J. A. Ennis, president of the Kankakee Y. M. C. A., announced this morning that the Association will conduct its annual Maintenance campaign the week of February 10. Several meetings of the board of directors have been held during the past few days looking carefully into the needs of the Association for the next year, and making plans for the campaign.

President Ennis has been asked to take the general chairmanship of the campaign. Already he has done some effective organizing for the event. J. E. Willis has accepted the chairmanship of the executive and special gifts committee. This committee includes: W. C. Schneider, George Luehrs, Charles A. Mueller, C. B. Kroehler, Leonard L. Smith, O. W. THREE FACE MURDER AND ARSON CHARGE

IN CONNECTION WITH THE DESTRUCTION BY FIRE OF ST. LOUIS HOTEL

SEVEN LIVES ARE LOST

When Hotel Buckingham Annex Was Burned On Night Of December Fifth

St. Louis, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Warrants charging arson and murder in the first degree were issued today against three of four men arrested in a revived investigation into the burning of the Hotel Buckingham Annex December 5, 1927, in which seven persons perished.

The possibility of additional arrests in an alleged plot to burn the Hotel Buckingham Annex, which was destroyed by fire December 5, 1927, with the loss of seven lives, was seen today by authorities as they continued their investigation into the reopened case.

One development promised today by Joseph A. Lennon, assistant circuit attorney, was the filing of murder and arson charges against three of four men already in custody. The investigation was continued on the theory that others may have been involved in the alleged conspiracy.

The three facing murder and arson charges are Andrew B. Meadows, night watchman at the Annex who admitted he fired the building in a plot for collection of insurance, Robert H. Cothan, night clerk, who admitted hiring Meadows to set fire to the building; and Ralph Pierson, minority owner of the Buckingham properties at the time of the fire. Pierson, ill in a hospital, denies the allegations by Meadows and Cothan that he was involved in the plot.

No warrants had been prepared today against the fourth man under arrest, Lewis E. Balson, real estate dealer and majority owner of the hotel properties at the time of the fire, who has said he was unaware of any plot to burn the hotel.

A lengthy signed statement was taken from Meadows by police last night in the presence of witnesses. About the only respect in which it differed from his original statement according to police, was that he said at one point he was to have received 10 per cent of the fire insurance for setting fire to the hotel, instead of receiving $5,000 in cash as he at first was reported to have said.

Altogether, according to their statement, Meadows actually received $820 and Cothan $395.

The arrest of Meadows and Cothan came as the result of statements by them to O. P. Greathouse, night clerk in the Annex at the time of the fire, and to Edward T. McFarland, a former manager. Greathouse, whose wife narrowly escaped death in the disaster, became suspicious of Meadows when the latter declared that Cothan owed him $500 and with McFarland's help questioned them and turned the evidence over to investigators of insurance companies, who in turn gave the case to authorities.

The men named are Ralph Pierson, 52, St. Louis real estate dealer, and minority owner of the hotel at the time of the fire; Andrew B. Meadows, 52, hotel night watchman who confessed he fired the building; and Robert Henry Cotham, 58, night clerk, who admitted, police said, he hired Meadows to set fire to the hotel.

Cotham told police that Pierson suggested the fire as a means of collecting insurance and preventing receivership. Pierson denied knowledge of the arson plot as has Lewis E. Balson, majority owner, who is held for investigation. All four are held without bonds.

The murder and arson warrants are made out jointly against the three men. Six of the seven hotel guests who perished were women. They were trapped as they slept early in the morning of December 5 when, according to his admission, Meadows set fire to a bundle of newspapers in a lower room.

Meadows and Cotham received $820 and $395, respectively, after the fire, according to their statements. Meadows said $10,000 had been promised them.

Meadows' recent efforts to obtain more money led to exposude of the alleged arson plot.

O. P. Greathouse, a university student clerk at the Annex hotel, had noticed Meadows hounding Cotham and finally asked him why. Meadows replied, Greathouse said, that Cotham owed him $500. Suspecting it was a peculiar debt, Greathouse informed insurance agents and their investigation led to the confessions by Meadows and Cotham.

The hotel was insured for $265,000. Claims after the fire totaled $183,000 of which only $30,000 had been paid, the remainder being in litigation.

Spanish Dictatorship Appears Threatening

BULLETIN

Paris, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The Madrid correspondent of the newspaper La Naction of Buenos Aires telephoned the paper's Paris office tonight that Premier Primo de Rivera had resigned at 8:00 p. m., (3:00 P. M. E. S. T.).

BULLETIN

Madrid, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The Spanish government, through the office of the chief censor, late today denied reports published abroad that Premier Primo De Rivera had resigned, stating that the reports were without foundation.

The premier presided as usual at this evening's cabinet meeting. Whether he will resign in the future continues speculative, being dependant upon what attitude the army and navy take in accordance with the premier's expressed desire for a roll on their approval or disapproval of the dictatorship.

Paris, Jan. 28.—(AP)—A rumor that Premier Primo De Rivera of Spain had resigned office spread through the Paris Bourse this afternoon, but could not be confirmed from any authoritative source.

Madrid, Jan. 28.—(AP)—(3:50 p. m. Spanish time or 10:50 a. m. eastern standard time)—Rumors that Premier Primo De Rivera has resigned were denied here today.

The correspondent for the Associated Press talked with Cadiz by telephone this morning and there was no hint then of any revolutionary outbreak.

Late this afternoon the situation appeared to be unchanged from that created by Primo's note Sunday nite saying that he would resign if the army and the navy did not support him.

The latter have so far given no indication of what their attitude will be. Consultations continued late into the afternoon.

(The following dispatch directly from Madrid was filed there at 2:42 p. m. Spanish time, or 9:42 a. m. eastern standard time).

Madrid, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Premier Primo De Rivera, today continued conferring with high army officers regarding their attitude on continuation or resignation of the present Spanish dictatorship.

Unofficial indications of the re... of prominent military offi... so far seem favorable for ...ntinuance of Primo as head ...government.

...disturbances, apparently ...a serious nature, broke out ...celona and the universities ...ed and most of Spain have ...closed as a result of gov... orders or the action of lo... authorities because of the stu... ...ke of the past few days.

...as the public has been in... the issue continues uncer... the king, the premier and ...d navy leaders consider the ... forced by the premier himself ... to whether he shall remain ...

Rumors constantly circulated that the government had resigned, that the king and Primo had disagreed, that the king had decided Primo must go, that the generals had agreed that Primo must go, that the generals had agreed that Primo must stay and a host of similar rumors. None of them could be verified.

R. J. HAMMES IS NEW OWNER OF DAHL CO.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF CHANGE IS MADE AT ANNUAL SALES BANQUET

WILL CHANGE NAME

Prizes Awarded For Sales Contest Held Here During Month Of December

Rommy J. Hammes who has been manager of the Harry Dahl company since the concern took over the Ford agency in this territory announced last evening that he has purchased the company which will hereafter be known as Rommy J. Hammes, Inc.

Announcement of the change in ownership of the agency was made last evening at the annual sales banquet held in McBroom's cafe and attended by about 30 employes of the organization. The announcement was made by Francis Kral, a member of the office staff.

Award Prizes

After the banquet, prizes were distributed to the winner of the sales contest conducted during the month of December. John Golding was awarded first prize, a fine wrist watch. Mr. Golding was unable to be present at the banquet owing to illness. Second prize, a fountain pen and pencil set, was won by Ralph Menard. Only a few points separated the first and second place winners. Third prize, a leather sales kit, was won by Joseph Brouillette.

There were also prizes for the men in the service department whose efforts brought the company's business for the month of December to equal summer revenue. Clifford Boisvert won the first service men's prize, a bridge lamp. Second prize, a smoking set, was won by Ervie Hoch and third prize, a magazine rack, went to Joseph Kral.

Officials Here

Ralph Menard, captain of the losing sales team, was awarded a football button. The prizes were distributed by C. W. Johns, Chicago, assistant wholesale manager for the Ford Motor company.

Mr. Johns explained why the public is able to buy the best materials available in the new Ford at the lowest possible price. Some of these factors in economy in production are due to the fact that the Ford family controls the company and there are no stockholders to deal with or stock market fluctuations. The Ford company also owns half a million acres of the finest birch and maple timber land in northern Michigan and has three sawmills at Iron Mountain, Mich. Ford also owns four coal mines in Virginia and Kentucky and operates his own railroad. All metal for Ford cars is mined from the Ford mines. The sawdust in the mills is pressed into briquettes and sold as fuel and nothing is wasted except the buzz of the saws. Last year the Ford company manufactured one-fifth of all the plate glass produced in the United States. The company expects to make 2,225,000 Ford cars this year in addition to Lincoln cars and airplanes.

