentle persuasion. Sometimes the best approach is through firmness. Sometimes the best approach is through a combination of the two. Sometimes the best approach is through a combination of the two. Sometimes the best approach is through a combination of the two

Never Fuss With Back Of The Neck Infections

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

I am asked by one of my readers to advise a treatment of a small pimple on the back of the neck. She must be guarded very carefully because she has been told that it is dangerous to squeeze pimples and wants to know whether that is true or not.

It is potentially dangerous and that and that only should be treated with a great deal of respect. The back of the neck is particularly liable to pus infections. These come from the rubbing of the collar button at the hair line. The part of the body which receives the infection usually starts in a hair follicle and may be of little consequence or the most serious.

Treatment should, therefore, be to the infection as soon as possible and adapted to the production of quite serious infections.

The tissues are brawny and lymphatic drainage is peculiar. Little infections in this region may go on to cover with a piece of sterile gauze something more serious whereas in and put adhesive plaster along another part in the body they that the collar will not rub the inwould not amount to anything. They fected area. It may be necessary to may go on to large boils or carbuncle shave some hair but this should or, what is far more serious, a car- be done at this time as later buncle. A carbuncle is a pus infec- there will be considerable tendtion which burrows in channels ency to get worse. a doctor should along the skin and does not gather be called immediately. or point out in one place as a boil or furuncle does. It is, therefore, very much more difficult to drain it. A carbuncle also produces considerably more toxemia than a furuncle and has a tendency to spread and to invade the blood. It is one of the most serious of diseases which appears to be of a minor character in the beginning.

Furuncle and Carbuncle.

Both a furuncle and a carbuncle are later stages of the simple pimple. The simple may progress into either one of them.

The most important thing to remember about a pimple on the back is not to rub it. This must be guarded very carefully because the collar naturally rubs it and people have a perverse tendency to pay their fingers on a pimple and that and think they can make it go away by gentle massage. As a matter of fact this does nothing but spread it. Then every movement in sitting and out of clothes pulls at this part of the body which carries the infection usually starts in a hair follicle and may be of little consequence or the most serious.

If the condition above any applied an impetigo salve, which may be calculated vaccine or ammoniated mercury ointment to the pimple itself, not rubbing but simply applying the salve lightly. Then cover with a piece of sterile gauze and put adhesive plaster along so that the collar will not rub the infected area. It may be necessary to shave some hair but this should be done at this time as later there will be considerable tendency to get worse. a doctor should be called immediately.

When the skin is sensitive to soap, is there any way to clean it thoroughly that will not aggravate the eruption or dryness?

Soap when it irritates the skin, usually does so because of the free alkali present in the soap, or the types of fatty acid in the soap, or both. In soaps with a good deal of fatty acid, the acidity of the lather may be 10 against the normal range of the skin's 4 to 7 points.

The problem can be overcome by using preparations with a base of certain vegetable oils with fatty acids, with a reaction approaching that of normal skin. Several of these are on the market. Your druggist will know of them.

Coasting On The Job Is All In The Day's Work

Ingot, Ill., April 23 (U. P.)—Counting the jobs in all in the day's work of H. T. Wilkening as a construction worker at the Kankakee ordnance works, giant national defense project near here.

The more he counts, the better he loves likes it.

Wilkening has a little three-wheeled wagon, similar to a cripple's, and equipped by himself with a bicycle handle and horn and a dozen or so sections of the wagon are in the plant area.

Wilkening does his counting inside equipment 42 inches in diameter, which will be the plant's water main when completed. The pipe is 1-2 miles long.

Kneeling like a gnome, Wilkening rolls up and down inspecting the installation work from the inside as progresses. He makes certain the parts are set close enough together, and checks the tar compound coating applied inside the pipe.

Learning to ride a scooter as a boy, Wilkening said he never lost the knack and has found that type of vehicle the best type of work for several years—and likes it.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Washington, April 22—A Nazi subsent to the bottom of the Atlantic a few days back a British ship loaded with $5,000,000 worth of our needed strategic war material, rubber. This news was bad enough to the official circle (it did not get far outside) but when the Germans got a ship loaded with 2,000 of our airplane fuel pumps shortly thereafter, the War department generals wrung their hands collectively. Faced with one of the worst shortages in this line, all the generals can think of is there are 3,000 of their priceless pumps sitting on the bottom of the Atlantic.

Generally unknown events, such as these, are whetting the current government interest in convoying. That is the source of the greatest pressure at the moment.

Yet there is nothing like a preponderance of official sentiment in favor of trying to leap across that Rubicon. As Mr. Roosevelt said, most of those who are waiting for convoying do not know "a hill of beans" (his words) about the whole problem. The more intimate the knowledge of officials here, the less enthusiasm there is for hasty action.

Apparently there are many drastic steps the British themselves should take first, whether or not there is to be American convoying.

An outstanding British shipping source here is flatly convicting the British have been "muddy-minded" about protecting their shipments from us. His good people, he says, are still trying to do this the same way they did it in the last war. They still put slow ships in with the fast ones, holding down the speed of the entire convoy to the point where it is vulnerable to the slow submarines. They do not convoy all the way across. They have worked out no adequate air defense for around Ireland, although their bases are closer to the shipping lanes than the German bases in France. Trusting to luck, they have refused to concentrate sufficient forces of the fleet to give their convoys adequate protection.

Several moves to correct and perhaps cure the problem could be taken short or American convoying.

