Kishi Leaders Join Fight To Block Treaty

Liberal Democrats Win Approval Of New Pact Laws

TOKYO (AP)—Some leaders of Premier Nobusuke Kishi's conservative party today joined the leftists in a new, last-ditch fight to postpone the exchange of documents sealing Japan's new security pact with the United States.

The move put new pressures on the weary 64-year-old Premier who has been battling for weeks to maintain Japan's military links with America.

Kishi's ruling Liberal Democrats struck back early today with quick approval in Parliament's upper house to adjust present Japanese laws to conform with provisions in the new treaty.

The legislation caught the Socialist opposition by surprise. None was present when the voting took place. The Socialists and other opposition groups have been boycotting Parliament, but the Socialists had promised to wage a new fight against the legislation.

IT APPEARED the action would spur the opposition to put new obstacles in Kishi's path.

Already confronting Kishi are a nationwide strike on Wednesday called by the Communist-influenced Sohyo Labor Federation, and new demonstrations planned by the fanatical Zengakuren Student Federation.

Four factional leaders in Kishi's party demand that he resign immediately and put off the exchange of treaty documents with the United States pending the outcome of new general elections.

They were Ichiro Kono, Takeo Miki, Kenzo Matsumura, and former Premier Tanzan Ishibashi. They planned a two-fold attack—an appeal to the U.S. Senate to withhold its own ratification, and a request for support from the powerful middle road factions in the Liberal Democrat party.

THE MIDDLE factions are headed by Hayato Ikeda, minister of international trade and industry, and party leaders Bamboku Ono and Mitsuhiro Ishii.

These factions, together with Kishi's loyal following, make up the muscle of the conservative alignment.

It appeared unlikely that the three leaders would head the plea to desert Kishi. But any change in allegiance would make Kishi's position even tougher than it is now, although there appeared to be no way he could be forced out of office immediately if he stood his ground.

The security treaty was ratified automatically at midnight Saturday despite the agonizing pressure of continued Communist demonstrations and violence.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman John A. Blatnik (D-Minn.) said today investigators for his House Public Works subcommittee are now working on what he described as five serious cases of irregularities in the 40 billion dollar interstate highway program.

Blatnik declined to say what states were involved but said they were spread over much of the country.

The subcommittee is charged with keeping a close check on construction of the 41,000 mile super highway program under which the federal government provides 90 per cent of the funds and the states the balance.

Blatnik said he has decided to hold no further hearings until after the November elections, in part to keep any political considerations out of the probe.

Blatnik said, "There are reliable and dedicated men in most of the state highway departments. But in some cases we are uncovering incompetence, negligence and even plain wrong doing."

The wrong doing, he said, includes favoritism in contracts and consultants, irregularities in right-of-way acquisition, and use of inferior materials along with failure to meet design standards.

Test Railroad Cars For Use As Missile Launchers

OMAHA (UPI) — The Strategic Air Command today began testing a new idea in defense—the use of roving railroad cars as launching pads for Minuteman missiles.

If the test succeeds, the new idea might save American taxpayers millions of dollars and make the nation's ground — fired missiles virtually invulnerable to surprise enemy attack.

The use of railroad cars as launching pads could lessen the need for SAC's constant airborne alert. It could if perfected eliminate the necessity for the airborne alert and make possible the institution of a ground alert, according to SAC chief Gen. Thomas S. Power.

POWERS will conduct the tests from Hill Air Force Base, Ogden, Utah. The 13 railroads chosen for the test run through Utah, Nevada, California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri, South Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois.

The tests may solve one of SAC's thorniest problems — the fear that the forces' retaliatory power could be erased by a quick, well-aimed enemy bombardment.

This fear, Powers said, prompted the around-the-clock air alert. The alert will be continued until the mobile Minuteman system is perfected, he said.

PERFECTION of the mobile system will return the B25 Stratofortresses to ground alert because the roving launching pads, he said, "would present an almost insurmountable targeting problem for a potential enemy."

In actual use, each train could carry one to several missiles. The trains would look like any other train, but would move through the countryside on unpredictable, erratic schedules.

Two Others Hurt

3 Die In Crash Of Auto, Truck

MARION (AP) — A car carrying a Chicago area family skidded and crashed into a dump truck today, killing two women and an infant girl and injuring a man and a 2-year-old boy. All were occupants of the car.