Please Customers

H. C. Lanborn, representing the Chicago headquarters of the service department of the Ford company, gave a talk chiefly for the benefit of the service men. Satisfied customers in the service end is what brings more business for the Ford salesmen, he said. Service is not a gift to the buyer of a Ford car, but it is an obligation on te part of the dealer.

Frank Lockwood, local banker, addressed a short talk to the salesmen in which he told them that there is plenty of new car business in Kankakee, but that considerable effort must be shown by salesmen during the year 1930.

Share Profits

Mr. Hammes, who presided at the affair, thanked all of the employes for their efforts under him the past three years. He passed out checks to service men who earned money in the Dahl company's profit-sharing plan started last May. Mr. Hammes stated that he will immediately place this plan in effect for all employes who will get a return of anywhere from six to ten per cent on their money.

Motion pictures of lion hunts, the Ford industrial plants, etc., were also shown. All of these in attendance were enthusiastic for the prospects for 1930.

WILLIAM GOODWIN DIES IN CHICAGO

COMMUNITY PAYS LAST RESPECTS TO DR. C. F. SMITH

The many friends of Charles Franklin Smith—his associates and acquaintances in the professional business, social, fraternal and civic activities of the community—gathered at St. Paul's Episcopal church at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon to pay their last respects to their well beloved friend and fellow citizen.

The attendance of men and women from all stations and walks of life at the funeral service, and the profusion of beautiful floral offerings, was unquestionable testimony of the esteem with which Doctor Smith was regarded by all who knew him, and can be interpreted only as honest tribute to the sterling worth of the man and his accomplishments during his life in Kankakee and elsewhere.

The public service at the church was preceded by a private service at the home, 859 South Chicago avenue, a half hour tearlier. Both services were conducted by Rev. Louis F. Martin, newly installed rector of St. Paul's parish.

The pall bearers were: Arthur J. Oberlin, Dr. Daniel J. O'Laughlin, R. E. Brown, Harry Wheeler, Wayne Dyer, and Dr. J. A. Brown. The Masonic order, of which Doctor Smith has been a member and officer for many years, conducted brief services at the grave at Mound Grove cemetery.

TRAGEDY OF THE AIR IN KANSAS CITY

FOUR MEN AND ONE WOMAN DIE IN CRASH AS PLANE NEARED LANDING

RESCUERS HELPLESS

Explosion Follows Crash And Bodies Of Victims Are Badly Charred

Kansas City, Kas., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Burned and mutilated bodies of four men and one woman lay today in Kansas City morgues, victims of the crash of a Central Airlines plane which dived and exploded into a mass of seething flames last night within a mile of its destination, Fairfax airport.

Cause of the accident probably will remain a secret of the dead. Almost as soon as the charred bodies of the four passengers and pilot were removed, employes of Universal Airlines, Inc., a subsidiary with Central Airlines of Aviation corporation, hacked to pieces the still smoking frame of the plane and dragged its parts to widely separated sections of a stubbled corn field.

Even the pathetic remnants of the passengers' personal baggage—a magazine, a box of cough medicine, a woman's handkerchief—were destroyed by a fire built upon the spot where the single-motored plane imbedded itself in soft black earth.

The dead are Dyke Laudeman, Kansas City, Kas., pilot C. J. R. McKinnon, Chicago business man; James B. Eggert, Chicago, music publisher; Miss Margaret Dice, St. Joseph, Mo., and William Flynn, Kansas City, former city alderman and theatre owner.

All are believed to have been killed by impact of the plane, when it sideslipped and dived from an altitude of about 500 feet.

The plane appeared over the airport almost 30 minutes late. Airport attendants said it circled the field with motor apparently droning normally. Then, south of the airport, already flattening for the landing, it faltered, dipped and plunged into a cornfield. An explosion marked the moment of impact and flames roared into the air.

Employes of a nearby factory and airport attendants rushed to the wreck with fire extinguishers but were unable even to approach the plane because of the blistering heat of gasoline flames.

The passengers, blackened and seared almost beyond recognition, were pitched forward in a grim huddle against the motor, jammed through the splintered cabin.

Aviators said they believed the most plausible explanation of the tragedy was failure of controls. Laudeman had been flying seven years and was known as an unusually cautious pilot.

Dr. L. S. Fisher, deputy coroner, said an inquest would be held today.

Hasty removal of the wreckage of the plane brought threats of prosecution from county authorities and a denial by officials of the company that the wreckage had been destroyed.

Dr. Ben S. Coffin, coroner of Wyandotte county, declared the wrecked ship had been destroyed by officials and workmen of the Central Air Lines who rushed to the scene. He declared such procedure was "unheard of" in case of an accident and declared he would have those responsible prosecuted if possible.

Officials of the air line asserted they had received permission from Richard H. Lees, department of commerce aeronautical inspector, to move the wreck and that it had been taken to a hangar for the investigation by company officials today.

Coroner Coffin conferred with Fred R. White, county attorney, who indicated that there were no statutes under which criminal action could be brought.

Lees said he was called on the telephone immediately after the accident by E. L. Sloniger, branch manager of the Universal Aviation corporation of which the Central Air Lines is a subsidiary, and authorized the removal of the wreck.

"We are trying to sell aviation to the public," the department of commerce inspector explained today, "and the wreckage of a plane lying around for people to gaze at has a bad effect."

Newspaper photographers, who said they had been cursed and threatened by aviation workers in attempting to obtain pictures of the plane, made complaints to the coroner and County Attorney White.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mau and daughter Dorothy of Bonfield were Kankakee callers yesterday.

VAST CONSPIRACY IN OKLAHOMA IS BEING CHARGED

Oklahoma City, Okla., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Speculation as to what part Henry S. Johnston, former Oklahoma governor, and W. O. Gordon, "evidence man" for the attorney general's office, would pay in the Pottawatomie county federal conspiracy case that overshadowed interest in selection of a jury, which was expected to begin this afternoon.

The names of the former governor and Gordon were introduced when subpoenas were issued for their appearance in federal district court here today when 150 citizens and officials are brought to trial charged with a vast conspiracy by which the manufacture, distribution and sale of liquor is alleged to have been controlled.

Johnston ordered two investigations of vice and liquor conditions in Pottawatomie county in 1927, and sent Gordon into the county to make reports. Following Gordon's first investigation several officials resigned.

Just what part the state's activities in Pottawatomie county will play in the government's case has not been revealed.

Not all of the defendants will be in court Monday when the case is called. One, Marion Fuller, former chief of police of Earlsboro and controlled witness for the government's witnesses, is dead; several have indicated they will plead guilty; a few cases of others are finally settled further decrease the number, and as of those named in the government charges still are fugitives from justice.

Fuller, the government contended, was a collector for a liquor "line" which, the government charges guaranteed exclusive liquor rights in Pottawatomie county to members.

Circumstances surrounding Fuller's death.

In the trial which opens today the government will attempt to prove that Fuller Randall Pitman, county attorney; Frank Poe, at the time sheriff; Clarence Burdette, once chief of police of Earlsboro; Homer Knappenberger, then mayor of Earlsboro; Cecil Manley, then deputy sheriff, and numerous other persons were involved in the control of the illegal ring during the last three years. The government charges that the plan included assessment from $5 to $50 a week against saloons, barbecue stands, 70 coning houses, filling stations and drug stores for official protection.

THE NEW GAUGE OF MOTOR OIL VALUE:

"Penetrative Lubricity"*

What it Is... What it Does

PENETRATIVE lubricity is the new gauge of motor oil value that is agitating the oil world. And this unique term can be applied to only one motor oil in North America: Conoco Germ-Processed!

Under test, this oil reduces motor friction to a greater degree than does any competitive oil . . . that's lubricity!

The microscope proves that this oil penetrates the very "pores" of the metal . . . and there deposits millions of tiny oil reservoirs . . . that's penetration!

What Penetrative Lubricity Means in Every-Day Driving

It is Penetrative Lubricity that gives Conoco Germ-Processed oils that motor-saving "carry-over" film that prevents your driving an oilless motor, no matter what the operating conditions. The most frequent abuse of automobile motors, all unintentional by their owners, comes during the first 5 to 15 minutes after starting. Engineers agree that 40% to 60% of all motor wear occurs then, due to this fact.

You will be glad to know that in those crucial moments, this "carry-over" of Germ-Processed oils . . . the reserve lubrication in those millions of tiny reservoirs . . . protects your motor adequately.

This "carry-over" feature of Germ-Processed oils, the result of Penetrative Lubricity, protects your motor from wear when driving at high speed . . . on long pulls . . . under all climatic conditions . . . and even if the supply of oil should become very low.

