Self-Discipline Is Essential In War Time

Attorney H. S. Streeter Addresses Meeting Of Business Women

Self-discipline is an essential [illegible] in the winning of this war,' stated Attorney S. Streeter in an address before members of the Kankakee Business and Professional Women's club Wednesday evening at McBroom's cafe.

Miss Ruby Heller presided and introduced the speaker Mr. Streeter, a member of the Kankakee City Civilian Defense council, who discussed the work that can be done by women in civilian defense.

In citing self-discipline as a factor the speaker said that it is the mental attitude of the individual in approaching a given task which makes success. If the individual has the mental attitude of a shirker, then he is not a good citizen.

It's "All Out" Now

"On Dec. 7", said Mr. Streeter, "when the attack was made on American forces and property, a curtain was pulled down on the discussion of whether the United States should or should not take part in the world conflict. Now we are in it, and the greatest task in the history of the nation faces us.

"Self-recognition, which is a fault of all of us," said the speaker, "must be forgotten. We have a heavy burden as citizens and in doing our duty it will undoubtedly change the whole action of our lives temporarily or perhaps permanently.

"There are two main objectives in civilian defense," cited Mr. Streeter, "to prepare for an attack, and to better the health and economic security and well-being of the people."

Women's Objectives

The speaker stated that a group of women such as the Business and Professional Women's club has a definite place in the community because, as is generally said, a woman or group of women who have an objective and who set their minds on this objective will, as a general rule, win their point.

Mr. Streeter spoke highly of the nurses' training program and urged those present to consider this part of defense work. He told of various classes of training now in progress in Kankakee. He said not many know that a civil air patrol class meets twice each week for training. This class consists of private pilots who are willing to do their share in protecting this community. In the class which met Tuesday evening in the armory there were 20 in attendance.

Continuing along the line of defense, Miss Heller introduced Mrs. Fannie Still who has just returned from Washington, D. C., where she spent the winter. Mrs. Still was in Washington when the attack on Pearl Harbor came followed by the declaration of war.

Issue Permits For 3 New Dwellings

Permits for erection of three more new dwellings in Kankakee have been issued by Building Inspector Allen J. Cooper.

Clifford Mann will build a six room frame residence in the 900 block on South Elm avenue at an estimated cost of $5,800.

Isadore Sprimont is breaking ground for a four room frame dwelling in the 900 block on South Dearborn avenue at a cost of $3,000, while Clarence Bever is starting a five room home on West Williams street in Brookmont, valued at $4,500.

Red Artillery Blasts Nazis From All Sides

Moscow Advises Claim Soviets Have Cleared Enemy In Large Areas

By WILLIAM R. DOWNS
United Press Staff Correspondent

London, April 2—(UP)—The Russians steadily battered the Germans on the Leningrad front today, having killed 3,000 of them, demolished 22 blockhouses and captured or destroyed huge quantities of supplies in 48 hours of fighting.

Dispatches from the front said the trapped German 16th army in the Staraya Russa region, below Leningrad, had lost 1,800 in a new attempt to break out, and that Russian artillery was blasting them from all sides, and in one sector, at point-blank range.

The Russians, according to advices from Moscow, had cleared the enemy from large areas in the Vyazma district on the central front, though reinforcements had arrived to relieve the weary Germans who had been resisting continuous attacks.

"Who Can Cut Off Other?"

A British military commentator said the Russians had driven "deep salients" into German positions, but the Germans had created "similar deep salients" in certain Soviet positions.

"The question is now who can cut off the other," he said.

Regarding the situation in the Staraya Russa region where the Russians have trapped the 16th German army, the commentator said the Soviets were operating over a large area, and "everything will depend on whether the Russians can reduce the Germans before the Nazis can bring up reinforcements."

Heavy German reinforcements also were moving into the Crimea and Donets basin in preparation for a supreme drive the Germans were expected to begin hsoon with 1,250,000 men.

A dispatch from Moscow said many German soldiers and tanks had been withdrawn from France and dispatched to the Crimea in an attempt to seize Sevastopol, now in its 151st day of siege.

Old Co. L Boys Getting Ahead Fast In Army

3 Captains, Lieutenants, 16 Sergeants, Several Corporals In Camp

Take it from Capt. Roger W. Hovland—the guardsmen from Kankakee are getting ahead in the army.

Capt. Hovland, who is studying at Fort Benning, Ga., before going to a new division at Camp Shelby, Miss., writes that Lieut. Leroy Frazier is now a first lieutenant and is at Fort Benning.

At present there are three captains from Kankakee at the Georgia post. Besides Hovland, they are: Capt. Frank Morgan, 545 South Small avenue, and Capt. Murray Frazier, 1218 South Fifth avenue. Two sergeants are in the parachute troops—Gerald Hasbargen of Manteno and Boris Ruel, route 2, Bourbonnais.

14 Are Sergeants

At Camp Forrest, Tenn., 14 Kankakeeans hold th rank of sergeant and many of these are applying for training at the officer candidate school. The sergeants include Victor Witt, Vivian Lock, James Ruder, Fred Cachilli, Aaron LaReau, Anthony Stephanich, Merle Cote, James Greenwood, Jack Passentino, Floyd Snyder, Richard Shelly, Bruno Steinke, Lionel Legris and Eugene Masaignant. Two of the men who were with headquarters detachment, 3rd battalion, and Co. L, Corporals Ralph Nielsen and Lyle Wehling, together with William Snell and Joseph O'Brien are among the others who are reported making application for officer training.

Co. L has the reputation of putting on the best of all tours of guard in the 129th Infantry at Camp Forrest.

The demands on these boys are strenuous but some are expected to get short leaves for Easter, it was said.

At Fort Benning, Capt. Hovland says "We have a most interesting chance to learn of the army during our intensive course down here six days a week and hope to pass on and make use of the instruction we receive."

Price Ceilings On Scrap Metal Not Increased

Washington, April 2—(AP)—The office of price administration declared formally today that price ceilings on scrap metal would not be increased and that "there will be no profit in hoarding."

The agency made public a letter from Price Administrator Leon Henderson to Lessing J. Rosenwald, chief of the WPB industrial observation bureau, outlining OPA's position with regard to campaigns to salvage scrap and adding:

"I can not envision any American withholding this vital war material for the selfish purpose of speculating on the possibility of higher prices in the future."

3 Kankakeeans Join Army Today

Three Kankakeeans were enlisted in the army by Corp. Donald Minner, recruiter here, and went to Chicago this morning for induction.

They are—Clarence A. Moe, Kankakee rural route 2; Ralph B. Windmiller, 562 West Court street, and Archie D. Floyd, 607 Lincoln avenue.

Selective service board No. 2 here also received official notice of the enlistment of Thomas E. DeVore, 195 South Dearborn avenue, Bradley, in the air corps, and Leonard J. Fortin, Manteno, in the navy.

Corp. Minner said the army needs navigator-bombardiers and has relaxed scholastic standards for notpilot air corps officers.

High school graduates who have not passed their 27th birthday and who pass the physical examination will be accepted, he said, as navigator-bombardiers. Those who complete the course are commissioned as second lieutenants in the army air corps reserve.

Any young man who is able to pass the air corps intelligence test can apply, the recruiter said.

3 Local Men Watch Japs' Evacuation

How the people of southern California are reacting to threats of enemy invasion or fifth column activities was related by B. F. Hertz at the Exchange club meeting Wednesday noon in McBroom's cafe.

Mr. Hertz, who just returned this week from the coast with A. E. Anderson and W. C. Babst, indicated that the biggest problem of all is the evacuation of Japanese from California. More than 60,000 of them have been moved from Los Angeles alone. A concentration camp is being made of Santa Anita race track temporarily and the Japs are arriving there by the hundreds each day.

This movement is just as necessary for their own safety as it is to prevent fifth column operatives. Feeling is so high against them since war was declared that they might become victims of riots, it was pointed out.

Home sites on the Pacific ocean are not so desirable just now, especially since a Jap submarine shelled the coast several weeks ago. There is a clamor for more defensive measures and the people are far more alert and willing to cooperate with the military.

Mr. Hertz spoke of their trip through the Imperial valley and of visiting Death Valley Scotty's $12,000,000 desert castle. Enroute home they ruined a tire but were able to obtain a second-hand one. They met a number of former Kankakeeans on the trip. Mr. Hertz was introduced by Garvice Shook.

President Victor Lauridsen announced that next week's meeting would be a night one at 7 o'clock Thursday in the Central Christian church with R. J. Bender of Chicago, native of France who has traveled in Europe and Africa, as speaker.

Jap Sea-Bourne Troops Land At Akyab, Burma

British, Chinese Defenders Fall Back To New Strongholds

BULLETIN

Sydney, Australia, April 2—(AP)—The Sydney Sun's correspondent at united nations headquarters reported today that eight fully equipped Japanese divisions, between 120,000 and 150,000 men, now are believed massed in Java and at Singapore awaiting the starting signal of Japan's next major offensive.

These forces are said to include large numbers of parachute troops.

The Sun correspondent said the growing flow of United States aid to Australia was considered likely to speed Japan's next move, implying it would be against Australia.

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

Japanese sea-borne troops thrusting closer to India were reported today to have landed at the chief west Burma port of Akyab, only 100 miles from the Burma-India frontier, as prospects for mobilizing India's 390,000,000 on the side of the United Nations took a sudden brightening turn.

A Chinese spokesman in Chungking said the Japanese landed at Akyab under the protective covering of a force of cruisers and destroyers.

Akyab is only 350 miles across the upper bay of Bengal from Calcutta.

Besides heightening the threat of a Japanese invasion of India, the landing directly imperilled the rear of British imperial lines now guarding the rich central Burma oil fields.

May Attack Port Moresby

Meanwhile, dispatches from Australia indicated that Japan's invasion forces in the southwest Pacific, halted in their attempted overland drive in New Guinea, were preparing to launch a sea-borne attack on the key allied base at Port Moresby, only 300 miles across the Torres strait from Australia itself.

Lae and Salamaua lie on the northeast coast of New Guinea, less than 200 miles above Port Moresby.

Wary of the stiff allied fighter defenses, Japanese planes made their

Light Bulb Bursts, Sets Fire To Gas In Bus Garage

Firemen were called to the Kankakee Motor Coach company garage, 253 North Schuyler avenue, at 5:17 o'clock last evening to extinguish a fire underneath a bus which was being repaired.

Gas dripping from a fuel pump splashed onto a drop cord, the light bulb brust and ignited the fuel which quickly flamed up. Employes attempted to put out the fire with extinguishers but were unable to and called firemen. The damage included a small scorched spot on one door and smoke in the tonneau.

Judge Refuses To Dismiss $25,000 Suit

Circuit Judge Roscoe C. South of Watseka today overruled a motion to dismiss a pending $25,000 suit against Arthur N. Powers, 895 Cobb Boulevard, former president of the Illinois Light & Power company.

