RUSSIA RALLIES ALL-OUT DEFENSE

Soldiers Are Taken To Town For A Bath

Second Army In Arkansas Has "Day Of Rest" To Scrub Clothes And 'Selves

By RICHARD C. HOTTELET
United Press Staff Correspondent

With the Second Army in Arkansas, Aug. 21—(UP)—Having completed an attack that carried them to new "favorable" positions, the soldiers of the second army today scrubbed themselves and their clothes and scratched chigger bites. No sooner had the battle problem of the occupation of the 30-mile Black-Grey - Washington - Blevins-Walcott line been completed yesterday than regimental and division commanders loaded their troops in scores of trucks and took them 50 miles to the nearest town for a bath.

Old Barn a Shower Room

The nearest town was Hope, Ark., and I watched the trucks of the seventh and thirty-third divisions make a steady stream to the fair grounds at Hope, where the civilian military council had converted an old barn into a shower room for 80 men at a time.

As truck after truck pulled up, the men leaped out, and, stripping off their clothes as they went, dashed for the entrance, over which hung this sign:

Free Showers. The answer to a soldier's prayer."

They jammed into the barn and took turns washing each other's backs, laughing like school boys on an outing. One of the more experienced men gravely told his comrades:

"You can save a lot of time and trouble if you keep your socks on while you take your shower. Then you can wash your feet and your socks at the same time."

The soldiers spoke highly of the civilian cooperation they had met, not only in hope but in other towns of the maneuver area.

Townspeople Aid Soldiers

Townspeople helped bring soldiers who had not gotten places on regimental trucks to town. One taxi ferried soldiers in and out of town for an hour without charging a fare.

I noticed one shiny new sedan that pulled up at the shower room at 20-minu intervals for an hour, each time discharging four soldiers. I asked the driver what he was doing.

"I've got an hour to spare," he said, "and the boys have done enough walking, so I thought I'd help them out."

Apart from bathing, the men concentrated on getting rid of the chiggers. Most of them gave it up as a near impossibility, but sulphur and nail polish were adjudged the best remedies.

May Retail Sales Set County Peak

Retailers of Kankakee county this year enjoyed their biggest May sales volume on record, latest reports of the state finance department show.

The 986 retail merchants of the county had a May volume of $2,-275,147, on which they paid $68,254 in sales taxes into the state treasury.

This is only three per cent under the all-time high Christmas business month of December 1940, when sales totaled $2,349,517.

Tells Congress of Confab With Churchill

Urges World Union

The United States should search "for that kind of world union necessary to perpetuate world peace" after the war, Associate Justice Owen J. Roberts of the United States supreme court, above, told a "National Emergency Rally" in New York's Madison Square Garden.

Style Revue Climax Of 4-H Club Exhibit

Over 100 Girls To Model Clothes Made During Past Year

The climax of the girls' 4-H show at the Kankakee county fair will be the style revue Friday afternoon at 1:30 in the show tent. More than 100 girls will style the clothes which they have made during the summer in their 4-H clothing projects. These garments have been on display in the 4-H tent during the fair.

The clothes will be shown in five different classes: School dresses, tailored dresses for street and church, sports clothes, informal clothes, and sleeping and lounging garments. Mrs. Charles Asher will play the musical accompaniment for the style showing.

After the revue several girls will present demonstrations showing various aspects of their summer 4-H work. Mrs. Vira Brown Ricketts, home adviser in Grundy county, will judge the garments and also the demonstrations. Ribbons will be presented to winners in the various classes.

The judge for the 4-H exhibits this year was Mrs. Edith Huffman, home adviser in Will county. The following awards were made:

Leisure Hour

Fancy sandwiches—Marion and Marjorie Healy, first; mixed cookies—Marion Healy, first, Carolyn Smith second; fondant, Henrietta Borkowski and Carolyn Smith, first; fudge, Marjorie Healy and Carolyn Smith first, Dona Holger second; Arvilla Pement and Marion Healy, third; costume accessories, Ruth Hoekstra, first, Wanda Mae Flint, second, Ruth Hoekstra and Lucille Hines, third;

Roosevelt Says Decisions Boost American Aid

Sticks By His 8-Point Program For A New World Order

By T. F. REYNOLDS
United Press Staff Correspondent

Washington, Au. 21—(UP)—President Roosevelt informed congress today that decisions made at his conference with Prime Minister Winston Churchill will materially increase effectiveness of American aid to the fighting democracies.

He said also that any opposition at home to his eight-point program for a new world order would be an invitation to Nazism to extend control over the American hemisphere itself.

In a special message which had been requested by his legislative leaders, Mr. Roosevelt declared that any peace which did not incorporate the eight points agreed upon by him and the prime minister "would be a gift to Nazism to take breath—armed breath—for a second war to extend the control over Europe and Asia to the American hemisphere itself."

"Difficult to Oppose"

The President said the eight-point declaration "is so clear cut that it is difficult to oppose in any major particular without automatically admitting a willingness to accept compromise with Nazism."

Mr. Roosevelt again lashed out at the aggressive philosophy of the Nazi government saying "It is unnecessary for me to call attention once more to the utter lack of validity of the spoken or written word of the Nazi government."

The President termed Germany specifically "the principal aggressor of the modern world."

His appeal for complete acceptance of his eight objectives for a new world order was clear:

"The declaration of principles at this time presents a goal which is worth while for our type of civilization to seek. It is so clear cut that it is difficult to oppose in any major particular without automatically admitting a willingness to accept compromise with Nazism; or to agree to a world peace which would give to Nazism domination over large numbers of conquered nations.

"Inevitably such a peace would be a gift to Nazism to take breath—armed breath—for a second war to extend the control over Europe and Asia to the American hemisphere itself."

Declaration of Principles

The President embodied in his message the declaration of principles which he announced jointly last Thursday with Churchill.

He said that the conference at which this declaration was drafted

Armand Fortin Is Hurt In Accident

Armand Fortin, 52, of 224 West Station street, automobile salesman, sustained painful head injuries Wednesday afternoon when the car he was driving swerved off the Pembroke road, two miles north of the town hall, and turned over.

He was at first thought to have a skull fracture but X-rays at St. Mary hospital failed to show such an injury and Fortin did not remain at the infirmary.

In two other accidents no one was injured. Involved were autos of Treffly Nourie, 518 South Indiana avenue, and William Cahill, route 2, St. Anne, at Harrison and Merchant; Francis Rayman, 269 South Wabash avenue, Bradley, and J. Stegmeyer, 139 North West avenue, on highway 17, eight miles east of Kankakee.

Tenant Declines To Leave Property

A suit for 1,000 damages arising out of tenant's failure to move from Bourbonnais property after receiving written notice to do so was filed today in the office of Circuit Clerk Albert Tetrault.

William and Estelle Granger filed suit through their attorney, Len Small and named as defendants Elizabeth Granger, Robert Vaughn and Thaddus Skotnicki. The latter two are tenants of Elizabeth Granger.

Plaintiffs assert that Elizabeth was served with a emand in writing for immediate possession of the premises on Oct. 30, 1939, but she ignored the notice and has continued to reside there, although her right to possession has long since expired.

24 Youths To Leave For Army Next Tuesday

A tentative list of 24 young men who are scheduled for induction into the army upder the selective service act next Tuesday was released today by the two local draft boards.

The men are to report at the Illinois Central depot at 4:30 a. m. (cst) for departure at 5:45 a. m. for the Chicago induction station.

From board No. 1, there are 13 slated for departure. They include Charles Mueller, 965 South Evergreen avenue; John Stentz, 466 South Wildwood avenue; Leon Messier, 221 South Greenwood avenue; John Mortell, 647 South Harrison avenue; Merle Burkett, 296 Vanderwater street; Leonard Christensen, 471 South Dearborn avenue; Clarence Denoyer, 410 South Third avenue.

The list from board No. 2 includes 11 men: Eugene Tarpley, Wilmington; Bruce Wiess, Columbus, O.; Eldon Oberlin, Reddick; Lester Maass, Grant Park; Milton Bilyard, route 1, Bourbonnais; Willard Krech, Grant Park; Arthur Jensen, route 1, Bonfield; Francis McGrath, route 1, Wilmington; Matthew Vanderwal, route 2, St. Anne; Richard Gifford, Cabery, and Earl Johnson, Momence.

Dredge Boat Is At Large In The Pacific; 14 Aboard

San Pedro, Calif., Aug. 21—(AP)—Mackay radio reported the S. S. Chippewa radioed that a dredge carrying 14 men broke loose in the Pacific ocean at 1 a. m., (3 a. m., cst) today and was drifting helplessly.

The coast guard said the position reported would be about 900 to 1,000 miles south of here. It added that although the dredge would be subject to whims of wind and waves, it presumably carried food and water. The men aboard thus could survive for days if the craft were not swamped, it added, but they would have no control over the dredge's direction.

6 Million Dollar U-Boat Launched

New London, Conn., Aug. 21—(AP)—The $6,000,000 submarine Gato, was launched today at the Electric Boat company's yards, where ten more submarines were in various stages of construction and 30 more on order.

The Gato slid down greased ways into the Thames river, her torpedo tube construction masked by draped canvas.

Mrs. Louise Van H. Ingersoll, of Washington, was sponsor for the 300 foot, 1450 ton vessel.

GET BUILDING PERMITS

A building permit has been issued to Ben Greenberg for erection of a $10,000 two-story brick residence at 1147 South Evergreen avenue. Ray Benoit is the contractor. William Vaught has obtained a permit to erect a service station and bulk plant for the Vaught Oil company in the 1200 block on North Schuyler avenue.

Will Reward Safest Bike Riders Here

To demonstrate how bicycling can be made safe, Dave Dillon and Liz Astroth, University of Illinois football stars, will be here next Monday and Tuesday to conduct a safety program in conjunction with the state highway department and the chamber of commerce.

Testing lanes will be set up in the parks of Kankakee to determine first whether the bicycles are in good mechanical condition and whether they fit the riders. Many severe falls are due to parts of the bicycles breaking and throwing riders.

Following the inspection, there will be a demonstration of skillful riding and a discussion of the proper manner in which to ride. One-half of the bicycle accidents occur among youngsters between 5 and 14 years of age. To those successfully passing the bike safety tests, Illini award buttons will be given.

County Fair, Successful, Ends Tomorrow

Free Acts Attract Many Visitors; More Premium Awards

The largest crowd attending the Kankakee county fair to date swarmed through the gates last evening to witness the exhibits and participate in the midway carnival games of skill and other attractions.

The free acts of entertainment at the far north end of Neal's showgrounds drew large audiences, as did most of the shows.

Uncle Harry's Jamboree, composed of the familiar radio character and his 12 child stars, which made a debut this afternoon before an enthusiastic audience, will be presented again this evening at 8 p. m. in the free act tent.

Farm Sports Program

This afternoon a farm sports program was held with farm boys and girls participating in various contests.

