Chase Spooks In Deserted Farm House

to help in the hunt, but observed no physical or psychic phenomena. William Meyers, 82, owner of the house near Millville, Iowa, moved out in mid-December when he could no longer stand the ghostly goings on. Beds were tipped, refrigerators toppled and bottles thrown. (Unifax)

Reds To Test Rockets Near Johnston Island

Moscow Broadcast Defends Right To Use Pacific Area

LONDON (AP)—Radio Moscow said Saturday night the Soviet rockets soon to be test-fired in the central Pacific will fall about 400 nautical miles south of the American-owned Johnston Island.

A NAUTICAL MILE by U. S. reckoning is 6,080.20 feet. The pinpointing of the area in which the rockets will drop came in a Moscow broadcast defending the Soviet Union's right to close off 27,125 square miles of the Pacific while the tests take place between Jan. 15 and Feb. 15.

Johnston Island is 715 miles southwest of Honolulu. It was claimed by the United States in 1858. A bird reservation for years, it was commissioned a naval air station in 1941.

"The American and British military authorities have carried out several atomic weapon tests in this remote area, poisoning both the atmosphere and the water with radioactive fallout," the Moscow broadcast said.

It quoted an unnamed representative of the Soviet Merchant Marine Ministry as saying the U. S. base on Johnston Island has carried out atomic weapon tests.

"ON CHRISTMAS Island, southwest of the area in which Soviet scientists intend to let the rocket stages land, there is a British naval base which has also carried out nuclear weapons tests," the Soviet official said.

He asserted the new Soviet rocket tests meant that for the first time a section of the Pacific was being shut off for the "carrying out of scientific experiments in the service of peace and not for military use."

Report Setback For British Labor Chief Bevan

LONDON (AP)—Doctors Saturday reported a setback in the condition of Aneurin Bevan, deputy chief of Britain's Labor party, who is in a hospital after an abdominal operation.

A bulletin issued by the Royal Free Hospital in London said: "Mr. Aneurin Bevan has had a disturbed night. His condition is not as satisfactory as it was yesterday."

Ike Hopes For A Tax Cut In 1961

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration is holding out hope for a tax cut in 1961 if Congress will go along with the President's new budget forecasting a $4,200,000,000 surplus.

It also was learned Saturday that President Eisenhower's prediction of a 200-million-dollar surplus in the current fiscal year is based principally on expectations of a whopping drop in farm aid spending.

ESTIMATES of agricultural outlays have been reduced by 900 million dollars since September—more than enough to offset revenues lost through the steel strike.

A high official, who declined to be quoted by name, told a reporter the administration likely will favor broad tax reform legislation, including reduction of basic rates, at next year's congressional session provided:

1. The $4,200,000,000 materializes in the 1961 fiscal year that begins July 1, 1960.

2. The surplus is used to reduce the record national debt of 290 billion dollars.

3. The economy continues to expand and a recession is avoided.

President Eisenhower drew a question mark around tax relief in his State of the Union message to Congress Thursday. He said tax cuts should be voted only after debt reduction becomes a normal practice.

THIS COULD BE interpreted as indicating the President would want to see several more years of balanced budgets before tax relief is attempted.

While Eisenhower is leaving the White House next January, it will be his job to prepare the following year's budget for his successor. He also will be expected to submit a final series of legislative recommendations for the new Congress convening in 1961.

The present administration has been working closely with the House Ways and Means Committee in a broad-scale study of tax reform. The official who spelled out current thinking said a tax cut in 1961 is a distinct possibility.

Gov. Stratton's Daughter To Wed

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Miss Diana Stratton, 20, daughter of Gov. William G. Stratton, is planning a September wedding to Norman Weiskopf of Springfield.

This was reported here Saturday by close associates of Miss Stratton, a home economics junior at DePaul University at Greencastle, Ind., and of Weiskopf, now an army trainee at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

U. S. Has Plan To Ban Nuclear Tests

Nixon Entered In Primaries In 3 States

Agrees To Filing In New Hampshire, Oregon And Ohio

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon Saturday "willingly" but informally made himself a GOP presidential candidate in three of the nation's 1960 primaries.

Nixon's name was placed in the March 8 New Hampshire primary Saturday with the vice president's permission, and his office confirmed that he has agreed to enter primaries in both Oregon and Ohio.

BUT A SPOKESMAN said "this is as formal as it will be" as far as any forthright announcement is concerned.

Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's press secretary, told a news conference the vice president has "no plans to be in any of these primary states—not even once" as a campaigning candidate.

Rather, Klein said, Nixon intends to stick to his official duties in Washington—filling in for President Eisenhower during his upcoming travels overseas and helping push the administration program through Congress.

Nixon stepped into the presidential race on his 47th birthday.

NIXON'S CANDIDACY became known as he allowed his name to be entered in the three state primaries.

He informed Oregon Gov. Mark Hatfield Friday that he definitely will be in that state's May 20 primary.

Saturday, Gov. Wesley Powell formally entered Nixon's name in the New Hampshire primary.

Klein announced Nixon will "allow" his name to remain on the ballot. For official purposes, Nixon will be notified of Powell's action and will have 10 days to reply. His answer will be in the affirmative, Klein said.

Nixon's entry into the Ohio primary on May 3 was announced by Republican State Chairman Ray Bliss.

Klein repudiated any idea that Nixon's refusal to proclaim his candidacy formally made him a "reluctant candidate."

HE EMPHASIZED that Nixon has made no decision yet about any other primary contests and would not do so until the primary filing times come up.

"This is a formal and announcement as it will be," Klein said. "There will be no statement from the vice president now or in the future."

Klein said the vice president has a "no campaign speeches scheduled" and that his next mat-

Little Annette Hanna May Hope First Year Of Life Is Hardest

GALESBURG (AP)—Little Annette Hanna is breathing easier Saturday. And it could be that she's hoping that it's that first year that's the most difficult.

Annette isn't receiving interviews. For one thing, she's 1 year and 3 days old. And, with one thing and another, she hasn't had much time to concentrate on learning to talk.

She was born Jan. 6, 1959 to Mrs. James Hanna of Galesburg. A premature baby she weighed in at approximately 2 pounds, 7 ounces, although her first actual weight computation wasn't made until several days after she arrived in Galesburg Cottage Hospital.

TRANSFERRED to St. John's Hospital in Springfield, Ill., for special care during her first week, Annette was graduated there March 22 last year as a five-pounder.

At home with her parents and a constant attendance of doctors and nurses, the little girl, despite intensive care, had three bouts with pneumonia. When she was strong enough, she received preventive inoculations.

But, in August, after her second shot of Salk anti-polio vaccine, Annette caught the poliomyelitis virus. She was rushed to Cottage Hospital again, and placed in a respirator.

Her affliction was general and paralytic, but not acute. Still, it was critical, and after three weeks, she was taken to Peoria where she has been under special care in the Forest Park Home, an adjunct of St. Francis Hospital, for special care.

She continued to receive respirator aid in breathing for several hours a day, and her tiny arms and legs were strapped in braces. Her condition has been improving.

WEDNESDAY, Annette's mother and her grandmother, Mrs. Leo Tout, paid her a birthday visit. They brought a cake, and lighted the single candle atop it. The flame reflected sparkling from the eyes of Annette and 24 other youngsters who are patients. The others ate most of the cake. Annette had a spoonful.