J. South heard arguments for and against the motion in the local court several weeks ago and took the motion under advisement.

Filed last Oct. 30, the suit asks from Powers $25,000, interest at 6 per cent and half of the profits, if any, from a purported agreement on July 1, 1929 between Powers and the late Frank Belleau, Bradley, formerly associated with Powers in business.

The suit is by the First Trust & Savings bank as administrator de bonis non with the will annexed of Frank Belleau, and Claude M. Granger, administrator to collect the estate of Mary Belleau.

The motion to dismiss was based on the contention that the case already is pending in the county court.

Baby Born In Lifeboat After Ship Is Sunk

Infant Showed Little Evidence Of Ordeal On Reaching Shore

By ALTON B. PARKER
United Press Staff Correspondent

Norfolk, Va., April 2—(UP)—The four-day-old son of a Jugoslavian consular official cried lustily today and showed little evidence of the fact that he was born "somewhere in the Atlantic" in a crowded lifeboat nearly filled with water.

"It wasn't so bad," said the mother, Mrs. Desanka Mohorovicic, in the few words of English at her command.

The mother, a sturdily built woman of 28 with blond hair arid bright blue eyes, showed how little effect the ordeal had upon her when she climbed up the side of a rescue vessel on a cargo net. The naked new-born babe had been handed up to a seaman.

Mrs. Mohorovicic was en route to this country to join her husband who is attached to the Jugoslavian consulate in New York when the medium size vessel aboard which she was traveling with her two-year-old daughter Visna was torpedoed by a German submarine.

Rescued After 40 Hours

She, Visna, the baby and 86 other survivors were rescued after 40 hours in lifeboats by units of the U. S. navy. Of the 122 seamen and passengers aboard when two torpedoes crashed into the side of the ship, 30 were reported missing, including Gen. M. Djoukanovitch of the Jugoslavian legation in Washington. Three members of the gun crew, which stayed aboard the vessel until the last minute to fire at the submarine, were known to be dead. One survivor said he thought the crew had hit its mark with one of the shells.

There was a possibility that some of the missing may be aboard other rescue vessels that have not arrived in port yet.

The story of Mrs. Mohorovicic's experience is certain to become an epic of the battle of the Atlantic—a battle which already has resulted in almost unbelievable tales of human courage, forbearance and endurance.

Story of Birth

Here is the story of the birth in the lifeboat as pieced together from the survivors:

The skipper of the vessel had prepared for such an eventuality and arranged that the ship's doctor would go in the same lifeboat with the woman in event the vessel was attacked.

Thus, when two torpedoes struck the vessel Sunday shortly after noon, Mrs. Mohorovicic, her two-year-old daughter, Dr. L. H. Conley of Brooklyn, and two other women climbed into No. 4 lifeboat with 17 other passengers and seamen. Dr. Conley fell into the lifeboat after it had been lowered about eight feet and fractured two ribs.

The doctor took with him the simple instruments provided in an

Triple Slayer Captured By Michigan Police

20-Year-Old Ex-Convict Confesses After His Arrest Early Today

Pontiac, Mich., April 2—(AP)—Dominick Piccone, 20 year old ex-convict who killed three Michigan farmers in a wild 24 hour murderous rampage, was sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor and solitary confinement in circuit court today.

Michigan law provides no more severe punishment.

Piccone, who was captured by state police on a country road near Otisville, Mich., early today, was brought before Circuit Judge H. Russell Holland shortly before noon.

Pleads Guilty

He pleaded guilty to first degree murder in the shooting of Cassius E. Barber, 71, in Barber's farm home two miles east of Oxford, Mich., Tuesday night.

Piccone had threatened to kill Barber, after the two engaged in an argument over spending money while the youth was employed on the farm as a paroled juvenile delinquent several years ago.

Trooper Roy Perkins, one of the arresting officers, said that 20-year-old Dominick Piccone, ex-convict two weeks out of prison, had admitted shooting one farmer to death in vengeance and killing the two others to protect his flight, meanwhile seizing a fourth man to help him flee.

Within a space of 24 hours two Oxford, Mich., farmers, Cassius E. Barber, 71, and Romaine C. Potter, 75, had been slain with rifle fire in their neighboring homes and Carl McKenzie, 43, was killed on his farm at Concord, 90 miles distant.

Sought Since Tuesday

Formally charged with murdering Barber, his former employer, and wanted as suspect in the other two shootings, Piccone had been sought since Tuesday night. It was then that Barber and Potter had been killed.

Early today a state police car containing Trooper Perkins and companion officers was cruising in the vicinity of Otisville, a Genesee county town some 45 miles from here. A car drove by with its tail light out.

A few minutes later, Perkins said, the short wave radio from head-

Western Europe Supply Centers Severely Bombed

Hundreds Of Planes Engaged In Attacks; 15 Fail To Return

BULLETIN

London, April 2—(AP)—Germany lost 159 planes during March over the British Isles, the Mediterranean and the European continent exclusive of the Russian front, according to figures released today by British officials. Britain's losses came to 144.

By JOE ALEX MORRIS
United Press Foreign Editor

An armada of British bombers—probably several hundred—struck across Nazi-held western Europe during the night.

The heavy attack extended from the suburbs of Paris across Belgium and Holland and deep into western Germany.

The assault evidently was aimed at crippling and disrupting the supply centers of Germany's anticipated spring drive on the Russian front and at preventing German naval forces from interfering with the flow of British-American aid to Russia's Arctic ports.

The aerial attack, which appears to have been one of the biggest yet undertaken by the RAF, coincided with a continuation of the naval-air struggle for control of the Arctic route of supply to Russia and mounting signs that Adolf Hitler may be ready to start his spring offensive on the southern Russia front.

Attacked by the British Armada which included long-range bombers of the latest type—some of them undoubtedly from the United States—were Nazi-operated war factories in the Paris suburbs, targets in Belgium and Holland, ports, airdromes, railroad centers and docks and shipping at Le Havre, big French port.

Drop Mines

Some of the planes dropped mines in waters to bottle up German U-boats and naval units from attacks on allied convoys along the northern supply route, similar to one last week-end in which five Nazi warships and submarines were either sunk or damaged along the route to Murmansk by British warships guarding a large convoy.

Indicating the size of the attacking British aerial force, the British air ministry admitted that 15 of its planes had failed to return. The Germans claimed to have brought down only 10 of the planes participating in what they called a "nuisance" attack.

One of the chief targets was the big Matford factory, 10 miles northeast of Paris, which makes motor trucks needed by the Germans for their armies on the Russian fronts.

Under the light of a full moon, the raiders were said to have dropped large demolition bombs "of new type" on the Matford plants, pre-

New Destroyer Is Commissioned Today

New York, April 2—(AP)—Amid the din of workmen's hammers on two new battleships, the navy today commissioned the 1,650 ton destroyer Farenholt at the navy yard, Brooklyn.

Rear Admiral Edward J. Marquart, commandant of the third naval district, told the 200 officers and men and 150 guests that "this ship is being commissioned in the presence of the construction of two of the most modern battleships in the world."

Trained Aircraft Executive Is Recommended By Committee

Washington, April 2—(AP)—Criticizing the nation's armed forces for a "poor job of overall planning," the senate defense investigating committee recommended today that the war production board draft a trained aircraft executive to direct a drive to break the bottlenecks which are "holding up peak production" in the war plane program.

Summarizing a subcommittee's visit to the west coast, the committee reported that plane assembly of recurring shortages of some vital parts being produced by subcontractors.

The committee said in its report, "the usual red tape and delays in making contracts also were partly responsible."

The committee recommended that the WPB set up a section charged with over all planning for aircraft production, headed by a trained production executive drafted from the industry.

"The subcommittee had been told," the report commented, "that WPB still does not have a single top notch aircraft production man in its organization."

The committee said that its investigation of ship building work had disclosed "truly amazing" progress in erecting yards. It commented also that labor relations in the plants it visited were "excellent."

The committee found that employes in most west coast plants were working 48 hours a week, adding that "comments of several executives indicated that the overtime pay for the 8 hours over 40 was figured as part of weekly earnings and that if it were eliminated, it might be necessary to increase hourly rate to provide approximately the same weekly earnings."

Visiting Guayule rubber plantings at Salinas, Calif., the committee said it found that there was not now sufficient seed to make possible production in quantities sufficient to alleviate the rubber shortage within three or four years.

Induct 4-H Boys And Girls Into Service For Country

Kankakee county farm boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 20 are within the next age group to be inducted into service for their country, but they'll remain right on the farm and in the home.

Miss Ruth Gustafson, advisor of the county Home bureau, said today they will be "mobilized" April 5 to 11, designated as "National 4-H Club Mobilization week".

Already 1,500,000 are enrolled for regular club project work throughout the country and there are 36,000 in Illinois alone.

"Four-H boys and girls are mobilizing themselves and their friends to take part in the most important thing that ever happened to these United States — the contribution of every man, woman and child to preserve our way of life", said Miss Gustafson.

Contact Each One

Every Illinois county is being organized in order that each farm boy and girl within the 4-H club limits will be contacted during the week and given an opportunity to enroll.

It was explained by Miss Gustafson that every 4-H club member belongs to a local club and carries on a project at home under the supervision of an adult known as a local leader.

Girls are encouraged to join home economics clubs, which in 1942 are stressing home-grown health, dairy foods, salads for health and meal planning.

Boys join agricultural clubs, which this year are emphasizing victory gardens, ton-litter hog projects, poultry and dairy projects.

5 Can Form Club

According to Miss Gustafson, there must be at least five young people in a community willing to form a club. They meet at regular intervals to transact business and discuss project work. Social and recreational activities have a part, too.

Opening the mobilization campaign will be special broadcasts from station WILL of the University of Illinois during the Illinois Farm hour, 12:30 to 1 p. m. throughout the mobilization period.

The National Farm and Home hour will have a special 4-H mobilization broadcast Saturday, April 4 from 11:30 to 12.

America Steps Up Anti-U-Boat Campaign

To Meet Expected All Out Drive By Hundreds Of Submarines

By ROY G. BLANCK

Washington, April 2—(9—America's anti-submarine campaign was being stepped up rapidly to meet an expected all out summer drive by 200 to 400 U-boats, reliable sources said today.

The navy announced yesterday that 28 Axis submarines had been sunk or presumed sunk by U. S. forces thus far. Naval observers said, however, that the rate of destruction was still too low to check the Germaft drive. They gave this picture of the situation:

Nazis Rapid Builders

Germany had at the least 120 ocean going submarines before Dec. 7 and 160 more building for service by mid summer. New evidence indicated this figure was ultra-conservative, and salvaged parts of destroyed submarines the Germans have developed rapid methods of construction.

Although Germany has suffered heavy U-boat casualties thus far, the rate of sinking has not slowed the present U-boat campaign and would be of dubious effectiveness against a more intensive drive.

