Russia Admits Unrest Inside Soviet Union

LONDON (UP)—Russia admitted unrest inside the Soviet Union Saturday. Western intelligence reports said the ferment behind the Iron Curtain reached into the Ukraine where freedom fighters sabotaged Soviet army supply trains bound for Hungary.

Hungarians Go Back To Jobs To Feed Families

But Workers Still Oppose Kadar; First Martial Law Execution

BUDAPEST (U)—Hungarian workers maintained their attitude of bitter opposition Saturday to the policies of Premier Janos Kadar's Soviet-supported regime. But more men were appearing on the job under the compelling urge of keeping their families in food.

The government made no move toward releasing two workers' leaders whose arrest set off sit-down strikes by thousands of men Thursday and Friday.

RADIO BUDAPEST reported the first execution under martial law imposed last Sunday. Janos Soltesz was sentenced to death and immediately executed after his conviction at Miskolc on a charge of hiding arms. Another man was sentenced to death but the court recommended the sentence be commuted.

Two Western correspondents—Eric Waha of the Associated Press and Richard Kilian of the London Daily Express—were ordered to leave Hungary before Sunday night. Waha, a 32-year-old Austrian, was accused of encouraging workers to strike, and Kilian, 29, an American whose mother lives in New York City, of failing to adhere to regulations applying to foreign newsmen.

WAHA DENIED the charges, and both men expressed belief the expulsion was actually ordered by Soviet occupation headquarters, which takes a dim view of reporting activities by Western newsmen.

Hungarian authorities took no action to limit activities of Richard Kasischke and Andre Marton, two other AP reporters in Budapest. Kasischke is an American and Marton a Hungarian. Both were admitted to the big Csepel industrial complex on the island in the Danube River south of Budapest.

Workers said about 50 to 70 percent of the staff reported on the job Saturday and some work was continued on Page 6, Column 1

26 Injured In Derailment Of Train

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP)—A wheel broke loose from a 13-car Montreal-bound train Saturday, plunging three coaches and a diner off the tracks in the heart of Hartford's industrial section. At least 26 persons were injured, none seriously.

Thirteen of the injured were released after treatment. The others remained in Hartford's St. Francis Hospital.

A railroad official announced the cause of the accident that tied up two of the New York, New Haven and Hartford's four main lines.

The wreck occurred when the New York-to-Montreal "Ambassador" passenger train was slowing down for a scheduled stop at the Hartford depot.

THE TRAIN WAS about two miles from the station when a wheel broke loose from an axle on the third car from the rear of the train, according to Leslie H. Tyler, chief information officer of the railroad. The car is owned by the Boston & Maine Railroad.

When the wheel ripped loose, it jarred the B & M coach, the coach in front of it and the coach behind it and the diner at the end of the train. All three left the tracks but remained upright.

A little more than an hour after the wreck, the front part of the train, which had remained intact, continued the journey to Montreal.

Uninjured passengers of the derailed coaches were transferred to forward cars for the rest of the journey.

Allot Another $4 Million To Aid Refugees

President Dips Into Emergency Fund For Hungarians

WASHINGTON (U)—President Eisenhower dipped into his emergency fund for an additional four million dollars Saturday to help care for Hungarian refugees fleeing into Austria.

On Capitol Hill, Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) called for broadening of the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act. He contended this was necessary to facilitate the transfer of more refugees to this country.

Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.) said, however, he thought Congress should turn its attention to relocating more of the refugees closer to their former homes, where they can help carry on the fight against communism.

IN ANNOUNCING Eisenhower's action, the White House said the flight of refugees from Hungary has continued since the initial allocation of one million dollars on Nov. 14. More than 130,000 Hungarians have now crossed over into Austria, the announcement said.

It said the new contribution will be delivered to the United Nations to help the Austrian government, working in cooperation with international and private agencies, take care of the refugees.

In a statement, Eisenhower said the U.S. government was "proud to join with other governments, through the United Nations, in providing additional means to carry on the humanitarian work of assistance."

THE PRESIDENT'S press secretary, James C. Hagerty, said the money will come from the 100-million-dollar emergency fund authorized in the Mutual Security Act.

Monroney told a reporter it might be possible to relocate more of the refugees closer to home if Congress broadens the foreign aid program to provide funds for temporary housing, food and fuel in European countries willing to receive them.

"We will certainly be decreasing the chances of any successful revolt in Hungary in the future if we drain off to this country the people who have shown by giving up their homes the depths of their opposition to Russian repression," Monroney said.

Smoke Nearly Overcomes West Kankakee Couple

A West Kankakee couple was almost overcome by smoke while trying to extinguish some clothing which caught fire in their basement about 2:45 p. m. Saturday.

West Kankakee volunteer firemen, wearing masks, helped Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schultz climb out a basement window of the residence at 2040 W. Hickory St.

The couple did not require oxygen. They had been fighting the fire with a garden hose. The firemen who went into the smoke-filled basement were Lt. James Maass, Edgar Ehrlich and Capt. Carl Deuschle.

Deuschle estimated about $25 damage to the clothing. The cause of the fire was undetermined.

Snow, Sleet Storms Cripple Northeast

At Least 18 Dead; Areas Without Power

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow and sleet brought death and destruction to the Northeastern states Saturday.

The storm cost at least 18 lives, most of them in traffic accidents on glazed highways.

Trees covered with snow and ice resembled Christmas card scenes, but the snapping of heavily laden branches broke power lines and cut off electricity from more than 25,000 homes. It left many without heating or cooking facilities.

A POWER COMPANY official in Hartford, Conn., said damage to lines was as bad as during the 1938 hurricane.

The death toll:
New York—9.
Connecticut—3.
Massachusetts—3.
New Jersey—3.

Northern areas had up to a foot of snow. Sleet hit the middle sections. Much of the coastal area escaped with a chill rain.

In Connecticut, where more than 10,000 homes were cut off from electricity, Gov. Abraham Ribicoff said 40 state armories were being supplied with cots for the families whose homes were heatless.

POULTRY MEN there expressed fear they would suffer heavy losses unless power and heat were restored to their brooders.

The Consolidated Edison Co. of New York arranged to send a "rescue caravan" of 75 men and 9 trucks to help repair lines.

In New Jersey, emergency crews labored to restore electrical service to 4,000 or more homes without electricity, mostly in the Sussex County area.

The storm there also knocked out hundreds of telephones. At Newton, N. J., it toppled a 25-foot Christmas tree set up in a park.

In New York, Albany and some other areas had about a foot of snow.

NEW YORK CITY was battered by rain. Some sections of Vermont and New Hampshire reported up to 15 inches of snow. Northeast winds drove snow, sleet and rain into Massachusetts.

At the height of the snowstorm, a fire destroyed a cider and wine distillery at Lewiston, Me., with possibly $80,000 damage.

West Virginia had another problem—flash floods that cost at least one life.

Police Fire Gun To Halt Stolen Car Near City

Pistol shots fired into the air ended a brief chase and halted a car south of Kankakee about two hours after it was stolen Saturday night at Champaign.

Deputy Sheriff James Petre, Willard Deschand and Tom Travis spotted the car at the Belt Route junction. When it failed to halt for the siren, Petre fired his gun into the air and the car stopped just south of Kankakee State Hospital.

The driver, Henry Kraus, 17, of Louisville, Ky., was taken to the county jail. Deputies said he told them he took the 1952 model auto.

Nehru Arrives Today To Confer With President

Officials Say Talks May Bring U.S., India Understanding

WASHINGTON (UP)—American officials said Saturday the Eisenhower-Nehru talks starting here Sunday may bring the United States and India much closer together on world problems.

Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru will arrive here today from London for a four-day visit. Mr. Eisenhower sent his personal plane, the Columbine III, to London to bring him here. He left London Saturday night.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon will welcome the Indian leader at Washington National Airport and escort him directly to the White House.

MR. EISENHOWER and Nehru will drive to the President's Gettysburg, Pa., farm Monday morning for a 24-hour visit in which they will be able to talk in man-to-man session.

Nehru said Saturday before leaving London that he was not coming here to act as a "mediator" between the United States and Red China. But he added that he would be "very glad if tension is relaxed between them."

U. S. recognition of Red China is high on the list of subjects expected to come up at the long-planned meeting. Other likely subjects are the situation in Hungary and other Eastern European satellites, the Middle Eastern turbulence, controversial military pacts, colonialism, disarmament, and neutralism.

OFFICIALS DO NOT anticipate specific agreements on individual issues. The gaps between the two big democracies are too wide for that to be accomplished in a few days of talks. But they do believe that full, frank and informal discussions will give each country a better understanding of the other's position, and smooth the road for closer cooperation in the future. ## Fuel Shortage Causes Chaos In Britain

LONDON (U)—Prime Minister Eden Saturday stepped into the chaos caused by Britain's fuel shortage and sought to clear up a badly tangled situation before gasoline rationing starts on Monday.

Business firms all over the country complained they had not been told by the government how much gasoline they will be allowed for commercial trucks and delivery vans. Directors of factories—whose output is geared to available transport—waited they didn't know either.