By mistake, it has leaked out our navy has been experimenting in making auxiliary aircraft carriers out of fast merchant ships to patrol sea skies. The U. S. Mormacmail, a passenger-freight ship, is being fitted with an overall landing deck. Such ships could accompany convoys and fight German bombers on the spot.

The British could limit their convoys to ships of the same slow speed, sending their faster ships across individually. They have plenty of freighters capable of making 18 to 20 knots, whereas 15 is tops for a sub. Steering a zigzag course, these fast freighters would be relative free of danger from anything except a sub which happened to come up in the right position ready to fire. We know they have such fast freighters because we sold them the Exmplar and the Nightingale, and some others.

Admiral Land, chairman of the Maritime commission, which is supplying the British with ships, publicly offered other remedies. He suggested best way to beat the submarine was to bomb their construction and repair stations continuously. He offered another "ameliorating influence," such as increase of ships in the patrol, complete trans-Atlantic protection, air patrols in the convoys.

Land frankly told the British we will only be adding more fuel to their huge bonfire problem bunched in the Atlantic by giving them more ships. At the time he was suspected of propagandizing for U. S. convoying, but it is possible he may have been trying politely to stir the British out of their stodgy naval ways into a more alert use of facilities they already possess.

"WHO'S BOSSIN' THIS JOB ANYWAY?"

"LUXURY" MODEL" by MAY CHRISTIE

CHAPTER XXVIII

There were two disgruntled people in the grounds of the Inn that night.

"Handsome" Carew and Lorraine Vandaveer were left to their own devices for a good half-hour at the table, and when the other couple returned they had eyes for no one but each other. That was evident. Lorraine was angry that she had permitted "Handsome" to order pate-de-foi-gras for her while Jimmy was gone. It was bad for one's figure, and she was not hungry. But eating would fill the awkward wait for the truants, and give her something to do. Since "Handsome" was so amusingly distrait. He kept turning in the chair and looking towards the Inn. She said to herself, "The fickle fool is worrying about Luana. What on earth are they doing?"

Probably telling each other tarradiddles about their missed appointment, she thought. Doubtless Luana was the woman with whom Jimmy had had an engagement for the evening. She was glad that it was the case, therefore.

But now it was not flattering to be left by her escort had gone!

When one stooped to conquer, this was one's reward. She was furious about it.

She could queer his pitch with Mr. Bronson, but wouldn't that be cutting off her nose to spite her face? In Paris she would make plenty of headway with young Handsome, but Rue de Rivoli was a long way off. As though she must justify her charms, and all the more so now that she realized she had a beautiful young rival to cope with.

She ate her pate-de-foi-gras and drank champagne. She joked with "Handsome" on his silence. Don't tell me that a case-hardened sheik like you is falling in love?"

He looked at her quizzically. "Just exactly what do you mean, Lorraine?"

That little sheppard. Quicker-brush's little model." She raised her plucked eyebrows and shrugged her shoulders. She hoped he would not miss the inference in the second phrase.

"That lovely child?"

He was shrewder than you think, my dear man. Under her prettiness, a gimlet screwed.

"Then more power to her," he said briefly, and turning, looked back at the Inn expectantly, which was less polite of him.

Lorraine decided she would change her tack.

"As a matter of fact, it was I who found her job for her. She's the protegee of mine."

"Which accounts for the shrewdness," he chuckled. He understood Lorraine. She had been trying to make a fool of the Handsome boy, and she was annoyed that he was not letting her down.

A thought struck him.

"I wonder if anything's happened to Jay?" He made as though to get up. "Maybe I better go back to the house and see?"

"Nonsense!" said Lorraine sharply. "You can't leave me alone out here. The girl's fixing her make-up, or phoning a boy-friend, or has run into some of her friends, as likely as not! If you're worried about her, send a waiter to find out what she's doing. Only it really isn't necessary."

He subsided. He had a glass of champagne.

Lorraine made herself extremely sweet to him, thereafter. They danced together. When they returned to the table, and still no Jimmy and Luana, she even tried to revive her old affair with him, reminiscing . . . as though one could arouse anything that was dead as a doornail!

The pate-de-fois-gras was finished, when the truant pair appeared. They made no apology, that was the queer part of it. And the glow on their faces was unmistakable.

However, give "Handsome" further opportunity with Luana, and the girl's charms would be driven to the background.

A shaft of sunlight caught them, so that they gleamed in faint beauty as with every color of the rainbow. They hypnotized Luana, lover and Lorraine. It entered the mind of each.

"Who could have sent me this flowers?"

There was but one person—Handsome. Faces had been on the table.

"I can't keep it. I mustn't keep it. It wouldn't be fair to Jimmy!"

But her heart sank, just the same. To be the possessor of this talisman of wealth—and give it up!

Luana told herself it wasn't beautiful, an intrinsic value that drew her, fascinated her, but because of its sheer beauty, its primitive loveliness.

It was as though two natures were warring within her.

Other girls in the shop had gifts from their admirers, and accepted them gladly, greedily, with no qualms of conscience.

Why should she be the exception? She told herself there was no strings tied to this gift, and knew she was wrong.

You could fool other people, but you couldn't fool yourself. Her face burned as she remembered Handsome's talk about you, Luana . . . he had whispered to her . . . a girl as beautiful as you should never have to work at all. Then—and her breath caught at the recollection—it could be arranged so easily. He had told her. She had stared straight ahead of her in his car, ignoring it.

But "Handsome's" words came back, even though she tried to justify her keeping of the brooch.