Speed, so the Germans have failed to divert U. S. naval strength from more vital war fronts to form convoys in American waters—the second line in the ocean battle. Nearly 80 merchant craft have been sunk off the Atlantic and Caribbean coasts, but this rate might prove far from crippling in view of the tremendous ship building program and development of land transportation facilities to bear some of the load.

Patrol Forces Increased

The United States is making large increases in patrol forces, particularly in the air, and is developing new methods of locating and destroying U-boats. Placing army planes on the patrol under direct command of the navy has stimulated the submarine hunt. Further large increases in the patrol await only the delivery of anti-submarine craft and the training of crews.

Of the total of 28 Axis submarines announced sunk or presumed sunk, seven were in the Pacific. Donald Francis Mason, a 28-year-old Rochester, Minn., naval flier emerged as one of the heroes of the preliminary campaign.

Australian Unification Completed

MacArthur To Announce Soon His Supreme Staff Organization

By BRYDON C. TAVES
United Press Staff Correspondent

Gen. MacArthur's Headquarters, Australia, April 2 — (UP) — United States and Australian air forces, first line of offense and defense of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's southwest Pacific command, have completed their unification and are now fighting together in complete harmony, Air Minister Arthur S. Drakeford announced today.

"The temporary halt to which the Japanese advance has been brought is proof that Australian-American cooperation truly has an iron ring about it," Drakeford said.

"The all-India radio today said that the Japanese had might made their first night raid on Port Darwin, but that details are not yet available" according to Columbia Broadcasting System.)

Staff Announcement Soon

A headquarters spokesman said MacArthur expected to announce soon the completion of his supreme command staff organization for the defense of Australia and an offensive against Japan.

MacArthur still is conferring with Australian army and air force leaders and the cabinet defense ministers on organizational problems, involving a shake-up from top to bottom in the Australian army and air force so they can be worked into MacArthur's united nations forces.

"Australian-American air force cooperation is no longer a high-sounding aspiration but a solid hard fact," Drakeford said.

He said facts had disproved the validity of skepticism that effective cooperation could be effected, partly because the American air corps is part of the army and the Royal Australian air force enjoys separate status like the British air force.

As Drakeford made his statement it was reported that allied airplanes including flying fortresses continued their tireless and powerful offensive against Japanese invasion bases.

Reconnaissance Planes Active

Reconnaissance planes on ever growing numbers were ranging over the continental seas and enemy-held territory spotting Japanese activities and watching for signs of an enemy attempt to attack Australia in force by air or sea.

MacArthur's headquarters announced that Brig. Gen. Patrick Hurley had now assumed his post as first United States minister to New Zealand after a visit here during which he welcomed MacArthur to Australian soil and conferred with him on all aspects of the defense problem.

Hurley's status was that of a reserve brigadier general during his stay in Australia. Now he reverts to inactive status in order to take his ministerial post, officials said at Auckland, N.Z.

A PATRIOTIC SONG IS BORN

Pasadena, Cal., April 2—(UP)—Ernest Simms, at a local sanitarium, wrote a poem entitled "My Fair America" and sent it to a local paper. Mrs. Pearl E. Estes liked it and set it to music. The Cine-Mart Music Publishing company heard it sung and published it. And thus a new patriotic number came into being.

Labor Shortage In The Cotton Areas

By HUGH WILLIAMSON

Dallas, Tex., April 2—(AP)—Cotton is just beginning to come up in the lush Rio Grande valley and with it arises a farm labor shortage that will spread over the nation, say government and private observers.

Victor H. Schoffelmayer, agricultural editor of the Dallas Morning News, points out that a triple squeeze will be applied: Not only has the reservoir of labor been lowered by the draft and wartime industry, but the demand has grown because of increased plantings in the food for war program, and machinery is inadequate to make up for lost manpower.

The pinch will be felt when cotton chopping time arrives. For most of Texas, that means the month of May. Another call will go out—for pickers—in the autumn. Cotton growing states have always scrambled for workers during these two critical periods.

But this year there will be even keener competition for farm laborers; other sections of the nation are having their troubles, too.

R. J. Walker of the Farm Security Administration's regional office cites labor shortage. Some hands have left the farms to work in defense plants. A survey which shows that around persons will be taken out of this state, also to the sugar beet fields for the six months' growing and harvesting season.

Increased livestock creates another problem, that of raising feed as well as cotton. Walker points out that prevailing wages are as caring for the animals and as much as matter how low the prices. Herein have already experienced a vailing wages may be.

To it McGinnis of the Works Progress Administration, says WPA workers will be required to accept farm jobs at prevailing wages are in accordance with the law.

CLAIMS INDIAN LIVED TO BE 136

Temple City, Cal., April 2—(UP)—Santiago Bulvate, Arizona Indian, died here recently at the age of 134 years. Records in the family of Mexican Guadalupe Luiz showed that Bulvate was born in Arizona in 1808 while Apaches at the age of 8 was captured as a slave to Gen. Luiz [illegible]

Norwegian Motor Tanker Sent Down With Heavy Losses

Gibraltar, April 2 — (U.P.) — Battered and torpedoed by torpedoes from an enemy submarine, a motor tanker of Norwegian registry was sunk in the Atlantic ocean 1,000 miles west of Gibraltar, the admiralty announced today.

Each of the 37 members of the crew and the ship's officers were rescued and brought safely to Gibraltar. The 29 survivors included two Britishers, the engineer officer and a gunner. The two were in charge of the ship's guns.

The submarine was shelled by the survivors about two hours after the tanker was torpedoed. The submarine fired until almost a dozen shells had been plumped in the tanker's hull until it was "completely riddled and pickled up by the freighter."

Pillsbury's Vegetable Chowder Au Gratin

Pillsbury's Best Enriched Flour in saucepan over direct heat. (That creamy, appetizing appearance of Pillsbury's Best is one result of the care with which this flour is milled. Cripps Hopes To Solve Indian Difficulties

British Statesman Will Remain At New Delhi Until Next Week

By JOHN R. MORRIS
United Press Far Eastern Manager

(U.P.) — Sir Stafford Cripps, British statesman, has agreed to create an Indian defense co-ordination board in an attempt to win full and all-India congress over offer of dominion status, it was well informed quarters reported today.

In nationalist sources said at however, that they were not optimistic that Mahatma Gandhi, nation pacifists but would indirectly oppose any real voice in defense matters.

Lloyd Cripps, British lord privy seal, is understood to have submit the new offer to Indian leaders after a series of the all-India congress this week.

responsibility of the Indian the portfolios would extend, ing defense policy, labor, recruitment, training and ment, industrial mobilization, tool of it replied at once ence would be called upon over mobilization and simultaneously disposal of appropriations for civil and military needs. Cripps' proposals were not disclosed.

Work On Defense Formula

Indian moderate leaders were working in an attempt to find satisfactory defense formula.

Cripps postponed his departure for the arrival of Mohandas K. Gandhi, leader of the nationalist congress party, from his retreat at Wardha as negotiations neared the crisis point. Indian congress leaders working committee prolonged its meeting for a fourth hopes this afternoon that would be effected. Its resolutions, if any, would be issued at the final session of the all-India congress.

It was learned that he was in communication with the authorities in London in an attempt to find a formula by which Indian forces would be controlled and Indians share in directing defense policies.

It estimated that these conversations had been most helpful and constructive.

I made on something useful next week to the defense difficulty.

Hopes to Succeed

Cripps had intended to leave Monday. He said he had decided to remain because he hoped negotiations would succeed.

Hopeful suggestions have been revised and obviously I am consulting [illegible] speaking street Prime Minister Winston Churchill's office and [illegible] president constantly," he said.

Cripps took occasion to deny charges in Indian nationalist newspaper that the viceroy of India, Lord Linlithgow, had not been helpful.

"There was dim hope now of a solution, Indian nationalists said, if Britain actually were prepared to surrender basic parts of its offer. But they said there was little chance of agreement unless Britain agreed to make concessions extend-

Air Attacks On Bataan Defenses Intermittent

Sharp Skirmishes But No General Action Reported

Washington, April 2 —(AP)—The war department reported sharp skirmishes on the Bataan peninsula in the Philippines today in the wake of the latest large scale Japanese attack on the American-Filipino defenders there.

Enemy artillery and dive bombers shelled and bombed the defenders' positions but no general action between yesterday's battle, a communique said.

The text of the communique, number 122, based on reports received here up to 8:30 a. m., central war time, follows:

Philippine theater:

"Aerial and artillery activity on both sides characterizes the fighting in Bataan. There were a number of sharp skirmishes but no general action. Enemy artillery and dive bombers shelled and bombed our positions without effect. Our enemy air raids on our rear installations, beach defense and troops in forward areas.

"Intermittent air attacks on our harbor defenses continued throughout the day and night. Enemy bombers were forced by our anti-aircraft fire to fly at extreme altitudes and consequently the bombing was inaccurate and ineffective. Hostile batteries on the south shore of Manila Bay and on Corregidor. No damage was inflicted by either the bombing or the shelling. Our forts returned the fire of the enemy batteries.

"2. There is nothing to report from other areas."

Raid Two Jap Bases

American-Filipino commando troops have raided two Japanese bases on the southern Philippine island of Mindanao, and military observers predicted today that the invaders would be attacked frequently by the thousands of native fighters hidden in Teak and Ebony forests of the island.

One raid was on the hamlet of Digos, 23 miles south of the main Japanese base at Davao. A small force of U. S. troops burned 22 warehouses of food, gasoline and ammunition, destroyed military equipment, and escaped to the forest of Cotobato, some 10 miles to the west, without losing a man.

The supplies were believed to be part of the stores the Japanese are accumulating for the drive against New Guinea and Australia, and such raids may upset the enemy's timetable.

Some 250 miles west of Digos, across the Moro gulf, a native Sulu unit fought to the heart of the important Japanese-occupied city of Zamboanga in a surprise raid. The guilat destroyed several machine gun nests, inflicted heavy casualties, and withdrew unscathed, apparently to the forests just north of Zamboanga.

Mindanao has thousands of miles of rough country where native fighters can mass for sudden attacks—mountainous, swamp, and forests of Ironwood, Rattan, Teak, Ebony and Juniper. The Lanao Moros of the island already have 10,000 Bolomen sworn on the Koran, to drive out the Japanese or die.

Military men pointed out that pressure by both fighters may immobilize large Japanese units for garrison duties.

Heavy fighting on the peninsula ended early yesterday. Although superior numbers of Japanese forced some U. S. outposts to withdraw a short distance, there was no material change in the situation.

Japanese Idea

Tokyo (From Japanese Broadcasts) April 2—(AP)—Imperial headquarters declared today that anti-aircraft batteries, an airfield, barracks and other military establishments on Corregidor, the United States' fortress isle in Manila Bay, had been damaged beyond repair by repeated Japanese naval air attacks between March 24 and 31.