Moreover, the extra "oiliness," or lubricity of this new Conoco product by tests on friction testing machines shows a reduction of 15% in friction, hence you can realize what that means in increasing your gasoline mileage and reducing motor operating temperatures.

Only Conoco Oils are Get Processed

Conoco Germ-Processed Oils bring you the first fundamentally new lubricant of the century. The isolation of the Germ-Essence by Wells and Southcombe, was the long-needed step to make a mineral oil capable of withstanding the stress of modern motor design. As automobiles have changed since 1901, so have the demands for better oil. Germ-Processed oils supplied that demand, with the amazing characteristic:

Penetrative Lubricity.

Go now to the Sign of the Red Triangle, and give your motor the lubricant it deserves.

THE FOUR AGES OF LUBRICATION

* Means—Slipperiness, smoothness, freedom from friction; also the property that diminishes friction, as the lubricity of oil, coupled with the unique ability to penetrate metal surfaces.

Foiled by Moderation!
THE HEARTLESS SHADOW that threatens the modern figure

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

Avoid the snags along the common-sense path to fitness and fashion. Don't let over-indulgence deprive you of the tantalizing contour of the modern figure. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Eat healthfully but not immoderately—when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence, if you would maintain the graceful, modern figure with its captivating curves.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

"It's toasted"

*Be Moderate!... Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

Paddled Pat Gets Advice.

Synopsis: "Paddled Pat" told us the biggest item in the budget. The public never objects to the amount of money it spends for the family automobile. It spends more to purchase over money spent for candy. The theatre and tobacco. People thing they have to have these things and they do. We must remember that the expense for passenger automobiles and certain luxuries I have named is far greater than the amount spent for public education. And if the public can afford the luxury of tobacco, movies and candy it can afford to spend at least an equal amount for the education of the children. Spend all you like for automobiles and for luxuries, we have no objection and the recreations which come from them. But to deny the next generation the opportunity of earning a living through vocational training, to have good health through physical training, to have a knowledge of world progress through ancient and modern philology, to be able to read, to sing, and able to reason intelligently, to deny an educational advantage and so rob them for our own selfish ends is criminal.

Dear Mr. Dean:

Oh, for a dose of his Spanking following! If I were in Paddled Pat's shoes, I'd go galloping back to the land of the brave and the free and never keep me away! He's one in a hundred! Just the kind this locality needs.

Oh! How I admire the man who prefers his girls "feminine"—and they are, for his sake. The idea of Betty or fellows I have met, do not seem to mind whether a girl smokes or not. There are some fellows who think a girl is dreadfully "slow" if she hasn't smoked at least one cigarette before leaving the dance floor. But to deny the next generation the opportunity of earning a living through vocational training, to have good health through physical training, to have a knowledge of world progress through ancient and modern philology, to be able to read, to sing, and able to reason intelligently, to deny an educational advantage and so rob them for our own selfish ends is criminal.

OUR CONVERSATION CORNER

Your Mind and You.

Why did mild-Victorian women faint on every pretext? Why are some people "carried" at revival meetings? Can a person suffering from a mental upset cure himself? Can one's mental suffering be measured? How can I get happiness?

There are just samples of questions which come to this desk. A seventy page book, which gives a number of service to readers of this department is on sale, to distribute to my readers at actual cost (twenty cents), will give my readers a very clear idea of "What makes the wheels go 'round." Write your address plainly.

Cost of Public Education.

Isn't solution abnormally expensive and disorderly? The cost of our public schools be reduced?

Taxpayer.

Answer—The expense of hiring for and conducting public schools is the biggest item in the budget. The public never objects to the amount of money it spends for the family automobile. It spends more to purchase over money spent for candy. The theatre and tobacco. People thing they have to have these things and they do. We must remember that the expense for passenger automobiles and certain luxuries I have named is far greater than the amount spent for public education. And if the public can afford the luxury of tobacco, movies and candy it can afford to spend at least an equal amount for the education of the children. Spend all you like for automobiles and for luxuries, we have no objection and the recreations which come from them. But to deny the next generation the opportunity of earning a living through vocational training, to have good health through physical training, to have a knowledge of world progress through ancient and modern philology, to be able to read, to sing, and able to reason intelligently, to deny an educational advantage and so rob them for our own selfish ends is criminal.

Burgess' Bedtime Stories

FARMER BROWN'S BOY HEARS A THUMP

It startles one sometimes to see How big a little thing can be —Tommy the Flying Squirrel.

It was only a few days before Farmer Brown's Boy discovered that some one was still taking corn in that cornpen. But though he thought and thought and thought he couldn't imagine who it could be. He was sure that neither rats nor mice could climb up into the cornerib from the ground. He was sure that Chatterer the Red Squirrel and Happy Jack the Gray Squirrel couldn't neither climb up from the ground nor get to the roof of the cornerib from the nearest tree. Therefore it was a great mystery how anybody could be taking corn.

It can't be, yet it is," said Farmer Brown's Boy. "There ain't a thing that prove to me that corn is being taken. Now it is a few hundred grains; now it is a bare dozen. I have set traps but haven't caught anybody. Sometimes it looks smart for me. I reckon it is only the small amount of corn taken that I do mind being fooled. I don't like to think that I am not smart enough to find out who is doing it."

So Farmer Brown's Boy took to visiting the cornerib at all hours of the day. Of course, he didn't expect anything for Tuesday, but Happy Jack Squirrel was now making his visits only at night and leaving long before daylight. So all this extra visiting on the part of Farmer Brown's Boy was useless. He couldn't see Happy Jack at all around the cornerib for days, but he found none. He knew that Chatterer the Red Squirrel was over there every morning, but he was sure that Chatterer never did get inside. He wished that snow would come. You know snow has a way of telling stories. He was sure that if snow came he would be able to find tracks, tracks as he sometimes suspected, which would tell him whether they were coming or going.

Then one evening it happened that he was standing near the cornerib and back to it just about dusk. He had paused there just for a moment. Suddenly he heard a light, soft thump. He picked up his ears. It was a very light thump, but it was a familiar thump. He had heard that kind of thump before. You know, Farmer Brown's Boy is a boy in the ways of the little people of the Green Forest.

"That thump was on the roof of the cornerib," said Farmer Brown's Boy. "Somebody landed there. He stepped back and looked hastily, but no one was to be seen. He hadn't really expected that any one would be seen. There was a twinkle in the eyes of Farmer Brown's Boy, however. "That was a Flying Squirrel, or else I miss my guess," said he. "That was Timmy the Flying Squirrel. He jumped from that tree. So he is the one who has been taking my corn! I wonder that I didn't think of him before."

Of course, this was guesswork on the part of Farmer Brown's Boy, but it was very good guessing. He didn't know a little and guess a whole lot. In the least doubt that he was right. But to make sure, he was on the watch early the next night. When the Black Shadows began to creep out from the Purple Hills Farmer Brown's Boy stationed himself where he could watch. Gradually the dusk grew deeper. It was getting so dark now that it was difficult for him to see. He had just about given up hope when he caught sight of a little dark spot coming down from high up in a tree near the cornerib. Almost at once it was lost to view in the dusk. Then it appeared on the ground and he saw a little form disappear over the edge of the roof. He smiled happily. He had a great satisfaction to have solved the great mystery.

The next story: Farmer Brown's Boy Hears His Corn.

He studied the ground all around the cornerib for signs, but he found none

Washington.—If Jim Watson ever does go aerial his experience as a member of the United States senate will be a unique one. He started flying as the junior senator from Indiana and will probably end it as the senior senator from Indiana, which is the way he started his senatorial career.

Watson has a fondness for flying. He has been up in the air a number of times. He has piloted a plane himself. He has had a number of narrow escapes. And if he should ever be killed in a plane crash, I know Chicago will find that there are clues in it which will lead to the underworld.

The most thrilling episode would be his description of what happened on the day of the big hail storm.

What a day! What a day! He told me recently as we were chatting in a corner of the vice president's room just off the senate chamber. The whole senate cast a sorrowful proposition. For a while senators couldn't know whether they were coming or going.

Here's his version of what he considers as probably the most exciting moment of his long service in the senate.

REED DROWNED OUT

The storm had just covered The order of the day was further discussion on Senator Jim Reed of Missouri was on his feet attacking in characteristic fashion the league of nations.

Suddenly it began to hail at first a little and then almost impossible to hear him although he was fairly shouting.

One thing led to another between the two.

The result came when Reed and McCumber started across the aisle at each other, their fighting blood up. Republicans made a grab for Democrats and democrats swung on Republicans. It was every man for himself.

I realized something had to be done and Watson: I finally succeeded in getting the presidents ear.

