Minority Rule Still Prevails In Many States

(It is a cherished American principle that each segment of the population is entitled to fair representation in the legislative halls. But does the principle hold up in practice? Here are the somewhat startling facts that an Associated Press survey of state legislatures brought to light.)

By DEAN JOHNSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

In Florida they call it the pork chop gang. In California, it's the cow county senators. And in Alabama it's the south black belt lawmakers.

The salty nicknames may be different, but they mean the same things in three state legislatures.

The names are pinned on groups of legislators—usually rural—who represent a minority of their states' population yet hold a majority of the legislative seats.

Similar patterns emerge in at least 20 states.

THE FLORIDA legislature is dominated by small county senators, the so-called pork chop gang. For example: Jefferson County — population 8,600 — has one state senator. So does Dade County—population 520,000, including the city of Miami.

Los Angeles County has 40 per cent of California's population but only one vote in the State Senate. Northern California senators, from the so-called cow counties, control 32 votes.

Lowndes County in Alabama's south black belt, named for its dark, loamy soil, has a population of 15,015. Tuscaloosa County has more than 94,000. Yet each has one senator and two representatives in the State Legislature.

Denver has roughly one-third of Colorado's population but it has only eight of the 35 state senators and 17 of the 65 representatives.

Pennsylvania's Senate is apportioned under the 1874 constitution. It limits Philadelphia to six senators, or one from about each 300,000 people. Some rural senators in the state represent fewer than 50,000 constituents.

It is easy to see why complaints usually come from city folk who feel they are entitled to at least equal voice in state affairs. Some of the cases they point to are these:

SINCE WORLD WAR II, rural Kentucky has successfully championed year-round standard time. Country legislators even pushed through a bill outlawing daylight time and penalizing violators. The bill was ruled unconstitutional.

Jackson, Miss., the state capital, figures it loses about $400,000 a year in gasoline taxes because the rural element in the Legislature has put a ceiling on gasoline tax refunds. It allows the counties a greater share in the revenue.

The most logical solution to the inequities is reapportionment, redistributing senators and representatives more in line with the population distribution.

Most state constitutions carry provisions for reapportionment every 10 years or oftener, usually based on the U. S. census. But it is a hard thing to push through some legislatures.

Mississippi was redistricted last in 1890. Attempts to force such action failed in the 1930s and in 1958. Kentucky has not undergone a thorough redistricting since 1890 or 01 when the state constitution was framed.

AND THERE ARE constitutional complications.

The California constitution specifies that no county can have more than one senator. In Ohio and West Virginia, each county regardless of population is entitled to one representative.

When Connecticut adopted its constitution in 1818 it gave all towns existing at the time of drafting two representatives and provided that future towns could have two representatives only after they reached the 5,000 mark in population.

As a result, cities like Hartford — population 177,397 — and New Haven — population 164,443 — have two representatives—but so do Union—population 261—and Colebrook—population 302, two towns which have not grown much since 1818.

Asks Early End To Bus Service Here

Officials of South Suburban Safeway Lines asked the Illinois Commerce, Commission today for a speedy decision on their petition to abandon bus service in Kankakee.

But William Helander, the hearing officer, said he couldn't tell when the decision might be made by the commission.

The only witness to testify at the ICC hearing in Chicago was Robert H. Thompson, executive vice president of the bus company.

THE COMPANY BEGAN service in Kankakee Feb. 26, Thompson testified, under an agreement with the Kankakee Area Chamber of Commerce.

The agreement provided that the Chamber would guarantee the bus company $6.50 an hour per bus up to a total of $9,600.

When the agreement expired May 31, Thompson said the operating loss amounted to over $9,000, without taking the subsidy into account. The subsidy reduced the company's loss to $333.62.?

In the month ending July 10, Thompson testified that the average loss per day was $69.64. The subsidy agreement with the Chamber was not renewed.

HE SAID THE LOSS was growing because people realized that bus service was about to end and they were finding other means of transportation.

Thompson urged Helander to seek an immediate decision from the commission. He also asked for an order which would permit the company to abandon service with the minimum legal time for notice to the public.

Thompson said both city and Chamber officials are aware the company can no longer operate in Kankakee profitably. There were no objectors to the bus company's petition.

Abandonment of bus service by South Suburban, when it comes, will not affect the service provided between Kankakee and Manteno by Victory Bus Lines.

Scandinavian Visit Cancelled By Khrushchev

Anti-Red Campaign Postpones Swedish Tour, Soviets Claim

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev today called off the visits to Scandinavian countries he had been planning for August.

The Swedish, Danish and Finnish governments made almost simultaneous announcements of Khrushchev's abrupt change of plans.

The Finnish government said it had been informed in Moscow this morning that "Khrushchev's visit to Denmark, Norway and Sweden had been postponed. As he is not visiting Scandinavia, he will have no opportunity this time to visit Finland."

The Soviet foreign ministry, in a note to Sweden, said the visit to Stockholm was called off because of "an anti-Soviet campaign" by the Swedish press and certain political leaders.

MANY SWEDISH newspapers have been urging the government to call off the Khrushchev tour. Opposition parties, including the Liberals and Conservatives, have been arranging protest meetings.

The Norwegian labor government newspaper Arbeiderbladet also warned today that "reactionaries" were threatening disturbances in Oslo during Khrushchev's visit and said no action would be taken against them.

Khrushchev had been expected to arrive in Stockholm harbor with his wife and two daughters on the Soviet cruiser Sverdlovsk Aug. 15.

Only last Friday Khrushchev made a tough speech about Scandinavia at Szczecin, Poland. He charged that aggressive Western circles wanted to set up rocket bases in Scandinavia to draw Soviet nuclear retaliation away from themselves. Norway and Denmark are members of the North Atlantic Alliance.

Stove Mounters Week Proclaimed In Kankakee

Stove Mounters Week was officially proclaimed today by Kankakee Mayor Ed P. Madison in connection with the international convention here of the Stove Mounters Union Tuesday through Friday.

Madison proclaimed July 21 through July 24 as "Stove Mounters Week."

The convention will begin at 10 a.m. Tuesday at the Kankakee Labor Temple, 220 W. Court St. Taking part in the opening program will be Mayor Madison; Henry Brandt, manager of the Kankakee Area Chamber of Commerce; Kenneth Cote, president, Kankakee Federation of Labor; Don Crevier, secretary, Kankakee F of L; State Rep. Samuel Shapiro; and the Rev. Thomas Fleming of St. Joseph's Church, Bradley.

Between 90 and 100 delegates are expected here for the convention according to local union officials plus a host of high union officials, many of whom will address the convention.

Red China Political Grab Outlined

NEW DELHI (AP) — Communist China has prepared a master plan to establish a federation of Himalayan states under her political control, H.V. Kamath, chairman of the Peja Socialist party of Madhya Pradesh State, said today. Kamath told newsmen the federation would include Nepal, Ladakh, Sikkim, Bhujan and Assam's northeast frontier region. He said he got this information from "high reliable sources" during a recent tour of the Assam Northeast Frontier regions.

Peseta Devalued

MADRID (AP) — Generalissimo Franco's government today cut the official value of the peseta almost in half as the first step in a vast program designed to pull the Spanish economy out of the doldrums. A government decree set the value of the peseta at 60 to the U.S. dollar, a devaluation of more than 42 per cent.

Reds Try To Block Chilean Oil Plans

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Communists and other groups are attacking the efforts of President Jorge Alessandri to boost Chile's delicate economy by means of a speedy development of the oil industry.

They claim they only want to prevent the United States and other Western nations from coming in to exploit the oil resources of the arid zone in northern Chile.

Chile is searching for new sources of wealth to bolster its economy, brought to the brink of bankruptcy by regimes governing Chile during the last 20 years.

FAA Proposes Storm-Warning Radar In Planes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Aviation Agency proposed today that storm-warning radar be installed on every airliner in the country.

It announced that it intends to amend present civil air regulations to require airborne radar on "all passenger-carrying air transport piston-type aircraft."

The FAA gave the airlines, scheduled and non-scheduled alike, 60 days in which to file comments on the proposal. It is one of the most drastic new air safety recommendations in history because it would commit the carriers to a mandatory multi-million dollar program. Weather radar cost approximately $20,000 per plane and only about half the nation's 2,000-plane commercial air fleet is so equipped presently.

The proposed regulation also would ban virtually all-commercial flights from taking off with radar that was not working.

Wartime Chief Of Staff Adm. Leahy, 84, Dies

Stroke Claims Life Of Man Who Pushed Big Fleet Program

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Fleet Adm. William D. Leahy, wartime chief of staff to President Roosevelt, died here today. He was 84.

He died at the Navy Medical Center in nearby Bethesda, Md., the Navy reported.

A cerebral vascular accident was listed as the cause of death. With him was his son, Rear Adm. William H. Leahy, commander of the Norfolk Navy ship yard at Portsmouth, Va.

Leahy retired from the Navy in 1939 after 46 years of service.

It was Leahy who — both before and after his retirement from the Navy — helped fashion the foundation for victory in World War II and for the peace that followed.

LEAHY WAS THE MAN who, as chief of naval operations from 1937 to 1939, sold Congress on the idea of building a big Navy. His salesmanship may have saved the nation from going under after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

The fleet building program set in motion during Leahy's tenure as chief of naval operations began paying dividends in the nick of time—soon after the Japanese crippled the U. S. Pacific Fleet.

To Leahy, history also will assign a large share of the credit for success in the first great American invasion of World War II—the thrust into North Africa in November, 1942.

As U. S. ambassador to Vichy, France, Leahy helped smooth the invasion path nearly two years previously by quietly gathering and transmitting to Washington voluminous and illuminating reports from all over the French empire.

SUBSEQUENTLY, as personal chief of staff to the late President Roosevelt, Leahy helped blueprint the victory in World War II. He was Roosevelt's right-hand man at conferences with the British at Casablanca and Quebec and at parleys with Britain and Russia at Teheran and Yalta.

He served President Truman in the same capacity and accompanied the President to the Big Three conference at Potsdam.

Leahy was born in Hampton, Iowa, May 6, 1875. He set out to make the Army his career, but he failed to get an appointment to West Point and he accepted one to the Naval Academy instead.

He graduated from Annapolis in 1897.

Weekend Rains Help Farmers

Drought Perils Iroquois Co. Crops

While the major portion of Kankakee County today was rejoicing over weekend rains that brought anywhere from three-fourths of an inch to 1½ inches of rain — the bulk of rain-starved Iroquois County was still waiting for a sizeable rain that will break the drought that extends back to the end of May.

The gauge at the Kankakee Airport showed that .68 of rain fell during the weekend. Statistics showed .15 on Friday, .18 on Saturday and .27 on Sunday. Some parts of Kankakee showed 7-tenths of an inch for Sunday and a weekend total of 1.2 inches.

The Airport statistics reveal that 1.46 inches of rain has fallen thus far this month. The area average for July is 2.67.

Kankakee's downtown temperature high Sunday was 83 and the low was 63. The five-day forecast for the area shows more of that same weather is in the offing. The forecast says temperatures will average 3 to 5 degrees below the normal of 83-88 high and 61-66 low. Only minor day-to-day temperature changes are expected. Precipitation will total three-fourths to 1 inch in scattered showers and thunderstorms in most sections about Tuesday and again Thursday or Friday.

Iroquois County, designated a "drouth area" the past week, received spotty rainfall over the weekend. Best rain reported was in the Iroquois-Sheldon section where as much as 2 inches fell. This was the first rainfall — other than traces — for the area since May 20 and was figured to be a life-saver for the corn and bean crops.

Elsewhere in the county, residents were not so fortunate. Gustave Schupe, Watseka United States Weather Bureau observer, recorded .67 for Thursday, .85 for Friday, .39 for Saturday and but a trace for Sunday. This totaled slightly more than a half-inch for the weekend.

The Cissna Park area, probably as hard-hit as any in the county, had merely traces of rainfall during the weekend, according to grainman Leslie Markwalder. He estimated that the community has

Personal Income Over $382 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Personal income of Americans climbed in June to a record rate of $382,900,000,000 a year. This is more than 1½ billion dollars higher than the May rate.

Announcing the figure today, the Commerce Department said the rise was due to increased hiring by industry and longer working hours in factories.

This report followed a weekend report from the department that national output in the first quarter of 1959 reached a rate exceeding 470 billion dollars a year.

The term personal income includes all payments to individuals —wages, salaries, rents, dividends etc.

WAGE AND salary payments in June were reported at $261,100,000,000, an increase of $1,300,000,000 from a month earlier and a gain of nearly 12½ billion annual rate from the January figure.

On the other hand, government "transfer payments"— unemployment compensation and other federal payments which surged upward in the business recession—dropped somewhat from the May figure.