The individual motorist knew how much gas he would get—enough for 200 miles travel a month—but filling stations shut down across the nation in order to have enough stocks to honor rationing coupons.

Fuel offices were ordered to rush emergency gasoline coupons to thousands of trucking firms to prevent a nationwide transport breakdown. Many companies howled that they have not yet received their basic ration books, let alone extra rations. The ministry blamed the Christmas mail rush and late application by industry.

Pets For Christmas

Santa Claus helped many children enjoy the holiday spirit at a Christmas party for dogs at Humane Society headquarters at Miami Saturday.

The tree was decorated with frankfurters. As gifts the children walk away with new puppies and dogs for Christmas. (Unifax)

Dulles Says NATO Again Near Unity

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles reported to President Eisenhower Saturday that the badly-strained Atlantic alliance is on the road back to unity.

Dulles returned from the Paris meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Council Saturday afternoon and went directly to the White House for an hour and 40 minute private talk with the President.

He told newsmen afterwards that he advised Mr. Eisenhower "the Atlantic community is showing renewed evidence of vigor and unity."

HE SAID THE Paris meeting achieved "important and productive" results in repairing the damage the alliance suffered when the United States broke openly with Britain and France over their invasion of Egypt.

Dulles said the formal council meetings and his informal side talks with other foreign ministers "helped to restore a sense of fellowship which will enable NATO to become an even more solid structure."

"There was a realistic facing up to difficulties and dangers, and an evident purpose to overcome them," he said. "We return with renewed hope that this purpose will be realized."

LISTING ACHIEVEMENTS of the NATO meeting, Dulles said the council approved proposals for Continued on Page 6, Column 2

Son Of Cuba Revolt Leader Kidnaped

MEXICO CITY (U)—The son of a Cuban rebel leader was reported kidnaped Saturday but police appeared inclined to treat it as a private custody battle.

The Cuban Embassy in a statement said it had learned the child was with its mother. A relative charged the abduction was a Cuban government plot to smash the uprising.

Reported kidnaped was Fidel Castro Diaz, 7, son of Fidel Castro Ruz. The father, exiled to Mexico, has been reported, without confirmation, leading a small invasion of Cuba.

FEDERAL AGENTS, taking no chances, had organized a big manhunt on the theory the abductors might be trying to spirit the boy to Cuba.

The Cuban Embassy said the boy was with his mother, Miria Riaz Balart, former wife of Castro. The statement said she arrived eight days ago with legal authority to take custody of the child.

The boy's aunt told police the child was snatched from her arms. Federal security agents were inclined to go along with the police in treating the whole thing as a custody affair.

A FEDERAL OFFICIAL said they probably will investigate in accordance with "the routine in the disappearance of minors."

Refugee Tells Of Difficulties Peasants Faced Fighting Reds

CAMP KILMER, N.J. (U)—"I arrived here Friday among the record 1,017 refugees landing in 15 planes at McGuire Air Force Base and LaGuardia Field.

INTERVIEWED just before he started through processing at the camp, Jobbagyi disclosed through an interpreter just how difficult it was for the unarmed peasants to oppose the Russian might.

The good-looking young man, with a bushy haircut and ruddy complexion, had been drafted in 1954 but was in an army penal battalion for various infractions like writing a letter critical of communism.

He and others broke out of the camp, killing the Communist officers, and took up guerrilla warfare after the revolt started Oct. 23.

ALTHOUGH THEY had no ammunition or weapons, they rounded up some trucks and drove into Budapest.

On Nov. 3 he was in his home taking a bath when a friend called to say that guns had been located. It was very difficult to get arms—often four out of every 10 guerrillas would be slain while trying to get one rifle, he said.

But they did get the weapons and Jobbagyi joined 150 others in the newspaper office. Half of them were girls, most under 18 years of age.

Red China, On Move, Has One Goal: Catch U. S. Industrially By 2000

(Editor's Note: Canadian reporter David Lancashire spent six weeks travelling more than 5,000 miles through Red China. Here is an inside look at one of the world's most ancient lands and what is happening to it under Communist domination.)

HONG KONG—Red China today is an immense machine with 600 million moving parts, running at top speed. Its 600 million individuals are sacrificing their individuality in an all-consuming drive to change a backward, poverty-ridden nation into a modern state.

Plan Yule Events For CYO Members

Two annual Christmas events are on tap for the Kankakee CYO: a party for grade school members Friday and a dance for high school members next Sunday.

CYO director Don Betourne expects more than 400 grade school members at Friday's party which gets under way at 7:15 p.m. and lasts until 9 p.m.

The CYO quarters will be decorated appropriately for the party, which will include dancing, a movie titled "Merry Christmas" and two comedies, a performance by magicians David Tetrault of St. Patrick's Central High School and distribution of gifts of candy and fruit. Santa Claus will preside over the affair.

The annual dance will be staged next Sunday from 9 to 12 p.m. in the K. of C. ballroom by the CYO student council for high school members and their friends.

Music will be provided by a five-piece orchestra. A committee headed by Ellen Janke will decorate the ballroom Saturday afternoon in a Christmas theme.

Plans for the dance are being handled by student council president James W. Dancie assisted by Carolyn Barker and the following committee chairman: Ellen Janke, decorations; Carol Brosseau, tickets; Gary Benoit, arrangements; Jean Lucy, checkroom; and Karen Hefflin, advertising.

Man Arrested, Fined For Leaving Accident Scene

A tip furnished by a garage mechanic led to the conviction Saturday of a Kankakee man on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident.

Ernest Coy Farris, 45, of 181 S. Chicago Ave., was fined $30 on the charge by Police Magistrate Paul Davidson.

Farris was accused of driving an auto which struck a parked car owned by Eugene Jones, 231 N. Hobbs Ave., Thursday when the car was parked in front of his home.

Farris later took his car in for repairs and the garage called police.

Paul Howard, 19, 218 N. Monroe Ave., Bradley, was fined $25 for carrying a concealed weapon. A switch blade knife was found in his pocket when he was arrested in downtown Kankakee Friday.

Theodore Hawkins, 31, 810 N. Harrison Ave., was fined $100 on charges of disorderly conduct and assault and battery, but Davidson suspended the fine. The disorderly conduct complaint was filed by Clon Gillespie and the assault and battery charge by Joan Hawkins.

St. Pat's Band Concert Tonight

The music department of St. Patrick's High School will present its Christmas band and choral concert at 8 o'clock tonight in the school gymnasium.

The concert is being held for the benefit of the needy of this community, said Omer F. Tetrault, president of the Band Boosters Club.

More than a thousand Kankakeeans consumed 110 rounds of fish, 60 pounds of lamb and 70 pounds of cheese at the annual stag staged by post 85 of the American Legion Friday night.

All proceeds of the affair—expected to mount over $1,000—will be turned over to the "gift to the Yanks who gave" fund and the annual Kankakee polo campaign.

Chairman Donald H. Mathis said that the Legion provided all food and beverages free of charge.

Woman's Home Companion, Collier's Ceasing Publication

NEW YORK — Collier's and the Woman's Home Companion, familiar magazines in millions of homes for more than half a century, will disappear from the American scene next month.

A company official indicated that a seeming paradox — rising circulation offset by increasing publishing costs and dwindling advertising — signaled the end of the two magazine giants.

The 15-member Board of Directors of Crowell-Collier Publishing Co. wrote the death notice Friday night by voting to discontinue publication.

PAUL C. SMITH, company president and board chairman, said the two magazines, with a combined circulation of nearly 8½ million, lost more than 7½ million dollars this year.

He blamed it on increasing costs and declining revenue from advertising.

KANKAKEE SUNDAY JOURNAL Sunday, Dec. 16, 1956

Collier's Magazine, Inc., simultaneously announced an agreement under which Look magazine will take over the unexpired subscriptions of Collier's.

The Crowell-Collier statement said arrangements were being made to divert the Company's subscriptions to other publishers. The company discontinued the American magazine last August in January number.

Gardner Cowles, president of the company, said the company was being sold to a new owner.

The board's "primary duty" to the stockholders to "protect their investment" resulted in the decision, said Smith. It withdrew periodicals.

Sales Tax Provides Needed Cash For Illinois Cities

SPRINGFIELD (U)—The city sales tax has pulled Illinois cities out of the financial hole and given them elbow room to spruce up and plan long-delayed improvements, an Associated Press survey showed today.

With revenue from the half-cent levy swelling treasuries, it has enabled many cities to grant over- due wage boosts to firemen, policemen and other employees. It also has permitted hiring more firemen and police, and shortening their working hours.

But while big chunks of the extra cash have been poured into salaries, some cities have been able to eliminate vehicle taxes and make some property tax reductions. In addition, a sampling of 28 cities showed many of them now are:

1. On a pay-as-you-go basis or heading in that direction by cutting down borrowing on future tax collections.
2. Replacing dilapidated equipment, undertaking sewer, road and remodeling improvements, and expanding off-street parking.
3. Setting their sights on future municipal projects.

SINCE ENACTMENT of the law in 1955 allowing adoption of the tax without a referendum, nearly 900 cities have levied it. The result has been in most cases that cities, instead of staring at red figures, are in sound financial shape.

