Local Firms Look Toward Golden '60s'

Kankakee industrialists seem to agree with national forecasters that 1960 should issue in the "Golden Sixties," but several did express reservations pending settlement of the steel strike.

All expressed general satisfaction with 1959 business and are looking forward to increased volume in the new year. One or the other plant was affected by the steel situation, but none to an extreme degree.

Employment during 1959 rose in some plants while in others it held quite steady. Some employers expect a rise in personnel during 1960 due to introduction of new lines of production and expanded operations.

The newest company, Kankakee Container Co., said its first 11 months of business here was good, but would have been better if the steel strike had not occurred. Employment tripled and prospects for 1960 look good, the firm said.

J. W. Mortell Co. reported it experienced its best sales year in the history of the plant during the fiscal year ended Aug. 31, 1959. It is expected 1960 will be another very good year if the strike is settled soon.

George D. Roper Co. expects to maintain the same level of employment and production in 1960 while Kroehler Manufacturing Co. hopes for a 15 per cent increase. American-Marietta Co. plans to build its new half-million dollar warehouse during 1960. That seems to be the only physical plant expansion planned by industries here at present.

It is expected John Mohr and Sons, Inc., metal fabricating plant will be built during the new year. The firm has located property south of Kankakee, near the south belt route junction.

Journal interviews with heads of local industries gleaned these facts relative to the individual plants:

J. W. MORTELL CO.
The fiscal year ending Aug. 31, 1959 was an exceptionally good year for this firm, according to Floyd D. Skinner, vice president and general plant manager. It was the best sales year the company ever had, he reported.

If the steel strike is favorably settled soon, 1960 will prove to be another excellent year.

More than half of the firm's sales are related to the automotive industry and hence will be much affected by the steel situation. Business during the last two months of 1959 was down because of the strike.

Employment at the plant went up slightly in the year just ended and it is possible it will rise again in 1960.

No new lines of production are planned now, but a number of new products are in the development stage.

Plant expansion is not expected in 1960. A new shipping dock at the rear of the building is under construction, but progress on it has been held up due to the steel strike. It will relieve congestion at the dock on Hobbie avenue when completed.

SIMONIZ CO.
"We anticipate 1960 will show distinct improvement over 1959. We always aim for a record year," said George Schilling, manager of the Simoniz Co. plant here.

All the various Simoniz Co. products, with the exception of its vinyl sponges, are made here. Seven new products were added to the company line in 1959 and one new one, an aerosol furniture wax and cleaner called "Tone," will be out early in 1960. The company is currently employing 50 additional workers to meet initial orders.

Simoniz Co. makes 30 products in 280 package sizes or types. Introduced in 1959 were Instant Simoniz, radiator seal, radiator anti-rust, radiator flush, Dri-Line gas line anti-freeze and brake fluid. Two of the new products are manufactured for the company for distribution.

The company normally employs about 110 people. Employment is expected to stabilize near that figure as the year progresses.

If it is necessary to increase production, the plant will go on a three-shift basis, Schilling explained. The company has no plans for expansion to increase production.

ARMSTRONG CORK CO.

The demand for asphalt and vinyl asbestos tile during 1959 reached a relatively high level and kept the wheels of production going at a good pace, according to a company survey released by L. D. Bishop, plant manager.

Despite some problems and a few new ones company officials expect 1960 to be the best yet for the firm's resilient flooring business. The market outlook is encouraging, they say.

Brightest prospects for 1960 seem to be in the non-residential field: Commercial building is strong and continuing to expand. At least a small boom in new industrial building now seems to be getting under way. It is expected the rise in construction of religious buildings will persist.

The outlook for repair and modernization construction is for moderate growth in the new year. The "fix-up" market is still considered big business and is less affected by any tight money conditions.

Construction of public and allied institutional buildings has held fairly steady, it is reported.

Some new products and several new patterns are to be added to the production lines at the plant. Combined with intensified merchandising efforts they are expected to make 1960 a very good year.

Employment at the plant in 1959 averaged 250 men and women with an annual payroll of about $1,540,000.

DAVID BRADLEY MFG. WORKS

The year 1959 "met expectations" in the words of LeRoy Hummel, personnel manager at David Bradley. Starting in December of 1959, employment was expanded to more than 900, a near record for the firm as it introduced a complete line of barbecue grills.

Later in the year, employment dropped back to the normal 700 level which was maintained throughout the remainder of the year.

Employment looks stable for 1960 although there is possibility later in the year of a new product which now is being tested, he predicted.

David Bradley was not affected to any great degree by the steel strike during 1959 mainly because of an adequate stockpile and ability to substitute. But Hummel pointed out "we wouldn't be in a good position" if the strike were to resume.

During the year just ended, the company set a new safety record for the agricultural equipment industry, completing 2,887,173 man hours without a lost-time accident.

2 DIE IN MOMENCE FIRE

FIREMEN COOL OFF the ruins of the Zachariah Barnes home near Momence as searchers seek the body of Mrs. Barnes. Barnes died of burns in the Saturday night explosion.

Another Woman Is Badly Burned

An aged couple burned to death and another person was not expected to live when an explosion and fire leveled their home near Momence at about 9:30 p.m. Saturday.

Zachariah Barnes, about 70, died in St. Mary's Hospital.

A body tentatively identified as that of his wife was found in the blackened ruins.

A sister of Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. Ethel Baker, 62, was a patient in the hospital, so badly burned that she was not expected to live, according to a report at 11 p.m.

THE BARNES HOME is located about 6 1/2 miles east of Momence, about 1 1/2 miles south of Route 114.

Momence firemen found the entire front end of the home had been blasted off the foundation. This section was not badly charred by fire, indicating that it was thrown down by a forceful blast.

The front door and frame was found some 35 feet away. First indications were that a floor furnace had exploded.

Joseph Kwak, a neighbor, said Mrs. Baker showed up at his door, badly burned. Kwak ran out and found Barnes wandering about dazed, also with serious burns.

KWAK SAID BARNES told him that his wife was still inside the blazing structure. "She never got out," Kwak said Barnes told him.

Neighbors said the Barnes home had burned down this summer and the structure blasted Saturday night was new.

Kwak said his children had been visiting the Barnes' only about two hours before the explosion. A deputy sheriff and firemen found the body thought to be that of Mrs. Barnes after the ruins cooled enough so they could be searched.

An automobile in an attached garage was a charred ruin.

Record Peacetime Budget Getting Ike's Attention

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI)—President Eisenhower worked Saturday on his budget message that is expected to ask the Democratic Congress for record peacetime spending in fiscal 1961.

No details were announced. But the President's budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 is expected to call for federal spending of about $1 billion dollars and to show a surplus of about two billion dollars.

The President also received a revised draft of his State of the Union message which he will deliver personally to a joint session of the House and Senate Thursday, the day after start of the 1960 session.

Eisenhower planned to work Saturday and Sunday on the State of the Union message, skipping golf and church.

Sign Transit Pact

NEW YORK (AP)—New Yorkers used their subways and buses Saturday with the assurance of at least two years of transit peace.

The Transport Workers Union signed a new two-year contract early Friday, which provides a wage and benefits package amounting to 40 cents an hour for the 29,000 city-employed workers.

4 Die In Crash Of Light Plane

OPELIKA, Ala. (UPI)—The Alabama Highway Patrol reported a light aircraft crashed and burned about six miles from here Saturday, killing its four occupants.

The patrol said the plane was a Beechcraft Bonanza. The victims were not immediately identified.

Cars Collide On Florida Highway; 9 Persons Die

SOUTH BAY, Fla. (UPI)—A highway collision in the Florida Everglades killed nine persons from five states Saturday in the nation's worst traffic tragedy of the New Year's holiday period.

A realty company's station wagon driven by a Miami Beach salesman pulled out of a line of traffic with a burst of speed and, in attempting to pass, slammed into an oncoming car filled with out-of-state tourists.

The impact — equivalent to slamming a ton of steel into a brick wall at 140 miles per hour — tore and twisted the vehicles and killed eight victims instantly. Their bodies were mangled.

A woman was hurled into a water-filled roadside ditch, dying. A physician pulled her from the ditch, but she died after reaching a Belle Glade, Fla., hospital. She and her husband, also killed, were on a three weeks vacation from Geneva, N.Y.

THE TOURISTS' car, with Pennsylvania license, was bound for Miami—less than an hour away on the straight, level Everglades turnpike.

The station wagon was en route to Fort Myers, Fla., for inspection of a real estate development.

Witnesses estimated the speed of the station wagon increased to 70 to 75 miles per hour when it pulled out. The car, a 1957 Ford sedan, was traveling about 65 miles per hour, the legal speed limit, when the vehicles collided near the spot where a traffic accident only 14 months ago also took nine lives.

STATE HIGHWAY Patrol Cpl. Register Windham identified the victims as:

Theodore, 49, and Catherine Goodwin of R. 2, Wellboro, Pa.; Lewis, 53, and Gladys Schmidt, of 21 Grove St., Geneva, N.Y.; Silas Howard Lakin, 53, real estate salesman, of 1175 Marseille Dr., Miami Beach; Marvin Rex Tadlock, 74, and his wife, Mrs. Ethel M. Tadlock, of 2941 Seneca St., St. Joseph, Mo.; Robert Arthur Kay, 32, of 450 NE, 158th St., North Miami, Fla.; and Alma Fenske of 514 "C" St., Brainerd, Minn.

The station wagon crumpled on impact and was spun around. The collision caused in the sedan with terrific force and slammed it to the roadside.

Stunned and horrified witnesses ran to the demolished vehicles. Several victims were thrown clear. A Negro physician pulled Mrs. Schmidt from the shallow water of a roadside ditch, but she died at the Belle Glade Hospital. The others were dead.

THE STATION wagon tried to cut back into its lane but swayed back into the path of the sedan which had time only to get about two feet off onto the shoulder before it was hit, witnesses said.

Windham said bodies were "crumpled and mingled in with parts of the automobiles" so badly that it took wreckers and ambulance attendants 45 minutes to get them out.

"We had to get a wrecker and pull the dashboard of the sedan off the people inside," Windham said.

Traffic Toll Climbing At Record Pace

Traffic fatalities mounted at a record pace Saturday night, threatening to send the final toll to an all-time high for a three-day New Year's observance.

At the 48-hour mark, 235 traffic deaths were counted compared with 210 for a similar period during the record three-day New Year's weekend of 1955-56. There were 364 traffic deaths then.

The National Safety Council estimated before the start of the present 72-hour holiday, which began at 6 p.m. — local time — Thursday, that 320 persons might be killed in traffic accidents.

"The pace of the toll has slowed a bit, but it still is running at a rate that would set a new three-day New Year record," a council spokesman said.

He said that while traffic deaths were occurring at a rate of five an hour the possibility that the final toll would surpass the record 409 traffic fatalities of the four-day 1956-57 New Year weekend appeared to have lessened.

Kennedy Announces He's A Candidate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts moved formally into the Democratic presidential race Saturday with a challenge to potential rivals to meet him in the primaries.

Kennedy has been campaigning actively for months, but until Saturday had declined to avow his intentions.

The 42-year-old senator told 140 newsmen and about 300 cheering spectators crowded into the Senate Caucus Room that he is convinced he can win the nomination and the election.

If he doesn't get top place on his party's ticket, Kennedy said, he will not accept the vice presidential nomination "under any conditions." In 1956 he lost a bid for the No. 2 spot on the ticket to Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

IN HIS CHALLENGE to other aspirants to the nomination to enter state primaries, Kennedy expected Adlai E. Stevenson, twice the party's presidential nominee.

He indicated he is accepting Stevenson's statement that "he has no plans to be a candidate."

The Democratic National Convention opens in Los Angeles July 11.

Of those considered as potential major contenders for the nomination, only Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota has indicated he will go into the primaries.

Humphrey has said he plans to enter the Wisconsin, District of Columbia, Oregon and South Dakota ballot tests. But he said he will not contest in New Hampshire, where Kennedy said his name will be filed.

AMONG OTHER possible rivals, Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri and Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas have made it clear they will not consent to enter any primaries. Neither is now an avowed candidate. All of the potential candidates, however, are likely to find their names in Oregon's May 20 free-for-all. Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon has said his name will be entered there as a favorite son.