But it was a good first birthday. Annette was in high good spirits. Her respirator time has been cut to an hour in the mornings and one in the evenings. The braces have been removed from her arms.

She's getting well, and she's a big girl now. She weighs 23 pounds.

She'll probably be home again soon with her father, a wheel shop employee of the Burlington Railroad, and her mother who plans to quit a part-time book selling job.

Annette is the only child of the Hannas.

Resume Talks With Reds In Geneva Tuesday

Hope To Break 14-Month Deadlock In Negotiations

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States has prepared a new proposal to ban all nuclear tests except the smaller underground blasts which may defy detection under the limited inspection procedures Russia is willing to accept.

This was disclosed Saturday by authoritative sources. They said the new plan, along with a number of "variations," has been worked out in an effort to break the deadlock in the 14-month Geneva negotiations on nuclear test suspension.

The Geneva talks resume Tuesday. They recessed Dec. 19 after Soviet and American scientific experts failed to agree on how hard it would be to detect below-ground tests below the range of 20 to 30 kilotons. A kiloton is the equivalent of 1,000 tons of TNT.

AMBASSADOR James J. Wadsworth, the chief U. S. negotiator at Geneva, has been instructed to make "one more effort to get the Russians to accept this country's scientific views on the detection of smaller underground blasts. This would pave the way for agreement on control and inspection procedures necessary to police the total test ban the Russians say they want. If the Russians refuse to change their position, Wadsworth then plans to present the limited revamped U. S. plan.

The new American proposal would sidestep for the time being the disagreement on detecting smaller underground blasts. It would ban all atmospheric, space and underwater tests and all underground shots down to the level where the dispute about detection procedures begins. It would call for further study on the difficulty of detecting underground blasts below the 30-kiloton range in the hope of reaching agreement on control procedures which would permit a total ban.

Say Missing Heiress May Be In NYC

NEW YORK (AP)—Detectives searching for Gamble Benedict, 18, heiress missing since Dec. 27, said Saturday they believe she still is in the city—and possibly married.

They said the heiress to the Remington Typewriter fortune had been seen here several times with a man, about 35 years old, during the two days since she left her upper east side home.

Also, checks drawn on her bank account have been cashed in the city since Dec. 27, they said.

The police theorized that Miss Benedict may have eloped with a man she had been seeing since last August.

Detective Lt. William Nevins said neither the family nor the police knows the identity of the man.

THE POLICE declined to say where they had obtained their information that the couple had been seen.

At least eight persons have been questioned regarding the girl's disappearance.

Her grandmother, Katherine Geddes Benedict, said Gamble had vanished from her home the day after a dinner dance given in her honor. Mrs. Benedict is the widow of Henry Harper Benedict, former president of the Remington Typewriter Co.

Miss Benedict's mother, the former Josephine Benedict, died of an overdose of sleeping pills in 1946. Her father, Dr. J. Douglass Sharpe, a psychiatrist, signed away his legal one-third of the estate after his wife's death but later tried unsuccessfully to revoke his action.

The girl and her brother, Douglas, 19, have lived with their grandmother since their mother's death.

BULLETIN

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Hillbilly singer Jimmie Davis grabbed a thin lead Saturday night over dapper deLeasse Morrison, the mayor of New Orleans, in the race to replace Earl K. Long as governor of Louisiana.

With 1,865 of the state's 2,100 precincts complete, Davis maintained a slim 4,000-vote lead. Davis, a former governor favored to win again, had 225,451 votes to 221,158 for Morrison.

Davis, 36,000 votes behind in the early stages of the vote-counting, stormed ahead as the rural precincts began to report.

Hint More Sabotage In Atom Vessel

QUINCY, Mass. (UPI)—The Navy's second case of apparent sabotage in the past three months was disclosed Saturday.

The nuclear-powered, half-built cruiser Long Beach sustained possibly intentional damage, a spokesman said.

The 300 million-dollar guided missile cruiser, first of the Navy's nuclear-powered surface ships, apparently was sabotaged while under construction at the Fore River shipyards of Bethlehem Steel Co. here.

Only last October, the famed polar-voyaging atomic submarine Nautilus, berthed at the Portsmouth, N. H. naval shipyard for a routine overhaul, sustained what the Navy termed "apparently intentional damage."

Anti-Jewish Slogans Continue To Appear

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Painted swastikas and anti-Jewish slogans continued to show up at scattered points across the nation Friday night and Saturday. Authorities said most appeared the work of hoodlums or pranksters, but a Baltimore Jewish community leader said, "It looks like an organized movement."

He referred to swastikas—apparently stenciled on with spray paint—found Saturday on five synagogues, a rabbinical college and a Jewish war veterans building in the Baltimore area. Also defaced were three stores and a junior high school.

"I BELIEVE IT'S strictly an organized group," said Samuel Barber, president of one of the synagogues. "It's not something children would do. They would simply smear them on. This is a very carefully prepared mark."

Swastikas, symbols of Hitler's anti-Jewish movement, have turned up in Illinois.

Two 18-inch swastikas were found Saturday, painted in white enamel on windows at opposite sides of the main entrance to the Temple B'Nai Abraham in Decatur. A slightly smaller swastika was painted on one of the four front doors.

OTHER SWASTIKAS were daubed on the walls and entrance sidewalk of Hillel Foundation's national headquarters building near the University of Illinois campus at Champaign. The foundation is a Jewish organization for college students.

Gordon Ray, university vice president and acting president during the absence of Dr. David D. Henry who is in India, voiced "concern and disgust" at the desecration of the foundation's walls.

Synagogues In Germany Under Guard

BERLIN (AP)—Jews in West Germany and West Berlin observed their Sabbath Saturday in synagogues protected by armed policemen.

It was the first time since the end of the Nazi era that the Jews in Germany had celebrated a Sabbath under the shadow of such outspoken anti-Semitism around the world.

The guards were put in front of the synagogues earlier last week, after Nazi swastikas and anti-Jewish slogans had been painted on Jewish homes and temples.

Even as the police marched up and down, fresh evidence of anti-Jewish feeling cropped up. Swastikas were found at a labor office in Bayreuth, the center of the production of operas by Richard Wagner, who was an idol of the Nazis.

OTHER REPORTS of vandalism came from such widely separated cities as Rome, Lisbon; Stockholm; Lille, France; Baltimore; Montreal and Toronto, Canada.

Price Of Speeding Ticket—2 Dead In Crash

John Richard Farkas paid two lives for a speeding ticket.

When officers picked up the bodies of Farkas, 26, and Jack R. Suchomel, 22, they found a speeding ticket in Farkas' billfold.

Farkas of Berwyn and Suchomel of Lyons were killed at 12:45 a.m. Saturday when their speeding car crashed into a tree on Route 54 at the Armour Road. Their deaths were the first traffic fatalities in the county in 1960.

Seconds earlier, Pat Carstens, 21, 411 S. Wabash Ave., Bradley, had commented, "Look at those crazy kids." She stood with Barbara LaFane, 23, 254 N. Quincy Ave., Bradley, and Irene Chaney, 19, 680 S. Poplar Ave., Kankakee, in front of a restaurant and watched the Farkas car careen southward on Route 54 at an estimated 100 miles an hour.