The department said that bigger factory payrolls last month contributed half the advance in total wages and salaries. The major payroll gains were in the metals, machinery, stone, glass and clay industries.

FOR THE first half of 1959 personal income was estimated at an annual rate of 376½ billion dollars, 6 per cent higher than in the corresponding portion of 1958.

National output, which went above estimates in the first quarter, is believed to have climbed still more in the second quarter.

New figures released Sunday by the Commerce Department suggested second-quarter output may have reached an annual rate of 482 billion dollars. The first official estimate on the second quarter will be released next week.

OUTLINE BERLIN PLAN

Soviet Commission Program Rejected

GENEVA (UPI) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter proposed today that the Geneva deadlock over Berlin be broken by converting the present Big Four conference into a permanent commission on Germany with East and West German advisers.

Herter said, such a body would have no time limit on its activities —unlike the all-German committee proposed by the Russians which would have to complete German reunification within 18 months.

The U.S. secretary of state told the Big Four conference that setting up a permanent commission would be a sensible and businesslike way of breaking the East-West deadlock here.

HERTER SPOKE for the West as a whole when he delivered the proposal to a plenary session of the East-West foreign ministers conference this afternoon.

Shortly before, the U.S. secretary had put the plan privately before Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko during a Big Four lunch meeting in the villa of British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

It was the first move by the West during the resumed Geneva talks to swing over to the offensive and seize the initiative from the Russians.

Herter sharply attacked the Russian proposal for an all-German commission, describing the Red plan as "totally unacceptable."

The West objects to the Soviet proposal for fear that it might ultimately lead to a Communist take-over of all Germany.

"The intention of the Soviet proposal," Herter declared bluntly, "is to obtain an unwarranted measure of respectability for the regime which has been imposed upon the people of East Germany.

"I am speaking of the so-called German Democratic Republic," Herter added. "That regime has no mandate from its people. It lacks that true independence which is a basic attribute of a sovereign state."

"THE PURPOSE of the Soviets in putting forward the proposal is all too clearly to perpetuate the partition of Germany. I repeat, therefore, that this proposal is not acceptable."

Herter charged that Russia was demanding that the West accept Moscow's all-German committee plan without any guarantees in exchange.

It would merely be in return for a statement that the Soviet Union, for a very limited period of time, would not violate its existing solemn commitments with respect to Berlin, Herter declared.

He added that the Soviet proposal had "so altered the context of this part of the Western peace plan that its acceptance would now perpetuate the division of what it calls certain wasteful Germany rather than assure its unification."

Mediator Seeks Key To Unlock Steel Strike

Firm Asks Courts To Ban Pickets From Imprisoning Employes

BULLETIN

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., asked the courts today to break up mass picket fleet of striking United Steelworkers which the company declared have "unlawfully" imprisoned supervisory employes in three Pennsylvania plants.

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's top mediator today resumed efforts to get talks going again in the strikebound steel industry.

Joseph P. Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, and three key aides went into a private morning discussion with contract negotiators for the basis steel industry.

A similar session with the United Steelworkers Union's team was scheduled in the afternoon.

Rapidly spreading economic effects of the nationwide strike lent an air of urgency to the meetings.

Nearly 90 per cent of the country's steelmaking capacity is shut off. Steel production losses entering the sixth day of the walkout totaled about 214 million dollars.

A half-million striking steelworkers and related payroll losses amounting to some 50 million dollars.

APPROXIMATELY 40,000 workers in related industries, chiefly coal and transportation, have been furloughed.

Under orders from President Eisenhower to press for quick settlement of the dispute, Finnegan was seeking some way to budge industry and union leaders from their entrenched positions.

The union demands a wage increase and improved fringe benefits. The industry contends any boost in labor costs would be inflationary, wants to eliminate what it calls certain wasteful featherbedding practices.

Report Communist, Iraqi Civil War Is Continuing

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)— Premier Abdel Karim Kassem's regime claims it has smashed a pro-Red revolt and army mutiny in the northern oil fields, but press reports to Cairo and Damascus say clashes are continuing.

Arab dispatches said hundreds of casualties had resulted from the fighting which broke out Wednesday, while Iraq was celebrating the anniversary of Kassem's 1958 overthrow of the Iraqi monarchy. The entire northeast area was reported to have been in a state of near civil war.

Iraq's military governor, Ahmed Saleh Abdi, declared in a Baghdad broadcast that there had only been scattered clashes and that order had been restored.

FROM BAGHDAD also came an appeal by Kassem to "those who want to go back to the right road." In the toughest tone he has yet used, Kassem declared: "We will settle accounts with any and all who attack the liberty of the people."

Reports from Cairo and Damascus, capitals of President Nasser's United Arab Republic, gave this account of the trouble:

Local army and police units in Kirkuk, a city of about 70,000 lying 150 miles north of Baghdad, clashed with Communist demonstrators last Wednesday and 22 persons were killed and 150 injured.

The local authorities had almost restored order when the 2nd Brigade of the 2nd Army Division mutinied, killed the deputy division commander, blew up bridges and seized strategic points in and around the city.

The bodies of at least 15 persons, including the commander and local officials, were dragged or dragged through the streets.

INCIDENTS occurred elsewhere in Iraq, including a fatal attack on Kassem's caravan.

Peasants In Havana To Back Land Reform

HAVANA (AP) — Thousands of straw-hatted, machete-carrying peasants are arriving early for a demonstration next Sunday of support for Fidel Castro and his agrarian reform program.

The revolutionary leader himself was in seclusion today. There was some speculation that the premier's post he resigned Friday. Possibly he might pick someone to carry out his policies while he devotes most of his time to the land redistribution program. In any case he clearly will continue to boss Cuba.

THE FARMERS were spilling into Castro's capital from as far as 500 miles away, answering the call of their bearded leader for 500,000 to attend the anniversary celebration of Castro's first unsuccessful attack July 26, 1953, on Fulgencio Batista's forces.

The first 5,000 — from Oriente province — marched up Havana's famed Prado Sunday to a brass band.

Cuba meanwhile rocked along with a standstill government, waiting to learn what Castro plans to do. But the new president, Dr. Osvaldo Dorticos, told a Boston radio station by telephone that he considers Castro still is prime minister.

The 6-year-old lawyer also said that former President Manuel Urrutia, whom Castro forced out of office Friday, was in no danger and Cuba probably would re-

8, Lost In Wilds Of Utah, Rescued

MOAB, Utah (AP)—Eight parched people and one pint of water a spoonful at a time . . . a burning sun with only a disabled car for shade . . . a little salmon-egg fish bait for food . . . and, finally, a thirsty uncle's question.

"Mommy, what does it feel like to die?"

That was Diane Scott, 9, trying to keep alive almost two days of this. Mommy, 35-year-old Laura Scott, answered gravely.

"IT WOULD BE like going to sleep. You'd just go unconscious and gradually die."

"Will I get water in Heaven?"

"Yes, honey, all you want."

Diane didn't die. Neither did Mrs. Scott, her husband Virl, 37, or their five other children, ages 4 to 12. A search plane spotted them Sunday, where their car had stranded them for two days in a remote country of Standing Rocks. It's near where the Green And Colorado rivers join in southeastern Utah.

They drove into the rugged, treeless country Friday morning, to see the breathtaking view from Dead Horse Point, a bluff that overlooks the convoluted Colorado River gorge. It's about 35 miles southwest of Moab, the nearest community.

They took some wrong turns and got lost on Shafer Trail, a boulder-crossed pair of ruts suitable only for trucks or jeeps. Scott said the car's radiator hurt. He drove on, thinking they were pointed toward Moab—by now more than 40 miles to the northeast. Then the crankcase oil pan ruptured and the car quit.

"We survived by keeping cool under the dirt," Scott said after their rescue; "drinking water—about a pint from the radiator, one spoonful every 2½ hours. All we had to eat was some salmon eggs, and we tried to eat cactus but our mouths were so dry we couldn't swallow it.

"We gave the children the radiator water after trying to purify it by straining it . . . it had a permanent type anti-freeze in it'—not the poisonous denatured alcohol type.

Scott explained that the family buried themselves in sand up to their necks, to avoid the burning rays of the sun. Relatives in Moab reported the Scotts missing when they didn't return Friday.

TWO FLIERS, searching for the Scotts, saw the car near an "S.O.S" sign made of rocks. They followed Moab vine leaves a few miles away to take water to the family. A pickup truck reached them later and drove them to a spot where two other planes landed. The planes flew them home.

"When two fliers reached us this morning," Scott said, the kids were bursting with laughter and then they started to cry—and so did we. I don't see how we survived as long as we did and I'm sure we couldn't have made it through today . . . prayer and the Lord helped us . . .

Scott works in a factory in Salt Lake City and lives in Murray, a suburb.

He said a doctor told him the children were in better condition than they should have been after such an ordeal. Besides Diane, the children are Virlene, 12; Laurene, 10; Byron, 7; Duwayne, 5, and Leland, 4.

7 Lands Open New European Economic Talk

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Ministers of eight European nations gathered here today for preliminary moves in a plan for West-ern Europe's second free trade area.

Fifteen ministers and about 100 experts and specialists from Austria, Britain, Denmark, Norway, Portugal, Sweden and Switzerland assembled in a big white resort hotel to consider a 26-page plan worked out by experts from the parent-making nations, known as the Outer Seven.

The plan's purpose is to remove trade barriers to catch up with the six-nation Common Market of West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, Netherlands and Luxembourg.

THIS GROUP, known as the "Inner Six," is creating a right economic community under leadership of France and West Germany.

Derek Heathcoat-Armory, Britain's chancellor of the exchequer who heads his nation's delegation, said the "Outer Seven" was in no shape a rival or retaliatory scheme to the Common Market. Swedish officials said the ultimate purpose is still to bring all 17 member countries of the Organization of European Economic Cooperation—OEEC—into one large free trade area.

Henry J. Noll Jr., Gilman, Dies; Rites Wednesday

GILMAN (INS)—Henry J. Noll Jr., 73, a Gilman resident for the past few years, died in his home at 115½ N. Central Ave. today after a long illness.

I Am An American Day Founder Dies

Gunmen Fail In Try To Kill Quiz Figure

CHICAGO (AP) — Two gunmen shot down a beer distributor who is under federal grand jury indictment and the victim lay near death today.

They blasted Joseph Bronge, 50, Sunday in suburban Melrose Park.

Marvin Giles, Melrose Park police chief, called it a "professional job, slightly bungled," and said witnesses gave the following account:

The assailants wounded Bronge in the head in front of his office. Bleeding heavily—he fled to the rear of an apartment building. A fence gate blocked his path. Bronge fumbled with the latch, then fell face down in the grass.

The gunmen came upon him and fired a second volley of 45 caliber bullets into his head. Bronge was in critical condition at Westlake Hospital.

Police authorities said he had been shot in the head at least five times. A police guard was placed over him.

A FEDERAL GRAND jury indicted Bronge, operator of West Towns Distributors May 25 on two charges of perjury regarding testimony he had given them about extortion in the beer distributing business.

He is charged with lying in answering "no" when asked if he were forced to hire an unwanted beer salesman and also if he were threatened by anyone from the Fox Head Brewing Co. about hiring a salesman.

The grand jury has been trying to link hoodlum Tony Accardo, who reportedly was chairman of Premium Beer Sales. Premium formerly was Chicago distributor for Fox Head.

Bronge pleaded innocent. Bond was set at $2,500 and trial scheduled for Sept. 21.

The grand jury is one of three investigating hoodlum activities across the nation. Others are in New York City and Los Angeles.

Ex-Illinois Tomboy Now Miss Florida

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Who'd ever have guessed it? Miss Florida of 1959 was once a plump tomboy with a special fondness for tree climbing.

Nancy Purvis of Bradenton smiled broadly when reminded of her past as she vacationed at a resort here.

The week's free vacation is part of her spoils from her victory over 26 other contestants in the Miss Florida pageant Saturday night.

It's immediately evident there have been some changes made since Nancy, now 18, got her kicks from climbing trees at Mattoon, Ill.

SHE HAS DEVELOPED a solid command of the English language, a winning smile and a figure, what a figure! Bust 35½, Waist 23½, Hips 36.

Her command of the language —she is a social science and speech major at Florida State University—gave Nancy a big boost toward the title during several stages of the three-night contest.

She delivered a stirring dramatic monologue of Ana Dunn in the "White Cliffs of Dover" in the talent division. And she piled up important points in unrehearsed answers to questions by the judges.

L. K. (Tom) Purvis, a retired automobile dealer, brought his wife, a son, John, 12, and Nancy to Florida three years ago from Illinois.