Talking Dog Mum In Session With Press

DRIFHLINGTON, England (UPI)—Corky, the corgi dog, who boasts "I am a clever lad," stopped talking Saturday apparently because he spoke "in a gurgling sort of bass."

But Corky can talk when he wants to. A group of cold sober newsmen attested to the fact after hearing him say his piece Friday night in the pub of his owner, Mrs. Kay Ounsworth.

"I'm a clever lad," said Corky. "As sure as I'm sober, the dog spoke," said London Daily Herald reporter Gilbert Johnson. "It was a shattering thing to hear on New Year's Day. But I give you my word."

A Daily Mail reporter agreed that Corky spoke "in a gurgling sort of bass." Nevertheless, his words came out "quite distinctly."

BUT CORKY HAD his say with those words. Mrs. Ounsworth begged and pleaded but he remained silent.

Mrs. Ounsworth was angry, usually, she said, Corky is a blabbermouth.

"Most annoying," said Mrs. Ounsworth.

Corky held his tongue.

She said Corky started speaking three months ago. Bernard Bucknall, who drops into her saloon now and then, took over the job of teaching him to curl his tongue for the word "clever."

Onarga Man Will Seek County Post

ONARGA (JNS) — Elmer L. Natterstad, owner of the Natterstad Chapel, Onarga, will seek the Republican nomination for Iroquois County coroner.

Petitions to place his name on the ballot for the April 12 primary election are in circulation.

Natterstad ran for the same nomination in the 1956 primary but lost to Verne Bussert, Sheldon, incumbent, by about 50 votes. Bussert will not seek reelection this year.

Natterstad was born near Loda and was graduated from Loda Township High School. He attended the University of Illinois and earned a degree at Wortham College of Mortuary Science.

He served as funeral director in Chicago before becoming associated with the Ford Funeral Home in Paxton and the American Funeral Home in Onarga. After the death of Fred K. American, Natterstad managed the local funeral home and purchased it from the American estate in 1952.

He also served as bulk agent for the Standard Oil Co., Roberts, for some time.

Schoder Describes Trip To Hawaii

Hawaii is "not a bit overrated" apples and tourism are the islands before becoming as in the opinion of Henry Schoder, who described his recent trip to the islands for fellow Rotarians.

Home cost between $25,000 and $30,000. Generally they are built on land leased for $50 or $75 a year plus taxes. Land that can be purchased—and it's scarce—costs between $1.50 and $2.50 a square foot.

Schoder, who made the trip with his wife to celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary, showed slides taken on the tour.

The military, sugar cane plantations and the islands' biggest industries.

Temperatures range between 75 and 85 degrees and rainfall is relatively light in the lowlands. Mountain areas, however, get as much as 190 inches of rain annually.

He also served as bulk agent for the Standard Oil Co., Roberts, for some time.

Will Display 10 Paintings At Olivet

"America's Vanishing Birds," a collection of 10 original silk screen paintings and one combination of paint and colored paper, goes on a two-week public display beginning Monday at the Olivet Nazarene College Memorial Library.

The exhibit is the fourth of the current season being shown in the Little Gallery of the library. The display is of five birds already extinct and six others for which there is little hope for survival.

The extinct birds include the Heath Hen, Great Auk, Labrador Duck, Carolina Parakeet and Passenger Pigeon. Birds on the vanishing list included among the paintings are the Eskimo Curlew, Everglade Kite, Trumpeter Swan, California Condor, Whooping Crane and Ivory-Billed Woodpecker.

The paintings are all by Charles Harper of Cincinnati, done on commission for the Ford Times Collection. The exhibit, on loan from the Ford Times Collection, is one of 23 traveling art exhibits assembled from the overall collection.

The display is open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. weekdays except Wednesday, Friday and Saturday evenings. According to Rockwell Frank, chairman of the college's art department, the collection will be of special interest not only to art lovers but to sportsmen and science students.

Car Overturns Near Momenca; Three Injured

One of three persons injured in a car crash near Momenca Thursday night has been admitted to St. Mary's Hospital with severe back pain and a hand laceration.

Henry B. Wylie, 24, Reddick, a passenger in a car driven by Warren LeJeune, 28, Arona Park, was reported in good condition.

LeJeune suffered a head laceration, while a third person in the auto, Richard Davis, 24, R.R. 3, St. Anne, complained of various pains. Both were treated in the hospital's emergency room and released.

LeJeune's car was going west on Route 114 four miles east of Momenca about 11:30 p.m., when a tire blew out as it approached a curve in the road. The car went out of control, crossed the highway to the opposite shoulder, then slid into a ditch and rolled over.

Castro Seizes Trucking Firms

HAVANA (AP) — The government has seized five of Cuba's largest trucking companies on suspicion they were linked with a venture supported by ex-President Fulbright to consolidate all the island's trucking. The Ministry for Recovery of Stolen Funds announced Saturday.

The ministry said government intervention (management) of the companies was ordered after investigations had shown they were linked with a "former Batista-controlled" trucking company, Inter-America por Carretera.

Bradley, and James Fentaro, 18, Chicago, collided at the intersection.

Yannello was issued three traffic tickets by city police, charging him with driving while under the influence of liquor, making an improper turn and not having a valid driver's license.

Justice W. Roy Beach assessed him $10 on the improper turn charge, and $15 on the drivers license charge. The driver was placed under $1,000 bond and bound to County Court on the drunk driving charge.

A city stop sign was broken off Friday night when a parked car rolled down S. Indiana avenue and hit the arterial sign at Station Street.

Christmas Joy Through 40 Days

Under the pressures of modern living, we contemplate with wonder and envy the traditions of our forefathers at this season of the year. Time was when the whole world stopped, in effect, while the populace expressed joy for 40 days, to celebrate the coming of the Savior.

We seem to be convinced we cannot thus put aside our cares today, more's the pity. But we can, at least, have a lively consciousness of this season of great joy throughout the 40-day season. It extends from December 25 to February 2 and is one continuous festival.

Where there are communities made up of recent descendants of European stock—French Canadians, Irish, Germans, Czechs, Poles, Ukrainians, Italians, Danes, for instance—old-country customs have been preserved. The 40 days are reverently kept in many such households in many parts of the country.

During this time, the early beginning of Christianity is reviewed symbolically. The day after Christmas recalls the first martyr, St. Stephen, who was stoned for courageously proclaiming the Messiah.

The next day, the miraculous escape of St. John, who was unharmed by a cup of poisoned wine he had blessed, is celebrated by the drinking of St. John's wine, a light punch of wine, water and sugar.

In many countries the Twelfth Night after Christmas, better known here as the Epiphany—which means a manifestation—is the day for gift giving. It celebrates the coming of the Three Kings, the Wise Men of the East, with their gifts. Among western Christians this event is regarded as manifestation of the Divine purpose to extend the blessings of the Gospel to the Gentile world as well as the Savior's own people.

Of special interest to North Americans is the Feast of the Holy Family, originated in Montreal in 1663 to restore family life. From this continent the observance has spread around the world.

The 40-day festival closes with the presentation of the Child Jesus in the Temple. It is a fitting climax to the Christmas season, linking the new law to the old, and stressing parental responsibility for directing their children into Almighty God's service and for family worship in God's own house.

Plea For Clean Speech Habits

It seems appropriate for professional writers to call attention once in a while to the common use of profanity, vulgarity and obscenity in conversation.

The immorality, bad manners and the profanity are, of course, matters of grave concern. It is also distressing to note the common poverty in the powers of adequate and effective expression.

It is significant that the habit of using profane, vulgar and obscene expletives do not always reflect bad morals. It often happens that men, and even women and children, resort to profanities, vulgarities and obscenities quite glibly, without thought to the offense given and the evil done.

However, it is also unfortunate that so many people are so impoverished in their stores of decent and dignified language that they take recourse to the filth of the lingual gutter.

A clergyman might point out that clean speech comes easier for the person who remembers that Almighty God is in the world and partaking of the lives of His children, if they so permit.

He gives strength to resist temptation and to live with a dignity and a cleanliness appropriate to one created in the image of God.

Near the end of his life, Woodrow Wilson, former President of the United States, expressed deep aversion to profanity and particularly to blasphemy, even in the most innocent usage. He said he never heard a profane word without a feeling of shock, and never used a profane word without a sense of shame.

The beauty and the power of clean expression constitute one of the finest instruments of mankind for the instruction and inspiration of the young, and for intelligible, pleasant day after day communication. Profanity cheapens the user and alienates the listener.

The use of profanity and vulgarity is a retreat from the respect of other people and from one's own self respect. It fouls the tongue, the ear and the air, and its only real impact is upon the accusing conscience of user and listener alike.

Voice Of The People

GRANT PARK—It really saddens me to read that politicians can have such a powerful influence on religion (or vice versa) that it could very easily lead to Christian bankruptcy.

Will Catholics and Protestants ever compromise enough and let Jesus guide and direct their lives, and not special church leaders? It is, indeed, not a case of being ego inspired broad minded, but Christ minded.

Why ever draw the line that all Catholics are not the real followers of Jesus and Protestants are, or vice versa?

Permit me to divide them this way: There are so-called Catholics and Protestants today who are filled with bigotry that they are headed straight to hell. But, thanks be to God, the most of them are fine, dedicated Christian Catholics and Protestants so filled with the Holy Spirit that they are a constant inspiration to me.

Why do I feel this way? Well, remember just recently that the Catholics and Protestants, each in their own churches, worshipped in that fine old American tradition. "Thanksgiving," handed down from whom? A little band of Protestants leaving the shores of church and state and landing on the bleak shores of New England, in quest of freedom of worship more than from freedom from fear and want.

I'm told there is little or no religious freedom exists in Spain or South America, and I read vice versa in Sweden and Norway. It's the same way, and I'm positive that no Christian Catholic or Protestant would want to be open here—that even the ignorant would join in not wanting to worship in his church. Catholics and Protestants are all solid on this issue. Why not otherwise?

So, dear quarrelling Catholics and Protestants, please read over and over Isaiah 53. Let it sink in deeply.

Study Favors Safer Bid

Today's South hand was the subject of the "Card Sense" questions for the past several days. There is no problem to the play at six-trump. South wins the trick on the wall. I pray that a trick to West's queen but makes four clubs, two hearts and three in each of the other suits for a total of 12.

The South bidding has been discussed in the Card Sense questions but it is the North bidding that is really worthy of study.

South's opening club bid and two no-trump rebid showed 18 or 19 points and North has 16 points of his own. He could have jumped right to six no-trump but North wanted to explore grand slam possibilities.

His three heart bid temporized and when South raised to four hearts, he was in a bit of a bind. He wanted to play in four hearts, but he was not sure of his partner's holding. He wanted to play in four hearts, but he was not sure of his partner's holding.

SISTER MARY ANGELA

APPROXIMATELY 30,000 babies have been born at St. Mary's Hospital during the past 18 years. Having a part in many of the births and child care has been Sister Mary Angela, a member of the obsterical unit staff at the hospital for the 18 years she presently is supervisor of the entire OB division.

As a child, Sister Angela had two main ambitions — she wanted to be a nun and she wanted to be a nurse. As years went by she attained both aims.

The Kankakee nun was one of four children born to Mr. and Mrs. August Carbin on a farm near Norwalk, Ohio. The farm is steeped in the history of the family since it has belonged to the Carbins since 1827. In that year Joseph Carbin came to the United States from Alsace Lorraine and built a log cabin on the site. Eight sons of the present owner were included in that first log cabin. Sister Mary Angela was a member of the fourth generation of the family to live in the home. Her parents still reside there.

Sister Mary Angela's early education was in St. Alphonsus Parochial School, located a half mile from her home. While she was a freshman there the Sister Servants of the Holy Heart of Mary took over operation of the school, and she continued her education there until that first log cabin. Sister Mary Angela was a member of the fourth generation of the family to live in the home. Her parents still reside there.

She was at the Beaverville academy until 1924. That year she joined the St. Mary's Hospital staff and she has been there ever since. She was graduated from the St. Mary's School of Nursing in 1929.

Sister Mary Angela was in charge of the surgical department at the hospital until 1941, serving part of the time as night supervisor and part of the time as day supervisor.

In 1941 the need arose for more help in the obsterical department and she was transferred to it. She took post graduate work in premature care and obsterics to prepare for the new assignment.