THE RUSHING CAR went into the third lane while passing another car. Suddenly, it was out of control, skidded 225 feet on its top and crashed into a tree with such force that the front, including the steering wheel and dashboard, was torn from the car body and flung 60 feet farther.

One of the bodies was crushed against the tree by the rear half of the car, the other was crushed in the front half of the car.

Cook Co. Nominees Top Democratic Slate

CHICAGO (AP)—A state heavily weighted with Cook County bloc candidates, topped by Judge Otto Kerner for governor, has won endorsement of the regular Democratic organization for the April 12 primary.

Coupled with the announcement was a plea by the party leadership for unity among Illinois Democrats. Yet some grumbling was audible, principally from Stephen A. Mitchell, who will back the party organization in his bid for the governorship.

U.S. Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.) got the nod for a third term in Capitol Hill. In addition to Kerner, 51, a Cook County judge since 1954, the slatemakers chose, State Rep. Samuel H. Shapiro, 52, of Kankakee for lieutenant governor; James K. McLaughlin, 45, Chicago, for state auditor; and State Rep. William G. Clark, 35, Chicago, for attorney general.

COOK COUNTY Republican slatemakers will meet Monday and County Chairman Francis X. Connell said they will endorse all state incumbents seeking reelection, including Gov. Stratton. The committee previously endorsed Samuel W. Wither, Chicago attorney, to oppose U.S. Senator Paul H. Douglas. Wither also is the personal choice of Stratton for the senatorial nomination.

The GOP State Central Committee does not make endorsements, leaving this to the various county committees.

Kerner, whose late father, Otto Kerner Sr., once was Illinois attorney general, immediately stressed the need for unity if Democrats are to wrest control of the Statehouse from incumbent Republican officials after next November. These include Gov. Stratton, seeking an unprecedented third successive term.

But Mitchell appeared determined to make a contest of the gubernatorial nomination. A statement was issued immediately from his Chicago headquarters branding as "unfortunate" the slatemakers' refusal to declare an open primary.

Benoit Promoted, Savoie Named To Rehabilitation Office Post

Bernard A. Benoit, 625 Circle Court, Bradley, has been named supervisor of the East Central Section, Illinois division of Vocational Rehabilitation.

Benoit has been with the division since 1946 in charge of the Illinois State Public Aid Committee, which is regarded as closely allied to the Cook County bloc in the legislature. McLaughlin is currently serving as clerk of the 4th District, Illinois Appellate Court.

Shapiro, a veteran legislator and chairman last year of the Illinois House Public Aid Committee, is regarded as closely allied to the Cook County bloc in the legislature. McLaughlin is currently serving as clerk of the 4th District, Illinois Appellate Court.

Hoviet was the 1956 nominee for auditor, and Clark served last year as "democratic majority leader" of the Illinois House.

The selections were made by a subcommittee headed by Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago, Cook County Democratic chairman.

Prospects were interviewed over a four-day period both in Springfield and Chicago.

A former U.S. attorney in Chicago, Kerner has long been active in the Illinois National Guard. He holds the rank of brigadier general, having served with "volunteer" rank in World War II.

Start Campaign For New Library In Lake Village

LAKE VILLAGE, Ind. (INS)—The $2,000 gift of Mrs. W. G. Wolf, sister of Jay Anderson, to the Lake Village Library starts the drive for a new Memorial Library.

Members of the Book Club were told of the gift by Mrs. Karl M. Kuster, president. The Book Club will spearhead the drive to raise $20,000 for the new building, to be built adjacent to the Lake Village School.

Plans are in the making to ask the assistance of the businessmen and interested residents of the area to help raise money. The present library is becoming overcrowded and when the highway goes through Lake Village, the present building will be torn down.

Spillane and his wife, Goldie, reside at 1191 S. Sixth Ave. They have a son, Donald, Upland, Calif., and a grandson, Mr. and Mrs. Spillane are members of St. Patrick's Church.

Spillane, a lifelong resident of Kankakee County, was born near Irving, Ill. He has lived in Kankakee for many years and has served on the City Council as Fourth Ward alderman. He is senior alderman on the council.

A graduate of Kankakee High School, he began employment with the Illinois Central and New York Central Railroads. Later he worked for the Kankakee Foundry and J. W. Mortell Co. and then served in the Illinois National Guard for 7½ years. He was engaged in the automobile sales business for many years until he began his duties as coroner in 1956.

Spillane is the first coroner that has devoted his full time to the duties of the office. An average of 315 cases a year are handled by the coroner's office in Kankakee County.

Writer Strike

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Screen writers have called a strike Jan. 16 against major studios. Actors will open important talks with the studios two days later.

Both the Writers Guild of America, West, and the Screen Actors

Guild seek a share of proceeds from use on television of movies made after 1948.

The studios have rejected the demands.

PVT. STREETER BECOMES A HOSPITAL PATIENT
By HAROLD W. SIMMONS

Streeter was moved from one hospital to another and finally transferred to Overton General Hospital in Memphis, Tenn., on Feb. 24, a very sick soldier.

"Fools Day (April 1, 1863) dawned upon us beautiful and I applied for a pass to go out and take a walk, and my request

5 Cases To Be Presented To Grand Jury

Five cases will be presented by Attorney Frank Curran when the Kankakee County grand jury convenes for its January term Monday.

Curran says he expects the jury to complete its work by Wednesday afternoon.

The presentations to be made include:

William Curry, 76, Leesville, charged with the murder of his wife, Mary Beatrice, 54, on Dec. 28.

John L. Henderson, 24, of 708 N. Dearborn Ave., charged with committing burglary at the Shuler Construction Material Co. on Dec. 8.

Donald V. LaFond, 28, St. Anne, charged with committing burglary at the Core, a tavern on Route 17 east Christmas Day.

Michael White, 24, Hopkins Park, charged with committing burglary at Lott's Highway, a restaurant, in late November.

Lamar Dwyer, 19, Lake Providence, La., charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor girl. He was arrested in Kankakee Wednesday.

Dallis Madison, 59, Lake Village, Dies; Rites Set

LAKE VILLAGE, Ind. (JNS)—Dallis F. Madison, 59, died at 12:30 p.m. Friday in St. Mary's Hospital, Kankakee, following a heart attack.

Mr. Madison was a retired Lake Village area farmer and was born in Lake Village on Jan. 15, 1900, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Madison.

He was married Oct. 7, 1926, to the former Winnie Brown in Kankakee, Ind. Surviving are the widow, brothers, Ernest, Middle and Porter, all of Lake Village, a sister, Mrs. Carroll James of Monroe, Ind., seven nieces and eight nephews.

Mr. Madison was a member of the Presbyterian Church and managed the church farm property for five years.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday in the Presbyterian church, Rev. David G. Glop, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the church cemetery. Friends may call at the Sheela Funeral Home, Lowell, Ind., today and until the hour of the service.

Armstrong Moves D. K. Zentz To Braintree Plant

D. K. (Pete) Zentz, 618 S. Small Ave., plant personnel manager at Armstrong Cork Co. here for the past four years, has received a promotion and will be transferred to the firm's plant at Braintree, Mass., in the next several weeks.