Yugoslav King And Government In Middle East

Refutes Previous Reports That He Had Fled To Jerusalem

London, April 23.—(AP)— Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told parliament today that 17-year-old King Peter of Yugoslavia and his government had "established themselves in the middle east" and would continue the struggle as allies of Britain.

"There have been unverified reports that Peter and his ministers arrived at Jerusalem after German armies had criss-crossed their nation.)

Eden said the Yugoslavs could count on "the fullest possible measure of help" from Britain, whose firm intention is "fully to maintain the independence of Yugoslavia."

The foreign secretary said "kid glove" tactics henceforth would not be used wherever Britain has "power and authority to take action."

Potential Menace

Asked about "increasing permeation of Germans to Iraq"—where the British landed troops last week ostensibly to protect oil fields—Eden replied that he was "well aware of the potential menace to our interests."

It was Sir Henry Morris-Jones who asked Eden if he would see to it "that no kid gloves and foreign office hypocritical politeness is shown German agents" in Iraq and demanded that they be cleared out of that country "bag and baggage—right away."

Eden stiffly answered him "I do not know whether Morris-Jones is applying these gentle epithets to me."

"If so," he continued, "I can assure him they will have no place in any action we may take where we have power and authority to take action."

"The battleship commander told me at that time "We shall open fire any moment."

Battleship Gun: Roar

Suddenly, a mighty flash of yellow flame flooded from the nearby flagship's 15-inch guns. Then a full salvo from the long, gray barrels of the lesser guns. Their targets were the Spanish fort, barracks and warehouses of Tripoli.

I braced myself, adjusted my steel helmet, jammed wads of cotton in my ears and fastened my life-belt.

In a few seconds, the guns of this battleship roared.

Yellowish flames from the four 15-inch forward guns swept back through the narrow observation slits of the conning tower.

The huge battleship shuddered. Bursts of fire made the conning tower as light as day and then everything went black before my eyes. The darkness cleared within a few seconds, just in time for me to catch the flashes of the 4.5-inch guns. At 8:42 o'clock the fleet was done with Tripoli for the present at least.

Opposition Is—

The treasury surtax schedule, it was reported authoritatively, already has encountered opposition in the staff of the joint congressional committee on internal revenue taxation, at least as far as some details go.

This also is said to be the case with some members of the house ways and means committee, which will do the actual drafting of the big new tax bill.

Not All Enthusiastic

After the treasury program was submitted and discussed at the committee's closed meetings Monday and yesterday several committee members hinted that they were not enthusiastic about some of the proposed surtax rates, especially those applying to the lower incomes. They declined to comment for publication on the treasury plan until it is announced officially by Secretary Morgenthau at public hearings starting tomorrow.

In the lower brackets, this is what the surtax-plus-present-tax rates would mean in some hypothetical cases:

A single person with an earned income of $1,000 after all allowable deductions except his personal $800 exemption and earned income credit would have to pay a tax of $29 instead of the present $1.

A married couple with two children would pay $16 instead of the present $15 on an earned net income of $2,500, after all deductions except the $2,000 family exemption.

Treasury Plan

The treasury plan, in brief, is as follows:

The present 4 per cent basic rate would be retained. In addition surtaxes would be imposed, beginning at 11 per cent for the first $2,000 of taxable income. To this total of 15 per cent would be added the defense surtax, which is one-tenth of the combined basic tax and the surtax. Thus the effective rate on the bottom would become 16.5 per cent.

The program was submitted to the ways and means committee behind closed doors and first reactions reports from several committeemen were that the treasury had recommended a bond tax instead of the surtax. This would be collected at the source of income, as the present withholding tax is collected.

Among new taxes were 3 per cent on the cost of transportation tickets and 5 per cent on candy and chewing gum. Soft drinks in bottles or glasses would be taxed 1 cent.

Crushing Defeat—

some ships may escape temporarily but we will get them later."

The high command communique rectifying previous statements of these authorized quarters, said that in Greek waters yesterday German combat planes destroyed seven torpedo merchantmen totaling 37,000 tons and 12 other large ships were bomb-damaged.

Moreover, the communique went on, a large warship previously identified as an armored cruiser was hit by a "heaviest caliber bomb" at Suda bay, Crete.

"The ships attacked were chiefly transports which had aboard units of British troops fleeing from Greece," the communique said.

Luftwaffe Offensive

The Luftwaffe continued its Mediterranean offensive last night with another attack on installations at Malta, British island base, causing the heavy destruction in many yards, fuel tanks in the harbor at Valletta" and scoring a hit on a British destroyer.

The Germans said two British destroyers and one armed merchantman were "victims" of German bombers in the Mediterranean. The destroyers possibly were in addition to the destroyer claimed hit at Malta.

As evidence of the British loss informed Germans said observation pilots reported these ships minus after an attack on a convoy enroute from Malta to the eastern Mediterranean.

The high command claimed destruction of 24 planes on the ground in raids on Air bases in Greece and the knocking out of several anti-aircraft guns. Another British plane was shot down over Malta, the high command said.

In the period of April 19-22 the communique asserted "The enemy apparently Britain and Greece lost 59 planes as against 14 by the Germans."

Today, informed sources said German planes continued to harass British columns in several places destroying the few remaining roads to the south.

In addition, the forward pressure by land netted the Germans vast amounts of abandoned war material as well as prisoners.

Australian troops which covered the British retreat with New Zealand and British troops, were reported landing in Crete.

The German communique said that Greek prisoners of war would be treated magnanimously.

They declared that once again Britain had left an ally under the German flank forced in order to save his own interests for the benefit of his native land.

The reports from Athens indicated that Greece, united Europe, including the left flank of the line, capitulated facing Britain and Germany.