Tomorrow, the closing day, will feature the 4-H club style revue at 1:30 p. m., livestock parade at 2:30 p. m., Uncle Harry's Jamboree at 3 p. m. and 8:30 p. m. and a greased pig catching contest at 7:30 p. m.

An addition list of premium awards made yesterday was announced today as follows:

Farmers Report Field Corn Stolen

Sheriff Dan Bergan today warned persons against helping themselves to farmers' corn along the highways. Such persons are subject to arrest for trespassing and larceny and will be so prosecuted if caught, the sheriff said.

A number of complaints have been received, chiefly in the vicinity north of Bradley and the Alphonse Cyrier farm, where people have been stealing field corn, apparently supposing it to be of the "sweet" variety.

Ukraine peasants salvaged grain from the ruins of a granary left burning by retreating Russian forces, according to a Berlin source. This photo was sent from Berlin to New York via radio.

British Air Force Roars Over Enemy

London, Aug. 21 — (AP) — Two big waves of the British air force roared over the channel and France in daylight sweeps today in a continuation of the British offensive. Shipping as well as shore objectives were the targets.

Fighter planes strafed Nazi airfields in France and a coastal command bomber scored a direct hit on a hostile supply ship off southern Norway during the night, the air ministry reported.

German fliers came over the channel in small numbers and some bombs were dropped in East Anglia last night causing little damage and no casualties, the air home security ministries reported.

K. C. Fall Festival To Swell Fund For Service Men

The Knights of Columbus will sponsor a fall festival Oct. 9-11 at the K. C. hall, it was announced today by Victor Cardosi, grand knight.

The event is being revived after a lapse of a decade in order to raise funds for the benefit of the soldiers and sailors recreation center which has been established in the K. C. building. The lodge members have turned over their own clubrooms to the men in the service, about 300 to 400 of whom come here every week-end, principally from the air corps technical school at Rantoul.

Leo St. Hilaire has been named chairman of the festival program committee which plans to have carnival events, entertainment acts, dancing and other activities on all three evenings. An auto will be given away, attendance awards will be made and prizes donated by more than 100 merchants will be awarded.

Women Are Urged To Cut Length Of Their Skirts

New York, Aug. 21—(AP)—A clarion call to American women to "cut skirt lengths several inches" was issued today by the National Women's Undergarment Manufacturers Association.

The members of the association indicated they would cooperate by shortening up on their own specialties, just how, they didn't say.

Helen Forrist Hall, Associated Press fashion expert, raised her eyebrows when informed of the action.

"Skirt hems," she said, "already are slapping at our knees. Now what?"

Kankakee "Spy" Is Subject To Execution

But Its All Imaginary As He Takes Part In Uncle Sam's War Games

With the Army in Southwest Washington, Aug. 21—(AP)—Dressed as a farmer to spy out enemy positions, an army private was detected by his regulation shoes.

Private Roy W. Noye of Kankakee, Ill., was assigned to scout patrol duty in the west coast maneuvers shortly after his arrival from Fort Ord, Calif. He decided on a lone wolf espionage mission.

Disguising himself as a farmer, the mild-mannered little rookie penetrated enemy lines and fairly bulged with information when he was captured just as he started to return toward his own lines last night.

"I found some old overalls, slipped into a barn and put them on," he explained. "I surely must have looked like a hayseed because I passed one military policeman after another without being stopped."

A civilian Noye questioned about the disposition of enemy forces proved his undoing. The civilian actually thought Noye was a spy and hurried to the nearest army post

Leningrad Is Proclaimed Under Threat

Germans Claim 25 Soviet Divisions Smashed In Great Battle

BULLETIN

Berlin, Aug. 21—(AP)—The news agency DNB distributed a statement today stressing the contention that the war with Russia was being fought "to gain preconditions for the final struggle with Great Britain," and insisting that the offensive punch of the navy and air force against the British Isles has not been weakened.

BULLETIN

Moscow, Aug. 21—(AP)—The Soviet air force again dropped high explosive and incendiary bombs on military objectives in the Berlin area last night, starting fires and explosions, it was announced late today.

No Soviet aircraft was lost, it was stated.

Moscow, Aug. 21—(AP)—Leningrad was proclaimed under "direct threat of attack," by the Red army northwest command today as Marshal Klementi Voroshilov called on the people to rise in arms and defend their city to the death.

(If Leningrad is defended, the German radio declared, it will suffer the fate of Warsaw, Poland's capital, which was pounded for days by the Luftwaffe and Nazi siege guns at its gates before the Poles surrendered it.)

Voroshilov acknowledged "dread danger" to the city but expressed confidence that its defenses would hold, declaring Russia's second city and czarist capital "never was and never will be in the hands of the enemy."

The population was exhorted to train new detachments of workers for the people's army to support the regular army.

Leningrad has about 25 per cent of the Soviet working class. It was defended successfully by Joseph Stalin in 1919 when it was threatened during the civil war.

Fighting Throughout Night

The Soviet information bureau said fighting had raged through the night in the Novgorod region, about 100 miles south of Leningrad, as well as in the Gomel sector on the center of the eastern front and around Odessa in the south.

It reported no change in the situation but the Red army newspaper, Red Star, said Russian forces pressing their counter-attack in the central sector had recaptured several towns yesterday.

Russians reported a Soviet counter thrust on the central front which brought into play—apparently for the first time—Russia's publicized parachute troops and airborne tanks.

The Germans, too, used their parachute troops and air-borne tanks, the Soviet communique said, but it said that when they landed in the vicinity of a bridge a Red army

Woman Gun-Toter Put On Probation

Alberta Toran, 37, gun-toting colored woman of 733 North Wildwood avenue, pleaded guilty in county court yesterday to a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

County Judge C. D. Henry granted her request for probation which is to extend for three months. Assistant State's Attorney Armen Blanke represented the state at the hearing.

Moscow Conference Scheduled For Early Part Of September

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Washington, Aug. 21 — (UP) — The Moscow conference of American, British, and Russian experts to make long-range plans for "a complete victory" over Nazi Germany, will be held early in September, diplomatic sources said today.

The conference was proposed by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.

These sources indicated the date of the conference has been set but is being kept a secret, as are the travel plans of the American and British representatives.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull has declined to discuss details of the meeting, referring all questions to the White House. Some sources said Harry Hopkins, lend-lease coordinator, is formulating the details of American participation in the conference.

Mr. Roosevelt and the prime minister decided to propose the conference after hearing the report of Hopkins on his visit to Moscow where he made a hasty survey of Russian needs.

The government pushed its program of giving immediate aid to the Red army.

Federal Loan Administrator Jesse Jones indicated that the United States would be willing to lend money to Russia through the export-import bank and revealed that he planned to confer soon with Soviet Ambassador Constantinte A. Oumansky.

Russia has been paying cash for all her purchases. The extent of her resources is not known. No request has been made for lend-lease aid, and the White House several times has indicated that on such request would be forthcoming at this time.

Jones said funds could be made available to Russia on her "promissory note." Also, he said, a "swap" arrangement by which the Soviet would exchange strategic materials in which the U. S. is deficient for war materials is possible. The Soviet government has never defaulted on its own obligations in this country.

State Capital Ready To Act As Host To American Legion

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 21—(UP)—A flag bedecked city greeted the first arrivals here today for the annual Illinois American Legion convention which starts tomorrow and ends Monday. An approximate 4,000 Legionnaires and auxiliary delegates are expected to attend.

Action which the world war veterans may take on the national administration's foreign policy and extension of draftees, national guard and regular army service and the election of a senior vice commander occupied attention of the early arrivals.

Resolutions placing the Legion on record for or against the eight point program agreed on by President Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill at their historic meeting in the Atlantic ocean were expected to be considered.

Four were listed as outstanding candidates for the senior vice commandership who automatically succeeds to the commandership next year. They are Francis E. Phelan, Joseph Bernhardt, Gordon Quinn and Russell Root all of Cook county.

N. Curtis Cation, Peoria, present senior vice commander, is automatically slated for state commander. He will succeed William F. Waugh, Chicago. Under Legion rules when the commander is from downstate the senior vice commander must be from Cook county and vice versa.

A boom for Paul F. Armstrong, Chicago, state selective service director, for national commander, is scheduled to be launched at the convention. He is said to have the support of both Gov. Dwight H. Green and former Gov. John H. Stelle, both Legionnaires.

Hotels reported every room reserved and more than 1,000 rooms are reserved in private residences. From 1,000 to 1,500 members of bands and drum and bugle corps will be housed in buildings at the Illinois state fairgrounds.

Final arrangements for the convention were made last night at a meeting of committees and convention officers. State headquarters were opened this morning by William C. Mundt, department adjutant.

How Movies And Radio Help Rediscovery Of Human Voice

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

The present decade may well be remembered as the period of the rediscovery of the human voice, and professions, such as radio and the talking pictures are dependent upon convincing and cultivated voice production. Hundreds of thousands of people, where there used to be one or two, are ambitious to succeed in some line of industry which requires this form of cultivation.

The voice is produced by the vocal cords, when air is forced over them, and they are drawn sufficiently together to leave a fine opening called glottis. The length of the glottis in the adult male averages 18 cm., and in the female 12 cm.

Speech is composed of fundamentals called vowels and consonants. As speech proceeds, there is a constant shifting of these sounds which depend for their modification upon the shape of the resonating cavities. When the sounds are continuous, they are called continuants, and when the sound stream is interrupted, they are called stops.

Physical Properties

There are four physical properties of speech which make it characteristic, pitch, intensity, timing and quality.

Pitch is the compass of the voice. It goes through and below the middle C. Intensity depends on the pressure of the air behind the glottis, which the air coming up from the chest and lungs, with a bower when he finds a place to land on his opponent—this is put to the amount of energy behind the blow is intensity.

Timing is of the utmost importance in the effectiveness of any kind of speech. The emotion behind the speech is shown in the timing. Rapidity is for conveying excitement, and for abrupt communication, deliberation is emphasis in argument. President Roosevelt, as an orator, has it all, pitch, intensity, timbre and timing, but the great effectiveness of his oratory certainly lies in his timing.

Timbre depends very largely on the size of the glottis and on the amount of air space in the sinuses around the nose and the upper jaw. These cavities in the upper jaw from a sort of sounding board which give the characteristic resonants and personalits to the voice. By their timbre, you recognize various individuals over the telephone.

All these elements can be cultivated best by practice and imitation, but other formal instruction is necessary for all natural deficiencies given by voice and singing teachers. It has been found useful when singing teachers insist on, which means breathing from the breath stream against the palate or facial passages to produce a particular sound is evidently unscientific since the air is governed by the laryngeal muscles and placed for resonating cavities. The result of this teaching is usually a throaty effect.

Controlled by Mind

In voice production the mind still controls the mechanism. The singer, when consulting a note of music, must have a mental image of that note. The good singer knows in his brain about first a mental adjustment and then as physical adjustment to produce the note desired. Singing teachers are coming to the medical profession for throat medicine, and with the pressure of the modern age the medical profession is reawakening to its interest in this subject which has become so close to our daily lives.

