Fighting Men In Australia Face Supreme Test

Chinese Look To Rainy
Season As New Ally
On The Burma Front

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Overlooked by the great battles in Russia, the far Pacific theater took on ominous new significance today as Australia's Prime Minister John Curtin warned that "the tempo of the struggle is increasing and our fighting men hourly face the supreme test."

Curtin's statement, possibly hinting at the imminence of a new Japanese invasion threat, followed upon China's warning yesterday that Japan was preparing a major offensive to crush Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's main Chinese armies and knock China out of the war.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters said American and Australian fliers continued their scoutings sweeps over the northern islands where the Japanese were reported massing new armadas for a possible thrust toward Australia.

On the Burma front, British headquarters announced "no change" as British rearwards awaited contact with Japanese troops driving up the Chindwin river valley toward India.

The RAP twice raided the Japanese airdrome at Akyab, Burma, yesterday, destroying probably two and damaging three navy Zero planes on the ground, the communiqué said.

Heavy rains drenched the Yunnan front, in the desolate mountains of southern China just above Burma, where the American Lieut.-Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's Chinese armies are attempting to check the Japanese advance up the Burma road.

Continuing Southward
Chungking, China, May 20.—(AP)—The Japanese are continuing their southward sweep in Chekiang province, the coastal district south of Shanghai which is believed to contain potential bases for bombing Japan, the Chinese acknowledged today.

A communiqué said the Japanese who captured Chuki, on the railroad 40 miles south of the provincial metropolis of Hangchow, continued southward with the aid of planes which bombed Chinese positions.

Fighting was reported along the Tung river, some distance south of Chuki. Bitter Chinese resistance was said to be taking a heavy toll of the enemy.

Another Japanese column driving southward along a line about 40 miles south of Chuki.

Sub-Stations For Sugar Rationing For Home Cannery

It will no longer be necessary for citizens of Kankakee county who live at a distance from the county seat to come to the courthouse to make applications for allotments of sugar to be used for canning.

At the instance of George E. Luehrs, county rationing director, state and national rationing authorities have given permission to set up sub-stations for such applications.

Shortly after the first of the month, arrangements will be made whereby citizens living at a distance from Kankakee will be able to make applications in their home community.

Persons who need sugar for immediate canning may still make application in the board of supervisors room on the courthouse first floor, regardless of their place of residence.

During the last five and a half days more than 2,500 Kankakee county people have made application for canning allotments, which are five pounds per person per year.

$50,000 Suit Against Frank Waterman's Heir Ends Abruptly

New York, May 20.—(RN Special)—A suit involving some of the former estate of Frank D. Waterman, fountain pen manufacturer who was a native of Alton and former resident of Kankakee, had a surprise ending in court here yesterday.

Marion Adams lost all chance for the $50,000 she asked in her damage suit against Elisha Huson Waterman, the fountain pen heir, when it was revealed she married Waterman in Florida three months ago.

The 26-year-old Miss Adams was injured two years ago when Waterman's car overturned while she was riding with him.

More Soldiers To Visit Local Homes On Week-Ends

A number of persons in Kankakee have opened their homes to soldiers from the front field for week-end visits here, it was learned today.

Last week-end a group of local citizens, not affiliated with any particular club or organization, arranged for a bus to bring 27 soldiers here Saturday evening. They were housed in 12 private homes and returned to the field Sunday evening, the arrangements being handled through hostesses at the field.

Each week, it is hoped that between 25 and 50 soldiers may be entertained in this manner here. The boys chosen for these outings are those who are too far away from homes to visit their relatives. Many of them have never been away from the post since arriving there.

Persons or clubs interested in entertaining servicemen are asked to call Mrs. I. O. Blankenburg at 407 and arrangements will be made.

Defendants Win In Suit For Rent

James Economos and Peter Kourbes, doing business as the Hat & Shoe hospital, 125 South Schuyler avenue, today were the winners in a circuit court suit against them.

They were sued by George Stavros, former lessor of the store building at the southwest corner of Court street and Schuyler avenue, who asked for two months rent in 1934 and 1935 at $110 a month. The defendants were sub-lessors.

The case was begun yesterday morning and went to a circuit court jury at 5 o'clock last evening. At 9 o'clock there was a sealed verdict opened this morning by Judge Luther B. Bratton.

There being no case set for today, the jury verdict was dismissed until 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Discharges Jury
At the New York trial yesterday before Judge Aaron Steiner, Miss Adams was being examined by an attorney for the insurance company when Waterman suddenly entered the courtroom and informed the judge that he and Miss Adams had been married. The judge discharged the jury.

A clause in Waterman's insurance policy bars recovery by a wife against a husband even though the accident occurred before the marriage.

