NATIONS IN TRIBUTE TO THE WAR DEAD

REVERENT HUSH OF HOMAGE IS NOTED IN NEARLY EVERY COUNTRY

PERSHING SPEAKS

He Said: "May There Never Be Another War"—Appropriate Exercises Held

(By the Associated Press)

The world of the wartime allies gave the Armistice anniversary today its annual salute of silence.

At Arlington National Cemetery by the sepulchre of the symbolic slain, at the Cenotaph in London with his Majesty King George standing in uniform among his subjects, at the Arc D'Triomphe in Paris, at the monument to the war dead in Lisbon, and in the hall of the League of Nations at Geneva there was the reverent hush of homage.

Even the roar of the man-made birds that ride the air between England and France was stilled in tribute. A British passenger plane, flying 2,000 feet above the fields of Kent throttled its engines while its passengers stood bareheaded in their places for the two minutes of silence.

The captain and crew of the giant German seaplane DO-X, rding gently at anchor off Calshot, England, in waters where 12 years ago no German craft would have dared show itself, joined in commemoration of the end of the war. They stood bareheaded on one of the ship's floats, bte flag of the German Republic flying at half staff behind them.

The chief of all American fighting men in France during the war, General John J. Pershing, spoke from his office at Washington and said: "May there never be another war."

Secretary of War Hurley and General Charles P. Summerall expressed the hope for tranquility and for the maintenance, as the secretary said, of the "principles of freedom, justice and democracy which have been worth fighting for."

In Washington there was tribute in Washington Cathedral at the tomb of Woodrow Wilson, and President Hoover, after placing a wreath at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, spoke before the Goodwill Congress of the World Alliance for international friendship.

America celebrated the day with exercises, parades and gatherings in city and hamlet with men of the army and navy joining.

Against a background of peace at Geneva Hugh S. Gibson, representing the United States, expressed to the Preparatory Commission on disarmament his country's unalterable opposition to any limitation of armament through a method of budgetary restriction.

Albert, king of the Belgians, laid a wreath at the monument to the war dead of his country, and in nearly all of England coat lapels bloomed with a Flanders' poppy emblem to aid the veterans' fund.

Washington, Nov. 11.—(AP)—President Hoover, reflecting on the hideousness of the great war that ended twelve years ago, today pleaded anew for American adherence to the World Court and for freedom of the seas for foodstuffs, and forecast a possible extension of the Kellogg-Briand Pact to mobilize world opinion against its violators.

In his Armistice Day address before the good will congress of the World Alliance for international friendship through the churches, the President said "the outlook for peace is happier than for a half a cen-

CHILD NEAR DEATH AFTER AUTO CRASH

DALE LEHNUS, AGE 3, HAS BEEN UNCONSCIOUS SINCE LAST FRIDAY

HAS FRACTURED SKULL

Machine Driven By Child's Father Collides With Truck On Highway 17

Dale Lehnus, age 3, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Lehnus, 644 West VanMeter street, is at the point of death as the result of injuries received last Friday afternoon when an automobile driven by his father and a truck owned by the Kankakee County Soil and Crop association, driven by Edward Desens, collided on Highway 17 near Union Hill.

The child suffered a fractured skull in the crash and has been unconscious since the time of the accident. Physicians hold little hope for the infant's recovery.

Lehnus, with his wife and four children, were driving east on Highway 17 at the time of the accident. Lehnus claims that the truck approached the state highway from a side road, from the south, and failed to stop before driving on the concrete pavement. Lehnus alleges that Desens drove the truck on the highway and then turned west, striking the right front end of the Lehnus car.

Mrs. Lehnus' glasses were broken and she was cut by flying glass when thrown against the front of the car. The other three children were badly cut and bruised. Lehnus received only minor bruises and Desens, the trucker driver, was uninjured.

LONG LIST OF SHARES RALLY ON STK. EXCHANGE

New York, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Lifting of selling pressure on the stock market today was followed by an active rally that carried a long list of shares $1 to $4 higher.

Shorts began to cover around the start of the final hour after an irregular price movement during the earlier trading. U. S. Steel snapped up to $142.75, where it was $2.75 higher. American Telephone, which had shown conspicuous weakness, recovered most of a $5 drop.

American Can, Pennsylvania railroad, New York Central, Westinghouse Electric, Consolidated Gas, Atchison, Bethlehem Steel, Allied Chemical, North American and Standard Oil of New Jersey rose $2 to $4 above Monday's closing prices.

ANCIENT HISTORICAL TIMES ARE RECALLED

Jerusalem, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Ancient historical times were recalled today by an attack of 1,500 Wahabi horsemen on the Trans-Jordan Howeitat tribe.

The Wahabis, after robbing the Howeitat of their camels, cut the the herdsmen's hair and beards.

"Go to your Emir and tell him that next time your heads will be cut off," said the leader of the Wahabis.

GREAT CROWD OF CHILDREN HEARS SPEECH

ARMISTICE DAY OBSERVANCE AT MAJESTIC THEATRE HELD TODAY

BY LOCAL LEGION

Leo Changnon, Principal Of The Departmental School, Gives Rededication Talk

A great throng of 1200 or more boys and girls of the schools of Kankakee and vicinity crowded the Majestic theater this morning to participate in the Armistice day observance, sponsored by the Kankakee post of the American Legion, with the cooperation of the Publix theaters and Kankakee schools.

Leo E. Changnon, principal of the Kankakee Departmental school, was the principal speaker. His subject was "A World Anniversary of Rededication" reproduced at the end of this article. Principal Changnon was introduced by Joe Fister, American Legion chairman of the observance.

The program began at 9:45 in the theater with the showing of several films: "A Fairy Foreland," a scenic novelty; "A Scenic Classic," showing pictures taken among the islands of the Japanese coast; "Old Glory" a patriotic story; "Barnacle Bill, the Sailor," a Talkartoon; and "Guns," a musical novelty with the World war as its theme.

At the close of the films, the children were lead in the singing of patriotic songs by Olive Humphrey, director of music in the Kankakee schools. The piano accompaniment was played by Media Brownlee, home economics teacher in the Departmental school.

The program closed with Principal Changnon's address, which is given below:

"Twelve years ago at this time along five hundred miles of devastated fields and wrecked towns five million men were burrowed into blood soaked, shell torn soil. Amid the deep sullen roar of mighty guns, the scream of shrapne', the staccato notes of machine guns, the cracking of rifles, the hiss of lethal gas an appalling toll of human lives and limbs and minds was being taken. From overhead rained high explosives from mooming airplanes and here and there as plane shot down plane a craft was hurtling to the ground carrying its human cargo either lifeless or to almost certain death. Out on the high seas bristling destroyers roved like hungry wolves searching for the deadly U boats whose torpedoes had sunk hundreds of ships and exacted hundreds of lives.

"At home in the warring nations millions of men, women and children were enduring every privation for the men and women at the front; millions grieved for loved ones lost at the front, victims of the enemies steel and gas. In the training camps were millions of men, mostly young, feverishly drilling looking toward orders to move to the carnage. There were dead, dead, dead everywhere in the battle areas. In every warring country hospitals were overflowing with groaning suffering men, and others wounded were stalking about to agonize and bear their scars until they heard the Divine Taps. Millions of hearts were broken; millions of homes and lives were blighted.

"Most of the civilized nations of the world were at war, the greatest and most awful war in the world's history. They were bending every resource, every energy to kill and maim, and with millions of men and women in combat and the frightfully deadly engines of destruction humans were falling like wheat before a scythe, the very sun was blurred with blood mist.

"Then came eleven o'clock the morning of the eleventh day of the eleventh month of 1918. The carnage ceased; an unearthly stillness settled over the war wracked areas and out to the civilion populations. It was almost unbelievable that the war had at last come to an end. But when it was realized, the celebrations in every victorious country which had fought knew no bounds. Yes and thousands of people in the defeated countries thanked God, too.

"The kaiser was overthrown; Humanity was saved from his iron heel; His mailed fist had been crushed; Democracy had won; Up from these holes on the seared fronts; down from the airplanes and out from the seas came grim men whose strained eyes, lined faces and tense carriage bespoke what they had endured. Eyes that had blazed with hate mellowed. The men looked at the now clear skies, quiet fields, and safe seas. They hesitated to move for a time for fear news of the armistice was only an enemy ruse; they found it difficult to realize that peace had actually surmounted the hell of war.

"Slowly and sadly even in the joy over the cessation of the hostilities the fighting men returned to

Gene Tunney Does Not Owe Mara A Penny

New York, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Gene Tunney, retired boxing champion of the world, does not owe Timothy J. Mara, a cent, a supreme court jury decided today.

Mara claimed a $526,812.42 share of Tunney's ring earnings for helping to arrange the match at Philadelphia in 1926 in which Tunney won his championship from Jack Dempsey.

The jury held for Tunney in his contention that Mara, a New York bookmaker and boxing fan, was enlisted only to try to have the fight held in New York, and that since it was not held here the contract was void.

The court had instructed that Tunney owed Mara all or none of the more than half a million dollars, which represented ten percent of Tunney's Philadelphia purse, twenty percent of his earnings as heavyweight champion, and interest on both sums to date.

The jury had been out an hour and a half when its verdict favoring the retired champion was brought in before a courtroom filled with waiting spectators.

Jurors said they had stood 10 to two for Tunney from the beginning of their deliberations. Three polls were taken before the unanimous verdict was obtained.

Neither Mara nor his attorney was in court when the verdict was read. Spectators applauded the finding, and Justice Hatting commended the jurors on their decision.

Tunney, standing in smiles before the counsel table, shook hands with each juror as he filed past and Joseph Goldberg, foreman, said as he congratulated the retired champion: "It couldn't have been anything else. He knew that the minute after we started deliberating."

"The verdict is just," Tunney exclaimed. "It certainly justifies the stand I have taken ever since this claim was made against me in 1926."