Questions and Answers

S.F.W.—I have been on a reducing diet. I never drink but one cup of black coffee at breakfast and do not seem to care for a hot drink at any other time of day. My weight averages 164, height 5'11". Is this ailment a high blood pressure. Is there any drink to be substituted for coffee?

Answer—I do not believe you should try to substitute anything for black coffee. You probably need a rest cure, and it will do your blood pressure good rather than harm.

Statue Of Farmer Created In Italy Stands In Indiana

Rushville, Ind. Aug. 21 —INS— John Owen, a farmer, died in 1894 at the age of thirty-four following the first Rush county appendicitis operation. Today a likeness of Owen, sculptured in Italy, stands in the little cemetery of nearby Moscow.

After Owen died as a result of the operation in his sister-stricken parents decided to erect a statue of their son over his grave in the Moscow cemetery. But at first there were numerous difficulties they were not to be overcome.

They could have the sculpturing done by an Indiana craftsman, only to go to a Rushville firm when the craftsmen proved unsatisfactory. The Shelbyville firm informed the couple that only in Italy could a truly life like statue be sculptured.

The order then went to Italy together with a photograph and measurements of Owen. Several years passed and then one day a large wooden box arrived containing the statue.

Although the statue was chiefly white marble, the facial and hair features were satisfied and the marble likeness of the young man was placed over his grave. But the Owens declared that the statue lacked something. The statue was hatchet headed and the hand rains and the suits was continually bent down on the unprotected marble face.

This situation was remedied by engaging one of their sons lost to on the Italian sculptors with a plea to duplicate it. Again a long period between and the stone had arrived. It was placed on the statue's head. Mission accomplished.

Police Have Odd Way Of Counting Crowds Of People

Aug. 21 —INS— One of the most unusual methods of counting crowds is used by the police department in Los Angeles, Cal., where they are always on the lookout for new ways to count large crowds.

The police department has a system of counting the number of cars in the parking lots. The number of cars is then multiplied by the average number of persons in each car. The result is the approximate number of persons in the crowd.

Urges End Of All Personal Tax Exemptions

Proposes Taxes Be Collected At Source Like Social Security

Washington, Aug. 21—(AP)—A recommendation that congress wipe out completely all tax exemptions on personal incomes was laid before the senate finance committee today by Walter A. M. Cooper, chairman of the taxation committee of the American Institute of Accountants.

Present exemptions are $1,000 for married persons and $800 for single individuals. The treasury has recommended a reduction to $1,500 and $750 respectively.

Collect at Source

In a prepared statement, Cooper also urged that normal income taxes be withheld at the source on all payments of salaries, dividends, interest "and other fixed or determinable income. Social security taxes now are collected in a similar manner.

The recommendations, Cooper said, were based on five considerations:

1. The federal government originally set up the income tax "to add a little 'gravy' to the federal revenue." Now, however, the levy is the government's chief revenue producer.

2. "Our defense is being developed to protect the right of everyone to live and to earn any income whatsoever and there is no reason why every person in the United States should not contribute a share of that burden, proportionate to the amount of income, if any.

Prevent Inflation

3. "The imposition of tax on all incomes without exemption would tend to prevent inflation of prices and probably would be more helpful in accomplishing the desired result in that respect than anything heretofore suggested.

4. "The collection at the source would  * make the problem of collection simpler than it is today. * * *

5.—Elimination of exemption would produce a very substantial amount of revenue."

In another field of taxation, the distilled spirits institute told the finance committee in a prepared statement that taxes on distilled spirits had been increased 273 per cent since repeal and "can be raised to the point where legal sales and public revenues will suffer alike to the benefit of the bootlegger and illicit producer."

Conference Aims To Collect Many Pioneer Ballads

Denver, Colo., Aug. 21—(INS)—Much maligned ballads of the "Bury Me Not on the Lone Prarie" and "Oh Along Little Dogie" type have finally found a champion.

No less august a body than the western Folklore conference recently convened at Denver university for the sole purpose of collecting and preserving these sentimental songs for posterity.

The conference—which lists among its members such experts on early American as John A. Lomax, consultant of the folksong archive at the library of congress, and Louise Pound, faculty member of the University of Nebraska—have determined that songs of this type must not be doomed to oblivion or suffer devitalizing change.

Most pioneer ballads sprang spontaneously from the lips of their cowboy composer. Many of them were never written down, and today are sung only from memory. For that reason, the conference announced a unified program to set them down on paper and immortalize them for future generations.

Leader Lomax is a veteran at such work. He began ballad hunting at an early age and continued his hobby later with the assistance of a Harvard university fellowship. On a recent 25,000-mile tour of the country, he made recordings of folk songs and tales collected from odd corners.

Mountain music may be only a tearful little earful to some radio listeners, but to the western folklore conference it is tradition with a capital "T," and they are determined America is going to listen and like it.

Road Squabble Brings Threat Of City's Secession

Grove, Okla., Aug. 21—(INS)—This northeastern Oklahoma community, virtually isolated from the rest of the state by the rising lake of Grand river dam, is threatening to "secede" from Oklahoma and become a part of Arkansas—if the state highway commission does not build new roads soon.

Grove is cut off even from Jay, the Delaware county seat, and has access to the outside world only through Arkansas and Missouri.

Other northeastern Oklahomans are clamoring for action also. The people of Ottawa and Craig counties, as well as those in Delaware county are angered at being cut off from Tulsa, Oklahoma City and the other large communities.

U. S. highway 59 is inundated at two points. U. S. 60 is almost ready to go under water, portions of state highway 10 are flooded and a half-dozen important farm-to-market roads are now part of the lake bottom.

Gov. Leon C. Phillips declared martial law last spring in a fruitless effort to halt construction of the $22,700,000 hydro-electric project until road problems were solved.

The land and water area of the Netherlands East Indies is about equal to the land area of continental United States.

Empty Buses Pack Detroit Yards

Detroit's buses and street cars were idle in seven city terminals because of a jurisdictional dispute between rival A. F. of L. and CIO unions. The A. F. of L. walkout will force an estimated 400,000 office and factory workers to find the forces who have taken over cars will be taken over by women their husband's jobs. Others have previously worked in banks or as secretaries but find traveling more interesting.

"I could not be more satisfied with results these girls have brought back after a month on tours," said a director of our big firm. "When we decided to try the experiment we were apprehensive some of the shopkeepers had for years done all their business with men.

"As more of our men travelers are called up their order books and

Governor Plans Nine-Day Tour Of The State

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 21—(AP)—Governor Green will leave Sept. 2 for a nine-day tour of the state to learn at first hand the condition of state institutions, parks, highways and other state activities.

The tour will be the first comprehensive inspection trip for the governor since he took office last January.

"In a genuine effort to determine the progress being made in state institutions and to learn at first hand the necessity for further improvements, Governor Green is seeking, insofar as possible, to avoid any gatherings of a political nature," Harry S. Canfield, superintendent of reports, announced.

The tour will start Sept. 2 from Geneva and the first day's activities will include inspection of route 330 and a visit to White Pines state park. The governor, accompanied by state officials and newsmen, will then head south, visiting Rock Island, Quincy, Alton, East St. Louis and Murphysboro before going to Olney, Orchard lake and Giant City state park.

The concluding days of the trip will be spent in eastern Illinois, including visits to Danville and Champaign.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6 add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

GAS HOUSE-HEATER

Amazing new unit provides uniform automatic heat...can be used in hot air furnace or hot water boiler—operates on special low gas-heating rate.

Only $49.50

Ready for use . . . including automatic thermostat control.

Small carrying charge added for deferred payments

With a detachable, automatic Gas House-Heater your Fall (and Spring!) furnace worries are over. For up to the time when real cold winter weather sets in, this amazing unit will maintain uniform temperatures automatically. You simply place the heater in the door of your furnace—set the thermostat to the temperature you want—then forget it. When the weather gets chilly, the heater operates automatically as long as heat is needed. And when the weather gets warm again—the heater shuts off.

The entire unit weighs less than 14 pounds. You can attach or remove it with ease . . . no nuts, bolts or wrenches required—no pipes to disconnect. It does not interfere with regular winter furnace operation, nor does it require any alterations to furnace, grates or fire box.

Hundreds of satisfied users have said goodbye to fall furnace worries. Why not you? Write, phone or come in for full particulars—now.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By Paul Mallon

Washington, Aug. 20—This mixed-up mess of a gasoline curtailment program in eastern states is surrounded by so much mystery and confusion no one can ascertain objectively today even the basic fact of whether the program is fully justified yet.

The National Petroleum News, trade publication of the industry, says stocks of gasoline on hand in east coast storage tanks on Aug. 9 were slightly larger than the same week-end a year ago. It computed the total of barrels that on the shortage ground at 21,686,000. A year ago the same eastern tanks held 21,317,000 barrels.

The Aug. 9 week showed an increase over the previous week, when 21,438,000 barrels of gasoline were ready for distribution in the eastern area (a decrease from the Aug. 2 week of last year when 22,221,000 barrels were on hand.)

These figures do not indicate a shortage.

Mr. Ickes' own bureau of mines has officially announced, in its routine statistics, the amount of crude oil refinery stock at east coast refineries on Aug. 9 was increasing, not decreasing. It estimated 14,250,000 barrels on hand that week, whereas only 12,978,000 barrels were assembled in the so-called shortage area the week ending Aug 2.

These figures, likewise seem to fall to justify the closing of gasoline stations from 7 p. m. to 7 a. m. or the 10 per cent distribution curtailment ordered subsequently.

The confusing publicity which has attended the program from its inception, is based on the supposition that the transfer of tankers to the British has already made, or will eventually make—which one is not clear—the shortage.

The independent oil people (in contradistinction to the representatives of the large companies who now have representatives working in Ickes office) have been grumbling around Washington that there should not be a shortage of tankers.

This government, they say, has acquisitions total 37, fully replacing the 32, say the independents.

The Oil Control administration says nothing, contending all news of tankers is a military secret.

One recent tanker shipment was not kept a secret, however, despite the appeal May 22 of Admiral Land, chairman of the Maritime commission. He then asked that newspapers refrain from publishing the departure of all merchant ships carrying materials to belligerents, especially dates and destinations.

Not a single item of such news had been printed until Mr. Ickes, the oil coordinator, publicly announced last week that a tanker sailing from a California port for Vladivostok, and he named the date it would leave.

The announcement constituted practically a dare to the Japanese to do something about it, as Tokyo had protested earlier the shipment of materials to the Reds.

In the midst of the confusion, Mr. Ickes has slipped off for "three weeks to a month" vacation, in seclusion at Mt. Olympic National park (administered by his Interior department), carrying the mystery skein of the policy with him.

What the independent oil men fear is that he will emerge from his seclusion to point out what everybody can already see—namely that the cumbersom; and almost absurd efforts of his Oil Control administration to curtail consumption, have failed. They fear he will say he will have to ration gasoline and will issue 6,000,000 cards to all motorist consumers.

