What Flavor Do You Prefer In Your Cigarettes?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — If you like to play the gracious host and your guests sometimes ask for cigarettes, you may, shortly find yourself inquiring: "Cinnamon or chocolate?"

Or maybe: "How about trying a new-mown hay?"

The prospect of flavored cigarettes was discussed at a news conference Thursday by George Weissman, vice president and director of marketing for a major tobacco company, Philip Morris Inc.

"The cigarette industry," he said, "is in the process of a revolution. There is a possibility that the cigarette we smoked a scant five years ago may become obsolete."

"The American public has let us know they love flavor. To that end, many cigarette companies are right now testing cinnamon flavor, chocolate — even new-mown hay."

Miss Donna Mae Christensen, daughter of Mrs. J. N. Christensen, 1973 S. Lincoln Ave., and the late James M. Christensen, will be graduated Sunday from Lutheran Hospital, St. Louis. The exercises will be at 4 p.m. in Holy Cross Lutheran Church.

Miss Christensen is a 1956 graduate of Kankakee High School and was awarded the Business and Professional Women's Club nursing scholarship that year. She plans to go into nursing service at St. Mary's Hospital, Kankakee.

Peotone FHA Wins Section 20 Plaque

For the 12th consecutive time, Peotone chapter, Future Homemakers of America, has been named outstanding chapter of Section 20. The award, a plaque, was given by the Illinois Bankers' Association at the state FHA convention at Lake Bloomington.

At the state awards night, Peotone chapter won third place in the state for promotion of public relations. The white ribbon was accepted by Judy Arantow, Peotone convention delegate, from Kay Hunley, past state president.

To compete for the state award, the chapter must have won its regional competition. Judging is based on newspaper publicity, radio and television broadcasts the chapter has presented; community service by the chapter, chapter cooperation with merchants, community groups and school organizations and the appreciation it has shown those who have worked with it.

Beverly Rigel, Peotone chapter member and state FHA historian, said the chapter has won its regional competition by having the most newspaper publicity, radio and television broadcasts the chapter has presented; community service by the chapter, chapter cooperation with merchants, community groups and school organizations and the appreciation it has shown those who have worked with it.

Sen. Wiley Aids Views On Diversion Of Lake Water
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has no authority to divert Great Lakes water for the sole purpose of flushing Chicago sewage down the Illinois River, Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.) said today.

"Chicago has spent less per capita for sewage treatment, and has a lower tax rate, than other cities," Wiley said in testimony prepared for a Senate public works subcommittee.

"The city should not expect to take from the other states, but instead, should carry out the job of cleaning up her own house," Wiley added.

Wiley opposed a House-passed bill which would permit Chicago to divert an additional 1,000 cubic feet of water a second from the Great Lakes. It already has authority to take up to 1,500 cubic feet.

There was no indication when the subcommittee headed by Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.) would meet to act on the bill. Opinion among the subcommittee members was reported rather evenly split for and against.

Meany Raps Two Pending Labor Bills

WASHINGTON (UPI) — AFL-CIO President George Meany denounced two pending labor reform proposals Thursday as "attempts to place the entire labor movement in a 'strait-jacket' because of the sins of a few."

Meany told a nationwide radio audience that anti-labor forces have conspired to use Senate Rackets Committee disclosures of corruption in some unions as an excuse for imposing punitive restrictions on all unions.

THE AFL-CIO leader particularly criticized a labor reform bill proposed by Reps. Phil M. Landrum (D-Cal.) and Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich.). President Eisenhower praised this measure in a radio-TV speech two hours earlier.

Meany called the bill a "blunderbuss that would inflict grievous harm on all unions" regardless of whether they were corrupt.

Besides criticizing the Landrum-Griffin bill, Meany assailed a more moderate measure approved by the House Labor Committee.

MEANY REITERATED AFL-CIO's support for the mild bill introduced by Rep. John F. Shulzy (D-Cal.) in 1958. He called on the public to write their congressmen in support of the measure.

Meany said that AFL-CIO officials "recognize that the worst enemies of labor are those few crooked labor officials who have betrayed their trust and sold out their members."

"Because of the excess they have committed and gotten away with," Meany said, "pressure has been built up for legislation that would victimize all unions, the great majority of good ones along with a few that have been corrupted."

Meany said the Shelby bill "will do the job of getting rid of the crooks who have wormed their way into a few unions."