3 SLOT MACHINES TAKEN IN ROBBERY

The Sunnyside Lunchroom, Maple street and Waldron road, was robbed last evening. The thieves obtained three slot machines in which there was a considerable sum of money in addition to a large stock of cigars and cigarettes. Entrance to the place was gained by breaking a rear window. Sheriff Ed Hoennicke and Deputy W. J. Riley were called to investigate the robbery today.

Fred Tanner, residing a mile south of Van Siding, notified the seriff's office this morning that hunters in his vicinity were shooting at his chickens.

A Ford sedan, said to have been stolen from Oscar Engelbrecht of Buckley, was found about a mile north of the school house on the old Manteno road last evening.

OFF FOR ARIZONA

Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Baker left today for Tuscon, Arizona, to spend the winter. It was necessary to remove Mr. Baker in a hospital ambulance to Joliet where they boarded a Rock Island train and will thus be enabled to reach their destination without changing cars. Mr. Baker's many friends hope that a winter in the mild climate of southern Arizona will be the means of speedy restoration to health.

NEEDY FAMILY REQUIRES HELP FOR SICK ROOM

Word comes from the community welfare committee that a certain needy family in Kankakee, which is very deserving of assistance, is at the present moment very much in need of several good wool blankets.

There is a case of illness in this family that requires the patients to be wrapped in warm blankets and placed outside in the fresh air and sun each day. This sick member of the family has not been able to be out doors according to the doctor's orders, due to the fact that the family was unable to purchase blankets or wearing apparel to make this possible.

This sickness in the family, coupled with the other unfortunate circumstances that are visiting this family, makes it quite apparent that any one wishing to give assistance to the welfare committee's activities at this time, can do a great deal of good by donating blankets to this very worthy and needy family.

A call to Main 2040 will bring some one the home of any one who can make this donation.

DENY OTTO LAWSON PROBATION; OTHER TWO MEN RELEASED

Otto Lawson, Kankakee county's "bad man" who led a gang of youthful hoodlums last spring in stealing hundreds of chickens from farmers in the eastern part of the county, was today denied probation by Circuit Judge A. W. DeSelm and will be taken to Pontiac to start a one year to life sentence.

Otto and his brother, Ralph, were convicted by a jury at the October term of circuit court for robbery. Both filed requests for release on probation which were referred by the court to C. H. Mead, probation officer.

Mr. Mead found Otto Lawson's record so bad and the prisoner had misrepresented items in his record to such an extent the probation officer emphatically recommended that he be denied probation.

In the case of the brother Ralph, probation was recommended by Mr. Mead and granted by the court. It was found that Ralph is afflicted with a weakened mentality and that he had no previous criminal record. It is believed that, removed from the influence of Otto, he will no longer be a source of trouble.

Another defendant, William Coffman, was granted probation. Coffman had pled guilty to being involved in the theft of a number of stoves and washing machines in this city last spring. Restitution was made. Coffman is the father of nine children and had no previous criminal record. He was represented by Attorney T. S. Sawyer. His application for probation was not opposed by State's Attorney T. R. Johnston.

Red Cross Roll Call Is Opened

Washington, Nov. 11—(AP)—Strong support for the Red Cross annual Roll Call which opened today was urged in a telegram sent to local chapters throughout the country as John Barton Payne, chairman of the relief agency. The message said:

"In the present Roll Call the Red Cross faces serious and exceptional demands calling for the earnest devotion, courageous and persistent effort of all Red Cross men and women. We must measure up to the demands and make the Roll Call a great success. The Red Cross has its own great responsibilities and must meet them."

W. C. T. U. WOMEN ENROUTE SOUTH FOR CONVENTION

Chicago, Nov. 11.—(AP)—More than 100 Illinois and Iowa members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union boarded a train for New Orleans today enroute to Houston for the national convention, refusing to admit discouragement over wet election victories.

Mrs. Anna Marden De Yo, Evanston, national secretary said "We are not discouraged by the outcome of last Tuesday's vote.

"The victory of Pinchot in Pennsylvania of Walsh in Montana and of Hastings in Delaware show that we are not crushed, and in the end everything will be all right.

"We have fought for half a century to get the 18th amendment into the constitution, and until something better is suggested, we shall fight to keep it there."

BIGAMIST TELLS OF MANY MARRIAGES

Oakland, Cal., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Norman Arthur Lee Flood, convicted bigamist, told police today he had married and divorced 29 women during the last 23 years.

"And sweethearts? I figure I've had about 400 sweethearts," he said.

"Ever since I was 17 years old I've had a way with the women," Flood said. "I soon learned if you treated a woman as you would a square shooting man, the woman would fall for you every time.

"Anyway, I've always found the plan to work out nicely.

"Yes, I married them all and divorced them all. I wouldn't be in this mess today if I hadn't slipped up on that last marriage. I thought I was legally divorced from wife number 28, but I guess I wasn't."

Flood was sentenced to serve from one to ten years in San Quentin prison last week.

VISITING AT DWIGHT

Mrs. J. P. McCullough and son John and Mrs. Walter Gernents are spending Armistice Day in Dwight with Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Maisonneuve and family. Mrs. Caroline Leidecker who has been visiting in Dwight since Sunday as guest of the Maisonneuves will return home with them.

Mrs. Sarah Adams of Harriaburg, Ill., former nurse at the State hospital is spending a few days here with her son E. B. Adams of South Greenwood avenue.

EMORY COBB'S DEATH SUDDEN AT PHOENIX

GRANDSON OF KANKAKEE PIONEER SUCCUMBS AT HOME IN ARIZONA

BURIAL TO BE THERE

Born In Kankakee County; Parents Had Recently Left To Reside With Him

Emory Cobb, a grandson of the late Emory Cobb, Sr., one of the early community leaders of Kankakee, died at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at his home in Phoenix, Arizona.

Mr. Cobb was about 42 years of age. His death came suddenly as he was preparing to take a collection of exhibits to the Arizona state fair. Details were lacking in telegrams received by local relatives.

The body will not be brought to Kankakee, but will be buried at Phoenix. Mr. Cobb leaves his wife and two daughters, Gretchen and Lucia.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cobb of this city, left Kankakee about a month ago to make their home with him at Phoenix where the younger Mr. Cobb has resided the past five years. He left this community about eight or nine years ago.

Mr. Cobb was born and raised in Kankakee county, residing for a time on a farm near Grant Park. He was employed by the federal government's land survey department for some time in making maps. He also did this work for large mining companies. At the time of his death his back yard was filled with huge relief maps which he had made to exhibit at the state fair. Some of these were nearly 40 feet square.

The deceased was a nephew of the late Charles and Duane Cobb, who, like Emory Cobb, Sr., were leaders in building up the community. Emory Cobb, Sr., built the first large building in Kankakee—the old Cobb building which stood on the site of the present Arcade building. The family name has long been synonymous with the progress of Kankakee from a struggling village to a modern city.

The deceased was also a nephew of Mrs. D. Sherman, 950 East Merchant street, and Mrs. George Lovell, 1056 East Court street.

FIRE LOSSES AT RICHARDS STORE ADJUSTED; SALE

Insurance adjusters have completed their work at the Richards store, which was recently damaged by water and smoke from a fire on an upper floor, and authorized the management to dispose of the merchandise. This they are prepared to do, commencing tomorrow at a sale, which is announced on another page in this issue.

The stock of the Marvel Hat Shop, it is understood, will be sold later in the week.

CONDITION OF BISHOP GRISWOLD CRITICAL

Chicago, Nov. 11—(AP)—The condition of Bishop Sheldon Munson Griswold of the Episcopal Diocese of Chicago, who has been fighting for his life for a month against attack of heart and other organic ailments, was described today as critical by the Physician, Dr. Dwight Clark.

Bishop Griswold is 69 years old. Last February he was stricken by similar attacks and a recurrence of the illness sent him to Evanston hospital Oct. 10.

AM. LEGION COMMANDER IN ADDRESS

RALPH T. O'NEILL ADDRESSES CELEBRATION CROWD AT DAVENPORT, IA.

TO AID THE JOBLESS

Says Each Of 10,000 Posts Is To Appoint Employment Officer At Once

Davenport, Iowa, Nov. 11.—(AP)—In an Armistice Day celebration address here today, Ralph T. O'Neil, national commander of the American Legion, urged the American people to support the Legion's stand that the national congress immediately enact the necessary legislation to bring the country's navy up to the strength provided by the London treaty.

He also announced that each of the 10,000 posts of the Legion is to appoint at once an employment officer to help relieve industrial depression. The American Legion national unemployment commission, just formed with representatives from large industrial centers, he said, will meet at national headquarters in Indianapolis tomorrow, to formulate plans for the Legion's aid in the present emergency. Howard P. Savage, past national commander of the Legion, is chairman of the commission.

"To those veterans out of work," Mr. O'Neill said, "I would suggest that they tie themselves down to a community and stick to whatever jobs they can get there. It is in the place where they are known that they will get the best chance of tiding over this period of sacrifice," he added.

"I want to say also, that indications justify the belief that conditions will change for the better soon."

Regarding national defense, the national commander said:

"The American Legion wants peace but it insists upon the maintenance of a military strength sufficient to guarantee the security of the country from war until a better plan can be devised to prevent army conflicts between the nations of the world.

"The Legion believes in a naval force no larger than is necessary, but equal to any other, if for no other reason, than to maintain the progress toward permanent peace which has been started by the outlawing of war, on paper, by the Kellogg peace pact.

"The American Legion looks to the leaders of our government, and to the congress of the United States, to make good the impression gained by the public as the treaty was negotiated, that our navy will be built up to the limitations of the London Naval Pact, and not permit the treaty to be used for the purpose of reducing our first arm of defense without replacements."

GAS STATION TO GIVE FUND TO THE POOR

Beginning tomorrow, Nov. 12, the Publix Gas and Oil company, Hickory street and West avenue, will give half a cent out of the purchase of every gallon of gasoline sold at their station to the Community Welfare Committee for the relief of suffering among families of the unemployed here this winter. The donation will be made for a period of one week, including Wednesday, Nov. 19.