This might prod the people of the country into a personal appreciation of the nearness of war to them, and the power to Hitler to disturb their lives, but so far it seems only to be making them angry with Mr. Ickes. His curtailment advice is being roundly hissed, and frequently booed, in the public cinema palaces in Washington. At restaurants and gas stations, the phrase that "Ickes is the most hated man in the United States" is commonly heard expressed with heat.

Thus it seems far more likely now that the government will have to start all over again at the beginning in the curtailment program, lay its cards on the table justify the necessity and thus obtain whole-hearted cooperation. The original mistake may merely have been in letting such an unredeemable irritant as Mr. Ickes get control of the program (instead of, say Hopkins, Jones or Wallace) and in his reliance on the cooperation of the large oil companies, without seeking public support by frank justification of the necessity.

CHAPTER XXVII

Gene came again, as she knew he would.

A week of sickening suspense. A week in which she looked doors and windows before and after opening or closing the doorbell. A week that she was afraid to stay home, and afraid to go out. For even if he didn't come back, wasn't it possible for him somewhere on the street?

It was all useless. He came on a Monday morning, just after she had put Donny out in his buggy in the yard, in the sun. He rang the front doorbell, and for once she ran to answer it, without thinking that it might be he.

She had been doing some washing. The sleeves of her old yellow smock were rolled up, and her hands were still damp.

And there he stood, shabby as ever, dark stubble on his cheeks and chin.

"Hello there, Christie! How are you?"

He was affable, friendly. A little too friendly. It was always so easy for Gene to talk, to speak of things, unimportant things, when something important still remained to be said.

But there was no small-talk in Christie. She had to come to the point.

"She came to it now. "Gene—why have you come back?"

He smiled. "And why shouldn't I? After all we're old friends, and you were pretty nice to me last time."

"Gene, I don't have to tell you that we can never be friends again. You know that. You aren't going to bring your wife to see me, and I'm not going to introduce my husband to you. It is just one of those things that wouldn't work, and we both know it. If you've come back you've come back for some reason, and you may as well tell it now. I can't afford to buy a sweeper right now either, so if that's it—"

"No, that isn't it. Matter of fact I'm not selling them any more."

"Oh?"

"Yes, I lost out. Too many promises, not enough down payments. Aren't you going to ask me in, so that I can tell you about it?"

She pointed to the chairs on the porch. "We can sit here."

"Oke. It's all right with me, but I get you, Christie. You disappoint me. You were always such a tender-hearted little thing. You don't look so very different, either. Still the same pretty Christie—"

"I haven't time for that sort of thing, Gene. I'm busy. If you had a reason for coming you may as well tell it. Otherwise I'll have to ask you—"

His lip curled in the old, insolent manner. "Now it's Adolphus Cooper's daughter talking. Chip off the old block. Well, that's one admire nerve. Got so little of it myself. I've been a week nerving myself to come back, and my knees are shaking yet—"

"I don't notice the shaking. Leave dad out of this, will you?"

"All right, all right! But I'll tell you why I thought of him. I need money, Christie—need it bad. If your dad's estate isn't settled yet, why anyway it would be easy for you to raise a little. You'd have security enough. I'd pay you back when I got on my feet. Lord knows I can't go to a bank and borrow. I don't own anything but the clothes on my back. Up home the folks are about ready to lose the ranch, and it is going to be a tough winter for them. No water all summer, and feed up sky high—"

When he talked about home he was more like himself. Like the old Gene.

She said, impulsively, "Oh, I'm so sorry! Poor Madame Dubois—after working so hard! But I haven't anything either, and I won't get anything out of the estate. Of course everybody thought I was dad's daughter, but I wasn't, I'm not even related. They just adopted me, when I was a baby."

He looked ill. A greenish pallor settled slowly over his dark features. He took out a dingy handkerchief and wiped his forehead. But he kept his dark, troubled eyes on her.

"You're kidding me," he said.

She smiled a little.

"I wish I were. Gene! I almost thought you were kidding me when they told me about it. First. It's sort of hard to take. But it's no use. The cat isn't out of the bag. I'm no heiress. Gene, I don't get anything out of the estate."

He couldn't take his eyes off her. He said, "Well, can you beat that? And, "Of all the rotten luck!" And as she knew, moaned, "Oh, Christie!" staring at her, seeming to have forgotten why he had come.

She rose. He might have gone then But Donny waked. Began to cry lustily.

She intended to let him cry, to pretend it was a neighbor's child. But what mother can look indifferently upon her child crive for help? Christie couldn't.

"You didn't tell me you had a baby," Gene said.

There was no use pretending. She walked across the yard, picked him up and lifted the child in her arms.

Gene followed. He still looked sick, but his whole face lit up, as he put out a finger, and the baby curled his tiny pink hand around it.

"Look at that! Kids always go for me. I was the first one Laurence—that's my kid, you know—seemed to want to go to. First word he said was 'papa'—not mama, like most kids, but papa. See? From the first that kid was putty in my hands. Whatever I say, goes. His mother can scream her lungs out and the kid does as he pleases, see? But one word out of me, and he quits the monkey business. I don't know a hand on him either. Say, he's too much of that when I was a kid myself. Well, he's sure a fine boy, Christie! Yours? I mean, what did you say his name was?"

"Donald—"

"Oh, yeah. Sure—after his dad. I hear he's a pretty good saw-bones over in Los Angeles. Told me he'd take me on any time, but I got some room rent here, and the expense of driving down— Well, that's why I came, figured you might help me out. Now—well! I don't know what to do. Say, you couldn't lend me a hundred, could you? Say for about three months?"

"A hundred dollars!" She looked at him, wide-eyed, her lips parted.

"Sure—just a hundred. I don't enjoy asking, either, but when you've got a child you got to put your pride in your pocket sometimes. I tell you the truth, Christie, you're my last hope. What I'm telling you about the job and the kid is on the level. Say, even with fifty dollars I could get out of here. It might mean saving the kid's life. If I don't get it, I don't know what I'll do—don't up somebody—shoot, steal, anything! —I'm desperate!"

He got the money.

"For the baby's sake," she said.

Donald wasn't well.

"Nothing—just my eyes," he said. But he was thin and pale, aged there in the dark attic room. He was tired, dull eyes.

"I wish you wouldn't work so hard." Christie would say wistfully, but he'd just laugh and tell her not to fuss.

It wasn't until the cold that had been troubling him got so bad that she learned he had been doing extra work for Whitney.

Whitney told her. Whitney, who had been interested in his career, experiments. Whitney, whom Donald hated ever since she and Donald were married, because it was always he who kept Donald out late at the laboratory, encouraged him to spend all the spare time he had on the Sundays he might have spent with his family.

He looked at her out of his bloodshot eyes under the white thatch of his bushy eyebrows, and said:

"I don't like it. He's losing and gaining weight. He's not getting a pace much longer."

That's what I feel, him." she said. "He's just never home! Dr. Romaine, and a smile crossed Tom's face. Then she paused on to Rosalind Whitney, and the smile left her face. She stuffed at Mari Pickford, Hildegarde Patricia Ellis and Jane Wyman. Then she paused on Joel McCrea. He stuffed at Mari Pickford, Hildegarde Patricia Ellis and Wendy Barrie, but when his daughter turned the page to Andy Hone, Sr., Kaufery, the expression changed.

So she turned again — to Jules Romaines and a smile crossed Toscanini's lips.

She turned another page — to Maurice Martenlink

This was all the massive pencil bear. He grabbed for the pencil, mumbled back to an empty page, and said "Mmmm!" in finality, a sound that would have made John Hancock look timid.

MISS MIDNIGHT'S NOTEBOOK

From time to time during this space I have contended that there is a growing unwillingness on the part of planned girls for gentlemen who write, and of late I have observed this to be more true than ever. The true Gentlemen of the Fourth Estate and thereafter thereof are sauntering into the nineries with belles of phenomenal gorgeousness looked more fetchingly than ever. I notice that when a movie starlet arrives and finds no publicity man chooses to see the sights with a fast man at the typewriter.

Now it is true that clever young gentlemen in no way connected with the press frequently are seen in the company of very beautiful girls—Al Bloomingdale, Horace Schmidlapp, Hartford and Alexis Thompson come instantly to mind—but these are the exceptions. It is generally rumored to have more money than they can count (unless cannot be certain) and engaging the interest of the beautiful girls on charm alone

The newspaper fellows can't.

As a group the newspaper fellows work chiefly for love, and it became he likes the smell of ink and enjoys the feel of a city room. Editors understand the pleasure inherent in making puzzles out of one word after another on paper, and are loathe to commercialize this pastime by compelling a man to do it.

The fact has received wide publicity as when the beautiful belles answer the telephone and it is a newspaperman calling, the thoughts of emeralds fly out the window. But the ink-flavored charm gets 'em.

Why it was only three evenings ago that I was in the Rainbow room casting an eye over the cloth of gold dresses and the diamonds in the room were with writing fellows—Jo Ann Sayres with Frank Hart, Constance Bennett with Gene Walker, Betty Allen with Frank Young, Joan Leslie with Bill Larsen and Carmen D'Antonio with Paul Martin.

The boys are irresistible, that's all.

Maestro Arturo Toscanini visited Le Cafe Arnold a few nights ago and his arrival was heralded by the proprietor in a complete whirl. Arnold empties the contents of the humidors of celebrities and the sight of the great conductor made him quite weak.

Toscanini's daughter Mrs. Vladimir Horowitz, was with him and upon being up the subject to the maestro when dinner was finished so that the moral fact could be established she started showing him the pictures and autographs of those who had already signed the book.

First she showed him Frances Farmer. Then she paused on to Rosalind Russell. She stuffed at Mari Pickford. Hildegarde Patricia Ellis and Jane Wyman. Then she paused on Joel McCrea. He stuffed at Mari Pickford, Hildegarde Patricia Ellis and Wendy Barrie, but when his daughter turned the page to Andy Hone, Sr., Kaufery, the expression changed.

So she turned again — to Jules Romaines and a smile crossed Toscanini's lips.

She turned another page — to Maurice Martenlink

This was all the massive pencil bear. He grabbed for the pencil, mumbled back to an empty page, and said "Mmmm!" in finality, a sound that would have made John Hancock look timid.

Great Lakes May Double Its Force

Capacity Could be Boosted To 15,000 Men If It Became Necessary

Lakes Ill. Aug. 21—The great Lakes naval training station could be boosted to 15,000 men from its present capacity of 7,000 men a month by doubling the number of barracks and preparing to double the number of mess halls, recruits from northern Illinois and Wisconsin were informed today.

Under the basic course of instruction fundamentals have been given eight to nine weeks, new and refresher courses in gunnery and other arts are being planned and the Great Lakes capacity is expected to be 15,000.

Lieut. Comdr. Walter Lee Kinos, attending conference officials at Great Lakes naval training station, announced yesterday completion of the new Rear Admiral Isaac Dyer hall, the appearance of the 500 acre station and for the morale of the men.