The story of Dale's fatal illness and his wish for a baby pig brought him presents and cards from many parts of the nation. Instead of a single pig, he received five, one of them complete with a pedigree. A Baraboo, Wis., woman sent him a collection of toy pigs.

The party was a great success that developed into an elaborate affair complete with Santa Claus and a group singing Christmas carols.

Peoria, Evanston and Danville offer examples of the broad use being made of the added income by larger municipalities.

In Peoria, employees got a $356,000 for capital improvements. The men were hired to reduce house- hold waste, and 8 firemen were put on to lower hours from 72 to 63.

Evanston, which gets $775,000 a year sales tax money, allocated $85,000 for wage boosts and $117,000 for capital improvements. The city also has $100,000 for dress- ing-up work, including $40,000 for residential streets which have needed fixing since 1941, and $25,000 for sidewalks and curbs.

Besides raising salaries and adding new firemen and policemen, Danville is financing a sanitary sewer project with $100,000 annually for the next three years from sales tax income, which totals about $19,000. The city trimmed the property tax rate from 89 to 88 cents on $100 assessed valuation and dropped the wheel tax which brought in $68,000 yearly.

SALES TAX collections have opened the door to improvements in other cities that couldn't be undertaken in the past because of depleted coffers.

Streator, for example, is planning a creek drainage job to relieve seasonal flooding and a major sewer project. It has spent $21,000 for improvements in two city parks.

Aurora earmarked $50,000 for a new fire station, $21,000 for a new fire truck, $25,000 for playgrounds and $90,000 for road improvements. In Joliet, the 1956 budget listed half of the $500,000 annual sales tax yield for projects. The program called for such items as storm sewers, cleaning the City Hall, street name plates for annexed areas, and plans for a civic center.

Ottawa bought new equipment for the city dump and street department, and spent $15,000 as a start- er on a recreational development. The city also discontinued borrow- ing on tax anticipation notes, with a consequent saving on interest payments.

$250,629 IS RAISED BY KANKAKEE

Kankakee, as well as other cities in Illinois covered in a recent Associated Press survey, has benefited from the sales tax municipalities are allowed to levy.

The one-half cent assessment on sales brought in $250,629 for the first 12 months of its enact- ment.

The first benefit apparent to local taxpayers was the aboli- tion of two levies which pre- viously had brought in about $90,000 per year—the vehicle sticker sale and the city cigarette tax.

With finances on a sound foot- ing, the council then voted a raise for all city employees ex- cept elected officials. Extra po- licemen and firemen were hired and the working hours in these departments were cut.

Money was also available for a program to remove dead trees from terrace areas, a problem which was increased when Dutch elm disease killed many trees. Contracts are scheduled to be let soon for the removal of marked trees.

The collection of municipal sales tax is scheduled to be greater next year since the an- nexation of the area including the Meadowsview Shopping Center. Increased sales, bringing in- creased sales levy collections, are expected from the Sears, Roebuck and Co. store now being built in the Meadowsview area.

Dr. John Dewerth of Menomonee Falls said the boy "wept sudden- ly for some time and weighed only 56 pounds at the time of his 'early Christmas'."

The story of Dale's fatal illness and his wish for a baby pig brought him presents and cards from many parts of the nation. Instead of a single pig, he received five, one of them complete with a pedigree. A Baraboo, Wis., woman sent him a collection of toy pigs.

Inventor Thought His Flying Platform A Crazy Idea

LANGLEY FIELD, Va. (AP)—As a young aircraft engineer, Charlie Zimmerman dreamed of the day when a man could fly by mounting a small platform and steering himself through the air like a skier.

"At first I figured it was just one of those crazy ideas," recalls Charlie. The Patent Office agreed when he submitted his first sketches of a flying platform in August, 1945.

Patent officials took one look at the drawings—particularly the platform pilot in a man-from-Mars helmet—and set the application aside.

"THEY DIDN'T THINK it would work," says Charlie, "and they would only grant patents on things that would work."

Despite the skeptical attitude of the Patent Office, Zimmerman kept working on his idea at every available spare minute in his garage. He was convinced that man could fly by standing on a device equipped with a thrust equal to the combined weight of the man and the machine.

After several years of patting, Zimmerman built a platform with a tubular framework and powered it with two small target drone motors to drive two contra-rotating propellers. In a test one day he managed to get the device about three inches off the ground.

Armed with evidence of this achievement, he went back to the Patent Office and in March 1947 finally won his patent.

The venture had cost him $2,400 in construction expenses, $1,200 in legal fees and earned for him the honor—and perhaps some day the fame—of fathering a new field of aviation: platform flying.

BUT IT WAS several years before he got his brainchild more than three inches off the ground.

A helicopter company expressed an interest in the project, then changed its mind. He tried to interest the Army, Navy and Air Force but "got nowhere."

Zimmerman at the time was working for the government as a researcher at the Langley Aeronautical Laboratory, a multimillion-dollar installation of the national Advisory Committee for Aeronautics.

A farm boy from Olathe, Kan., he had worked for several aircraft companies after receiving his electrical engineering degree from Kansas University and came to Langley as a junior aeronautical engineer.

Zimmerman's flying platform project was just about dead when suddenly it caught the interest of Paul Hill, assistant chief of Langley's Pilotless Aircraft Research Division.

Hill was concerned because Zimmerman had neither funds nor equipment to continue his experiments. Immediately, he put the laboratory's facilities at the inventor's disposal and suggested a means of testing the basic principle behind the project.

"AFTER SOME thought," recalls Hill, "it occurred to me that an extremely expeditious manner of testing out such a principle was to employ a supersonic jet nozzle, no larger than a man's hand, fastened under a piece of plywood to serve as the platform."

The NACA granted permission in the spring of 1950 for Hill and Zimmerman to conduct their experiments at the rocket testing facility at Wallops Island, Va. When the platform was set up, Zimmerman decided that since it was his idea he should be the first to risk his neck.

Hill was next to fly the platform, then others tried it. Gradually, as they gained confidence, the men found they could make the platform move from side to side by "body English." Using safety ropes but leaving the platform completely

Man Charged With Contributing To Delinquency

Vernon D. Boatwright, 24, 619 S. Nelson Ave., has been charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor after a 16-year-old girl was found in a tavern south of Kankakee about 4 a.m. Saturday.

State Policeman Elmer Nelson and Deputy Sheriff James Petric were investigating a break-in complaint at the Canilli Tavern south of the city on Route 45.

They said they found the front door glass broken, rear and basement doors unlocked and the girl lying on the floor in the kitchen. A skillet had been knocked over, spilling grease onto the floor, and several whisky bottles, some broken, were found behind the bar.

The girl, who lives south of Kankakee, was held in county jail for an appearance before juvenile authorities.

Boatwright was arrested late Saturday by Sheriff J. W. LaFey. He appeared before Justice of the Peace George Genotte, who set bond at $1,500, and bound Boatwright over for County Court action.

Boatwright and the girl were accused of drinking prior to the break-in.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPERS went good-naturedly about their business in Kankakee Saturday as, in record numbers, they searched through shops for just the right gift for Dad, Mom, Grandma, Grandpa and Uncle Ben. ## Christmas Shoppers Throng Stores Here

Undeterred by cold drizzly weather, shoppers thronged downtown Kankakee area by the thousands Saturday to participate in what many thought might be the biggest buying day of the year here. Police meanwhile had to cope with traffic which moved bumper-to-bumper over streets in the business area. Parking spaces were at a premium.

HUNDREDS of youngsters lured their parents to the Christmas village on the Kankakee Court-house lawn where St. Nick presided over Santa Town USA. The free kiddie rides kept busy accommodating the youngsters and Santa listened to thousands of requests. Robert Reuter, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce retail trade division, commented that the Saturday which comes at this week-end of the year season is usually the largest in volume of business for local merchants.

Stores will be open each day this week until 9 p.m. and the Christmas village will be in operation from 8 to 9 p.m. every day.

The driver who escaped was Donald Turnbull, Chicago. He climbed out of the wreckage uninjured.

Turnbull told Nelson that he drove over an icy spot on the road which forced his truck off the pavement and into the bridge abutment. The truck tipped over on its side on the east end of the bridge.

Driver Unhurt As Tank Truck Hits Abutment

A Chicago man somehow escaped injury about three miles east of Herscher Saturday when the tank truck he was driving struck a bridge abutment, smashed into a power pole and crashed over on its side.

State Policeman Elmer Nelson reported the mishap occurred about 2:40 a. m. on Route 115. He said the front wheels and "saddle" gasoline tanks on the truck tractor were torn off by the impact.

The driver who escaped was Donald Turnbull, Chicago. He climbed out of the wreckage uninjured.

Turnbull told Nelson that he drove over an icy spot on the road which forced his truck off the pavement and into the bridge abutment. The truck tipped over on its side on the east end of the bridge.

The historic Australian plane, the Southern Cross, in which Sir Charles Kingsford Smith, Charles Ulm, James Warner and Harry Lyon made the first trans-Pacific flight in 1928, is being preserved as a national memorial in a special building in Brisbane.