The situation was described as similar to the British departure from Aleutians, Norway a year ago which left Norway to its fate at the hands of the Germans, complaining that his flank suddenly was left unprotected, adding him no choice but surrender.

Even before the announcement that the German army had crossed the Struma at Demirhisar and had broken through the storied pass with tanks in the role of Persian War charioteers, it was apparent that the German public at least is allowing herself that the fall of Athens was inevitable.

The remaining questions is how much equipment will fall into German hands.

Already the plan of Field Marshall Hitler's anti-planner collaborators appeared to be in position to attack the southern coast of Greece before the British could evacuate Athens soon and if that happened Britain's force remaining in southern Greece would be isolated from their base of supply in Crete with little more chance to escape to Egypt, the German high command said.

Nazis See Enemy Running

Although the Germans force a passage through Demirhisar pass, a gateway in the rugged Lekris mountain range, they presumably would attempt to drive southward through the 35-mile strip of land between Lake Doiran and Salonika with the cutting Greece in half.

Other passes, some of which whatever might trap a large part of the British army in failing back from Albania on the British left flank.)

Berlin Germania declared the fighting had developed into a "refolgieng" in which the British were forced to withdraw.

Great emphasis was placed on the fact that the German air force alone had covered 100 kilometers (about 60 miles) in pursuit of the enemy as the Germans said disposed of British forces that they had suffered heavy losses.

"An enemy retreating line" fast pursued from time to time by fire of a gun or conduct a rearguard action," the German high command spokesman said. "When the full story is told the world will be astonished at the small German losses."

The German soldiers were said to be in high spirits as they pushed enemies in order to make speed.

There are even reports that the German soldiers were so anxious to get through tough country that they pushed on without waiting for food.

The Nazi air force was credited with playing a major role in the German "blitz-through" operation.

A Meal in Itself

By BEULAH V. GILLASPIE
Director, Realtest Laboratory Kitchen

IT'S a grand feeling at times, to be able to serve a "meal in one dish"—and most everyone loves a dish like this! Add a soup or salad, and your favorite dessert, and there's a meal fit for any gourmet. Curried eggs with vegetables is just such an ideal combination.

CURRIED EGGS ON RICE WITH VEGETABLES

1 tablespoon chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon curry powder
2 cups milk
1½ to 1¾ teaspoons salt
Few grains pepper
6 hard cooked eggs
Hot cooked rice
Buttered peas
Buttered scallions

Cook the onion in the butter over low heat, stirring occasionally. Place over hot water, add the flour and curry powder and mix well. Add the milk gradually and cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Add the salt, pepper and sliced eggs. If desired, reserve some of the slices of egg for garnish. Reheat the curried eggs and serve on the rice. Serve with the peas and scallions. Six servings.

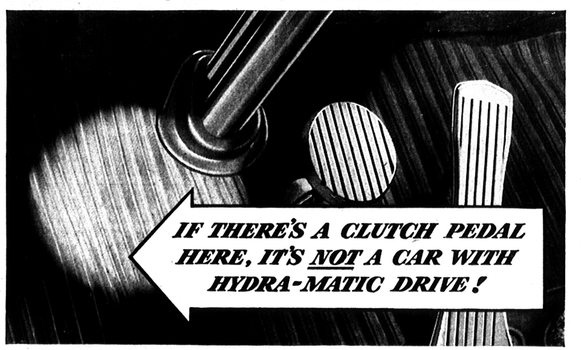
ABOUT THIS MATTER OF "Clutches"—

LET'S GO TO THE MAT!



HYDRA-MATIC* IS THE ONLY DRIVE IN THE WORLD THAT—

1. ELIMINATES CLUTCH PEDAL ENTIRELY!
2. GIVES FULLY AUTOMATIC SHIFTING!

*OPTIONAL AT EXTRA COST ON ALL MODELS

LOOK at the floor mat before you buy any car with a new type of "drive." If you find a clutch pedal, it's a sure sign that a clutch pedal is needed—and that gears must be shifted by hand and foot, at least a part of the time, to insure quick-stepping performance. In a Hydra-Matic Oldsmobile, of course, you'll find no clutch pedal at all. No conventional clutch is needed, because gears shift automatically through all four forward speeds. You get driving ease, simplicity and safety literally unmatched by any other type of drive—with performance that puts you right out ahead! Try a Hydra-Matic Oldsmobile today—it's lots more fun to drive!

CONOCO
GERM PROCESSED OIL
BRONZ-Z-Z GASOLINE

In amazement, many a motorist asks that question this Spring, as he receives his Free De Luxe Conoco Touraide"—right now—in advance—for the happy car trip he's going to start soon. You yourself will be astonished at seeing how all your fondest plans for your next tour are put together in your own private travel book—your Conoco Touraide . . . with its effortless, tangle-proof, patent-hinged road maps . . . with side-trips and optional routes included . . . with all you want to know about camps, hotels, play spots . . . with a place for your records and notes . . . with color-photos and facts, facts, facts!

Plainly this Free Conoco Tourade is years ahead of mere "map service." It's much more like having your own well-paid Personal Tour Conductor. And that's doubly true today, in advance of the biggest rush, when the Conoco experts who create your Free Tourade can actually outdo themselves for you. They'll work from any personal ideas and desires that you describe to Your Mileage Merchant at your nearest Conoco station—without any obligation or cost!