"best I've seen," commented Kinos.

Lieutenant said there was no intention to expand the world war one station at one time as 47,000 men were being trained at the station on the shore of Lake Michigan just below Waukegan.

The navy started to increase its personnel several years ago, they pointed out, and there should be no need of pushing the brigadiers beyond the present wooded area.

In the World war, an additional 500 acres to the westward was acquired for temporary barracks. That area now is used by the Dorothy Veterans hospital.

The Great Lakes training station, which also includes a service school for enlisted instruction of naval men, is one of three establishments in the Chicago area here with the Industrial of men into the navy.

Glenview Airport

At the Glenview airport 100 men each month are being taught to fly navy planes. There are eight instruction hours in the air and makes his solo flight. Here the instruction is given to the advanced flying for all aeronautic Pensacola or Corpus Christi point, and the officers are now being organized there. In training are the "Flying Budgets," a group recruited from the University of Wisconsin. "Flying Boilermakers" from Purdue and the "Flying Irish" from Notre Dame. Soon to arrive are the "Chicago men squadron," sponsored by world fliers from the Windy City.

On Northwestern university's downtown campus, 600 midshipmen now are training to become naval officers as Ensign speeds four months there before being assigned to fleet duty.

County School Superintendents To The Capital

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 21—(AP)—John A. Wieland, state superintendent of public instruction, said today he had invited all county school superintendents in the state to attend a meeting here next Thursday at which laws pertaining to education passed by the 62nd general assembly will be outlined and discussed.

Among obligations of county school superintendents created by recent legislation is that to call in all school board members of their counties before October 15 to set up county school survey committees.

The committees formed will be charged with the task of examining the entire school situations in their respective counties and reporting recommendations, after holding public hearings before December 31 of next year to the county superintendents. Before March 31, 1943, the reports must be filed with the state office of public instruction. Each county was allotted $750 for expenses of its survey.

Other subjects to be discussed are revisions in the teachers' tenure law, teacher qualifications, changes in the state aid law, and the general availability of school teachers.

Some county superintendents have reported an increasing shortage of teachers in their areas due to employment in national defense projects and business.

Aimee M'Pherson's Church Adopts New Divorce Program

Los Angeles, Aug. 21—(AP)—Aimee Semple McPherson's church has adopted a by-law which at one time would have barred the famous evangelist herself from its ministry.

Over the opposition of Atty. Gen. Roll K. McPherson, the International Church of the Four Square Gospel voted to forbid its ministers, who have been divorced to remarry.

Mrs. McPherson has been married three times and twice divorced. Her present husband is Rod's father. His old McPherson, whom she married after the death of her first husband Robert Semple, ended in divorce.

A subsequent marriage to David Hutton then a choir singer in Aimee's temple also was followed by a divorce.

Mrs. McPherson, founder-president of the church, supported the new regulation during a two hour discussion in its 1941 annual convention yesterday. She declared she had observed that "God blesses those who have taken a stand against divorce."

Convention leaders said the by-law is not retroactive in its application.

Pleasure Boat Capsizes; Two Are Drowned

Branson, Mo. Aug. 21—(UP)—A child's playful grab for the wheel of a pleasure boat on Lake Taneycomo today was blamed for the death of William G. Hild 42-year-old Kirkwood, Mo., salesman and his wife, Martha, 33.

The couple's two children, Betty Ann, 7, and Carole Sue 4, were rescued from the water by Ruben F. Koch, city engineer for East St. Louis, Ill. Hild sank at once when the boat, the Southern Cross, capsized. And efforts of Pilot Lester Branson to rescue Mrs. Hild were unsuccessful.

Coroner Bob Thornhill said he learned the boat overturned after one of the children playfully took hold of the wheel. The craft swerved, throwing its occupants into the water.

Branson kept the child in effect until Koch leaped into the water from another boat and took charge of the children. The pilot tried to save Mrs. Hild but she broke from his grasp and went down near the shore.

The bodies of the couple were recovered several hours later. Their children were placed under the care of a nurse in a hotel near the lake.

By LEON KAY

United Press Staff Correspondent

With the Third Army in Louisiana, Aug. 21—(UP)—If the United States gets into war, watch for "rolling fourth"—the streamlined "triangular" motorized division of the fourth army corps of the third army. It may make history.

The "rolling fourth" is not participating in the preliminary third army maneuvers and will not engage in the September war games when the second and third armies meet. It has more urgent matters in hand.

The division leaves shortly for its home grounds, Fort Benning, Ga., to be further streamlined into the United States army's first "tank chaser" division. It hopes to make its debut as such in the South Carolina maneuvers next November.

Stage Own War Games

I spent a day watching this deluxe outfit stage its own war games in the oak and pine forests north of Winnfield.

It was streamlined down to field kitchens and lightning fast.

For example, while outposts, by superior firepower, scattered opposing outposts, advance guards were already bringing up new 50 mm machine guns and a lightweight mortar which three men can carry, assemble and start firing in less than one minute. Even while the advance guard was setting up its guns, supporting troops were unloading from trucks immediately behind.

Two miles back, I found steaming field kitchens whizzing by, with cooks preparing food on liquid fuel stoves as they rolled over rough country at 40 miles an hour. One of the rules of the "rolling fourth" is that its front-line troops must not go hungry, even if a couple of field kitchens are shot up.

The "rolling fourth" is commanded by Maj. Gen. Oscar W. Griswold. It already is streamlined into the "triangular division," meaning it has only three regiments, each under a colonel.

First Step in Streamlining

This is the first step in streamlining. The next is to make it the army's first tank chaser outfit.

The division will emerge from its reorganization at Fort Benning as primarily a combination of infantry, armored cars and tanks. Its firepower—now the most discussed factor around army camps—will be greatly increased and it will be built along lines of speed, maneuverability and rapid striking power.

Two battalions presently equipped with scout car will be transformed into an antiaircraft battalion and reconnaissance battalion of light tanks. It will have a counter-attacking force of a battalion of medium tanks.

Its reorganized strength will be 12,500 men, instead of the present infantry division strength of 15,000. The reduction in manpower will make it less cumbersome and the decrease in rifle power will be more than compensated by the increase in heavier guns.

But the most outstanding feature of its reorganization will be a 75 mm gun mounted on a "half-truck" armored car, I. E., a car with regulation front wheels, but short caterpillar treads instead of rear wheels.

The gun will be permanently mounted, and fire over the driver's head as the car speeds into action. Military men I have talked to say a shot from such a gun not only will pierce a tank, but also overturn it.

Perhaps this tank chaser division is the army's much discussed but still secret antidote for tank attacks such as have carried Germany's armies across most of Europe.

Protest Treatment Of Colored Boys In U. S. Service

Chicago, Aug. 21—(AP)—Officers of two Negro org inizations said today they had appealed to President Roosevelt to halt alleged discrimination and mob violence against Negro soldiers.

Harold Louis Ickes, president of the National Bar association, and Howard Gould, head of the Citizens Union league, charged the presence that numerous complaints of brutality and mistreatment had been received from Negro soldiers.

Most of the complaints, they said came from Chicago youths enroute to southern maneuvers from Camp Custer, Mich. One told of an attack on Negro soldiers by coaches near Gurley, Ark., Aug. 11, in which several were beaten with blackjacks and fired upon by Arkansas state police officers.

Gould said that a white army officer who protested during the alleged beating was struck by one of the law enforcement officers.

Taylor asserted that treatment accorded Negro troops by police officers in the south was shattering morale.

5 New Members Of Gilman Faculty

The Gilman public school will register boys and girls at 9 a. m. Monday, Sept. 1. Two new members of the grade school faculty are Luelle Meyers, who has taught in rural schools of Ford county the past six years, and Louis Drury, who has been an instructor in Fulton elementary schools the past five years.

U. S. Embassy And Other Officials To Leave Tokyo

Tokyo, Aug. 21 — (AP) — The NYK line—apparently under foreign office pressure—suddenly announced last night it had reservations for 26 United States embassy and consular officials aboard the liner Tatsuta Maru scheduled to sail Aug. 28 for Shanghai.

Because of the unfavorable "hostage" guilt by association from the inability of United States nationals to obtain passage from Japan the foreign office was believed to have expected pressure.

NYK line officials then turned up accommodations for nine naval, two marine and four army officers, all Japanese-language students who recently have been ordered to other stations, and a group of consular employes.

to report.

The post happened to be one of the invading force the 17th infantry from California. A lieutenant and a sergeant found Noye.

The disguised private insisted he was out hunting his cows and could not be detained unless the sheriff was called. He slipped and called the lieutenant sir, but, countered a moment later by calling him sergeant.

Subject to Execution?

Then Sgt. Ben Maline spotted the regulation army shoes which Noye had neglected to discard. The sergeant rolled up his overalls and there, sure enough, were his army leggings.

Noye is now subject to execution as a captured spy, but his wife and that new baby of his back in Kankakee can find comfort in the fact that executions are a part of the war games that are still imaginary.

Aviation Students Begin Training Next Saturday

Chicago Aug 21—(AP)—The first class of army air corps aviation students will begin training at Glenview Naval Base, Joseph M. Cummins, CAA corps area commander, announced today.

Men eligible for such training must be from 18 to 22 years old, have graduated from high school and be in the air forces, regular army, air corps reserve, or army of the national guard or of states.

On being accepted the men will be classified as flight servicants and eligible only for pilot duty. Others will be only men who had two years of college or could pass equivalent examinations were eligible to receive pilot training.

The enlisted men will be non commissioned officers, in contrast to the army aviation cadets who were to be commissions in the air corps. The latter qualify as squadron leaders and administrative officers as well as pilots.

The first class of 188 enlisted men will start elementary training at the Spartan School of Aeronautics, Muskogee Okla. and the Royal Flying school Curro, Texas.

An innovation in the U. S. training of enlisted men as pilots has long been a custom in European countries.

Reveal Winners Of Gas Model Plane Contest Held Here

Winners of the model plane contest sponsored by the Kankakee Gas Model association and the Exchange club were announced at the club's meeting Wednesday noon in McHroom's cafe.

Seven place winners were named in each of three classes and an additional award for the longest flight of the day was made. The latter was won by Ed Varga of Chicago, whose ship stayed in the air 9 minutes and 17 seconds.

Longest three-flight total of the day was 13 minutes and 15 seconds made by Harry Hoskins of Urbana. Other awards:

Class C, Gas models—Harry Hoskins, Urbana, first; Harvey Peters, Watseka, second; M. Wortick Anchor, third; Bob Storbeck, Kankakee, fourth; Rodney Chanse, Champaign, fifth; Bill Ahlgren, Wadeka, sixth; M. Orelit, Aurora, seventh.

Class A and B, Gas models (up to 30-100 piston displacement)—Ed Varga, Chicago, first; Bill Grice, Watseka, second; T. Anderson, Chicago, third; D. Campbell, Chicago, fourth; C. Branch, Chicago, fifth; Walter Earle, Champaign sixth; F. Piaachy, Chicago, seventh.