Up to 1941 Sister Mary Angela had been dealing solely with the care of adults. The care of babies was a new experience but she quickly made the transition and down through the years has developed the preference for babies in obsterics. During her 18 years in obsterics, Sister Mary Angela has seen the birth rate at the hospital rise from somewhat below 1,000 a peak of 2,000 two years ago. This year the number of births is topping 2,000 for the third straight year.

The Kankakee area has seen the department grow from a staff of 20 to 24 to one of 67 today. One of the most memorable periods in her 18 years in the department came five years ago when at the same time the hospital had the largest and smallest babies ever born there. The largest was 17 pounds 13 ounces, smallest was 1 pound 15 ounces.

The sister feels that a nurse in obsterics must be very kind, very conscientious and very truthful. She has been especially appreciative of the work of the doctors and nurses in the department down through the years and also is appreciative of the respect by the public of the visiting regulations for the division.

Sister Mary Angela has found the obsterical division anything but monotonous, sometimes tedious, but she never tires. She considers her prime hobby the care of the premature baby.

Like her mother, Sister Mary Angela's hobby is also at the hospital. She considers her prime hobby the care of the premature baby.

She is also at the hospital. She considers her prime hobby the care of the premature baby.

What Is Positive Thinking

Once on a speaking tour in the South I was asked by friends to call on a dying man. This man was known to all as a wonderful example of fortitude and faith. "He will inspire you so much that you will never forget him," they told me.

As I sat at his bedside I was extremely impressed by his courage. I marveled that a man who knew he was dying could have such a calm and confident attitude. As we talked the man pointed to a small white pamphlet tied by a ribbon to the bedpost.

"I've received lots of help from that," he said. "It's one of your sermons. I first read it because it's about healing and I wanted healing. I thought that if I prayed and had faith, I could be healed. And then, one night, the Lord seemed to tell me that I would not be healed in my body but that He would heal me in my mind and heart and soul. And He did just that. He healed me by taking all fear from me. I have no fear, even of death. He gave me faith which will take me through, and I have had a spiritual experience in depth and feel a deep peace."

I LOOKED WONDERINGLY AT HIM AND SAW A light on his face. I realized I was in the presence of a magnificent gentleman touched by the grace of God that he could await death with equanimity.

This is an excellent example—though a sad one—of positive thinking. To be able to meet any situation victoriously is positive thinking in action.

As the duties of two books containing this phrase in their titles, "The Power of Positive Thinking," and "The Amazing Results of Positive Thinking," I am often asked to define the term and explain why I expound positive thinking as the most satisfactory philosophy of life. Positive thinking may be defined as "tough-mindedness."

And it can be defined in one five-letter word, "faith." Or, both definitions may be combined to state that positive thinking is "tough-minded faith."

And what do I mean by this faith? I mean faith in God, faith in life and faith in yourself. Tough-mindedness, however, is not a blind faith. It is a faith that is based on the facts of life. It is a faith that is based on the facts of life. It is a faith that is based on the facts of life.

Under criticism, retreat before opposition, collapse under difficulty. But not so the tough-minded. They extract all possible knowledge from criticism and then forget it. Opposition simply strengthens their mental and spiritual muscles, and they handle difficulty with power.

SINCE PUBLICATION OF "The Power of Positive Thinking" eight years ago, a good many readers have written letters to me. These have come from people of all ages and from all types of people. Some are rich and some are poor; and some of the rich are just as unhappy as some of the poor. Some are famous; a few have reached fame easily, but most have reached it through struggle and pain to reach their goals. Most of these letters, however, have come from people of average circumstances, leading the everyday kind of lives most of us lead.

But all these letters have one thing in common. In effect, they say, "I needed something strong and creative in my life. So I followed the principles of positive thinking you outlined. You said that if I was not sure of my own power, I tried them and they did work." The letters thoroughly describe their weakness of difficulties such as pain, frustration, inferiority, weakness, jealousy, hate and fear. True statements like these from people about things that have happened to them in their lives, bear witness to the glorious power of God in human life. Of course, they make you realize the vast amount of trouble there is in the world, but they also give evidence that positive thinking can overcome trouble.

The Breakthrough

Politically the United States is now less flexible than many countries in Europe. We are maturing into a hide-bound, red-tape government system, under which it is growing increasingly difficult to adjust to the requirements of the times. For instance, despite the Herculean efforts of the two Hoover commissions and numerous other agencies, it has proved impossible to cut down the size of the federal government, and to achieve an internal prosperity not known before in this century. All British talents were concentrated on the one objective of making Great Britain's financial position strong.

In the United States, the central issue at the moment is, inflation. It would be expected that candidates who project themselves for the presidency would deal with inflation. They generally avoid it, fearing to step on the toes of one element among the voters or another. Adlai Stevenson, the perpetual Democratic candidate for the presidency, has suggested a program for the United States which, if carried out, could stimulate inflation.

THE "IT ALWAYS WAS" done that way" notion can be very costly to government as in private endeavor. The sanction of habit is insufficient for a swift change of era. De Gaulle broke through that by the simple device of being stubborn and refusing to let himself be changed. "My way or no way." At that moment, France had no alternative. Today, France is again a powerful nation demanding an equal place in the world.

In fact, the doctors add, long-term restrictions may create unpleasant emotional or psychological problems which can undo any medical advances resulting from such caution.

REPEATED ATTACKS, of course, are a major hazard of the disease. Another group of Chicago doctors reported recently that persons who have had rheumatic fever get attacks, they appear to become less susceptible to additional attacks.

Advancing age apparently helps a person fight the streptococcal infections which we believe trigger both the initial and recurrent attacks.

Star Margaret Sullivan Dies

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Actress Margaret Sullivan died Friday, a few hours before going on stage as star of a new play, "As I Lay It," at the New Haven Theatre. She was 48 years old.

Miss Sullivan, 48, was found unconscious in her hotel room. She was taken to the Graco New Haven Community Hospital.

The actress, nervous and upset, had been under the care of a physician for two days. James J. Corrigan, New Haven County coroner, said her death might have resulted from an overdose of barbiturates but added: "I do not believe it was a suicide."

HOWEVER, AFTER receipts of an autopsy report Saturday, Corrigan said he had not at this time ruled out the possibility of suicide.

The coroner said the autopsy had shown "a clinical picture consistent with barbiturate acid poisoning." He added that a similar condition could have been caused by some other element.

Before any definite finding can be made, Corrigan said, a study of the vital organs by the State Toxicological Laboratory in Hartford must be completed. He said he expects this report to be completed Monday or Tuesday.

Miss Sullivan had been visited by a physician early Friday and again in the afternoon. Her husband, Kenneth Wagg, spoke with her about 2 p.m.

A few hours later, he had to ask the hotel management to force the door of her room when he found it fastened by a chain lock. Inside he could see her lying in bed.

Detective Capt. William Holohan said Wagg told him Miss Sullivan wished she could get out of show business.

WAGG GOT A doctor for her after the Thursday night performance of "Sweet Love Remembers," which began a pre-Broadway tryout Monday at the Shubert Theatre.

Dr. Rafi Toff said he found Miss Sullivan "keyed-up and disturbed. He gave her an injection to help her relax, but she was still highly nervous when he saw her early Friday afternoon."

Miss Sullivan's trademark is nearly three decades of acting on the stage and in movies as a low pitched voice. Broadway players first heard it in 1931 as "Tedd" Simpson in "A Modern Virgin."

She worked in a series of hits including "I'll Love You 'Till I Die" in 1931; "Happy Landings" in 1932; "Bad Man" in 1933; "Dinner at Eight" in 1934; "The Sign of the Cross" in 1935; and "The Sign of the Cross" in 1935.

Then came seven years in Hollywood with top roles. At the end of this stint, she came back to Broadway, a bigger name than ever.

Start Of '60s' Not So Golden For 21 Violators

Economic forecasters have termed the decade ushered in Friday as the "Golden Sixties" for 21 persons this meant only a brighter glow in the city and county coffers and a slimmer pocketbook for themselves.

Various infractions of the law cost these persons nearly $500 in fines and court costs.

For several, the possibility of more punishment still exists for they were booked on drunk driving charges and bound to County Court.

Local Fire Losses Up, But No Record

Fire losses in Kankakee during 1959 were considerably above that of 1958 but still a long way from the record lost in 1957. Property losses from fires last year totaled $107,947, according to the annual report of Chief James P. Marshall.

In 1958 losses were only $66,000. In 1957 fire losses hit a high of $266,690 in Kankakee.

Biggest losses last year were from the Lloyd's Supermarket fire on July 7, with a loss of $55,000, and the Ben Franklin Store fire on June 27, with damage amounting to $10,500.

There were 88 fires in which a loss was sustained during the year and 207 where there was no loss. The average loss was $1,181.50 per fire or $3.80 per capita, an increase of $1.38 over 1958.

Total calls took a big jump during the year. Firemen were called out 1,925 times as compared with 1,958. Although actual fire calls were about the same in both years, the increase came in calls for extinguishers, 49 for the boat. Forty-two of the boat calls were for extinguishers, 49 for the boat. ## Crew Of 37 Believed Safe As U. S. Ship Sinks Off Singapore

SINGAPORE (AP)—The American freighter Valley Forge broke up Saturday on treacherous reefs 50 miles southeast of Singapore. The ship's agents said all 37 aboard were believed safe.

The British minesweeper Flotilla headed for Singapore with 23 crewmen picked up on an uninhabited island near the scene of the wreck. They had put out from the Valley Forge in a lifeboat.

Eight other crewmen from the men who were with the captain when they abandoned ship in a lifeboat Friday morning were safe, a spokesman for the agents said.

The British navy said the 22 men aboard the Flotilla included the Valley Forge's second officer, Charles Kidd of Baltimore, Md.

The navy also said it was keeping two other warships in the area in the event all survivors might not be accounted for by today.

The eight crewmen rescued by the tug were identified as Gerald W. Tucker, Portland, Ore.; First Asst. Engineer Vaughn Jankovich; Third Engineer Clarence J. Baker; Seattle, Wash.; John C. Hunt; Seattle; Alejandro Valenzuela; San Francisco; Delos Sneed; Portsmouth, Va.; William Datzko; Brooklyn, N. Y.; and Fred K. Lund, Portland, Ore.

The Valley Forge, a Liberty ship built in 1941, is owned by the Peninsular Navigation Co. of New York.

THE FREIGHTER was en route to Singapore with 10,000 tons of wheat. Agents here said the ship, valued at about $300,000 without cargo, is probably a complete loss.

The vessel ran aground off Mopur Island in Indonesian waters on New Year's Eve. First messages reported water was pouring into the engine room and holds.

The salvage tug Griper reached the area just as the vessel was beginning to break apart. A lifeboat carrying eight crewmen was tossed dangerously by high waves but managed to reach the tug.

Another plane dropped food and clothing to the seven men stranded on the island.

Former Symbol Of Appeasement Now European Capital Of Intrigue

MUNICH, West Germany (AP)—Munich, once the symbol of appeasement, has become to anti-Communism in Iron Curtain lands a symbol of underground resistance.

Beneath its sun-loving surface, the old Bavarian city of beer halls and art galleries seethes with cloak and dagger intrigue as headquarters of spies, counterespionage, and anti-Communist underground movements.

"Munich," says a high western intelligence official, "is like the periscope of a giant submarine packed with agents peering over the iron curtain and eying each other with suspicion."

At least three unexplained deaths in the past five years, including that of the legendary Ukrainian freedom fighter Stepan Bandera, are attributed by police to the silent underground war between East and West.

Tight-lipped men, usually in groups of three to five, carrying arms and propaganda, are frequently slipping out of the city on secret missions into their Red-ruled homelands.

They return—if they do—with information that is processed and fed into untold number of publications that are sold around the world and help finance the "underground" activities.

The Communist countries claim Ex-Soviet Army Maj. Abdul Fattalib, working for Radio Liberation broadcasting to the Soviet Union, was killed to death in broad daylight Nov. 11, 1954.

Slovak empire leader Markus Cernak met his death at a Munich post office July 1, 1955, when he picked up a registered parcel. The parcel exploded. A German woman bystander also was killed. Last Oct. 15, Bandera, leader of the tough and belligerent Organization of Ukrainian Nationalists, was found dead of poison on the threshold of one of his six Munich apartments.