Mr. President," I shouted, "we've got to recess until this storm is over."

Then came such a motion: he rattled back at me.

Senators have Watson, I managed to make my voice heard above the storm and confusion and the chair ordered a recess. If we do not, there is no telling what would have happened.

JUST THE STORM

Watson says the amusing thing about the situation was that later Reed and McCumber in discussing the situation found that nothing occurred to warrants such a display of feeling in public.

The hail storm had caused them both to become unduly excited.

McCumber also recalled another stirring moment of the senate while the "era of conciliation" was being considered. It was a time when the galleries were packed with soldiers who had just returned from the world war. Jim Reed was the speaker. Senator Cummins of Iowa was in the chair. Reed in denouncing certain acts of the senate rule prohibiting applause in the gallery. Few will forget how those soldiers cheered Reed as he made certain after thrust at the league proposal.

TO CONSIDER PROPOSAL TO LEGALIZE BEER

Washington, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Chairman Wintjerahan of the law enforcement committee in a letter to Representative Dyer of Missouri made public today said the Dyer's proposal to legalize beer containing 2.75 per cent of alcohol would be submitted to the committee for consideration on February 3.

Senate investigation of the Prohibition enforcement service was to prospect today as a result of the sharp disagreement between assistant secretary Lowman, of the treasury, and Senators Borah, of Idaho and Wheeler, of Montana, over the qualifications of John F. C. Herbert as dry administrator for Montana and Idaho.

Senator Borah indicated today he would ask the Senate Judiciary committee to go into enforcement problem as soon as the committee takes up the pending dry bills, as a result of Lowman's defense of Herbert.

"We ought to have the facts, he said. "We have been told by an investigator of the Department of Justice about the record of Herbert as Prohibition administrator for Maryland. We may have been misinformed but we will have to find out."

It also became known today that Senator Borah has been told that the Department of Justice is watching his office.

"I am not interested in that, laughed Borah, "but my secretary was followed by an investigator of the department that my office was being watched. There is nothing there of interest."

The Idahoan said the department investigator who told him about the inquiry into Herbert's record had placed these facts before him during the holidays. He said that shortly thereafter the investigator called and reported to his secretary that he had been removed to another section of the country and he suspected the fact that Borah's office was being watched.

CHARGES INSANE PATIENTS USED TO BUILD ROADS

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Hal W. Trovillion, of Herrin, Illinois, editor of "The Egyptian Republican" and former member of the Illinois Commerce Commission today informed President John M. Walker of the Illinois Federation of Labor, that thirty inmates of the South ern Illinois Insane Hospital at Anna were being used in building roads, miles of public road, at Makanda, in Jackson county, leading to Giant City Park.

Dounty Judge Herbert of Jackson county," Mr. Trovillion advised the state president, "has appealed to Governor Emmerson to stop working the inmates labor. What is the attitude of the State Federation on this matter?"

Mr. Trovillion advised further that labor in southern Illinois was "pretty much worked up down in this section where there is so much idleness among the workmen."

THREE KILLED IN BLAST AT SCRANTON

Scranton, Pa., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Three persons, two of them women, were killed, or burned to death in an explosion and fire at Carbondale this morning. The dead:

Miss Ella Clark, 50, and Mr. and Mrs. Owen Mangan, elderly people.

The explosion, it is believed by authorities, resulted from a mine cave disturbing a gas main on Rock street where surface disturbances have been frequent. The neighborhood had a strong odor of gas last night and gas workers were trying to locate the leak when the explosion occurred.

The explosion was felt all over Carbondale and blew the entire back out of the Clark and Mangan home as well as tearing off the roof. Miss Clark was found a few minutes after the blast her body crushed but not burned.

PEORIA COAL MINES CLOSED AGAIN TODAY

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 28.—(AP)—The four Cregeen coal company mines here were closed down again today and officials have decided that the sudden relapse of 75 percent of the miners to the pits yesterday was somewhat related to the fact that yesterday was payday.

The mines have now been shut down nearly two weeks. The workers have taken a secret vote to remain on strike until Joseph P. Goetz is recognized as President of the Peoria sub-district.

The local coal mines supply the Rock Island with much of the coal used on the railroad and the line has been forced to ship in coal for the last few days. Picketing was in evidence today along the route of the train that takes miners to work from Peoria. Deputy Sheriffs were stationed to prevent possible trouble.

CUCK-OO CLOCK A DEAD GIVE-AWAY

Chicago, Jan. 28.—(AP)—At exactly 4 p. m. January 27, 1930, something inside Godfrey Smith went cuckoo.

Smith had no actual need for a cuckoo clock for he gets up when he feels like it. He could not, however, resist the timekeeper he saw in a store window, so he stuck it under his coat.

As he strolled languidly toward the exit it was just 4 p. m. The clock beneath the coat went "cuck-oo, cuck-oo, cuck-oo."

A policeman arrested him, for it is against the law to take cuckoo clocks.

RESCUE SEVERAL MEMBERS OF CREW OF BRITISH SHIP

Bordeaux, France, Jan. 28.—(By The Associated Press)—After many hours of heroic rescue work, a life-saving crew from St. Jean de Luz got a line aboard the hulk of the British freighter Kirkworth, which ban on a reef near Hartard during the night and broke in two.

Several members of the crew were brought ashore by the breeches-buoy and the life-savers were getting them off this afternoon at the rate of one every fifteen minutes under difficult conditions. In all the crew consisted of 21 men and two women, who had taken refuge in the forward part of the ship. One sailor was swept overboard and drowned where the freighter struck the reef.

UNCERTAINTY AS TO THE FATE OF THE FLOOD VICTIMS

Evansville, Ind. Jan. 28.—(AP)—Uncertainty as to the fate of hundreds of Poor county residents isolated by southwestern Indiana flood waters held the attention of relief workers today.

National guard aviators flying all over many thousands found no evidence of life where a day ago it is believe they had been greeted by waving Chimneys from which smoke had been seen rising, were reported smokeless.

The aviators flew over the territory between Evansville and Vincennes and Evansville and Shawneetown, Ill.

A report by Lieut. D. D. Watson that he had seen from ten to fifteen women in the upper story of a house about 15 miles below Mt. Vernon, where it would have been impossible to obtain food and fuel supplies, was being investigated. Relief workers hoped to reach the place.

Word from Mt. Vernon expressed fear for the safety of two families reported to have sought refuge in a home near there. The house, according to the report, has been submerged since the families entered the place.

The ice jam at the mouth of the little Wabash river showed signs of improving. In many places the water in the territory behind the jam was said to be at its highest point.

Evansville authorities planned an attempt to rescue approximately 50 people marooned on Cut Off island opposite New Harmony. Seven children and two women are among those on the island.

MOST DISASTROUS FIRE AT KEWANEE

Kewanee, Ill., Jan. 28.—(AP)—The business section of Kewanee was destroyed by fire ravaged for three hours this morning. The blaze caused a property loss of what was described as the most disastrous blaze in the city's history.

The fire routed about 35 people who lived in apartments over the business houses, put the temperature in their nights clothes. No one was injured.

The fire is believed to have started from an over-heated furnace in the basement of a clothing store. The Plaza theatre was one of buildings swept by the flames. The loss is estimated at $50,000. The Western Union telegraph station, three restaurants, a drug store, a clothing store, several insurance offices and two apartment houses were in the line of flames.

DESIES JUSTICE AGENTS WATCHED BORAH'S OFFICE

Washington, Jan. 28.—(By United Press)—Department of Justice agents have inquired into the conduct of J. Bigbee, Prohibition Administrator in Montana or had watched the office of Senator Borah or some member of congress was made in a statement today by Attorney General Mitchell.

"Only one has been misleading Borah," the Attorney General said.

Borah had said in the senate that he understood Justice men had investigated Herbert's record while he was stationed at Helena and Borah's secretary had told that department of Justice men had watched the Idaho Senator following his recent attack on Prohibition enforcement.

Department of Justice agents never have watched or followed Senator Borah or any other member of Congress, the Attorney General said. "Any sort of espionage of members of Congress or their offices by this department is unthinkable and utterly repugnant to every sense of propriety of ever official in the department."

CONSPICUOUS FIGURES OF OTHER DAYS

(NOTE: As a partial answer to the question—What are the conspicuous figures in sports of other days doing now—the Associated Press presents herewith, as the fifth of a series, an interview with David L. Fultz, famous 25 years ago as a baseball and football star and until last year a ranking football official.)

BY BRIAN BELL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—For more than a score years, stories of some big football game each Saturday included a line in the summary, "Umpire, David L. Fultz, Orown". Last year some other official's name was in his place and he appeared no more in white knickers running here and there on football fields, hugging close to the players and leaving the ball to the referee, as all umpires do who know their business.