Class D, rubber models—Mark Heller, Chicago, first; Arthur Henrichs, Chicago, second; Dushan Dedushich, Chicago, third; B. Lucas, Chicago, fourth; Bob Burns, Chebanse, fifth; Edward Heberl, Kankakee, sixth; Bill Potter, Kankakee, seventh.

The trophy which the Exchange club was to have awarded was not given ipmmediately as no one earned enough points to qualify for it.

President Garvice Shook announced that the 25th annual convention of the national Exchange club will be held Sept. 7-9 in Richmond, Va. Delegates from the Kankakee club will be John Gard and Harold Borland.

Georgia Youth Eats Way Into Naval Reserve

Rome, Ga., Aug. 21—(INS)—Hugh R. Best, of Rome, Ga., has eaten his way into the U. S. Naval Reserve, but he doesn't recommend his method to others.

Finding himself 16 pounds shy of navy requirements, Best launched an one-month campaign to make up the deficit. But when the day of the examination rolled round, he still needed four pounds.

Undaunted, he bought four pounds of bananas and started off to the Atlanta recruiting office, stuffing them down as he went.

Bulging with bananas, Best passed the test. But no one even asked his weight.

"We have orders that if you are just a few pounds under weight we take you in," the recruiting officer explained.

Best cooled his wrath with a banana split.

War Influences Thinking Of '41 American Youth

Chicago, Aug. 21—(INS)—War is influencing the thinking and aspirations of the 1941 youngster, it was revealed by the Boys' poll, designed to determine what the American child is thinking.

About 27 per cent of youngsters between the ages of eight and 13 questioned by the poll believed that the United States should go to war against Germany now.

Twenty per cent of the boys answered wanted to be airplane pilots when they grow up. Ten per cent wanted to be soldiers and five per cent sailors. Seven per cent of the girls hoped to be nurses, and only four per cent wanted to grow up to be presidents.

Nineteen per cent of the girls wanted to be nurses and ten per cent listed teaching school as their ambition. Only two per cent of the girls indicated they wanted to be home-makers.

Morale Is Vital To An Army Says Chief Of Staff

Denver, Aug. 21 — (UP) — General George C. Marshall, U. S. army chief of staff, says the army's morale was "splendid" until it became a subject of national debate.

"Naturally it has been affected by the public discussion of the length of service," he said last night in an interview. He would not say whether morale now is improving.

He and Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson today plan a motor trip through the mountains before continuing their flight tomorrow to the Pacific northwest to observe army maneuvers.

General Marshall said the war department's decision to release selectees and national guardsmen after a year instead of less than 18 months service was not promptly a concern for morale.

"The move was taken in accordance with plans of the war department and statements made by me in my biennial report before these debates took place," he said.

"Morale is vital to an army; for more important than the character of its equipment and it depends on a large measure on the morale of the people behind the army and on their sense of purpose."

The decision to release selectees he said, was a "procedure necessary in order to make way for the annual increment of selective service men."

Aluminum Company To Outproduce Germany

Pittsburgh, Aug. 21 — The Aluminum Company of America is stepping up its effort for national defense with the aid of $5,000,000 worth of new plants just allowed it by the government experts to be "unprotecting Germany," with a short time.

Disclosing the company's employment has jumped from 25,000 when the emergency period began to 36,000 now that its production has increased from the present 500,000 pounds a year to 1,100,000,000, a spokesman said today.

"Our only bottleneck now is lack of power and ships to bring bauxite (aluminum ore) from South America."

Anti-American Campaign Grows Among Chinese

Shanghai Aug 21— Pro-American campaign purported to be inspired and directed by Japanese military authorities appeared today to be growing throughout occupied China, with reports of a new wave of United States freezing of assets.

Reports from numerous points in central and south China indicate that more than 1,700 American firms facing increasingly difficult business conditions because of restrictions imposed by the military. British citizens also were affected in some areas, but not as badly as Americans.

Many of those feeling the brunt of the campaign are missionaries who have been expelled from Hankow and two British correspondents have been ordered to leave Nanking. Japanese press activities were halted and publications by the Japanese military in Hankow

Signs Of Break In The Detroit Strike

Detroit, Aug. 21—(U.P.)—Indications that a settlement was imminent in a transportation dispute which has tied up this city's municipally owned transportation system was shored today as the CIO United Automobile Workers (CIO) and the Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Operators captured and the association's ousted CIO unions.

Shortly before resumption of conferences between Albert Blattner, CIO representative, and Blattner, Regional Director Edward Hall said the Detroit strike "has been made unnecessary."

Nazi Box Score Of Russian Losses Appears Enormous

Berlin, Aug. 21 — (U. P.) — Total Russian losses estimated semi officially at 3,000,000 men topped Germany's figure for the entire Russian campaign by more than a million and a half, it was announced on the second full day of the Reich's new offensive.

Other claimed items included 14,000 tanks; 14,000 cannon and 11,000 planes captured or destroyed.

The 3,000,000 manpower loss was figured by Berlin which noted that Russian army claims of 1,200,000 Russians captured and 17,000 deserters.

Stocks Irregularly Higher In Quiet Trading

New York, Aug. 21—(U.P.)—The stock market kept its balance fairly well today despite many issues exhibiting a reluctance to extending the rally of the previous session.

It began to slip after midafternoon dealings subsided to a rate of 2 shares.

German-Russian war news did not depreciate marketvalue and as was the case yesterday, in the far east. Satisfactory items and a faint inflationary psychology appeared to be sustaining bullish sentiment.

Rails and commodities turned a little irregular, with occasional support evenly balanced. Issues included Bethlehem, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Great Northern Railway, Great Standard Oil (N.J.), Corn Products, Sears Roebuck and Goodrich.

Trading was still were surrounded by uncertainties. Air raid warnings in London and the likelihood customers would have to go to Russia for the metal munitions of motors shares contributed to the fact that they would come for little change overall, or extreme. Interest in the 12 months the present heads that a third quarter of the 2,800,000 cars junked would emerge from factories.

Regal Pose For Six-Footers

By HELEN FOLLETT

Extremely tall girls say they don't want to be stately beauties. They'd like to wear sub-deb clothes and be playful, but they can't because they would appear silly.

Well, we don't think that's such a terrible kettle of fish. Anyhow, nothing can be done about it. Inches cannot be dogeted, but there are tricks of dress that will make one look shorter.

Next year's fashions are the tall girl's dish. She can carry the full, long skirts with distinction; the shorty sometimes looks as if she were wearing grandmother's "robe de style." Evening slippers with low heels are being offered, and the tall bride may snap them up. Certainly there's no sense in wearing spikes, especially at a dance, where she's likely to look over her partner's head. Low-heeled slippers have been revived, along with a lot of lovely ideas from the remote past.

Splendid Carriage Necessary

There's no sense in being self-conscious about height. When that phobia seizes one there is an effort to look shorter. The fine lines of the back suffer; the chest is deflated. Splendid carriage is especially necessary if growing has been overdone. The queenly pose is essential.

The tall darling must be a weight watcher; keep to simple measurements. It won't do to be too reedy, which accentuates height, nor can she afford to take on copious upholstery.

To attain the slightly rounded silhouette should be her ambition, and special beauty business. Proportions are important, good posture vital.

Simplicity in Dress

In dress, there must be simplicity and dignity. The frivolous touch is fatal. Over-decoration should be avoided, and the high-crowned hat remembered as well as the uppity coiffure. can make a girl look a full inch taller than she is.

Notice the next very tall girl you admire, however, and see if she has not rated your attention by the queenly pose. Once that is second nature to a daughter of the gods, folks will like her looks so much that her proportions will be in case and she can give her public pompadour and spike heels . . . and make them like it too.

Alta E. Schreffler Weds J. M. Crosby

ALTA E. 4681

Miss Alta E Schreffler and James M. Crosby were married Tuesday at the parsonage of the United Brethren church of Bradley by the pastor, the Rev. J. C. Short.

Mrs. Crosby has been music teacher in Bradley and Kankakee for several years. Mr. Crosby is a beekeeper. They will reside on a farm two miles west of Momence.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chapman of Momence were the attendants.

The Wednesday Niters Meet With Marie Bires

The Wednesday Niters met with Miss Marie Bires, 551 North Dearborn avenue, last evening.

Five hundred was the diversion with Mrs. Ray Bovinski, Mrs. Leroy Boudreau and Mrs. Joseph Bires winning honors. Mrs. Julie Kravat won door prize. Lunch was served. Mrs. Kravat will entertain next.

SILK SHORTAGE AFFECTS MAGICIANS

New York.—The nation's silk shortage is affecting the art of magic, according to Russell Swann, president of the Society of Magicians of America. He says that magicians will be forced to eliminate all "silk tricks"—the favorite one being the illusion of pulling yards of gaily colored material from an empty hat or pocket as soon as their present stocks of silk are exhausted.

42 Cars Will Have Many New Plastic Parts

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 21.—(INS)—More than 120 parts of every automobile will be made of plastics, according to the DuPont company.

Eventually, the percentage may go even higher than that, because there are more than 225 possible applications of these parts. There are 110 plastic parts in the composite 1941 car, ranging from upholstery material to steering wheel, pedals to glass interlayers.

Why the trend to plastics? Well, explains DuPont, certain metals are being requisitioned for national defense needs. But then again, plastics have, in addition to durability, new color, beauty, lighter weight and economy.

Engineers are most enthusiastic about acrylic resins, newest of the synthetics. Derived basically from coal, air and water, the acrylic resins have high resistance to outdoor exposure, crystal clarity and virtual indestructibility.

These resins, first transparent plastics to stand up satisfactorily outdoors, are useful for radiator ornaments; signal light lenses; instruments; speedometer and clock panels; trunk light lenses and lamp lenses.

New plastics have been developed at a one-a-year rate since 1931.

Model Railroads Found Excellent As Joint Hobby

San Francisco Aug. 21—(INS)—More than thirty local business executives, doctors and government employes meet every Tuesday night to further their joint hobby—model railroads.

Banded together for more than two years as the San Francisco Model Railroad Club, Inc. the group meets in a building near the waterfront.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

REVERSING THE DUMMY

SOME OF the prettiest play in bridge is done by factors which experts call "reversing the dummy." It consists of treating the dummy as the master hand, using the declarer's own trumps for ruffing and the dummy's trumps for drawing the opponents' trumps. The reverse of the usual process, which calls for ruffing the declarer's losers with the dummy's trumps. Usually the choice of this strategy is made when the declarer is near or to being a set-up hand than the other one. It is especially spectacular when the dummy has only about three trumps and the declarer five or more.