The dead were Mrs. Alversia Rockingham, about 40, Chicago, her daughter, Mrs. Mattie Owens, 21, and Mrs. Owens' infant daughter, Linda Faye, 3. Rescuers at first believed one of the bodies was that of a man.

Injured and trapped for a time in the wreckage were Robert Rockingham, 42, husband of one of the women, and Robert Owens, son of Mrs. Owens.

TRUCK DRIVER Loy Forcum of Rt. one, Marion, was injured in the crash.

His truck was loaded with rock chips for a construction project. The chips covered the wrecked car and the crash scene 10 miles south of Marion on Illinois Rt. 37 and hampered rescue work.

Rockingham and Robert Owens, both passengers in the back seat, were removed by workers using axes. The boy was found underneath Rockingham in the tangle of wreckage.

Coroner Adolph Fluck of Williamson County said the women apparently were in the front seat of the late model car. One body was hurled from the vehicle.

Fluck said the southbound car apparently spun on a curve into the path of the northbound truck.

Flagpoles Will Be Very Busy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands of 50-star flags will zip up and down Capitol flagpoles on July 4.

Crews will send the flags up and pull them down to meet the requests of congressmen, who want to send the new flags to their constituents.

It's a special honor to have a flag that flew over the Capitol on July 4. And there's a special demand this year because July 4 will be the day the 50-star flag becomes official.

Last Independence Day, congressmen, who pay for the flags, asked to have 1,200 new, 49-star flags flown over the Capitol.

S. Korea Gives Pledge Not To Waste Funds

President Set For A Visit To Newest U.S. State

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—President Eisenhower left South Korea for Honolulu tonight, completing a Far Eastern tour on which he was cheered by millions of Asians but forced to bypass Japan because of left-wing rioting there.

Eisenhower left with a pledge from South Korea's reform government to guard against wasting the hundreds of millions of dollars in aid the United States pours in each year.

"I pledge that we will do everything possible to insure that American aid funds are wisely, efficiently and honestly used for the benefit of all the Korean people," Prime Minister Huh Chung declared in his parting words to Eisenhower at Seoul International Airport.

WILDLY CHEERED by one million Koreans who blocked his motorcade Sunday and by hundreds of thousands more on Monday, Eisenhower on departure said it was a "memorable experience" to see "so many Korean people along the routes of travel I have followed."

In all, nearly three million Filipinos, Chinese nationalists on Formosa, Okinawans and Koreans welcomed the first American president to tour the Orient while in office. A three-day visit to Japan was called off when the Japanese government said it could not fully guarantee Eisenhower's safety because of violent left-wing rioting in Tokyo.

The only anti-American demonstration Eisenhower actually saw was on Okinawa, where 1,500 pro-Japanese chanted "go home" and "snake-dance."

Eisenhower urged leaders of the new South Korean government to make the most of their opportunity to give the Communist-threatened land true democracy. Referring to the revolt against Syngman Rhee and his strongman rule, he said "prompt and judicious fulfillment of the recently expressed wishes of the Korean people is a momentous challenge."

IN HIS FINAL speeches, Eisenhower plugged hard at what he called the imperative need of more freedom and opportunity for Koreans who two months ago overthrew Syngman Rhee's strongman regime.

"The prompt and judicious fulfillment of the recently expressed wishes of the Korean people is a momentous challenge," he said in an address before a packed session of the Korean National Assembly. Eisenhower received a thunderous two-minute ovation when he entered the assembly hall.

Koreans of every rank roared their approval of Eisenhower at every turn again today.

A million friendly Koreans turned out Sunday to give the President a welcome so frenzied that a fender of his bubble-top limousine was dented. Security agents ordered a detour to prevent Eisenhower from being mobbed by admirers.

Patterson, Johansson Weigh In

NEW YORK (AP) — Ingemar Johansson, the heavyweight champion from Sweden, weighed 194½ pounds to 190 for challenger Floyd Patterson of Rockville Centre, N.Y., for their return, 15-round title fight tonight.

Johansson weighed 196 pounds to Patterson's 182 last June 26 when he dethroned the American on a seven-knockdown, technical knockout at 2:03 of the third round.

Patterson's weight was the heaviest of his career. He weighed 187½ when he knocked out Olympic champion Pete Rademacher in the sixth round at Seattle, Aug. 22, 1957.

Most of the 25-year-old challenger's extra weight appeared to have settled around his neck, shoulders and arms. He said the weight had come on naturally but there was no doubt he hoped to add power to his punches with the added poundage.