... Unto Us A Child Is Born... Part I

Malachi--Prophecies Of A Lowly King

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of seven studies of the setting and the people vital to the most joyful of all events in religious history—the Birth of Jesus.)

By GEORGE CORNELL

The story of Christ and His mission on earth begins many centuries before His birth. Prophecy long had foretold His coming. But to an ordinary citizen of Jerusalem at the time of Jesus' birth, it was hard to believe that the time had finally arrived. This might have been his story:

The years whisper down through the years. Hunting words. Lot's words. Words rustling like the winds among the tents of olden Israel. But who can still believe them?

In these corrupted days, with that Roman cat's paw, Herod, on the throne of Judea, it is hard to trust the old prophecies—that an exalted leader will come to shield the people, even all the nations of the earth.

MALACHI

BUT YET, the words persist, swirling through memory like hidden waters, flowing down from father to son, through all the generations:

"And His name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, the Mighty God, the everlastling Prince of Peace. Of the increase of His government and peace there shall be no end."

Old words, dimmed by years, muted by graves of broken hopes. They are the book of that silver-voiced prophet Isaiah, who lived 700 years before this present taint of Jerod.

But the words still have and linger:

"Have ye not known? Have ye not heard? Hath it not been told you from the beginning?—Behold, a King shall reign in righteousness. . . . And the stretching out of His wings shall fill the breadth of the lands."

But how? Who could lift up such a peerless majesty, with that silver-voiced prophet Isaiah, who lived 700 years before this present taint of Jerod.

But the words still have and linger:

"Have ye not known? Have ye not heard? Hath it not been told you from the beginning?—Behold, a King shall reign in righteousness. . . . And the stretching out of His wings shall fill the breadth of the lands."

Some Selective Stocks Make Good Gains

NEW YORK (UP)—Stocks retraced 30 per cent of their sharp rise on Nov. 29-Dec. 7 in the first three sessions this week and then met selective support.

The net result, however, was a moderate decline in all leading groups. Many selected stocks managed to register substantial gains with the specialty steels the best performers.

Steeels and aircrafts dominated the list making new highs for the year. That list also included some cements, mercantiles, oils, shipping issues, and rail equipments as well as several specialties.

INDUSTRIAL SHARES had risen 36.68 points from the low on Nov. 29 to the high on Dec. 7. Wednesday this had been whittled down 11.03 points or 30 per cent.

Rails rose 7.4 per cent in the same period—10.94 points. They fell harder—6.99 points or 64 per cent.

Harder issues started in a late rise on Thursday when their average rose 3.66 points while industrials were only up 2.96 points in a much more heavily weighted index.

Business news generally was favorable with steel mills turning out a record amount of steel, autos holding high with Ford in the lead of Chevrolet, building up sharply, and soft coal production to date exceeding that of all 1955. Crude oil output rose as Europe took more oil.

ELECTRICITY output and car-loadings fell on the week but were higher than a year ago. Retail trade slipped back from a year ago largely because of unreasonably warm weather.

William Mc Chesney Martin, federal reserve head, opposed credit relaxation. He saw no reason to raise stock market margins.

The feature merger of the year developed when Bethlehem and Youngstown Sheet & Tube went ahead with their plan despite severe criticism of the Department of Justice which moved swiftly to block the union. Stocks of these units fell after the merger announcement.

At the close Friday, the industrial average stood at 401.21, 2.71 points on the week; rails 155.24 off 3.14; utilities 67.59 off 0.36; and 65 stocks 172.64 off 1.31.

Kankakee and Prep Bowlers Moving Into Honor Rolls

By JIM TISCHE

There's no doubt about it, the younger generation is ready to pick off some plums and gain the headlines in Kankakee area bowling. This week the "old timers" have to take a back seat to the younger bowlers in the American Junior Bowling Congress and high school leagues in the area. Some of the youngsters are also taking part in regular ABC leagues.

Two 600 scores were reported for the young bowlers in recent league competition.

In the Junior Bowling Congress, Jim Patchett established a new season high game and won 156-236 for a fine 601 series.

An hour earlier in the ABC, Roger Johnson had smashed out a 231 for the season's high game. But Roger's game did not last long as Patchett came along with the 236. Roger had 231-147-156 for a 534 series.

At Momence, sixteen-year-old Jim LaMonte, rolling in the Thursday Nite Early League, blasted out a series score of 613 which included a high game of 233.

Such leagues as the ABC and high school leagues are a big factor in developing good bowlers. It is from these leagues that the ABC and WIBC leagues will draw their future stars.

The PINS were tough this week and we have one of the smallest honor rolls of the year.

Doris Speckman of the Ladies Tuesday Afternoon League notched the high series, 584, and game, 210, for the women this week. Both scores are new highs in the league, rubbing out a 205 and 204 by Decker Herms.

Millie Stewercken of the Ladies Major City had the second high series with a tally of 559.

The Miners squad of the Ladies Senior took the high team game and series, Miners had an 825 game and 535 series.

In the men's department, Mike Setic of the St. Patrick Holy Name League registered the high game of 245.

Dick Beck of Bradley came through with the high series when he chalked up a 522.

Corner Pat of the Classic continues to pick up more than his share of the team honors. For the eighth time this year, the Corner Pat five registered the high 1536, still ranks No. 1.

$3,000 Loss In Apartment Fire

Total damage was estimated at $3,000 in a fire which charred a living room in an upstairs apartment at 123 N. Rosewood Ave. Friday afternoon.

Kankakee firemen confined the damage mostly to the one room. A charred electric clock in the room was stopped at 3 p.m. when the flames burned through electrical wiring.

Occupants of the apartment are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard B. McIntyre. Owner of the building was listed as Mrs. Bertha Boivert. Living in a downstairs apartment are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smith.

KANKAKEE FIRE Chief James P. Marnell said the fire started in an upholstered chair beside a reading lamp. The flames, he said, spread to the curtains, walls and the rest of the furniture.

No one was home when the fire started. Marnell said Mrs. McIntyre had left the apartment about 2 p.m. Doors were locked so firemen had to break through upstairs windows to fight the blaze.

Rooms in the upstairs apartment had heat and smoke damage. Most of the living room

Christmas Tree Ornaments Filled With Gay Glitter And Holiday Tradition

An 1832 Christmas tree, said to be the first in the United States by some authorities, was described in a book by Harriet Martineau with the prediction that the Christmas tree would, no doubt, become a regular New England holiday tradition.

The decorations used in 1832 were quite simple: tufts of cotton, strings of popcorn and cranberries, gold, silver or colored paper ornaments and chains, stars, candy canes, dolls, gilded nut shells and angels. Small wax candles were held by tin containers, clamped to the branches.

Decorations 1956 style are a combination of tradition from other lands and that commodity sometimes referred to as "good old American ingenuity." Pictured here are local residents with a variety of ornaments which will adorn Kankakee Christmas trees this year, from the delicate ornament which hung on a tree in Sweden 100 years ago to the very modern "holly boy" which is on this year's Christmas market.

Since Christmas is a time for tradition, it is sometimes enjoyable to think about how it all began. There are many traditions about the first Christmas tree. Henry van Dyke, in his story, "The First Christmas," tells one version. In heathen times, the Druids of Northern Europe offered sacrifices at the sacred oak to their god. Wintred, a missionary, went from England to the continent to preach Christianity and arrived in time to save a young prince from death at the Thunder Oak. Wintred told the group the story of Christ's coming to earth at Bethlehem and begged them to stop the worship of heathen gods with bloody sacrifices. He pointed to a tiny fir tree and asked that it be taken into their homes and used to celebrate the birthday of the Christ Child.

Among the many legends and traditions concerning Christmas is an explanation for the use of itself. It goes like this: A woman had very carefully trimmed her tree and that night spiders spread their webs all over it. When the Christ Child saw this, He knew she would be unhappy the next day and so He turned all the webs into silver.

The lights? Legend has it that when all the gifts were being presented on the night of the Savior's birth, all living creatures gave something, even the fruits from the trees. The fir trees had no gifts and a nearby angel felt sorry for the tiny tree, looked up at the stars, and asked some of them to come down and rest on its boughs. The stars obeyed and shone like candles.

As one sits and contemplates the beauty of the Christmas tree, legends can be recalled and imagination stimulated. No wonder then that trees are trimmed with such care and ingenuity. Like the bride with her first Christmas tree and the German girl who came to America five years ago on Christmas eve (pictured), Christmas tree ornaments have a different and personal meaning to many individuals.

Among the various types of Christmas trees decorated this season is this clever wall paste-up tree made by East Junior High School teacher Mrs. J. E. House of 251 S. Indiana Ave. Students in her social studies and English class were asked to take an outline of some land form and make it into an ornament with a Christmas motif. Pictured is Jack Swannell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Swannell Jr. of 1266 S. Lincoln Ave. His ornament, representing the state of Oklahoma, is a college (expression of an idea). Among the other states used on the tree were Tennessee, made into a sleigh, Montana, a stocking filled with toys, and Louisiana, Santa's boot.