Shortly he hands your complete Private Conoco Tourade to you—ALL FREE. Instantly you see that no few chance purchases of oil and gasoline could "make up" for the cost of this superb free motor travel guide. And thus you can realize that Conoco Bronz-z-z gasoline and Conoco Germ Processed oil must be creating steadfast users—lifelong users! Only two things can account for it . . . the mileage that pours out of smooth-firing, hill-powered Conoco Bronz-z-z . . . and the wondrous OIL-PLATING that an engine gets from the change to patented Conoco Germ Processed oil—at a popular price.

Your Mileage Merchant has the economy proof when you want it, but right now you want your own Advance Edition of the Private Conoco Tourade FREE without obligation. The thrill of your trip begins the minute your personal Tourade comes into your house. It's like getting every detail in advance from some experienced traveler who's been all over your own exact route before. All you do is to take all your vacation ideas right now to Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. And quickly he does the rest ALL FREE!

OIL-PLATING MEANS

that patented Germ Processed oil scientifically surfaces engine parts with lubricant that can't all quickly drain off, for it's PLATED ON! No dangerous "absent" oiling every time you start. No mere temporary film getting all scraped right off and fed up fast. Longer life from engine parts, and that's the real way to get longer life from every quart.

ITCHING OF IRRITATION PILES
Don't suffer hopelessly! Relieve the burning itchy soreness as many others do—with soothing, widely known
RESINOL

Cattle Strong; Hogs Firm; Sheep Steady To Strong

Grains Lower; Wheat And Corn Off Slightly

Chicago, April 23.—P. The lowest wheat prices in months were recorded today in the Chicago market as increased selling pressure followed sharp declines yesterday. Prices were reduced 1½ to 2½ cents, and corn and oats emerged to lead upward movements. Just before the close most prices recovered a part.

Among the major gainers were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Great Northern preferred, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Anaconda and American Can.

Bonds were steady; commodities were generally lower. At Chicago wheat closed 1-2 cent to 1 1-8 cents lower, corn ends unchanged to 1-2 lower to 1-8 higher, cotton nearest to end of trading 10 to 35 cents a bale down.

Stocks Irregular And Quiet; Curb

New York, April 23.—P. Quiet stretches among rails and steels gave the stock market a dull, irregular tone.

Sales of the gains ran more than a point, and there were many declines of that size. Transfers totaled about 400,000 shares.

Wall street analysts regarded the action as indicating the persistent feeling of most floor traders, who frequently touch off short swings in either direction.

Turnover picked up late in the day, after more than four hours of irregular spurts. Prices were mixed at the opening, but rails and steels soon emerged to lead upward movements. Just before the close most prices receded a bit.

AN OPEN LETTER
To Mr. and Mrs. Motorist:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

Of late several customers making purchases of gasoline and motor oils at one or the other of our units have remarked that they were under the impression that we were handling an open market or cut rate gasoline. With us, this is a very tender subject so in order to alleviate any dubious notion that may be lingering in the minds of our motoring public as regards our gasoline we would like here and now to clarify this subject. We are not handling a major company gasoline. We are not, however, permitted to use their brand name because of the price field in which we operate. This company is one of the larger oil companies and has enjoyed of the respect and good will of the motoring public for many years.

Our purpose in operating as we do is to bring to the public through this method of operation a product as fine as it is humanly possible to manufacture at a price that will suit the pocketbook. Through our transport system of bringing the gasoline directly from the refinery to you, we are able to market our gasoline at a price that represents a considerable saving to our customers.

We hope that this letter will serve the purpose for which it is intended and we invite you to try this product which rates second to none in quality and performance.

Yours very truly,

KEN MILLER OIL COMPANY

Greco-British—

ceive against the Italians after they invaded Greece October 28 driving them back into Albania and later sweeping on into Albanian coast for more than 50 miles.

During the past week, however, this advance has been falling back steadily under a crushing German attack from the north. It appeared the army finally had been hemmed in between the reinvitalized Italian forces and a Nazi column stabbing southward to Joannina from Metsovo in an encircling movement.

The island of Crete, designated by King George as the new seat of his government, is about 75 miles off the southeastern tip of Greece and about 250 miles north of the African coast, where axis armies are now engaged in a drive aimed at the Suez canal.

The British established bases on Crete shortly after the beginning of the Greek-Italian war.

King George made his fateful announcement in a lengthy proclamation in which he appealed to the Greek people to keep up their courage "even during this painful moment of our histories."

"The right of our struggle and God will help us to secure to all lessons a final victory in spite of the trials, pains and dangers which we shall go through," the sovereign concluded.

"Remain faithful to the idea of a united and undivided free country. Intensify your will oppose Greek pride to enemy force and enemy temptations. Have courage—good days will come again. Long live the nation!"

King's Statement

The king's statement said:

"The hard destinies of war compel us to get away from Athens together with the Crown Prince and lawful government of the country and to transfer the capital of the country to Crete, whence we shall be able to continue the fight which is the will of the nation and the duty of safeguarding the independence and integrity imposed upon us and undertaken after unprovoked aggressions of which we have been the object by two empires.

"Our will, the will of the government and of the Greek people having been manifested in various ways so far main resistance to the end on the part of Greek troops, which, despite the unequal fight, particularly after the German invasion, have stubbornly fought beside the English allies who rushed help to us and are still fighting on Greek territory for the sake of the right cause.

"Our troops, exhausted from the hard and victorious war which they had been waging for six months against a much stronger enemy and having written the most glorious pages of our military history continued the fight against the Germans with unconceivable heroism.

"We do not yet know in what conditions exactly our army of Epirus has been found and signed an armistice with the enemy without our knowing it.