David Fultz turned his back on football just as he left baseball flat 33 years ago when he was near the top of his game. The former then and 25 years later was the same—the law. No injunction was issued against the crack player and official but he is a lawyer and the demands of his practice outweighed his love for the games.

"Fred Murphy (his law partner) and I decided last year that we would give up officiating," said Mr. Fultz, "and so we quit." Murphy was as well known as a referee as was Fultz as an umpire.

"Some people think that a football official has an easy time; two or three hours each Saturday out in the open, seeing a football game. Not at all. Hours and hours are spent on study of the rules and the actual work during the game is the smallest part of it."

Leaving Brown, where he was a fleet halfback, Fultz went to the Philadelphia Nationals where such figures as Ed Delahanty, Monte Cross and Elmer Flick were starring baseball history. He was there only a short time, however, and moved over to the Philadelphia Athletics where he played in 1901 and 1902. He then came to New York to play an outfield position for the Highlanders, now the Yankees, in 1903, 1904 and 1905.

"I was admitted to the bar in 1905 and quit playing major league baseball to practice law. I had studied law for the several years that I was playing baseball.

"My last game? I shall not forget it. It was about a week or so before the close of the 1905 season. We were playing Cleveland. Kid Elberfeld and I ran together while we were chasing a fly between the outfield and infield. My face was that collision and I had to drink my food through a straw for a week after it.

"I spent a good many years in baseball and football. I was president of the players' fraternity and for a time president of the International league long after I quit playing baseball and of course until last year I have acted steadily as football official since I left college with the Brown class of '04.

Fultz was one of the few players who can be counted on the fingers of one hand—who left major league baseball when he was good enough to play.

"I would not say I was quite as good when I retired as I had been a year or two before," he said, "but I was fairly fast and had not slipped at that time.

"No, they didn't have to cut my uniform off."

Javanese Dalliance

"Rystaffel" is a dish peculiar to Java, writes Nellie M. Scanlan, in John O'Londons Weekly. In a Java hotel you order rystaffel for a waiter brings to a large bowl of rice. You take a portion of rice on the soup plate provided. Behind him in a row are from 12 to 15 other waiters, each with a dish or two, from which you take a sample. There are curried chicken, fried bananas, stewed fish, meat balls, hard-boiled duck eggs, preserved ginger, chopped onions, chunks of pineapple, raw onions, sliced cucumbers, peppers, chillies—something up to 20 varieties. The diner helps himself to all his capacity will allow.

Sport Slants
by ALAN J. GOULD

Jack Dempsey, with his account books understood to show something like $40,000 in the red for the fight he has promoted in the Chicago Coliseum this winter, may regret that the millionaires of Madison Square Garden who numbered 60 or thereabouts before the stock market crash.

When the Sharkey-Stribling waltz was being played to a profitable tune at Miami Beach last winter, Dempsey was the fair-haired boy with the bunch from Wall Street and Eighth Avenue. One of them remarked he was amazed at Dempsey's flair for attending to important business details, meaning stepping up the ballyhoo for the big men of boxing discovered a role to Dempsey's ability they did not know existed and they sought at once to do something about it.

The Garden it is understood, offered Dempsey a post as vice-president in charge of boxing, the main idea being that he would support some of the public appeal lost through Tex Rickard's death and act as the big window dressing for the more important fights. The hitch came on the question of salary. Dempsey was offered $50,000 but refused it and demanded $100,000. The Garden viewpoint was that Dempsey was not worth more than $50,000 and Jack's attitude was he needed to make big money quickly, rather than to wait for a break.

In the mellowing ease and breeze of Miami Beach Dempsey no doubt at the time sounded very plausible to himself. In fact quite a number of friends told him in effect he would be foolish to depose one of the talents for a mere $50,000 to a lot of hard-headed business men from New York. Since then however, in the cold reality of winter along Chicago lake-front, Dempsey has discovered that without his gym-fight work as an attraction, it is difficult to break even, let alone make a profit.

Charley White, whose left hook was a lightweight menace before Benny Leonard became champion and for some time thereafter, has turned some mighty shrewd somersaults by his talk of a come-back. The Colorado Springs Gazette recalls that when Fred Fulton fought Freddy Welsh, when the Briton was champion, on Labor Day, 1916, in the Colorado city and says:

Just before the fight got under way, a section of the arena gave way and two persons were killed and hundreds were injured . . . The fight itself was not so interesting. Welsh followed his usual cautious style and was not averse to back-pedaling . . . A policy later adopted by Gene Tunney. White, on the other hand was on top of Welsh all during the battle, attempting to gain a decisive victory by a knockout. He was unable to connect with his famous left hand with the chin of the champion, however.

When the referee gave the decision to Welsh a riot was started. Principals in the fight, the referee, sports writers at the ringside, cigar worms and those seated near the ring were forced to seek cover under the wood platform in order to escape the volley of pop-bottles, rocks and other missiles thrown by the occupants of seats higher up in the arena."

Attached to Jack Kirkland's staff, the manager of Carnera, is Jack Dempsey, who aspires to be a promoter of boxing shows in Chicago. Dempsey was offered $50,000 but refused it and demanded $100,000. The Garden viewpoint was that Dempsey was not worth more than $50,000 and Jack's attitude was he needed to make big money quickly, rather than to wait for a break.

Kid Berg Hero Of London's Ghetto Says Reuters' U. S. Correspondent

By BERNARD RICKATSON-HATT

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—When Jack Kid Berg returns some day to his native haunts in London's ghetto—or Whitechapel, to be more specific—he will be more to the mayor and town council than all the frills of English municipal pomp.

Kid Berg, by virtue of his remarkable victory over Al Foreman, Canadian lightweight champion, has made himself one of the notables of the land. He may lead to the lightweight championship of the world—but I'm not afraid to gamble if I don't—I'm told me before he met Foreman.

For this fight, Berg got $11,000 and two years ago he was working as a cabinet maker's apprentice in London at $3 a week.

Jack's father came to an unfriendly land from Russia to England about 35 years ago. Jack has six brothers, all Yiddish, and he is the pride of the Boro. He is the only boy of the family who has shown any aptitude for boxing.

Jack had a hard time himself and used them to good advantage in his early years as a fighter. Now, he was employed in making a street model of a good looking one day, ready for the manager, a local boxing arena proprietor.

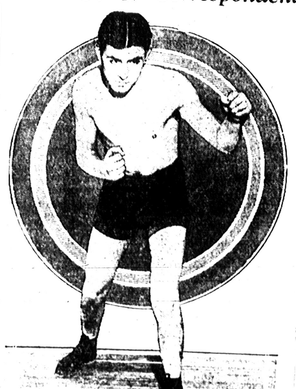
Attracted by Jack's wistful style, the manager decided to take up boxing as a profession.

Jack took his advice as Canadian champion.

Now, thanks to the generosity of American boxing fans who are willing to pay $5 apiece to see a fighter irrespective of race or creed, Jack is a name and when will give them their chance to see Berg in action on the big stage.

Jack is a fighter, clean living lad with none of the vices and graces of the poseur.

When I saw him in his dressing room after his duel with Canadian, Jack looked like how he felt. He said: I feel lousy."



$50,000 Slugger Buoys Hopes Of Braves

BY JAY VESSELS
Associated Press Feature Service

Boston.—P—Here's the Braves outfielders run up a right smart collection of pitchers apiece, calling in nothing but the names, counting heavily on Walter Berger, the $50,000 slugger.

Berger comes from the Pacific coast league, the origin of such great prospects as Earl Averill, Roy Johnson and Smead Jolley.

Ray Kolp and Ben Cantwell and him to join with the Braves, though it was the inability to go out and get Ty Cobb and Harry Heilmann that made the ball that produced the sensation.

Berger, however, is not the prodigy in the Utah-Idaho league. He piled up a batting average of .335 while with Los Angeles last year. He has been batting at .327 for the same club.

He is noted for his distance hitting and in 1929 collected 41 doubles and 20 triples in 200 games. Not bad for a busher.

The Braves parted with $50,000 and two players for Berger. Ray Kolp, a pitcher, and Ben Cantwell, catcher, were the players. Kolp was a good investment for the Braves.

And it certainly will be a good investment for Judge Fuchs club if he has any intelligent notion of the major league grade for some fresh talent needed to augment the Braves' present roster. Charley Grimm, Rabbit Maranville, Rich-Wenzel and Earl Clark.

Berger is 24 years old. He bats and throws right-handed.

This brawny chap who checked in with 45 home runs in the Pacific coast league last year comes to the Braves labeled as a Grade-A prospect.