Innocent Bystanders Suffer, Too

It has been three weeks since the two parties in the steel strike agreed to disagree, and a solution is still far in the distance. The government has raised its voice a little but not sufficiently to get any kind of constructive action.

The effects of the stoppage continue to spread, however. It's very much like the march of a contagious illness. The victims are few and far between at the beginning but their numbers increase considerably after a while. It has been estimated that layoffs in industry depending on steel have affected 100,000 workers. If the strike is allowed to continue three more weeks, the number may be 500,000.

The furloughed 100,000 are men and women who have no current arguments with their companies and whose companies have no grievances against them. They became involved in the dispute because their companies depend on steel to operate at full capacity. Their prospects for regular work will be dim as long as the steel mills remain idle.

The victims include coal and iron miners, railroad workers, truckers and other transportation men who handle steel. To a lesser extent there have been layoffs among dock and lake boatmen and people employed by the steel plants who are not members of the United Steelworker's Union.

This is a grim picture, not merely because of economic waste, although that is important enough, but for reasons of a higher order. It just isn't moral that so many innocent people should suffer because the two camps in a basic industry cannot agree.

The government invariably steps in when a railroad strike is impending. This is on the theory that the nation would be paralyzed. From a strictly moral point of view, what applies to the railroads should apply to all basic industries, industries which cannot go idle without affecting the livelihood of many people directly or indirectly.

The steelworkers cannot be forced to compromise. This would not be fair or in accordance with certain principles. On the other hand, it may not be a bad idea to write new rules for key industries.

The fight against higher wages or drop in the price of steel, but there can be adjustments which would make it unnecessary to close plants and start a wave of unemployment.

The word from Washington is that officials are studying various moves and alternatives in the event that the steel strike lasts too long. The view of many people is that it has lasted long enough.

Housing Bill Veto Necessary

On the face of it, the vetoing authority in the housing bill sponsored by President Eisenhower was $1,375,000,000—matter of $565,000,000 above the figure asked by the President of $810,000,000 for the period covered by the bill.

Beyond that, however, the President foresaw future subsidies raising the authorization to $2,200,000,000 when the bill is passed. The bill is authorized by the President. That is nearly three times the figure he felt was adequate.

As everyone knows, the housing industry is dependent on long-term funds borrowed at reasonable rates of interest. Providing for huge expenditures in the future simply dries up the source of long-term credit and inevitably puts the housing industry in trouble. It also borrows trouble for the future of the budget by weighting it in advance with authorizations made now.

To these arguments of the President, the Senate Democratic leadership was deaf. They want large sums to clear slums, house lower income families, house future college students and house the elderly. All these are very worthy objectives, but there must be a ceiling on the amount of largesse the country can afford to spend for such purposes; else we will be piling up red ink again, and the dollar will not buy all the housing the legislators want.

The fight against inflation is at a critical point. Open the flood gates to a three-fold housing bill now, and it will be the signal for the deficit spending that the liberal bloc has been indulging for since its number was swollen in the last congressional election.

The only thing that is going to convince them that their constituents no longer want these giveaways, and the nation no longer needs them to overcome a recession, is a test at the polls. Until that test is repudiated as an accident of the recession, they won't believe the party is over, and it's time now to get down to hard work.

Congress Puts Watchdog On Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (EPA)—For the first time, new foreign aid legislation passed by Congress will give the State Department and Internal Security Committee a veto over the aid program.

The new law, which will be signed by President Eisenhower, will require the State Department to submit a report to Congress on the aid program. The report will include a list of all countries receiving aid, a list of all aid programs, and a list of all aid personnel.

His job will be to make sure that aid is being used for the purposes for which it was intended. He will also be responsible for making sure that aid is being distributed fairly and that it is not being used to support the activities of subversive groups.

The new law also gives the State Department the authority to suspend aid to any country that is found to be in violation of the law. This is a significant change from the previous law, which gave the State Department the authority to suspend aid only if a country was found to be in violation of the law.

There are now six inspection and audit teams stationed abroad. Each team is responsible for a group of countries. The teams are responsible for making sure that aid is being used for the purposes for which it was intended. They are also responsible for making sure that aid is being distributed fairly and that it is not being used to support the activities of subversive groups.

IC's AUDITING and personnel inspection probes covers only economic and military aid. It does not cover aid to the State Department. Do U.S. People Favor Khrushchev Visit?