"This act in no way binds the free will of the nation, the king and the government, which consists of a continuation of the struggle with all remaining forces with a view to securing the supreme national interests."

Trapped in Pincer Movement

Rome, April 23—Surrender of the Greco-northeastern army trapped by the Italian and German pincers movement in mountainous Epirus was announced by the Albanian front command today.

The announcement made no mention of what Greek forces in the northeastern fighting with the British and the palace of Tirana.

The high command said the Greeks in Epirus and western Macedonia "the Albanian soldiers and other elements in a contest here, Official time of the marathan said the former record was an hour and 34 minutes.

Fatted Calves A Beach Taboo

By HELEN FOLLETT

The girl who trundles herself around on fatted calves does not look forward to the swimming season with joy and rapture. She'd better get busy right now if she wants to line up with the bathing beauties on the beach.

Getting hefty pins down to normal is no easy matter, and she might as well know it. She has to wear off excess padding, which means that she must give her muscles plenty of work to do. Exercise burns up human fat; dieting invites adipose cushions to come along and make themselves at home.

Massage Legs

Massage will help, if the movements are firm enough. They must press well into the flesh. A good way to do that is to start thumbing under the knee. Work downward, and then go up and repeat. Sit on a low chair, foot squarely on the floor, use both thumbs, keep the fingers abiding along the sides of the leg.

Walking on the toes will help along the good work. As each step is taken, lift the leg as high as ever you can. This practice pulls hard on the muscles. Start walking on the toes and stay lifted as long as you can. Then repeat.

Bicycling is recommended. Walking is all right if the pace is brisk, running of course is even better. Skipping a rope will knock off fat cells.

If the entire body is overweight watch the diet. Pat cells live, thrive and raise lard. Pastries are sawdx starches and fats. Fats are the worst offenders, so cut down on butter and cream.

Don't fall upon the luscious chocolate cake, cover your eyes when you go past a candy store. Stoke up on fruits, vegetables, green salads, lean meats, buttermilk. Take tea and coffee clear. If you add generous portions of sugar and cream you'll lower the power of the current.

Time never helps the plumpie. The years just pile on more inches and curves.

LAFFEY QUITS BRADLEY FOR STERLING JOB, REPORT

Tigers' Plight Is Big Mystery In Majors

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Detroit Tigers' plight is something to ponder these days.

The American league champions are in the cellar, with only one victory in five games and with more grief lying in wait for the day that Hank Greenberg is inducted into the army.

Nobody expected the Bengals to repeat their surprise pennant triumph of last year, but their collapse this spring is one of the nine season's mysteries.

Fighting spirit as much as any other single factor, carried Detroit to a championship last year, but its morale apparently is gone. The team performed miserably in the Grapefruit grind, and this same sluggishness has carried over into the official season. The Tigers' pitching has been good, but their famed hitting has been a myth and their fielding frightful.

Yesterday Bill Dietrich of the Chicago White Sox almost pitched a no-hitter against them. The bespectacled righthander, who jeanced into baseball's select society with a no-hitter against the Browns in 1937, didn't give a safety until he had one out in the ninth. Then came an error, a single by Greenberg and a homer by Rudy York. The no-hitter was gone but the game still went to Chicago, 6-3.

Only 24 Hits

Those famous sluggers in Tiger uniforms have made only 24 hits in five games, never more than six in any one contest. Greenberg hasn't hit a home run. In three of the affairs, they have made three errors. The net result has been to nullify four well-pitched ball games and cast grave doubt on whether the champions even will make the first division.

Dietrich's conquest, his second in eight days, was not the only pitching classic yesterday.

John Vander Meer of Cincinnati gave Chicago fans a glimpse of his 1938 double no-hit form with a four-hit, 12-strikeout performance that bested Bill Lee and smothered the Cubs, 1-0. Lee allowed only five safeties, but in the sixth inning Lonny Frey beat out a scratch single, went to third on two successive wild pitches, and scored on a single by Ival Goodman.

Hugh Casey studied the New York Giants for the second time in three days to give the Brooklyn Dodgers a 7-4 victory. He allowed only seven hits, and three errors figured in the Giants' scoring. Dolph Camilli drove in five runs with a homer and a single. The loss, however, did not knock the Giants out of the National league lead.

Red Sox Fail, Too

The Boston Red Sox, likewise, held onto the American league lead although beaten for the second straight day by the Washington Senators, 12-5. The Red Sox were held to eight hits by Walt Masterson and really came apart at the seams, making four errors and giving up 15 hits.

Lee Mcclellah held the New York Yankees to six safeties, three of them homers, as the Philadelphia Athletics whipped out a 6-3 decision with five runs in a sloppy sixth inning. The winning marker scored on Dick Siebert's single with the bases loaded in the ninth.

Elden Auker's crafty eight-hit hurling gave the St. Louis Browns a 6-3 verdict over the Cleveland Indians, although the Brownies were rattled to seven hits by Al Milnar and Clint Brown.

The senior circuit came up with two marathon games. In one, the Phillies snapped a six-game losing streak with two runs in the 14th inning to beat the Boston Bees, 6-4; in the other, the St. Louis Cardinals edged past the Pittsburgh Pirates, 9-8, with two runs in the 12th after Pittsburgh had scored once.

Camera To Decide Track Meet Winners

Los Angeles, April 23.—(AP)—Stealing a page from the horse track book, Los Angeles track officials are going to have a camera-eye at the finish line of the Coliseum relays May 24.

Photographs of stars breaking the tape will be made and the results announced within five minutes after the race—just like they do early and faster, at Hollywood race track or Churchill Downs.