Big Mechanized Battle Rages On Kharkov Front

Expected To Decide
Whether Hitler Can
Launch His Summer
Offensive

By ROGER D. GREENE.
Associated Press War Editor
Russia's armies storming toward the great Ukraine steel city of Kharkov were reported by London sources to have fought their way "into the heart of the city's defenses" today, while the Germans were massing 100,000 paratroopers for a giant air-borne invasion of the Caucasus.

The German high command said that Axis Crimean troops had already overrun the Kerch peninsula, across the narrow Kerch strait from the still-rich Caucasus. Moscow said battles still raged there.

Hundreds of German Dead
A Berlin communiqué also announced that General Baron Von Richthofen, who directed the bombing of Belgrade and paved the way for Germany's aerial invasion of Crete, had arrived in the Kerch battle zone. Baron Von Richthofen is an expert on troop transportation by plane-towed gliders.

In the Ukraine, the Red armies, led by monster 52-ton tanks, were pictured in Soviet dispatches as advancing over fields littered with many hundreds of German dead in the nine-day-old offensive against Kharkov, while the Nazis desperately attempted to ease the pressure on their threatened attack on Russia to the south.

Apparently the Russians refused to be decoyed.

A bulletin from Red army headquarters announced tersely: "Our troops waged offensive battles, beat off enemy counter-attacks and advanced."

At mid-day, the Russians reported they were smashing even closer to Kharkov despite stiffened German resistance and declared the fighting was spreading like wildfire along the entire southern flank of the 125-mile front.

Meanwhile, the Russians declared that the German offensive against Arctic Murmansk, port of entry for United States supplies to Russia, had been thwarted by the sinking of 95,115 tons of German shipping in the Barents sea during April.

Nazi losses in April and May were listed as 22 ships, including two destroyers.

Survivors Of Empress Of Asia Praise Crew Of Sloop Yarra

Allied Headquarters, Australia, May 20.—(AP)—The crew of the Australian sloop Yarra was praised today by survivors of the bomb-stricken troopship Empress of Asia for rescue operations which saved more than 2,000 British imperial soldiers and seamen from Japanese fire in mine-infested waters off Singapore Feb. 5.

The 1,000-ton sloop, subsequently sunk in the Allied withdrawal from the Netherlands East Indies, was reported so tightly packed both above and below decks that the men were ordered not to shift positions for fear of capsizing her.

W. H. McArthur, Empress engineer, said that if the Yarra's commander had not taken enormous risks close to a mine field most of the troopship's crew and hundreds of soldiers would have lost their lives, instead of 40 or so.

The Empress was in sight of Singapore when Japanese dive-bombers flew over in force, the engineer said. "One bomb crashed through the deck and exploded in the first-class dining room, setting it afire," he said. "The fire was uncontrollable, and below."

"I saw a shell burst between two, bringing down both. I don't know how many of us were in the Yarra. (Rescue of most of the 2,500 troops and 144 seamen aboard the Empress of Asia was announced in Montreal yesterday with the report of her destruction.) There must have been more than 2,000 crammed on deck and below."

Speed dropped off. We were in a bad way. The Empress was drifting ablaze, moving toward a mine field, but that did not deter the commander of the Yarra.

FASCIST WAR MONSTER
THREATENING
SQUA-EE! SQUA-EE! SQUA-EE!

Washington, May 19.—A puzzling change in popular attitudes toward the war seems to have evolved overnight. This was the most important to lesser fronts. Congressmen who have hitherto been fond of the war, but not so much as the war, are now more than formerly about the war.
Now such agitation by these groups is no longer noticeable. For instance, they rarely see the American Civil Liberties Union in print, although apparently it is still continuing business at the old stand.
It has acquired some new members for its national committee, and says it is doing something about the war. It is doing something about the war. It is doing something about the war.

Haiti Economy Solution Seen In Shada Plan

Experiment Promises To Alter Entire Economy Of Caribbean Country

By OTTO G. JANSSEN
United Press Staff Correspondent
Washington, May 20—(UP)—United States government economists are watching with keen interest an experiment in Haiti which promises to alter radically the entire economy of that Caribbean country and set an example for other countries of the New World to follow.

If the experiment is successful, the French-speaking island republic may be able, in the not too distant future, to avoid to a large degree the economic shocks and dislocations which usually come to countries with relatively undeveloped economies.

The story of Haiti's experiment goes back to the months preceding this country's entry into the war. The European hostilities had greatly reduced the demand for Haiti's cotton, coffee, sugar and cocoa. Prices were down and jobs were hard to get.

Gets $5,000,000 Credit
Haitian leaders brought their problem to the United States, and after considerable discussion it was decided to set up a joint Haitian-American corporation, known as the Societe Haitien-Americaine de Developpement Agricole, to develop new crops, increase and improve the production of old ones and, in general, work out a long-range agricultural program.

The United States Export-Import bank supplied a $5,000,000 credit to SHADA, as the enterprise is now popularly known, and its backers immediately plunged into the job of making it work.