TAD WEIMAN IS CONSIDERED AS MINNESOTA COACH

Minneapolis Minn., Jan. 28.—(AP)—The search for a new head football coach at the University of Minnesota has narrowed down to less than a dozen candidates.

Those mentioned among those being considered today to succeed Dr. Clarence W. Spears, who has resigned to coach at the University of Georgia, is Elton E. (Tad) Wieman, former head football coach at the University of Michigan, who is rumored to Minneapolis Wednesday to confer with Spears officials.

News about Wieman's trip to Minneapolis came in an Ann Arbor dispatch, which said he had been invited by Dr. Lotus D. Coffman, president of the University of Minnesota.

I haven't a word to say," was the only comment by Dr. Coffman when asked about the report.

Wieman's record as a coach has been strong since support to the candidacy of Arthur (Dutch) Bergman who had been Spears first assistant at Minnesota.

"BONE DRYS" ONLY TO GET APPOINTMENTS

THOSE WHO INDULGE NEED NOT APPLY FOR ENFORCEMENT JOBS

ATTYS.; MARSHALS

Attorney General Mitchell Reveals What's What in The Administration

Washington, Jan. 28—(AP)—Habitual drinkers and those definitely opposed to prohibition on principle are considered unsuitable for the Hoover administration for federal offices directly connected with the prosecution of violators of the dry statutes.

In addition, the personal views and practices of applicants for appointment or reappointment as United States attorneys and marshals are being thoroughly investigated before appointments are recommended to the president by the justice department.

This was revealed by Attorney General Mitchell in a letter submitted to the house expenditures committee, which is considering the Williamson bill to consolidate the government's enforcement and prosecuting agencies in the department of justice.

The letter had been written to a friend of the attorney general, whose name was withheld, and dealt only with attorneys and marshals, although it is assumed that Mitchell will follow the same policy in selecting men for the enforcement unit when that agency is transferred to his jurisdiction.

"I have not made any hard and fast rule on the subject," the attorney general wrote, "and there are many matters respecting a man's ability and personal qualifications that have to be considered, but I believe that no man who makes a practice of drinking intoxicating liquor, or who has definite or pronounced views in opposition to prohibition, belongs during this administration, in any post having directly to do with the prosecution of cases under the national prohibition act. It seems to me that such men had better seek positions in some other branch of the government or a private occupation.

"I have not made any blare of trumpets about this matter, but I am not at all reluctant to have it known among those in the service of this department that the habitual use of liquor and opposition to prohibition are very definite handicaps to appointment or reappointment in this service."

The inquiries that are being made "about the habits of candidates as to the use of liquor and their views on prohibition" he said are being conducted at his own direction.

With the receipt of Mitchell's letter the expenditures committee concluded its open hearings on the transfer bill. Leaders of the house have said it would be given a privileged status on the legislative calendar when it is ready for discussion on the floor.

The Right Atmosphere For The Bridge Game

By MARGERY TAYLOR
Interior Decorating Editor, Newspaper Enterprise Association, Calls Magazine Writers for Kankakee Daily Republican.

It just had to be said and it is—the bridge table of interior decorators.

If home is a place to live in, and we "can't live without bridge" then we must have a bridge home.

Perhaps you haven't reached that point where you will have the living room walls and ceiling painted with card motifs, but if you are fortunate enough to have a game room, you will find the new chintz called "Trumps," the perfect decoration.

It comes in any ivory, black or red ground, scattered gaily with the familiar spots, and the red or black chints would be very effective in draperies with a valance, perhaps of three red diamonds.

But there is no need to be discouraged if you can't go in for the bridge atmosphere in a big way. there are always the accessories—china, ash trays, lamp shades and a hundred other things that will occasionally to all who breathe bridge.

The chintz, for instance, can be transformed into a striking cover for the bridge table or for the stool pads, or at least the match box. Incidentally, match boxes covered and shellacked, tied with red ribbond in half dozen or dozen lots make appreciated and inexpensive prizes.

For those who still snatch timeoff for a bite, the bridge sets of chips will help keep them in the proper mood. They are reasonable too, 12 pieces being generally obtainable for much less than $10.

The plates have an inch border of black or red, wit his single suit motif in the center. The cups and saucers, also in black or red, are delightfully shaped like the suit. Harmonizing with these are the glass bridge ash trays, each with a spade, heart, diamond or club in the center.

For special occasions (s if ever game wasn't a special occasion) the effect of these accessories should be heightened further by paper napkins and table covers decorated with queens, jacks and hearts.

The new round cards would add new zest to the game—and they might be prizes, too. And to brighten the scene, over the lamp shade should be slipped simple paper shades pasted over with bridge cutouts.

MRS. LINDBERGH IS FAST BECOMING AN EXCELLENT PILOT

Los Angeles, Jan. 28—(AP)—Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh spent a busy hour today brushing up on her flying with her noted husband in the role of instructor.

The colonel and the former Anne Morrow took a hitch in training ship at Los Angeles Municipal airport and for an hour Mrs. Lindbergh handled the controls, taking off, circling the field, landing and doing it over again.

Colonel Lindbergh said his new low-winged monoplane speedster, recently purchased here is nearly ready to fly again after minor changes. The final alterations was the installation of another gasoline tank.

SAYS DAUGHTER TOO YOUNG; ASKS AN ANNULMENT

Los Angeles, Jan. 28—(AP)—The parents of Virginia Belzer, 17-year-old film actress, today announced they would ask annulment of the marriage of Loretta Young, 17-year-old film actress, to Grant Withers, 25, featured screen player.

Miss Young and Withers, who met six months ago when they were cast opposite each other in pictures, followed their courtship Sunday with an aerial elopement and wedding in Yuma, Ariz.

Returning home for the parental blessing they were met instead by the disapproval of Mrs. Belzer.

Although she previously had frowned upon the union because Withers previously had been married and divorced, Mrs. Belzer stated her chief objection was the extreme youth of her daughter.

"I believe she should wait another year," Mrs. Belzer said. "Then if they feel like getting married, there will be no objection on my part. They both have admitted they were impulsive, and have agreed to a separation."

The annulment suit, legal authorities believe, will raise an interesting point at law, as the minimum age for marriage for women in Arizona is 16 years. In California it is 18.

The marital affairs of Withers encountered another tangle such the filing in superior court of a suit to annul Mrs. Lief Withers, first wife of Lief Withers, for alimony and additional support of his income for the support of their minor child.

SENTENCED TO HANG TWICE ON SAME DAY; MURDER

Reno, Nevada, Jan. 28.—P. Charles Fee, Jr., husband with treachery and deception, Mrs. Rogers Hall, Mrs. Rogers Hall, former Patricia Bowland Hoyt, has filed action in district court here to have her marriage to Wilfred Hoyt annulled on the ground that he was not divorced when she married him here a month ago.

Mrs. Butt married Butt soon after the latter's divorce from Mrs. Isabel Mitchell Butt, son of Henry M. Hoyt, former assistant secretary of the treasury and fath administration, and has been separated from Butt in Honolulu, where they gone to spend their honeymoon.

Mrs. Butt is a daughter of Commissioner Bankhead of Alabama. Bankhead was a student at the University of Nevada and at the time Mrs. Butt married him was employed in a soft drink parlor here.

HUBBY LIVED WITH ANOTHER 20 YEARS; ASKS BIG REWARD

Los Angeles, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Mrs. Hattie Dean Hutchinson, Chicago society woman, was ready today to face the witness stand in her $100,000 alienation of affections suit against Mrs. Edith P. Taylor, who has admitted that she lived for 20 years with Samuel C. Hutchinson, Chicago film distributor.

Mrs. Taylor, the first witness in the case, testified yesterday that Hutchinson maintained an apartment for her for years. She said her real name was Edith Patterson and that she met the film distributor in Valparaiso, Ind., in 1908.

Mrs. Taylor testified that she did not know Hutchinson was married until she found a school report card of his legitimate son in a book he had given her. She said she previously had begged him to marry her but that he insisted he could not do so. Mrs. Taylor testified that she had borne Hutchinson two children, one of whom is 18 years old. The other is dead.

Hutchinson sobbed as Mrs. Taylor told her story.

Attorneys for Mrs. Hutchinson at the outset of the trial asserted that Mrs. Hutchinson lived for 20 years in ignorance of her husband's double life and that his affairs in London and Hollywood gave him excuses for frequent absences from home. She did not learn of the deception until 1928, they said.

Mrs. Hutchinson is a sister-in-law of A. C. Roebling of Roebling, N. J., and company and was decorated by King Alfonso of Bavaria for her wartime services overseas.