Charles V. McDonald, 21, Manteno, was fined $100 and costs by Magistrate Paul F. Davidson today on an assault and battery charge.

Martha Shepherd, 726 E. Court St., told police McDonald threw a tire iron through a window at her home Saturday night.

McDonald was also fined $30 and costs for leaving the scene of an accident on N. Hobbie avenue where his auto struck a car. The accident, police said, took place after he threw the tire iron through the window.

In police court cases Sunday, Davidson fined:

Former Demo Senator Raps Paul Butler

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scott W. Lucas, former Democratic senator from Illinois, has described Democratic Chairman Paul Butler as "utterly lacking in the fundamentals of practical politics."

Lucas, now a Washington lawyer, made the statement Sunday in commenting on Butler's criticism of the party's congressional leadership. He said congressional leaders "should receive the strength and support of all Democrats to the greatest extent possible."

Butler, who has said Democrats are not satisfied with the program of Senate Leader Lyndon Johnson and House Speaker Sam Rayburn, both of Texas, is doing the party a disservice, Lucas charged.

"If we expect to win the 1960 election," Lucas said, "we should close ranks and cease our beefs about these hard-working, capable and experienced leaders."

Nab Youth For Killing Judge, Teenage Girl

QUAKER, Mo. (AP)—A coroner's inquest and a murder warrant today await a 19-year-old youth accused of the "mad dog" slaying of a former county judge and a teenage girl.

Robert Carr, Washington County first-degree murder warrant will be filed today against John Crump, described by Sheriff Thomas B. Allen as a "hard boiled punk."

Carr said Crump's 14-year-old accomplice, John Edward Davis, would be charged with delinquency.

Authorities said Crump told them the slaying spree Saturday night started as a plan to take the car of the slain man "to go out and have a big time."

LEONARD (LYNN) Barr, 57, a former Washington County judge, was shot in his general store while preparing a sandwich for the two youths.

Sheriff Allen said the boys ran to Barr's home next door and shot his wife, Vallie, 52, when she refused to hand over the car keys. Crump clubbed the Barr's daughter, Ella Jo, 16, and her friend, Bobbie Lou Shipp, 17, of Belgrade, Mo., with his 12-gauge shotgun, the sheriff said. Bobbie Lou was killed. Mrs. Barr and her daughter are in critical condition at Bonne Terre (Mo.) Hospital. The shotgun was broken by the blows.

Art Of Thinking To Be Lost?

It will soon be two years since the Russians launched their first Sputnik and sent Americans into a frenzy of concern over the adequacy of our educational system.

The furor has died down. Not so often do we hear painful comparisons between us and the Soviets as to the number of scientists and engineers turned out by our educational system. What talk there is seems mainly to involve our efforts to find the means for enough schools and teachers to keep pace with our spiraling population.

Neither when the clamor was at its height nor in these quieter times does any sustained serious attention focus on what may be the really fundamental failure of our schools.

There is serious doubt whether our system, as now generally constituted, teaches people how to think.

Thinking, in the best sense of the word, is a precise, difficult business. Doing it well requires mastery of one's own language and others, a substantial grasp of mathematics, proficiency in writing and speaking, practice in the handling of a set of principles, systems of reasoning and a wide range of ideas.

Life contains an endless set of problems which we must solve individually and collectively. It would be extremely difficult to make out a case to the effect that knowing how to think will not help solve these problems.

In too few of the schools of our country are students who can be precise about numbers, spelling and meaning of words, names, dates, places and meanings of vital history and geography.

We seem to think increasingly that our schools are, above all, psychological clinics, and that all is well if our young people graduate happy and well adjusted.

It may be quite old fashioned to ask, "Can they think?" and "What do they really know precisely and thoroughly?"

Yet the answer to that "old style" query may be the truly critical one in our contest of survival with the forces of tyranny now abroad in this world.

Corn, Hogs And More Surpluses

The corn crop estimate just issued forecasts the largest yield in history. The expectation of 4,224,000,500,000 bushels for the first year of no acreage controls for corn, which still is given price support, has already set off a chain reaction reaching all the way to the 1960 election.

The surplus feed supplies had already resulted in great hog production. The new corn crop, 10 per cent above last year's record, and 21 per cent above the 10-year average ending in 1957, means still more hogs. That means a depressed market.

The Agricultural Committee of the National Planning Association, a non-profit, non-political group devoted to the interests of agriculture, business, labor and the professions, has a solution.

It proposes a one-year only program to slow the rapid increase of hogs. It suggests marketing them at 180 to 200 pounds, instead of waiting for the usual over-200 pound market weight.

It would put a price support of $12.50 a hundredweight to encourage lightweight marketing. It estimates the cost of $200,000,000 for one year.

That would buy a lot of porkchops. The question is, will it actually discourage farmers from raising more hogs, or just open a new door to great and greater production?

The American farmer has proven his capacity for piling up surpluses, given the least encouragement.

Bill Of Health In Congress

How many wonder drugs will suddenly be "discovered" next year or the next that already exist in the test tubes of some obscure scientist in some foreign part of the earth. There have been instances of such in the past.

One of the numerous bills kicking around Congress could remedy this situation. It would set up an international health institute which would serve as a clearing house for the work of medical researchers in all lands.

For the good of us all, this bill deserves speedy consideration.

Khrushchev Seeks To Rewrite History

WASHINGTON — Nikita Khrushchev has again undertaken to rewrite history. Sensitive to the charge that Stalin and the Communist party, by an alliance with Hitler in 1939, made World War II possible, the Soviet Premier now brazenly tells the people of Poland that the Soviets did all this "just to buy time."

Millions of Russians and Poles lost their lives because Stalin chose to make Hitler his ally and thus, by protecting the eastern front for the Nazis, gave them a free hand on the Western front against France and Britain in the first years of World War II.

David Lawrence

But Khrushchev now says he was present when Stalin committed his act of perfidy in making an alliance with Hitler and that this action was fully justified. One wonders how the Soviet premier dares to say this today to the very people of Poland who, as a consequence, lost their independence.

Just why Khrushchev brought up the Soviet-Nazi alliance at this time isn't clear, but it seems probable that he is smarting under the charges made against this year by the United States government in an official publication of the Nov. 27, 1958, note from the Soviets about Berlin. The Soviets had alleged that, prior to World War II, they had "displayed constant willingness to establish co-operation with the other countries with the object of resisting Hitlerite aggression," and that if the Western powers had not been shortsighted in their hopes of turning Hitler eastward and had not refused to ally with the U.S.S.R., millions of lives would have been saved."

THE DEPARTMENT OF state remembers the dismal fantastic distortion of the facts of history, Stalin:

"From 1930 to 1933 the Soviet Union through its international Communist arm, the Comintern, directed the German Communist party to collaborate with the Nazis and other extremists in undermining the German Weimar republic. It helped sabotage democratic parties and institutions and prompted lawlessness and disorder. This aided Hitler's rise to absolute power.

"The U.S.S.R. turned aside from negotiations with the United Kingdom and France in the summer of 1939 and concluded the Molotov-Ribbentrop agreements which provided the necessary guarantees for coordinated Nazi-Soviet aggression in Eastern Europe and resulted in World War II.

"In spite of warnings from the Western powers of impending German attack, the Soviet government aided Nazi Germany until Hitler marched against it in (June) 1941.

"In April, 1941, the U.S.S.R. signed a neutrality pact with the Japanese ally of Hitler, thereby clearing the way for the Pearl Harbor attack on the United States on Dec. 7, 1941."

THUS IT IS CLEARLY demonstrated that the Stalin action caused many millions of Allied citizens to become casualties in the war. Notwithstanding Stalin's behavior, the United States promptly sent vast amount of war materials to aid the Soviet armies when Hitler did attack Russia. In view of this action, there has been no more flagrant example of ingratitude in world history. For, ever since 1945, the Soviet government has turned on its own Western Allies who had saved the Soviet people from the Nazis. Today, however, war is being threatened by the Soviets against the West because it does not accept the demands of Communist imperialism.

While Nikita Khrushchev is rewriting history during his trip to Poland, it may not be amiss to remind him and the Polish people of these exultant words that Molotov — Stalin's mouthpiece—uttered on Oct. 31, 1939:

"However, one swift blow to Poland, first by the German and then by the Red army, and nothing was left of this ugly offspring of the Versailles Treaty which had existed by oppressing non-Polish nationalities."

FOREIGN MINISTER Molotov went on to say that "Germany is in the position of a state that is striving for the earliest termination of the war and for peace, while Britain and France, which but yesterday were declaiming against aggression, are in favor of continuing the war."

But Great Britain and France did go to war to uphold their agreement to guarantee the integrity of Poland. Likewise, when Stalin was warned of Hitler's game, he ignored the warnings of Britain and the United States. Even the official American documents of last January says on this point:

"In March, 1941, the United States on two occasions warned the U.S.S.R. that it had received authentic information that Nazi Germany planned to attack the Soviet Union, whereupon Mr. Churchill warned Stalin to the same effect in late April. But the U.S.S.R. had just shown its continued solidarity with Hitler by signing, on April 13, 1941, a neutrality pact with the Japanese partner of the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo axis, thus clearing the way for Pearl Harbor."

What sort of "time" was Stalin buying between September, 1939, and June, 1941? He himself never withdrew from the pact with the Nazis. He was forced to abandon it solely because Hitler decided to attack Soviet Russia after the Nazis had conquered France and were in military control of the European continent. The people of Poand at least ought to be given the facts over the radio while "Czar" Nikita is touring their land.

The Summit Puzzle

No matter how one analyzes the Russian pressure for a summit conference, it does not add up. The Geneva conference could have reached some conclusion; it did not because obviously Khrushchev will not permit a conclusion to be reached except when he is present. All the time that the last Geneva conference was in session, he sabotaged it from the sidelines. Now that another Geneva conference is in session, it will be interesting to see whether he can remain silent for the duration.

According to Fred Kuoiow, the current Geneva conference will propose an 18-month truce. The best hope for it is that the entire subject of Berlin will be postponed until 1961, which is a long way off. Perhaps the Russians are hopeful that the 1960 election in the United States will bring Democrats into office and that they will fare better with a Democrat than with a Republican. Surely, there can be no basis for such a treasonable thought. Kozlov must have learned that so far as Russia is concerned we are a united people.

THERE IS A FURTHER WEAKNESS IN Russian thought on the summit conference. It is based on the assumption that the President of the United States can do as he chooses. Perhaps the Russians have reached that conclusion from Stalin's experience with Franklin D. Roosevelt at Teheran and Yalta. Roosevelt always went off on his own and managed to get the Senate to go along with him.

Sen. Arthur Vandenberg, who was the Republican leader in foreign affairs during Roosevelt's administrations, went along with the President although he had started his career as a Middle Western isolationist. In fact, except for a few irreconcilables, Roosevelt had little trouble with his Republican colleagues.

However, times are different now and no President can do many of the things Roosevelt did or assume such great national obligations as Roosevelt did at Yalta. It would not be tolerated today.

WHAT A SUMMIT CONFERENCE entails for a President of the United States is a constant pressure on the part of the Russians for an immediate decision on specific matters which are beyond the authority of the President to make without "the advice and consent of the Senate." And when a matter involves senatorial consent, it also involves open debate and free discussion in the press.

Roosevelt had a war to help him. Eisenhower does not have equal power of secrecy and censorship. As a matter of fact, the American people regard the present indirect censorship as excessive and there can be little question but that sooner or later the chairmen of some congressional committee will make himself a reputation by exposing the free use of such rubber stamps as "classified," "secret," etc. This can be and undoubtedly is a form of censorship not authorized by an act of Congress but characteristically retained by military men and other officials since war days.

KHRUSHCHEV HAS SENT TWO EMISSARIES here to try out the American people. Mikoyan did quite well in his public relations although he left no permanent impression behind him, except that as a salesman, he tried to over-sell his product. Kozlov did not do so well in his public relations, perhaps because he had never been here before and he is not a particularly clever person. He also believes in Soviet propaganda, namely, that a Capitalist will do anything for a dollar—sell his mother into prostitution, pervert his own children and betray his country. In his private conversations with businessmen, he has been offering more than he has to give and some of his barter promises are too ridiculous except for the most naive businessmen.

However, the Bolshoi Ballet was a success and it is presumed that the Moscow State Orchestra will be a success. What such performances do for peace, it is yet to be seen. Thus far, Gromyko seems not to be affected by them.

None of this people-to-people business has produced any practical results. Soviet Russia proceeds on its imperialist way and will not change its world program because a few well-dressed Capitalists applaud a ballet dancer or laughed at one of Mikoyan's jokes. The solid business of meeting was still ahead of both countries and will have to be based on something more solid than a ballet dancer jumping in the air.