Bandera, whose name means "fighter" in Ukrainian, led a freedom movement in Ukraine before World War II.

After the war, he reportedly reorganized his group from Munich and sent regular fighting groups into the Ukraine to join the Bandevich, his guerrilla army that had been shooting it out with the Russians for years.

A slip apparently cost Bandera his life.

He had a 24-hour armed guard shadowing him. But, on the day of his death, he sent his bodyguard away before walking home to join his wife and children for lunch.

Onarga May Have New Post Office

ONARGA (JNS)—Probabilities of Onarga having a new post office building have become more certain.

It currently is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hildebrand of Fairfax, Va. Government men have been looking for a suitable building site in Onarga for the past year.

A desirable location, by government standards, was one centrally situated in relation to the business area, on a principal street and with easy access to the building from both front and rear. The work had to be done between the tracks.

Bradley Officer Checks Accident Involving Father

It was a father-son combination New Year's Day in Bradley when Police Officer Gerri Onarga Jr. was called to an accident scene and found his father, Gerri Sr., of 815 N. Cleveland Ave., the driver of one of two cars both nearly demolished in a wreck.

The accident occurred at Grove St. and N. Cleveland Ave. between cars driven by the senior Onarga and Mildred C. Dye, 41, of 1341 N. Fifth Ave. Both cars were thrown on the terrace and one nearly hit a house.

Mrs. Dye and her two children were taken to St. Mary's Hospital for treatment and re-

Scientists Set Bold, New Trap For Nature

CHICAGO (AP)—Scientists are preparing a bold new trap for nature, that is, tell more about the strange particles known as "antimatter" in the nucleus of atoms. They also hope for more clues to the origin and character of cosmic rays which bombard the earth from space.

Their trap is a two-gallon balloon and gondolas designed to carry photographic emulsion to heights of 22,700 miles above the earth, near the edge of space.

For there, nature operates her own tremendous atom smasher, far more powerful than any of man's atom smasher break up the nuclei of atoms to determine what they are made of.

Cosmic rays come zipping in from space at energies up to 10,000 billion electron volts.

Dr. Marcel Scharf, University of Chicago physicist, explains that the original character of cosmic rays, the collisions can smash atomic hearts in many and revealing pieces.

BY CONTRAST, the most powerful man-made atom smasher, now ready for use at Brookhaven National Laboratory, New York, will produce about 30 billion electron volts.

The new trap for cosmic rays is a balloon and gondolas designed to carry photographic emulsion to heights of 22,700 miles above the earth, near the edge of space.

Each will carry a 1,300-pound aluminum gondola, seven feet long, and four feet in diameter.

Inside will be the traps for nature—a block of 50" special photographic emulsion, 18" by 24" in size and weighing 800 pounds, in each gondola.

When cosmic rays strike the emulsion, the driver, was not injured. Mrs. Dye was killed by Onarga, the officer, for failure to yield the right of way.

Former Kankakee, Huron, Husband, Hurt In Crash

A former Kankakee woman, Mrs. Ann Soukup, 24, and her husband, David, 26, are reported in good condition in St. James Hospital, Chicago Heights, following a two-car crash at 6:33 p.m. Thursday.

Mrs. Soukup is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Mathews, 217 E. Oak St. Her husband is a native of Elmhurst.

The couple, both students at the University of Chicago, were south bound on Route 1. Just north of Beecher at the Steger road, the cars collided head-on.

The Soukups suffered facial lacerations. McCort is reported in serious condition.

One-gallon emulsions, they will leave microscopic trails or marks, the fingerprints of known or new nuclear particles. The collisions can also indicate much about the cosmic ray which created the explosion.

U.S. Navy ships will have the task of recovering the gondolas and their cargo when they come down.

COSMIC RAY balloon research and atom-smashing machines already have disclosed at least 27 nuclear particles in what Dr. Robert Oppenheimer has termed the nuclear zoo.

One of the greatest challenges in physics now is to try to understand the story of all the nuclear particles, and what they mean.

Man's atom smashers have the advantage of producing steady or intermittent streams of particles of known energy to drive at atomic hearts. Cosmic rays are unpredictable, but can produce much greater disintegration of the atom's nucleus.

The University of Chicago scientists will analyze one block of emulsions. The others will be divided among universities in Canada, England, France, Italy, Switzerland, Brazil, India, and Japan and in this country with the universities of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Rochester, Washington, California and Tennessee, and the Naval Research Laboratory.

Bevan's Condition Listed As Fair

LONDON (AP)—Aneurin Bevan, 62, deputy leader of the British Labor party who underwent a major stomach operation four days ago, passed a "fair night."

The former Welsh coal miner remained on the danger list at the Royal Free Hospital.

The girl's mother, Anne Mirren, and her uncle, Edward Mirren, carried three younger Mirren children to safety when fire swept through the living room, Mrs. Thoreau, a police man, was on duty.

The blind girl, Janice, was trapped in the blazing seven-room bungalow on the North Side.

A negro on - Walter Troška, a window, was on duty. Heavy smoke and flames drove him back.

Troška went to a window, smashed through it, and crawled inside. He found Janice in a corner, confused by the heavy smoke and flames.

Janice, almost blind since birth, hopes some day to see Troška. Recent surgery on her eyes promised hope that she soon would be able to see better.

Nation Celebrates Freedom; 39 Killed

DOUALA, Cameroon (AP)—Only 24 hours after Cameroon became independent, heavily armed police rained the streets of the principal cities in the world's newest nation.

Violence marked the birth of the sprawling African state on New Year's Day but Premier Amadou Ahidjo looked to the future with confidence.

Thirty nine persons were killed in terrorist attacks blamed on the outlawed Union of the Cameroon People—UPC—a leftist political party which opposed the United Nations-sponsored elections held prior to independence which made Ahidjo premier.

"WE WILL FORGET their 'defection,'" Ahidjo told a huge crowd in Yaounde Friday as the young nation set off for four days of celebrating its freedom.

Ahidjo shifted the scene of the official independence celebration to this Atlantic port city Saturday.

Cameroon, a United Nations trust territory, became independent when France's mandate expired. France had administered the territory since taking it over from Germany during World War I.

Output 10% Higher Than Earlier Figures Shown

Business Gets A Holiday Gift

NEW YORK (AP)—Business wound up the exciting year 1959 with the welcome discovery that it has been doing even better than it thought.

The Federal Reserve Board disclosed this week that an overhaul of its index of industrial production showed output has been increasing about 10 per cent faster than earlier figures showed. And also that labor productivity made bigger gains than previous measurements indicated.

THE BOARD revised the index to include utilities along with factories and mines, use of new information about industrial output from the latest business census, and a change in the importance attached to various components of the index.

Industrial production in December, the board said, was near the historic highs of the prewar strike period. The sharp recovery was helped materially by the strong recovery in the steel industry since the strike was interrupted. Exact figures for December are to be released next week.

The year ended with a flood of record-breaking sales and earnings reports and predictions of a bright future for 1960.

Economists of the Senate House Economic Committee predicted the nation could look forward to economic growth of 3 to 4 1/2 per cent annually.

The National Association of Purchasing Agents reported a poll showed 75 per cent of its members expect business in 1960 to exceed 1959.

Steel executives and the Commerce Department predicted steel output in 1960 will set a record if there is no strike.

Congress May Pass Laws To Stop Payola

Vanderbilt Widow Is Heart Victim In New York City

WASHINGTON (AP)—Should Congress pass new laws to stamp out payola, rigging and deception in the television and radio industry?

A number of congressmen think so, and they're ready to go to work on it as soon as Congress convenes next Wednesday. "The iron law of the industry is that it will pick winners and losers," says Rep. William L. Springer (R-Ill.).

But Sen. William F. Rogers (R-Mich.) thinks the two government agencies that regulate broadcast—FCC and FTC—already have the power to do the job. He says they just haven't been using that power as they should. Another group of congressmen agree with Rogers.

Rogers gave the view in a lengthy pre-New Year's report to the House Committee on Communications. He said he was studying the situation after congressional investigation laid bare a series of TV scandals.

His third husband was the late Dr. Smith McKim. The marriage ended in divorce. She then married Alfred Vanderbilt, who was killed in the crash of the liner Lusitania when it was sunk by a German submarine off Ireland May 4, 1915.

Churchill Moves To Monte Carlo

MONTENEGRO, Monaco (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill arrived here Saturday for his annual winter vacation away from the fog of London.

For the first time in many years Churchill is staying at the Hotel de Paris in Monte Carlo instead of in the private villa of a friend on the French Riviera.

Shipping millionaire Aristide Onassis, a Monte Carlo resident, brought Churchill to nearby Nice, France. He is an old friend of the 85-year-old statesman.

Churchill apparently chose the hotel, which faces the Monte Carlo Casino, because one of his villa-owning friends is sick and another's home does not have the heating system Churchill has required since his pneumonia attack two years ago.

Fire Kills Man

College Sophomore On Brink Of Career In 3 Fields Of Art

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—Consider the plight of precocious Pixie Foster, a 19-year-old college sophomore poised on the brink of bright careers in three major fields of art.

Pixie is confronted with the problem of which career to choose: painting and sculpture, or the dance, maybe a combination of the two.

But there's always art, both painting and sculpture, and perhaps even creative writing. She recently took that up because "I never had tried it before."

It was art, in a way, that first indicated to Mr. and Mrs. Lane Foster that the child born to them after 13 years of marriage was a potential prodigy.

Son Shoots Dad During Holiday Spat

ELGIN (AP)—A 20-year-old instructor at a rifle club has been charged with murder in the New Year's Eve party slaying of his father following a quarrel over drinking.

State's Atty. John C. Friedman said Harold C. Kaiser Jr., was held without bond in the Kane County Jail in Geneva Saturday after signing a statement in which he admitted he had a 38 caliber revolver which shot and killed his father.

Young Kaiser, a sergeant in the Barrington Civil Air Patrol and an instructor at the Elgin Junior Rifle Club, told police he had in fact three friends to the house for a few drinks and a game of cards. One of the friends, David Dever, 18, of Dever, was put to bed because he "had a few too many."

Friedman said Kaiser gave this sequence:

The senior Kaiser stormed into the kitchen and took his son to task for heavy drinking. A fight started between father and son in which furniture was upset, liquor hurled about and a telephone ripped out of the wall.

"THE MOTHER, Mae Dorothy, 40, tried to separate the two. Kaiser's other two friends left. After the struggle ended, young Kaiser went to his bedroom and got a revolver he had recently purchased. Mrs. Kaiser pleaded with her son to put away the weapon which he was aiming at the ceiling.

"Mrs. Kaiser told police she looked across the room, saw her husband coming out of the bathroom. She heard a shot and her husband fell dead. The bullet pierced Kaiser's head and was embedded in the wall.

"The man held told police he did not know the weapon was loaded.

To Aid Growers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Everett S. Long (D-Miss.) said Friday night he will introduce legislation to aid the "hard pressed" cranberry industry. He said his bill will be designed mainly to help growers.

and could recall any intention of shooting at his father or aiming the gun in that direction.

Mrs. Kaiser said their only son took the revolver and a box of cartridges and left the house after the shooting. Three hours later he returned and surrendered to waiting police.

Kaiser declined to say where he had been when he was having come to see a friend across town. The elder Kaiser was manager of a towel cleaning firm.

Cardiogram Of The 1959 Market

The stock market in 1959 began where steadily rising 1958 left off and ended at a higher level. But along the way it experienced numerous large and small setbacks to present a jagged record of the nation's heartbeat. The market reached a record high on Aug. 1, then took a nose dive in the face of the nearly four-month-long steel strike. The end of the year saw it struggling upward again. Business highlights included the raising of prime bank rates from 4 per cent to 4 1/2, then to 5 per cent; and the bank discount rate from 3 1/2 to 4 per cent. U.S. Treasury's offering of bonds paying 5 per cent interest went over big. The outlook for 1960? A much better year, say the pundits.

Castro Returns To Mountains To Lead Maneuvers

HAVANA (UPI)—Premier Fidel Castro returned Saturday to the Sierra Maestra, in Oriente province, from which only a year ago he directed the revolution that brought him to power.

Castro went back to his old stamping grounds to direct graduation maneuvers of a 400-student military unit formed as part of his new civilian militia.