Senate Votes To Continue Phone Taxes

Indicate Tax On Transportation Will Be Extended

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted today to continue the 10 per cent federal tax on local telephone and telegraph service another year, preserving 462 million dollars of annual revenue.

The vote rejected the recommendation of the Senate Finance Committee that the taxes be allowed to die at the end of this month.

The outcome indicated that the Senate also would turn down the committee's proposal that the 10 per cent tax on train, bus and plane fares be taken off July 1. This was to be the next vote. Repeal of this levy would cost 290 million dollars a year.

THE SENATE voted last year for immediate repeal of both the communications and travel taxes. In the conference with the House, the effective date of both provisions was changed to July 1, 1960, and it was decided to cut the travel excise only in half.

But a different climate prevailed this time. Opponents of any tax cut argued that a worsening international situation made it imperative to keep intact all of Continued on Page 6, Column 1

Cubans Will Not Bother Naval Base

HAVANA (AP) — Raul Castro declared today Cuba will take no action against the U.S. Guantanamo naval base in eastern Cuba. "Some day it will be returned to us," said Prime Minister Fidel Castro's younger brother in a post-midnight speech, "but let's make clear that aggression will not come from us."

Castro, who is minister of Cuba's armed forces, told a youth rally that the Guantanamo base was obsolete in terms of modern warfare and would serve no useful purpose in any future conflict.

Castro said the invincibility of American imperialism is a myth rapidly being destroyed by the Cuban revolution. This imperialism, he said, was represented by a "scabby, lice-ridden eagle whose talons are worn by plunder committed against our people."

"While the Cuban revolution gains in prestige," Castro declared, "the eagle loses feathers. It is once flew high, now it flies low and tomorrow it will drag itself along the ground."

Shouts of approval greeted Castro's diatribe against the United States.

Air Strike Ends; Delay Continues

NEW YORK (AP)—Eastern Air Lines pilots returned to work at some points today, but operations still were limited. Pan American World Airways had trouble manning its flights.

For Eastern, a 10-day stoppage of pilots appeared to be tapering off.

The airline said previously idle crews had checked in for duty at Boston, New Orleans, Atlanta and Chicago. However, flight schedules still were crippled in New York and Miami.

Pan Am was hit by a related problem, with 115 of its pilots calling in sick. The company said it was uncertain how many of its regular flights would take off on schedule.

The action against Pan Am began Friday, with a wave of "sick" reports among pilots. Eighty-two were out Sunday.

In the cases of both Eastern and Pan Am, the pilots are protesting a Federal Aviation Agency regulation putting an inspector in a seat behind the pilot of jet aircraft, displacing one of the crew's two copilots. The pilots claim this reduces safety standards.

Make Offer In Algerian Revolt

PARIS (AP) — The Algerian rebel government-in-exile offered today to send Premier Ferhat Abbas to Paris to discuss the Algerian revolt with the French government.

The French government quickly agreed to receive Abbas, but official sources said once more only a cease-fire, the disposition of weapons and the fate of the fighters.

Only after a cease-fire, they said, could arrangements be discussed for a referendum on Algeria's future.

The rebel communique offering to send Abbas was in response to President Charles de Gaulle's radio address June 14. The communique said an emissary would be sent to Paris to arrange Abbas' trip.

DE GAULLE HAS promised the rebels personal safety while in France and the right to leave France if negotiations break down.

A French source said De Gaulle probably will meet personally with Abbas, although there was

Hobbie Traffic Slows To Stop At Mulberry St.

With official publication today, an ordinance creating stop intersections at Mulberry St. and Hobbie Ave. is effective today. City council passed the measure at its last meeting June 6.

The ordinance stipulates that operators of vehicles traveling on Hobbie avenue or Mulberry street shall stop completely before entering the intersection.

Any person violating the ordinance shall be subject to a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $50 for each offense.

Being 'Right' With The U. S.

The politician knows pressure like the farmer knows the weather. He lives with it. He cannot ignore it.

Depending on his make-up and his political philosophy, his resistance to it will vary enormously. At the national level, if he does not manage to fend off much of the pressure group activity, he cannot really hope for genuine stature.

A statesman is not a patchwork product of willing responses to any and all demands put upon him. Unluckily, many who resist the pressure tactics find themselves assailed. Too many of the pressure groups measure the suitability of a lawmaker by the number of times he voted "right" with them. Too many times some politicians boast of their "rightness" with labor, the farmer, the veteran or whoever.