Reds In No Position For All-Out War

Among other Soviet demands which will doubtless be renewed as the Berlin discussions proceed is the demand for reduction of the Allied garrison in Berlin to "token" or "symbolic" strength. One figure mentioned is a reduction from the present level of approximately 11,000 men to 3,000.

From various Western sources have come hints that some sort of compromise on this point might be acceptable, if the Soviets would make concessions on other points. The assumption is that since 11,000 men couldn't fight the 22 Soviet divisions in East Germany anyway, the token 3,000 would serve the purpose of flying the flag in Berlin just as well. Added to the Soviets that if they commit an act of aggression, it means all-out war and "massive retaliation" with nuclear weapons to automatically follow.

It is a neatly packaged and inexpensive solution, but as usual such a solution doesn't fit a highly complex problem.

THE SOVIETS ARE IN no position to undertake an all-out war. They will not be in position to do so until they are able to strike the U. S. with enough nuclear weapons to have some chance of knocking out the home bases of our retaliatory forces. As of now, if they triggered an all-out war, they would be clobbered, and they know it. They could not stop enough of the Strategic Air Command's bombers and the strike planes of the Navy's carrier task forces to save the Soviet Union from utter devastation.

But they might reason, perhaps do reason, that they could allow their East German puppets to try to take over in West Berlin. This might not trigger an all-out nuclear reply. There would have to be inter-allied consultations. We might well hesitate to go so far as H-bombs on Moscow when the actual aggression came from East Germans on this point. Soviet probings are directed toward getting an answer to this uncertainty.

HOWEVER, ANY SUCH takeover by East German puppet army would have to be swift, effective and complete, confronting us with an accomplished fact within a matter of hours. If it met with sufficient resistance to delay or make the operation difficult, as all doubtful, the East German population, which certainly can be in sympathy with such a move, might get up on its hind legs.

In fact the Soviets cannot be sure even of their East German soldiers, carefully selected and trained as these have been. Would they really go on fighting if he goings got tough? Could they be induced to attack an Allied force of 11,000 men, including two crack U.S. battle groups, a British brigade group and a French regiment—all picked, fully trained soldiers with arms of high quality? If they did attack, would they trick it out when the casualties began mounting up?

IT MIGHT BE A LOT easier to pull off such a coup if we were willing to take most of our soldiers away beforehand.

As we examine this practical consideration, we might also ask ourselves what would be the effect of such a reduction in the Allied forces in West Berlin on the people of West Berlin? Would they think such a cutback indicated that we're sinking in our often protested determination to stand by them, no matter what?

The main thing the Soviets want is a battle in East Germany, which they are not really prepared to back up to the point of all-out war. They will start such a battle only if they think they can gain their objective without incurring the penalty. If they don't think so, they won't start it.

Error Made At First Trick

By OSWALD JACOBY

When Dr. George Rothenberg of Levittown romped off with the time that a member of the class of 1922 of Columbia College had won this coveted title.

In one of the hands that contributed to their victory Dr. Rothenberg gained a top score by means of an attacking lead.

North and South employing the Stayman Convention over a two no-trump opening plus a couple of aces showing bids reached a good six spade contract.

Dr. Rothenberg sitting West opened the nine of hearts and South had to make a decision at trick one. Should he take an immediate heart finesse?

South decided against the finesse and went right up with dummy's ace. His next plays were to cash the ace and king of trumps and when the queen dropped everything looked delightful. He continued with the ace and king of diamonds, came to his own hand with the ace of clubs, ruffed his last diamond and led a small club toward his queen.

At this point the honeymoon ended with a bang. Mr. Berger ruffed in and led a heart to give Dr. Rothenberg the setting trick.

had no more than a quarter of an inch the past 50 days.

Markwalder estimated that if no sizable rain reaches the community within the next week or 10 days the corn and bean crops could suffer as much as 80 per cent damage yields. He said the current dry spell is considered by veteran residents of the community as the worst for this time of the year within their memories.

The Cissna Park Chamber of Commerce the past week discussed the possibility of "artificial rain" for the area. It was reported that farmer-pilot Paul Markwalder the past week several times went aloft to drop dry ice into clouds. It was not determined, however, whether the rainfall traces that reached the area were from his efforts.

A check of the county areas indicated that, although spotty rains have aided some individual farms, it appears that the southwest and central parts of the county are suffering more today than other sections. The weekend rains in the eastern part of the county and the previous rains in the northern section have aided their crops a great deal.

Kenneth Imig, Iroquois County farm adviser, said that it is difficult to paint a complete picture of the crop damage in the county.

"Rains have been so spotty that one could scarcely give a complete picture without visiting every farm in the county," he said. "Out yields, for example, ranged as high as 70 bushels — while some out fields were so bad the farmers didn't even bother to harvest them.

"In the area — such as Cissna Park and Watseka and others — where there has been practically no rain during June and July the next 10 days are very crucial. We have reached the period where ears will start to form on the corn and at pods on the beans. If no rain reaches these crops during that crucial period the yields will be quite sad, I'm afraid."

The fickleness of thisweather is exemplified with a comparison of this period today and that of last year for Iroquois County. Last year heavy rains poured more than 16 inches of moisture on portions of the county during June and July. This year some of the same areas have had as little as a quarter of an inch during the same period.

Elsewhere in the state temperatures were pleasant Sunday with highs in the 70s in Rockford and 75 in Chicago and there was rain in both cities, about an inch in Chicago.

Temperatures dipped into the 50s in wide areas of the state during the night with a 58 at Moline, 56 at Rockford and 59 at Peoria. Rantoul and Vandalia. In other parts of the state readings were in the 60s.

Tonight temperatures again are expected to dip into the 60s over the state.

A redevelopment project is replacing the decrepit buildings, left, with modern apartments, town houses and green spaces. Under 21 ...by Dan Halligan

DEAR DAN: I'll be finishing up my Army enlistment in about six weeks and have quite a problem. I came in the Army not too happy about it but figuring I might as well get my military obligation behind me. Well, it hasn't been half as bad as I thought. I've received two promotions and really like the service. As a matter of fact, the way I feel now I'd like to stay in and maybe make a career out of it. Maybe during this next enlistment I could check into the status of being an officer. The trouble is that for the past six months my mother has practically been counting the days until I come home. She wants me to go to work for my brother. How can I break the news to her? She's got the wrong idea about the Army, just like I did before I enlisted. A prompt answer will be appreciated a lot. Thanks—E. J.

Dan Halligan will answer questions submitted by teenagers and children. Send questions to him in care of the Kankakee Daily Journal.

DEAR E. J.: It's your life to live and if, after an Army enlistment, you feel you would like to make the military service your career, go to it. Your mother may be a little disappointed at first but one of these days she'll be the proudest mother in town. It's going to be up to you to change her mind about the service, so go to it. Good luck and I hope you become a general.

DEAR DAN: I've gone out with this one girl about six times in the last month and while I think a lot of her, I'm not so keen about her brother. I never knew him before I met the girl but you'd think we were life-long friends. He's two years older than I am and has been out of a job for about four months. I let him take me for the last time I had a date with his sister and don't expect to get it back. Yesterday he came to the place where I'm working this summer and asked if he could borrow my car for two hours. He kind'of put me on the spot, so I let him have it. When it came time to close for the day, the car still wasn't back and I had to walk home. It was after 10 o'clock at night when he called me and said he had run out of gas. I know his type and I know I'm going to have a lot of trouble with him unless something is done. I don't want to say anything to him in front of his sister because her feelings might get hurt. What would you do in my case?—Willie.

DEAR WILLIE: Unless you stop and think this boy is "hand out, palm up" project, you're going to wind up without a car and without any money. You can be polite but firm in refusing him money and your car. Tell him you have to work too hard for your money to loan it. You may have to insult him a little but if it takes that to get the idea across, you'll have to do it.

DEAR DAN: Seventeen, graduated from high school and seriously in love with someone who is beyond my reach, that's me and my problem. Pat is my age; we have been dating, unsteadily, for years. Unsteadily, not because there is the slightest doubt of how much we love each other but because of alcohol and the matter of drinking. You see, Pat drinks too much and quite uncontrollably. At various times he has promised he would stop and he has kept those promises. Then we would go to a party and the temptation would prove too great for him. I realize he tries earnestly not to drink and for this I thank him but things are getting more involved now and I must either give him up completely or do something else but what?—D.

DEAR D: Does you 17-year-old boy friend realize he is not a man simply because he drinks a lot? Perhaps you're babying him too much. Then again, perhaps he sincerely does want to stop drinking but can't on his own. That's where Alcoholics Anonymous can come into the picture. Members and myself realize drinking to excess isn't a crime but a problem and a sickness and when drinking involves a 17-year-old, double fast action should be taken. Talk to your boy friend, then both of you contact the AA. They'll do the job, believe me. I know many men who are AA members and yet haven't had drinks in more than 10 years. That's how strongly they believe in the idea and organization. Regarding your boy friend getting drunk at parties, I'm sure the New York police would be interested in knowing just who is furnishing liquor to minors.

30,000-Acre Fire Threatens More Of Arid Oregon

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fire swept over more than 30,000 acres of rural Oregon today, fanned across arid grass, range and timber lands by hot summer winds.

Winds of up to 15 miles per hour were forecast for today.

"If the wind comes up we will not be able to catch the fire," said John C. Hunt, fire dispatcher for the Federal Bureau of Land Management. "In that case it will spread into the Fremont National Forest."

Hunt was talking about a fire that has covered between 20,000 and 30,000 acres of rangeland in southern Oregon, apparently caused by lightning.

Also burning out of control were 1,600 acres of mountain timberland in central Oregon and 2,000 acres of grass lands on the Warm Springs Indian Reservation of northeastern Oregon.

California continued to fight a 1,000-acre fire in the rugged Stanislaus National Forest. More than 500 firefighters surrounded the blaze.

He was unable to attend many of the meetings.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market faded further early this afternoon. Trading ran at a relaxed pace.

Anxiety about the economic effects of a lengthy steel strike whittled key shares fractions to around a point. A handful of gainers sprinkled the list.

Steels and motors took the steepest losses. Rails, which suffer from reduced freight business when steel plants are closed, also gave ground.

Metal, chemicals, oils, tobacco, drugs and utilities joined the downswing. Aircrafts, airlines and electronics were mixed.

Bethlehem and Republic Steel retreated around a point.

Ford was hardest hit among the motors, slumping about a point and a half.

Among the gainers, International Harvester, United Aircraft, Hupp and Eastman Kodak posted small advances.

Among the weakening rails, Southern Pacific sagged more than a point.

Dropping around a point were RCA, Westinghouse Electric, Liggett & Myers, Boeing, General Foods, Du Pont and Union Carbide.

At noon the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 80 cents at $239.60 with the industrials down $1.10, the rails off 90 cents and the utilities down 10 cents.

U.S. government bonds were unchanged.

Mrs. Eisenhower To Launch Nuclear Vessel Tuesday

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — Several hundred would-be passengers already have submitted applications for tickets to travel on the first American nuclear-powered merchant ship, the NS Savannah.

The applications, however, are a little early. The Savannah today is poised on the ways at the yards of the New York Shipbuilding Corp., about 60 to 70 per cent complete. She is scheduled for launching Tuesday, for her first trial runs in 1960, and her maiden voyage perhaps a year after that.

Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower will crack the traditional bottle of champagne across the knife-sharp prow of the ship at the launching Tuesday.

No one contends this first merchant ship, powered by nuclear fission, can compete economically against oil-powered vessels.

John J. Allen, undersecretary of commerce for transportation, emphasized that point in talking to reporters about the Savannah, which is costing $40,950,000.

Set Your Mind To Slimming

Try Eye-Opener For Size

By IDA JEAN KAIN

A doctor's blunt comment to an overweight patient, who had dallied with diets for years, jolted her into purposeful action. This was his ultimatum:

"If you can't or won't stay on a sensible diet, then forget about dieting and accept the fact that you will be an obese woman the rest of your days."

When she suddenly realized the choice was hers, that homemaker went ahead and reduced from 230 to 125 pounds. Equally important, she has kept her weight at healthy normal.

Overweights, let's cut out the waltz. How many summers have you dallied with diets, only to wind up a couple of pounds heavier by autumn? You bolster your morale by continuing to think you will buckle down and reduce—at some future time. It is utterly futile to rationalize that you will reduce when you feel more like it and when the time is right. Glossing things over in your mind keeps you from acting.

Face this blunt truth—if you have been overweight for five or more years and you allow this summer to slip away without taking action, the chances are you will never be free of the burden of fat. Once you strip away the pretense, you suddenly recognize that until you make up your mind to act, you are in effect deciding to stay fat. Nothing will be any different until you act.