In major track meets photographs are taken but are not developed for inspection until late that night.

"It is no fun", commented Willis O. Hunter of the University of Southern California, "for an athlete to go to bed thinking he won the 100-yard dash and wake up in the morning and discover he finished third." That has happened several times.

That Russian Dish Is What Lou Needs

Chicago, April 23.—(AP)—Mrs. Esther Novikoff has landed and the situation is well in hand.

Arriving yesterday from California, the wife of the celebrated Chicago Cubs rookie explained why her husband hasn't been hitting in the National league.

"All Lou needs is a little borscht," she said. "That's a Russian dish something like a hamburger. It's rolled in cabbage and served on a platter. He'll begin to hit after he's had some of that."

The Illinois Valley Sports Writers' association, at its fifth annual dinner at LaSalle on April 29, will make a special award to Bob O'Neill of Ottawa, University of Illinois football and basketball player.

The board's trophy for a graduate of an Illinois valley school who has been an outstanding college athlete will be given to Bill Phillips, Marquette quarterback and Joe Ross of Lake Forest.

O'Neill, the Valley writers say, would have been a strong candidate for the trophy if he had not been injured in the Michigan football game Oct. 19 and forced out for the rest of the season. Strongly of the opinion that his record deserved recognition, it was decided to award him a decorated scroll for his achievements.

Leiber Wants To Confer With Cubs

Chicago, April 23.—(AP)—Big Hank Leiber, the only remaining holdout in big league baseball, has notified the Chicago Cubs that he'll be here soon to talk terms.

Jim Gallagher, Cub general manager, said Leiber, veteran outfielder, would leave his Tucson, Ariz., home tomorrow for Chicago. He was expected to come by plane.

Leiber, who is reportedly dissatisfied with a 1941 salary offer of about $13,000, hit .302 last season in 117 games.

S. Wilmington Enters N. E. Baseball Loop

South Wilmington has been admitted to the Northeastern Illinois baseball league according to an announcement today by Lou Friedman, St. Anne, president of the league.

The South Wilmington request for admission to the league came late due to the fact that its management believed they would be unable to organize this year on account of several of their players being inducted into the draft. However, they plan to fill the ranks with younger players and their admission to the league now brings the total number of league teams to ten.

The league schedule will be drawn up at a meeting of the schedule committee tonight. South Wilmington's team will open the season on May 4 at Essex as it was Essex that was a bye on the original nine-team opening day assignments.

League managers and officers will hold their regular monthly meeting here Monday to approve schedules, submit player lists and make plans for the opening of league play on the following Sunday.

Former ABC Champ Bowls Thursday In 1941 Tournament

St. Paul, April 23.—(AP)—Gene Gaglardi, who shot his 749 to win the singles championship at New York in 1937 and Maxie Stein, who set the all-time all-events record, 2,070 in the same tournament, will head another potent program in the American Bowling Congress Thursday.

Gaglardi, originally from Mount Vernon, N. Y., and Stein, Belleville, Ill., now are located in Hollywood. They will head an effort to better the 3,939 score shot by the Eastside team of Los Angeles, which placed fourth in the many-event last night. It was the highest total ever scored by a California entry in the national tourney.

None of the other high ten leaders were disturbed.

Donald Bowdish and Joseph Pauline, Clinton, Iowa, moved into a tie with Stein's place with Ned Day and Elmer Koch, Milwaukee, in scoring 1207 in the doubles.

Ray Brown, Terre Haute, Ind., who posted 742 to win the title last year at Detroit, was the last of the 1940 title holders to go the way of most bowling champions. The Hoosier kegler scored only 530 in the solo event—212 shy of his 1940 winning mark. He had 534 in the doubles and only 488 in the team event for an aggregate of 1,552 in all-events.

Brooklyn Acquires Mace Brown From Pirates For Cash

Pittsburgh, April 23.—P.—Mace Brown, who wore many a path between the bullpen and the pitchers' box during his six years service on the Pittsburgh Pirates hurling staff, joins the Brooklyn Dodgers today as the result of a straight cash transaction.

Mace earned the named of fireman by his amazing record as a relief hurler. Although he appeared in 262 games, he pitched but 18 complete contests for Pittsburgh.

In 1936, when the Pirates almost won a pennant, Brown pitched in 34 games without completing one, setting a league mark which was beaten only last year by Clyde Shoun of St. Louis, who hurled in 53 contests. Mace won 15 that year and lost nine but saved a dozen more when Pirate pitchers faltered. His average earned run per game for six years is 3.1-2.

A spokesman for the Pirates explained Brown is "getting old" and Manager Frankie Frisch wants a young team for his pennant drive next year. The pitcher will be 31 May 21. Estimates of the purchase paid yesterday by the Dodgers ranged between $10,000 and $25,000.

In Brooklyn Brown will join three former mates, Cookie Lavagetto, Paul Waner and Pitcher Bill Swift. Only one other Pirate hurler is older than he, Hip Sewell, who will be 33 next month.

Local Mines Plan Combined Practice

The Moose and Lehigh baseball teams will stage a joint workout at Waterman park on Sunday afternoon. Candidates for both teams are requested to wear old clothes, as neither team will issue uniforms for the occasion.

A regulation game had previously been scheduled between the two local rivals for this Sunday, but bad weather has made it impossible for either team to do any practice and the respective managements have not had a fair chance to get a good line on potential material. Candidates for the various positions on both teams will be given full opportunity to display their talents, as the combined squad will doubtless "choose up sides" and play an intersquad seven-inning game.