Announcement of the donation is made by the company in a large advertisement in tonight' Republican. The company is starting the donation with a check for $25. Just how much will be given to the welfare fund depends upon the amount of gasoline sold at the station during the next week. If 5,000 gallons are sold during the week, with a donation of half a cent a gallon, it will mean $25 added to the original check, making the total $50.

DANVILLE TRUCK DRIVER IS BURNED TO DEATH; CHICAGO

Chicago, Nov. 11—(AP)—A truck driver temporarily identified as Don McIntyre of Danville, employed by the Danville Motor Company, of Danville, Ill., was burned to death early today in a fire which swept through a garage causing damage estimated at $25,000.

The body of the man was found under a truck which he had driven here with a load of produce. Twenty-five automobiles and trucks were destroyed in the blaze.

Stanley Lowe transacted business in Chicago yesterday.

A WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON—A curious phenomenon—although perhaps one that must inevitably occur—is the number of retired or rejected politicians encountered from day to day.

Many of them are found at luncheons in private gatherings almost every day. Some may be seen whose names are in the public mind though they may be out of the sphere of politics peacefully about their private affairs.

Take, for example, Joe Thomas, ex-governor of Oklahoma, now Washington—secretary to President Wilson all the eight years he was in office. Joe Wilson. He is a Democrat in the capital. And Joe Tumulty, Siempi and Forest Sanders are secretaries. They, too, have been, have law offices here. Then mingle with them as they did when they held official positions.

And there's Frank Mondell, once a power in the house of representatives, now practicing law in Campbell, once of Kansas, Joseph Daniel, former commissioner of corporations, Sydney Anderson, late of Minnesota, who figured so prominently in the house in the days of farm relief battles, not to mention countless others.

Conjecture.

Even those now dead have their names remain. In the Washington directory the name of Robert Lansing, one-time secretary of state still appears. Until last year, too, the name of Admiral Dewey, hero of the battle of Manila, was listed there.

Administrations and congresses come and go on the political tides, each bringing to Washington new people and personalities. Each leaves flotsam and jetsam of far-off political storms.

There are those who first came here to legislate and remained to lobby.

The result of the national politics preferment, be the time in office long or brief, has served to transplant some of them socially and in private occupation.

Ties Gone.

There are those whose prolonged residence in Washington have snapped the ties with their home. New tendrils have spread out to bind them to their new environment.

And there are some who enter, fail to make political defeat was only momentary. The defeat of former Senator Gore of Oklahoma is representative of this class.

So, a glimpse behind the curtain of private life in the capital reveals many a once powerful politician figure—men who stalked boldly on the national political stage in days "too far back for the memory of some of us to reach."

For some reason they find themselves strangely metamorphosed into that anomaly of the American democracy, the odd political group of the nation—voteless Washington.

Kankakee History

November 11, 1899

St. Patrick's church bazaar opened up in a blaze of glory last night and with a large attendance. The Armory was beautifully decorated and Kentland Indiana were afternoon callers there.

There was good music by Beiterig's Family band. A unique feature was the Chinese and Japanese booths with young ladies of the parish attired in the costumes of those countries. The gentleman's diamond pin, ladies silver tea set and girl's gold watch contest opened successfully. Tonight there will be music vocal and instrumental, dancing and other features.

The Illinois Central will in a few days commence the erection of a new tee house, 30x32 feet at the junction. The object of doing away with the old house at Hickory street, which is something of a landmark, is to facilitate the icing of passenger coaches at the round house.

PETER RABBIT HEARS A SONG

He looked eagerly for a glimpse of the singer

When things seemingly are wrong
There's nothing like singing along!
—Peter Rabbit.

Peter Rabbit was feeling out of sorts. There was no particular reason for this. Perhaps it was the weather. Perhaps Jimmy Skunk had been in sulks. The days were long and the nights were long and Peter had been feeling that way himself. Then, too, he missed Old Briar-Patch so much that Peter had been afraid that he would get used to not living there. So Peter was feeling out of sorts. Little Mrs. Peter discovered that he got out of the wrong side of the bed, but of course she didn't say so. Peter knew he had a regular bed. Anyway he grumbled and complained and everything was wrong. Even when he did get a chance to slip away from the old Briar-Patch to the edge of the Green Forest he still grumble dto himself.

Peter was looking to find his big cousin, Jumper the Hare, but Jumper was not exactly like Peter. He never knew where about. Anyway Peter wouldn't find him, and this didn't make him feel any better. He wanted some one to talk to, but the Green Forest seemed deserted. So it seemed to Peter that everything was wrong and a more disconsolate small person than was Peter Rabbit you never saw.

Suddenly Peter pricked up his long ears. But Peter had had it seemed to him that he could hear better sitting up. Anyway he could look around better. If I didn't know any one lanqing then my name isn't Peter Rabbit, muttered Peter. It wasn't very much like a song and it was one I never have heard before, but it was a song. Now who of my feathered friends would be singing at this time of year? Most of them left long ago for the Sunny South. Besides I don't know any who would sing in the dark at this time of year. I have heard Whitethroat the Sparrow sing in the night, but that wasn't Whitethroat's song and Whitethroat isn't here anyway."

For a time Peter sat there listening, but the song wasn't repeated. Finally he squatted down again and discontent took possession of him once more. He didn't even notice that the clouds had broken and a few stars were peeping through. Not even when sweet Mistress Moon appeared and her silvery light made white patches among the trees did Peter take notice. Yes, indeed, Peter was out of sorts.

Talks To Parents

NURSERY PICTURES

By Alice Judson Peale

In this day when every aspect of a child's life meets with increasingly intelligent consideration it may be worth while to point out some of the qualities we should look for in the pictures we hang on the nursery walls.

They should deal with subjects intrinsically interesting to the child. Pictures of animals, of children engaged in familiar occupations, family scenes, domestic activities, all these are naturally interesting to him.

We should try always to choose pictures which are in themselves pleasant to look at in color and composition. For the very young child there should be simplification of line and color.

Nursery pictures should be frequently changed as the child ceases to pay attention to them after they have become too familiar. They should be hung low, at his own eye level, and it is better to have too few than too many.

The covers as well as occasional bright illustrations of certain women's magazines make very satisfactory nursery pictures.

Recently there have appeared a group of French prints which show happy scenes of childhood, as well as family and fairy tale scenes, all most delightfully colored and printed. Attractive prints of Mother Goose rhymes are always on sale in the children's book departments of our better stores.

Suitable pictures for the nursery need not be expensive if we mount them at home and cover them with a coat of shellac to make them washable and give them permanence.

For a little extra expense we can even have simple, wooden frames made in different bright colors.

SUNDOWN STORIES

The Simple Camel.

Master Camel was about let us have a story suggested John.

Oh let's go and ask," said Peggy Ed. "Let's ask a Camel.

They walked through the zoo until they came to a very tall camel. He had two enormous humps and he was look a about him as though he had a lot to do.

"Camel," began John, "my sister and I would like to have a ride. Could you give us one?"

"Certainly," said the Camel. "I haven't anything special to do. I was just thinking and offering if I hadn't anything special to chew so that was important.

Climb on.

The children got down on the ground and Ed and Peggy pulled him down and then they started off, riding along in a loop path. As they rode along the camel talked to them.

"I come from Asia Minor," he said. "I am very much used to carrying heavy loads. You two children are very small and I can carry you easily on my back. You are very light weight.

The children gladly agreed with him because they had both gained quite a few pounds since the summer and they knew they could carry as much as five hundred pounds. Camels are very strong.

They say I'm a simple creature," the camel continued, "I shed my hair every year. I grow a new coat in summer time and I look very untidy and shabby. It is then that I have so much trouble. But at this time of the year the visitors aren't so busy and my coat is at its best. I am very comfortable and big and fat. But I can't change my ways to make a good impression on visitors which is very confusing for me to do that.

HOW'S your HEALTH

SOUR MILK

The fact that most adults are addicted to the habit of drinking milk with the name of Elias Metchnikoff.

When this great scientist died at the age of 71 he had advanced an age that was unusual for those days. Some good-natured asking: "Why did he not drink sour milk?" the prevailing impression being that Metchnikoff held sour milk to be something akin to the elixir of life.

The impression was the distortion of certain well-established facts. Metchnikoff did study the effects of sour milk on the bacteria commonly present in the human colon, and he did recommend the drinking of sour, but no longer find it favorable to the multiplication in the large gut.

The human colon is infested with bacteria which live and thrive on or the waste present therein. The characteristic of the bacteria depends largely on the character of the waste on which in turn, depends on the diet is consumed.

When the diet, and hence the waste, contains much protein matter, the colon bacteria are of the putrefactive type. These bacteria are responsible for the offensive odors commonly associated with fecal waste. They also produce certain poisonous substances which are absorbed by the blood stream and may give rise to a condition known as autointoxication.

By changing the diet so that the protein character is reduced, the putrefactive bacteria may be both driven out by allowing liberal quantities of carbohydrates sugars and starches, the character of the colon bacteria is so altered that the putrefactive bacteria no longer find it favorable to their development.

The decline of putrefaction may be further hastened by the use of sour milk or of fermented milk. Such milks are soured by bacteria and in drinking the milk the bacteria are taken up by the colon. A number of these bacteria reach the large intestine and thrive there. Some of these bacteria are known to produce substances which are actually poisonous to the putrefactive bacteria.

Chic Sale Issues His Thanks Proclamation

DETROIT

Well sir, whereas our forefathers endured the hardships and privations of primitive life that we now endure ourselves, and

Whereas, President Hoover has seen fit to issue a Thanksgiving proclamation in spite of everything, and

Whereas, we will have Thanksgiving just as soon as the price of turkeys gets high enough, and

Whereas, no matter how bad conditions are in the United States you look at any foreign country and that we are better off than anyhelse in this world, and

Whereas, the Republicans have shown their intelligence by electing a lot of Democrats to take the blame for things.

Now, therefore, it is fitting to pick out one day which to add up things and give thanks that they are not as worse. So let everybody get together and do our best with Thanksgiving.