Causes Of Painful Feet And How To Treat Them

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

People who have bad feet usually get a sound view of the world only if they can't say I much blame them. When your feet hurt, they hurt so much of the time that you can't even walk around to relieve them.

At any rate, when the patients arrive at the doctor's office, they are usually ready to believe that there is A-1 grouch. They have been ied along various paths of dubious treatments with all sorts of hopes held out for them and no relief in the end.

They have been misled by all sorts of advertising aids and semi-special-ists, particularly by a flag of various kinds of arch supports and devices accumulated, over the passing years.

This eloquent reminder of past failures is put on the foot specialist's desk with a sort of attitude which says: "I dare you to try to give me some relief."

Has Many Complaints

The fellow with bad feet has both general and local complaints. He is fatigued, irritable and unhappy. His heels ache, pains shoot up from his ankles, or the discomfort may center entirely about the arch.

Obviously in handling these patients the specialist will take into account the general as well as the local conditions. The patient doesn't always necessarily and inevitably need arches. Perhaps his condition is due to a life-long habit of walking badly. So the first step in the examination of such a patient is to get him to walk around and see how he does it.

Badly Distributed Weight

His foot may be strained because something is the matter with his lower back, hip, knee or ankle joint, or because he has continued over a period of years to distribute his weight badly. Perhaps there is a history of strain on some part of his foot that makes him unable to put his weight on it. The color of his skin is important, as well as signs of inflammation such as bursitis, planter warts, callosities or bunions.

After this the feet are studied in relation to the weight-bearing function and an X-ray is indispensable in disclosing painful bone conditions that are otherwise not clearly evident on physical examination. Not only shoes, but socks are checked for adequate size.

At the long last, however, essential thing about most foot conditions is the use of proper shoes. Again this means an individual adjustment of the shoe to the requirements of the patient. A shoe that may be all right for one person is by no means necessarily all right for 20 other people.

The shoe must be adapted to function and to the anatomy of the foot. For the normal child, the shoes should be a well-rounded toe, the leather sole should be of adequate thickness and the shank sturdy but flexible. In children who are overweight, with weak or pronated ankles, the shank should be stiff and necessary corrections made. For men with no special foot trouble the best shoe has a rounded toe, is of soft leather, with a thick leather sole of adequate length and width.

E. K. R.—Can there be some substitution in the diet of a pregnant woman to supply calcium if the consumption of milk causes an irritated condition of the gall bladder and the stomach resulting in a hacking cough and bad sweating on the chest during the night? If this condition seems apparent before pregnancy, could adjustment be made during the period, thus supplying the prospective mother with enough calcium?

Answer: Vegetables, eggs, fruits and meat all contain calcium and it is possible to take calcium in pure form, such as calcium carbonate. In my experience however, inability to drink milk is more imaginary than real and can be overcome by persuasion.

viously bombed by the RAF on March 8.

A Vichy report said the British planes also attacked factories in the western Paris suburb of Renault.

By SIDNEY J. WILLIAMS

London, April 2 (UP)—British planes in one of their greatest raids attacked objectives over western and northwestern Germany, Belgium and northern France, including the Paris suburbs, and laid mines in enemy waters during the night, the air ministry said today.

It was admitted that 15 bombing planes were missing and reports indicated that hundreds of planes including the newest, biggest four-engine bombers, had taken part dropping explosive and incendiary bombs of every type.

The British planes were aided by the light of the full moon in resuming ferociously over thousands of square miles their spring offensive.

The Matford factory outside Paris was bombed.

British Objectives

"Industrial objectives and communications were attacked in western and northwest Germany in an excellent attempt to cripple factories and railroads needed for material for the German spring offensive.

Docks and shipping were attacked at Le Havre on the French invasion coast.

Mines were sown thick in enemy waters through which German heavy fleet units might seek to go to attack the British-American Arctic supply line to Russia's ports of Murmansk and Archangel.

While the long range bombers were making their attacks, planes of the fighter command attacked objectives in Belgium and occupied northern France and destroyed one enemy bombing plane.

It was announced that key airdromes and railroad centers were attacked in Belgium and occupied France.

Restful Sleep A Beauty Need

By HELEN FOLLETT

Health and good appearance are dependent upon good sleep. A woman who has trained her mind to be tranquil will fall asleep five minutes after her head has touched the pillow. She can do a flop after "flopping" only forty winks, awaken refreshed. It's an art.

In the morning she's up and at 'em, cheeks faintly flushed, nervous system recharged. Compare her to the poor dear who, as soon as she tucks herself between the sheets, reviews all the annoyances of the day, shakes out her old troubles, makes a business of worrying. Worrying is a habit. If the longer you keep at it the better job you will make of it. And the faster the wrinkles will appear.

Worry Produces Insomnia

If there is sound sleep for a few hours then hours of wakefulness, beat it. If you are physically and mentally, body repairs will go on. Don't fumble and toss or get mad. That practice keeps the sandman away, he won't come near you. Be quiet, relax your body, let your thoughts dwell upon pleasant matters—pleasure trips you have taken, amusing plays you have seen, jolly books you have read.

Lie on your back, take deep breaths, imagine yourself into a state of tranquillity. Many an individual who has suffered from insomnia has found relief by just these means. Don't think of work you have to do, thinking about it is pretty much the same as doing it. Don't have fears for the future or regrets for the past, just rest.

As sleeplessness may be caused by digestive disturbances have the big meal in the middle of the day, take a light supper at night. Just before going to bed have a bowl of crackers and milk. Sometimes a warm bath helps, sometimes it increases sleeplessness; one must experiment and find out.

Don't go to bed over tired. Snuggle in, make yourself comfortable, read an amusing book. Open a window so fresh air can blow in. Have bed clothing neither too light nor too heavy. Good night! Pleasant dreams.

Baby Born In—

emergency lifeboat kit—some disinfectant, gauze and bandages, but no forceps and no anesthetic.

About three hours after the lifeboat left the sinking vessel, Mrs. Mohorovicic's labor pains started. Six hours later the child was born.

Leroy Tate, a seaman, told of the difficulties under which the delivery was performed.

Sea Rough, Waves High

"The sea was rough. The waves were high and water was constantly being splashed into the boat. By the time her labor pains had begun the boat was practically full of water. All of us were either sitting in water or lying in it.

"The woman had no shoes. Although the pains continued for several hours she was more than brave. She did not complain and did everything she could to make it as easy as possible for the doctor and those who attended.

"We rigged up a piece of canvas as a shield to give her privacy for the ordeal."

Dr. Conley, who never had been to sea before, said upon his arrival here that he had only the highest praise for the mother. He was modest and would say nothing of his part in the difficult job he had performed.

It was not until 40 hours after their vessel had been torpedoed that the U. S. naval vessels picked them up. Some of the survivors in the lifeboat were so weak by then that they had to be assisted up the side of the rescue boat.

Little Sister Suffered More

But not Mrs. Mohorovicic. She climbed virtually unassisted up the cargo net which had been lowered over the side, and then walked the full length of the naval vessel and took a shower before going to bed.

Two-year-old Vlota Mohorovicic seemed to have suffered more from the ordeal than her mother or her new-born brother. Hours after the family's arrival here she still clung to her mother's bedside, her eyes still showing the signs of fright she must have endured.

When the rescued vessel hove to alongside the lifeboat, the first passenger to be handed up the side into the big hands of a seaman was the naked new-born infant.

No clothing had been taken along in the lifeboat for the new babe and the mother had kept him warm and as dry from the water as possible by holding him inside her own clothes.

Shortly after the delivery in the lifeboat, Mrs. Mohorovicic announced to her companions that the boy's name would be Jesse Roper Mohorovicic.

Missed Disaster

Tate said the lifeboat drifted all Sunday afternoon and night and most of Monday before airplanes were sighted overhead. The planes disappeared at 5 p. m., Monday and the boat was not rescued until 12 hours later.

He also revealed that the lifeboat narrowly missed disaster only a few minutes after it left the sinking vessel.

"Just as we pulled away from the side," he said, "a second torpedo passed just in front of the lifeboat's bow. I thought sure as hell it was going to hit us."

Tate said the ship's gun crew sent shells screaming over the lifeboat at the submarine.

"I think they sank it," he added.

In addition to the Jugoslavian general, those reported missing from the vessel included: Miss H. M. Jacobs, Chicago.

ing back the Germans. Their planes were over Sevastopol day and night, the agency said, and undertook frequent attacks against German troop concentrations and bases. Pilers of the Soviet formation in the first months of the Sevastopol siege have destroyed 159 German planes, 65 of them in combat.

Last midnight's Soviet communique said complete reports showed that 31 German planes were hot down on Monday, not 25, and that on Tuesday the Germans lost 24 aircraft. The Russians lost 13 planes.

On the central front, a Russian unit captured a locality and penetrated an enemy position, the communique asserted. The Germans subsequently counter-attacked, but were driven back and lost 200 men.

The communique, relayed by Tass, detailed Russian gains around Leningrad in the last two days.

Lessons In Wholesome Family Life

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, PH.D.

In Clinton, Oklahoma, the church bells ring at 9 o'clock each Tuesday evening. This is Family Home Night for most parents and children of that city, who have chosen to spend that evening together as a family.

Mrs. Myers and I learned about it from Dr. Alice Sowers, as we stopped to call on her not long ago at Oklahoma university. She is on the staff of family life education at that university and is known admirably by hundreds of PTA leaders throughout the United States. Half her salary is paid by the Oklahoma Congress of Parents and Teachers which, under the leadership of Mrs. Ralph Cathcart, National PTA Chairman of Family Life, put out our Family Life Course for women, trains youth from 18 to 25 and has caused this department to be established in that university.

Clinton's Family Home Night came out of a Family Life Institute which Dr. Sowers conducted in Clinton. Representatives of 40 organizations of the town came together for the first conference out of which grew a central planning committee for the high school youth, from 18 to 25, as well as adults.

"The week began," said Professor Sowers, "with Family Home Day. Families sat together at church, and sermons emphasized religion and family life. High school students made go-to-church posters. In one church a committee of young people took a phoned each member on Saturday. Women's clubs observed.

Meetings and Discussions

"One meeting was a daily forum at the high school in which all the young people talked freely about their friendships and family life. Others consisted of a public forum in which adults and young people talked about ways in which the home can be made a real cornerstone of democracy, discussions at men's luncheon clubs about the responsibility of parents, especially of fathers, a talk at the senior high school about relationships with parents and with brothers and sisters, an evening meeting for mothers, a couples at one church are discussions at one church are discussions at one church are discussions

The Voice of

Broadway

By Dorothy Kilgallen

(Copyright, 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

YOU CAN'T PRINT THAT:

(A compendium of tales that can't be told with names, because they're too true to print. If you find in them any resemblance to actual persons, living or read—you've probably guessed right!)

Dr. George is one of Manhattan's most successful doctors. He is young and popular, and his income runs well into the handsome five figure bracket. He is happily married to a beautiful girl, and all-around all you would be inclined to think he'd be the envy of his pals.