On The Social Side

Section III—Sunday, December 16, 1956 Society • Builders —Page 28

Mrs. Glen Wade Bon Coeur of E. Court road holds a metallic mesh angel, one of her favorite holiday ornaments. She and a friend made it several years ago. Mrs. Wade Bon Coeur stresses the religious significance of the holiday in her home decorations.

Good old fashioned candy canes are the favorite Christmas tree decoration for 5-year-old Daphne Kay Dance and many other boys and girls. Donna Kay is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dance of 645 E. Hickory St.

Among the newest of the glittering ornaments that will bedeck this season's Christmas trees are these metallic stars, devised to catch all the glitter of the bright lights. Holding the stars is the equally decorative Judi Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cleon Johnson of 716 S. Greenwood Ave.

The R. H. Johnson family of 1100 W. Hawkins St. is pictured as they prepare for Christmas in their home. Johnson holds an ornament which has been in his family about 100 years, having hung on Christmas trees in Stockholm, Sweden. The Johnsons moved last year from Wisconsin. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are pictured with their children, from left seated are Prudence, 10, Nancy Ann, 12, and Priscilla, 4. Warren, 6, is standing.

Miss Irma Jeller, with her family, came to the United States from Germany five years ago on Christmas Eve. She recalls the trees in Germany, decorated with edibles, nuts, cookies, and wrapped candies, and lighted with candles. Here she enjoys a modern variation of ornaments, "holly boy" in plastic.

Miss Mignonne Fortier of 671 S. Greenwood Ave. enjoys making her own tree ornaments. Here she uses gold seals, folded and pasted back to back for an interesting effect. They are hung on the tree with thread. Many of the ornaments used today are home-made, and sequins and all types of sparkles are put to good use.

A bride of last June, Mrs. Dennis Marshall of 1265 E. Chestnut Ave. finds decorating her first Christmas tree an enjoyable experience. She and her husband shopped carefully for ornaments that matched and chose large ones that sparkle.

They also found buying all the ornaments rather expensive. Mrs. Myrtle Irls of Chebanse holds two ornaments which have adorned her Christmas tree for 45 years. They were purchased for her first tree as a bride. Mrs. Irls has two daughters, six grandchildren and a great-grandson. The family gathers at the Irls residence every Christmas eve.

Shirley Anderson, Weds Paul Anderson

Nuptial vows were exchanged Dec. 8 at 1:30 p.m. by Miss Shirley Anderson and Paul Anderson in St. Patrick's Church at Monmouth. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Anderson of Lake Village, Ind., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Anderson of Monmouth.

The Rev. T. U. Demaris officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with baskets of multi-colored carnations. The bride's brother, Guy E. Anderson, gave her in marriage. She wore a floor-length gown of nylon net over satin fashioned with a fitted basque waist of lace, long tapering sleeves ending in points over the hands and a sabrina neckline trimmed with sequins.

HER FINGERTIP VEIL of illusion net was attached to a crown of seed pearls and she carried a white Bible with a white orchid on top tied with long satin streamers. Maid of honor was Mrs. Helen O'Call of Monmouth, sister of the bride and she wore a ballerina length gown of blue crystal and white tulle. She carried pink and white carnations in a cascade bouquet.

Young Moderns

BY VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures

Hill parties are expected to be all the rage at Christmas and New Year's. The idea is that the young group may close themselves off in a room with their H-F's, while Mom, Dad and other members of the family entertain in another room. It is fun, say young moderns, just to sit around and listen.

One young girl always entertains her group at a party in her own room. A couple of husky young men arrive early enough to rearrange the furniture so there is plenty of seating space for all. That way, she says, the family can entertain too.

Corn may be popped in an electric popper and hot dogs can sizzle on a borrowed electric broiler. If need be right in her room if the kitchen is going to be in full party use. She can cook everything in advance or serve cold things such as salad and sandwiches with a hot drink if she prefers.

The lovely thing about H-F's is that it brings out the joyous tones of Yuletide carols. The clarity that a good H-F set and proper acoustics affords can put young people in the mood for pretending they are at a concert.

Good Christmas records include "Santa Claus is Coming," "White Christmas," "Jingle Bells" and traditional English carols such as "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen."

Card parties are becoming popular that one of the large recording companies has included a group of old Spanish carols in their year for a change of pace. "Fum, Fum, Fum" is one. "Ya Vienne La Viena" is another, and "Hacia Water Wonderland" and "Frosty the Snowman."

George Beverly Shea, the internationally known gospel singer and tenor Mario Lanza are represented also in long-play plates of Christmas carols.

The melodies that hold the Yuletide magic are almost as popular with young people these days as the recordings, they are so beautifully ornamented in many instances with kodachrome winter scenes appropriate to Christmas.

Fit Of Skirt Band Is The Figure Test

By IDA JEAN KAIN

How's your skirt band? Feeling a mite tight these days? Women who take measures to prevent a gain in weight, watch the fit of the skirt as much as they watch the pointer on the scales. The very day the waist band feels a bit snug and the skirt pulls across the abdomen, slimming measures are taken promptly.

Actually it is the abdomen that spreads first, but the gain is felt first at the waist merely because that is where clothes are fitted. At any rate, refusing to give the waist an inch is a proven way to prevent the middle spread, at any age.

To see what goes on, encircle the waist with forefingers and thumbs, have forefingers almost touching in front, and the remaining fingers widely separated, fanning out to span the front-shoulder of the abdomen. Right there is where the spread first threatens.

If you will restore tone to those oblique muscles this action can work streamlining miracles. Because of their curved position around the side-front of the figure, tone in these muscles tends to flatten the middle measurement.

Here are two easy and safe corrective exercises which tone the obliques and slim the waist.

Position: Lying on back on floor, knees bent, soles of feet on floor, arms down at sides.

Action: Lift hips an inch or two off floor, and tilt hips toward one side as you pull strongly inward with the side-front muscles. Hold this in-pull for a slow count of six. Back to center, tilt hips to ward other side, again pulling in strongly with oblique muscles and hold. Repeat six times, always holding the movement.

To slim the waist, keep the middle measurement supple. This exercise is really streamlining.

Position: Stand on knees, then sit back on heels. Have arms straight out at shoulder level.

Action: Pull up and in strongly with abdominal muscles and hold this contraction. Bend slowly side-wards toward right, trying to touch right hand to floor. Don't strain. At the same time, reach out with left fingertips. Hold movement for a second, then come back to position, bend sideways to the left and again stretch and hold.

Do these two exercises daily and in two weeks' time you'll see noticeable improvement in the fit of your skirt.

OUT THEY GO: Some of New York's top designers call the "pot" hat, shown here in three versions, the most unbecoming fashion item of 1956. For 1957, they'll be high and slanting.

High Hats In This Spring: Style Tip

NEW YORK (NEA)—A poll of the world's leading designers indicates that the big hat will be out for spring, 1957, and the high hat, in skirts will be slightly longer, the slim silhouette still important and colors bright and gay.

Designer by designer, this is the way the poll goes:

Pauline Trigere: The costume is coming in place of a wardrobe of unrelated singletons. Women are getting more "go-with" minded all the time. Colors will be gay and bright in 1957 but women will avoid a gaudy effect by their concentration on a well-planned and effective color scheme. I believe that hats will become less important and jewelry more important and that a more of it will be worn, even in daytime.

Norell: I hope the big "pot" hat is gone forever as it was the most unfortunate and unbecoming hat of 1956. I predict that high hats and the swagger hat will come into fashion. We will enter a period of smooth casualness, reminiscent of the late 1930's.

Lilly Dache: Hats will be high and bright and once again loaded with flowers both winter and summer. Color will be the means by which every woman will find self-expression.

Jane Derby: I hope that in 1957 American women will avoid the period of smooth casualness, reminiscent of the late 1930's.

Adolfo of Emme: After a year of bulk and width, I predict that 1957 will bring the high slanting hat into fashion. Transparent hats in soft colors will be important.

Simone de la Roche: 1956 was the "high" year of the present bentline cycle. Skirts will now get avoided in any year—the progressively longer for the next two years but only an inch or less each season.

Digby Morton of London: With the threat of austerity in the air in England, fashion designers here will certainly continue the slim silhouette but will very likely intensify the coloring to cheer things up a bit. The loose, cape-like coat shape will become trimmer and more actively wearable and the perfectionist tailor, suitable for all occasions, will undoubtedly be come important again next year.

Philip Cortney of Coty: I don't believe we shall have a war, therefore I don't think it will affect fashion.

Peggy Hochman of Chevet: The allure-minded woman in 1957 will wear frilly, jeweled lingerie and bright clothes, pretty enough for a folies girl and reminding us of the Ziegfeld beauties.

Rubin Adler of Delman: I predict that shoes will be new in 1957—in longer, more pointed shapes; in brighter, more mixed coloring and in the use of unexpected materials such as metal, felt, beads and feathers. I hope that women will avoid the same glamor mistake that should be the feminine cycle. Skirts will now get avoided in any year—the progressively longer for the next two years but only an inch or less each season.

The Worry Clinic

The Extrovert Usually Goes Far In Life

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Helen H., 58, is a famous woman engineer. She attended a funeral in Indiana a short time ago. When she was introduced to the funeral director, a tactful, genial individual, he said:

"I'm very glad to know you."