WASHINGTON—Do the people of the United States really want Nikita Khrushchev to visit this country? President Eisenhower has asked the question, and the answer is not clear. The poll conducted by the Gallup Organization shows that 54 percent of the people favor a visit, while 46 percent oppose it.

The poll was conducted among 1,000 people, and the margin of error is plus or minus 3 percent. The poll was conducted from August 13 to August 15, 1959.

The poll shows that the people are divided on the issue. While a majority favor a visit, there is still a significant minority that opposes it. The poll also shows that the people are more likely to favor a visit if the visit is for a short period of time, and if the visit is for a specific purpose.

DR. FABIAN WRITES that the visit of Khrushchev to the United States is a complex issue. He writes that the visit is not just a matter of diplomacy, but it is also a matter of national security. He writes that the visit is a test of the people's willingness to accept a visit from a man who is the head of a country that is the enemy of the United States.

Bid Can Make, Not Double

West had mean idea. It opened the door of hearts and continued with the jack of diamonds. East went up with the ace and South's smile of anticipation became a grimace of dismay when West ruffed.

South's next play was the king of clubs and when East showed out it was no problem for South to pick up all the trumps. West held queen to the hilt and but it did him no good.

Now South proceeded to run his good hearts and the worst happened to poor West. On the last heart, West found himself in a squeeze. Dummy was in back of him with the ten of diamonds and the ace-jack of spades and West had no way to beat the slam.

To add insult to injury a reshuffle of the hand disclosed that West could have made six diamonds if he had happened to bid it. But he must live by the bid he made. The blame for failure to reach the slam must be placed on East's shoulders. East only had five high cards and had no way to beat the slam.

Khrushchev's Visit

It will be difficult for important elements in the American population to welcome Khrushchev. As a tourist or Koolha who heads a fair, Khrushchev comes as a guest of the nation, formally invited by the President upon the recommendation of the State Department. Mikoyan and Koolha came as private persons, no matter what their rank may be in their own country; Khrushchev comes as the head of a state.

In the old days of good manners and acknowledged propriety, an insult to the head of a state meant war. In these days of social laxity, when anything goes, an official apology would probably be a sufficient accounting for an insult. On the other hand, what is the advantage of insulting Khrushchev? It only means that we are not taking him seriously. It only means that we are not taking him seriously.

FOR THOSE WHO ARE EMOTIONALLY or spiritually opposed to Khrushchev, to communism or to Soviet Russia, the most that they can do is to stay away from any entertainment for Khrushchev. To cause a riot would only damage the United States in a critical hour.

I know that some of my anti-Communist friends and associates will complain that I am giving up a great cause. For more than a year, agencies of government have been active in passing the way for Khrushchev's visit. It is even possible that a committee of bankers and businessmen, meeting in New York, had prepared every step in his entertainment at the suggestion, if not the request, of our government. There was no threat. Khrushchev even drank a soft drink which he had brought with him.

ON THE OTHER HAND, Vice President Richard Nixon was received in Russia. He was received by the people, as one of their country's most distinguished guests. Khrushchev practically gave all his time to Nixon and while they argued and bawled at each other, it was done in a friendly spirit. There were no ultimatums. There were no threats. Khrushchev even drank a soft drink which he had brought with him.

We have, for a period of at least three months, been as close to war as people ever shall be without actual fighting. What Nixon accomplished in Russia was that he showed the people that we are not afraid, but that we want peace. He had been preceded by several Americans, but they were not as successful as Nixon. He was not there to amuse visitors. He was there to show the people that we are not afraid, but that we want peace.

NIXON IS THE SECOND MAN IN OUR government and could be the first by a missed heart beat. Khrushchev had either to show him respect or to insult him. He chose to show him respect. He was not there to amuse visitors. He was there to show the people that we are not afraid, but that we want peace.

We face a further problem. It has become obvious at Geneva that Khrushchev will not permit us to negotiate on our own terms. We must meet with Khrushchev and nothing is settled. We must meet with Khrushchev and nothing is settled.

THE BUSINESSMEN who see dollars in this are just cash-potholes who will not out their heads. The people who see dollars in this are just cash-potholes who will not out their heads. The people who see dollars in this are just cash-potholes who will not out their heads.