The students, wearing red shirts and black berets, left Havana by train Friday for the rugged mountains of Oriente. There were 80 girls in the group.

Castro was to have accompanied them but delayed his departure until Friday night so he could meet with a large group of American Negroes headed by former world heavyweight champion Joe Louis.

Officially the party was in honor of Louis and his group, invited here by the office of tourism.

But Castro used the occasion to voice the hope the new year will bring an improvement in the frayed relations between Cuba and the United States.

"I wish a happy new year to the people of the United States," Castro said. When asked what Cuba needs most from the United States he replied quickly "better understanding."

The safety factor (keeping most of one's cash in the bank) saves the depositor from the possibility of a severe financial loss.

Checks are convenient for they make funds always available to the customer, as near as his pen.

The disbursement record is very useful, especially at income tax time. And it enables the depositor to study his spending pattern to discover ways to save money.

Two Types of Checking Accounts Are Available at City National:

A. Regular Account requiring the depositor to maintain a stated balance (otherwise a service charge is made).

B. A pay-as-you-go Checking Account requiring a balance only large enough to cover checks written. The only charge is 10c a check.

Which type of Checking Account is better suited to your special requirements? If you're undecided, come in and let's talk it over.

Bride Rides In Truck To Her Wedding

CHICAGO (AP)—"A truck? To ride to my wedding?" protested the bride.

"A truck? A how undignified," cried the bridesmaids.

But neither knew best and the bride, Pamela Anne Taylor, her six attendants, her mother, father and a few guests rode to her wedding Friday in two cleaning vans.

Mrs. Edward Russell Taylor explained that these beautiful gowns all missed and "I wanted candid photographs taken at home while the girls were dressing."

The bridesmaids finally agreed. "I'm groom," John Rich, 31, of 11111, thought it was a great idea and so did the bride's father.

So two trucks pulled up to the Taylor home in suburban Glenview and out came the bride in her bell-shaped gown and a train with lace and pearls.

The bridesmaids wore turquoise flannel frocks and matching headpieces sprinkled with violets. After the ceremony the bridal party returned to the Taylor home in limousines.

Everybody agreed it was a beautiful wedding. It was also Taylor's 22nd wedding anniversary, the 44th for Mrs. Ralph T. Lee of Rockford, Ill., and the 28th for Mrs. C. Edward Grignon of Dearborn, Mich. — both aunts of the bride.

Canadian Flood Threat Ebbs As River Drops 1 Foot

MONTREAL (AP)—Flood waters backing up behind an ice jam in the Rivieres des Prairies dropped a foot in 24 hours, but riverbank communities expect no real relief for two or three days.

Bordeaux, a northern district of Montreal, was declared an emergency area Friday night and placed under civil defense. The army was called in to help in the Rivieres des Prairies, Bordeaux and the suburban communities of Laval des Rapides, L'Ancien Fort, and Riviere des Prairies.

Quebec hydro crews, beginning their fourth day of setting off dynamite charges in efforts to loosen the ice jam, said at least two more days will be needed to release the pent-up water. About 100 families have been evacuated from the communities since the waters rose suddenly Tuesday.

A Civil Defense staff under Maj. Maurice St. Pierre, Montreal District area commander, removed 11 families from Bordeaux Saturday. Water still was 4 to 10 feet deep in low areas along the riverbanks.

Flood areas from over during the night, and evacuation by boat was hazardous.

The jam developed when chunks of floating ice piled up at the Canadian Pacific Railway bridge at suburban Port Vau.

Marion Davies' Beach Razed To Make Way For Parking Lot

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The site that once housed Marion Davies' seven-million-dollar beach house soon will be a parking lot.

And that just about tells the whole story of what income tax has done to the movie stars' living among the movie stars.

Miss Davies, who now lives in a Beverly Hills mansion that is still fabulous by today's standards, thinks it is a shame that her house is no longer.

"It should have been torn down," she told a reporter. "It could have been kept open for the public to see. It was an artistic and historic masterpiece."

REAL ESTATE man J. W. Down, present owner of the land, is selling it to the State of California for use in its master beach plan for the Santa Monica waterfront. A state source reports that Down's selling price was "relatively low" considering the market value of the land, which is near expensive beach homes owned by Darryl Zanuck and Harold Lloyd.

But a condition of sale for the Davies' property was that Down be able to lease back the land for $20,000 a year for use as a 500-car parking lot.

Twenty thousand is a paltry sum compared with the millions that Miss Davies poured into the place to make it literally the Versailles of Hollywood.

Back about the time of the 1922 stock crash, movie stars were making so much money that it was frustrating, finding ways to spend it. Lloyd, who was earning a reported $80,000 a week with most of it taken home pay, built a magnificent estate with 18-hole golf course and a Yosemite-like waterfall. Other stars put those and into beach houses that were more like hotels than ocean hide-aways.

SHE DOES RECALL ordering a $7,500 hallway to connect the two buildings. Somehow the hallway made the ceilings in the houses too low and the rooms too small.

"Let's start over and build a new house from the ground up," Davies told a reporter. When it was finished in 1926, she got $500,000 almost to the dollar what the 37 fireplaces, many of them 300 years old, had cost her.

For awhile the place was run as a private club and later as a hotel. But the main house only had 30 rooms and it just didn't pay off. A few years ago the main building was demolished and art collectors bought up the expensive paneling and fixtures for a song.

Marion has spent lots of money on herself, but she has spent millions more on others. Associates estimate she has given away more than 10 million dollars in a 26-year war against childhood

Moisture In Corn Bogs Down Loan Applications

Moisture in grain has become a problem in the Kankakee area. The Kankakee County ASC office is presently rejecting about 40 per cent of the corn loan applications due to high moisture.

Robert Morgan, ASC office manager, pointed out that the moisture requirements for loans had been changed this year but even under the old regulations about 30 per cent of the applications would have been rejected.

Both Kankakee and Iroquois ASC office report a brisk demand for the $1.14 loan on corn in 1959 drew to a close. The reason for the demand was probably too dry. Some farmers may have been speculating that corn prices will rise, but most of them probably wanted to get the cash return entered on this year's income tax form.

THOSE WHO were turned down due to moisture will probably have the income from two crops next year to pay income tax on.

In Kankakee County 229 loans were made on the 1959 corn before the year ended and 413 applications were filed. In Iroquois County the percentage of acceptance was better with 88 loans made on about 1,121 applications. The applications are rejected when the moisture is 22 per cent or above. The corn can be re-treated in a month because crib-dry corn can lose moisture rapidly under good drying conditions.

THE MOISTURE maximum this year is 21 per cent on a 7 foot crib; 20 per cent on an 8 foot crib and etc.

Samples are taken by fieldmen who visit the bins and cribs. They use long probes that shell and remove samples of corn from various parts of the cribs. These are blended and a composite sample is taken to the ASC office for a test.

About two pounds are taken in each sample and enclosed in a canvas bag. Half the sample is wrapped in a plastic bag so it will not lose moisture while being transported into the laboratory.

THE ASC office also keeps a constant check on the corn that it has stored in Community Credit bins throughout the county. In Kankakee County there are 1,080,062 bushels of corn stored in government bins.

In Iroquois County there are 4 million bushels in government bins and 5 million in private warehouses. The 1958 takeover in Iroquois County was 2½ million bushels and in Kankakee County a little more than 1 million bushels.

The total corn that will be placed under loan will be Ever wonder which township in Kankakee has the most farms, those producing the most corn and soybeans and those carrying the most dairy cattle? Well, the answer to these questions and others has just been released by the Illinois Crop Reporting Service.

The answers were those gleaned by county assessors earlier this year on the 1958 land use in Kankakee County.

Pembroke Township leads with the largest number of farms although it is only fourth largest in acreage. There are 275 farms in the township and 25,972 acres of land. Pilot follows with 160 farms and 22,031 acres. The second largest township is third with 143 farms and 22,031 acres—the largest township in the county. Limestone has 139 farms and Yellowstone has 138 farms and 22,031 acres.

CHICAGO (UPI).—Grain futures ended the week on an irregular price pattern this week on the Board of Trade.

Compared with last week, wheat was off 1¼ to 1½ cents; corn up ¼ to ¾; oats unchanged to ½; soybeans up ¼ to 2½; and hard off 20 to 25 points.

The March wheat contract advanced to its highest level since the first week of December. New crop wheat deliveries were weak. Spreads were active. Cash wheat gained 1-3 cents.

Prices were very small, and prices held firm. Wednesday's carlot arrivals were 61,000 bushels of wheat, 1,500 bushels of corn, 1,500 bushels of soybeans, and 1,500 bushels of hard wheat. The cash market advanced 3 to 4 cents.

On borrowed money from the week were mostly steady. Oats were light. Cash houses gave some support. Spot oats were ¼ to ½ cents higher.

Buyers were dull and mixed. The cash market advanced 3 to 4 cents. The cash market advanced 3 to 4 cents.

On 448 farms in the county a total of 4,283 head of cattle were fed and marketed in 1958. Yellowhead Township led with 55 farmers marketing 64 head of cattle followed by Manteno Township with 29 farmers marketing 51 head.

Pilot leads in laying hens with 67 farms handling 15,255. The township is second with 65 farms carrying 10,894 hens; Sumner, third, with 34 farms carrying 8,800 hens; and Salina, fourth, with 53 farms handling 7,300 hens.

In dairying Yellowhead leads with 977 head of cows and heifers on 37 farms. Sumner is second with 897 head on 42 farms; Manteno, third, with 713 on 35 farms; and Limestone, fourth, with 600 on 32 farms.

AS FOR THE entire county the assessors reported 2,062 farms with 302,122 acres. Top crop was corn with 47,614 acres. Soybeans were second with 94,443 acres; oats, 43,043 acres and wheat, 12,143 acres.

There was no spring wheat or popcorn acreage reported. Vegetables crops, totaled as follows, mainly from St. Anne Township: soybeans, 133 acres; asparagus, 124 acres; cabbage, 63 acres; cantaloupes, 49 acres and tomatoes, 13 acres.

Anyone interested is welcome to attend, he said. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Farm Prices Continue To Decline In '59

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported Saturday that prices farmers received for their products in 1959 averaged 80 per cent of the parity price goal of federal farm programs.

This compared with 85 per cent in 1958. Last year's average was the lowest since 1930.

Under farm law, parity prices are a standard designed to be fair to farmers' relations to prices charged them for goods and services they use in production and in family living.

Declines in prices of livestock and livestock products were responsible for the 1959 price picture.

THE PRACTICE of measuring farm prices by the parity standard is a controversial one that is likely to be debated during this year's political campaigning. Generally, Democrats can be expected to defend it and Republicans to criticize it.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson criticized the present parity standard as being obsolete and unrealistic. It is based largely on relationship of farm and non-farm prices in the 1910-14 period. That's too far back, Benson says, because it does not take into account today's efficiency in farm production.

Benson says that there is ample room for good farm income at present or even lower dollar-a-bushel prices for most crops and livestock. The way to that greater income, he says, is through adoption of more efficient farming methods and practices.

BUT MOST farm-state Democrats agree that the parity standard is one that would promote not only farm well-being, but greater stability for the entire economy because of the all-white cotton and woolen goods market.

The administration is seeking to get away from parity as a basis of price supports. It favors instead price supports based on demand and supply of the commodities.

Lot 3 and 4 lambs were also of the same type, feeding and background. But instead of a pelletized feed, they were self fed whole corn. Nearby racks offered free choice alfalfa hay.

Backs South Korea's Denial Of Attack

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—The U.S. commander in South Korea Saturday backed up South Korea's denial that one of its warships attacked a Soviet survey vessel Dec. 28.

"Information available to the U.N. command confirms the statement of the republic of Korea that no naval craft of the republic was involved," Gen. Carter B. Magruder said in a statement issued by his U.N. headquarters.

Magruder's command oversees South Korea naval operations. The Soviet said Thursday a South Korean submarine chaser attacked the survey ship Ungo about 50 miles off the North Korean coast and 30 miles northeast of the South Korean coast.

Moscow said the warship made three runs on the Ungo and killed a helmsman and wounded four sailors with a direct hit on the bridge.

In denying the charge, the South Korean government said its ships do not operate as far north as the area of the reported attack.