And how do you suppose Helen replied to this conventional remark?

"Why?" was the blunt monosyllable she shot back at him.

"Dr. Crane, I didn't know whether she was joking or trying to be a smart aleck or was just so socially inept she didn't know any better," he told a group of us later.

What do you readers think was the motive of this female engineer?

It is my guess that she was simply socially ill at ease, for her work would predispose her to be an introvert.

And introverts are not noted for their diplomatic use of language. For their work doesn't bring them into as close contact with other human beings.

INTROVERTS thus use their fingers and slide rules and tools, but are not required to be expert in manipulating their tongues in the art of speech.

An introvert may have a very high IQ and do a tremendous amount of good in life. We are usually indebted to introverts for new inventions.

But it is the extrovertive salesmen who sell us on their value to our homes or farms, and thus push a standard living higher.

So it is no discredit to your IQ to be tactless or abrupt and self-centered.

Many an introvert cannot bring forth harmony, either, from the keyboard of a grand piano. For that requires years of training and specific practice at striking the proper keys in the right order.

To bring forth harmony in dealing with people, also demands long practice. If you start out in life without brothers and sisters, and lead a sheltered existence, naturally you will have fewer chances to learn what makes people "tick."

ON THE OTHER HAND, if you have sold newspapers and mingled with people, you may become an expert practical psychologist before you even enter high school.

Indeed, many teachers of psychology in American universities don't know how to use their own psychology on human beings.

Perhaps they have spent years in isolated laboratories studying the love life of the gold fish or the mating habits of the white rat.

But when they get into a group of human beings, they are about as inept as many a chemical engineer, accountant or other worker with tools and inanimate instruments.

Then learn how to carry on easy conversation. A memorized "key" list is inept, like my "H-E-A-R" where "H" stands for "Hobbies," "E" for "Entertainment" (Athletics, Shows, etc.), "A" for "Literature," and "R" for "Politics."

Keeping in Step

By Mary Jean Houde

Despite the sometimes alarming commercial aspect of gift giving during the Christmas season, $14 billion was spent in Christmas trade in 1955. Christmas holiday seems to bring out the best qualities in countless individuals.

There are more philanthropies that one could list and the problems of others, which go unnoticed much of the time, are considered. Welfare officers report many individual philanthropies which are never publicized and cannot be mentioned. Included in the Christmas baskets distributed by at least one club representative this year are dolls (which she dressed) for the children and aprons (which she made) for the mothers.

Another indication of Christmas "bringing out the best" is the fact that so many people enjoy extra work downtown during the Christmas season—people who do not work during the rest of the year.

Mrs. Bernice Bergan of 223 S. Harrison Ave. is one of the Christmas time employees in a downtown store. She works during the Christmas gift-buying rush because "it's a lot of fun." She likes to meet old friends who come into the store and she finds that people, even though they are rushed, are in happier and more pleasant moods. So remember to wear a smile when you shop.

Pictured on the cover of this section is an unusual Christmas tree made by Mrs. J. E. House, a teacher of social studies and English at East Junior High School.

As explained beneath the picture, each student in Mrs. House's class was asked to choose a part from the boundary lines of a state, a continent or any area of land. Then the children were to use their imaginations and develop within that form some design suggestive of Christmas. The results, says Mrs. House, were amazing. The children were able to derive such designs as Santa Claus from Alaska, an elf sitting from Idaho, an angel from India and a dog from an Alaskan island. She says that the designs reflected the children's personalities to a surprising degree. In many cases, she would have been able to tell a child's personality from the design he or she had made.

It was Mrs. House's aim to not promote an artistic effort in her Christmas observance but most of all to relate the project to her social studies class.

So successful was the project that Mrs. House plans to place the designs in a scrap book and have each child sign his name. It will serve as a souvenir for Mrs. House.

Hats off to an enterprising teacher and her evidently cooperative and imaginative students!

In the "can you top this" department, we might mention an item which came in this week. It was regarding last week's KIS discussion of modern colored Christmas trees.

We had discussed blue, pink, gold and silver trees. Our informant tells us about a (this beats them all) black tree with chartreuse ornaments!

It was explained that the black tree was to coordinate with wrought iron in an ultra modern room. But isn't that carrying coordination too far? The future is rather frightening.

College department: Margaret Yarnall Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Mitchell of 5 Marquette Lane, has become a member of Tau Zeta Epsilon society, an extracurricular organization at Wellesley College for juniors and seniors interested in art and music. A graduate of Upper Darby Senior High School in Upper Darby, Pa., Margaret is now a junior at Wellesley. She has been a member of the choir and the cast of a Junior Show.

A wedding story in today's society section brings to light a rather unusual circumstance.

Shirley Anderson of Lake Village, Ind., was married to Paul Anderson of Muncie. Not only is the bride's maiden name the same as her husband's but their parents' names are exactly the same. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Anderson of Lake Village and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Anderson of Muncie.

At least there would be no problem in naming a boy child for his grandfather.

RUTH MILLETT

Wife Can Build Respect For Hubby

Do your friends regard the man you married as head of his house or just another henpecked husband? How they see him depends on how you treat him.

If you want him accepted as head of his own house, watch your own attitude toward him.

Don't blame him when things go wrong. The wife who says, "I tried to tell you, George, but you wouldn't listen to me and now look at the mess you've gotten us into" makes her husband look like a worm.

Make a real effort to do the things that are important to him. If he sets great store by always being on time, don't make him late. And mention now and then that the reason the two of you are always on time is because George insists on it.

Don't go around telling your friends how you outsmarted George—or how you manage him. You may have to manage him now and then (most wives do) but keep it to yourself. You don't really want others thinking of your husband as a man who can be led around by the nose, do you?

ASK HIS OPINION now and then, in front of others. And listen with respectful attention to what he has to say. You'll be surprised at how that encourages others to listen to him with respect for his opinions.

Don't discuss your husband's faults with others. He may have plenty, but it's a wife's job to cover them up, not expose them.

Don't go around talking poor. The wife who is always talking about what she would like to have but can't afford it, makes her husband feel that she is actually saying, "My husband isn't a very good provider."

A wife's attitude toward her husband has a lot to do with the way others regard him. After all, she is supposed to know him better than anyone else in the world.

Small Fry Christmas Parties

EVERYONE IN THE FAMILY entertains at Christmas. Why not the small fry? Encourage them to help their friends in during the holiday period. It shouldn't take too much out of Mom. Paper products—cups, plates and buckets—will keep dish-washing chores to the minimum. Toss everything including the table cloth into the incinerator when the party is over.

An amusing centerpiece may be made with one of the large paper paint pails. Cover it with gold gift-wrap paper to make a Jack Horner pie container. The ribbon around the upper rim of the pail, tying large bows in front. Attach Christmas ornaments to the bow with ribbon or tiny wire. The ribbon around the lower edge of the pail, tying large bows in front. Attach Christmas ornaments to the bow with ribbon or tiny wire. JACK HORNER CENTERPIECE... Easily made for a youngster's Christmas party. Use paper paint bucket. Table bell arrangement made with paper cups in develop design. Candles may be stuck in fruitcakes in aqua paper cups. When the party is over, toss everything but the silverware in the incinerator.

Band Boosters Hear Flute Trio

A flute trio composed of Sally Plambeck, Barbara Owen and Charles E. Hulse, presented a musical program at the Wednesday evening meeting of the Kankakee Band Boosters at West Junior High School.

To attach the bell clusters stretch three strands of ribbon loosely from one end of the table to the other. The clusters to loose ribbon at equal intervals, tacking or taping as you go along. Be sure each ribbon loop is of equal size.

Another idea is to put a small candle at each place setting. Line a square paper cup (the kind that is normally used for ice cream or custard) with aluminum foil carrying the foil over the cup so that a collar is formed. Put a good thick slice of fruit cake in the cup and stick the candle in the middle of it. Light them up when the children sit down.

Little carolers may be made by combining different size paper cups. Use the small paper cups for the upper part of the body, and larger cups for the lower part. Invert the cups, wire together and use your imagination in decorating. A jigger cup may also make a hat and face. Decorate with sequins for eyes and buttons and glitter dust for the mouth, applying with household cement. Absorbent cotton, transparent tape and Christmas seals may also be used in decorating the carolers.

Santa Has It Soft With Velvet

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

If your youngster insists on having some odd toy around the house that doesn't exactly fit in with your elegant decor, such as one of the over-sized animal TV seats, why not treat it to a new costume for the holidays?

Velvet is an ideal texture for the purpose, should harmonize with almost any other fabric used in the home, and may be depended upon for a handsome effect. Add to the charm of the object by using twinkling stones for eyes, a string of pearls around the neck, or in the case of rabbit, kangaroo or giraffe, a bracelet around the ankle.

The easiest method for covering an old animal toy is to remove the present fabric to form a pattern. Bind the stuffing so that it will not fall apart and ruin the shape. After you have sewed the main sections on the sewing machine, the slits that are left for the insertion of the stuffing may be sewed by hand. If this is a problem use one of the small stapling machines and cover over the staples with beads, pearls, sequins or cord.