The businessmen who see dollars in this are just cash-potholes who will not out their heads. The people who see dollars in this are just cash-potholes who will not out their heads. The people who see dollars in this are just cash-potholes who will not out their heads.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

KANKAKEE—I suggest that all the doctor was called away from his home (and maybe his "let bygone be bygones," but among the hundreds of thousands of Americans who have been coming from the lands which now are held captive by the Communist dictatorship, there will be no suppression of emotions. Their point of view toward the Moscow dictatorship which has ordered the murder or exile of so many innocent people is deeply rooted. They cannot forget.

IT IS PATENTLY naive to believe that a visit by the "hanger-on" of the Ukraine will do anything to what he already knows about our country. Moral principle alone should dissuade us from conferring respectability and legitimacy to the dedicated enemies of the attributes he desires in order to extend his empire.

There is talk now of arranging a parade of horses in each American city where Khrushchev appears. This is a disgraceful suggestion. It is a disgraceful suggestion. It is a disgraceful suggestion.

HERE IS WHAT THEY SAY

The trouble is, for most of us, when we get behind the wheel of a motorcar, five or ten thousand years slip off our shoulders and we are practically back in the Stone Age, no quarter, whatever the wall, we are practically back in the Stone Age, no quarter, whatever the wall, we are practically back in the Stone Age, no quarter, whatever the wall.

Bobbies Guard Palace Guards From Tourists

LONDON (UPI)—London bobbies guarded the guards at Buckingham Palace today.

It was the latest move to protect the highest-pitched, red-coated, bearskin-hatted gardeners from an invading army of summer tourists.

British citizens, meanwhile, called for even sterner measures, such as facing the guards in or the tourists out so they can no longer be "pushed, prodded, and humiliated" by crowds that come to see them strut between posts in front of the Queen's National Residence.

THE GUARDIANS always have been plagued with giggling, snickering, camera-clicking tourists. By tradition they, an offer of defense but must stand, sphinxlike and unsmiling, even when someone sticks his tongue out at them or sits up along side of them to peer for a snapshot.

This year, however, has been especially rough on the guards and they have shown the way to prepared reception.

THIRTY policemen, four of them mounted, were dispatched to the palace Thursday to keep the peace. They were told to stick around until the tourist rush is over.

"PUSHED, PRODDED, humiliated" about our soldiers have to put up with this kind of treatment," the Daily Sketch said in an editorial today. "Guards are not there to amuse visitors. They are there to show the people that we are not afraid, but that we want peace."

Rep. Mason Quits 14-Year Boycott Of August Sessions

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Rep. Noah M. Mason (R-Ill.) has given up his 14-year boycott of August sessions of the House in past years. "I quit July 31, no matter what the others do," Mason would say. His contention was that Congress should be able to get its work done by then.

But, after quitting a week ago, he returned Thursday because of the controversy over the labor bill. "I'm back to line up votes for the strongest kind of a labor bill," he explained.

Mrs. Henry Resigns County GOP Office

Mrs. Henry, wife of the county judge of the local political district, announced her resignation as county chairman of the Women's Division of the Kankakee County Republican Committee.

Mrs. Henry said her resignation was submitted to the committee through its chairman, Edward A. McElroy, and will take effect immediately.

Appointed in 1948 to succeed Mrs. Elizabeth Mann, who also was county chairman of the Republican party for many years, Mrs. Henry has been the Republican committeewoman for the 1948 campaign of former Mayor Albert I. Hattenberg.

IMMEDIATELY AFTER her appointment by the late Sen. Victor McElroy, Mrs. Henry found herself in the thick of one of the most interesting of local political campaigns for the same span of years.

During the 1948 campaign in which she served as the 1951 campaign of Dwight D. Eisenhower, and Richard M. Nixon, also the second Eisenhower-Nixon campaign four years later and the 1956 campaign of Mayor Ed P. Healey.

Peiping Glum About Khrushchev's U.S. Visit

GENEVA (UPI)—Red China, which vetoed Nikita Khrushchev's summit plan last year, is reported to be trying once again to tip the hand of the Soviet leader.

Strong indications have reached the West that the Peiping regime is not too happy with Khrushchev's forthcoming visit to the United States and his private meeting with President Eisenhower.

Red China apparently fears she might be left out in the cold in any Russo-American get-together of the future.

PEIPING STOPPED the Soviet leader from going to an agreed summit meeting in New York at the height of the mid-east crisis last year, and virtually forced him to reverse his decision.

The surprise decision this week on exchange visits between Khrushchev and the President have apparently caused considerable apprehension among the Red Chinese hierarchy.