Zentz, who has been with Armstrong for 10 years, will be production foreman in a new department at the Braintree plant, 15 miles south of Boston.

He will head a department now being set up for the manufacture of luxury floor tile. Part of his job will be to help organize the department and train some of its workers.

The new production foreman is a 1938 graduate of Olivet Nazarene College in business administration.

Bourbonnais Lists Fire Calls In '59

The Bourbonnais Rural Fire Department answered 89 fire calls during 1959 plus making 31 emergency calls. The year-end figures were reported by Paul A. Roy, fire chief.

The fire calls were divided between the village and Bourbonnais Rural Fire Protection District, both of which are served by the department. Twenty-seven calls in the village and 62 in the district were reported by the chief.

Styck left the car engine and heater running to keep the family warm. Mrs. Styck thought the youngsters had dropped off to sleep, but when Styck returned and was unable to awaken them, he called firemen.

While fireman Stanley Abramovich set up the dual heat for the oxygen tank, Richard Seidman breathed life into the mother of the baby. Seconds later, oxygen was being administered simultaneously to both children.

Firemen took the children to St. Mary's Hospital, but it was unnecessary to admit them.

Firemen pointed out that heater blowers force the undetectable carbon monoxide fumes toward the rear of the car, probably accounting for the fact that Mrs. Styck was not overcome.

Ex-Kankakeean Dies In Chicago

Mrs. Catherine Feely FitzGerald, 78, former Kankakee resident, died Thursday at her home at 224 N. Sheffield Ave., Chicago, after an illness of 1½ years.

She was the wife of the late John J. FitzGerald.

Funeral services will be held at St. Vincent's Church 10½ Webster Ave., Chicago, at 10 a.m. Monday. The Rev. Bernard FitzGerald will officiate.

Survivors include daughters, Mildred, at home; Mrs. Betty Steele, Evanston; son, Robert, Danville, Ill.; of Chicago; Thomas, of Elmhurst; and the Rev. Fr. Leonard of DePaul University; eight grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.

Wife Number 9 Plagues Tommy

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Tommy Handley's ninth wife says that divorce may not have been legal. And Tommy's about to marry No. 10.

Anita Roddy-Zden says she has paid $27,000 to an unknown blackmailer on the last of two years before she was the wife of the late John J. FitzGerald.

End Of Strike Good News For Business World

NEW YORK (AP)—Like a diver poised on a springboard, business was catapulted full speed into the anticipated boom of 1960 by this week's steel strike settlement.

The agreement burst with surprising swiftness from a stubborn deadlock that had given no indication of a quick break.

The business world, eager to be rid of the "steel strike" which had been a constant thorn in its side, was relieved to find that the steel strike had ended.

So much gets written about the misfortunes and the errors of young people—it's a bit comforting to be able to write about the successes of some.

Appearing on today's television out of Washington, D. C. is Bradley May Marlyn Hawkins. Through her beauty, poise, personality and dramatic talent she was chosen "Miss Kankakee" last year and gave the "Miss Illinois" winner a real battle before ending up a runner-up. Along the way she also won the "Miss Congeniality" title.

Through her scholarship at the University of Illinois, along with other activities, she is one of six college students chosen to appear on the TV program.

When Marlyn was graduated from Bradley-Bourbonnais High School she wanted to go to college the worst way. She had the problem of finances, however, so she worked for a while to earn some money.

Marlyn wanted to go to the University of Illinois but many told her she'd be a number three and would get lost in the multitude. She decided to give it a try anyway.

No one is "just a number" if he doesn't want to be. The person with ability, desire and (to coin a sports phrase) hustle, has a name. Marlyn Hawkins is a good example.

She lives at Stratford House on the Illinois campus. It's a cooperative and among her duties is cooking the Wednesday night "great dinner" for the 30 girls in the house. Marlyn jokes about when she gets married her husband will have to eat 30 helpings of everything!

A deeply religious girl, it isn't surprising to learn she is the chaplain of the house.

She is president of Alpha Chi Omega, sophomore independent women's activity and scholarship honor which sponsor's the annual Mother's Day sing on campus. She also is one of 16 finalists for the Illinois (yearbook) beauty queen—the pictures of final six to appear in the yearbook.

Most important of all—in spite of working 72 hours a week, her duties at the co-op and her numerous activities she is carrying a 4.8 average!

This is the time of year a lot of seniors are thinking regarding college days ahead. It's a good time to reflect on the story of Marlyn Hawkins and know that "where there's a will, there's a way."

Stevens fifth grade teacher Mrs. Margaret Graf is well-known for the unique challenges she puts to her students. Recently she asked them to write imaginary letters to well known personalities.

Two of the pupils, Phil Hays, 964 S. Poplar Ave., and John Burnett Jr., 647 S. Harrison Ave., chose President Eisenhower. They wrote a step further—they mailed the letters.

The post week they each received answers. Phil also received an autographed photo of Ike.

Both letters, of course, were written by presidential secretaries. The letter to Phil said "The President was complimented that you would like him to be a candidate for President again. He also was pleased to know that you think there should be a 'great dinner' for the 30 girls in the house. Marlyn jokes about when she gets married her husband will have to eat 30 helpings of everything!"

The note to John said "He appreciates the compliment you extended by telling him you think he has been one of the best Presidents the United States has ever had. He wants me to assure you he will continue to do his best so that you and other boys and girls can grow up in a world of peace. With regard to the President's name, I wish to tell you that our records of the President's family tree indicate that he was christened Dwight D. Eisenhower. David was his father's name and it soon became confusing to have two in the same family named David. So his mother changed it to Dwight David."

Yep, a couple of scrap books have some new additions. Kankakee insurance man Whitney Peris, who has writing as a hobby, has authored an article appearing in the January issue of "The Local Agent."

Subject of Whitney's article is "Survivors and Non-Survivors Make Friends, Bring Us Business."

The Kankakee is in his 26th year in insurance.

Merle Sherman, Roper Co. employee, is taking quite a ribbing. Seems he was in charge of getting tickets printed for the Jan. 28 pancake supper sponsored by the Telford School PTA.

He's been accused of distributing tickets for something that's already been held.

An error on the ticket lists the date of the event as Jan. 26, 1959.

Martin Luther was a bit prophetic when he wrote the following: "It is indeed a sin and shame that we must be aroused and incited to the duty of supporting the education of our youth. People rear the Turks and floods, for in such matters they can see what is injurious or beneficial; but what the devil has in mind no one sees or fears. Yet where we would give a florin to defend ourselves against the Turks, we should give a hundred florins to protect us against ignorance."

Armada Struck 15 Years Ago

Lingayen Gulf: Jumpoff To Manila

(At dawn 15 years ago, an armada of warships and troop carriers with more than 60,000 American soldiers aboard converged upon Lingayen Gulf at Luzon. Objective: liberate the Philippines. One of the men to hit the beach was an Army captain in command of an antiaircraft battery. Here he recalls that famous World War II landing.)

By EDWARD P. GALLIGAN
(Written for The Associated Press)

The desire we felt to get off the Navy LST that morning 15 years ago had nothing to do with heroism.