Realize, too, that it isn't a question of whether or not you "should" reduce. This isn't a moral issue. The question is: Do you WANT to get down to shapely weight? If you really want to reduce but lack strength of will, these two-week summer series can set you on the right course. The barriers are in your mind.

Tomorrow: The goal—one size slimmer by Labor Day.

Send long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet entitled IDEAL WEIGHT CHART FOR WOMEN. Address request to Ida Jean Kain, care of Kankakee Daily Journal. Post card requests can not be answered.

It Was A Frustrating Day For White Sox

Chicago White Sox outfielder Jim Landis is out at home plate at New York Yankees' catcher Yogi Berra puts the tag on him during sixth inning of first game of doubleheader Sunday in New York. Landis attempted to score from third on Al Smith's grounder to Yankee third baseman Hector Lopez, who flipped to Berra for out. Yankees took the twinbill 6-2 and 6-4, knocking the Sox out of first place. (Unifax)

Russia Perils U. S. Track Supremacy, Says Yank Coach

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —American track and field supremacy is in jeopardy, veteran coach Frank Potts intimated today.

Potts, coach of the triumphant men's team in the past weekend's big international meet against the Soviet Union, tempered victory thus:

"We must improve in distance running and the walking event at the same pace the Russians have been improving in field events and sprints or we'll be in trouble.

"The time is coming when we are really going to have to improve our over-all program. We are strong in the field events and runs up to and including 1,500 meters. We need walkers and distance men."

The University of Colorado coach was pleased with his team's 127-108 victory over the Soviet men, but said he couldn't help but think in terms of the future.

POTTS DECLINED to speak for the American women's team, which as expected was trounced by the Soviet gals 67-42. He said the women's committee faced a much greater problem than the men's. This was obvious as the Soviet staff athletes made off with 8 out of 10 possible first places.

On the Soviet side, coach Gavriel Korobkov was pleased. He considered the meet a complete Soviet victory, adding the men's and women's scores to form one final score. This gave the Soviet Union a 175-167 decision. The United States considers the competition a dual meet with separate results.

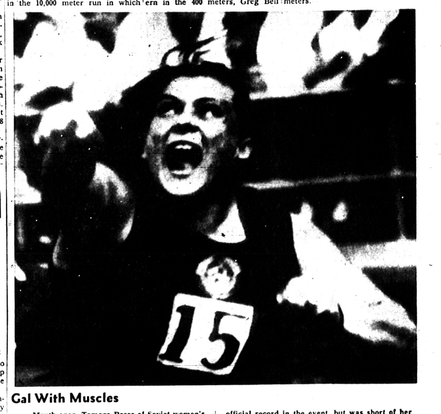
As for the meet itself the performances were nothing to write home about. There were two world records — both in the shotput. Parry O'Brien, the huge Californian, won the men's shot with a 62 foot, 2½ inch performance. Tamara Press, husky Soviet engineering student, took the woman's shot with a 55-6¼ heave.

UNDOUBTEDLY THE most excitement was caused on Saturday in the 10,000 meter run in which three of the four competitors passed out. This was topped off by a mistake in the placing in which America's Max Truex, little Southern California graduate, wound up third and a Soviet second. After considerable checking and rechecking it was admitted by the meet officials that Truex should have been second but it was too late under the rules to make a change.

American winners in the men's competition included, Don Bragg in the pole vault with a 15 feet, 2¾ inch mark, a double by sprint sensation Ray Norton in the 100 and 200 meter springs—he also anchored the winning men's 400 meter relay—Hayes Jones in the 110 meter hurdles, Eddie Southern in the 400 meters, Greg Bell with a 26-7 running broad jump, Josh Culbreath in the 400 meters run, and Al Cantello in the Javelin.

KUZNETSOV TURNED in a sensational performance for the Soviets in the decathlon. Currently holder of the unofficial decathlon world record of 8,357 points, the 27-year-old Soviet star compiled 8,350—seven points short of the record—to beat out Dave Edstrom, 20-year old one-man track team from the University of Oregon.

The only two American women victors were Lucinda Williams of Tennessee State in the 200 meters, winning in new American record time of 23.6, and Barbara Jones, Chicago, Ill., lass, in the 100 meters.



Gal With Muscles

Mouth open, Tamara Press of Soviet women's track and field team makes mighty effort as she heaves the shotput 55 feet 6 and ¾ inches in the U. S. Soviet dual track and field meet against the U. S. Sunday in Philadelphia. Tamara's toss was better than any official record in the event, but was short of her unofficial record of 56 feet 7 inches which is pending recognition. Tamara's toss was the best of seven 127-108 while the Soviet women defeated their American counterparts 67-40. (Unifax)

World's Greatest?

Russian Looks Like Champ For Olympic Decathlon

By OSCAR FRALEY

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bob Mathias, Olympic decathlon champion with an iron-hard body, was talking once about the decathlon when he made a statement which stamps him as a true athletic heighth: when he was a youngster of 18.

"It [a] lessened the two-time Olympic champion with a grim edge to his voice, "one of the most terrible ordeals an athlete could undergo. Only a man can go towards the end of it you wonder why you ever tried to do it."

This is by way of making a point —said point being that another young man named Rafer Johnson has better guts as an athlete.

Because a handsome, well-built Russian named Vasily Kuznetsov makes this 2-day decathlon marathon look ridiculously easy.

JOHNSON IS THE top U. S. hope for the Olympics, which will be contested in Melbourne, Australia. He and Kuznetsov have been battling the decathlon world record of 8,357 points which Mathias broke a tennis ball.

But in a driving thunderstorm at Franklin Field Sunday, as the United States and Russia concluded a two-day track and field meet, Kuznetsov was prevented from Dave Edstrom splashed home in eclipsing his own brand new world record only by the weather. John. son would have had his hands full trying to stop him.

The decathlon is an ordeal. In the space of two days, the candidates for its roll of honor must run 100 meters, broad jump, shot put, high jump, run 400 meters, skim over the 110-meter high hurdles, discus, pole vault, toss the javelin and wind it all up by running 1,500 meters.

It is all figured out, event by event, with points awarded according to the performance. Kuznetsov, a blue-haired 27-year-old athlete who stands six feet, one inch and weighs 183 pounds, holds the current world mark of 8,357 points —only man to pile up more than 8,000 points on four different occasions.

ONE OF THOSE four times was Sunday, despite a thunderstorm which inundated capitalistic Franklin Field. At the end of the first day's five events, he was running 50 points ahead of his world record.

He built that lead to 79 points Sunday and was 74 points ahead with only three events remaining. Then the heavens wept on his chances. The rain slicked the pole vault runway and ruined him. It greased his grip on the javelin and turned the grassy footing to a base of treachery.

Yet, going into the final event, that murderous 1,500-meter run, he needed to run only 5:02.6 to set a new record. The track was inches deep in water and, while Oregon's Kuznetsov was prevented from 5:30.8, remember that this is one of the blood Yanks's top events.

KUSNETSOV, WHO was third in the 1956 Olympic decathlon, gave it a game try. He pounded home in 5:07.6 and what they tallied up the points his total was 8,350.

That was just seven slim points behind the world mark he established at Moscow in May. And, considering the circumstances, it was a miraculous performance.

For, as Mathias said, this is a man-killing event. And it took the hand of God to stop the star of the Soviet.

But, things being what they are under the hammer and sickle, they'll be be that's the way it should be.

Olmedo Faces Suspension Over Chicago Fiasco

CHICAGO (AP)—The possibility arose today that Alex Olmedo, Wimbledon champion and Davis Cup star, might be suspended for his showing at the National Clay Court Tennis Tournament last week.

A suspension could keep Olmedo out of the challenge round of the Davis Cup matches at Forest Hills, N.Y., next month.

The Clay Court Championships Committee huddled over the affair Sunday when the finals of the National Clay Court Tournament were postponed because of rain.

IT WAS LEARNED the committee, though only a fact-finding body, recommended to the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association that Olmedo be suspended but did not specify any period of tithe.

Ralph Westcott, chairman of the committee, said his group agreed unanimously to evidence submitted by River Forest Tennis Club officials who accused Olmedo of throwing his quarterfinal match to Abe Segal of South Africa Thursday.

In a lengthy report, the River Forest group gave a complete list of Olmedo's actions in which he lost to Segal, 6-2, 6-1, 6-0.

"There is, in our opinion, no question but that the match was deliberately thrown for reasons unknown to us or Mr. Segal, who conducted himself as a gentleman throughout the match," the report said.

OLMEDO, A 23-year-old Peruvian who plays out of Los Angeles, left for Philadelphia Saturday to compete in the Middle States Grass Court Tournament.

The person who seemed bothered most over the committee's action was Perry T. Jones, 71-year-old captain of the Davis Cup team.

Asked if he wanted Olmedo to play on the team, Jones said:

"Certainly I want Olmedo. He's our key man. With him, we'll have to fight overconfidence. Without him, we'll be plain scared."

Clay Courts Finals To Be Played Today

RIVER FOREST (UPI) — The finals in the 40th annual National Clay Courts Tennis championships will get underway today at the plush River Forest tennis club.

Rain swept the area Sunday and forced a 24-hour postponement of the final round.

The rains hit shortly after midday and stopped after a brief fall. Tourney officials decided to open play in semifinal matches of the men's doubles. But rain started again during the first set of the Bill Bond — Dennis Ralston and Chris Crawford—Marty Riessen matches and officials promptly canceled play for the day.

IT WAS THE second time in two days that rain had halted play.

In the men's singles final, defending champion Bernard Bartzen, Dallas, Tex., meets Whitney Reed, NCAA champ. In the women's singles, Sandra Reynolds, a pretty South African girl, meets Sally Moore, Bakersfield, Calif., for the title.

Miss Reynolds and Rene Schuurman, also of South Africa, will battle Janet Hopps of Seattle and Jeanne Arth, St. Paul, Minn., for the ladies' doubles crown.

THE MEN'S DOUBLES will feature the winner of the Bond-Ralston and Crawford - Riessen match against the victors of the semifinal game pitting Abe Segal, South Africa and Warren Woodcock, Australia against the duo of Bartzen and Grant Golden, Evanston, Ill.

New 'Fastest Human'

Ray Norton of San Jose State, America's new claimant to the title "world's fastest human," speeds through finish in 200-meter dash at USSR-USA dual track and field meet Sunday in Philadelphia. Norton's time was 20.7 seconds. He also took the 100 meter race Saturday in 10.3 seconds. (Unifax)

Chastised Sox Return Home In 2nd

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox fell flat on their faces Sunday after winning the first two games of a four - game series against the New York Yankees.

The Sox dropped a doubleheader to the Yankees 6-2 and 6-4 and lost their hold on first place in the American League as Cleveland split a doubleheader with Boston and went into the lead by a couple of percentage points.

Despite the double loss, the Sox completed their seven-game road trip as well as could be expected.

They took two-of-three from Boston when the Red Sox were starting to sport following a five-game sweep over New York. Then they went into Yankee Stadium after New York had taken three straight from Cleveland, won the first two games and lost two.

The Sox return home Tuesday night to open a two-week home stand with a three-game series against Boston. Other teams to appear at Comiskey Park will be Baltimore, New York and Washington.

The Chicago Cubs were rained out of their doubleheader with Cincinnati. The Cubs will be at St. Louis tonight where they'll be (10-7) goes against Jim Brog-lio (3-6).

Little Cops Insurance City Title With 272

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (UPI) —Gene Littler celebrated the Sunday before two days early with a front-running victory in the Insurance City Open golf tournament.

The plucky pro from Singing Hills, Calif., led from the start of the 72-hole tournament to be needed a birdie-two on the 17th hole of the final round Sunday to edge Tom Nieporte of Bronxville, N.Y., by one stroke.

LITTLER FINISHED with a one-under-par 70 for a total of 272 while Nieporte potted a 69 in the final round for a 273.

Doug Ford of Crystal River, posted the day's best round of 67—to gain third money with a 274 while Jackie Burke of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., and Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., finished with 276 each. Burke had a 68 in the final round and Hawkins turned in a 69.

LITTLER LOST his putting touch in the third round Saturday when his lead was reduced from five to two strokes and then to a stroke by Nieporte's closing rally.

Ken Venturi of San Francisco also finished strong with a 68 to tie at 277 with Bob Goalby of Crystal River, Fla., Arnold Palmer of Ligonier, Pa., and Dick Knight of San Diego, Calif.

Archie Demands Apology For 'Bum' Tag

MONTREAL (UPI)—Archie Moore equally at home throwing a left hook or a sharp barb, today demanded that New York trainer Charlie Goldman make a public apology for calling me a bum."