Eight Russions Charged Former French President With Plotting With The

Moscow, Nov. 11 (U. P.)—Eight men, charged with plotting with former French premier Aristide Briand to send the Russian army into Rumania to help her fight Hungary, were arraigned before the public court yesterday for the first time since the overthrow of the Soviet Government. The eight were charged with the publication of a sweeping indictment which implicates scores of other leaders, many of them prominent in the Communist party, in the plot.

The indictment charges that they have been working for several years to disorganize industry, foment discontent and undermine the Soviet government in preparation for the war for dismemberment of Russia. Actual military preparations are not mentioned in the indictment, reads but the difficulties between France and Russia are said to be because of the University of German support this move was postponed to 1931.

The alleged confederates were said to name Poincare and Briand as the chief supporters of the plot abroad and the indictment charges that communist communism was controlled from Paris where financial arrangements and espionage were directed. Many of the industrial "communists" accused of confederation with the plotters were said to have received a million and a half rubles for their share in the part they played in the plot, the indictment asserts.

Of the certain French institutions in Moscow the French Embassy. The Council of Commissars, the Institute of the "Institution" only by initials with A. M. and R. "These offices," the indictment charges, formed an active liaison between the counter-revolutionary plot in Moscow and the Tsarist Court in Paris."

In the confession which Ramishin was said to have made, details of the plot were disclosed.

There was to have been an uprising in the Ukraine, under the leadership of Petlura, who was to send her troops to the Ukraine and the Baltic states, taking over Crimea and Leningrad with a force of 600,000 men, the former Russian General Lukomsky, would march on Moscow.

The new government was to be headed by Miliukov, according to the indictment. Petlura was virtually chosen in advance. Ramishin or Miliukov, a former Minister in the Kerensky government, was to be Premier of a "Bourgeois Democratic Republic."

The white Russian General Denikin or Lukomsky, Minister of War and Tate, the Russian Academician, Foreign Minister.

In return for the assistance, the confession said, Britain was to receive the protection of the Caucasian Oil fields and other valuable concessions were to have been distributed among France and other nations.

WINTER IN THE DAKOTAS; SPRING IN OLD ILLINOIS

John McElroy is just back from a trip up into the Red River Valley of the North where he found winter fully enthroned. Last Thursday, at Grand Forks, the thermometer was two below zero, the Red River was frozen over, and he joined with them in the winter sport of stealing just for the novelty of it. It was winter in North Dakota and spring in Illinois, if you take the weather as a criterion. In that city, northern climate however the ozone was quite heroical. Mr. McElroy says the note of pessimism was so prevalent, is considerably modified in Grand Forks and vicinity. The reason for this probably, is due to the immense activity the industry located there and the fact that they were wanting their time and to turn to the Salvation Army. Their work is wide and varied. They did a need in a community that no one else can do. Especially the work that Thy Army does and they help them so they can help others. The Salvation Army is an army community acts as a clearing house of relief and their purpose to serve and they are glad to serve every day and in every way.

The Salvation Army seeks no praise or glory for their work. They believe service to mankind is the greatest work they can accomplish. They have as Bruce Barton says unconsciously adopted the saying of the Master as to how to serve. A great deal of good can be done in the world if one is not too careful who gets the credit."

CHARGES CAPONE FOLLOWERS STOLE RECENT ELECTION

Chicago, Nov. 11.—(U. P.)—A charge that followers of Alfonse Capone stole the election from him was made today by Congressman Stanley Kunz, Democrat, that was denied by Capone's attorney, Peter Granata, Republican.

Kunz, who failed of re-election last Tuesday despite the Democratic landslide said he had been informed by his Capone spies that the Capone men used threats and gunplay where money could not buy votes. Kunz declared he will go to Washington to ask federal court intervention and later a congressional investigation.

Characterizing the charges as "foolish, humorous and ridiculous," Granata said he would be glad to "throw open my record to any investigation the Democrats may invite."

Salvation Army Fills A Need In The Community That No One Else Can Do

What is The Salvation Army, Their Work and Methods.

"Service to God through service to man" is perhaps the most clear and concise definition that could possibly be found to help some poor wretch to his or her feet again the Salvation Army helps. Practical and direct methods strict economy, a question asked as "What is The Salvation Army?"

The Salvation Army is a Christian movement, designed to reach and serve the great masses of the unhurried in all lands and in all climes, irrespective of creed, color or race. It is wholly non-political and absolutely non-sectarian. It seeks to help the drunkard, the gambler, crook and drifter that they were wanting their time and to upon the principle of "feed first and argue afterwards."

Their methods are direct. If a square meal or a pair of shoes or both is needed to help some poor wretch to his or her feet again the Salvation Army helps. Practical and direct methods strict economy, and spiritual uplift dominates all their work.

Figures do not or can not tell the work of The Army. A statement showing so many meals served, so many beds given, so many garments given does not begin to give a true picture of the work done. The name of the Salvation Army has long become identified with relief and when a man or woman wants help or consolation they instinctively turn to the Salvation Army. Their work is wide and varied. They did a need in a community that no one else can do. Especially the work that Thy Army does and they help them so they can help others. The Salvation Army is an army community acts as a clearing house of relief and their purpose to serve and they are glad to serve every day and in every way.

Dear Friends:

The Kankakee Daily Republican will reach you even on your extended trips through Europe. No matter where you may travel, news of your home town is brought to you, by this Associated Press newspaper, delivered to you by airplane and fast steamship.

Maurice Chevalier says, to be "A Play Boy of Paris," one must keep in touch with activities at home. Take his advice and have The Republican follow you wherever you may go. And here is a tip that comes from Maurice Chevalier himself:

The Kankakee Daily Republicnn cooperating with the management of The Majestic Theatre will present to guest tickets to the first ten persons who translate this letter into French. For Your most excellent effort you will be the guest of Mour-oe-theatre. For Your most excellent "Play Boy of Paris," when Monsieur the [illegible] Majestic Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday.

Bring your letters to the Republican office on Wednesday before four o'clock and the tickets will be sent in Thursday's paper.

Very truly yours,
The Majestic Theatre

With Mrs Hoover he stood at reviewing stand in front of the tomb for a moment with his hat over his heart. After he had laid his wreath the first lady stepped forward and placed two white chrysanthemums beside it.

The President and his wife were accompanied to Arlington by Secretaries Hurley and Adams and Major General Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff of the army.

Washington, Nov. 11—(AP)—Mrs. there never is another war.

From his office in the war department Secretary John J. Pershing uttered these words today as he looked back to the first Armistice day and at trying days in Bonfield headed the A. E. F.

This is a day of hallowed memory," the general, now chairman of the American Battle Monuments commission, said.

"Twelve years have elapsed since first tone of the ending of their greatest war of all time.

"For America they have been years of peace and progress. It has had to remain for us to see that these benefits have come to the American dead as to the living. Their valor and devotion will live in richer for the blood they gave it.

"The dead comrades rest peacefully. For the living there remains the obligation of carrying on, adhering steadfastly to those ideals of peace and justice which have ever been the inspiration of our people.

"May there never be another war. But if it be, may all of the living veterans of the great war go to guide the destinies of this nation. Then, and then only, it will find the American people prepared, materially and spiritually."

Geneva, Nov. 11—(AP)—The chairman of the war department commission on disarmament, General League of nations secretariat, said today that the United States would not attend the disarmament conference which opens here February 16 unless it is assured of success.

Hugh S. Gibson, chief American delegate to the conference, made the statement to the press.

Gibson said that the United States would not attend unless it was assured that the conference would not fail.

PEOTONE

Mr. William Jurres Passes Away

Mr. William Jurres, a widely and well known citizen and retired business man of Peotone, passed away last Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 4 at 2:30 at the Billings Memorial Hospital in Chicago. Mr. Jurres was in the hospital for many weeks with an incurable disease and death was a relief. Mr. Jurres was the son of a pioneer of Wilton. He was born there Nov. 29, 1862. He was united in marriage to Miss Mary Drechsch on February 22, 1892. Mrs. Jurres died July 22, 1918. Mr. Jurres lived on a farm in the West Peotone community for four years. Then they came into Peotone and Mr. Jurres entered the hardware business with his brother, Mr. John C. Jurres, under the firm name of Jurres Bros. In 1911 he retired and the firm name became Jurres Hardware Co. Mr. Fred C. Jurres also retired fro the business at the same time.

The deceased leaves a son, Mr. Gilbert Jurres and a daughter, Mrs. S. B. Barton and three grandchildren. He is also survived by two brothers, Fred Jurres of Wilton, Jurres and one sister, Mrs. Annie Cunningham of Pesotum, Ill. The funeral was held at 1:30 p. m. on Friday afternoon in the late home on East Crawford street. Services at 2:00 o'clock at the Immanuel Evangelical church and the services were in charge of Rev. E. H. Ehlers. Burial was in the family lot in the Peotone cemetery. We wish to extend our deep sympathy to the family.

The Misses Valentine Melville, Barbara Cung and Marion Eberhardt were shoppers in Kankakee Saturday afternoon and with Miss Barbara Marsh took their music lesson under their direction.

Mr. Roy Grube and his son Clare are here from Mr. Richard Grabe of Chicago spent Saturday evening and Sunday in the homes of Mr. Grabe's mother, Mrs. Emma Grabe, Mr. and Mrs. George Duke and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dieringer.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Werner and children and Mr. Chas. Werner and Sunday dinner guests at the home of the former's mother, Mrs. Elisabeth Werner and sister, Miss Annie Werner on West Lincoln avenue.

Mrs. Chas. Fournier and children of Chicago and Mrs. B. Mathews of Clinton, Ill., are visiting at the home of their mother, Mrs. May Perry on West Lincoln avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Ratlhe and children and Mr. and Mrs. William R. Conrad recently were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Caswell at Hinsdale, Ill.

Mr. Roy Marquart of Kankakee and city representative for The Kankakee Daily Republican, made a business trip to our little burg on Saturday afternoon and again returned in the evening with the truck load of papers for various routes. This trip he makes every evening but Sunday. He figures he drives a mile a minute on schedule time. That is going some, but slow down on speed, Mr. Marquart.