Except for five days at Manus in the Admiralties, where we spent what we felt was our last Christmas, the crowded and rusty vessel had been home for 28 days.

The "fun" took, or lower level, of the ship was crammed with heavy engineering equipment that would make a "hellcat" gasoline and ammunition filled the in-between spaces.

A DAY AND A half earlier, while the convoy headed north in the South China Sea, two earlier, bearing the Rising Sun insignia sped out of the setting sun and raced down the column of the LSTs that included us.

Their strafing and light bombs missed us, but a mine sweep was hit. One of our Army mobile machine-gun mounts, chained to the upper deck, opened fire. And a private named Corralah gave Battery D of the 93rd AA Battalion the distinction of official credit for shooting down an enemy plane 200 miles at sea.

It seems difficult to realize now how important that enemy casualty was to us. It had to do with morale, and morale had to do with the end of the war.

There was fear all through that ship, and it could smother you if you had nothing else to talk about. It was more than a month before we got to Manila.

Resists School Integration

Deep South Holds To Desegregation Policy

(In the sixth year after the Supreme Court struck down segregation in public schools the Deep South remains adamant in resistance. Here's a first hand report on the integration picture and a newswoman who toured the region to interview many officials and citizens on both sides.)

BY JIM THOMASSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Despite the examples of Little Rock and Virginia, the Deep South at this time is still not ready to accept any public school integration—open or otherwise—and likely would close schools to prevent it.

In some of the five still wholly segregated states, integration is not even considered a serious possibility in the near future.

THE ATLANTA School Board, under federal court order, has filed a pupil placement desegregation plan which conflicts with state law. Unless the 1960 Legislature changes the act, Atlanta faces at least some closed schools next fall.

Flight Test Controversy Continuing

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—National Airlines and its pilots continued to argue over the flight test of a new satellite in the Gulf of Mexico and to North Carolina.

NAL said the pilots would continue to take the tests. The dispute arose following NAL's loss of 78 passengers and crewmen in a recent airline disaster in the Gulf of Mexico and to North Carolina.

Both the air line and the pilots said they are trying to resolve their differences locally. NAL and the Federal Aviation Agency said the flight tests to which the pilots have objected do not put as much strain on an aircraft as ordinary weather turbulence.

The pilots turned down down on the tests in a telegram to the FAA. They stated that such flights may have contributed to the Gulf and Carolina crashes.

In Washington, FAA Administrator E. R. Quisenberry said the suggestion that the North Carolina accident may have been caused by the effect of training maneuvers on the airplane structure "is not supported by any evidence now known to the FAA."

He said "The maneuvers required in pilot proficiency checks place less stress and strain on the aircraft than that frequently encountered in routine and regularly scheduled operations."

Host Wilmington Young Men At Social Center

WILMINGTON (JNS)—A group of young men met Monday at 7 p.m. in the First Methodist Church to discuss the needs of the community and of Greer School to join them.

The purpose of the group is to provide recreational and social activities for men who do not have access to facilities such as the Youth Center.

At the next meeting, Jan. 11, the group will set up a ping pong and dart ball tournament.

Other activities include checkers, chess, table polo and other equipment games. Coffee and pop will be served.

Satellite Might Link Up World Faster

BY ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

Shining like a star, a new satellite will go streaking across the skies this year.

Silent, completely hollow, it nonetheless will start bringing the first great practical payoff of the space age—faster, more reliable and cheaper communications around the world.

It's a first step toward using satellites for worldwide TV. You could watch news of drama from London, Rome, Tokyo, the second it is happening.

OR PICK UP a telephone, and your voice could hopscotch "land" and clear from Chicago to Madrid or anywhere else, relayed by a satellite hung 22,300 miles above the earth. The cost? Perhaps only as much as you pay now for a call from New York to Los Angeles.

Foreign news in your newspaper could come via the same space high jump.

It might all be reality within two years.

A first step is scheduled early this spring when a 100-foot round plastic balloon is shot into orbit 1,000 miles above the earth. You will be able to see it, as bright as the star Vega. It will circle the earth every two hours.

AS IT FLASHES overhead, radio waves will shoot up and bounce back from the balloon between Honolulu, N. J., and Goldstone, Calif. An aluminum coating on the balloon will reflect the radio waves.

The council felt the purpose of the open house would be better served by dividing the students into three groups for the sessions.

The first group would include grades 1 to 4. The second group would take in grades 5 through 8. The high school classes would be included in the third of the series of three meetings.

The first meeting will be held Jan. 25, the Youth Center.

At the next meeting, Jan. 11, the group will set up a ping pong and dart ball tournament.

Other activities include checkers, chess, table polo and other equipment games. Coffee and pop will be served.

Provide Landing Area For Soviets

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP)—The Americans have agreed to provide landing facilities for Soviet planes at the South Pole.

"Deep Freeze" headquarters in Christ Church reported.

U.S. Rear Adm. David Tyree said the Soviets asked for permission to refuel at the pole in flights to complete seismic measurements made by a Soviet ground party which visited the pole Dec. 26-30.

These probably would be separate from commercial or public satellites.

For quick, sure communications, there are military planes for a system of perhaps seven satellites. These would be put in fixed positions 22,300 miles above the equator, four others would be in polar orbits at about one-quarter of that altitude.

These probably would be separate from commercial or public satellites.

Talking with someone in Europe would be as clear as with someone in the same room," remarks William Schick, director of International Telephone & Telegraph laboratories, Nutley, N. J.

So is the Department of Defense.

Communications satellites are looming in the nick of time for a world that soon will be choosing channels to conduct affairs of industry, government, military, and the human heart.

Transoceanic submarine cables are getting overloaded. They can be accidentally cut, or sabotaged. They can't carry TV programs.

Present a radio-telephone and message can black out or fade when magnetic storms upset the ionosphere—the electrified layer of air which reflects radio waves.

Equipped with radio receiver and transmitter, it would pick up and return telephone, TV or teletype messages shot up from earth.

Club Homes Also In Need Of A 'Woman's Touch'

The upkeep of one home is usually considered enough for a woman, but when she is a clubwoman, her responsibilities sometimes include a club home. She can be found performing club duties that are not unlike her own housekeeping.

One good example is found in the Odd Fellows home at 1006 E. Maple St. The Indianapolis Order of Odd Fellows, which includes the Rebekah branch, began building plans back in 1947 but decided to buy the former Worth home at the corner of Maple St. and Evergreen Ave. with the idea of remodeling. The Odd Fellows moved in last January and for the past year, members have been removing paint and varnish, applying new coats, tearing down walls, building again and completely remodeling the large house from a family home to an organization home.

THE INVOLVEMENT OF CLUB MEMBERS in upkeep of the club meeting place is not restricted to those groups that own their own homes. Even in a public meeting place, where janitor fees are paid, there are still enough duties to keep members running. Rebekahs often demand special arrangements of chairs and other appointments and many groups have specified officers or chairmen for that purpose. One member may be in charge of arranging the president's table, or making certain that the United States flag will be in its correct position when the pledge of allegiance begins. Table decorations are used to provide "atmosphere," and the women take the responsibility of hosts seriously.

Members of one large local club voted this year to save money by washing dishes themselves after meetings.