ONE LITTLE DUCK seat became very social indeed when covered in red velvet with pale blue velvet feet and a yellow bill. Only 1 yard of red and scraps of blue and yellow velvet were used. A little space was left open at the bottom of the duck to insert feet. The feet were then cut in small double squares about 2 in., sewed together. These were turned out with one corner placed into the slit and sewed into the seam.

Eyes may be dressed up as this little duck's were by inserting sequins into velvet-covered shoe buttons.

If you make one of these "TV seats from scratch just make an oval shaped pattern at the top and

Cowardly Male Can Now Shop For Lingerie In Comfort At Stag Shop

By HUGH A. MILLIGAN

NEW YORK — The average American man would rather sit out the rest of his life in a dentist's chair than spend five minutes at a lingerie counter buying his wife a nightgown for Christmas.

It takes a special brand of valor, known only to the French and a few Park Avenue playboys, to finger the price tag on a frilly feminine item without flinching.

Under the salesgirl's smirk and the baleful glances of inquisitive women shoppers.

LET'S FACE IT, men. Most of us are about as debonair as a butcher's apron. No matter how we try to affect the David Niven smile of rakish gallantry, it always comes out a leer of undisciplined lechery.

"Why that old goat," you can almost hear the women say, "it's

Refugees Register In January In U. S.

Home Of The Week

Many newly married couples decide upon a furnished apartment or house for their "first home". Reasons for such a decision can be many but the two primary ones seem to be that it presents the opportunity to select good pieces of furniture in a leisurely fashion — or suitable time to save until ready to build or buy.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hunt, who were married approximately two years ago are among those who made such a decision in regard to setting up housekeeping. Their eventual plan is to buy or build.

Mrs. Hunt feels they were extremely fortunate to find the large, attractive first floor apartment they now call home at 413 S. Indiana Ave. It includes five rooms — two bedrooms, kitchen, living room, dining room and bath. All are large and bright and furnished tastefully.

Mrs. Hunt tells that she was delighted with the apartment the first time she saw it. The convenience of the floor plan, the color scheme and the large dining room were some of the features that had special appeal for her.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunt are not natives of Kankakee, she being originally from Wilmington and he from Elizabethtown, Ky., but they find their adopted town friendly and interesting and are looking forward to living here for years to come.

Family Room Makes House A Home

Indoor
Barbecue
Provided

The family room is becoming a necessity for a modern home. It is the coziest, happiest, most care-free room in the smartest new house plans. The way it reflects today's preferences and improves the livability of a home is shown in Design HW-31 for The House of The Week.

However, just any room cannot be a successful family room. It should be a room of an over-all formal living area. It should have convenient back door access and lavatory facilities.

So with these essentials in mind, Rudolph A. Marten, a champion designer of livable homes, plans house HW-31 with a family room that works.

HERE YOU HAVE an interesting room next to the living room, handy to take care of an overflow of guests when parties get big. Yet it is screened from living room view by a massive fireplace chimney block to give youngsters privacy for their hobbies, games or studies.

Adjoining a secluded private garden, this room has sliding glass doors to shut out the weather, but not the view. When evenings turn cold, these doors are closed and everyone congregates around the family room fireplace for popping corn or barbecuing a steak—formal living room usually sanctioned in a formal living room.

And this room is next to the kitchen to make it easy to serve informal meals without disturbing the dining room. Being next to the kitchen, it gives a mother supervision of her children while she is occupied with culinary chores. At the same time a mother in her kitchen can watch family room television, too.

In fact, television had a lot to do with the invention of today's family room.

TELEVISION has changed home design more than any invention since the automobile. While the auto introduced the garage and knocked off the old-fashioned front veranda, because it took people away from home to the movies and other public attractions, TV has brought families back to the home. This has created a demand for the family room.

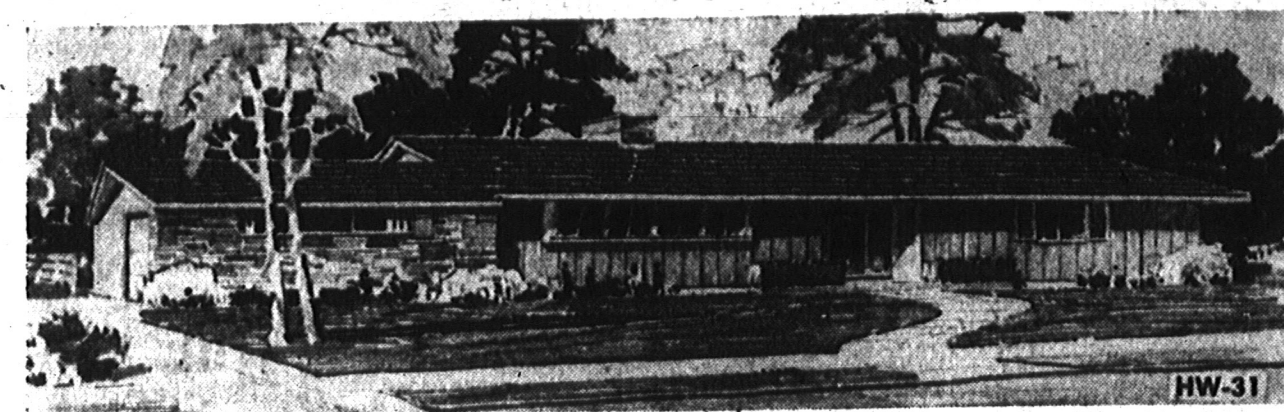

The change in home design came quickly as the popularity of TV spread. In 1950, according to good earnest estimates, less than 4 million TV sets were in use. Today the total is estimated at more than 30 million sets—for a population of about 50 million families. So the family room has become more important than the garage. Carpets or car porches fill the bill for modern automobiles, which are designed to defy all weather. But a cold porch is no place for idling teenagers.

COMFORTABLE living is envisioned throughout this house. There's an abundance of closets and storage spaces. Closets flank each side of a dressing room entrance to the master bedroom. This provides a fine place for full length mirrors. A window-lighted, built-in vanity counter is recessed in an alcove off this bedroom, adjoining a private bath with shower.

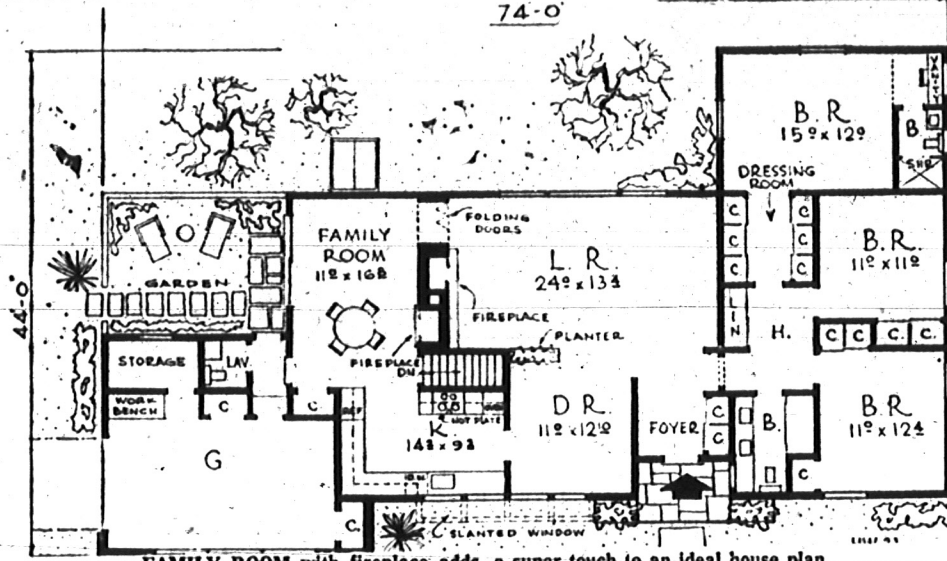

Twin lavatories are built into a long vanity counter over storage cabinets in the main bathroom off the hall. This bath is convenient to double as a powder room. An oversized linen closet in the bedroom hall has sliding doors, like all the other closets, to conserve floor space.

Open planning of foyer, living room and dining room is tempered by partial partitions and a waist-high planting box between living room and dining room.

The kitchen is efficiently planned

SLANTING WINDOWS under a wide roof overhang add a smart accent to this swank design.

FAMILY ROOM with fireplace adds a super touch to an ideal house plan.

Sandra Hanna will take the part of Sugar Plum. Announcing during the opera will be the page, Mike Hay.

Groups of about 18 youngsters each will portray candles, angels, Christmas trees, snow flakes, ironies, candy canes, toy soldiers and waiting dolls.

A highlight during the opera will be the first graders' portrayal of "The Pinata," a Christmas custom of the South American countries and Mexico. A paper mache Santa Claus filled with candy will be broken by a blindfolded youngster as the others scamper for the contents.

Preceding the opera, a Christmas wreath will be presented by the kindergarten pupils.

The seventh and eighth grade chorus also will perform, singing two numbers.

The grade school band, under the direction of Paul Pinner, will present three selections. Accompanist for the opera will be Shelley Raubdaugh. Linda Wilson will accompany the choral group.