Kankakee History, CONSIDERED NEWS IN 1880

By HAROLD W. SIMMONS

THE ISSUES of the KANKAKEE GAZETTE for January, 1880, contained no items of great importance historically but were filled with many bits of local news and casual observations.

Jan. 1, 1880—"SLIPPERY FOR SAINTS AND SINNERS." The greater portion of last week was remarkably prolific in tumbles. The average Kankakeean is a man of good understanding, and an upright citizen, but the glare of ice which covered street and sidewalk last week caused many of the most respected members of our community to witness their own and downfall.

"Even the horses participated in the grand gymnastic performance, and heavily-laden wagons, once set to sliding, never stopped until they brought up broadside against the curbsides or a convenient lamp post. A lamp post is a friend to the community. It has provided a support to many a man in his spiritualistic gyrations, but it's taking too much of it to hold up loads of hay and wood."

"RUNAWAYS. Just as the Gazette boys were working off last week's edition several horses, well knowing the item would be too late for that issue, and with the discreditable exception, no doubt, that we would entirely forget the matter in this week's paper, ran away, taking broad daylight and our principal business street the time and place for their disgraceful performances.

Under 21...by Dan Halligan

DEAR TEENAGERS: Remember the waitress who wrote earlier this month and complained about the manners of you teenagers in such places as restaurants. Remember too, she said her biggest complaint was the fact that most teenagers never tipped. In turn, I told her she shouldn't expect tips from teenagers and certainly shouldn't expect high school kids to subsidize her wage because her boss only paid her 50 cents an hour. Now comes another letter from a waitress, this one telling me how wrong I am. While I don't make it a practice to publish letters from adults, I feel this letter should be printed because it does concern you kids.

DEAR DAN: Would you pay $1 for a hamburger? That's about what it would cost after a restaurateur had figured in cost of equipment and help. Instead, a smaller wage is paid for waitresses to "stand by" in anticipation of business. As a waitress, I not only take and serve orders but also make sure it is made as soon as possible. I also help mop up and all the little changes made properly. I also help mothers with small children, divide drinks for small children, eliminate or add various touches for a customer to make up his mind. Altogether, a customer gets much more from a good waitress who thinks of him as a person, than an employer could ever pay for. As a waitress, a girl makes what she's worth. Yes, my tips are more than my wages but I've never felt underpaid. I'm thankful to all my customers for not feeling as you do. As a result, mine are reasonably priced because my boss pays less and in the long run, the customers do too. As for teenagers, I have many of them as steady customers because I work opposite a college. Some tip and some don't and most of them are mannerly. Girls are worse than boys as far as restaurant manners are concerned. Other than waiting on customers, I prepare and fill in all sorts of things not directly cooked by the chef. I also clean and keep clean all seats, tables, cupboards and areas used by my co-workers and myself. This, I feel, the employer should pay for. As for service, "Tip" means "To Insure Promptness."—Mrs. E.M.

DEAR MRS. E.M.: Your letter seems to be directly concerned with the subject of why you feel the public should tip. While I really appreciate your letter, I do not agree with you. I still maintain a restaurant employer should pay his waitresses a living wage and not have them depend on the public, especially teenagers, for a subsidy. Too many waitresses get fooled. All your extra chores you mentioned, seating children, cleaning cupboards, etc., are part of your waitress job, I believe. Take the case of a service station attendant. When he isn't gasing a car or working on one, he's usually sweeping the cement or washing windows or doing other such odd jobs around the place. Your theory is that his boss should pay him for doing those odd jobs but that the public should tip him when he services a car. It's exactly the same situation as you wrote about. For my part and this column, newspapers across the country pay me a certain amount each week, based on each newspaper's circulation. I'm happy with the payment. Even so, 30 percent of my column work is writing personal replies which, according to your theory, should be classed as "extra work." I may spend five minutes on one personal reply and an hour on another. Am I supposed to send bills to the teenagers I've personally replied to and charge the one whose letter took an hour 12 times as much as the one whose reply took five minutes? My income is solely from the newspapers themselves and I charge no "extras."

Why, therefore, should waitresses expect premiums and bonuses for merely doing their jobs? The problem boils down to the boss—he should pay his help a living wage or else he does.

DEAR DAN: I am 12 but will soon be 13. I like a boy who will be 16 this month. Some of my friends say he is too old for me. What's your opinion?—Lonely Heart.

DEAR LONELY HEART: This is one time when friends are right. He's much too old for a girl of your age. It's just human nature that doing right would really be more fun if it were wrong.

Co-eds And Wives: 'In Two Different Worlds'

ABOVE: Under discussion here were "hot dogs for dinner" but Mrs. David W. Ferris (at right) explains to her guest, Miss Carol Radake that it's not a typical meal. Carol particularly enjoyed seeing her friend's new apartment at 1730 W. Hickory St. Mrs. Ferris is the former Katherine Ann White, Miss Radake, of 725 E. Emory St., is a junior at Illinois State Normal University, majoring in elementary education.

RIGHT: All attention is focused on 2-month-old Eugene Louis Brouillette as Miss Harriet Lang (right) of 1269 S. Lincoln Ave. visits her friend, Mrs. E. L. Brouillette at 1402 Cobb Blvd. Mrs. Brouillette is the former Victoria Cardosi. Her visitor is a senior at the University of Illinois, majoring in elementary education.

Home for the holidays, Kankakee co-eds have been getting a preview of married life as they visited young married women with whom (not very long ago) they had much in common.

Now they live "in two different worlds," as one co-ed put it; but there is still lots to talk about.

For the young homemakers, a visit from one of the college girls means a welcome contact with the past.

For the co-eds, it means a glimpse into the future. They are frankly curious about the lives of their friends who are married.

After the first flow of information about mutual acquaintances, the girls get down to serious discussion. Sometimes it seems to the co-eds that their friends become match-makers the moment they leave the altar. "There's always a friend to meet."

One college girl remarked about "all this space" and "the peace and quiet" in the new home of her former schoolmate. School life, she reminded, is hectic.

Since homemaking duties are always there, the young wives went right about their household activities during some visits and the co-eds had a real taste of domesticity. The visitors listened to good-natured complaints about "the dishes" and "the shirts"; but mostly they heard proud comments about husband, home or an expected baby.

A few wistful comments about "the clothes I used to buy" were all but overshadowed by the enthusiasm of the young wives in the new adventure of cooking or sewing or decorating the house.

There was obvious appreciation of "the other side of the fence" but when the visit ended, one had the feeling that both would return to daily routine with renewed vigor.

It was a nice interlude.

Coffee and conversation between two good friends is a typical holiday scene. Pictured are Mrs. William A. Floyd (left) and her guest, Miss Barbara Eden of 911 Hawthorne Lane. They attended Kankakee High School together. Now Mrs. Floyd, the former Shirley Heck, turns her attention to married life, while Miss Eden prepares for a business career at Valparaiso University, where she is a senior student. "Lots to tell each other," they say.

Husband's shirts, all ironed, are offered by Mrs. Donald Richard of RR 2, Kankakee, for inspection by her visiting friends and former schoolmates at Illinois State Normal University. When she finished demonstrating her domesticity, Mrs. Richard went to a basketball game with friends Misses Judy (left) and Margaret Romary of 1130 S. Poplar Ave. Judy is a junior and Margaret a senior at ISNU, both in training for special education. Mrs. Richard is the former Dolores Chandler.

Home decoration projects are shared by Mrs. Duane Frerichs (left) of Route 1135 as she is visited by school friend Miss Jane Allison of 6 Chatham Circle. Like the other co-eds interviewed, Miss Allison enjoys visiting married friends in their homes but will return to school and a "different world." She is a senior at the University of Illinois, majoring in elementary education. Many of her friends at school, as well as at home, are married. Mrs. Frerichs is the former Judith Anne Bedard.

Former college roommates, Miss Diane VadebonCouver (left) and Mrs. Bernard Memenga cooperate on a kitchen chore at the home of Mrs. Memenga. She is the former Marilyn LaGesse, married last April. Miss VadebonCouver is now president of the sorority to which both belong, Alpha Gamma Delta. Miss VadebonCouver is a senior at Southern Illinois University. She and Mrs. Memenga went through grade and high schools together and roomed together for two years at the university.

Find Leisure At End Of Holidays

For many women, the days right after the holidays are a let-down. The gorgeous festive, with its parties and dinners and renewed friendships, is over. The tree comes down and the last bit of time is cleared out and the ornaments are tucked away until next year. But there's another side of the coin. If the growing hostility should be polished clean with a slightly damp cloth each morning, which is an accompaniment. Now's the time to go on a simple diet of plain food in order to shed those pounds that were piled up from holiday feasting. It's the time, too, for quiet reflection and a leisurely evening with that book that was a Christmas gift. Curled up in your Christmas robe, you can feel yourself relax. Try out some of your new perfumes. Have a leisurely bath with all of those powders, oils and bath salts you found under the tree on Christmas morning. Play your new records. In short, make sensible and cheerful use of the pleasant moments of Christmas.

Remount Your Old Diamonds

...Good Reasons Why...

1. Diamonds are meant to be seen and not hidden away in your vault or jewel box because they are mounted in an unattractive manner.

2. Diamonds in old settings can become loose and easily lost.

3. Diamonds look wonderful on every woman but not in old, out-dated settings.

May we have the pleasure of showing you how your heirloom diamonds can be remounted into modern, safe settings that will allow your diamonds to display all their natural beauty. Sketches and estimates submitted without obligation.

The experienced traveler shown here is Baroness Monique de Nervo, a French businesswoman who is on a good part of each year. Trial and error have enabled her to arrive at some sound tips for easy and efficient packing. Here, she slips her lingerie case inside the top of a short (left) to prevent creases. For travel, she picks clothes with straight or nearly straight skirts since she feels that they pack and travel best. Small plastic containers (center) go into the toes of shoes. Every inch of space counts when you go by plane. Dressed for travel in tunic, hat and scarf (right) that complete her costume, Madame de Nervo slips a dozen pairs of gloves into her case.

Advance Planning And Good Clothes Choice Make Packing Easy Matter

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

In this age, we will travel far more frequently than we did when time was a predominant factor.

Any trip will be more pleasant if careful thought has been given to the wardrobe you will take with you and the way in which your luggage is packed.

Some interesting and helpful ideas on packing come from Madame de Nervo, who travels in the interest of the French champagne industry.

Knowing that she will be considerably "on the go" in her travels, she chooses clothes that will be possible to keep the weight down.

travel well and serve more than one occasion. This helps to keep her smartly dressed, and believes more in blending colors and textures than in "matching" everything.

All of this chic woman's travel hats are crushable for easy packing, and since she feels that a change of gloves can alter the entire character of an outfit, she includes many pairs in different colors and styles in her luggage.

If you know you will not be using certain garments in one city, you might take the advice of this well-traveled woman and send them on ahead. But be sure to completely unpack what you do have in your bags the moment you arrive. Unpacking in bits and pieces saves no time and only adds wrinkles to your clothes.

There's no need to take along every cosmetic you can think of. You can always buy what you need.

Just pack carefully and, above all, don't take along a department store. There's bound to be one there wherever you go.

Rising's Not Enough Unless You Shine, Too

By JEANNE D'ARCY

Are you a "do-and-shine" type or, when the alarm sounds, do you grunt, groan, grasp the knob of the clock firmly, turn off the alarm and roll over for another 40 winks?

If your name's numbered in this latter category, read on. The suggestions that follow are aimed at taking the misery out of your mornings.

Here are two tricks that should help you rise on time.

First, of course, is the simple fact that it's easier to get up in the morning if you go to bed early at night. With a full quota of sleep, you won't be so likely to want more.

Second, try setting the alarm 15 minutes earlier than you'd like to rise. This gives you minutes to dress—and with one of those new alarms which sounds off a second time, five or ten minutes after the initial alarm, you needn't worry about over-sleeping.

The 15-minute period also allows for you to yawn, stretch, sit on the edge of the bed and get used to the idea of being awake.

If you're a really "heavy sleeper," it might be wise to try a hide-and-peek routine.

Instead of leaving the clock within hand's reach, place it across the room so you'll have to get out of bed to turn it off.

More effective yet, try buying it in a closet, under a bureau, on the floor.

A sleephead we know reports this method most efficient because, by the time she is awakened, she is awake.

Ease the morning routine and strain of coping with the what-to-wear problem.