IT'S A NEW PICTURE OF CLUBWOMEN away from home—washing dishes, scrubbing floors, welding paint brushes. They do all these things; and the same work that is often drudgery at home is almost enjoyable when it is performed as a group project.

Many local clubs meet in the homes of members, when size permits. Then the responsibility of preparation and clean-up is left to the hostess.

When club rooms are used, everyone pitches in.

Your Family

Day-Dreaming Daughter

By DR. PAUL FOPENDE
Q. I'm worried because my daughter spends too much time day-dreaming. . .
A. One of the best remedies is to help her find plenty of good friends of her own age. Continue to show her, in all sorts of ways, how much you love her. Get her into congenial activities.

Q. We have been married for four years and have two children with another on the way. We want at least four or five but our in-laws are hysterical, continually pestering us as though it were an awful crime to have a family. Is there any way to shut them up?
A. This is a case where you are justified in laying down the law to them. Tell them firmly that it's your family and that you would appreciate a cessation of comments.

Q. Is there any justification for child guidance experts writing books saying that children should be allowed to express their hostility to their parents openly?
A. Not by any means of thinking. After all, if an explosion in the family is delayed, it may never occur. If encouraged, it may only form a habit of meanness and viciousness. Send for my reprint "Children Learn What They Live." Any reader may have a FREE copy if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed with the request. The booklet will help parents steer a middle course.

Q. My husband is always taking offense at the things I say. How can I prevent this?
A. Make a list of the things you say that cause a fluster and a list on occasions on which you seem to have pleased him. Compare these two lists every morning after he leaves the house. Study your mistakes and avoid them. Follow up your successes.

Q. I'm having a lot of trouble with my child's eating habits. . .
A. You have probably formed his bad habits yourself; on the other hand children vary enormously in their build and make-up. Cross-sections of the esophagus may vary at least fourfold. The child with a large gullet would find it easier to bolt his food than does the child with a small one. Biologist Roger J. Williams reminds us. . . Some human stomachs hold six or eight times as much as others. Write me (with stamped, self-addressed envelope) for the FREE reprint.

Altar, Rosary Society Plans Foodless Food Sale

Plans were made for a foodless food sale at the Wednesday meeting of the Altar and Rosary Society of St. Martin of Tours Church. The event will be held in February. The Rev. E. Doherty addressed the group and thanked the members for their cooperation in the past and asked them to continue their enthusiasm in the new year. The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Carl Weber, president. Recitation of the rosary in the church preceded the business meeting. Following the meeting games were played and prizes were awarded to Miss Agnes Joyce, Mrs. Edward Tyrrell, Mrs. B. P. Maher, Mrs. Sophie Larocche, Mrs. Victor Bertrand, Miss Annette Fritz, Mrs. George Blais and Mrs. Carl Vaugel. The social committee which served refreshments was headed by Mrs. Bart Azzarelli.

Feature Masseuse At Meeting Of WC In Sheldon

SHELDON (JNS)—Minnie M. Krill, a masseuse from Millford, presented a program on massage at a meeting of the Women's Club of Sheldon on Monday evening in library hall. Mrs. Krill told the theory of massage and used charts to demonstrate. According to the masseuse, all nerve endings in the body are found in the palm of the hands and the soles of the feet. She said the bottom of the feet are used as the focal point of massage due to their normal lack of exercise. The speaker demonstrated the effect of massage on Mrs. Darold Hall, department member.

Irving Hollingsworth, local music instructor, was introduced by Mrs. Lester B. Monte, music chairman. Hollingsworth presented two of his students, Constance Smith and Mary Bassett, who played a flute duet. Miss Jeanne Lindholm was the piano accompanist.

Mrs. Larry Sieg, department chairman, introduced Mrs. William Portwood and Mrs. Carroll Bole, guests for the evening. A letter was read from Kenneth Stephens of the Lions Club, thanking the group for donations to the Christmas lighting project. A pamphlet, "The Intelligent Woman's Guide to Art," was distributed to the members. The hymn of the month, "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," was sung at the close of the meeting.

Q. You talk a good deal about recreation—do you think many families really feel a need for more of that?
A. Yes. A survey of 504 families by James E. Wylie at Boston University found that "most" of them complained of the lack of common interests among family members. Write to me, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for your FREE reading list on "Family Recreation." Activities calling for somewhat strenuous participation by all members of the family have been found most valuable.

Q. Of course one ought to choose a mate carefully; but can't marriage be depended on, to bring some changes in the personality, too?
A. It certainly can but many a disillusioned husband or wife can tell you that the changes may be for the worse, not the better. The girl, for example, who marries a man with the hope that he will stop drinking, join the church, and become unselfish after the wedding is quite likely to end in the divorce court. In any marriage it is important that both partners work continuously and intelligently to change their own personalities for the better and in the direction needed to make marriage more successful.

Q. Are boys more likely than girls to have bad tempers?
A. Surveys indicate little difference; but the sexes do show them in somewhat different ways—boys are somewhat more violent. One study found that the average college girl loses her temper three times a week.

Q. I've heard that a husband who is just a fluster and a list on occasions on which you seem to have pleased him. Compare these two lists every morning after he leaves the house. Study your mistakes and avoid them. Follow up your successes.

WCS To Meet Tuesday

"The Golden Cord of Service in Africa" will be the theme at a meeting of the Women's Club of Christian Service of First Methodist Church Tuesday at 1 p.m. in Wesley Hall. Mrs. Walter Zwinger will give the devotion, and Miss Geraldine Comas will give a reading, "The Congo," by Vachel Lindsay. Talks on Methodist work in the Belgian Congo and Rhodesia will be given by Mrs. Glen Sims, Mrs. William Plambeck and Mrs. Ed J. Strama. Deborah Ciera members will be hostesses.

Morocco Garden Club Meets In Colbourne Home

MOROCCO, Ind. (JNS)—The Garden Club met Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. John Colbourne. Mrs. Ross Padgett were assistant hostesses.

Twenty members responded to roll call. After the business meeting, Mrs. Percy Perkins gave a talk, "Trees and Shrubs." To all these complaints, the photographer just nods, sympathizes and waits.

The real trick is the waiting. Because sooner or later, he begins to hear a promising comment. As she shifts through the IMPOS- SIBLE prints, the lady begins to choose and choose. He waits. Before long she is likely to find one that is not quite as hor- rible as the others. Then another. She may even find one that al- most looks a little like her.

Sooner or later, a photographer's patience will pay off. The woman becomes calm and rational again. She chooses a print and he's in business. It's good business too, judging by the willingness of the photographer to put up with hysterical females.

It will always be the same. A woman will always be a woman; but we need several local photographers for suggestions that help a woman prepare for the day when her portrait is taken.

Leo Pechauer stresses the importance of hair and neckline. "The hair should be well brushed," he says, advising not to sched- ule a hair appointment the same day as a photographer's appoint- ment. When a woman arrives at the studio, her hair should be soft- ened and combed for a natural looking effect.

A woman should also consider the shape of her face when she chooses a dress. For example, a round, full face will be flattered by a V-neckline, a woman with a long face might choose a high neck- line.