The world light-heavyweight champion of recognition Goldman made recently while predicting what his current protege, Canadian challenger Yvon Durelle, would do to Moore when the two meet in a title rematch at the Montreal Forum July 29. Goldman allegedly called Moore a bum in recalling the unofficial decathlon feat of his former pupil Rocky Marciano) beat the bum."

"I HAVE NO FAULT to find with him reminding me that I lost the fight but I demand that he make a public apology when he calls me a bum. I'm not from New York," he added.

"I know that a lot of the New York fight people call everybody a bum but I'm not from New York," he added.

Moore, who just finished four days of secret training behind what he called a ranger [illegible] Ogdensburg, N.Y., refused to be "the leather-curtain" laughed in derision when asked to comment on the [illegible] prediction by Goldman.

The respectacled little trainer disclosed recently that Durelle's new strategy would be to concentrate on the body, Moore's stomach, the early rounds to force the champion to drop his near impregnable guard.

"THAT'S BEEN tried Before," said Moore. "In fact, Marciano tried it and it didn't work."

Moore, who got off the floor four times to knock out Durelle in the 11th round of their title fight last Dec. 10 at the Forum, obtained a two weeks postponement for the rematch when he came up with a stone bruise on his foot. It was widely reported that the elder statesman of the ring was having trouble pairing down but Archie denied it.

2 Boats Far Ahead In Mackinac Island Sailing Race

FRANKFORT, Mich (AP)—The 58-foot yawl Dyna and the Free-booter, backed by mild southwesterly winds, plowed through Lake Michigan waters toward Port Betsie today in the annual 333-mile Chicago to Mackinac Island sailing race.

Dyna, owned by Clayton Ewing of Green Bay, Wis., was reported about two miles ahead of the Freebooter, owned by the John brothers of Chicago, about 20 miles off Manistee, Mich., early this morning.

Gypsie, Reverie and Daybreak were 32 miles astern off Little Sable Point, Mich., followed by Feather, Marlin, Gentian, Corona, Esbro, Hilaria, Masker, Caribe and Rangoon, in that order.

The remainder of the fleet was bunched closely behind.

Mathews, Buhl Have Trouble With Fan In Hotel Bar

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Eddie Mathews and pitcher Bob Buhl of the Milwaukee Braves set a hotel bar into an uproar early Sunday during a scuffle with a disgruntled fan.

Two police cars went to the hotel and a small pane of glass was reported broken after the incident but both players denied any punches were thrown.

"There was nothing to it," Mathews said.

The third baseman said the fan, identified as a Milwaukee booster club member, went to the table where he and Buhl were sitting and insulted them.

Mathews said they left but had to shove the fan away as he and Buhl got on an elevator.

The incident followed the Braves' 6-5 loss to the St. Louis Cardinals Saturday night. It was their fifth straight defeat.

Police said no official report of the disturbance was made.

Williams Hurts His Neck Again

BOSTON (AP) — Ted Williams has the neck miseries again.

The 40-year-old defending American League batting champion strained his neck and back swinging at a pitch in the first game of Bostons doubleheader with Cleveland Sunday.

Williams first injured the neck in spring training and missed the first 25 games of the season.

Red Sox trainer Jack Fadden said, Williams probably will be able to play in the coming road series in Chicago.

Also on the sidelines for the Red Sox is Jackie Jensen, the American League's most valuable player last year. Jensen is out with a foot injury.

Suttner announced Sunday he had chosen Kansas State over 119 other colleges which had sought his services.

Suttner, who started for Ridgway High School, said K-State's scholarship offer and its agricultural department led to his decision.

With Roger out of their grasp, other colleges can now concentrate on landing his younger brother, Tom. Although only 13 and a freshman at Ridgway High School, Tom already stands 6-feet, 3-inches.

Dodgers, Yanks Won't Stay Down

Snider, Hodges Keep Dodgers Close To Giants

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It is just like old times for the Dodgers. Duke Snider and Gil Hodges are hitting home runs, Clem Labine is winning in relief. And an important series with the Giants is coming up next.

The old rivalry that flourished in Brooklyn and New York seems to have lost little of its vigor but the planted 3,000 miles west in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

The Giants' National League lead measured 2½ games with the second place Dodgers coming to town Monday for a two-game series.

Pittsburgh shaved the Giants' lead a half game Sunday when Bill Virdon's eighth-inning home run beat the pace setters 3-2 in the first game of a scheduled doubleheader. The second game went only two innings before it was postponed because of the Sunday curfew.

LOS ANGELES gained ground although it had to settle for a split at Philadelphia. Hodges' three-run homer and Snider's blast helped the Dodgers win the opener 8-4 behind Labine's relief work. Eddie Bouchee's two-run double gave the Phils a 3-2 second game, cut to 5½ innings by rain.

Milwaukee continued its tailspin, losing its sixth straight as St. Louis mounted a 16-hit attack for a 9-5 victory. Curt Flood drove in three runs with a homer and a double, Ken Boyer hit his 15th homer, Don Blasingame had four hits and Bill White drove in two runs with two doubles.

About 30,000 fans waited for 90 minutes in Wrigley Field before a doubleheader between Cincinnati and the Chicago Cubs had to be postponed because of rain.

HODGES' 17TH homer clinched the first game for the Dodgers as it came with Jim Gilliam and Snider on base. They started strong in the second game, but the Phils got to Johnny Podres for three big runs while Taylor Phillips pitched effectively in the clutch-es.

Vinegar Bend Mizell won his 11th at the Braves' expense but had to leave the game after seven innings because of a pulled hip muscle. Marshall Bridges held the fort although touched for homers by Eddie Matheas and Joe Adcock in the ninth.

Haney Not Panicky Over 6-Game Losing Streak

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Milwaukee's defending National League champions looked shaky in taking their sixth straight defeat but manager Fred Haney Bravely declared, "I'm not panicky—we'll get going before too long."

The Braves' defense and pitching sagged badly as the St. Louis Cardinals completed a three-game sweep with a 9-5 victory Sunday.

Solly Hemus, Cardinal manager, said the Braves "just ran into a couple of hot ball clubs—I'm sticking with them as the team to beat."

Hemus said the absence of Red Schoendienst, sidelined by tuberculosis, "is hurting them more and more—Red was a stabilizer."

In the Red Bird victory, Curt Flood drove in three runs with a homer and double and Ken Boyer his 15th homer. Don Blasingame got four straight singles and Bill White drove in two runs with two doubles and raised his average to .320.

Vinegar Bend Mizell got the win (11-4) against Carleton Willey who got tagged with the loss (4-5).

The Cards take on the Chicago Cubs tonight at Busch Stadium. It's Ernie Broglio (3-6) going against Glen Hobbie (10-7).

Stengel Promises Foes Lots More Of Duren

NEW YORK (UPI)—Casey Stengel, grateful to be back in the pennant race again, had only two words for the rest of the American League today—"Bring Duren."

Stengel used his hard-throwing bespectacled relief ace in both ends of a doubleheader Sunday which the Yankees swept from the White Sox 6-2 and 6-4, to narrow the gap between themselves and first place to 9½ games.

"And from now on," said Casey, "I'm gonna use him any time I got a chance for the ball game."

To which Duren says, "I'll go as long as I can."

Duren, called "Mister Magoo" by his teammates in reference to the myopic film character who frequently falls down elevator shafts and into pits has put together a pitched hitless ball in both of Sunday's appearances although he had some anxious moments in the nightcap.

A STEADY RAIN beat down from the sixth inning on during the finale and caused Duren no end of grief. He slipped on the muddy ground several times and constantly sought to dry his eyeglasses.

Duren fanned five batters during the two innings he pitched in the opener but he walked the bases full in the ninth inning of the night cap and only escaped when dangerous Nellie Fox bounced into a force play for the final out.

"Between the rain and the intense humidity, I could hardly see," said Duren, who lowered his earned run average to 0.92.

"I don't know what I would have done if a ball was hit back to me. I kept wiping off my glasses but after a while, it didn't make any difference any more."

STENGEL WAS critical of the umpires for not calling time in the eighth inning of the finale when box-seat patrons all rushed to cover to escape the deluge.

"They should have called time and held up the game awhile," snapped the Yankee manager. "It was dangerous for everyone out there and it was dangerous for my pitcher.

"I didn't order the rain. The least they coulda done was called time."

But they didn't and the Yankees went on to knock the White Sox out of first place. Now the Bronx bombers hit the road as Stengel says, 'you can expect to see a lot more of Duren.

Zach Wheat Gets Inducted Into 'Hall'

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y. (UPI)—Zack Wheat, one-time southpaw slugger who still holds six all-time Dodger records, was to be officially inducted into baseball's Hall of Fame today in annual ceremonies at the hall here.

The day's program also included the annual Hall of Fame exhibition game, this year between the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Kansas City athletics.

Wheat, 71, former native of Hamilton, Mo., who now lives in Sunrise Beach, Mo., was on hand for the ceremonies. Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick and Hall of Famer Ty Cobb also were on hand.

Wheat was purchased by the Brooklyn team, then called the Superbas, from Mobile late in the 1908 season for $1,200. He played with Brooklyn from 1909 through 1926 and still holds the club records for total hits (2,804), most games (2,180), most at-bats (8,-859), most singles (2,085), the most doubles (464) and most triples (161). He had a lifetime batting average of .317 and was a unanimous selection for the Hall of Fame last Feb. 1 by the 11-man baseball "committee on veterans."

Girls' All-Star Game Rained Out

Sunday's showers caused postponment of the South Suburban Girls Softball League all-star game scheduled for Old Fair Park.

The game will be played next Sunday at the same diamond.

The Bradley Comets will go to Crete Wednesday night for a league contest.

Double Victory Over Sox Leaves Yanks 5½ Back

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Just when you get ready to count the Yankees out, they pop right back into the thick of the American League fight.

A week ago, after losing an entire 3-game series in Boston, they were dead. On Friday morning they were very much alive with a series sweep over Cleveland.

The magic of Ralph Terry and Bob Shaw gave Chicago the first two games of an important weekend series. Once again they were ready to hang the crepe on Casey Stengel's clubhouse door.

But the Yanks knocked the lid off the coffin Sunday by sweeping two from Chicago. The explosion knocked the White Sox out of first place. The Cleveland Indians, who had been kicked out of the lead by the Yanks, regained "control" by .001 percentage. New York is 5½ back.

STENGEL FOUND help from unexpected sources in his Sunday sweep, ending a streak of eight straight Sunday defeats dating back to June 7. In the first game it was 43-year-old Enos Slaughter, oldest active player in the majors, hitting a pair of two-run homers in a 6-2 victory for Whitey Ford. In the second it was Eli Grba, a 6-2, 200-pound rookie from the Richmond farm, turning back the White Sox 6-4. Grba, who has been out both Ford and Grba, but Chicago did not score an earned run all day.

The Red Sox nipped the Indians in the opener 4-3 on Frank Malzone's double with two out and the bases full in the last of the ninth. Cleveland grabbed first place by taking the second 5-3, a game interrupted and finally called because of rain as Boston came to bat in the ninth.

Washington's Camilo Pascual won his seventh straight 7-0 by holding Kansas City to five hits in the first game but the A's bounced back to take the second 6-5 in 10 innings on Hal Smith's home run. Not even Harmon Killebrew's 26th homer and Bob Allison's 25th this season of the day could save the Senators in the second.

BALTIMORE GOT three-hit pitching from Hal Brown, who also clouted a blister on his pitching hand, and Billy Loes for a 2-1 decision over Detroit. It was the Tigers' 14th defeat in their last 17 games despite Charlie Maxwell's 21st homer.

The big man for the Indians in their second game victory was Tito Francona who drove in three runs. Al Cicotte, third Cleveland pitcher, struck out five of the Red Sox batters in the first game.

Survives 4-Story Fall On Iron Fence

NEW YORK (AP) — Charles Scott, 45, fell from his fourth-floor apartment Sunday night and was impaled on an iron fence. Police spent 20 minutes sawing four spikes to remove him. He was taken to a hospital in serious condition.

No Pension Funds, Stratton Vetoes Bill

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — A bill to increase pensions of teachers already retired has been vetoed by Gov. Stratton, who said he was surprised the General Assembly would pass such legislation.

The governor also vetoed 55 other measures, in action announced Saturday. One of them would have prohibited the Illinois Toll Highway Commission from buying motels or granting concessions to motels along the turnpike.

Stratton said the pension bill was contrary to sound pension practice and would "saddle the taxpayers with staggering burden.

"It is cruel to raise the hopes of these people when no real provision is made to meet the cost and when it seems likely this amendment would be thrown out on constitutional grounds in any event," he added.

