War Threatens All Sides Says Japanese Press

Public Warned Of Encirclement By The Allied Powers

BULLETIN
Tokyo, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Reliable indications that a Russian far eastern army of great strength has been fully mobilized and stationed on the Siberian border and a United States Ambassador Joseph Grew and Japanese Foreign Minister Togo stressed the critical situation in the Pacific tonight.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
In the far east, Tokyo newspapers warned the Japanese public today that the danger of encirclement by the allied powers is now a reality. "There is danger of an explosion of the war," the newspapers said. "The danger is not only in the east, west, south and north simultaneously, but also in the Pacific."

The Japanese press also warned that the danger of encirclement by the allied powers is now a reality. "There is danger of an explosion of the war," the newspapers said. "The danger is not only in the east, west, south and north simultaneously, but also in the Pacific."

Alaska Defenses
Commenting on the Secretary of War's announcement that Alaska defenses were being prepared, the Tokyo newspaper Nichi Nichi declared:

"We can see in this statement that the Americans plan to form an encircling structure."

The same theme was elaborated in other Japanese newspapers. In Shanghai, three members of Wang Ching-wei's personal bodyguard were reported to have been shot and killed in an attack on the Nanking home of the leader of the Japanese-sponsored Chinese regime.

Japs Protest U. S. Hostage Charges

Hull Claims Japan Has Submitted No Satisfactory Explanation

BY ROBERT BELLAIRE
Tokyo, Aug. 18.—(UP)—The foreign office tonight protested the United States department's insinuations that Japan is "hostage" to the United States.

The foreign office, following a long conference between United States Ambassador Joseph Grew and Foreign Minister Togo, stressed the Japanese position in connection with refusal of permission for the United States to pick up 100 American prisoners of war held in Japan.

The Japanese position was described as based on a desire to avoid a "sensational" evacuation procedure which would arouse the American people.

In addition, it was stated, the United States Federal Savings and Loan office, is taking her annual two percent interest collection at St. Paul, Minn.

Watch Summer Cold And Go To Physician

Season Of Year When Infantile Paralysis Develops

By ROBERT HEWETT
Springfield, Ill., Aug. 18.—If you start sniffing from a "summer cold" or find yourself with a stiff neck after some unaccustomed vacation exercise during the next 30 days, let a doctor look you over—on the one in 20,000 chance that it might be infantile paralysis, or poliomyelitis, to use the scientific name.

In 1937, a total of 779 cases resulting in 90 deaths were reported. Thus far in 1941, a total of 84 cases have been reported—five more than during the similar period in 1937.

Danger Period
Dr. Roland B. Cross, state health director, warned that the 60-day period from mid-August to mid-October is the chief danger period for contracting the disease and recommended prompt treatment for those displaying polio symptoms: a "summer cold" accompanied by that tired feeling, with perhaps nausea, a sore throat and a slight fever. Other more advanced symptoms are stiff neck and back muscles, headache, prostration and a temperature around 101 or 102 degrees.

An infantile paralysis manual prepared for physicians by Dr. S. O. Levinson and Dr. Philip Lewin for the state health department emphasizes the likelihood of complete recovery in 95 per cent of the cases treated when the first symptoms appear.

In recent years physicians have noticed an increasing number of cases among adults. Health department records over several years show that 30 per cent of those affected are under five years old; 27 per cent from six to ten years old; and 17 per cent from 11 to 15 years old.

Two-fold Program
The health department has a two-fold program aimed at the crippling disease: first, research conducted in the Chicago branch of the state diagnostic laboratories in an attempt to discover more about the elusive virus that causes poliomyelitis; and second, a system to provide physicians with trained consultants and with convalescent serum for treatment in the early stages of the disease.

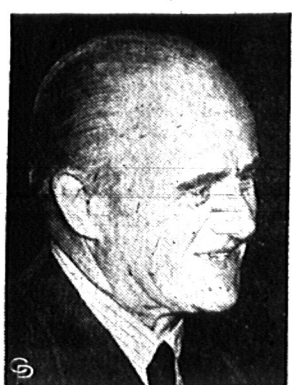

Under the direction of Dr. H. J. Shaughnessy, research is being conducted on 80 monkeys in connection with the disease.

With the assistance of a special advisory committee of physicians, the department has made the convalescent serum and special restraining splints available at each of the 21 district health offices. A chart showing the location of each of the 46 artificial respirators, or "iron lungs," in the state also is maintained by the department.

The convalescent serum is collected by the Samuel Deutsch serum center of Chicago, which is headed by Dr. Levinson.