FIGHT OLD LINE POLICY OF THE WOODMEN OF WORLD

Denver, Colo., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Members of the Woodmen of the World with headquarters in Denver perfected a brief in the state supreme court here today in the case of Boyle by officers of the organization, to put into effect an old line insurance plan.

The organization's officers recently received a writ of supersedeas, setting aside a district court ruling which refused them permission to change the old line policy, which would carry added assessments to members.

End of Revolution

New York was the last city to salute the national colors, as the British were in control of that city until November 25, 1783, but at three o'clock of that day the American flag was hoisted and the Stars and Stripes floated proudly over the city and duly received and honored.

Colonial Money

In a colonial paper it says, "The price of 20 shillings, proc." What does proc. mean? The abbreviation probably stands for proclamation money, which was the same given to coin valued according to a table described in a proclamation of Queen Anne, 18th of June, 1704, in which the Spanish dollar of 17½ pennyweight was to be rated at 6 shillings in all the colonies.—Washington Star.

CORN BELT HATCHERIES EXPANDING

D. R. Roth and Sons, who own and operate the Corn Belt Hatchery in Kankakee announce that they have added two more plants to their already growing string. The two new additions are at Woodstock and Marengo.

The Butler town unit is in charge of the other, being located at Watseka. Parson Pontiac, Monticello, Joliet, Manteno and Kankakee.

J. W. Roth, in charge of the Kankakee plant, states that the local hatchery has a new branch of eggs last Monday and that chicks from these will be for sale in about three weeks. Chicks were produced from the hatchery at Watseka and Gibson City yesterday. The Corn Belt chain has set over 100,000 eggs so far this season with all indications that 1930 will be the biggest year in history in the poultry and egg producing businesses.

The new plants at Woodstock and Marengo have been operating for several years and were bought out from their previous owners by the Corn Belt company. The Woodstock plant has a 50,000 egg capacity and the Marengo plant provides 20,000 chicks at each hatching.

The Corn Belt Hatcheries will start their regular broadcasting programs over Station WLS on Saturday evening, February 1st. The concern has broadcasted programs for this station the past several years. The entertainment is of a home nature and has always attracted widespread interest and attention among radio fans.

The Corn Belt program will go on the air promptly at 7:30 every Saturday evening beginning Feb. 1 and will continue for a half hour on each occasion, F. W. Roth, of the Kankakee hatchery and his brother, H. D. Roth, will go into Chicago every night of the broadcast and will give short talks between the musical numbers and other features on the program.

Only the best eggs from state approved and tested flocks are hatched at the Corn Belt plant. The chicks produced here are noted for their hardiness and egg production. The hatching season is getting under way in full swing and from now until late in the summer the local plant will be running at full capacity at all times. Last year a new 50,000 egg incubator was added to the equipment here.

GOLDENROD IS FINEST BREAD BAKED HERE

Everyone eats bread; the food that has come to be known as the staff of life. We like bakers who make bread, under all kinds of trade names, but there is no bread to be found in this vicinity that equals quite as delicious as Goldenrod Bread baked in the Chouinard plant at 427 West Court street.

Mr. Chouinard has been in the bakery business in Kankakee the past ten years. Prior to that time he operated a bakery at Beaverville for a period of about four years.

A full line of all bakery goods is made fresh every day at the Chouinard bakery—rolls, buns, pies, cakes, cookies, etc. The specialty, of course, is Goldenrod bread. Goldenrod is also the name of the bakery. This bread is baked in large loaves, and is delicious when toasted. It is done to a golden brown color with a deliciously crisp and savory crust. Better bread was never baked; is the claim made by Mr. Chouinard and which is heartily endorsed by his customers.

Mr. Chouinard bakes all kinds of cakes and pastries for special events such as weddings, birthday celebrations, anniversaries, club meetings, banquets, etc. Any kind of a cake will be made to suit the individual or organization ordering it. Information in regard to special orders such as these can be obtained from Mr. Chouinard at the bakery or by telephoning his residence, Main 1877.

All products sold by the Goldenrod bakery are made fresh daily. There are no stale goods sold. A trial of Goldenrod bread, rolls, pies or cakes will convince you of their goodness. You are missing some of the good things of life if you are not a Goldenrod customer.

Only the purest of ingredients are used by Mr. Chouinard in his establishment. The baking is done by experts under the proprietor's personal supervision. You will find the Goldenrod prices right. The plant is located just a few blocks from the heart of the downtown business district and West side residents, in particular, find it very convenient to buy their baked goods at this plant.

N. Y. STOCKS

BULLETIN.

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—A wave of selling swept over the stock market in the last hour of trading today, cancelling many of the early gains and sending scores of issues 1 to 5 points below yesterday's final quotations. American Telephone, International Telephone, General Electric, American Tobacco B and General Electric were among the many issues to close with net losses of 1 1-2 points or more.

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—A batch of selling orders accumulated in the stock market overnight, and opening prices were irregularly lower. Sears Roebuck dropped 2 1-8 points and American Telephone, Columbia Graphophone, General Electric and American Can yielded a point or more. U. S. Steel common, Allied Chemical, Frank G. Shattuck, Union Carbide and May Department stores declined fractionally higher.

Early selling presumably was based on the theory that the market was entitled to a technical reaction after its brisk advance to a new high level for the year. Declines of 1 to 2 points were quite general in the first hour, although there were a few scattered exceptions throughout the list.

J. I. Case, which ran up over 10 points on the quarterly refit basis on profit taking. Standard Gas & Electric yielded 3 points before the end of the first half hour. Fox Film 2 1-4. Westinghouse Electric 2 and International Telephone, American Power and Light, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Air Reduction and Anchor Cap sold a point or more lower.

Frank G. Shattuck and Coca Cola led the early advance in the food group. Union Pacific, Newton Steel, International Silver and Western Union also showed evidence of strong buying support.

Low priced shares were favored in the late buying movement and many issues selling between $20 and $60 a share rose from 2 to 6 points. Allis-Chalmers, Armand Rumely, F. G. Shattuck, Inter-Borough Rapid Transit, Celotex and International Combustion Engineering Preferred were prominent. The usual market leaders moved uncertainly, with Radio, General Electric and American Telephone showing weakness. Coppers and Chemicals displayed strength. The closing tone was irregular. Total sales approximated 3,000,000 shares.

CURB REVIEW

GRAIN MARKET

By JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor

Under a wave of selling, wheat prices today broke to below any recent bottom level but afterward rallied. Weakness of the rye market here and of wheat values at Winnipeg were outstanding bearish factors. A leading speculative holder of contracts for future delivery of rye was a heavy seller, and dispatches were at hand saying that not within memory has there been such a contracted state of things in the German rye market as prevails at present owing to a big exportation activity both in Germany and Poland. On current developments May delivery of rye showed a 4c a bushel tumble today, but the close for the day market as a whole was at 1-4c to 1c net loss.

Cracking of upturns today in wheat prices appeared to be largely based a good deal on statements current from trade authorities that although heavy purchases of North American wheat for Europe are probable later in the season, advances in price at present serve only to curtail immediate demand from overseas. The reason given is that big surplus stocks on hand in Canada and the United States have been excessively advertised, and that trans-Atlantic customers are utilizing this circumstance to their own best interests.

Latest trans-Atlantic estimates at hand as to European import requirements put the total at 580,000,000 bu for the 12 months ending July 31 next. It is figured that already 219,000,000 bu of this amount has been shipped to European countries, leaving 317,000,000 bu required during the remainder of the season. About 11,250,000 bu weekly. With such advices receiving attention, early gains in wheat prices here failed to hold well, and at times the market underwent material setback.

Wheat closed irregular, at 3-4c a bushel below yesterday's finish to 1-4c over, corn closed 1-8c off to 1-4c up, oats 1-8c to 3-8c down, and provisions varying from 3c setback to a rise of 15c.

PLEAD NOT GUILTY TO THE MURDER OF HIGHWAY OFFICER

New Castle, Ind., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Pleas of not guilty to charges of murder, manslaughter, assault and battery were entered by Fred Schroder and Wm. Daugherty, recently returned from Prescott, Arizona, where they were arraigned in connection with the killing of Deputy Sheriff John Powers and Constable Ora Strong of Middletown, Ind., during a gun battle with officials.

Schroder and Daugherty entered their pleas of not guilty when they were brought before Judge Marcus Mote in circuit court here today. Their attorneys, Earl Wilson and Ralph Gifford, announced that the defendants were represented by counsel. Preliminary hearing will be held this week before Attorney John Powers and Judge Mote.

A strong guard surrounded Schroder and Daugherty as they were taken to the county jail to the office of the sheriff. It was the first time since the shooting that the two men had been out of the county jail. They were brought here last night from Arizona, where they were captured after a gun battle with officials.