ANOTHER VETOED bill called for a state appropriation of $6,500,000 to pay for the increase during the next two years. Stratton estimated it would require 60 million dollars to meet the proposed boost over future years.

The legislation would have applied to teachers who retired before 1951, allowing them to receive up to $2,400 a year for service but not more than $2,475 annually. They would have paid $5 a year for each year of service.

Estimates placed the number of downstate teachers affected at 4,000. Legislative backers of the bill said the pensions were virtuous of inflation and their pensions are inadequate.

Stratton signed a bill by Democratic Speaker Paul Powell and Democratic Whip Clyde Choate of Anna to permit semi-annual payment of truck license fees, instead of annually.

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier opposed the bill and had requested the veto. He said there was no money to pay for administering the change.

OTHER BILLS vetoed included:

Setting up procedure for annexation and detachment of territory by special school districts. Stratton said the attorney general's advice on the measure was unconstitutional.

Creating a legislative commission with $10,000 to study means of acquiring ownership of the Illinois - Michigan Canal from the federal government. The governor said such a study has been made by a previous commission.

Requiring open meetings of public committees.

Appropriating funds for legislative commission studies of election laws, publications, the state's revenue structure, and state lands.

Authorizing establishment of law libraries at downstate county seats.

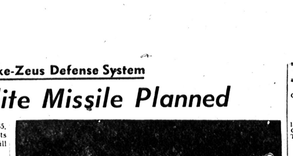
It Could Replace Nike-Zeus Defense System

Anti-Satellite Missile Planned



OBSERVATIONAL SATELLITES such as this one conceived by space expert Krafft Ehricke, would be the targets of the new defense missile system being planned by Defense Dept.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—By 1965, the Department of Defense expects to have a guided missile that will shoot down a satellite.

The objective: to destroy enemy satellites—and, eventually, enemy space platforms—that spy from the sky. These missiles also will be designed to blast enemy missile-launching satellites, triggered to fire on the U.S. in time of war.

Details of the new missile system haven't been worked out yet. It will be at least six months before Radio Corporation of America—which has been given a $600,000 "detailed-study" contract comes up with the preliminary concepts. Research for the past six months on the project has been aimed at proving it's a practical idea.

THE IDEAS THAT have been worked on so far are secret for the most part. This much is known:

The missile will be designed to "observe" the enemy satellite, "see" what it's doing—by radar, infra-red, or some other as-yet-unknown device. It will send that information to the earth. It will have some sort of "homing" device — maybe infra-red—to help guide it to the enemy satellite. But a major share of its guidance will be from the earth.

There's one big bonus inherent in the new system. Though designed to hit hit-or-miss duty, this system is likely, defense men think, to replace Nike-Zeus. And, furthermore, it's likely to replace the Nike anti-missile even before the multi-billion dollar network is fully installed and operating.

Some Pentagon planners think the new missile will be the forerunner of a new series of guided missiles that could begin to replace ballistic missiles in the late 1960's.

Despite the increase in funds being asked of Congress for the Nike-Zeus system of defense against Soviet ballistic missiles, the Department of Defense is going ahead on the assumption that by the time the Nike-Zeus system is fully operational some-time in the middle 1960's it already will be largely ineffectual against the advanced missiles the Russians will have by then.

THE THINKING IN the Pentagon is that by the mid 1960's, Soviet missiles are likely to be of a type that change their course. They'll either be some sort of zigzag missile, or a type that gradually veers from a predictable ballistic course. And, worse yet, the Red missiles by then are likely to come in from not a high altitude that Nike-Zeus will be primarily effective against, but from a low altitude.

Yank May Move Family To Russia

MOSCOW (UPI) — A 42-year-old former U.S. Air Force officer has decided to live in Russia and seek Soviet citizenship, according to Soviet newspapers.

The official communist party and government papers carried what they said was an open letter from James Riccaridello of Neeham, Mass., a father of three children.

"I am not a Communist, but what I lived through led me to the conclusion that communism is the only salvation for man," the letter said.

Riccardello, who claimed to be a decorated veteran who had held the rank of major, said he saw no future under capitalism."

THE LETTER identified other members of his family as his wife, Norma, a daughter, Linda, and two sons, Paul and Steven. It did not make clear whether they were with him now in the Soviet Union.

Western newsmen were unable to find Riccardello in Moscow and the U.S. embassy said it had nothing on his whereabouts.

In Needham, Riccardello's father, Augustus Ricciardelli, 66, said he thought the letter was "a lot of Communist propaganda."

The elder Ricciardelli said it had been more than six months since he heard from his son. At that time, he and his family were living in Bay Shore, N.Y., he said. He added that his son had been in the U.S. Air Force for 8 or 12 years and had been in the planning business before going to Florida.

Social Security Health Insurance Measure Shelved

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to add health insurance for elderly people to the Social Security System is shelved till next year.

While hearings on the bill did not occupy Washington's center ring, they raised considerable heat pro and con.

Doctor groups cried "socialized medicine." Supporters, notably the AFL-CIO, said the program was essential to meet a growing problem of care for senior citizens.

The bill was introduced by Rep. Aime J. Forand (D-RI). The House Ways and Means Committee last week heard arguments and testimony of those for and against it.

Forand's bill would provide up to 60 days of hospital care, 120 days of nursing home care, and payment of surgical bills for Social Security pensioners aged 65 and over.

To pay for it, the Social Security payroll tax would be boosted ½ per cent—¼ per cent each on employers and employes.

Seek Vandals For Marring Museum Art

COLUMBUS, Ga (UPI)—Police today sought "thrill-seeking" vandals who painted crude Nazi swastikas on the walls of an art museum here and burned 165 valuable paintings, exhibits and art objects.

The vandals stripped the paintings from the walls of three second-floor exhibit rooms of the Columbus Museum of Arts and Crafts late Saturday night, piled them in the middle of the floor and set them ablaze.

The fire was fed with articles from a collection of antique clothing, dresses and suits from the 1850's.

Then, the unknown intruders scratched six or seven swastikas on the cloth-covered walls of the gallery with ink or charcoal.

Police said they believed the vandals were the same ones who painted Nazi swastikas at the rear entrances of two Jewish houses of worship last Wednesday and Friday.

Despite the use of swastikas as their trademark, police Capt. J. T. Spence said he did not think the destruction was the work of an organized gang.

Berliners: Their Nerves Are Calm

By LEON DENNEN

BERLIN (NEA)—Despite the ever-present Red threat, West Berliners go about their business alertly and with calm nerves.

There is a story of an American who, arriving in West Berlin, rushed into a taxi at the Tempelhof airport and told the driver excitedly:

"I haven't been in Berlin for 30 years. Has it changed much?"

"These last 20 years?" the cabbie asked. "You haven't missed a thing!"

The typical Berliner has learned to take everything in his stride. Two wars in one generation. Blitzkrieg, ruin, hunger, blockade and now Nikita Khrushchev's threat to subjugate West Berlin — the Berliner has had them all. He takes political crises like his morning coffee. He savors it, feels it in his bones, but rarely talks about it.

NOW HE WORLD like to forget his Nazi past and ignore, as much as possible, the future in store for West Berlin should Khrushchev decide to carry out his threat and sign a separate peace treaty with Communist East Germany.

"Why indulge in empty gestures?" asked Alfred Kellner, one of West Berlin's prominent young authors. "The gestures — whether West Berlin is to remain free is not in our hands anyway."

Said 24-year-old Inger Schultz, a mother of two boys. "If the Communists invade us there is no place to run anyway. So why spoil the present by thinking of the future."

His and large West Berliners contemplate the future coolly but with a dash of optimism. Whatever optimism there is is due largely to the feeling that the moral and armed weight of the Western world is behind them. Berliners have not forgotten the 1948 "miracle of the American airlift."

When Khrushchev's predecessor, Josef Stalin tried, in 1949, to starve West Berlin into submission by blockading all land routes from the West, the Allies' nations immediately organized their airlift.

FOR 10 MONTHS planes supplied Berlin's population with food, fuel and industrial supplies. In May, 1949, Moscow gave up the blockade as futile and signed a new agreement with the Western powers, guaranteeing free access to Berlin. It is this agreement that Khrushchev now seeks to annul at Geneva.

EXPERTS SAID at that time that the only course remaining for Berliners was to abandon the city completely or spend 50 years and untold billions to rebuild it.

Today West Berlin is one of the more prosperous cities of West Germany. The electrical industry leaguered city. But will the U. S., Britain and France have the courage to repeat the airlift "miracle" should the need arise? This question is often asked in West as well as East Berlin.

Perhaps most impressive of all is West Berlin's spirit of creative enterprise—industrial and commercial as well as cultural. I find it hard to believe that this busy city was mostly rubble when I entered it 14 years ago after the collapse of Hitler's armies.

EXPERTS SAID at that time that the only course remaining for Berliners was to abandon the city completely or spend 50 years and untold billions to rebuild it.

Today West Berlin is one of the more prosperous cities of West Germany. The electrical industry which before the last war had the greatest concentration of products of any city in the world, produces 3.5 per cent more than in 1936. The chemical industry which was cut off by the Russians from its East German suppliers began practically at zero at the end of the war, is now almost double that of pre-war.

Even a new fashion center is challenge the designers of Paris and Rome has been created in West Berlin.

Despite the constant influx of thousands of refugees from East Berlin and East Germany, unemployment in West Berlin has shrunk to a mere 55,000.

Berlin still suffers a deficit as far as imports and exports are concerned, mostly due to its geographic isolation. But the gap is being narrowed. Mayor Willy Brandt foresees the day in the near future when the city will be completely self-supporting.

MAYOR BRANDT himself — young, vital and progressive—is a symbol of West Berlin's will to survive and grow. Brandt told me: "The time has come for the West to develop new ideas, to fight the Russians with a modern war of political movement rather than a static war of trenches."

There are only 11,000 Allied troops in West Berlin, 4,000 of them American GI's. They could not, of course, hope to defend West Berlin against East Germany's estimated army of 820,000 men let alone against the Red Army divisions stationed in the Soviet zone. But as long as the Communists do not dare to launch an outright attack against this tiny Western garrison for fear of touching off a nuclear war, West Berlin is safe.

Steel Union Boss Works On Aluminum

NEW YORK (UPI) — Steel union chief David J. McDonald steps into contract negotiations with the aluminum industry today toward reaching a wage agreement that could provide a pattern of settlement of the week-old steel strike.

McDonald's participation today marks the first time he has taken part in bargaining talks with the nation's top three aluminum companies, whose contract with the United Steelworkers of America expires July 31.

McDonald and other top steel union leaders were known to be hopeful that they could obtain a sizable wage increase from aluminum's "Big Three," which in turn could be used as a wedge toward obtaining a pay boost from the strikebound steel industry.

THE USW REPRESENTS 30,500 of the more than 58,000 employes of the Aluminum Co. of America (Alcoa), the Reynolds Metals Co. and Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical "orp., involved in the contract negotiations. A strike would cut off about 50 per cent of the nation's aluminum production.

The steel union is seeking a 15-cent-an-hour wage increase from the aluminum companies — the same demand it has made of the steel industry, the final rejection of which triggered the nation-wide strike of 500,000 basic steel workers.

TRADITIONALLY, the aluminum industry agreements are based on steel settlements. But with a long steel strike likely, top steel union officials were hoping the trend would be reversed this year with receipt of a substantial pay increase by the aluminum producers. However, most observers regarded it as doubtful that aluminum's "Big Three" would take the bargaining initiative from the steel industry negotiators.

Meanwhile, federal mediation efforts to end the steel walkout continued today in New York. For the second day in a row, Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, scheduled separate meetings with representatives of the USW and the 12 leading steel firms. But he remained pessimistic over the possibility of an early settlement of the strike, which has cut off mills that turn out 90 per cent of the nation's steel.

Finnegan said after Monday's sessions that his statement of last week that an early solution of the steel strike was unlikely "still

Reddick Man Drowns When Boat Overturns

Edward Meisenbach Victim In Accident At South Wilmington

SOUTH WILMINGTON (INS)—A 12-year-old Reddick-Cabery area boy was orphaned Monday night in the second of two tragedies which took the lives of his parents in the last 11 months.

He is Steven Meisenbach, whose father, Edward, 38, drowned about 8:15 p.m. Monday after his boat overturned at the Fireman's Park and Beach Club near this community. The boy's mother, Mary, suffered fatal injuries in an auto accident last September.

The fatal mishap Monday night occurred as Meisenbach's boat was towing a water skier, Kenneth Lauritzen, Reddick.

Lauritzen told authorities that Meisenbach, who was steering the boat, called back and said he was going to make a turn. As he did, the boat flipped over, throwing Meisenbach, his son, Steven, and his brother-in-law, Ted Zeller, Reddick, into the water.