Mrs. William Werner and daughter Miss Antoinette Werner of Beecher, Ill., and also Mrs. C. Flagge of Harvey, Ill., were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Stassen on Wilson avenue last Wednesday.

Mr. Milton Cornish and his mother, Mrs. Cornish of Belvidere, Ill., were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Hasemeyer. Mrs. Milton Cornish, who had been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hasemeyer, accompanied her husband and mother-in-law home in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Warner of Chicago were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Crocker and children last Sunday.

Mr. Henry Scoles of Gallan, Ind., spent the week end at the home of A. C. Olmer and family.

Miss Ann Hagenow is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. John Jacobs and also Mrs. Theodore Fletcher.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Harvey of Manteno, Ill., attended the funeral of Mrs. Harvey's uncle, Mr. B. R. Crossen on Thursday afternoon.

Mr. E. Dudoe shopped in Kankakee on Saturday.

Little Betty Ann Ladd's Party

Little Betty Ann Ladd was the little hostess for a little Halloween party at her home last Friday evening on West Crawford street. The little folks all came dressed in costumes appropriate for the Hallowe'en party. Games and contests made the time fly too quickly for the little folks. Mrs. Ladd had the rooms prettily decorated with yellow and black paper with black cats and jack-o-lanterns in the corners and the youngsters sure did ample justice to the delicious lunch served by Betty's mother, Mrs. E. K. Ladd. Long will the little folks remember Betty Ladd's Hallowe'en party on Oct. 31, 1930.

"A CROSS-SECTION OF CURRENT CONVERSATIONS IN CONOCOLAND"

"HERE'S ANOTHER ADVERTISEMENT ON GERM PROCESSED OIL . . . . I CHANGED TO IT YESTERDAY—AND FOR ONCE JIM AND I ARE AGREED"

CONTEST BOARD AAA CERTIFIED TEST

Following the Pike's Peak Tests, where Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil was tested side by side with three other popular, nationally known oils, the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association issued Certificate of Performance number 2283, comprising 14 points, of which the point below is one.

POINT NO. 8

"That carbon deposits collected from the combustion chambers and cylinder heads and weighed by the official chemist were shown by the records of the test to be less after the use of the subject oil than after the use of the comparables."

CONOCO

The recent Pike's Peak tests disclosed some startling facts about motor oil . . . Free booklet at all CONOCO stations.

Even the women are becoming conscious of one oil brand, instead of just asking for "a quart of oil." That brand is rapidly becoming Conoco Germ-Processed.

The reason is simple. For, while these women don't think much of technical discussions of "adsorption," and "Penetrative Lubricity," every one of them knows what we mean when we say: "This oil actually penetrates metal surfaces." Then, the sensational proof of Conoco Germ-Processed oil in the recent Pike's Peak Tests and at the Indianapolis and Altoona races, appeals to practical-minded women who want to be shown.

For there is just as much difference in motor oils as there is in cold cream. Some oils, as with some inferior creams, simply lay on the surfaces to which they are applied. While Germ-Processed oil, like a fine cold cream, penetrates deep into the "pores" (there are pores in metal, you know) and there performs its true function.

The assurance and peace of mind which comes from this penetrating quality of Germ-Processed oil, instantly stamps this as every woman's favorite brand. That's why we see both men and women so well represented among our customers . . . at the Sign of the Red Triangle.

New York, Nov. 11—(AP)—Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight champion today, was in the final round of a court bout with Timothy J. Mara for a purse of $526,812.42.

Only the Judge's instructions remained to be given before the jury retires to decide what, if anything, the former champion owes Mara, who claims 10 per cent of the $990,000 purse for the Tunney-Dempsey fight in Philadelphia and 25 per cent of Tunney's earnings as champion.

Mara based his claims on a contract he and Billy Gibson, Gene's manager, made in May, 1926, giving Mara 10 per cent of Tunney's purse in the Dempsey fight, and on an alleged verbal contract with Tunney himself. Tunney admitted having an agreement with Mara. He contended it was only that Mara should use influence with Tex Rickard, the late fight promotor, asserting the measure showed they had a previous agreement on a match with Dempsey.

Littleton, pointing at the retired champion, said Tunney had "marched to glory over the prostrate bodies of his friends," and when he needed them no longer, told them: "See my lawyers."

The court fixed the items of Mara's bill as follows:

$20,000 for the Dempsey match; with $4,950 interest and $435,000 from Tunney's earnings as champion, with $66,862.42 interest.

Chicago, Nov. 11—(AP)—Otto Von Porat, Solemn Norwegian heavyweight, is "regnated"—with himself.

Dissatisfied with the heavyweight situation and himself in particular, Von Porat decided today to sail for his home in Oslo, Norway, Nov. 19 for an indefinite stay.

Pending his return all future ring engagements have been canceled.

Atlanta, Nov. 11—(AP)—Young Scribling, flatic pride of Macon, Ga., was confident of adding Arthur De Kuh, New York Italian, today to a knockout list which bears the names of Otto Von Porat, Phil Scott and K. O. Christie.

Scribling's ten round afternoon match with De Kuh in the Atlanta baseball park marked his first ring appearance in his native southland since he began a knockout campaign by flooring Von Porat.

De Kuh planned to weigh in at 222 with Scribling tipping the scales a few pounds over the 190 mark.

Jack Dempsey was selected to referee the bout.

NEW APPEAL FOR CHARITY GAME AT SOLDIER FIELD

PRINCETON PREPARES FOR YALE

By HERBERT W. BARKER

Associated Press Sports Writer

New York, Nov. 11—(AP)—Buffeted around all season, the Princeton Tigers have only one more opportunity to give Bill Roper something to cheer about before he retires as head coach. All will be forgiven if the Tigers succeed in checking Yale in Palmer stadium on Saturday—even if they succeed in only.

Of course the odds are all against a Princeton victory. The Tigers have not won a game since they beat back Amherst, 20-0, in the opening battle of the season. Since then they've tied a weak Chicago outfit and been beaten by Brown, Cornell, Navy and Lehigh. Yale has beaten Maine, Brown, Maryland and Affred, tied two of the ea's strongest eleven, Dartmouth and Army, and lost only to Georgia. However small the Tigers' chance of winning may be there will be considerable disappointment if they fail to look like Blue in a respectable score. Princeton teams have a habit of giving their best against the Blue and the history of their rivalry since 1873 has produced many an upset. Yale leads by a wide margin in games won, and will go overwhelmingly favored to increase its advantage.

Harvard jackles Holy Cross and Dartmouth in a tough battle. Syracuse tackles a bitter state foe in Colgate with the latter favored. Brown takes on Columbia, New York university faces Georgetown, Temple takes on Lafayette, Lehigh will try to stop Jack Grossman and Rutgers and Washington and Jefferson clash with Bucknell. The final game of the "Little Three" series finds Williams matched with Amherst.

The intersectional slate is headed by the Penn-Georgia Tech, Navy-Pittsburgh, Northwestern-Notre Dame, Villanova-Oglethorpe and Army-Kentucky Wesleyan games in the east. In the midwest, Boston college meets Loyola at Chicago, Purdue travels to Columbus to tangle with Ohio State, and Penn State invades Iowa City to meet Iowa.

ARE YOU UP ON YOUR RULES?

The following basketball rule changes for the year 1930-31 are especially prepared for the Republican by Leo E. Cunningham, Principal Department of Schools who is a member of both the State Referee's Association of Bloomington Ill. and the Officials H. S. Athletic Association of Illinois.

1. A player fouled in the act of shooting, will be awarded only one free throw if he makes the basket. In event the foul prevents a score two free throws will be awarded as in the past.

2. Failing to remain in the jump circle until the ball is tapped will constitute a technical foul except when the ball is tapped into the basket, in which case the free throw will be voided.

3. On a jump ball the ball may be tapped not more than twice by either player.

4. In case of missed free throws the ball will remain in play instead of being returned to center.

5. After the free throws for fouls, the ball will be put in play at the point of its position on the free throw line.

6. A player removed for a substitute may not return to the game until after play has restarted.

7. Not more than three overtime periods shall be played in high school games and a rest period of five minutes shall be allowed after the first overtime period. Local committees are given the authority to make the final period a "sudden death" test, with the first team to score winning the game.

In the circumference of the ball shall not be more than thirty-one inches and not less than thirty inches. The weight maximum shall be 23 ounces and the minimum 20 ounces.

TIMEKEEPER JUST FORGOT HIMSELF

Gambler, O. Nov. 11—(U.P.)—Mount Union college's "point-a-minute" victory over Kenyon here last Saturday, 62 to 2, wasn't that, after all.

The Tams actually played 70 minutes, because the timekeeper became so interested in watching the visitors roll up touchdowns he forgot to call time in the third period until 2 minutes had passed. Athletic Director Rudolph Miller announced today.

Dr. Rich planned to weigh in at 222 with Scribling tipping the scales a few pounds over the 190 mark.

Jack Dempsey was selected to referee the bout.

ARTHUR "THE GREAT" NOW ON HONEYMOON

Los Angeles, Nov. 11—(AP)—Charles Arthur, baseball player, boxer and motion picture actor was honeymooning here today having taken a wife in a conventional manner far removed from the public ceremony he had planned on a motion picture basis.

Appearing yesterday at the county courthouse for his wedding license Shires with his wife-to-be, Miss Elizbeth Greenabaum, 18 of Chicago and her mother, Mrs. A. L. Greenabaum, went to the chambers of Superior Judge Hugh Crawford. In five minute proceedings in which Washington Senators first baseman and Miss Greenbaum took vows.

Shires explained the scheduled trip to Mexico was called off because a $10000 wedding present promised by oil producers had not been forthcoming.

A more pretentious church wedding was promised for a later date.

OREGON LIKES SPEARS' SYSTEM

Using the old Minnesota "power plays" of Dr. Clarence Spears, new coach, the Oregon university football team this year has run through the first five games undefeated. Three of the line maulers are John Kitzmiller, great coast halfback, Austin Colbert, left guard, and George Christensen, right tackle.