STATE RESTS IN CASE AGAINST A TEXAS JURIST

Austin, Texas, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The state rested today in the trial of John W. Brady, former Texas jurist, charged with the slaying of Miss Lehlia Highsmith, court stenographer.

Shortly before the state closed its case Mrs. R. B. Crider, operator of the rooming house where Miss Highsmith lived, testified that Brady was a frequent and unwelcome visitor to the stenographers apartment.

He was the witness and the only regular man visitor to the girl's rooms. He came "pretty often," she testified adding "he was coming against her will. Under cross examination Mrs. Crider repeated she had seen Brady in Miss Highsmith's room several times.

The state's unexpected brief presentation of the case after less than two days of testimony pictured only the circumstances of the slaying, without delving, as had been expected, into the past life of the former high ranking jurist.

Previous witnesses guests at a party in another apartment at the Crider house, described their versions of the slaying, telling that Brady stabbed Miss Highsmith to death after he had been ejected from the party.

Bolivar, Tenn. Jan. 28.—(AP)—With machine guns mounted on the courthouse steps and national guardsmen patrolling the street, Carey Gunn, negro, went on trial here today charged with attacking a 15 year old Middleton, Tenn. school girl.

He was brought to Bolivar this morning from Memphis under guard of state troops commanded by Adjutant General W. C. Bond.

PREFERS CHARGES AGAINST WILBUR IN THE SENATE

Washington, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Secretary Wilbur, of the Interior department, was charged in the senate today by Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, with nullifying the provisions of the Boulder Dam bill and moving to turn the power from the proposed project over to the "water power trust."

The Nebraskan read an opinion given by the solicitor of the Interior Department which, he said, could be sold to private interests. He called attention to the Provision in the Swing-Johnson Boulder Dam act stipulating that preference should be given to municipalities and states in the leasing of power.

"That means that the Secretary of the Interior is able," shouted Norris, "to nullify the most important provision in that law and give every kilowatt of power to the water power trust."

Senator Johnson, Republican, California, the author of the Boulder dam bill, agreed with Norris and warned that "We will not be slow when the time comes to express our views on this matter, no matter what the Solicitor has advised."

Let's hope it is not selfishness, but only ignorance of the true facts. For a good used car would carry the whole family off on a joyous holiday journey . . . every week-end. Almost every budget will allow for a used car, purchasable out of income. Really, it is money well spent, especially if you buy a guaranteed machine from a reputable dealer. DOCTORS SAY THIS IS BEST KIND OF BRAN
93% of Group of Physicians Favor Natural 100% Bran for Constipation

Ten thousand doctors were recently asked this question

"Which do you believe is raw natural 100% bran is the best form of all for the relief of constipation."

93% of the answers were "Yes"

Here is a quick solution for the relief of one of the worst troubles mankind has. Pillsbury's Bran is the natural 100% bran, nothing added, nothing taken away. The overwhelming majority of these doctors recommends Pillsbury's Bran as the best form for the relief of atonic constipation—irregularity which results from bowel sluggishness.

Don't trifle with constipation. Medical science says that 90% of modern city people are more or less affected. Headaches, loss of vitality, sallow cheeks, nervousness, sleeplessness, and increased auto-pathicity to serious diseases—these are the dangers. Add roughage to your diet—it protected promotes mass, and it will protect you.

Pillsbury's Bran is the best form—it gives you the full, gentle, natural laxative action of the unbroken flakes of pure bran. You can use it to prepare any number of delicious foods—muffins, tea cakes, apple cake, macaroons, doughnuts, etc.—the recipes are on the Pillsbury package. You can sprinkle it over salads, or mix it with cereals. You can eat it as it comes from the package, with cream and sugar. No matter how you take it, you'll be sure Pillsbury's Bran will do the work—it is natural 100% bran, the kind that doctors recommend.

CHAPTER I

"Why, we just got here," she said plaintively.

"But I've had enough."

"I'm not going to let you go," she decided, taking his arm and leading him to the sofa. "Just sit down and make up your mind to stay another little while."

"Really, I can't—I don't believe I should," he objected, sitting down next to her.

She was merely playing for time until she should think of something that would hold him. Suddenly it came to her.

"No, I won't let you go. I have to talk to you about something—" "Of course, if I can be of any service to you—"

"You can. It need your advice. I'll tell you what I'll do. You come over to my house for dinner and you come back in about half an hour and I'll be ready to begin phase, and I am sure that you, of all the people I know, can help me."

"All right—I guess minutes more won't matter," he said rising and offering her his hand.

Oh, Uncle Steve, you're just a darling. I knew I could rely on your help."

She took him to the door and made him promise again that he would keep him long, and then he rushed up stairs to get some much needed sleep.

Now Jerry had another job on his hands. Not that he minded that he had not yet died. She took Eleanor's future very much to heart and needed help. No, it was impossible to think of her. He had to be doing and she herself could not help her guests that the party was going too good a time to go down for Jerry's absence. Perhaps Eleanor would do well to prove she had some reverence for her husband. Indefinitely—Jerry shrugged his shoulders asked.

Jerry went to get their coats—Topsy, grudgingly of course, and Eleanor and Jerry left for a grande dame preparing for the opera.

"Color so soon?" the others wanted to know. Jerry came out with their coats, looking for Eleanor and Topsy emerging with them.

"Coats for the party to break up. Haven't you gallant gentlemen and ladies had enough of this charming party?"

"Come on, honey," Topsy called. "We've got to get to Joliet tonight."

To Jerry and Eleanor she repeated.

"My favorite indoor sport is getting thrown out of places."

"Please don't start any more vulgar than you can help," Eleanor begged. "Jerry, remember that I'm teaching you to ride at ten o'clock in the morning."

"And still don't want to go home," Topsy insisted.

The argument started, saying their good-nights to Jerry, but Topsy stayed on, and Eleanor waited for her.

"You can't stay here all night," remarked Eleanor, sitting down comfortably on the arm of her chair.

Topsy sighed, pulling Eleanor up quickly by the arm.

"It must. As I said before, my favorite sport is being thrown out of places."

Poor Topsy! Jerry exclaimed. "Then you didn't have a good time. Tomorrow morning, remember we have a rehearsal at noon and some sleep will help you to have learned another. You, especially, should be pleasant tomorrow's ride, how you will need it!"

"Really, Jerry," Eleanor said dear," Eleanor declared on her way out with Topsy. "Enjoyed it so and don't forget."

"It was simply a scrumptious night," Topsy added, as the other girls from the door.

"Thanks," Jerry replied.

Now the last of the guests had gone, and Jerry sighed with relief. She had not realized before how tired she was. It was not only the party that had made her weary but the strain of the part she had had to play for Uncle Steve. She sank down into a couch and closed her eyes, and she knew then that if she allowed herself, she could fall asleep just as she was in just a few minutes. She yawned and then yawned and then she began to get the place in order for her prospective guest. Wally Steve.

As she was straightening out the cushions she noticed that a chair had been turned out of place, facing the fire. The same rather close to it before she saw that a man's hand, holding a cigar, was extended from the arm. Jerry uttered an exclamation and ran around towards the front of it, as Barney got up leisurely and smiled at her.

"Hello, Jerry. Are you surprised to see me?"

"Why, Father, what's the idea? I thought you had gone with the others."

FRUSTRATE PLOT TO ASSASSINATE MEXICO PRESIDENT

Mexico City, Jan. 28—(AP)—Mexico City, police claimed today to have frustrated a plot to assassinate President Emilton Portes Gil, and the President-elect, Pascual Ortiz Rubio, blow up several public buildings, and seize administration of the government.

Of 19 persons arrested several days ago, Valente Quintana, chief of police, said 17 have confessed connection with the plot and are being held. The two released were women who proved their innocence.

The chief of police said the plotters were adherents of Jose Vasconcelos, defeated candidate for the Mexican Presidency, who charged after his loss at the polls last November 17 that the Ortiz-Rubistas had taken advantage of certain peculiarities of the Mexican election laws to win from him.

The plot, he said, was to massacre the guard at the government power plant here, capture the plant, seize arms at a factory in the center of the city, and subsequently to terrorize the populace by shooting rockets with a large dynamite content into the air. In the confusion the President and President-elect were to be shot and the government seized.

It Is Easy To End Fat

That is, in the right way, used by modern physicians. No abnormal exercise or diet, but help to a gland that is weak. The recent large reduction in excess fat has been largely due to that method.

This modern method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them: In almost every circle you can see the amazing change it brings.

If over-fat, you owe yourself a trial of Marmola. Don't remain abnormal. All druggists supply Marmola at $1 a box. Each box states the formula and tells the reasons for results. Start growing thin, as your friends have done, at once.