Establish a system such as the one outlined above and you'll rise easily in the morning. In fact, as the system becomes a habit, and breakfast is started.

"Lay out your wardrobe, too, so you'll not only rise, but you'll shine as well!"

Keeping in Step

By Mary Jean Houde

Four years ago this Sunday, on the last Leap Year, in 1956, the cover page of the women's section featured 12 pictures of college girls. As shown here, these girls were wearing hats which represented each of the 12 months of the year. (They made the hats.)

What happened to these girls? Did they take advantage of Leap Year? Did they finish college? What are they doing . . . ?

The results of a survey are illuminating.

Leap Year? The girls practically ignored it. At least, half of them did. Only 50 per cent of the 12 girls are married.

But, and this is the most interesting part, ALL FIFTEEN FINISHED COLLEGE OR WILL FINISH THIS YEAR. Ten have already graduated.

JANUARY: The former Patricia Mailoux is now Mrs. Jack Weber. She was a sophomore at Eastern State College when the picture was taken and interrupted her college career in the last stages to be married to a classmate. She plans to complete her college course in the near future in California. The Webers are residing in Long Beach, but were here for the holidays.

FEBRUARY: Miss Carol Alvina was a sophomore at Beloit College four years ago. She planned to enter nursing training. Now she is teaching third grade in Appleton, Wis., and she is one of the growing army of midwestern teachers.

MARCH: Married in 1958, the same year she graduated from Wheaton College, the former Marilyn Wright is Mrs. Paul L. Zimmer. The only one of the 12 to become a mother during the past four years, Mrs. Zimmer and her husband have a 3-month-old daughter, Sandra Lynn. They are residing in West Lafayette, Ind., where Zimmer is on the faculty and studying for a doctorate. The Zimmeres have been visiting the Wright family during the holidays, at 583 S. Evergreen Ave., but will leave today for West Lafayette.

APRIL: Miss Nancy LeConte was married last August to Bernard LeConte, a graduate of the University of Illinois. She is now a graduate of the University of Illinois, where she majored in Journalism.

MAY: Miss Paula Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Johnson of 1465 E. Bourbonnais Ave., is the only one of the 12 to reside currently at home. She is secretary to her father in an advertising business. Before she graduated from speech school at Northwestern University, Paula was in many campus dramatic productions, including the "Woe to Woe" show.

JUNE: Miss Sandra Costello is now Mrs. Fred Davis of East Lansing, Mich. She was both graduated from Eastern State College and married in March. Now she teaches kindergarten in Lansing, and her husband is a graduate assistant at Michigan State University, where he is working on his master's degree in hotel management. They left Kankakee Saturday after a visit with Sandra's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Costello of 420 S. Elm Ave.

JULY: The former Beverly Bowman is Mrs. Wayne Putnam. She will be at home in Kankakee at 1144 Lincoln Ave., for the next four weeks. Her husband, who is a Lieutenant (Junior Grade) in the navy, will spend the four weeks at Norfolk, Va. before being sent to Quantico Point. They have been residing in Corpus Christi, Tex., since their wedding last June.

AUGUST: Miss Virginia Hartman, who was a freshman at Northwestern University when her "hat photo" was taken for the Journal, graduated in June and is now taking a course in a Chicago secretarial school. She will finish in March and hopes to work in a San Francisco, Calif. travel agency. She majored in Spanish and would like to use her "other language" in her work. She spent the holidays at home at 1147 S. Poplar Ave.

SEPTEMBER: Miss Judy Voyles, according to her mother Mrs. H. F. Voyles, 889 S. Curtis Ave., is having the time of her life in Denver. She is teaching on week days and skiing on weekends. She was graduated in June from the University of Illinois.

OCTOBER: The former Judy Gregg, married in November, is Mrs. Charles Dean Marter. The newlyweds are living in Brunswick, Me., where Judy's husband is a teaching fellow in Biology. Her mother, Mrs. Charles Gregg of 1885 S. Evergreen Ave., talked with her by phone Christmas Day. She told of a recent housewarming and a warm reception in the area (even though it is blanketed with snow). Judy loves to watch the fishing boats come in (they live two miles inland).

NOVEMBER: Miss Madeleine Witlicko, daughter of the Bernard Witlickos of 592 W. Williams St., is one of the career girls in the group. She is employed by an advertising firm in Chicago. She graduated from speech school at Northwestern with Paula Johnson.

DECEMBER: Miss Linda Sprimont, daughter of the Leland Sprimonts of 897 S. Poplar Ave., will change the Miss to Mrs. soon (watch the Journal pages for the announcement). She will graduate in June from the National College of Education in Evanston and plans to live in Philadelphia, Pa.

DESIGNING WOMAN

By Elizabeth Hillier

The wise choosing of carpet and rugs today throws away the book of a few years ago. Weave and type of production no longer settles the question of quality.

What does?

These three points in general: Denseness of pile, closeness of construction and a sturdy feel. High and low scores are made on all three not only by woven carpet (Axminster, Wilton, velvet) but by a second carpet type that didn't use to play in the same league—tuffed and a third that wasn't heard from until recently—knitted carpet.

Never mind if the three types of carpet are difficult to tell apart—the actual quality points are easy to recognize. And some textures, loops for example, can be produced by all three manufacturing methods. The three might also span all price ranges, though lower priced carpets are more likely to be made on tufting or knitting machines. Knitting particularly is in a rapid state of development as its efficiency helps to bring prices down.

Look at the backing of carpet to see what it does for carpet quality

Begin At The Finish When Sprucing Up Your Furniture

By MR. FIX

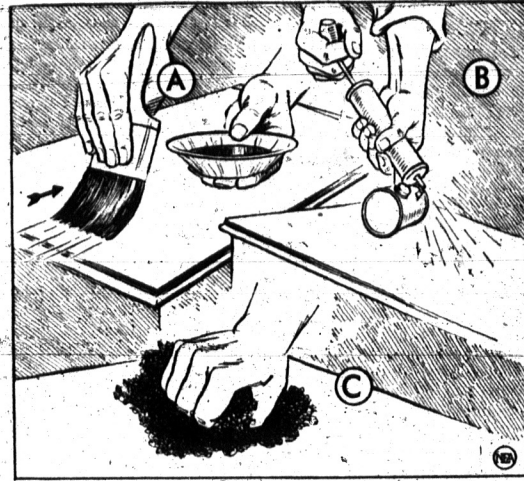

Refinishing old furniture so that it looks new and different is one project that will quickly identify you as a handy man among friends and relatives. This is especially true if they've seen the object in its original state.

It's an ego-satisfying experience and one not difficult to achieve. But success depends very much on preparation. Before you can refinish, there's the problem of getting rid of the old finish.

Chemical paint and varnish removers will do away with much of the drudgery. But there's more to using them than wiping on and wiping off.

If you don't remove all the finish you've wasted your time. BEFORE YOU EVEN begin with the chemical remover, make certain that all of the old wax, grease and dirt are cleaned away from the old finish. The chemical remover won't work unless it gets right down to the finish. Scrub with soap and water, or better yet, use household wax remover.

Next, pick your paint and varnish remover. They are not all the same. Some are toxic and/or flammable, liquid or paste. Some have wax to slow up evaporation, others have none. Most must be scraped off, some will wash off.

Refinishing demands complete removal of the old surface. Finish remover brushed on should be applied in one direction only (a). Some types can be sprayed on (b) with insecticide gun—especially good for lathe-turned furniture. Final steps include fine steel wool treatment (c).

If a wax is present you will have to make a final cleanup with turpentine, alcohol or gasoline. The remover is flammable, toxic, and if it contains methylene chloride it's toxic but non-flammable. It has no wax, so it can run as much as four times the cost of other removers.

NEAREST IS THE water-washable type—neither flammable nor toxic. Remover and finish wash off with water, need no scraping. It's expensive, can run as much as four times the cost of other removers.

Do your work in a well-ventilated room. Make it a large room if possible. Don't smoke, don't work near a flame. Wear rubber gloves, long sleeves if working with toxic removers. Wear them anyway, regardless of type if you want to be safe. Avoid breathing fumes as much as possible. Work near an open window if you can.

Apply remover with a brush, but don't brush back and forth. Go in one direction only. Brushing back over the old stroke will break the wax surface-seal, allow remover to evaporate.

An old insecticide spray gun also can be used to spray on the remover evenly. Put plenty of newspaper around your work if you spray.

Don't wipe off immediately. Give the remover time to work. The label will suggest a time. Old finish will wrinkle and puff up when the job is done.

Non-washable removers leave old finish in layers that can be scraped off with a putty knife. Use another coat if it is still on. Don't take off all of the old finish. Use coarse steel wool to get into corners and crevices.

With water-wash type, use water and rags to clean up. Finish with steel wool to pick up all the particles.

If remover has a wax base be sure to clean up with paint thinner. Some removers, particularly the water-wash variety, may raise or swell the grain. Sand smooth after cleaning. Don't use water type removers on this veneer.

Now, with old finish gone, you're ready to create. You have the had.

A potluck supper started the evening. Games were played, followed by group singing.

Home Of The Week

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Schaafsma of RR 3, St. Anne, have resided on the same farm all their married lives. In fact, Schaafsma was born and reared there, and he lived in the same house until the couple decided five years ago to build a new home. The 36-acre farm is located 1/2 mile east of Wichita.

The Schaafsma's incorporated their own decorating ideas into the home which includes a living room, three bedrooms, combined kitchen and dining area, sun porch, bath and a full basement. They are especially pleased with the sun porch which doubles as a den and office. This room keeps farm business out of the kitchen area, where it was traditionally carried on before. Glass windows line the south and east walls of the sun porch, and a sliding window between the kitchen and den enables Mrs. Schaafsma to see farm activity outside on the east. She can also serve between the two areas.

Another feature of the home is the adequate amount of storage space. The home has nine closets located throughout and a full basement used for both storage and utility purposes. A fruit cupboard is located in the basement.

Beige is the predominant color used throughout the home. However, bright colors are used for accents, and the bedrooms are an example. The master bedroom is in pink and white. The guest bedroom is in aqua with pink accents, and a third bedroom is in sunburst yellow with accents of green.

Birch wood is used throughout the home. Mrs. Schaafsma did much of the wood's finishing when the home was built. The exterior is green frame and Bedford stone.

The Schaafsma's children are Mrs. Kenneth Freundt of St. Anne and William, at home.

Because it requires such low frontage, a prospective buyer of this home should be able to find a bargain in land that is unsuitable for the average sprawling house plan.

X-91 offers 1,318 square feet of habitable area. The hall is both the core and the key to the efficient room arrangement. It forms a foyer at the main entrance, sets back the depth of the living room, then turns to become the main artery of sleeping and housekeeping activities.

The result is a circulation pattern that keeps housekeeping steps down while preserving living and dining rooms from unnecessary traffic.

THREE BEDROOMS open onto the hall. Luxury extras in the plans are the smart fireplace in the living room and the attached lavatory for the master bedroom. The basement recreation room and bar will add immeasurably to the living area for a family with young children. With one of the two side porch entrances convenient to the basement stairs, children can come into the house and go straight downstairs to the recreation room for hobbies, play or study.

A PORCH ALWAYS presents a problem in a narrow house. It ruins the modern facade if placed in the front; it's too far away from living areas in the rear. In this plan Architect Cohen has carved out an alcove for it just behind the kitchen and convenient to the main-stem hall.

Brick and flush plywood form the exterior in the front of X-91 and wood siding is used on the other three sides.

Here's The Answer

By ANDY LANG

QUESTION: Is there some way I can remove old coffee table which is structurally sound but has a badly-marred top? The surface has many scratches and several gouges in it. It's made of some kind of dark wood, but I don't know what kind it is.

ANSWER: It appears that an attempt to refinish the top of the table by sanding would be useless. Even if the gouges were filled, it is doubtful whether you would obtain a good enough match to prevent the marred places from being conspicuous. If the table top is veneer, the amount of sanding necessary to make it smooth might go right through the veneer. You probably would be better off—and have a lot less work—if you applied a new surfacing to the top of the table. This could be any of a number of materials, such as plastic, plastic-surfaced board, which is available in various wood-grain, pastel colors or marble green or oil. When the coating patterns. You won't need to treat the gouges in the old top desired color paint.