Chinese leaders are scheduled to fly to Moscow shortly for consultations with the Soviet leadership. It is expected that the summit meeting in the United States will be held in the near future.

But, unlike then, the Soviet leader is not likely to be awayed this time to back down again.

Khrushchev has at long last reached the fulfillment of his most ardent desire for a meeting with the President from which he expects a boost to his prestige in addition to his professed hope for a relaxation of the cold war.

The sudden flip-flop in Soviet strategy, kingdom in southeast Asia, is a subtle reminder that Peiping could stir up sufficient trouble in almost no time to virtually torpedo the Khrushchev mission to the United States.

Red China's yearning for big power status may be an important factor in its calculations, which are an improvement in Russia's relations with the "imperialist" West could delay considerably.

KHRUSHCHEV HIMSELF may, according to latest hints, pay a flying trip to Peiping to calm Red Chinese suspicions, as he did last year on the eve of the scheduled summit meeting in the United States.

But, unlike then, the Soviet leader is not likely to be awayed this time to back down again.

Khrushchev has at long last reached the fulfillment of his most ardent desire for a meeting with

A short business session of the Ladies Aid Society followed the missionary lesson. Reports were given by Mrs. Martin Salin and Mrs. Clay Montgomery, secretary and treasurer respectively.

The next meeting Sept. 1, will be in the home of Mrs. Clarence Stuckey, with Mrs. Vernal Clausen as co-hostess.

Plan Worship Service At Fair Sunday

An outdoor, interdenominational worship service will be held at the Kankakee County Fair for the first time this year.

The service will be conducted at 10:30 a.m. Sunday in front of the grandstand. The Rev. Harry S. Crede, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will speak on the topic, "The Art of Living Together."

An electric organ will be installed to accompany congregational singing and Rev. Crede said old, familiar hymns will be used in this initial service of the Kankakee County Fair.

John Kruger, chairman in charge of arrangements for the first worship service, said a platform is being constructed for the speaker. He added that all persons on the fair grounds Sunday morning are invited to attend the service.

Named Winner Of Health Scholarship

Joan McCall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip McCall, 1344 N. E. Lenington Circle, has been named winner of a 1959 health scholarship by the Kankakee County chapter of the National Foundation.

Announcement was made by Clarence Boser, chairman. He said the new health scholarships are awarded annually to outstanding young Americans seeking careers in one of five health fields—medicine, nursing, physical therapy, occupational therapy and medical social work. Each scholarship is for $2,000 for a total of four years of college training.

Miss McCall is to make use of her scholarship at St. Xavier College, Chicago. She will enroll there in the middle of September to take a nursing course that will give her a bachelor's degree.

The scholarship winner is a 1959 graduate of St. Patrick Central High School, maintaining a grade point average of 84.5. She was named salutatorian of the senior class.

MISS McCALL was a member of the Student Council three years, serving as vice president her senior year. She was a member of the National Honor Society at a junior and senior, was a member of the school newspaper staff for three years and served as the St. Patrick Journal student reporter for two years.

Joan was an officer of the Art Club and active in the Shamrock Athletic Association. She was an attendant at the Shamrock Open the past year.

Miss McCall attended the Do-Buho Leadership Camp in St. Louis, Mo., as a junior and the state student council convocation in Chicago as a senior.

The Kankakee senior spent her first six years of schooling in Chicago and the seventh and eighth grades at St. Joseph's Grade School, Bradley.

Boser said that this is the first year the health scholarships have been offered. He said that more than 4,000 students applied for the $15 scholarships available.

Winners are selected in each state by state health scholarship committees composed of health leaders representing the five professions included in the program. He said the goal of the health scholarship program is "to relieve the acute shortages of trained health personnel in the health fields—shortages that are becoming more serious every day. Through the support of the March of Dimes we hope to help ease this situation considerably by stimulating interest in the health professions and making it possible for young Americans to choose careers that count in the nation's welfare."

Bloodmobile In Cissna Park Today

The American Red Cross bloodmobile is in Cissna Park today seeking a quota of 120 pints.

Eighty-two donors had registered at noon from whom the bloodmobile had received 61 pints. Operating from 8 a.m. until 2 p.m., appeared the donations would fall short of the goal as happened at Kankakee Wednesday and Thursday.

While the 272 pints of blood contributed here were the largest two-day contribution in many months, the University of Illinois' first bloodmobile spokesmen pointed out.