Approximately 300 pupils will participate in this 90 minute program, open to the public. There will be no admission charge.

THE AMERICAN Legion Auxiliary will hold a baked foods sale Saturday morning in the City Grocery at 9 a.m. Holiday foods will be featured. Mrs. Leroy Eacret, co-chairman of the unit's finance committee, is chairman of the sale.

The Hotel Roosevelt in New York City has a Rib Room restaurant that serves only roast beef during the dinner hours.

Handyman Must Be Own Safety Engineer

By MR. FIX

Distributed by NEA Service

The trail of blood spots scattered up the basement stairs, through the kitchen and into the hall does not lead to a corpse in the cedar chest.

It does lead to a harassed handyman, busy at a do-it-yourself job of first aid in front of the bathroom medicine chest.

ACCIDENTS are reflected in one facet of the handyman picture which is not as pleasant as it seems. It's a way of life for the handyman, busy at a do-it-yourself job of first aid in front of the bathroom medicine chest.

Many accidents occur—they just don't "happen." They occur in the sense that they're scheduled by the home handyman through his own carelessness.

CARELESSNESS compounded with ignorance of proper procedure sets up a dangerous atmosphere in which to work.

Keep this in mind: Every time you pick up a tool you're pitting tempered steel against flesh and bone. Listed here are some cardinal points of safety to keep in mind when working around the home.

KNOW YOUR TOOLS. Know what each tool is designed to do. Use each one properly. In the case of a powered tool, read the manufacturer's instructions carefully and abide by them. Keep instruction booklets for your equipment in one place in your basement.

Don't abuse tools. To cite an absurd example, don't use a screw driver for a job of chiseling (this has been done, with attendant damage to the chisel's person).

SHARP TOOLS are safer tools. Saws which are sharp snag and bind less. Drills which are sharp have less tendency to snap or choke up. There's less danger of carving your person rather than the wood if your knives are kept-bladed.

Worn tools are dangerous tools. Wrenches with worn jaws, automatic drills and screw drivers which slip or fall to ratchet properly should be repaired, or retired from use.

If hammer heads are loose, tighten them. Split-handled screw drivers should be replaced. Leaky oil cans are a potential fire hazard.

HAVE A PLACE for every tool. A backboard for your workbench is a much better device for storing tools than a catch-as-can set of drawers in an old chest or dresser.

Hang the tools in such a manner that, in reaching for one tool, you won't snag your hand or arm on some other bit of equipment.

If your saws or chisels hang along the wall, make certain that the teeth are covered at all times with saw guards.

SAFETY DEVICES are meant to be used. It takes seconds to don safety goggles or to replace a saw guard.

No hardware store in the world can give you a better safety record than you.

Various games were played and Santa Claus appeared with gifts for all guests. Refreshments were served at the close of the program.

Robert Sprinkle, program chairman, was in charge of arrangements. The next regular meeting will be held at the hall on Jan. 14.

DAUGHTER, Shari Anne, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hobbie of Twin Lakes, Wis., on Dec. 4. The father is a former Monomense resident, son of Mrs. Matilda Hobbie.

Included in the program will be organ selections by Russell Mau, and flute accompaniment by Mrs. Karlin Dyer and Charlotte Smith.

THE JUNIOR, youth, and senior choirs, under the direction of Mrs. W. R. Clark, will be accompanied by Miss Doris Piggish and Mrs. Glen Hanson.

Sheldon Phone
Employees Hold
Christmas Party

SHELDON (JNS)—Sheldon employees of the General Telephone Co. held their annual Christmas party in Kentland with 22 employees and guests present.

The program committee included Mrs. Jack Reynolds, Mrs. Verne McKinnon and Mary Roadruck.

Miss Joyce Andrew won the women's prize. Paul Fullerton won for the men. Before departing for home Christmas carols were sung.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Brown of Paxton; Ann Ritt of Beaverville; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fullerton; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Reynolds; Mr. and Mrs. Verne McKinnon; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dillworth; Mr. and Mrs. James Peterson; Mr. and Mrs. Damon Ritter; Charlotte White and friend, William McCormick; Harlan Light and friend, Joyce Andrew; Mrs. Pearl Simmons, Mary Roadruck and Clara Ingalls.

Some Christmas readings.

The members of the Neighborhood Club were guests. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Lena Lindner and Mrs. Catherine Breuch of Chatsworth. Lunch was served and Mrs. Dietz received a gift from the group.

Each of these models conforms to the women's ideas by having two separate zones—an informal living area in the rear where a family can work and relax in private, and a formal or public area in front.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dietz are building a new house south of the Ronald Koerner home. The Dietz family will move from their farm, east of town, into the new house when it is finished.

The occasion was her 76th birthday. Games were played, songs were sung and there were

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER, AP Real Estate Editor

Three houses of special interest to every family planning on building a new home are scheduled to be opened for exhibit at Munster, Ind., near Chicago on Dec. 10. They have been built to demonstrate the major requirements laid down by the famous Women's Congress on Housing in Washington last April.

Sponsored by the National Real Estate Lumber Dealers Association, these houses were designed with the assistance of Miss Annabelle Heath, originator of the Women's Congress idea. They have not been built for sale and will not be finally disposed of until some time next year after builders, manufacturers and the public have had time to study them.

Comic strip panels featuring characters like Betty Sawyer, Alley Oop, Snuffy Smith, Dixie Dugan, Laredo Crockett, Steve Roper, Mandrake, and Mary Worth. Each panel includes dialogue and illustrations.

Nottingham Sheriff Still A Villain!

Robin Hood Would Have Trouble Hiding In Sherwood Forest Today

SHERWOOD FOREST, England (U)—The sheriff of Nottingham today he believes he could catch Robin Hood.

"I'm 57," he said, "getting a little bald on top and not as fast on my feet as I used to be, but so much of the forest has been destroyed that there just isn't too much for Robin to hide in."

The sheriff blew his nose.

"YES SIR," he added, "I'd probably get young Robin this time."

The sheriff was asked what kind of a horse he'd use to collar the legendary hero of these leafy woods.

"Horse?" he asked in surprise. "Why I've never been on a horse in my life. I'm a railroad man."

The sheriff is Councilman Roland Green, a commercial representative for Britain's nationalized railways. He was elected to the office on May 28 this year.

"I don't get a penny for being the sheriff of Nottingham," he explained, "but I do get a lot of letters from boys and girls in America who see Robin Hood on television."

"Some of them," he said, "are a little rough on me for being rough on Robin. But I love to get them just the same and I do try to answer all of them."

THE HEART OF the forest, through which Robin Hood and his merry men once moved, is the Edwinstowe region about 20 miles north of Nottingham.

Standing in the heart of the forest is an area of giant trees in which even Robin Hood wouldn't be too proud to hide.

Biggest and oldest of these is the Major Oak, over 600 years old, its spreading limbs supported by chains to keep them from falling of their own age and weight.

Sprawled over the slightly threadbare forest, between Nottingham and Worksop, are several dual estates known to the people of this region as the Dukeries.

The bustling city of Nottingham is growing, but it's not expanding into Sherwood Forest. Zoning laws prevent this, and the county officials say it will remain a monument to Robin Hood for many years to come.

Accountant Found Dead; Sought For Killing Grandma

CHICAGO (U)—The body of a 37-year-old accountant, sought for questioning about the strangling of his invalid grandmother, has been found in a West Side alley. There was a bullet wound in his head.

Police said he shot himself to death with a .32 caliber pistol.

Robert Cass, the father of two children, was missing from his home since early Thursday when his wife, Virginia, found the 32-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Minnie Scherer, dead in bed.

Police said two neckties were knotted around her head. Telephone wires in the house were cut and a .32 caliber pistol was missing from a dresser drawer.

Mrs. Cass said her husband suffered a nervous breakdown a year ago and was in failing health recently.

Cass' body and three sealed envelopes were found in a West Side garage where he kept his car.

Mrs. Cass said her husband was very fond of his grandmother and had taken her into his home two months ago after she pleaded to be allowed to leave a nursing home. The older woman required constant care, Mrs. Cass said.

In explaining the origin and history of the articles, he showed one wire ring puzzle which he said would require 10,000 years to complete, working eight hours a day.

The speaker advised parents to interest their children in some sort of hobby since they provide a path to new friendships and opportunities.

Membership chairman Lawrence Delgado announced that membership now stands at 170, highest in the school's history.

Carl McNitt directed an American Legion junior color guard ceremony and president Merle W.

Sherman presided at the business meeting.

Second grade parents acted as hosts and hostesses.

COMIC SECTION

KANKAKEE, ILLINOIS SUNDAY, DECEMBER 16, 1956

They sent me and a lot of other men to reinforce Fort Hatteras. They got us through the blockade at night.

They made gunners out of us. We spent a lot of time shooting at nothing.

Suddenly one morning we saw the whole Yankee Navy in front of us.

Those sailors really knew how to shoot. Those shells kept coming one on top of the other.

Everything they threw hit the bull's eye.

They had the range on us. They could smack us to their heart's content, but we couldn't reach them.

Next week: AMPHIBIOUS WARFARE
