Henry Ford Cites The Way Out Of Stagnation

By DAVID J. WILKIE
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
Detroit, May 28.—(AP)—The shortest cut to relief from the present business depression, in the opinion of Henry Ford, is an intensive development of agriculture.

Henry Ford, in an interview with the Associated Press today, said that "the way out of stagnation" is to develop agriculture. "This is not just a fanciful idea," Mr. Ford told the Associated Press today. "It is the way out of stagnation." Coupling with this statement that "it will take just as long to get rid of the depression as it took to accumulate it," Mr. Ford added: "We must keep up the people's spirit. You cannot do that with talk; you must do it by action. One expenditure made in faith in the future is worth all the words any one can say. Issuing optimistic statements on the one hand and lowering wages on the other is a sure way to prevent betterment. This is no time to lower wages. Those who are lowering wages now don't know what they're doing. They are hitting the country when she is down. They will see the time when wages will be higher than they ever have been."

Mr. Ford does not believe the "machine age" threatens the wage earner's future. Asked what will become of the worker if industry continues to develop single machines to do the work of many men, he said: "The machines have to be built and it takes men to build them. Our own experience is a very good example of how that works out. Just before we brought out our new car, we were reported to be 'shut down.' We had 70,000 men at work during that 'shut down.' They were engaged in making and installing the machines needed for quantity production of the new car."

"Another thing in this connection: Last month the Ford Motor company spent for materials and labor more than $40,000,000. That's the result of what people choose to call the 'machine age.' Machines were devised, not to do a man out of a job, but to take the heavy labor from man's back and place it upon the broad shoulders of the machine. In connection with last month's output, Mr. Ford mentioned incidentally that one company producing materials for the Ford Motor company received a check for $100,000. He explained the Ford work is distributed amongst 2,200 manufacturing concerns.

One of the greatest evils that can come before business and industry, Mr. Ford said, was to have its leaders become too contented. "When people become too contented," he added, "they usually trouble themselves about the business executive."

He added, "gets that way by keeping his eyes shut."

The first Turkish branch of the Women's Christian Temperance Union has just been formed at Constantinople.

Quantity Production Essential

Reverting to his belief that quantity production from the soil is essential, Mr. Ford said:

"Of course the steady desertion of the farm cannot continue forever. Too many people have believed that Santa Claus lives in the city. They were raising a million dollars to advertise Detroit and bring more people here. I told them the money would be better spent to educate people how to get away from the city. Had the people out of work in Detroit have farms they could work."

Asked whether quantity production from the soil would mean over-production and waste, Mr. Ford said:

"What we call waste is only surplus and surplus is always the starting point of new uses. We used to think corn was nothing but food until we produced too much of it. Now we use more corn industrially than we ever did for food. Everything that is produced from the soil can be used for some purpose. Christianity alone is crying for it and industry can't find a use for it but has need for everything the soil produces that is not converted into foodstuffs."

There is too much talk, Mr. Ford said, of conditions as they were a year ago, compared with today. "The past is absolutely gone," he said. "The whole world wants to get to work and not just re-establish conditions of a year ago. We don't want the old system back. We want a better one."

Enjoy Trip

One of the most enjoyable as well as a very educational trip to Chicago was afforded the people living between Danville and Momence Saturday by the C. & E. I. railroad company. A special train was run from Danville early in the morning and by the time it reached this city had gathered up three hundred or more people consisting of teachers, school children and others who took advantage of the cheap rates. From start to finish the trip was most efficiently planned an executed the assistant traveling agent had charge of the party. About forty went from this city and arrived at the 47th street station a few minutes past 8 o'clock and were loaded into sight-seeing busses and taken to the Union Stock Yards. Swift's packing houses were first visited through which we were conducted in small groups by guides, who explained everything as we passed along. The hog slaughtering department was the starting point and we followed each step until the finished products and some by-products, were stored. Efficiency in the highest degree is exhibited at all times and immaculate cleanliness and sanitation are required by all the employees. The experimental kitchens and laboratories are models of modern convenience. The beef slaughtering did not appeal to the children quite as much as the killing of the hogs as the method seems a little more cruel. It is a sight long to be remembered to see the tons and tons of delicious meats hanging in those immense storage rooms. Before leaving this plant each visitor was presented with an envelope containing a booklet concerning the business and the financial report for 1929; also a toy balloon and an emblem of the company in the form of a tiny weiner. From Swifts we proceeded to the Libby, McNeil and Libby plant. Here we visited the department of packing meats, etc. The tin cans for these products are made at this plant, and we were allowed to see this process. In this brief account it would be impossible to go into minute details.

At about 10:30 we were again loaded in to busses and driven through the South side along the Chicago University grounds where we saw the beautiful new chapel under construction and which will cost $7500,000. We also saw the old Field Museum which is being restored at a fabulous cost. Following along near the lake shore to the entrance of Field Museum and told that we were to spend two hours here during which time we were to have lunch. To one who has never visited Field Museum two hours might seem a long time stop but after arriving there one wishes to remain for two weeks or even longer to roam among the Indian villages, or trace the evolution of man by means of pictures, skeletons, etc. At the appointed hour we again took the busses and followed the beautiful outer drive to Lincoln Park.

Following an explosion in a store in Ipswich, England, the entire city telephone was cut off from London for an hour.