Pechauer also cautions against the use of too much powder or lipstick that is too dark. Mrs. J. O. Blankensberg explains that she prefers to apply cosmetics again before taking a portrait photo. Since the texture and beauty of the skin is often lost in a photo- graph, she uses bone structure to the best advantage.

Mrs. Blumenthal goes on to say that light colors have a "young effect" on a woman and darker clothes are more sophisticated. Bill LaFleur professes medium to dark clothing on a woman he photographs, adding that the use of mascara is often helpful, espe- cially for a young woman.

"The advice from Don Byrne is to 'get plenty of rest' before hav- ing a portrait made. He would caution against having a picture taken if the subject does not feel well, or in the mood. 'She should be re- laxed.'"

To help a person relax, the photographers purposely chat am- bly (about anything but photography) and use all the tricks of the trade. They are necessary to experts at small talk.

The subject must help, however. Did you ever try to relax in front of a camera? (But we mustn't become hysterical again.)

Local beauty Willa Joelen Sweeney (who seems to have very little trouble in front of a camera) has been doing a little extra-cur- ricular work as a model. Her picture has appeared twice now in a General Foods magazine. She has posed with different products in two recent issues.

A former Miss Kankakee contestant and second runner-up, Willa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Sweeney of 1063 E. Maple St. Her father is a GP employee.

Savory Veal
Veal is an extremely versatile meat, but one that requires extra attention. The lack of fat has a tendency to make the meat dry and tasteless. Butter can combat the dryness and the taste can be en- hanced by the addition of sherry. To serve 4:

Slice 2 pounds of rump of veal into water-thin pieces, about 3/16 by 3/16 inches. Melt 1 tablespoon butter in skillet until it begins to brown. Toss veal in hot butter until it is cooked, remove veal to hot platter. Only a small amount of meat can be cooked at one time, so it may be necessary to use more butter and repeat the process until all pieces are cooked. Thicken the gravy with 1 table- spoon of flour blended in juices, adding 1/2 cup sherry to gravy for flavor. Pour the gravy over the cutlets and serve with noodles.

Chiff Moore is making money as a newspaperboy. That is important to him — for he's saving toward a college education. But what Cliff learns while he earns is more important than the money itself. Cliff has learned the value of money in terms of what it will buy. He has learned that substantial profits come from keeping busy. He has found that money earned can slip quickly away unless it is carefully budgeted on saved. And he has discovered much about human nature from his customers and his regular collections.

These are lessons which some adults never learn. They are lessons only a newspaper route can teach so well. In fact, a newspaper route provides one of the few remaining opportunities for boys to get real, honest-to-goodness practical business experience.

Collinsville, Galesburg Extend Streaks

BY UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL
Unbeaten Collinsville and Galesburg, both top-ranked quizzers, rolled to new victories Friday night and one-beaten Pinckneyville returned to the win list at top Illinois prep basketball action.

Collinsville rolled over strong Southwestern Conference rival Alto to notch its 11th straight win 82-50 and virtually clinched the loop title.

GALESBURG NOTCHED its eighth win of the season by knocking Blue Island 78-59 and Pinckneyville, beaten Tuesday by Sparta, evened the score at the expense of Du Quoin 78-56.

Defending state champs Springfield squandered by a steady Danville 60-40 and Lehighville put icing on its expected Mid-state Conference crown by blistering Kewanee 78-43.

Another close match saw unbeaten Decatur notch its ninth win of the season over Mattoon 55-57.

IN OTHER GAMES Lincoln beat Bloomington 77-54; Shabbon beat Paw Paw 69-43; Dixon handed Hall a 72-43 setback; Decatur St. Teresa fell before Springfield Laphier 70-51.

East Rockford took its tenth win of the season against East Aurora 54-31; Freeport bested Aurora West 64-53; Elgin upset West Rockford 74-73 and La Salle Perry downed Joliet 74-65.

Writers To Honor Low Fonseca
CHICAGO (AP)—Low Fonseca, former major league star and now director of motion pictures for baseball, will be honored for long and meritorious service to the game at the 20th annual dinner of the Chicago Baseball Writers Jan. 17.

Fonseca, starting his 26th year in promotion of the major leagues, will receive the J. Louis Comiskey Award, the top trophy given by the Chicago writers.

Grant Park Just Nips Gilman 62-61

GILMAN (JNS)—Johnny Hamann's two free throws in the last 20 seconds of play gave Grant Park a 62-61 Kan-Will Conference basketball victory over host Gilman here Friday night.

Grant Park, 65 for the season, is now 4-0 in the Kan-Will. Gilman is 2-4 for the year and 0-3 in the league.

Myron Schriener came near to scoring a hero for Gilman with 30 seconds left in the game when he scored a layup to put the Owls within one point (60-59) of the hosts but then he fouled Hamann, which proved to be a costly mistake.

Bill Martens topped the GP scoring with 20 points and Hamann added 16. Marty Peters, Gilman forward, was the game's high scorer with 23 tallies.

BECHER TOPPLES LEMONT 58-49
LEMON (JNS)—Becher's Bobcats halved their season's record at 5-3 here Friday evening with a 58-49 non-conference game at the meeting, Virgil Mathey, Becher, scored a 20-point lead 33-13 heading into the last quarter but Coach Don Nichols put in his reserves and Lemont closed the game.

Harold Lantz topped the Beecher scoring with 18 points and Farnell 11. Don Nichols put in the frosh-soph prelin game.

Don't Destroy Us, Hunt's Plea To NFL

Football League, has made a direct appeal to the owners of National Football clubs not to destroy his fledgling pro circuit.

Lamar Hunt, founder of the AFL and owner of the Dallas club in the new loop, Friday made public a letter which Foss sent Wednesday to the 12 NFL club owners and Austin H. Gussel, acting commissioner of the NFL.

Foss in his letter charged that NFL leaders drove the AFL out of the Minneapolis-St. Paul area and that "the same wrecking crew has intensified its efforts against the new AFL team in Dallas."

The AFL commissioner said that if the NFL sincerely wants to expand, it can and should direct its efforts toward cities which the AFL does not propose to serve.

KBA To Make Tourney Plans At Tuesday Meeting
Team entries for the 22nd annual Kankakee Bowling Association tourney will be made at the Tuesday night 7 p.m. meeting of the KBA at the Dan-Dee Recreation Center, which will be accepted up to the time of the tournament meeting Tuesday evening at Maycrest Lanes.

Ray Johnson, secretary of the KBA, said today that there are still several team openings on the master schedule posted at Maycrest.

In Tuesday's meeting, which starts at 7 p.m., the tournament committee will work out the prize list, check the schedule, and pair teams with allies.

Wilmington Gains 39-34 Win
ODELL (JNS)—Wilmington's Odell, JNS, won 39-34 in the first round of the 22nd annual Kankakee Bowling Association tourney at the Dan-Dee Recreation Center here Friday night.

The Cats, now 1-3 in the league and 7-7 overall, had to come from a 26-24 deficit in the last quarter to register the victory.

Watske Clubs Hoopston For 10th Win 63-44
WATSEKA (JNS)—Watske's Warriors whizzed to their 10th victory in as many starts here Friday evening by a convincing 63-44 margin over Watseka Conference foe Hoopston.

Maple Mop-Up Bowers Start New Year With A Bang

It didn't take Kankakee Bowling Association leaders long to get back to normal after the holiday lull.