One hundred thirty pints were collected Thursday and 142 pints Wednesday, the record shown.

The bloodmobile was stationed at the Kankakee Masonic Temple.

In Cissna Park, the bloodmobile visit is for Pigeon Grove Township, of which Cissna Park is a part, and Fountain Creek Township. Miss LaVerne Kaufmann is blood chairwoman; Mrs. A. C. Eisenmann, area chairman; Mrs. Linda Bauer, co-tenants chairman; Mrs. Sam Yergler, Pigeon Grove chairman; and Anna Moser, Fountain Creek chairman.

McGuire Sisters Mark 25 Successful Years

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—The McGuire sisters started singing in an Ohio church choir just 25 years ago. The beautiful-sounding youngsters of 1914 now are the highest paid girls in show business today and perhaps of all time. The one thing most people want to know about them—particularly people who come from large families—how they settle their quarrels. The answer is simple. They settle their quarrels the same way now as they did then. They sing. They settle their quarrels the same way now as they did then. They sing.

"We generally manage to keep out of each other's hair. But they also just as regularly give us another 10 percent to the church in whose choir they first sang together as children a quarter of a century ago."

Chess Champ's Mother Asks For Funds

NEW YORK (UPI)—The mother of America's chess prodigy, Bobby Fischer, who hopes to wrest the world's chess championship from Soviet Russia, appealed today for financial aid so her son can enter the playoffs in Yugoslavia. Mrs. Regina Fischer of Brooklyn, N.Y., said she and her 16-year-old son, the youngest international grand master in the world, have saved nearly $2,000—half the amount needed to pay the expenses for the nearly two-month tour.

"With another $2,000 Bobby could be sure of being able to take part in this tournament," Mrs. Fischer said. Frank Brady, business manager of the U.S. Chess Federation, said that if the Fischers do not raise the money within a few days Bobby probably will not be able to participate. "Actually," the International Chess Federation has stated that formal notice of availability be forwarded to the federation's headquarters in Sweden by Aug. 5."

District Court charging Local 115 of the Central States Petroleum Union with instigating a strike against the company's Wood River refinery. Louis H. He said the union had refused to cross a picket line representing a striking union at Standard's Whiting, Ind., refinery.

Iowa Town Cleans Up After Flood

FORT MADISON, Iowa (AP)—Southern Iowa farmers counted their crop losses in millions of dollars and the city of Fort Madison struggled to get free of a sea of mud today in the wake of torrential rain. "We were pretty lucky to get by without any loss of life," said Police Sgt. Virgil Hart, who had been on duty for 36 hours with 115. "The water has gone down to the point where people can get back into their homes but I hate to see the mud that must be cleaned up."

15-Nation Council Guides Huge Peace Force

Editor's Note—NATO, the united effort of 15 nations to defend themselves from possible Soviet aggression, is now in its second decade. After 10 years, how smooth are its administrative channels? Here's a report, last in a series of four articles.

BY BILL PRICE

PARIS (AP)—The military command structure of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization consists of nine major commands divided into 44 subcommands.

All are based by a 15-nation Political Council in which each member has an absolute veto.

Tiny Iceland, for example, from where the original decision was made, has an absolute veto.

Implementation of the Council's decisions by SHAPE involves a number of nations, including the United States, the United Kingdom and France.

The only way the NATO nations can get around such a veto is by agreement among the NATO members.

FURTHER, WITHIN the NATO military organization itself a senior officer from one nation cannot give a direct order to a junior officer from another.

If the senior officer complains vigorously enough about lack of cooperation the junior probably will be transferred. It has happened.

NATO exercises no direct command over any troops or any air force in peacetime. While troops and aircraft are assigned to NATO operations, direct control is maintained by the various nations.

The time of war each nation has to decide for itself whether to release forces to NATO operational control.

While NATO is hailed as a great cooperative enterprise, it sometimes falls short of its goal.

For example, NATO is dependent upon the separate intelligence services of the 15 participating nations for information on what the Soviets are doing. NATO has no organic intelligence service of its own.

THE NATO supreme command, U.S. Gen. Lauris Norstad, relies chiefly on U.S. military sources for intelligence information. He is briefed regularly by the U.S. European command intelligence officer who draws on the sources of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Central Intelligence Agency and embassy military attaches.

Norstad wears two hats. He is Allied supreme commander and commander of the U.S. forces. If the supreme commander were a non-American, he would have to rely on his own nation's intelligence services. Why?