Chicago Heights

The Bloom-Thornton encounter ended in the fourth tie in South Suburban League mix-ups this year when Thornton entertained the Blue and White squad from Chicago Heights on Saturday afternoon on their field in Harvey. In the second encounter of the year between the two schools and retain the Al Warner Cup, which they won from the Chicago Heights squad on October 11 of this year when they won the first game of the year from the Saffmen in a closely matched contest which ended in a 7 to 0 victory.

This is the first time that Harvey has had possession of the cup since it was presented to the two schools five years ago, during which time, two football games have been played between these two outstanding every year. The school with the last clai mto a victory retains the cup until defeated by the rival school.

In spite of the closely fought game of October 11, several sportswriters rated Thornton better than Bloom, three touchdowns on the eve of Saturday's battle. The Thornton squad did have a decided edvantage not only in experience and weight, but also in ground gained, and first downs won, but the said sports writers failed to take the fighting spirit of a rival school into consideration.

The same thing happened in the Saturday game that has happened in their two games between the two schools. Thornton, as expected in their school paper, again had the game won before it was even played. The game ended in a tie with a moral victory for Bloom.

This Is How It Happened

Zeller, the Bloom captain, kicked the ball to Thornton who returned. Bloom was set for 27 yard line. K. took the ball 4½ yards, and on third play decided to wander across the field while the Bloom team wondered. He ended up on Thornton's 44 yard line while the Bloom fans sunburned their tonsils.

Rohrdanz, Klein, and Forbes, failing in carrying the ball a sufficient distance for a first down so they handed it over to Bloom. While Goncher was punting the ball Zeller, who sneaked through on a slicker, made 11 yards. Galiene plunged an additional two yards. Goncher kicked to Klein who fumbled the ball on the 40 yard line, where Bloom covered.

Goncher, last quarter, four yards and kicked out of 23 yard. Klein placed the ball on Thornton's 40 yard line. Rohrdanz advanced 3 additional yards, and Klein and Leonard, who attempted to repeat Forbes' run on the one yard line. Koester picked up the fumble and decided to run for touchdown. He would take it down too, but it appears as if one of his own men had already scored with the drawing. Thornton attempted ball on downs, and an exchange of punts ended with Klein trying the ball on the Bloom 47 yard line in the quarter ended.

Second Period.

Rohrdanz opened the quarter in carrying the ball to the Bloom 44 yard line. The Thornton lads became over-anxious and were set back to the 49 yardage indicator for being offside. Klein kicked to the Bloom, 27. Goncher lost about 3 yards. Thornton was again penalized for being offside and were set back to the Bloom 46 yard line. Galiene advanced five yards, and Thornton received a third setback for the same reason with Bloom still in possession of the ball at the half-way mark. Lawnicki and Goncher, Galiene together only made two yards so Goncher elected to kick.

Klein received the ball on his own 49 yard line. Lawnicki and Goncher took a crack at the line but failed to make consistent gains. Klein advanced 3 yards, and on the next play, he fumbled, but recovered. A 15 yard pass was attempted, but Galiene intercepted it, and ran 16 yards to the Thornton 49 yard line. Lawnicki and Goncher took turns in making 9 yards each. An exchange of punts ended the half with Bloom in possession of the ball on her own 32 yard line while the Thornton and Bloom bands entertained on the field.

And It Continued Thusly.

Zeller again kicked off but he kicked the ball to the Thornton 20 yard line and the ball was downed on Thornton's 28 yard line. Successive plunges failed to materialize sufficient yardage so Klein kicked to Bloom, and the ball was downed on Bloom's own 17 yard line. This quarter proved to be a punting duel with neither side making much headway. Lawnicki failed to gain any ground in two attempts, so Goncher kicked to Thornton's 47 yard line. Klein and Rohrdanz failed to function properly so Goncher was the recipient of the ball which was kicked to Bloom's 40 yard line.

After losing and then gaining a yard, the Saffmen again kicked and Klein was stopped on his own 40 yard line. Galiene stopped Rohrdanz on the 42 yard line, but Klein elected to go to the 43, and Forbes to the 46 yard indicator. Goncher received on his 21 yard line. Bloom went 2 yards, and Goncher plunged an additional 4 yards. A beautiful kick was received by Klein who downed on his 10 yard line. Rohrdanz advanced only 3 yards when time was called. Klein advanced an additional three yards, and Rohrdanz kicked out of bounds on his own 43 yard line. Goncher plunged for a first down, ending up on the 31 yard marker as the quarter ended.

The Finale.

Lawnicki's hopes failed to materialize and the ball remained on the same line. A penalty of five yards was inflicted on Bloom, but a pass to Hendron was completed netting a few yards. Another 5 yard penalty was inflicted, but Goncher carried the ball back to the Thornton 23 yard line. Goncher then completed another pass, but Rohrdanz got in the way of the oncoming ball, it, and was downed on his own 20 yard line. Thornton garnered a first down landing on the Bloom 40 yard line. Rohrdanz plunged for 2 yards, and Klein won another first down by landing on the 40 yard line.

After the second attempt, Klein decided to go places, but was stopped after advancing 8 yards. On the other hand, Forbes was caught napping, and was downed with a loss of .9 yards. Rohrdanz kicked past the goal and Bloom started its defence on their own twenty yard line.

Simon, Goncher, and then Simon again lost ground steadily to their own 12 yard line where Goncher elected to kick. The ball was downedon the Bloom 46 yard line. Klein advanced 4 yards, and Forbes advanced three. Klein dove for the final yard for another first down. Thornton lost 5 down by a triple pass that just failed by inches — Bloom was tackled just before the ball left his hand. Another pass failed, so Thornton was the recipient of a five yard penalty. Goetel replaced Int Haul, and Rohrdanz kicked past the goal line again.

Goncher passed to Simon netting 3 yards. Zajicek replaced McMorris. Bloom lost 3 yards and Leonard replaced Simon. A five yard penalty on Thornton failed to aid Bloom as a fumble was recovered by Bloom on their own 15 yard line. The punt was blocked, and Thornton recovered on Bloom's 3 yard line. Rohrdanz attempted a place kick in the closing minutes of the game, but the attempt failed. The game ended as Galiene advanced 5 yards from the 20 yard touchback line.

How They Lined Up.

SAID HE WAS SLAYER AND WANTED TO BE LOCKED UP; IS DEAD

Detroit, Nov. 11—(P—Two hours after William Jones, 40, had walked into police headquarters and asked to be locked up as the slayer of Gerald E. "Jerry" Buckley, radio announcer, he was found dead in his cell, with severe head injuries.

Police said he was intoxicated and that he probably had received his injuries in falling from a bench in the Golden Rule bullpen where he was placed. The prosecutor's office is investigating his death.

According to police, Jones was intoxicated when he appeared at headquarters last night. They said he had no connection with the Buckley case and that he had no apparent injuries when he arrived at headquarters.

The official report of his death said there were lacerations and contusions of the face and scalp and a dislocation of the jaw. Medical examiners said there was a possible concussion of the brain. A post mortem examination was ordered.

Police Commissioner Thomas C. Wilcox said nothing in the report received by him indicated that any policeman had laid hands on Jones. Two other prisoners in the cell with Jones were to be questioned today by representatives of the prosecutor's office.

Jones leaves a wife and seven children. Members of the family said he had been out of work for several months.

Meanwhile Ernest G. McMath, reputed millionaire down river liquor baron, who was arrested yesterday for questioning in the Buckley case, was expected to be summoned before the Wayne county grand jury today.

TACKLED MEMBER OF OWN TEAM BUT CLUB WIN ANYWAY

In a football game at St. Viator college Sunday afternoon, Frank Roberts, kicked the wrong team—a tackle on the West Side Stream Liners, tackled the wrong man—a teammate who was on his way to a touchdown on a long end run. It did not matter, however, as the Viators defeated Manteno Bricklayers 33 to 0 in a real fast thrilling game. The Viators scored in the first quarter on a 60 yard run by Dunder, who was also shown mostly by Hess Brandon, Durand and Frazier. Stewart and Hoss showed consistent field running and some very accurate passing.

The fans in the featherweight ranks with a champion refusing to be pushed by superior rivals unless his financial demands are met, is nothing new for this flatic division. Off hand, the class has suffered for the last ten years from the lack of outstanding champion.

Bill Bell of Rochester, Christopher Battalino of Hartford, Conn., and Tony Canzoneri rooted now, but critics consider he would fare very well against so experienced a scrapper as Fidel LaBarba, the conqueror of Kid Chocolate.

Johnny Kilbane, was perhaps the last great featherweight champion, but even Johnny made a sorry exhibition of competition in 1923. After being in virtual retirement for several years, Kilbane demanded and received an exorbitant guarantee, in excess of $50,000 for a title match with Eugene Criqui.

They fought at the Polo Grounds on October 2 and Criqui won by a unanimous decision. In the sixth round as Kilbane obviously stayed off from a long hook to the chin.

The last time Frenchman last—Criqui was outclassed as champion. He had agreed, if he could get back Johnny Dundee, the bounding Scotch-Wop within 80 days and received an unmerciful beating in 15 hard rounds.

Dundee surprised everybody by making the 126-pound limit but was floored to forfeit the title early in 1924.

In the ensuing scramble, Louis Kid Kaplan, Abe Mergler, Bud Taylor, became temporarily recognized as feather champion. He, too outgrew the division. No recognized title-holder held forth through 1926 although both Benny Baas of Philadelphia and Tony Canzoneri (the former New Orleans bootblack) claimed championship honors.

Canzoneri finally beat Baas on February 19, 1928, for title recognition, but later suffered a broken collar-bone. The Italian lost the title to Andre Routis of France at Madison Square Garden, September 14, 1928.

Routis victory was a surprise. He was not an impressive titleholder and Clad Allen, manager of the Frenchman was inteligted into a match at Hartford last December with Battalino. The home town boy won and he hasn't defended the title outside of Connecticut since.