Wide Look For Narrow Lot

By DAVID L. BOWEN

The most beautiful house plan in the world is not worth a penny unless you can find and afford a lot to build it on.

With rising populations bursting the seams of every prosperous city in America—and that's most of them—prices on wide, building lots within reasonable travel time of business districts are getting higher all the time.

Recognizing this fact, Architect Lester Cohen has designed X-91 in the House of the Week series to fit a narrow lot. From side to side, the design measures only 25 1/2 feet. Yet it does not have the restricted look of many narrow homes and includes all the comfort-producing features of modern design.

Because it requires such low frontage, a prospective buyer of this home should be able to find a bargain in land that is unsuitable for the average sprawling house plan.

X-91 offers 1,318 square feet of habitable area. The hall is both the core and the key to the efficient room arrangement. It forms a foyer at the main entrance, sets back the depth of the living room, then turns to become the main artery of sleeping and housekeeping activities.

The result is a circulation pattern that keeps housekeeping steps down while preserving living and dining rooms from unnecessary traffic.

THREE BEDROOMS open onto the hall. Luxury extras in the plans are the smart fireplace in the living room and the attached lavatory for the master bedroom. The basement recreation room and bar will add immeasurably to the living area for a family with young children. With one of the two side porch entrances convenient to the basement stairs, children can come into the house and go straight downstairs to the recreation room for hobbies, play or study.

A PORCH ALWAYS presents a problem in a narrow house. It ruins the modern facade if placed in the front; it's too far away from living areas in the rear. In this plan Architect Cohen has carved out an alcove for it just behind the kitchen and convenient to the main-stem hall.

Brick and flush plywood form the exterior in the front of X-91 and wood siding is used on the other three sides.

Here's The Answer

QUESTION: Is there some way I can remove old coffee table which is structurally sound but has a badly-marred top? The surface has many scratches and several gouges in it. It's made of some kind of dark wood, but I don't know what kind it is.

ANSWER: It appears that an attempt to refinish the top of the table by sanding would be useless. Even if the gouges were filled, it is doubtful whether you would obtain a good enough match to prevent the marred places from being conspicuous. If the table top is veneer, the amount of sanding necessary to make it smooth might go right through the veneer. You probably would be better off—and have a lot less work—if you applied a new surfacing to the top of the table. This could be any of a number of materials, such as plastic, plastic-surfaced board, which is available in various wood-grain, pastel colors or marble green or oil. When the coating patterns. You won't need to treat the gouges in the old top desired color paint.

FLOOR PLAN: Center hall efficiently ties together the living areas. The width of the house is unusually low, but all essential elements of modern design are included.

45 Attend Party In St. Anne Home

ST. ANNE (JNS)—Forty-five members of the Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hebert family held a Christmas party Sunday in the St. Anne Community Hall.

A potluck dinner and supper were served and a gift exchange held. The afternoon was spent socially.

Sp4 and Mrs. Dennis Reckhemmer returned to their home in Washington Grove, Md., after spending four days with their parents, Mrs. Waineta Reckhemmer and Mr. and Mrs. Levi Reckhemmer Sr.

RIGHT: The color scheme in the large master bedroom is carried out in pink and white. Walls are pink, spread is white, draperies are white with a pink rose pattern and scatter rugs are both pink and white. The furniture is of cherry wood.

LEFT: Birch wood is featured in the attractive cabinets in the Schaafsma kitchen, and cabinets serve as divider between kitchen and dining area. Wallpaper and curtains in both areas match. They are in a colonial pattern of brown, coral, green and beige tones. Sliding window by refrigerator opens between kitchen and the sun porch and can be used for serving between two areas. Picture window in dining area overlooks front lawn.

Use Your Head When Planning To Decorate

By VIVIAN BROWN AP Newsfeatures Writer

Furnish your home with your head. You can put your heart into it later.

If your furniture is chosen just because it is "cute" or "in style" or "of the period," you may rue the day you made the purchase. A big man will not be intrigued by one of the new slim chairs, no matter how popular the designer is. He'll take his comfort first, and name brand second.

It's the skinny man who is given only hard furniture to sit on. It may have been fine for the Spartan Shakers, but he'll take some cushions, please.

The guest bed-sofa is a fine idea for those unexpected visits from your mother-in-law, but be sure you can get the bed to open before you buy it. Some of these contraptions require real muscles. Others may be poor excuses for the dual purpose. The mattresses are lumpy, bumpy, and full of nail-like buttons.

IS THE COFFEE table a practical idea or is it a dust-catcher? If it'll pay its way in your home, have it. But don't get one just because friend Josie gets a lot of mileage out of hers. A great many coffee tables wind up with a collection of ash trays, lighters and matches with the shelf bent.

While pine paneling is usually given a clear finish, the practice of finishing it in bright modern colors, either pastels or deep tones, is becoming increasingly popular.

This is particularly true of the Western pine region woods, such as ponderosa, Idaho white, sugar and lodgepole pine, incense and red cedar, Douglas and white fir, larch and engelmann spruce. The low resin content of these woods enables them to take and hold a stain well.

As in all types of finishing, the first step is to sand the surface of the wood carefully. Use a medium coarse paper to remove rough imperfections, a fine paper to complete the surfacing job. It is important—if the paneling is to be used in a bathroom, kitchen or other high-moisture area—to apply a sealer to all sides, ends and edges of the wood.

A stain can be made at home by mixing oil-base paint with a mineral thinner—or by using colorless oil diluted with mineral thinner. If a water-based stain is used, it should be applied with a brush or sponge. To get exactly the tone you want, experiment with a sample of the paneling. An interesting two-tone effect can be created by rubbing before both are entirely dry. Knots or grain can be high-lighted, if desired, by rubbing these areas with steel wool.

To be certain that the stain does not bleed through at some later time, apply a coat of sealer after the stain is thoroughly dry. When the sealer is dry, rub lightly with fine sandpaper.

Two coats of clear varnish generally are used over the sealer. The varnish is first brushed on in the direction of the grain. Then, without refilling, the brush is stroked across the grain. Finally, with a nearly dry brush, you finish with the grain. A light sanding is recommended between coats.

Construction would start as soon as spring weather permits if the voters approve the issuance of bonds to cover building costs. The architects will have final drawings for the building completed in January. The construction bids to be taken Feb. 18 will determine the actual cost of the new classrooms. The proposition will be submitted to the voters of the district at a special election on March 12.

Residents of the district may attend a public meeting Feb. 25 in the Beecher Elementary school gymnasium to review the construction bids and discuss the board meeting Feb. 18.

Without refilling, the brush is stroked across the grain. Finally, with a nearly dry brush, you finish with the grain. A light sanding is recommended between coats.

A good paste wax often is used over the varnish. Incidentally, it is possible to get a good finish by applying the paste wax directly to the sealer, although it will not be as durable as the varnish finish.

A Bradley resident reached the lofty age of 99 the other day and was nearly missed it.

She's Mrs. Minnie Gilbert, 100-minus-one on Dec. 15. She resides at 763 Meadow Ct. with a son, Harold, and a granddaughter, Miss Beverly Gilbert.

Mrs. Gilbert was born Dec. 15, 1860 in Pentwater, Mich., and since her father was a lumberjack she lived in several communities during her early years. She has spent the past 63 years in the Kankakee community.

The Bradleyan's husband, Orrie, died 21 years ago. Mrs. Gilbert has two sons (Harry of Birmingham, Ala., is the other) three grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Mrs. Gilbert is still quite active—does cooking and housework and also has the special task of taking care of the family dog, Touser. She used to do a lot of crocheting and needlework but in recent years has had to give it up because of the closeness of the work.

A couple weeks ago she decided she'd like to go to Birmingham to visit her son and family. When her son and granddaughter volunteered to make the trip, with her she would have no part of it. She said she could make the trip alone—and she did, traveling by train both ways.

The Bradleyan has no particular theory on her longevity but there is one thing she thinks has helped her a great deal to attain 99. She has never smoked nor drank intoxicating liquors.

It's always pleasant to meet an old acquaintance when downtown shopping or visiting. When two acquaintances meet in a far-off land, however, it's even more pleasant.

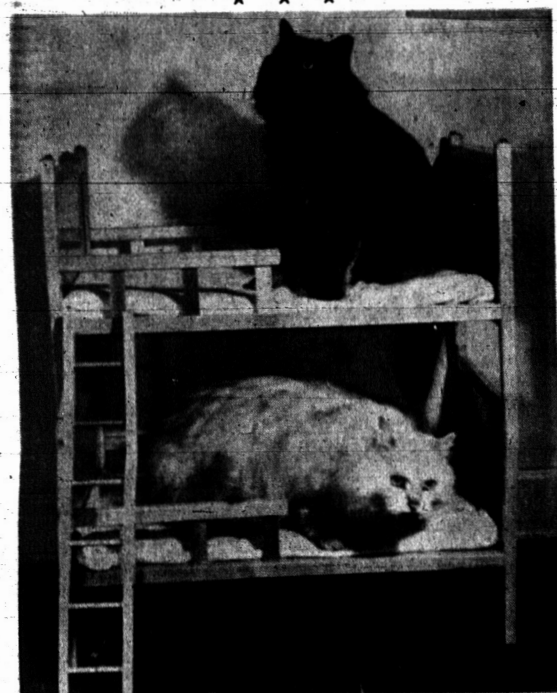

Such an experience occurred in Rome, Italy, last week, according to Mrs. J. O. Bohmker, 1280 S. Lincoln Ave.

The Kankakeean has just received a letter from son, Tom, stationed in Mannheim, Germany, with the John Deere Co. He, his wife, and two daughters were in Rome on the first leg of a holiday trip to include visits about the Mediterranean.

They boarded a sight-seeing bus one day and looked across the aisle into the faces of Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Downie and son, Burton. The latter trio had left Kankakee the week previously for Southern Rhodesia and a missionary assignment.

Mrs. Downie, the former Maureen Hertz, and Tom have been good friends since their childhoods in Kankakee.

Two of the happiest recipients of Christmas gifts in Kankakee the past holiday were two cats—"Good" and "Smoke"—owned by Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Thompson, 656 S. About this time each year Joe Conley, 645 S. Fraser Ave., doesn't mind if his weight climbs a bit.

Each year at this time his father-in-law, Ludie Wadley of Herscher, gives him his weight in pork and beef—following a "weighing-in ceremony" at the Wadley farm, of course.

Joe's weight this year, by the way, was 202 pounds.

Nikita Hints Reds May Disarm Even If West Doesn't

MOSCOW (UPI)—Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev hinted in a New Year toast that Soviet military manpower would be reduced even if the West rejected his disarmament proposal.

But he told 1,500 guests at a glittering Kremlin reception that Soviet rockets and nuclear weapons would be strengthened "so that only a lunatic would dare attack the Soviet Union."

Khrushchev made nine toasts ushering in the New Year at the Soviet Union's most brilliant annual social affair. The party lasted from 11 p.m. Thursday to 4 a.m. Friday.

He drank to the inevitable triumph of communism over capitalism; the "good year of 1959 but I am confident that 1960 will be even better;" the Soviet army, the Soviet people, the Socialist Communist countries among others.

He also took a slap at West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York who he said was among the first to resist the end of the cold war and disarmament.

Khrushchev said the Soviet Union already had reduced its armed forces by 2,140,000 and "we are willing to disband the Soviet army altogether and everybody will welcome it."

Traffic Crash Victim, In Coma 7½ Years, Finally Dies

YONKERS, N. Y. (AP) — Little Beverly Nilsson, 13, died in St. Joseph's hospital Saturday after lying in a coma for 7½ years after a brain injury.

Specific cause of death was not announced immediately.

Medical experts had exhausted the full resources of science in efforts to restore her consciousness.

Beverly suffered the brain injury in an automobile accident at Keller, Va., July 12, 1952. First efforts to treat her were made at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore. Further measures were unsuccessful in a New York City institution before she was brought here seven years ago.

HER PARENTS, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Nilsson, had spent much of their free time at the hospital, refusing to give up hope for the girl's recovery. But not once during the years was there a flicker of consciousness. Even so, the girl continued to grow and was close to normal weight and height at her death.

Hospital attendants had fed her through a tube inserted in her stomach. A special rocking bed and a special standing box enabled attendants to give her daily exercise.

The Nilssons have two other children. The father is a draftsman.