But you never can tell, just looking in from the outside, can you?

Things are far from perfect with Dr. George. He suffers from an ailment very common to other-wise happily married men: he has mother-in-law trouble. A very rare form of the ailment, too—and very difficult to cure.

To put it in flashback form, let's go back about 20 years to the time when the doctor's mother-in-law Elsie, was a big musical comedy star. She made a lot of money, and whenever she stepped out on a stage she tore the house down. It was that applause she loved, even more than she loved the money she got and what it would buy. She adored an audience.

Even when she married she was away from the limelight only long enough to have a child. Then she was back in the theater again. Two years skipped along and her daughter grew up and married, and Elsie's star declined as her looks faded, so she slipped from the big revues to the small cafes.

Of course, this was embarrassing to Dr. George. Several times he set her up in comfortable apartments, paid all her expenses and saw to it that she wanted for nothing. But Elsie wasn't happy. Each time she left her nice home and got a job in some tiny bistro where, meager as it was, applause rang in her ears.

Now she toils until dawn in one of the rowdiest of the midtown saloons, one of those places where the biggest laughs come when her act is interrupted by raucous Bronx cheers or a tossed spitball. But Elsie is as happy as can be, and those who know her are sure she'll end her days there, or in some similar joint, regardless of the hapless doctor—because without an audience she'd fade away and die.

But you can't print that. It wouldn't bother Elsie to see her name in print again—but it'd be the straw that broke the doctor's heart. And otherwise, he's such a lucky fellow!

Bertram is a rewrite man on one of the town's largest dailies, a rewrite man, in case you aren't sure, is an unsung beaver who does most of the writing around a newspaper and gets very little credit for the amount of toil he puts in. Rewriting is tough, nerve-wracking work, a grind with none of the glamor that journalism students like to associate with their chosen vocation. Bertram is a good rewrite man, but he hates the work and is always promising himself that he's going to sit down and write something serious and become famous overnight.

Bertram is also one of that fast-vanishing breed of newspapermen that you see in the movies—which means he likes to drink and play poker and run around with chorus gals, despite the fact that a ride on a subway ride from the office he has a nice little wife.

Well, not to long ago—and pretty inevitably—the nice little wife just left him and went home to her mother. And that caused a great indignation to swell in Bertram's soul. He decided she was an intolerant bigot and he was going to divorce her, so he consulted a lawyer to arrange one of those convenient Mexican splits. But unfortunately, those legal proceedings cost money, and Bertram was always broke the day after pay day.

The only way Bertram knows to make money is writing, so he sat down to do a fiction story that he could sell to a slick magazine for the necessary coin. Like most first efforts in the fiction field, he tale became more or less autobiographical: in fact, it grew to be almost a case history of his troubles with his wife. How unfair she was, how mean she was, how badly she treated him.

He finished it in a stormy week of sandwiches and highballs at the typewriter in a smoke-filled room, and then he read it over. Proud of it? Well, not quite.

"The writing was excellent, but even the author of the piece could see that there was something wrong with the plot. The story didn't jell. It was—well, maybe, pointless was the word.

And then the reason struck him. The story didn't jell because when the facts of his character were down in black and white, it was plain to see that his wife would have been crazy not to leave him!

But you can't print that. Because Bertram was man enough to admit his faults, hurry to his wife, and beg her forgiveness—and he's been a model of husbandly behavior ever since!

Tessie is one of America's most successful stars. Her audience is in the millions and her income just slightly less. Moreover, she is beloved by fans from coast to coast, not only for her considerable talents and her lovely visage but for her sweet and generous disposition. An honorary patroness of dozens of worthy organizations and charities, she combines in the public mind the best features of Lady Bountiful and Jo in "Little Women."

Appropriately, this particular story about the lady dates back to Christmas time, the season of good cheer. Shortly before this beautiful holiday the lass bounced into a rehearsal of her radio show, she's on the air, too) with a list as long as your arm. Written on it were the names of everyone connected with the program, from page boy to sound technicians. Besides each name, the delightful star had written down some gift suggestion.

When word of the list got around, an appreciative clamor was heard, and the press agent for the program sidled around to jot down the story of the star's bounty. "Lots of greasers here," he commented, approvingly. "Is this what you're getting these kids for Christmas?"

"Are you kidding?" the star replied, snapping back the inventory. "This is what the kids are going to get for me!"

But you can't print that. Obviously, my dear Watson, obviously!

ON THE ANXIOUS SEAT

"CURIOSITY KILLED A CAT" by ANNE ROWE

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE

"If I take the inheritance," I'll give you my marriage certificate and have you appointed administrator," then I can give it to Gala?" I asked Forrestall.

"To Gala or anyone you please," he assured me with a crooked smile.

"Then I have no choice." I said resolutely, getting out of my chair.

"If you Wait a minute, I'll go get it-for you."

In my room I dug out a flat box in which I kept the relics of my short-lived venture in romance—the marriage certificate, a note of dismissal and five thousand dollars in large bills.

And then, suddenly, the whole thing struck me as so incredibly funny I started having hysterics. I laughed and laughed, shrilly, in my self-control, and when I finally got myself under control I was crying.

"I don't see how you could—doubt his honesty," I remonstrated. He's the head of a big firm. He's managed the whole shipyard deal including the negotiations with the government. People of his importance don't go about—defrauding Uncle Sam."

"Or slaughtering their golden-egged geese," Aunt Mille threw in dryly.

And I wound up, "And just to satisfy you I don't share your superstitions. I've signed a paper, asking to have him appointed my administrator."

"Couldn't found better," the Inspector assured me solemnly. "On-ly—"

"Only what?" I prompted, when he stopped and left the word hanging in the air.

"Only I notice you standing up for him being honest only he pointed out with an emphatic twinkle. "I didn't hear you say you were sure he wasn't the murderer."

The remark took the wind out of my sails.

"I—I—I," he was simply—as I weren't speaking of the murders," I stammered incoherently, and then made up my mind to be honest and explained. "No, that isn't the truth. I don't say it, because I'm not sure of him—or anyone. I'm stuck. One minute I believe he did it, and the next it was Roberts—or someone we didn't know at all, an outsider who's managed to remain invisible. It's dreadful. Inspector, I've never been in such a state—so blind and groping—in all my life!"

"You—and the rest of us," The Inspector nodded seriously. "It ain't what you might call an easy case. Sort of turned around, rear end first. With the motive and the way it was done clear as daylight, and not one pointer to a real suspect."

"But you believe that both murders were committed for the radium and by one person?" Aunt Mille tried to nail him down.

"There was no refuting the statement. It all seemed so clear and simple.

"Then—you have an idea of—who the murderer is?" I asked.

The Inspector suddenly looked grim. "Ideas don't make arrests and convictions," he said briefly. "You better bother your head about it, or your mind on the Burton estate."

It was almost dinnertime when the Inspector left at last, and I had just time to take a quick shower and change before Dad came home, bringing Allan with him.

All through the afternoon I had looked forward to seeing, Imured to forget the horror of the night and the trying days ahead in a quiet hour with him. And then I didn't get it.

The news of my sudden wealth threw both my father and my future husband into such a dither, the discussion about it—what to offer Gala and how to induce her acceptance, and the radium—very much the radium! — was so lively and so long, it obliterated my desire for a tete-a-tete with Allan—in fact, every desire, except for sleep.

I staggered up to my room at an early hour, physically and mentally exhausted, and literally fell into bed and oblivion at the same time.

I woke late in the morning, fresh and rested and immediately absorbed by speculations about the murder, and what the day would bring—to find a part of them answered when I came downstairs.

Aunt Mille had preceded me by a good hour and was full of news.

"Let breakfast wait a few minutes. I simply must show you something," she announced with her funny little sniff—which had been sadly in abeyance the last terrible days—dragging me into the living room next to the library.

It looked like a florist's shop, banked with huge bouquets of potted plants, and on a coffee table before the sofa was a large tray heaped with mail.

"The condolencey of Clifford's delight to me Inspector's pronouncement," she said with an inclusive wave of her hand. "I opened them—couldn't resist. They'll stay you darling! Seems that they've got it all doped out to suit them Heavens, I'm beginning to talk like Clifford! Bruce came back, in secret, for a reconciliation with you. He engineered your father into the shipyard job, for that end only. And then, just when you're going to fall into each other's arms for the fadeout clinch-bang!—he's murdered! Here, read a few samples."

But I shook my head. My sense of humor was definitely under a cloud this morning and the name Bruce Burton' staring at me from the envelopes looked pretty ominous.

"No, thank you! Not before breakfast." I told her firmly and walked to the dining room.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Washington, April 1—The surprising discovery of two American ship survivors that a Nazi U-boat commander knew the contents of information of their ill-fated freighter was no surprise within officialdom here.

This government has known for some time the existence of an elaborate German spy system reporting to Berlin speedily and efficiently on American sailings.

The system is working in such an open field and was organized with such usual German thoroughness that it has been found difficult to smash.

The FBI raided the German seamen's home in Hoboken last Saturday and found again how some news was sent out. What was described as a 'diathermy machine' was seized, along with 71 inmates.

This is place of common agricultural apparatus, capable of creating high frequency oscillations, which could be heard as far away as Germany if proper reception, through a similar set, had been provided there as it no doubt has.

The apparatus which can make intelligible short wave vibrations under exact conditions has been used commercially throughout the country for therapeutic treatment of skin diseases by the Hoboken physicians, anywhere

A number of Japs on the Pacific coast seem to have suffered the same rash as the Nazi seamen were found to be interested in their home.

But the problem would be difficult to even if there were not so many of these machines in private hands. The American information here operates our ships, but the private operating line for which he hails employs the seamen. The government has no control over who is to be employed.

Before a sailor will sign for a voyage, naturally he must know when and where the ship is sailing and a good idea of the nature of its cargo. With such information being given on the water front, it is not much of a job for a person in the agent to pick it up. With his special sending device, it has not been much of a trick to get his information out of the country.

Certainly Berlin has been inferentially gloating over its communications system in this country. A series of short wave listeners have noticed that domestic news developments, not sent out of this country by any of the normal commercial channels, have come back within two or three hours on the Berlin radio on occasions.

That this system could not last long can be expected from the knowledge of the warnings always obtained (not half of the) of the FBI, is apparently in stamping out the step.

Meanwhile

The Nazi plight is evident from posters around the waterfront "Don't talk, it may cost you your life." Assessing the case two months ago, even enemy aliens were not talking to those, spots could mean death to our allies.

Some published accounts claim of submarine warfare in the Atlantic foreign and coastwise have approximated the figures have approximated the recently.

From the start of the war in March 30 we have lost 1,000,000 or damaged an average of 1,000 tons a day. The northeast submarine patrol has doubled the number the Nazi sub campaign looks.