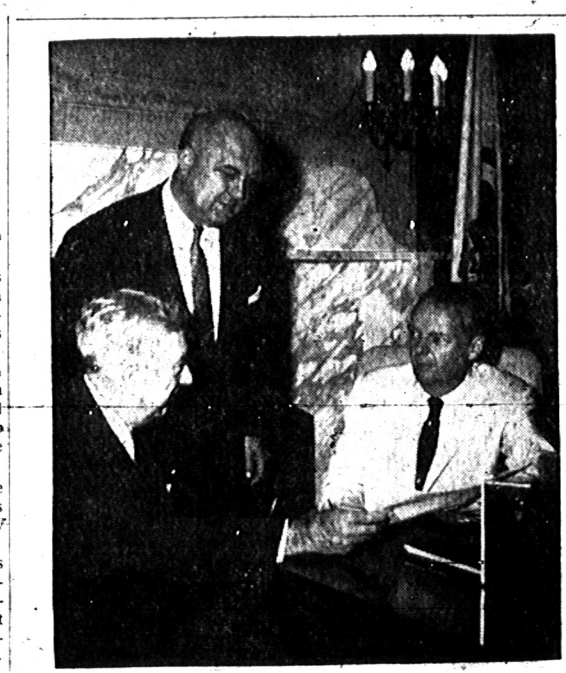

A U.S. intelligence officer explained: "Each nation is pretty jealous of its intelligence service. They give some information to NATO but hold everything back."

Under the NATO command structure, each nation is invested in the 15-nation Political Council which has an elaborate headquarters in Paris.

Decisions by the Council must be unanimous.

Once the Council makes a decision orders are passed through a secretary to the military committee, which has permanent headquarters in Washington, 3,000 miles away.

THIS COMMITTEE has a sort of executive subcommittee which is composed of one representative from each of the 15 nations. Europe, which is located just outside Paris, about 20 miles in the next 15 years. One economic

Presents Proclamation

Gov. William G. Stratton is shown presenting to Director of Labor Roy F. Cummins, seated left, a proclamation designating the month of August for the observance of the 60th anniversary of the Illinois State Employment Service. Looking on is Walter E. Parker, superintendent of the employment service division. The governor discussed arrangements for anniversary observances and plans for the continued growth of service to both employers and workers.

Gov. Stratton said that the state's employment service has grown from three local offices in 1929 to the present network of 53 offices which now serve all Illinois communities.

Lucania Ordered To Repay $26,000 In Rozanski Estate

CHICAGO (AP)—A former public administrator has been ordered to repay $26,000 he allegedly received from the estate of an immigrant Polish tailor who died without leaving a will.

Joseph Lucania, former Republican committee member, was ordered Thursday by Probate Judge Charles G. Seidel to repay the money to the present administrator of the estate of Frank J. Rozanski, who died in 1954.

Lucania's lawyer says the ruling will be appealed.

Lucania was dismissed from his public administrator post — a lucrative fee position — because of his handling of the Rozanski estate.

Lucania was convicted in 1950 of conspiracy to defraud the Rozanski estate and was fined $1,000.

Lucania has barely been tapped. —Direct conversion of light by photocopy from front and back.

Chicago Lawyer Tries To Clear Ethics Charge

CHICAGO (UPI)—A veteran divorce lawyer, who founded a group made up of divorced persons who seek to dissuade others from ending their marriages, went ahead today with plans to clear his name of misconduct charges.

Saul M. Starr, has been embroiled in a dispute with the Chicago Bar Association, ever since he called on his experience as a divorce lawyer to originate Divorces Anonymous in 1949.

THE BAR association had no objection to the organization itself, but it felt Starr had "lent himself to publicity" in connection with the organization, thus violating professional ethics.

The 52-year-old lawyer goes before the Illinois Supreme Court in the fall in an attempt to wipe out the complaint.

A committee ruled on Jan. 28 that Starr had "been guilty of unprofessional conduct." It censured him for his activity but held there was not sufficient proof of motive to warrant a recommendation that the court discipline him.

THE COMMITTEE instructed Starr to stay out of the publicity spotlight and said it would keep its ruling on record to establish motive if the alleged practices continued.

Starr, whose organization has helped save numerous marriages, asserted the committee's ruling, in effect, found him not guilty and that they had no right to keep the complaint on file.

He petitioned the high court to overrule the committee's action.