Dink Templeton, Stanford's track coach and gift to the journalistic profession, takes nothing for granted to make his eastern friends squirm with indignation. On the subject of nominating Washington State's great center, Mel Hein, for All-American consideration, Dink writes:

"In view of the difference in class of competition, Washington State and Harvard are running up against the chances are that Tickner's years All-American, couldn't be much more than a capable substitute for Hein."

ASSISTANT TRACK COACH AT IOWA IS HAVING TROUBLES

Iowa City, Nov. 11—(P—Charles R. Brookins, erstwhile assistant track coach at the University of Iowa today had returned here from Kansas City to demand a fruitless hunt for his driver license in Illinois and Missouri.

Faced with a charge of bigamy there Brookins set out to wed Miss Dorothy Coby former secretary in the athletic department of the university. His first marriage to her occurred at Aledo, Ill. Oct. 31, less than 60 days after he married Mrs. Ethel Heid, also a former athletic department stenographer.

Clerks in Rock Island and Kansas Mo., however, demanded written permission to marry from the judge who granted Mrs. Heid a decree.

Brookins dismissed from his athletic duties came last Tuesday, because, in the words of Dr. H. C. Carlson, athletic director, two marriages in a month is too fast a pace for the athletic department, whose speed he must be desired on the track.

Upon his dismissal Brookins said Mrs. Heid had divorced him the second time and he would wed Miss Coby.

The first of Brookins three marriages occurred when he was in college here. That ended in divorce.

Chicago, Nov. 11—(P—Everything Michigan hasn't used against gridiron adversaries this season will be employed Saturday against Minnesota, ranked now by Coach Harry Kipke as the Wolverines toughest foe of the season.

Michigan will close its season a week from Saturday against Chicago but the tackled Maroons are not considered capable of doing any more than trying hard and Minnesota will get the works saturday. Michigan and Minnesota have been the warmest of rivals for many years and in both years the supposedly weaker elevens have risen to its greatest heights in the meeting.

The Gophers with Hoosko Nagurski as the spearhead have played a powerful aggregation against one of Michigan's weaker years, but fall, but the Wolverines are playing everything they had and still a bright finish may be expected, according to Coach Kipke in fully aware that the situation might be reversed this year and bring the squad to its highest peak.

Minnesota's season hasn't been so good, but Coach Spears' team probably will be more than powerful than at any time of the season. A the crippled Eddie Rada, halfback and Martin Dillner, end, the outstanding halfback Earl McCall MacDonald are ready for business and the latter may have a surprisingly powerful offense for a Spears team.

Northwestern, undefeated Indiana enjoyed a rest yesterday, but all Wisconsin, which has been in the thralls of the Badgers into a real drill on the pass and figured the period with study of Northwestern forward passing plays.

The Wildcats will engage in one end of the effective Hewitt-Baker passing combination. Both Hewitt and Baker were injured in an at Minnesota two weeks ago, but expected to be prepared to play this week end.

Purdue's Big Ten leaders have regained the use of his right arm and hand which he used before the injuries undergo in the game of Armistice ment a week from Saturday.

Both Chicago and Iowa are counting on Saturday's game. Stagg field to produce a Big Ten victory and Coach Ahne has good figures that it will be a great game, although little in at stake and believes his victory-starved boys will be just about ready to take the field.

The feelign is the same at Illinois which has failed so win a major contest this season. The Illini youngsters showed big improvement against the Army, and Coach Zuppke is optimistic.

Ohio State suffered an important loss yesterday when it was learned that Dave Chapman, sophomore halfback and accurate passer will probably not play this season. Chapman suffered an injury to his back and an infection developed. The rest of the Buckeye bowlers were in shape to battle Pitt at Pittsburgh Saturday.

A big list of more or less serious injuries lowered Iowa's hopes of presenting anything like its best powerful Penn State rivals. Lund and Leo Jenavoli, backfield aces and Rogge and Mastrogeny, ends were replaced by subs opened by the regulars looked bad against Washington. Purdue is taking it easy for the Butler game next week which reserves are expected to see most of the going.

There seems to be little hurry or worry at Notre Dame concerning the Carnegie Tech game. Drake the finale of the Irish home and Coach Rockne excused everyone yesterday and they all turned out for today. The regulars will do their first work of the week tomorrow.

NATIONAL HOCKEY LEAGUE SEASON TO BE OPENED TONITE

New York, Nov. 11—(P—Three games on the National Hockey League program of 1930-31 season of the National Hockey League of America will be opened tonight. Pittsburgh is expected to be one of the most successful years the ice game ever has had.

Newcomers to the league are Philadelphia Quakers in their first appearance tonight. Philadelphia which is merely the old Pittsburgh team in a new location starts season at home against the Pittsburgh Rangers. In the other games the Boston Bruins meet the New York Americans and the Ottawa Senators play host to the Montreal Maroons. Detroit and Toronto open their season Thursday night, the Montreal Canadians wait until Saturday while Chicago does not get into action until Sunday.

Paper production in Germany made further gains in 1929 when the total output reached 2,112,000 metric tons.

MEMBER OF U. S. EMBASSY STAFF IN MEXICO KILLED

Mission City, Nov. 11—(P—Edward P. Lowry, soldier of fortune and second secretary of the American embassy here, slipped on a motorcycle while playing polo today and fell, striking his head on the pavement.

He died at 7:30 p. m.

In his lifetime Lowry survived Boloo knife wounds received in the Philippines, rounded up rug thieves as a major of Persian Gendarmerie, dodged bullets in France and was decorated as a colonel of the Lithuanian army—friends thought he bore a charmed life.

Last night he attended a meeting of the Mexico City Post of the American Legion, the first official affair which the banter of friends and former comrades-in-arms prolonged until far past midnight. As he left he leaned low over a bannister to speak to a friend in the Patio, he said, and fell to the floor, striking instantly.

Arthur Rae, charge D'affaires, took charge of the body and informed Washington of the accident by telephone. An attempt was made to reach Mrs. Lowry, who with their daughter was understood to be en-route to Mexico City.

Indiana home by the Lowry family was established a second time when Lowry, 40, was born at Waterloo, England, but moved to Indiana because of a love for the blue grass state.

Lowry was in his early forties, and was one of the most colorful characters in the diplomatic service here.

LATEST METHOD TO COMBAT THE DREAD PNEUMONIA

New York, Nov. 11—(P—The administration of oxygen and a mixture of oxygen and carbon dioxide through the common inhalator is the latest medication toward the war on pneumonia.

Matthew S. Sloan, president of the New York Edison company, associated companies, announced today that the new treatment had been turned over by the medical profession. It had been used in 127 cases including Edison employees, he said, and of 85 patients treated in the preliminary stages had been saved.

The experiments were based on research carried out by Dr. Yandell Henderson of Yale university and while the method is not considered a general cure for the disease it believed to be a valuable aid.

ORDERED TO SURRENDER ALL BONDED GANGSTERS

Chicago, Nov. 11—(P—The Herald-Examiner today said that the Grand Central Surety company which has enjoined from writing Chicago bonds was ordered by Judge Harry Kipke as the Wolverines toughest foe of the season.

I. N. G. PLANS ON EMERGENCY ACTION

Chicago, Nov. 11—(P—Plans for emergency action by the Illinois National Guard in quelling possible prison riots, were discussed last night by guard officers.

With representatives of the state prisons attending, the commanding and staff officers of the 33rd division, Illinois national guard framed proposals from Maj. Gen. Roy D. Frank, state adjutant general for guard training program to prepare guard for participation as a general industrial or other riots and disturbances.

It was agreed that no emergency existed at present in Illinois penal institutions but plans were formulated upon the cooperation of the military authorities and aerial photographs of Illinois prisons were distributed to enable staff officers to become familiar with the building layouts.

The task of moving 1,582,00 volumes from the largest college library in the world, at Yale, is soon to be faced.

On the basis of ten hours per acre and four persons to a detail, it is estimated that London could do 40,000,000 people's reading in one month, or double the total population of England and Wales.

VANDERBILT MANSION, MOST PALATIAL IN AMERICA, OPENED FOR FIRST TIME TO PUBLIC

$20,000,000 Estate at Asheville, N. C., Most of Southwood Motorist

ASHEVILLE, N. C.—For the first time in thirty-five years the most costly and palatial private residence in America which has long been recognized as one of the finest in the country, the property of Mrs. Cornelia Vanderbilt, the only daughter of the late George W. Vanderbilt at Asheville known as the Biltmore House.

The home has ever held the public interest as has this stupendous palatial mansion of the world's wealthiest men. Since its construction in 1895 and up to March 1930 no photograph was ever permitted to be taken on the grounds, or of the interior of the home. In that month the interest and pulling power of this gargantuan palace, is a veritable mecca for Southbound motorists.

All routes it seems are carrying cars and families to Asheville. U. S. Highway No. 25 which runs from Michigan through Detroit, Toledo, Lima, Dayton, Cincinnati, Lexington, Corbin, Pineville, Asheville, Greenville, Greenwood, Louisville, Mount Vernon, Bailey, Rocky Mount, Jacksonville, Daytona Beach, Miami, Fla., Florida bound motorists of Cornelia Vanderbilt from all parts of Florida can of course head west at Jacksonville.

Priceless Collections

It is impossible to describe the priceless collections in the Biltmore House as the finest owners of the world have come art treasures. There are also rare collections of Chinese, Japanese and Persian art.

In the First Hall is a 16th century Flemish tapestry set of rare design and beauty. The ceiling in the Banquet Hall, remarkable canvas secured by Mr. Vanderbilt from an old Italian Castle. Mr. Vanderbilt secured it on the promise that the original owners name should never be known. The secret died with him. On one side of the library there is a door which is carved in the form of a book, the six feet high. 30½ inches wide and 12 inches thick. The backs of the "Book" bear the names of famous masters of literature, and comprises of Spanish and Portugese period objects.