This is more than we are putting into ships under the present. The launching figures now are running nearly two a day, but this not mean we are making two mamit into commission every it will be

As matters stand now as are losing in the battle of commerce high seas, but the situation should be viewed with alarm even if the accelerated rate of Nazi sinkings.

Whether we have been forced to convoy is yet a military secret.

Not all the ships that have gone down have been destroyed. One large tanker ran into one of our own destroyers, thereby creating quite a stir in official navigation circles. To escape a gale off Hatteras, the tanker decided suddenly to put into port. Without a special pilot a vessel stayed there. Rolls up the front half of the ship was blown off.

Official accounts have listed the damage as due either to a torpedo or to a mine. However, reports of the crew left no doubt as to the cause.

No other ships will enter port without harbor pilots unless the emergency be great.

Auto Licenses In Mail By April 10

Springfield, Ill., April 2—(UP)—Drivers licenses to all who made application before April 1 will be in the mail by April 10, according to Chief Clerk John Nash of the state automobile division. He said an approximate 1,000,000 renewal applications had been made to date and that at least 2,000,000 more must renew permits before May 1 when the previous licenses expire. Failure to secure a new license by that time will subject the driver to an examination, Nash said. He reminded motorists that it is a violation of law to drive without a valid drivers license.

In spite of the fact that he carried a Bible in his pocket, the number "13" was unlucky for the Negro burglar who broke into the Perris clothing store on East Court street last night. He narrowly escaped capture, left his coat behind and 13 shirts which he had packed in a grip to take with him.

An automobile driven by Mrs. Henry Rust and a motorcycle driven by Henry Kraft of 380 North Chicago avenue, collided at Harrison and Oak streets. The young man was thrown from the motorcycle and suffered minor injuries. Mrs. Rust was unhurt.

Income Tax And War Spending Break Records

Washington, April 2—(U.P.)—Income tax revenue was spurring today toward all records in March.

Compiling the latest tabulations, the treasury estimated that $3,000,000,000 in individual income taxes was collected during March. This would bring the aggregated $3,982,627,346 which was two and one half times the previous high mark of $1,200,000,000 collected in March last year.

Total receipts for war activities set a new peak in March of $2,796,957,-500. More than $350,000,000 of the March total was attributed to the month-to-month increase since the beginning of the defense program in the middle of 1940.

With income, social security and other taxes, total federal revenues last month were $3,347,169,479, also a new high for any month in history, for all purposes were $3,546,306,632.

The greatest revenue months in the treasury's history produced a surplus of only $110,868,647. According to administration budget officials here may not be another such month-ly surplus for the duration of the war.

Vocational Talks Given Students At Kankakee High

Miss Rae Fleming, commercial teacher, and R. Y. Allison, principal, spoke to the senior girls and boys of Kankakee high school yesterday.

Miss Fleming pointed out that certain high school graduates may go into jobs to relieve the shortage of accounting which men are drafted, work to low rates, and if in a war created a desperate need for girls with standard and typing knowledge for government and Washington, D. C.

A prediction that women will probably be conscripted for work in the future emphasized Miss Fleming's warning to be sure and prepare now for the job they like best.

Mr. Allison warned the boys that what they do in the future will have to do with the military forces. He endorsed the vocational training plan with the statement that it is one of the best in our history.

The plan provides that a student may finish college for his degree, and then take other courses to become qualified academic officers, etc. But if he fails he is taken out of school and put in the navy as seaman.

Mr. Allison also stated that there is a great need for men with college

Against Abandoning The National Youth Administration

Washington, April 2—(U. Sidney Hillman, labor director on the production board, told the senate labor committee today that the National Youth Administration had furnished an appreciable part of the manpower for war work and was a "going concern" that should not be abandoned.

"The manpower training program cannot afford the delays which would be caused by the dismantling of our training agencies and transfer of their personnel to agencies in another organization," Hillman said.

Hillman, testifying against the McKellar bill to abolish the NYA, the Civilian Conservation Corps, said that NYA-trained workers had proved their ability in industry. Alone, most of them into war plants in the Chicago area, the labor union leader said 8,000,000 more war workers would be needed this year to augment the present 7,500,-000.

Asserting the NYA provides training in the areas where there are no vocational school systems, Hillman declared:

If the NYA goes, the danger is that in some (late training of young people for war work will be left to the inconsistent vocational school system."

"At a time when our nation needs every man and woman it can muster for war output, we must continue to draw upon training organizations which have proved themselves useful."

War Correspondent Sheds Fresh Light On Conditions Of Gen. MacArthur's Australian Trip

Note: Clark Lee, 35-year-old Hearst Press war correspondent, has covered the bulk of General MacArthur's campaign, reported the defense of Bataan and the fall of the peninsula. In dispatches described by Lee as "the first fully uncensored on all theaters of the Australian-Philippine war," Bataan came first to Hearst's Australian bureau chief Clem Morgan. Morgan in turn flew to Melbourne, MacArthur's headquarters, and Lee, Arthur, his wife and son, and many of his staff had journey through wars controlled by the U.S.

By CLARK LEE

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Australia, April 2 (delayed)—The story of the defense of Bataan peninsula to April 9 has been delayed and censored by the United States government because of the military implications involved, but the time has arrived when the full story can be told without jeopardizing current tactics and bearing the high hopes members of

Some days ago we heard that Bataan had fallen and that the Japanese were attacking the Philippines with added strength. Bataan, the last stronghold to prevent the Japanese from using Manila Bay as an island to use as a base for attacks against Australia, had been overrun. Bataan was the last organized force in the Philippines to hold out against the Japanese. Bataan's fall meant that the Japanese were attacking Australia with their full strength.

Bataan's fall was a shock to the people of Australia. It was the first bad news from the war front since the fall of Singapore. Australia had looked to Bataan for reasons it could not be disclosed except that the journey definitely was an escape from the war we had been since its first day and in we had developed the sincere affection for MacArthur and his men and American soldiers. I could not believe we believe it.

Lucky Break

Before our trip to a certain point in southern Australia, we had a lucky break.

Our vessel played hide and seek with a Japanese destroyer which had been shelling ports and shipping in the Philippine waters.

We passed planes three times but were not attacked. We passed a convoy of eight ships, probably Japanese, but we were not challenged and kept on our course. It was the only rainy day of the trip through the danger area.

The following day another ship was sighted and began a pursuit, but we passed the faster, fortunately. We were unprotected against surface attacks.

The next we spent eight hours zigzagging wide circle to avoid the

Barrage Balloon At Large; Snaps Its Cable

Akron, O., April 2 —(U.P.)— A Goodyear Aircraft corporation barrage balloon tore loose from its moorings here and, trailing its cable, started on a one-man parade down one of the main streets of the industrial city toward Pennsylvania.

The company's officials said that the balloon had been carried that way by the Akron-to-Pittsburgh army barrage balloon, and broken loose and was free.

The balloon snapped its cable in two with a terrific report, reporters said. Company cars were dispatched with instructions to follow its flight.

Police of Ohio and Pennsylvania were notified that the balloon had escaped from its base.

Hog Prices Hit Another Peak For Sixteen Years

Chicago, April 2—(AP)—Hog prices hit a peak of $14 at 20 markets today, another new high for the past 16 years, as trade circles were influenced by rumors of heavy government lard buying and a report that the office of price administration may readjust some pork ceiling levels.

Stocks Take On More Recovery Confidence

By VICTOR EUBANK

New York, April 2—(AP)—Leading stocks took on a little more recovery confidence in today's market.

After mild hesitancy at the opening, trends turned moderately upward. Near the fourth hour, gains of fractions to a point or so were well distributed.

The better action of the list led to further conjectures anent an oversold position. The market's business day had fallen to new four-year lows. Paint hopes of less onerous taxes and the lack of disturbing war news prospted sentiment.

Bonds and commodities were a shade uneven.

Stocks try front most of the time included S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Swift and Allied Chemical.

Bullish contingents found consideration in the statement of Representative Disney of Oklahoma that a survey he had made revealed an overwhelming majority of the people would vote for a sales tax rather than for big boosts in individual and corporate imposts proposed by the treasury.

Wall street, on the whole, has been pulling for a national sales tax on the theory this would help stall broadening inflation and bring in the necessary federal revenues without adding to the already huge burdens of industry.

Oils had to contend with stiffer withholding taxes. Word petroleum prices were due to be overhauled by the P. A. in view of armament necessities.

Rail securities were confronted with a less than seasonal upturn in last week's freight loadings which was attributed partly to cessation of normal output in many plants because of change-overs for war work.

Wheat Prices Slump More Than A Cent; Corn

By FRANKLIN MULLIN

Chicago, April 2—(AP)—Wheat prices slumped more than a cent a bushel at one stage today to the lowest quotations posted here since early last December, before Pearl Harbor. May contracts sold only slightly above $1.24.

Poor demand for flour and the favorable crop prospect, promising to augment the nation's already bulging supply, featured the break in wheat, were principal factors in the fresh retreat. Small scale selling attributed to fears of disturbing war news prospted sentiment.

Rains and commodities were a shade uneven.

Stocks try front most of the time included S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Swift and Allied Chemical.

"Killing Cold" With Liquor May Prove Disastrous

St. Louis, April 2—(UP)—Dr. Clarence Cushlanoff of the University of Chicago warned today that the popular custom of "killing a cold" with whisky instead of quinine and ammonia with the patient becoming a drunk is dangerous.

He said this laboratory rabbits treated with five whisky to some denied it to others. The drunken rabbits died of pneumonia much faster than the sober ones, he reported.

Dr. Lushbaugh didn't stop there. He said laboratory experiments animals were more susceptible to infection when drinking.

"Intoxicated animals immunized by small amounts of therapeutic serum died in 100 per cent of the cases," he said. "Non-intoxicated animals survived and lived longer than non-immune animals.

"Intoxicated rabbits, re-found, survived much longer and died in only 50 per cent of the cases. Intoxication also inhibited vaccination, a process which produced excessive amounts of antibody.

"These experiments," Doctor Lushbaugh said, indicate the need for more vigorous serum therapy in the treatment of pneumonia in alcoholic patients."

In that treating a patient for pneumonia is like locking the barn after the horse is gone, Dr. Lushbaugh added.

"The popular custom of 'killing a cold' with whisky and 'sweating it' in the community tavern after a hard day of work," he said, 'save more lives than we will ever know until when peak efficiency is necessary and epidemics may occur."

During the war, he said, binges should be conducted with soda pop.

BROWNS SEEN AS MOST IMPROVED CLUB IN A. L. RACE

Yankees Figure To Win Pennant With Hose 2nd

By GAYLE TALBOT

Tampa, Fla., April 2—(AP)—This is getaway week in the baseball training camps, and as the sun-tanned athletes hit the exhibition trail leading to opening day on April 14 there is talk of only one team that might possibly inject a little pepper into an otherwise unpromising Yankee-dominated American league race. That club is the St. Louis Browns.