According to Lauritzen, who went into the water when he began to lose speed, Meisenbach was thrashing around while his son and Zeller made it to the boat.

LAURITZEN SAID he called to Meisenbach, telling him to take it easy. Meisenbach disappeared beneath the water before Lauritzen could reach him. It was known that Meisenbach was unable to swim.

Lauritzen and Zeller managed to get Steven to shore, where help was summoned to get Meisenbach from the water, which was about 60 feet deep in the area of the accident.

A rescue team from the Washington fire department managed to recover the body about two hours later.

According to Lauritzen, who was wearing a life jacket, the boat was equipped with seat life preservers. Meisenbach had recently purchased the boat and motor.

Mr. Meisenbach was born May 17, 1921 in Norton Township, the son of Mr. Mrs. Ed Meisenbach Sr., Reddick.

SURVIVING BESIDES his son are a sister, Mrs. Theodore Zeller of Reddick and a grandfather, Anthony Meisenbach, Reddick.

Meisenbach farmed most of his life in Kankakee County. He was a member of the Knights of Columbus, and St. Jude's League.

Funeral services will be held in St. Mary's Church, Reddick, at 10 a.m. Thursday. Burial will be in St. Joseph's Cemetery, Cabery.

Friends may call at the Lanz-Feerer Home, Kankakee, after 7 p.m. today and until the time of the service. The rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Wednesday. The Knights of Columbus will recite the rosary at 7:45 p.m. today.

Stove Mounters Open Convention Sessions

Words of welcome were extended to delegates attending the opening sessions of the Stove Mounters International Union convention here this morning.

Kankakee Mayor Ed P. Madison, in his talk, noted that it was the first "international" convention ever to be held in the city.

Henry Brandt, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, and Donald Crevier, secretary of the Kankakee Federation of Labor, also took part in the welcoming program. Vernon Tatro, president of the local union, presided.

"Only through working and sticking together can you work out your problems to the advantage of the working man," State Rep. Samuel Shapiro told delegates.

Approximately 85 delegates and 30 officials from 13 states and Canada representing 12,000 employes are attending sessions at the Labor Temple, 220 W. Court St. It continues through Friday.

Shapiro reported briefly that the session of the Illinois Legislature just completed had a very good labor record." He welcomed the delegates on behalf of state officials.

TWO SPEAKERS heard by the convention this morning were Joseph Lewis, secretary-treasurer of the union label and service trades department, AFL-CIO, Newark, Calif., and James A. Brownlow, president of the metal trades department, AFL-CIO, Washington, D. C. Lewis urged the members to buy products made by other union men and to support union employers.

The convention was to move into its first business session this afternoon. Various speakers are expected to visit the convention during the four day session.

Wednesday a business session is scheduled for 10 a.m. Wednesday afternoon will be devoted to a tour of the George D. Roper Corp. plant. The tour, for delegates and their guests, will leave the Labor Temple by bus at 1:30 p.m. The convention banquet will be held at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Labor Temple.

Main banquet speaker will be the Rev. Joseph Donahue, pastor of Maternity Church, Bourbonnais, and chaplain of the Chicago and Cook County Building Trades Council. Following the banquet a dance

Adopt New Civil Defense Ordinance

A new Civil Defense ordinance was adopted by the Kankakee City Council Monday night.

Weldon Wadleigh (R-7), CD director, said the new measure would replace an ordinance passed in January, 1953.

The only difference between the two ordinances, he said, is that the new ordinance establishes the city as a mutual aid area in case of enemy attack or natural disaster which would require the evacuation of Chicago.

In adopting the ordinance, Wadleigh said, the city can continue to purchase federal surplus property.

The council also adopted the annual appropriation ordinance which was read at the last meeting. It totals $1,477,469.

Order City Police To Enforce Dog Laws

Kankakee police have been ordered to step up enforcement of the city dog ordinance which provides the animals must be licensed, vaccinated against rabies and leashed or muzzled when off the owner's property.

The city council directed police and the animal commissioner to enforce the measure Monday night when Weldon Wadleigh (R-7) said he would like to see the "dog ordinance actually exercised for a change."

Wadleigh's motion for strict enforcement was amended by Maurice C. Deneau (D-2) who asked that a copy of the dog ordinance be sent to the police department for study.

"I want it understood I'm not an animal hater," Wadleigh said, "but in the Seventh Ward we get numerous calls about stray dogs. All the dogs in Kankakee aren't worth one child getting a scarred face

In other actions the council:

Directed the clerk, on Wadleigh's motion, to notify the health officer again to inspect open toilets on three streets on the north side.

Granted permission to the Stewards Foundation to apply to the state Sanitary Water Board for a permit for an extension of a 15 inch sanitary sewer which will serve the Foundation's proposed hospital.

Barwegen Appoints Inspector, Bradley Board Disapproves

Whether Bradley has a new building inspector is not certain.

Village Board President William Barwegen Monday night appointed Fred W. Miller, 324 S. Fulton Ave., to the post and immediately administered the oath of office.

The board trustees, just as promptly voted to disapprove the appointment.

The trustees maintain that appointments must be voted jointly by the village board president and the trustees.

President Barwegen contends that Gov. William G. Stratton's signature of the amendment to the Cities and Villages Act (Bill 710) gives him the authority to make the appointment.

THE AMENDMENT places the appointment function of village chief executives on a par with that of mayors of cities.

By removing the three words "and . . . voting jointly" from the Cities and Villages Act and substituting the same language used to describe the power of a mayor, it is interpreted that only the chief executive originates appointments.

The board, as does the city council, may approve or reject but cannot appoint someone of its own choosing in opposition to the president.

The Bradley board of trustees rejected Barwegen's appointment of Miller.

Miller, a native of Gilman, moved from there to Bradley six years ago. A carpenter all his working life, he specializes in trim work. Miller is a member of the carpenters union and belongs to Wesley Methodist Church. The Millers have a son, Howard, 13, and twin sons, Richard and Robert, 22 months.

THREE OTHER applications were received for the post of building inspector. They are from Bernard M. Davis, 148 N. Michigan Ave., who said he has been a Bradley resident 18 years, a property owner 20 years and a carpenter union member 18 years; Carson J. Stump, 171 S. Grand Ave., who wrote that he has lived in Bradley 50 years and been a property owner 40 years; and Fred W. Miller, 324 S. Fulton Ave., who made his application at the previous board meeting.

Members of the board of trustees voted unanimously to refer these applications to the building and maintenance committee for consideration, to report its findings at the next board meeting.

President Barwegen instructed the village attorney Maynard Missonette to ask the Illinois Municipal League for an opinion regarding Bill 710 and the village board president's authority in making appointments.

The budget, 65 per cent financed from taxes, shows an $8 million dollar increase over the 1958-1959 budget.

The trustees also named Dr. Edward F. Lis director of the university's Division of Services for Crippled Children. Dr. Lis has been acting director since Feb. 1, of some 33 million."

West May Pull Out Of Big Four Talks

Launch First Atom-Powered Merchant Ship

President's Wife Christens Savannah In New Jersey

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — The launching of the first atom-powered merchant ship, Savannah, was hailed today as a "bold and enterprising experiment in the daring and distinguished annals" of American science and seafaring.

Acting Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller set forth that view in an address a few minutes before the 21,000-ton Savannah slid down the launching ways.

"This ship," Mueller said, "was born of the inspiration of our distinguished president, Dwight D. Eisenhower, and became a reality through his leadership and enthusiasm translated into legislation by the Congress of the United States."

The President's wife was there for the traditional ceremony of giving the ship its name and sending the Savannah into the water. It is the country's first non-military atomic vessel.

ANOTHER SPEAKER, Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-NJ), said the Savannah was "only the beginning of development of nuclear vessels of all kinds." He noted that elsewhere in the building yards work was under way on a nuclear submarine and that Congress is considering a proposal for the Navy to build a second nuclear-powered aircraft carrier.

After the speeches, Mrs. Eisenhower struck a bottle of champagne and spoke the brief part allotted by tradition to ship' sponsors.

"I christen thee Savannah."

It has been a long time, more than 150 years, since those words were first spoken and a little 320-ton paddle wheel steamer also called Savannah slid into the water.

That ship was the first ship with steam power built for Atlantic crossings. It carried an 88-hour supply of coal and wood to provide steam, and relied heavily on its sails for an initial ocean crossing that took 29 days.

TODAY'S SAVANNAH is steam-powered, too, but the fire will come from nuclear fission. The atomic reactor indirectly will heat the water and create the steam to spin its giant turbines.

The Savannah was built primarily because President Eisenhower wanted a ship now as an example of his campaign for peaceful use of atomic energy. He also wanted a basic prototype from which other and better merchantmen will be built.

The 21,000-ton Savannah is a show piece of nuclear power, gleaming fittings, ultramodern decor, viewing windows to see the machinery, and a television to peer with safety into the atomic generator's inner workings.

Her passenger list will be small, 60 persons, her cargo carrying capability modest, about 10,000 tons. Manning the Savannah will be 110 officers and crewmen, the deck officers and engineers specially trained to sail this new vessel to the old lanes of the high seas.

Warns Gromyko To Halt Berlin Truce Filibuster

Patience Of Western Allies Runs Out After 7½ Weeks

GENEVA (UPI) — The West warned Russia's Andrei Gromyko today that it is prepared to see the Geneva Big Four conference broken off unless he immediately drops his filibuster against a Berlin truce.

The East-West negotiations could break down within several days — possibly Wednesday — unless Gromyko starts talking business, the Western ministers declared at a showdown lunch meeting in Gromyko's own headquarters.

The move made it clear that Western patience had run out after 7½ weeks of Geneva foreign ministers' talks that brought East and West nowhere near agreement on Berlin.

It also was made clear that the West was in full agreement to face the risks that might go along with a break in talks. This included the risk of a hotter Berlin crisis if Russia carried out its threat to conclude a separate peace treaty and cut off Western rights in West Berlin.

IRONICALLY, today's private showdown took place in the Soviet foreign minister's own villa and in the absence of U. S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

Herter sent two deputies to the start of the lunch meeting while he attended a "courtesy" lunch with a top International Red Cross official whose organization is involved in a repatriation dispute between Japan and the Republic of Korea.

Herter drove directly to the Gromyko villa after lunching with the Red Cross official.

While waiting for Herter to join his Western partners; British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville took the lead in challenging Gromyko to stop his evasions.

The latest of these Soviet tactics was a demand that in return for a Berlin truce, the East German puppet regime be given an equal voice with West Germany

Act To Alleviate One Cause Of Flooding

The city council has launched another attack on the cause of flooding in Kankakee.

The latest measure directs the city attorney to draw up an ordinance which would compel property owners to remove connections which divert storm waters into sanitary sewers.

Engineers have told city officials that as much as 85 or 90 per cent of the basement flooding in Kankakee

The proposed ordinance was recommended Monday night by Weldon Wadleigh (R-7), acting as chairman of the sewer and drain committee in the absence of Harry Shirley (D-3).

WADLEIGH SAID THE ordinance should provide for inspection of the removal of such connections and for means of enforcement of the measure.

The ordinance, if finally adopted, would be directed mainly at downspout connections to sanitary sewers but probably would also require disconnection of foundation tiles which divert water into sanitary sewers.

Wadleigh already has applied to the state for a flood control survey in the Kankakee area and also contacted the city's two bottlenecks in Soldier Creek.

Red Training In Sabotage Is Stepped Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa) said today the Kremlin has sent orders to U.S. Communists to intensify training of key revolutionaries in sabotage, subversion and penetration.

Walter, chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, made the statement as he opened committee hearings on Communist training operations.

Walter said that many of this year's James F. Jackson Jr., whom he described as "one of the top Communist conspirators now at large in the United States," returned here from Moscow.

"Jackson's orders from the Kremlin, which have now been transmitted to the comrades in the United States, are to intensify the training of key revolutionaries in sabotage and penetration," Walter said.

THE COMMITTEE chairman also said the committee has undercover witnesses to educational director of the Communist party, Herman Lumer, who, we have learned from our field investigators, is now supervising the secret training program in key centers of the nation in which select comrades are given specialized training in conspiratorial strategies and tactics.

Richard Scrimgeour Walter said the committee expects to explore a new school known as the Faculty of Social Science to see if its intents and purposes it is "merely a successor" to the Jefferson School of Social Science.

Walter did not identify the new school further. The Jefferson School of Social Science in New York was found to be a Communist front organization by the Subversive Activities Control Board on June 30, 1955.

The chairman said trained, disciplined Communist agents now number "a worldwide fifth column of some 33 million."

No Negroes had appeared to register at Central, Hall or Tech.