Dealer	North	North-South
vulnerable
North	East	South	West
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
5 ♦	Pass	5 ♠	Pass

After the spade 5 knocked out the dummy's ace of diamonds, the opposite ways of planning the play. One was to try to set up the own hand, ruffing a couple of diamonds on the dummy's hearts and drawing the last trump with the ace. The other was to set up the dummy, using his own hand to ruff a heart or so if necessary to get the set up, and using the dummy's three trumps as the key. For the short cut. The latter is the better way.

For the second trick, he laid down the club A and led the J, aiming to play West for the Q because he had bid. The club Q won this, and East fired back the diamond Q to knock out the K, but the A won in the closed hand. The club K then took out the last hostile trump and the 10 was used to get a diamond discard from the J. So the heart 2, ruffed by the club 9 settled that. Then the diamond 3 to the K furnished entry for the heart 10 and 3, completing the contract.

If North had guessed East for the Q on the first ace and made 15 tricks by this style of play. Those who prefer other methods in the same duplicate serve aet.

Detroit Turns Up A Thumb

Thousands of Detroit office and factory workers turned hitch-hikers because a strike tied up the entire street railway system. May Seward Hicks, Hattie Pleades Venters and Pauline Nedorf Hagler tried to up-stated thumb to get a ride to work. Striking A. F. of L. unions demanded the city cease all dealings with a competing CIO group.

by the Southern Pacific railroad. Over an intricate railroad system which includes miniature mountains, forests and streams as well as suburban and suburban areas they operate their homemade models.

President Joseph Bixin chain gave every executive sain this week to adapt their models to exact replicas of the rolling stock of famous roads already existing. Most intricate and difficult to build are the locomotives which also are the most valuable often being insured as high as $600.

The hobby now has reached the point where a national association has been formed to standardize model making from a manufacturing standpoint. In addition their annual four leading model railroad magazines, carrying such advertisements as "Wanted, any locomotive, any make" "railroad line, any gauge."

The pennant problem in the National league is getting to be "can the St. Louis Cardinals keep going with all their injuries?" instead of "can the Cardinals beat the Brooklyn Dodgers?"

There have been only five games this season in which Manager Billy Southworth has had available the complete Cardinal lineup, and the club's hospital list is beginning to read like a page out of who's who in baseball.

Topping off a long string of accidents, Terry Moore, the best centerfielder in the league, was struck on the head by a ball pitched by Art Johnson yesterday at Boston. He will be out of action for possibly a week.

Moore is captain of the Red Birds, an inspiring leader in the club, one of the great fielding players in baseball, a .300 plus hitter, and a real class flavor with the heart of a lion.

May Hurt Cards

His loss would be catastrophic to many clubs and may be to the Cardinals. But if it were an isolated case, it would be accepted as one of the breaks of the game. Instead it came just ten days after slugging Enos Slaughter, the Cards' right-fielder, was lost for the rest of the season with a broken shoulder.

In spite of this procession of trouble the Cardinals have kept right on coming and yesterday they swept a doubleheader from the Braves 2-0 and 3-2. Ernie White, the Cards' great young lefthander, pitched a six-hit shutout in the first game for his 18th victory and Howard Pollett, 20-year-old southpaw just brought up from the Texas league, pitched a four-hitter for his major league debut in the nightcap.

The double triumph enabled the Cards to climb within a game and a half of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who were given a 7-6 handout by the Pittsburgh Pirates for Brooklyn's sixth straight win.

The Dodgers exploded four runs in the first inning, then were overtaken by a six-run rally of the Buccaneers in the third, when Bob Elliott hit a three-run homer. After that the Dodgers threatened often, and tied the score on Pete Reiser's homer in the seventh, but the winning run crossed the plate in the ninth inning when Right-fielder Elliott dropped a fly ball with the bases loaded and two out. It was Pittsburgh's fifth error of the day.

The Cincinnati Reds reinforced their third place position by shutting out the poor Phillies twice, 2-0 and 3-0. John Vander Meer allowed only three hits and won his own game with a double in the opener, his 14th success, and Elmer (The Greek) Riddle kept six blows scattered for his 14th triumph in the nightcap.

The Chicago Cubs cut loose with a 16-hit attack as Vallie Eaves kept eight blue Sox guys beat the New York Giants 9-4.

Yanks Squeeze Out

In the American league the New York Yankees were squeezed out 1-0 by the Detroit Tigers as Tommy Bridges pitched two-hit ball for ten innings in one of the season's performances of his long career.

The Chicago White Sox chopped another game off the Yankees' league lead as John Rigney blanked the Philadelphia Athletics 3-0 for the third shutout in two days by a Sox pitcher and Rigney's second shutout in two starts.

The collapsing Cleveland Indians dropped their 16th game in 18 decisions 6-3 to the Washington Senators.

Ted Williams hit two home runs, giving him a total of five in two days and 28 for the season, but his Boston Red Sox were beaten in both ends of a doubleheader by the St. Louis Browns, 11-9, and 4-3. Each team made a dozen hits in the first game, but the Browns grouped five runs in the first inning to keep ahead. The second session was a ten-inning affair finally won on John Berardino's squeeze bunt.

HARRY STELLA

Stella Here; On Army Grid Staff In '41

Harry Stella, son of Mr. and Mrs. Silver Stella, 1184 South Osborne avenue, will be a member of the junior varsity football coaching staff at West Point this coming season. It has been announced. Stella, a second lieutenant, a graduate of West Point in 1940, and captain of the 1939 Army eleven, is visiting his parents here this week.

He will leave Saturday for West Point and will shortly thereafter assume his duties on the football staff. "Red" Blake is coaching Army this fall and Stella said today that prospects at West Point seem on the brighter side. Stella gained national recognition several years ago with his fellow townsman, Allen Bergner, when the two were captains of the Army and Navy football teams, respectively, after having been teammates at Kankakee high school.

McKechnie Clings To Pennant Hope In National League

Philadelphia, Aug. 21 —(AP)— Deacon Bill McKechnie agrees it sounds funny to say his Cincinnati world champions are still in the National league pennant race but declares "We believe that's the case and we repeats, you know."

Ten and a half games behind the pacesetting Dodgers, the Reds apparently are hoping for a miracle to aid their belated bid for the flag as dusk descended.

They point nimbly to 1939 when they were winging in front with a 12½ game lead. July closed it's books and the Reds reached September still out of breath with snorts of the Cardinals on their neck.

"We won the pennant by two games but it took heroic doing," declares McKechnie. "Remember how Billy Myers smote a home run against the Dodgers and we won out in the 10th.

"After that nobody could stop us. We played .700 ball and came through, beating the Cards in the final critical series. Baseball is always say, is a most uncertain pastime.

"Then there's the mad rush of the Cubs in '38. They got hot in late August and September, moved over the folding Pirates and copped the pennant as Gabby Hartnett hit homers after dusk and Percy Bill Bensawanger of the Bucs lay swooning and unnoticed in the side.

Of such things are made the stretch duels in the National circuit and knowing this, the Reds are taking comfort.

8-Game Evansville Winning Streak Is Broken By Decatur

By the Associated Press

Evansville's winning streak in the Three-Eye league flared to eight straight in the first game of a doubleheader last night when Lefty Lee Hazel pitched a no-hit seven-inning shutout to defeat Decatur, 3 to 0. But it flickered out dismally in the nightcap when the Commies won by the same score.

The league-leaders' string began Friday and included sweeps of three doubleheaders. Tuesday night George Diehl stopped Decatur on one hit in seven innings. But the excitement of the veteran Hazel's no-hitter and the good pitching of Decatur's hurler, Hughes, ended the Bees' march in the second game.

Hazel's triumph was his 10th of the season. He fanned four and yielded three walks—all to the same batter. Only four pitches were hit past the infield.

Cedar Rapids cut Evansville's lead to 8½ games by taking a 3 to 2 decision from Waterloo. In another single contest Springfield defeated Moline, 2 to 0.

Clinton and Madison split a doubleheader, Clinton took the first, 8 to 5, aided by Foxx' home run in the sixth ,with two men on base. Madison won the nightcap, 7 to 5, with Quinn and Stengel homering for Madison.

Size Up Grid Situation at Kankakee High

Coach Counts Material For Coming Season

Despite the fact that summer is still very definitely in our midst, football, the autumn pastime, is gradually edging its way into the sports picture.

Gene Dykstra, newly appointed head coach at Kankakee high school, today announced a possible football roster for the 1941 season, composed of boys expected back for the impending gridiron campaign. From this bunch of material Dykstra, and his new assistants, Don Canham and Earl Jones, hope to weave together a strong Kankakee high gridiron representative.

Four 4-Year Players

Scanning the list it is found that Kankakee has four boys returning who will be playing their fourth season of high school football. They are: Wendell Betts, 135 pounds; Frank Cahan, 150; Raymond English, 217; and Edward Heine, 175-pound center who is rated one of the best pieces of football material Kankakee has coming up.

About to launch their third season of prep football are: William Leavitt, 220 pounds, the heaviest young man adorning the Kankakee roster; John Schmidt, 194; John Wheeler, 170; Arthur Brown, 147; Harry Dandelles, 153; and Rex Busenburg, the speedy 165-pounder who is expected to see plenty of action in the backfield.

Plenty in This Group

There is a plentitude of second year boys with Dykstra's list revealing the following: Kenneth Anderson, 154; Howard Boudreau, 130; Jay Brown, 155; Deland Burns, 165, whose brother Johnny starred and made mark in Kankakee high athletics a few seasons ago; Robert Carpenter, 160; Gene Carrigan, 135; Bruce Campbell, 135; Edward Cote, 165; Edward Edwards, 150; Fred Gerbey, 186; Donald Ford, 157; Thomas Henderson, 155; Donald Huckins, 152; Donald Jackson, 152; Donald Johnson, 152; Robert Lemus, 135; John Lowey, 158; Richard Piatt, 160; Warren Price, 135; Raymond Snorina, 148; and Wayne Wilson, 185.

Ten first year footballers, many of whom are juniors and seniors, will make the competition interesting for the more experienced hands. Dykstra says he believes they are: Robert Bonser, 180; Orville Busse, 168; William Condon, 155; William Forbes, 202; Robert Goodman, 140; Raymond Hill, 185; Calvin Jockett, 141; James Mortell, 155; William Shuman, 142; and John Tanner, 140.

Doubles Warfare Starts Today In Trapshoot Tourney

Vandalia, O., Aug. 21 —(AP)— The nation's top flight of scattergun specialists having completed their 42nd chores in the 42nd Grand American trapshoot, turned to tougher tasks, today—the doubles championship race and the preliminary handicap.

The doubles event consists of 50 pairs of clays, two being tossed simultaneously, with the marksmen attempting to "kill" both with a banging fusillade. Last year Fred (Red) Hawkins of Port Wayne, Ind., missed only two of the soaring saucers to win the event with 98 of 100 a record-equalling count. Hawkins defends his laurels today.

The preliminary handicap is an exact replica of the "Grand American handicap," the premier race of the clay target sport which winds up the 1941 cartridge carnival Saturday morrow. In this one the shooters are stationed according to their averages for the year or their known ability, at points from 16 to 25 yards back of the trap from which the clays are hurled.