Every manager who has met the Browns this spring says they are a good, fast outfit that "might cause a lot of trouble." A couple of pilots, whose opinion the writer respects highly, say that Luke Sewell's outfit is a cinch to climb into the first division.

Pick Sox for Second

Here is the order, then, in which the coming war-time campaign might wind up:

(1) New York, (2) Chicago, (3) Boston, (4) St. Louis, (5) Cleveland, (6) Detroit, (7) Washington, (8) Philadelphia.

The Yankees, winners last year by a lop-sided 17 games, are fundamentally so much better than any other team in the junior circuit that there is no real comparison.

The Chicago White Sox, who were third last year with exactly a .500 average, appear to have the pitching to boost them up to second place this time, say about 25 games off the pace.

Boston, despite the loss of Joe Cronin's power at the plate and the fact it is unusually allergic to the draft, should have enough left to grab third.

Fourth does not appear too high a goal for the Browns considering the quality of this opposition. Sewell has a pair of good-looking southpaw rookie pitchers, Stan Ferrens and Frank Biscan, and another youngster named Vernon Stephens at short who might turn out to be the freshman of the year. The club, however, is very susceptible to the draft.

Cleveland has a popular new manager in 24-year-old Lou Boudreau, and the club is saturated with harmony, but that almost sums up the assets since the great Bob Feller slimbed into navy blue. Barring a possible find or two among his rookies, Lou is painfully short on pitching and catching.

Detroit On Downbeat

Detroit has lost weight steadily since it won a pennant only two seasons ago, and with the departure of 250-pound Rudy Newsom the other day the Tigers' ribs began to show sure enough.

Washington's hopes, if any, were shot when Cecil Travis and Buddy Lewis went into the service. That was all the hitting the club had, and even if Newsom is retained he can't help the situation much unless they convert him into an outfielder for his batting punch.

The selection of Philadelphia to finish eighth is purely by instinct. It is the position the A's have won in five of the last seven years.

Miss Kirby Holds Titleholders' Lead

Augusta, Ga., April 2—(AP)—Defending champion Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta went into the third and final 18 hole round of the women's Titleholders golf tournament today with a five stroke lead on the field. Her closest rivals were Louise Suggs of Lithia Springs, Ga., in second place, and Mrs. Helen Hicks Harb of Washington, D. C., in third.

Jeane Cline, Bloomington, Ill., junior woman athlete, found the going tough, her opening day 86 being followed with an 88 for 174.

Former Irish Sports Chief Visits Here

The Rev. Francis Harbaugh, former St. Viator college and St. Patrick high school athletic director now long head of a community center in Detroit, is visiting in Kankakee for a few days.

College Ring Star

Probably the most outstanding performer in the National Collegiate A.A. boxing championships held at Baton Rouge, La., March 28, was Johnny Jeca, lightweight champion of the University of Florida and national collegiate champ of 1941. Jeca, finalist again this year, has lost only two bouts in 21 intercollegiate matches. He held three Golden Gloves championships in Cleveland before he entered college.

Bradley Announces Spring Sport Cards

CATCHING A FEW OFF FIRST:

By ORREN ALLAIN

Bits—Director Doug Mills will soon travel east, addressing University of Illinois alumni. His itinerary is as follows: April 17, Fort Wayne, Ind., April 18 Whiting, Ind., April 22, Rochester, N. Y., April 23, Philadelphia, April 24, Pittsburgh. . . First acceptances of invitations to fight in Washington for the navy relief fund came from Steve Belloise and Al Nettlow, of the Jacksonville, Fla., naval station and well knocks among Kankakeeans. . . Leroy Koch, who played with the Evangelical team in the Y. M. C. A.-Church basketball league here a year ago, recently received a major cage letter at Blackburn college, where he is a freshman. . . The state interscholastic track and field meet, which will be held at the University of Illinois May 15 and 16, is the 48th. It is 50 years since the meet was started in 1893 but no meets were held during 1917 and 1918 because of World War I. . . It seems we greatly under-rated Ralph Hart, Streator sports editor, about how fast he'd act on omission of Don Morris, Streator star, from Pat Harmon's all-state basketball team. At 8:22 o'clock of the morning—his tea was released, Hart shot the following wire to Harmon—"What happened to Morris? How do you like your boy?" . . . Leroy Morley, coach and social science teacher at Watseka high school, is among four members of the Watseka staff who have not returned their signed contracts for the year. . . Coach Maxwell R. Garret, whose University of Illinois fencing team won the Big 10 championship and placed third in the nationals, is now in the army . . . When the Illinois track team placed second in the Big 10 indoor meet it was the best showing in that competition since Coach Harry Gill's 1931 team.

Crespi Sets Fast Pace In Cardinal Camp

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Frank Crespi was one of the last to arrive in the St. Louis Cardinals' training camp, but the second sacker is setting a fast pace now. He handled 13 chances flawlessly and batted out a homer and a double as the Cards whipped Detroit, 5-3, yesterday. Lon Warneke and Clyde Shoun will pitch against Washington today.

Tigers Draw $100 Fines

Lakeland, Fla.—Several Detroit Tiger rookies have found out — to their chagrin as well as wear and tear on the bankbook—that it doesn't pay to violate the be-in-by-midnight rule. They were fined $100 for not getting in on time and so far there have been no second offenders.

Another Cub Surprise

Tucson, Ariz.—First it was Pitcher Eddie Hanyswski from the South Bend, Ind., sandlots who proved to be a pleasant surprise to Manager Jimmy Wilson of the Chicago Cubs. Now Wilson has another—Jess Flores, the Mexican right-hander who has allowed only two runs in 18 innings.

Browns Face Rookie Southpaw

Deland, Fla.—The St. Louis Browns, coming a Grapefruit league record of ten victories in 14 games, will attempt to fatten their winning average today against Montreal of the International league. Bill Cox and a rookie southpaw, Clarence Iott, will draw the pitching assignment.

Kuhel Is Benched

Yuma, Ariz.—Joe Kuhel's bat wasn't helping the Chicago White Sox against the rampaging Pittsburgh Pirates, so the first baseman was benched temporarily in favor of Merrill Jones. The Shreveport rookie got three hits yesterday, but the White Sox still lost—their sixth in a row to the Bucs.

Telegraphic Pin Meet For Preps To Be Rolled Saturday

Chicago, April 2—(AP)—A field of 175 boys' teams and 101 girls' teams will bowl Saturday in the first annual telegraphic tournament of the American High School Bowling Congress.

Although the handicap event will be on a team basis only, the boy and girl rolling the highest individual series without handicap will be adjudged the national high school champions.

Chicago Youth To Captain Illinois Swimming Team

Champaign, Ill., April 2—(AP)—Bill Brekke, junior from Chicago, will captain the 1943 University of Illinois swimming team.

He was elected last night when lettermen also chose Leo Hartman of Waukegan, Ill., as the most valuable to this year's team. Keith Kerr, back stroke swimmer from Danville, Ill., was named honorary captain of the freshmen.

Few of the Aces on Deck for Cards This Year

One thing the Cardinals have plenty of and that's pitchers. Just a few of Manager Billy Southworth's righthanders are shown here. Beasley, Jurisich and Munger are rookies. The picture was taken at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Bradley Opens Track Season Next Wednesday

Merv Baker, Bradley high school coach, today announced track and baseball schedules for Bradley this spring.

The track season, according to the schedule revealed today, opens next Wednesday afternoon against Momence there. This meet, Baker says, will provide him with a fair idea of what sort of material he has on hand for the dinner season.

The tracksters have been out almost daily for the last 15 days. About 20 have reported for the sport with the following lettermen returning: Ray Hatanowicz, weights; Earl Benoche broad jump, dashes, and quarter-mile; Bob Gibson, hurdles; Len Bujnowski, weights; Van Kuren, Stowe and Winters, with the latter expected to compete in the distance events.

Drill in Gym

The unfavorable weather of the last week has not permitted the baseballers to get out-of-doors, but they have been limbering up in the gymnasium preparing for the outdoor sessions that are sure to come in a few days. The diamond season begins April 24 at Peotone, the game being a Kankakee Valley conference contest. Peotone is defending Valley champion.

The Kankakee Valley track date, set at a meeting of coaches here this week, will be held in Momence on May 20.

Following is the track schedule:

April 8—Bradley at Momence
April 21—Bradley at St. Anne
May 4—Freshmen-sophomore Valley meet at St. Anne
May 8—Districts at Kankakee
May 15—State meet at Champaign
May 20—Kankakee Valley meet at Momence

Following is the baseball schedule:

April 24—Bradley at Peotone
April 28—Grant Park at Bradley
May 5—Reddick at Bradley
May 12—Bradley at Reddick
May 19—Peotone at Bradley
May 27—Bradley at Grant Park

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

New York—Next big benefit fight show likely will be the navy relief card in Washington—and part of the relief probably will be to relieve Freddie Cochrane of his welterweight title. . . . Called in to arrange a card, Mike Jacobs' first suggestion was that the navy should give Cochrane the leave he claims is necessary to get in shape for a title fight against Ray Robinson. . . The M. P. who has been guarding Joe Louis' dressing room down at Port Dix is an old-time hoofer, known professionally as "The Dark Angel" and "Dynamite Blackman."

SPORTFOURRI

Stopping at Augusta on his way ot Pinehurst to check up on arrangements for the Masters' golf tournament, Freddie Corcoran of the P. G. A. heard that the Jacksonville diplomatic corps had almost moved in there from White Sulphur Springs. . . "I guess they objected to the 'American plan,'" Freddie commented . . . The first major sport scheduled to turn up at Auburn in five years is Charley Pinney, a double first cousin of Lou of the Red Sox. He was a first-stringer in football, basketball and track and likely will be a regular outfielder this spring.

HOOP-LA

Oshkosh wonder how come Indiana failed to be such a great state for high school basketball. The Hoosiers have fewer than 800 scholastic teams while Lisle 1,154 started in the Ohio State tournament. . . Traxel Stevens, Louisiana college cub thumper, claims his team's scoring ace, Joe Mallard, deserves a plug for scoring 630 points in two seasons for a team that finished last in its conference both years.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Nothing in the two guys who pitched for the Red Sox against Detroit the other day were Hash and Brown, and that Trout started for the Tigers, James E. Doyle of the Cleveland Plain Dealer says that all were warmed up well so they had no trouble finding the dish.

Dizzy Dean Visits Governor Green

Springfield, Ill April 2—(UP)—Dizzy Dean, looking 20 pounds heavier than in his playing days, visited Gov. Dwight H. Green at his statehouse office yesterday. The former St. Louis Cardinal and Chicago Cub star chatted a few minutes with the governor and posed for publicity pictures.

Dean is on a tour of midwest cities preliminary to his broadcasting of St. Louis ball games for a beer concern. He spent the night here and left for Hannibal, Mo., this morning.