Last week was one of the hottest on KBA alleys this season. There are forty-one names on today's honor roll and several of the season's highest scores.

Young Jay Kerouac and veteran Dr. Harry Gill came up with 1989's high men's series and high men's game respectively. And Marilyn Therien and Doris Englehart did the same for the ladies.

The 23-year-old Kerouac tossed a 267 series in Dandelion's Men's Commercial loop and Dr. Gill rolled a 268 game in the same league.

Bradley Veterans Of Foreign Wars Post 6302 is host today at 1 o'clock at Maycrest for the seventh District VFW Traveling League.

Bradley No. 1 team, with an 11-4 record, is currently in fourth place in the 12-team league and Bradley No. 2 is 12th. Urbana No. 1 is the loop-leader with a 10-5 record.

Think Interest Rates To Stay At High Level

NEW YORK (AP) — President Eisenhower's call for a renewed fight on inflation bolsters the belief that money will be kept tight and interest rates high or rising.

Financial institutions may tailor their own ideas about what to charge borrowers along these lines. Home builders and other foes of tight money may renew their fight on the policy.

It should be one of the most controversial subjects in the new congressional session and a hotly debated one along Wall and Main streets.

In financial circles it is noted that President Eisenhower in his State of the Union message lays out his fight on inflation along three fronts:

1. HE PROMISES that the new federal budget to be submitted Jan. 18 will be balanced and gives the assurance, welcome to financial experts, that the fiscal year ending June 30, 1960, will find the Treasury boasting a surplus of 200 million dollars. Some notes this will largely be due to a bigger-than-expected payment to the Treasury by the Federal Reserve System. But every little bit helps.

2. He assails the restrictions on how much interest the Treasury can pay on long-term borrowing, calling it archaic and a roadblock to proper management of the federal debt. The interest limit has forced the Treasury to tap the short-term market heavily and help send all interest rates higher—state, local and corporate.

3. He recognizes labor-management disputes, which the past usually have ended in another twist of the wage-price spiral, as a prime reason for the rise in the cost of living.

In management circles it is generally held, rather bitterly, that the recently government inspired steel settlement has all the potentialities of starting another twist to the spiral.

MANAGEMENT figures that the dispute over featherbedding and management control of working rules has been shelved by the settlement, but will crop up again elsewhere.

The President calls once again for stern discipline by every citizen in holding down wage demands and price rises. Some cynics note that such pleas haven't worked in the past.

He urges management to avoid price increases by efforts to boost efficiency. He asks labor to help to increase productivity.

Some see the proof of the pudding coming in how long steel companies will, or can, hold to present prices as the new and higher wage scales take hold, and the management requested rules changes for better efficiency are in abeyance.

Most financial experts are sure to praise the President's bid for a balanced budget, even if a record high one—although they have crossed fingers over what Congress might do to that when it gets going.

"Our link with the Free World"—a direct quote in a letter received from Poland. Proof enough that RADIO FREE EUROPE is doing its job... winning men's minds in the Cold War. A war in which the only weapon is the truth! A war that goes on in men's minds... not on battlefields.

But your dollars are needed to keep RADIO FREE EUROPE on the air! Your dollars pay for transmitters, announcers, trained personnel. So don't let the Reds win the battle for men's minds—don't let them win the Cold War. Keep RADIO FREE EUROPE on the air by sending your dollars to:

Your Income Tax Primer

Report Salaries, Wages, Dividends

(Fourth of 12 Chapters)
By RICHARD A. MULLENS
Written for NEA Service

Experts have recently told a congressional tax committee that an estimated 3.5 billion dollars of interest income each year is not reported on tax returns. Much of this interest is earned on savings accounts in banks and building and loan associations. The amounts are often small and easily overlooked when filling out a tax return.

You can bet that the Internal Revenue doesn't like this loss of revenue and will be checking closely to see that interest is properly reported.

This article of the Primer will give you tips on how to report interest income, and income from salaries, wages, and dividends.

IF YOUR employer withheld income tax on the wages paid you in 1959, he must furnish you with a statement—Form W-2—showing the total wages he paid you and the taxes withheld during the year.

It is easy to copy this information on your tax returns. Remember to attach one copy of the Form W-2 to the return. If you lose the Form W-2, don't think it gives you an excuse for not reporting the income shown thereon. Ask your employer for a duplicate copy of the Form.

Wages which are not subject to withholding, such as tips from customers, or amounts received as a domestic servant or casual laborer, should be reported on a separate line of the return opposite each employer's name.

If you worked for more than one employer during 1959, there is a good chance that Social Security (F. I. C. A.) tax of more than $120 was withheld from your salary. If so, you are entitled to claim the excess over $120 as additional income tax withheld.

THE IMPORTANT thing to remember about dividend income is that the first $50 of taxable dividends received by each individual is excluded from income. In community property states, a married couple can exclude dividends of $100 regardless of whose name the stock is held.

In non-community property states, the $50 exclusion applies separately to the individual dividends of husband and wife. This means that if all the stock is owned by the husband, the wife cannot claim any part of the exclusion. Dividends on stock held in both names are divided equally in computing the exclusion.

If the dividends exceed the exclusion, you may also be entitled to a dividends received credit. Unlike the exclusion, this credit cannot be claimed on Form 1040A, so do not use this form if your dividends exceed the exclusion.

THE EASIEST way to compute the credit is to use Schedule J of Form 1040, being carefully to follow the directions on each line of the schedule.

The new Form 1040W does not have a schedule to help compute the credit but it does have line 12 (c) on page 1 where the credit may be deducted. Remember that the dividend exclusion or credit does not apply to dividends from foreign corporations, including Canadian companies, or from any mutual savings banks or building and loan associations. These dividends must be included in full in your income.

Each of the three tax returns has a place for reporting taxable interest. Most interest is taxable. However, interest on bonds or securities issued by a state or local government is tax-free and need not be reported on your return.

You must report interest earned on savings or deposit accounts with banks or building and loan associations when it is credited to your account even though it has not been entered in your deposit book. Before completing your tax return, it is a good idea to have your deposit book brought up-to-date so that you can report all interest earned in 1959.

Most taxpayers do not report interest on U.S. savings bonds as it is earned. This is all right, but it means that all interest on the bond must be reported when the bond is cashed.

NEXT: Expense allowances.

Happy Butcher Gives Away Meat

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) — Charlie Lee, the butcher who won $702,066 on a soccer pool a week ago, gave away nearly a ton of meat to customers Friday.

When Charlie heard of his good fortune he said: "I'll give all my customers free meat."

Charlie called for a glass of beer and set to work carving up beef, lamb and pork and handing out free roasts for Sunday dinner.

An hour later, having given away about $1,400 worth of meat, Charlie called it a day.

INCOGNITO

STELLENNBOSCH, South Africa (UPI)—Farmer Herman Schumacher could hardly believe it when the hired man told him one of his Rhode Island reds had laid two eggs.

So he decided to stand watch over the 16-week-old fowl which crows like a rooster and looks like a rooster.

"I saw the incredible happen," Schumacher said. "The rooster laid another two eggs."

He said the rooster eggs weigh about two ounces and the ones laid by the hens average out three ounces.