Last year, Roy W. Miller of Grove City, Minn., a rural mail carrier, broke 100 in a row from 20 yards to take the preliminary.

Miller is back for another try at the money, but the odds are all against him for no one ever has won the race twice. That also puts the jinx on Hawkins, who won the preliminary in 1936.

Hammond Nine To Battle Boosters Sunday Afternoon

The West Side Booster baseball team locks horns with the strong Hammond, Ind., Republican club, one of the best nines in the Hoosier state, at Aliplner park diamond Sunday afternoon. The Boosters, having lost several heart-breaking tilts, will be trying to hard to snap their losing streak Sunday. The game will be a feature of the Sons of Italy picnic.

Hammond has won 23 games and lost eleven this season and its leading hitters are: Kenny Brown, third baseman and, captain; Carroll Hoffman, first baseman; and Ernie Hurt, catcher. Others who wield powerful clubs are Outfielders Chuck Cresham and George Reesios. In appearances in Kankakee, the State Hospital club beat them 4 to 3, and Hammond has beaten the Moose 4 to 0. Hammond won the 1941 Northern Indiana night league championship.

The possible Hammond lineup will be: Saunderson, leftfield; Reesios, rightfield; Hurt, catch; Hoffman, first base; Captain Brown, third base; Gresham, centerfield; Mattit, second base; Mallett, shortstop; and Rose or Pellet, pitch.

National Doubles Tennis Meet Hits Exciting Stage

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 21—(AP)—Now that that pace has been set by Atlanta's Bryan (Bitsy) Grant and Russell Bobbitt with a four-hour battle, the National double tennis tournament appeared today to have reached the exciting stage.

Grant, the mighty mite, and Bobbitt, spoke the tourney's long-distance record while out-battling Edward (Bunny) Ambry and Robin Hippinstell, of Los Angeles, 14-12, 15-17, 6-4, 13-11, to gain the quarter-finals.

That exhausting triumph moved them against third seeded Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., one of the 1940 runnersup, and Wayne Sabin of Portland, Ore. The other three favored teams also advanced, with Defending Champions Jack Kramer and Ted Schroeder setting the pace.

Kramer and Schroeder, who have won seven of eight previous starts this season, found Ed Alloo of Berkeley, Cal., and Bill Talbert of Cincinnati, blocking their paths into the semi-finals. Second-seeded Frank Parker and Don McNeill, the National singles champion, were ratted as superior to Frank Kovacs of Oakland, Cal., and William Crosby of Los Angeles. Bobby Riggs of Chicago and Gene Mako of Los Angeles appeared to carry too many hard guns for Charlie Mattman and Ted Olewine, the Intercollegiate champions from the University of Southern California.

Berwyn's pint-sized junior American legion baseball members were catching a day's rest yesterday before leaving for Columbia, S. C., where they are to start Saturday in the sectional tournament which is just a step away from the "junior world series." Fans will recall that several weeks ago Berwyn defeated Eureka in a three-game series for the state junior championship. . .

Berwyn won the regional series at LaCrosse, Wis., Monday by whipping Mason City, Ia., 5 to 2, and will meet winners of three other regionals in the four-day tournament in South Carolina. . . The winner of the sectional at Columbia will enter the national championship series via a bye while winners of the other two sectionals are playing one another for the chance to compete in the national meet. . . In 1938, Berwyn lost the "world series" to Omaha.

Coach Gil Larimer and his squad returned from the Wisconsin series intact with no injuries and eager to get into sectional competition. . . Ray Eisbrener, Joe Vydra, Art Teschke and George Popelka, the town's towering pitching staff, all saw action at LaCrosse, although Berwyn failed to get its usual high caliber of mound work from any single performer. . .

Billows Faces Stranahan For Lakes Crown

Chicago, Aug. 21 —P— Little Pat Billows of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., is hoping this is the year he'll be able to crack the jinx that's been following him in the last six National amateur golf championships — but if he doesn't he won't be able to say he didn't have his game ready for the big test starting Monday at Omaha.

The eastern expert who learned the game's fundamentals in his native racing Wicker country opposes Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., for the first annual Great Lakes amateur championship at the Knollwood club. And the way Billows qualified for this title shot indicated he might improve on a National amateur performance which has seen him become a finalist twice in the last four years.

Gains Sweet Revenge

Billows yesterday gained a measure of revenge for the 7 and 5 licking handed him in the 1939 national amateur by Marvin (Bud) Ward of Spokane, Wash. Billows whipped Ward 5 and 4 yesterday, ramming down his putts at decisive holes to stop Ward's bid at making it a fight.

In the afternoon Billows had just as easy going, defeating Art Sweet of Chicago 4 and 3.

Stranahan, trans-Mississippi champion also eligible for next week's big amateur test, defeated Ted Pafseur, Northwestern university golf coach 4 and 2 in the quarter-finals. Then, the Toledo expert scored a devastating 3 and 1 win over Wilford Wehrle of Chicago, 1940 National amateur semi-finalist.

Stranahan faced the semi-finals with a 1 up victory over Mike Benerissitto of Racine, Wis., while Wehrle's quarter-final win was over John Barnum of Chicago, 3 and 2.

East Side Defeats North Side 8 To 7 In Local Contest

Many of the East Side players are off to boys' camp so rather than claim a forfeit, the North Side played them and a group of other Kids' league players, and were beaten 8 to 7 Wednesday in a pitchers' duel between Eddie Laporte and Glen Schnell.

Dick Schnell started for East Side but four hits and four walks netted North Side six runs in two innings, and Glen Schnell came to the rescue. In five innings he did not allow a hit, but two errors and a hit batter counted a run in the sixth. Laporte was touched for only hits but nine walks and four errors were his margin of victory.

Longtin starred in the outfield for the East Side.

This victory for East Side placed them in a tie for second place with Waterman, with both yet to play Aliplner in final games. Aliplner will have to lose both games to lose the league championship.

The East Side will meet Aliplner's in the final game of the league season on Monday and the tournament will start next Monday. The winner of the league championship will then play the winner of the tournament in the final playoff for the Baird-Shaw trophy.

Veteran Pro Has Several Choices For Amateur Title

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 21 —(AP)— Stanley Davies, the husky English-born professional who brought Johnny Goodman up from the cradle days and had the sure-fire hunch his protege would win the 1934 U. S. open title, has several top choices for the 1941 National amateur golf championship, including Jack Grout.

"Really, it is an amazing field and I couldn't possibly name you the winner this time," said Davies as he took time off from his duties of getting the field club ready for the opening shots Monday.

"One thing is certain," said the veteran professional, "the fellow who wins must be a straight shooter. There'll be no chance for scrambling on this layout."

The field club course has been stretched to 6,745 yards for the tournament.

Boosters Even Series With Kampos, 15 To 9

In a free hitting game Wednesday night at Bird park diamond, the West Side Booster softball team evened its two-game series with the fast Kampo Aces of Whiting, by winning 15 to 9. Slim Hooten had notched a previous win from the Boosters.

"Butch" Dirkes, Booster mound-man, was touched for 13 hits, including two home runs by Shaw, Whiting second baseman. Lou Smaltes, led the West Siders offensive, while Lea Tanner and Petra contributed a home run apiece to the Boosters' cause. It was the Boosters' 11th victory in 13 starts at Bird park. Next Wednesday night they face the Magic Chefs from Harvey.

The Booster organization will hold a meeting tonight at the new community house in Aliplner park.

Kansas City Nine Finally Defeats Columbus, 14 To 7

By United Press

Kansas City finally beat Columbus in the 14th game of the 1941 season of the series. The Red Birds, whose American Association league lead dropped to 6½ games, had lost the other three.

Charley Wensloff went the route for the Blues scattering 10 hits while Columbus used five pitchers, of Roe Hader. Griffith and Hoag below, but the game wasn't decided until the last inning when they scored five runs.

Second-baser Louisville beat St. Paul 8 to 5, and Owen Sheetz was relieved Bill Butland in the first inning and went the route. The Colonels scored five runs in the first two innings.

The last-place Milwaukee Brewers rapped three Toledo pitchers for 16 hits and a 9 to 6 victory over Mud Hens got 13 hits off Cellmar the Brewer pitcher but they were scattered.

Indianapolis and third-place Minneapolis split a doubleheader, the Indianapolis took the opener, 5 to 4, in the 14th inning ending a pitchers' duel between Lefty Mogridge Johnson and Minneapolis' Harder Minneapolis scored in the opener Indianapolis lead and won the nightcap, 3 to 2. Ray Starr was the winning pitcher.

Galan Pleads For Another Chance As Major Leaguer

Los Angeles, Aug. 21—(AP)—Augie Galan, Chicago Cub outfielder traded to Los Angeles, telephoned President Bill P. Fleming of the Angels that he would quit baseball rather than come back to the minors.

Fleming said Galan pleaded last night for a chance to make a deal with another major league club. He told Galan he was needed immediately by the Angels who are sixth in the Pacific Coast league but offered to help the outfielder get a big league berth at the season's end.

Fleming traded Emil Kush, young pitcher on option with Tulsa of the Texas league for Galan yesterday. Kush is to report next spring.

Softball Titlists Clash Monday In City Series Battle

Portter Grocers, Industrial softball league champions, and the Greeks, Church league titleholders will clash under the lights at Bird park diamond Monday night at 8 o'clock in a game that may determine the city championship. It has not been decided whether the city title this season will be decided by one game, Monday night, or if there will be a series of games between the league winners. The Republican-News annually bestows upon the city titleholder a handsomely engraved trophy.

Mrs. Newell Meets Mrs. Mann Today In Western Q.-Final

Chicago, Aug. 21—(AP)—Mrs. Frank Newell, the former Elizabeth Hicks of Long Beach, Calif., and Mrs. Russell Mann of Omaha, Neb., met today in the feature match of the semi-final round of the women's Western closed championship tournament.

Mrs. Newell was Western medal play Derby winner in 1939 and 1940 while Mrs. Mann, former Iowa and Wisconsin state champion, won the women's Western in 1933 after finishing been runnerup in 1932. Mrs. Newell advanced yesterday at the expense of another Long Beach entrant, Peggy Rutledge, 6 and 5. Both Mrs. Mann won by the same score over Jeanne Cline of Bloomington, Ill.

All round-of-eight matches were scheduled for this afternoon. Previous rounds have been in the morning.

Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich., spilled Eleanor Dudley of Chicago yesterday with a 1 up victory. Miss Dudley and Mrs. Mann were co-medalists Monday. Miss Wall's opponent today was Rena Nelson, another Chicagoan, who reached the quarter-finals with a 7 and 6 victory over Mrs. Fred Uhlein of Milwaukee, Wis.

Georgia Tainter of Fargo, N. D., was matched with Mrs. J. Calvert Burch of South Bend, Ind., today.

In addition to the quarter-finals, Mrs. Newell and Mrs. Mann in the doubles pitted from the University of Southern California.