Mild Symptoms
"Cases" of infantile paralysis in Illinois occur more often in the summer and early fall than at other seasons," according to a recent health department publication. "They usually start with symptoms so mild that they are not taken seriously at all. In this first stage of the disease the patient may seem to have only a 'summer cold,' with perhaps vomiting, and a tired feeling, or a little fever."

"But if the disease does progress to the next stage, the symptoms are apt to be more severe. The patient is likely to become irritable in a day or two, and to complain of a headache, or perhaps to complain of a pain in the back of the neck and along the back. The neck or back may actually begin to feel stiff. The temperature is, as a rule, around 101 or 102 degrees. In some cases the muscles begin to ache, or the patient becomes so sensitive that he objects even to the weight of the blankets on his bed. If the patient is an infant or a little child, he may suddenly object to having his mother hold him in her arms.

Note of Consolation
During this stage of the disease the tender muscles still have the power of motion. The patient may be too sensitive to move about very much, but so far he is not paralyzed. And it is at this early time in the development of poliomyelitis that the physician can do the most to help the patient and to prevent further trouble.

And there is a note of consolation in the department's publication for those victims who don't recover completely: "Even the unfortunate patient who is left physically handicapped by infantile paralysis may live to be a president of the United States of America."

Government Checks Axis Broadcasts

Business Carried On By Foreign Broadcast Service

By FRANK J. WILLER

Washington, Aug. 18.—The Special News Service—Uncle Sam believes he has overcome any menace of Axis shortwave radio broadcasts.

The process consists of listening in on German, Japanese and Italian stations contacting the western hemisphere and getting out counter-propaganda before their own reports can reach the public.

This business is carried on by the foreign broadcast monitoring service, a close-guarded group of experts from the federal communications commission who record, translate and analyze upwards of 1,000,000 words a day. Some European stations send more words in one week than there are in the Bible or in all the works of Shakespeare.

Old Hacks
They use, for the most part, the latest radio, the old device of exaggeration, suppression, distortion, appeals to vanity, political and personal animosities, pride and self-interest and appeals to previously existing jealousies and hatreds.

In the latter theater, the Axis never misses a chance to recall the American revolution and the war of 1812 to ridicule the Englishman in the sense that he popularized the American state and—in the process—to appeal to the Irish-American's inherent distrust of England; praise the American isolationist; and blame President Roosevelt for all the wars abroad.

It recalls in Latin-American broadcasts the era of "Yankee imperialism" and asserts that the Roosevelt good neighbor policy is a subtle move to dominate completely the entire western hemisphere.

All this is interlarded with praise for the "new order" in Europe and Asia, with boasts of Axis conquests over "decadent" peoples, assertions that no country would be harmed if it were not so utterly stupid as to resist Axis arms, warnings that the United States can only harm itself in aiding Britain, and continual broadcasts against alleged British-American "encirclement" of Europe and Asia.

Fantastic Buildings
It fits such a well-worn pattern that experts of the monitoring service declare they can detect far in advance almost any move Germany, Italy or Japan contemplates. There is always, first, a fantastic buildup and then the sort of hair-raising broadcast used so successfully to weaken resistance among intended victims on the Europe mainland.

At noon every day the monitoring service sends to the White House and to the departments of state, war and navy a complete foreign propaganda picture for the guidance of administration spokesmen in their official announcements, speeches and press conferences.

This service has showed its value on numerous occasions. For instance, Japan, feinting toward Soviet Maritime provinces, tipped her hand

A Brave In Gotham

All dressed in tribal costume, this Standing Bear stood in the nation of the latest Indian dance. He arrives in New York. The Sioux was one of four young boys awarded a ten-day tour of the United States by the Marquette League for their Indian Missions.

When the standing bear proceeded to each of the four states of the American continent, he was met by the American people and the Chinese and Thais.

The monitor service detected broadcasts to Latin-America, Europe and Asia of late disturbances between Peru and Ecuador, often say they add the many of anti-Nazi raids in Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Cuba, Ecuador, Panama and Uruguay. It found that the Axis propaganda was being broadcast in a disguised manner to Axis.

Watch Suspected Agents
The federal bureau of investigation watches all agents suspected of receiving code from foreign principals in shortwave broadcasts and other departments, and it is when they catch a message for a verbal or written communication against administration officials and the American defense program.

Amidst the express belief that the Axis watches broadcast trends and follows up on attacks on the so-called "war party," President Roosevelt, "Washington post," and as a result, a memorandum was sent to the director of the monitoring service. It was set up three