DRYS ARE GIRDING FOR FIGHT

BUTTRESSING THEIR DEFENSE AROUND THE EIGHTEENTH AMENDMENT

CONDUCT CAMPAIGN

Both Drys And Wets In Congress Preparing For The Expected Conflict

Washington, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The drys are girding for battle in congress, buttressing their defenses around the eighteenth amendment to the constitution.

A recognized staff of the friends of prohibition pushing an educational campaign all over the country has been called for by Senator Pess of Ohio, who now carries the duties also of chairman of the Republican National committee.

In his stand was seen today a warning against any repeal movement within the Republican party. Pess has been mentioned by prohibitionists as a potential leader for reorganized dry forces. In the movement for rebuilding the prohibition attack group indications appeared that some of the burden of political activity would be lifted from the Anti-Saloon League which for many years has borne the brunt of the task.

Both drys and wets in congress are expecting a renewal of conflict sometime after the prohibition report of the President's law enforcement commission is given out. Harrassed by an insistent curiosity and speculation as to what is being accomplished in closed session, the members of this commission have been pleading to be left alone with their difficult task. They have little hope of completing a report by the time congress meets December 1. Perhaps a month later it will be ready—that now is expected generally to be the latest date it will be given out.

The defense of the eighteenth amendment in congress at the present time offers the drys no difficulty. They have ample votes for the purpose and all prohibitionists are united on that point. Regarding sentiment on the enforcing laws indications are less definite. Senator Pess himself, yesterday said the increasing penalties imposed on liquor violations under the Jones Act had failed to be of the benefit he had hoped for.

"The bootlegger is without character and doesn't mind going to jail to be supported by the public," he observed. "We are filling the jails, but I am afraid that is not the necessary deterrent."

But, he observed: "The people will never stand for the return of the saloon, nor will they give up the eighteenth amendment. We need a national campaign of education."

BELGIAN PREMIER AND HIS MINISTRY RESIGN OFFICES

Brussels, Belgium, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Premier Jaspar and his ministry resigned today after five liberal members of the cabinet had decided to leave the government because of a controversy over the Flemish and French language question at Ghent university.

The premier conveyed the resignation to King Albert late this afternoon.

It was just a year ago that the Belgium government found itself in difficulties over differences of opinion between Flemish extremists and liberals regarding the language to be used in the new Ghent university.

At that time Premier Jaspar resigned when the liberal ministers and Catholi cministers found themselves deadlocked over the question of using French of Flemish at the university.

Finally King Albert requested Premier Jaspar to reconstitute his cabinet. In February of this year the Belgian parliament voted to transform the university into an exclusively Flemish institution eliminating the French language entirely.

WEALTHIEST MAN AND PIONEER OF IOWA FOUND DEAD

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Fred M. Hubbell Des Moines financier and reputed to be the wealthiest man and the oldest pioneer in the state, was found dead in bed in his palatial home here early today. Death had occurred sometime during the night apparently from the infirmities of old age and his body was found at 8 o'clock.

He had been in failing health for several months and during the past few weeks seldom left his home.

He was born in Huntington, Conn., January 17, 1839. In addition to being the oldest member of the Iowa bar, Hubbell was a pioneer railroad builder and associated with the start of numerous state and municipal institutions.

Several years ago, Hubbell gave his formula for amassing a large fortune. "I never had [illegible] it is not written in the [illegible] of my office," he said.

In 1903, he created a [illegible] long trust ever devised in this [illegible] He put $2000,000 into the [illegible] time, but arranged that it would be added later. The trust fund was limited to all his beneficiaries living at that time. He then named Frederick C. Hubbell and Grover Hubbell of Des Moines, his daughter, Beulah, now Countess Wachtmeister of Paris and his grandchildren, James and Frederick Winslow Hubbell. All are living, along with four other grandchildren and five great grandchildren born since that time.

In 1863 Hubbell was married to Frances Elizabeth Cooper, of Des Moines.

their homes, thousands to find those homes destroyed, loved ones gone and conditions so altered as to be unrecognizable. Thousands who were able to fight when the end came were soon to find they had suffered incurable wounds of mind and body. Thousands went from the battle fields to hospitals to remain until death ended their agony.

And now, twelve years since the Armistice was signed, the war goes on and on and on for armies of victims in all the combat countries. Not only are veterans still suffering but the marks of the conflict may be seen on the faces and bodies of children, some of whom were orphaned during the war, some who have been orphaned since and some who realize that their fathers have met a worse fate than death—insanity.

What should all this mean to those who have served and sacrificed and to those who were spared by these sacrifices? Why, Armistice day is one of only two world days, the other is Christmas, anniversary of the birth of Christ, whose influence for almost 2,000 [illegible] years has meant infinitely more to all mankind than any other. Armistice day is a memorial day on which those who gave their lives in the allied cause should be commemorated. It is a Fourth of July because it is the anniversary of the day Independence was won from militarism, it is a Thanksgiving day when fervent thanks should be given untod God that Victory came to the side of right.

Can You Tell GOOD Dry Cleaning?

When you receive your dry-cleaned suit, consider the following questions. Even if you cannot answer all of them yourself, they indicate the kind of service you should have received.

1. Has your suit been cleaned in a strictly sanitary manner? At the Paris-Royal, apparel is gently flushed free of soil in a continuous flow of freshly filtered solvent. None but clean, pure solvent comes into contact with your clothing.

2. Has your suit been cleaned in a way to preserve its full wearing qualities . . . rather than one tending to impair wear?

The correct and approved process for each type of material is used at our plant.

3. Have all spots, and stains been removed that can be removed without injury to fabric?

IN MEMORIAM

In loving remembrance of Anna F. Topliff, who died one year ago November 11th, 1929.

We have lost our darling mother
She has had us all along.
Oh, that dear one, how we loved her
We took hard to give her up.
But an all wise Savior drew her
And removed her from our flock

BY ALAN GOULD.
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

There will be necessary to scramble around a bit of football map to select the logical as well as willing participants in the New Year's day game at the Rose Bowl that has developed naturally in the crowning classic of the college game.

There is considerable time yet for November events to shape the course of season destiny and success for 1930, but on a quick ballot we would put forward Washington state as the West's standard-bearer and nominate the survivor of the southern conference fight, perhaps Georgia or Alabama, to represent the East—east, that is, of the Mississippi.

For a suggestion to look outside the Near East for the invading party is promoted entirely by the debacle of Pittsburgh's mighty eleven last winter. The South not only has produced at least a half dozen outstanding teams this year, ranking with the best gridiron arrays anywhere, but Duke has a record of never having been beaten at Pasadena.

The worst any Southern team has done in the Rose Bowl was to come off with a tie. Alabama beat Washington, 20 to 19, in 1926 and Stanford in 1927. Georgia Tech nosed out California in 1929 in the game featured by Roy Riegels famous backward run.

The mid-west could furnish a worthy entry, but such has not been the case since Notre Dame and Northwestern will probably not be available.

Knute Rockne's boys already are booked to play on the coast closing their season at Los Angeles against Southern California December 6, and will not be permitted to play a return engagement in the Far West.

The Big Ten has restrictions against post-season games. No member of conference has played in the Rose Bowl since Michigan walloped Stanford in 1902 by 49 to 0.

Dartmouth has a date with Stanford at Palo Alto, November 29, and therefore is eliminated from consideration.

By the process of elimination, the South remains the logical section to look to for pick the Eastern contender.

By all another process the California Big Three have been pretty well eliminated from the prospect of representing the Far West, even though spotless record is not necessarily essential to being invited to the Pasadena Southern California and the honors for the coast last year, rather handicapped, despite being defeated previously by Notre Dame and California.

Washington state before standing out as a leading contender for Pacific Coast conference honors and claiming the Rose Bowl prospect for the first time since 1916 must clear a few obstacles. Chief among them is Stanford, which the University of Washington team to be played November 15 at Seattle.

Oregon State University of Oregon eleven, which does not meet Washington state, may also figure in the picture.

Among the Rocking University contenders participate champion chances again for the championship. This aggregation advanced by large strides toward a championship when Rockne developed, in the person of Marchy Schwartz, a triple threat star who has played steadily with the larger and lighter type ball.

The new golf ball is here to stay. Not only because the United States Golf Association has decreed the larger and lighter type as official after January 1, and the manufacturers no longer are making the old ones but because the players themselves like the golf wheels as much as they did the 1931 ball.

A friend advises me of an incident on an eastern course that answers the question. The new ball has been accepted by the masses rank and file. A 20 handicap player was scrambling in the rough for a misplaced drive.

He found a ball positively his, but it was not his. His opponent companion suggested that he abandon the search for this ball and play the one he had just found.

That wasn't done. Was the ball in question his? Of course it was. This ball is almost as old fashioned ball. I am playing only the new size ball, but I found the other from my own bag. Here, caddy, you can have this old ball, yes.

Inquiry developed that the ball in question was a member of the new ball association.

It

The loss of distance charged to the "bigger and lighter" idea been held up as a terrible thing, but experiments have shown that the loss is not so great as charged.

The final indictment of the 1931 product is that the ordinary player will find it difficult to control it in the wind.

Let's hear Diegel again, as an expert on that phase.

"Do you find that you can't play the new ball successfully in the wind?" Leo was asked.

His reply was a question:

"How many of us can play any ball in the wind?"

MANTENO

Manteno Defeats Braidwood

The Manteno Five defeated the Braidwood Cagers last Friday night in their first game of the season, with the score of 52 to 13. Manteno proved to be superior from the very start. Before the game was a minute old, Smith made a field goal and Manteno was in the lead from this time. The score at the half was 25 to 7.

H. Benham led the scoring with a total of 15 points. Smith was a close contender with 14 points.

The Braidwood five was allowed only three field goals because the Manteno defense was working to perfection.

The Manteno seconds defeated the Braidwood seconds in the curtain raiser 38 to 17. The scoring honors in this game went to Klipp who made 14 points to lead the scoring of his team. The guarding of Captain LaRocque played an outstanding part in this game.

Barnett was high point man for the Braidwood seconds, with 7 points.

Friday, November 14, Manteno goes to Wilmington for a double-header. It is hoped that a large crowd will accompany the team.