Feller Warns Those Who Call His Pitches

Cleveland, April 23.—P.—Bob Feller warned American league pitchers today to stop calling his throws or half their curbs will be in the hospital.

The 22-year-old strikeout king made it plain he wouldn't toss any beanballs . . . but that the result might be serious if an opposing batter were looking for a curve and got a blazing fast ball which might break when it reached his head.

Rapid Robert's thoughts were focused particularly on the third baseman who is reaching his head.

Batted at Hans Baby

Rapid Robert's thoughts were focused particularly on the third baseman who is reaching his head.

Mule Haas of Chicago and Manager Del Baker of Detroit Hans told the White Sox pair to expect when they beat Feller on opening day. 4 to 3. Baker frequently has urged them for the Tigers last season although Feller beat the Bengals 5at-isfactorily.

"I always knew they could tell a lot I was going on Stein but they didn't try to call them until last year," Fyfe observed as he made ready to face the St. Louis Browns in his third 1941 start.

Former Vander Meer Makes Comeback; Stops Cubs On Four Hits

Chicago, April 23.—(AP)—Blond, blue-eyed Johnny Vander Meer is ready for stardom again—for one night he could not hold in 1938 after winning baseball immortality with two successive no-hit, no-run games. Since failure there has been a decade after those dazzling feats, Vandy, now 26, has found the comeback road rough and uphill all the way. But he gave convincing proof yesterday that he has regained his speed and confidence.

Johnny let the Chicago Cubs down with four hits and struck out 12 batters for a 1-0 victory over Claude Passeau, a former teammate. More significant, he walked only three batters and displayed his best form when in a jam. He left eight men stranded in the first four innings and retired the last 16 men in order.

After his double no-hit feat in 1938, Vandy went on to win nine in a row and finished the season with a 15-10 won-lost mark.

But something in 1939 the wildness returned and he was useless to the Reds. Last season he went back to the minors, fighting his way to the Cincinnati after winning six and losing four with Indianapolis of the American Association.

"I was trying too hard in 1939," Vander Meer explained. "Somewhere along the line I injured my shoulder and it was a loss after that. But my arm suddenly got all right last August and it has been great ever since."

Bennis Leaves U-I Football Staff

Champaign, Ill., April 23.—(AP)—Charles Bennis is giving up his duties as assistant football line coach at the University of Illinois to take over the management of a coal mine at Lincoln, Ill., his home town.

Bennis, who announced his resignation yesterday, was co-captain of the 1934 Illinois eleven.

His resignation leaves two vacancies on the football staff. Art Daniels, end coach, was granted a year's leave of absence to study for his doctor's degree.

Sign Riley Smith As Football Coach At Washington-Lee

Lexington, Va., April 23.—P.—Riley Smith, 29-year-old former Alabama All-American and Washington and Lee university end this Southern conference today.

The Alabaman will succeed Warren E. (Tex) Tilson whose resignation was submitted yesterday, a year prior to expiration of his two-year contract.

Tilson said his resignation was offered with "absolutely no duress or pressure from anyone connected with the university," but added that I believe the alumni, students and faculty will give more support to the football team with another man in charge."

Smith left the Redskins two years ago to join the A. & I. staff as backfield assistant. Tilson recommended Smith as his successor.

Tilson, former assistant coach at Duke had been head coach here since 1933.

Buckeyes, Purple Share Leadership In Big 10 Baseball

Chicago, April 23.—P.—Ohio State and Northwestern shared the Big Ten baseball leadership today, but this rating is threatened by a weekend schedule of 10 conference games.

The Wildcats, thwarted by the weatherman Saturday, defeated Chicago yesterday, 11 to 4 to complete their three-game series. The Wildcats won the opener last Friday, 9 to 7.

Six other conference teams were in action yesterday. Michigan bowed to Notre Dame, 6 to 2, but the other five won. Ohio State defeated Cincinnati, 4 to 3. Iowa trimmed upper Iowa Teachers by the same score and Indiana clapped an 11 to 4 decision on Butler.

Illinois defeated De Pauw and Purdue downed Wabash, also by the same margin, 4 to 3.

The week-end schedule calls for Chicago at Michigan, Minnesota at Northwestern, Wisconsin at Ohio State, Purdue at Illinois and Indiana at Iowa.

Wanick Tops Forrest Track, Field Win

Forrest, April 23.—Forrest high school emerged victorious 84½ to 41½ in a dual track and field meet with Stanwood, Forrest's victory was achieved largely through the efforts of Ed Wanick, who copped firsts and seconds in every event he entered except the 100-yard dash, the high jump and the pole vault, and finished second in the 110-yard low hurdles. Quigley was outstanding for Stanwood.

Getting Lost In Britain Nowadays Is Just Too Bad

London, April 23—(INS)—In these days of vanished signposts, traveling, even for government officials responsible in some cases for the removal of these landmarks, hath its surprises and inconveniences.

One of them lost his way recently in a Lancashire village and sought the help of three ancients only to meet with deep and undisguised distrust and suspicion.

"What dost think we've taken all t'signposts down for?" one of the ancients volunteered finally in reply.

The puzzled official asked where he mibht get this seemingly dangerous information.

"Tha' con try t'police station," he was told helpfully.

The official hurried to the local abode of the law, but not knowing where it was, asked directions again.

"Nay, nay," exclaimed the outraged guardians of state secrets. "tha' doan't reckon we're telling thee where that is!"

Query: has that government official ever succeeded in reaching his destination . . . ?