Anticipating an urgent need for rubber as a result of the growing threat of war in the Far East, SHADA intensified the exploitation of old rubber trees and began planting new ones on an extensive scale. The old trees now are supplying 350 pounds of rubber a month. New plantings total 2,500,000 trees.

Fennell the Sparkplug
SHADA is well on the way to becoming the second largest rubber-growing enterprise in the hemisphere. It is surpassed only by the Ford plantations in the Amazon Valley. It is estimated that Haiti has at least 100,000 acres suitable for rubber production.

The spark behind SHADA's energy and enterprise is its youthful president and general manager, Thomas A. Fennell. Fennell recently came to Washington to confer with President Roosevelt about SHADA's progress.

He disclosed at that time that SHADA would take on the job of helping supply the United States with essential medicinal plants formerly obtained from the Far East. SHADA plans to plant 12,000 acres of sisal, a fiber-yielding plant which can be grown relatively quickly.

Training Specialists
SHADA has about 4,000 workers in Haiti's forests and cultivated areas. The corporation's main revenue is presently derived from cutting and caring for some 150,000 acres of forest turned over to it by the Haitian government. In the future, however, when the rubber trees and other plants begin to yield, SHADA expects to obtain a large part of its revenue from these sources.

At present, SHADA is training over 100 Haitian youths as technicians, supervisors and other specialists, and is looking for more men for similar training.

"Haiti and SHADA need more educated young men who are willing

Anglo-American Leaflet Raid On France

Promise All Occupied French Possessions Would Be Returned

Vichy, France, May 20—(UP)—British planes dropped American-printed leaflets over unoccupied France during the night, containing a promise by President Roosevelt that all occupied French possessions would be restored after the war.

Wave after wave, to an obligato of anti-aircraft gun fire, the Royal Air Force planes dropped over the Vichy area showering their leaflets on town and countryside.

All the leaflets bore the statement that they were printed by the United States government and distributed by the British air force.

It was half an hour before the planes, flying from north to south, ended their leaflet distribution which apparently marked the opening of a joint Anglo-American campaign to assure the Frenchman in the street that despite any allegations of Vichy collaborationists, the United Nations were out to free France and the other countries under the German heel.

The raid came at a time when Vichy sources claimed to have received reports that Britain might move soon against French Somaliland and government leaders were conferring on a serious clash between British and Vichy air and naval forces off Algeria, on the French north African coast.

Laval Meets Petain
Chief of government Pierre Laval, after hurrying here from Paris last night, conferred with Marshal Henri Philippe, Petain on the Algerian clash, and presumably the Somaliland situation and the implications of the Anglo-American leaflet raid.

In Paris, it was learned, Laval conferred with Otto Abetz, German diplomatic envoy and other Nazi authorities. At the same time Georges Scapini, Vichy envoy on problems concerning French war prisoners held by the Germans, started for Berlin for two weeks of consultation. He conferred with Laval just before he left.

Neutral capitals were quoted as sponsors for reports that the British wanted to clear up the status of French Somaliland, on the north-east African coast across the important 15-mile Bab-el-Mandeb strait, "gate of tears" from British Aden.

Possession of French Somaliland would give Britain Djibouti, the chief town and terminus of the only railroad to Addis Ababa, capital of British-protected Ethiopia.

LOFTY DOUBLE-DECKER NOW OWES TO TRAFFIC
Sacramento, Cal.—(UP)—The world's highest double-deck bridge, spanning the deep Pit river canyon above the Shasta dam site in northern California, is now in use.

The bridge, located 15 miles north of Redding, carries two railroad tracks on its lower deck and a lane section of U. S. highway on its upper deck, 500 feet above present river level.

Construction of the towering concrete piers was started in November 1939, and the first steel was placed 13 months later. The bridge has an overall length of 3,383 feet, including short highway approach ducts on either side of the canyon.

This car never led a "fast life." Top speed has been 50 miles an hour

—one reason why its tires have averaged 37,656 miles—and could have lasted far longer. (They were replaced long before going "bald.") We've been mighty fussy about the car's diet. It's lived exclusively on Standard Red Crown Gasoline and Standard's Iso-Vis Motor Oil. That's important to remember. These days, nothing's too good for your car. To make it run well, last long, you can't do better than to team up with those two great standbys! And to give it the best possible "break," get well acquainted with the Car Conservation Schedule, now featured by your Standard Oil dealer. The procedure it prescribes is the way we care for our cars. It will help you enjoy the full mileage built into your car and tires! It'll help keep you rolling! IMPORTANT: Inaccurate air pressure can rob you of many miles. You can't get accurate pressure from inaccurate tire gauges—of which there are many. Look for the sign at Standard Oil dealers which reads: "Tested tire gauges used here—to insure accurate pressure, give longer tire life."