Dressed in a tan gabardine suit and wearing a white ten-gallon hat, Dean talked with officials in the governor's office and signed autographs for some of the state house employes congregating around the office entrance after word of his arrival spread.

Opening Of Eastern Racing Starts Paring Of Derby Field

By JACK GUENTHER

New York, April 2—(UP)—The worrisome business of hacking the Kentucky Derby field down to tabloid size begins today at Bowie and will continue there and in other sections of the nation for most of the month. The occasion is the opening of the eastern turf season and it figures to be a trifle grim because the work has piled up.

For more than three months the 150 assorted horses, hay-burners and hides fondly named for Col. Matt Winn's big bluegrass party have been relaxing in the Florida sun or snoozing peacefully in their warm barns. For all good things must come to an end and the vacation is over. It is high time that the proud beauties were up and about their labors.

A number will begin attacking their chores at Bowie. The nine-day spring meeting at this Maryland track is important because it marks the return of the gee-gees to the Atlantic seaboard and because it sets in motion the machiners which will reduce the current group of 150 Derby eligibles to a nicely compact field of about 15 by May 2.

It's a Round-Robin, Affair

In effect, the machinery is composed of a round-robin of eliminations races which will separate the wheat from the chaff, the sheep from the goats, the cream from the milk, etc. Bowie's races will be mild and minor affairs but gradually the schedule will be stepped up until the 50 survivors are combed over a final time in three big stakes.

The first is the $15,000 Chesapeake Handicap which will be run a few miles from Bowie at Havre de Grace. This race is Maryland's big prep of the better Derby eligibles and in the past it has produced at least one good horse per running. A few of them were Exterior, Porter's Cap, Gilded Knight, War Admiral, Cavalcade and Whirlaway.

The Chesapeake is run at a mile and 1-16 and this year it is heralded as Alsab's jumping off point. The 1941 juvenile champion is now in Florida and will be shipped to Kentucky shortly. If he is in good shape he will be rushed back to Maryland for a shot at this $17,000 purse and a final chance to tighten himself for the run of the roses.

The Chesapeake will be followed by the $10,000 Bluegrass Stakes at Kenneland Park in Kentucky. This track will open on April 9 and the Calumet farm string of eight Derby nominees will descend upon it en masse. Several minor races will leave up to the Bluegrass, which is the gala homecoming party for the horsiet raised in the neighborhood.

The Bluegrass will draw Sun Again, Some Chance and whatever other Calumet horses Ben Jones deems worthy. As well, it is certain to attract E. R. Bradley's Bless Me, the solid choice of the hard-boot country. This mile and 1-8 race has been won by such excellent thoroughbreds as Bimelech, Bubbling Over, Our Boots, Black Servant and Bull Lea.

Comes Wood Memorial

Two other eligibles are the Greentree stable's Devil Diver and Shut Out, but they also were named for the $25,000 Wood Memorial—third of the three classic Derby preps—which is run at Jamaica in New York. The Wood is the most famous event of the trio and is popularly regarded as the test of the eastern "Ivy league" candidates.

Ten Blind Boys Vie In Pin Congress

Columbus, O., April 2—(AP)—Ten boys from the Ohio school for the blind will compete in the American Bowling Congress tournament tomorrow.

The youngsters, who have been using special alleys at the institution for seven years, will find special guide rails erected to lead them to the foul line.

Scores of 150 will be considered exceptional. In contrast to the high 200's rolled every day by the more fortunate.

For the first time in 20 days no changes occurred among the leaders yesterday.

Athletics Heavy Favorites To Finish Last (Again) In A. L.

Tucson, Ariz., April 1—(UP)—Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics hard-hit by the loss of nine players to the armed services, are facing a long, tough summer unless they get some unexpected help. As matters stand now the A's look like heavy favorites to stay in the cellar, a spot they've occupied for the past two years.

Heading east after their California spring training season, the Athletics' exhibition record shows four victories and six defeats against major league clubs and an even break in sixteen games against minor league opposition. The San Francisco Seals won four straight games from the A's.

The A's record is not surprising in view of the fact that they lost Sam Chapman, their most dangerous hitter who drove in 106 runs last year, and their second base combination of Benny McCoy and Al Brancato to Uncle Sam. The other players lost include Pitcher Buddy Rosar, Catcher Jo son and Rookie Joe Gantenbein, George Cooper, Don Richmond and Jim Poole.

Has Poor Infield

Connie Mack has left a fair pitching staff, a good catching staff and a so-so outfield. The infield is patched up and pathetic and is the long holdout siege of First Baseman Dick Siebert's holdout bid to camp. The way the A's infield looks now the pitchers will start every game with the record already set against them.

Last year the A's had the worst fielding club in the league and they promise to be even more unreliable defensively. Siebert will take over first as soon as he rounds into shape but second, third and short are problems. Crash Davis, counted on to take over Benny McCoy's second base job, has been a big disappointment. Al Rubeling, who tried to make the grade two years ago and failed, is back with no more ability. Ken Richardson, who's kicked around the minors for seven years and was with Williamsport last season, may wind up at second. He's been playing first during Siebert's absence.

Jack Wallaesa, who hit a mere 252 at Wilmington last season, is back. He's 6 feet 3 inches in height and will be the tallest shortstop in the majors. Connie Mack says: "he has a fine pair of hands, can throw and run and learns fast."

Third base is in the laps of the Gods. Buddy Blair, who hit 295 for Newark, has looked good but is handicapped by a knee that's bothered him for three years. If the knee holds up he'll make a bid to get Pete Suder, last year's custodian, will take over. There is also a possibility that Suder may play short if Wallaesa cracks up.

Pitching is Best Bet

The pitching is the best part of the club. Back from last year are Phil Marchildon, Jack Knott, Lesser McCrabb and Bill Beckman and they have been joined by Jack Hallett, obtained in the Walt Moses deal from the White Sox. The five leading newcomers are Germain Bevil and Dick Fowler from Toronto, Fred Caligiuri from Wilmington, Roger Pacheco from Williamsport and Bobo Christopher from Newark. Most of them know how to pitch. There is variety and versatility on the mound. Some have fine stuff, others depend on control and smartness.

Frankie Hayes and Hal Wagner are the backstops of major league ability and will handle the catching satisfactorily.

On a clear night, an average person can see 7,000 stars.

Pirates Shape Up As Threat In N. L. Race

Yuma, Ariz., April 2—Frankie Frisch's Pittsburgh Pirates of 1942, boasting a new club record with 16 victories in 20 exhibition games, are shaping up as a definite threat to the National league supremacy of the Cardinals and Dodgers.

If the Bucs click during the regular season like they're clicking now the hard-driving "Fordham Flash" has a fine chance to make good on his attempt to get Pittsburgh a pennant-winning team in three years.

A Brand New Club

Buying here and trading there, Frisch has created almost a brand new club, as only six of the 26 players on the 1939 roster of Pirate Manager Pie Traynor are still around.

A large chunk of the new Pirate power came from the Dodgers, which would make a bitter pill for the Brooklyn champs should the Bucs dethrone them.

Gymnasium reports that even in one player they profited by the assumption of Second-stop Arky Vaughan for four Dodgers last winter, holding that Pete Coscarart, who has taken Vaughn's post, is doing a better fielding job. His hitting is all right too.

Bucs Get Phelps

Besides Coscarart, the Bucs received Babe Phelps, who, behind catching and pinch hitting, especially of the home run variety. Elmer Riddle Hamlin and Outfielder Jimmy Wasdell.

The Pirates gained further strength in two rookie outfielders: Johnny Barrett of Hollywood, who is batting a sizzling .500, and Johnny Wyrostek of New Orleans who virtually became a regular by his fence-like throw from centerfield to cut off the Chicago Cubs' winning run at home plate last Saturday. One expert called it the best Pirate throw in 17 years.

Hogan Seeks Third Land Of Sky Win

Asheville N. C., April 2—(UP)—Little Ben Hogan, the Hershey, Pa., moment-maker, was an odds-on favorite to win the Land of the Sky open golf tournament for the third straight year as the field teed off today on the first leg of the 72-hole $5,000 defense bond contest.

Athletics Heavy Favorites To Finish Last (Again) In A. L.

Tucson, Ariz., April 1—(UP)—Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics hard-hit by the loss of nine players to the armed services, are facing a long, tough summer unless they get some unexpected help. As matters stand now the A's look like heavy favorites to stay in the cellar, a spot they've occupied for the past two years.

Heading east after their California spring training season, the Athletics' exhibition record shows four victories and six defeats against major league clubs and an even break in sixteen games against minor league opposition. The San Francisco Seals won four straight games from the A's.

'Old Tom' Teams Up With Gen. MacArthur

To Lay Groundwork For United Nations' Offensive In The Pacific

By DON WHITEHEAD

New York, April 2—(Wide World)—It was just about inevitable that "Old Tom" Blamey hould team up with General MacArthur to lay the groundwork for the united nations' offensive in the southwest Pacific.

He's fought a lot of battles in many lands, this chunky, bullet-headed Anzac who has been placed in command of the Australian and American ground forces under MacArthur.

He helped plan and direct the big allied offensive that broke the Hindenburg line in 1918; he tried to stem the Nazi tide in Greece and Crete with pitifully outnumbered troops.

His Biggest Campaign

Now this 55-year-old soldier, Lieutenant General Sir Thomas Blamey, is in the biggest campaign of his long military career—against an enemy threatening invasion of his homeland.

It's a tough job they've given this one time schoolteacher, but then Australians will tell you that Tom Blamey is a tough gent.

The bittere job he ever had was to send his Aussies into Greece, sons of the men he had campaigned with a quarter of a century before in the first world war.

But he told them: Anzacs, set your teeth and be worthy of your fathers."

Blamey's close-cropped gray hair and mustache, his weather-redened face with blue veins showing through the skin once led an Australian to quip:

"Ol' Tom is the most patriotic man in Australia—even his face is red, white and blue."

No Armchair General

None can say Blamey is an armchair general. He was with Australian troops in the first world war when they faced the Turks on the shell-pocked Gallipoli peninsula from which an allied army was withdrawn after eight months of fighting.

Blamey helped direct that gigantic withdrawal, carried out without the loss of a single man.

His intelligence work was not done in the safety of a tent behind the lines but often in dangerous night patrols.

In the great offensive of 1918, Blamey's job was to bring no less than 44 battalions into position under cover of darkness within 200 yards of the enemy—without the Germans becoming suspicious.

He had to bring up guns and shells and a Canadian corps of 80,000 men with all equipment. Too, he had to conceal the arrival of 200 tanks.

To accomplish the latter, Blamey sent a squadron of Handley-Page bombers roaring over the German lines. Nothing could be heard over the din of the planes and the anti-aircraft fire of the Germans.

Thus the stage was set for the big show. The drive led straight to the armistice.

"I owe Blamey a debt of gratitude which cannot be repaid," said General John Monash after victory was achieved.