No one would argue for a minute that the needs and interests of these groups should not have the fullest consideration. But the proof of good public service is not the sum of good deeds done for those who merely press their case so diligently.

It would be refreshing to see a candidate get up and contend that he had tried for the last two or four or six years to vote "right" with the United States.

Sometimes the essence of being "right" with the United States means resisting stoutly the demand of special groups, even if those they represent are in the chronically depressed areas of the country.

As individuals, or as a member of it, that pressure group, all of us will be moving toward real political maturity when we are able to judge men seeking office on this broad plane.

Good Legislation Will Be Signed

Employment in May established a record for the month at 67,008,000 in jobs, due largely to such seasonal pursuits as farming and construction. Other parts of the picture were most encouraging, particularly the increase in the factory week despite the cutback in steel to 60 per cent of capacity.

However, we still have the paradox of 3,459,000 unemployed, 4.9 per cent of the labor force. That is below April's 5 per cent who were seeking work but not as good as February's 4.8 per cent.

Here again, there is cause for optimism. Of the total number of unemployed, nearly one-half have been seeking work for five weeks or less. Those who have been looking for work for 15 weeks or more—the long-term unemployed—totalled only 900,000, or about a fourth of the total unemployed. They comprise 1.3 per cent of the labor force.

It is this 13 out of 1,000 who are taking the real gaff of unemployment. It is a safe bet that the majority are in the chronically depressed areas of the country. That is why statesmanship should replace politics and the Congress should produce a bill for aid to depressed areas, while the President has indicated he will sign, instead of dropping the problem in order to make a campaign issue of it.

People who have been out of work for months are not going to look kindly at those who keep them from getting jobs, no matter what the cause, when they get to the polls this fall.

Saving Space For The Future

The nation's multibillion-dollar interstate freeway building campaign has been attended by its share of headaches in its brief history. They may be only beginning.

According to the National Academy of Sciences, one of the biggest threats to the long-term efficiency of the system centers around its interchange. These are prime targets for business and residential developers, the academy notes. If lax zoning restrictions allow the land to be used up near them, serious problems may arise if room is ever needed for widening or modification of the interchanges.

In this day of criticism of growing federal control, here is an instance where local government can step up and exercise a little home-grown wisdom and authority.

Voice Of The People

KANKAKEE—Every Tuesday, team. These teams play each Wednesday and Thursday evening right in our town and we come to Little Leaguers, four managers plus four coaches, two umpires and several members of the J. C. Little League. A team can be organized for $250 which was used on the baseball diamond and in the press box for the sole purpose of promoting playing and teaching baseball. One element is unfortunately missing—most of the parents.

It seems little to ask of the parents of the 90 boys enrolled in the J. C. Little League to spend 20 evenings a summer with their boys.

Baseball is part of a small boy's world and shouldn't parents be interested in their boys' interests?

When men with no children in Little League give so much time and effort to their boys, can we, as parents with children benefitting from it, at least show our appreciation by our attendance and encouragement at a few of the games?

There is plenty of blarney space and, if needed, more could be furnished.

Critics Display Poor Judgment

WASHINGTON—There is a good deal of discussion going on these days, inside and outside of Congress, as to the propriety of some of the criticisms recently directed toward President Eisenhower with respect to the collapse of the "summit" conference and the U. S. position.

One hears, too, from defenders of the Democratic tirades a cry that anyone who questions the timing of the criticism uttered by Democratic spokesmen is therefore against all criticism or in favor of censorship of the press by the government. One hears also the conventional argument that two wrongs really do make a right, after all, and that certainly those who are advocating nonpartisanship today were doubtless against any such unity when Democratic President Wilson was in office.

THIS CORRESPONDENT has criticized and defended Presidents from both parties. Thus, for instance, the Republicans in the United States Senate on one occasion signed a round-robin, announcing to the world that President Wilson would not have the support of the Senate for the League of Nations. When this correspondent was in the White House, I would mention names, but I'm afraid I do not know them all and I would not like to slight anyone.

Marshal Malinovsky.

It will be remembered that when Nikita Khrushchev did his thing in Paris, two men were always present. One was Andrei Gromyko, who has lived in the United States for many years, particularly as the Soviet delegate to the United Nations. The other was the Soviet defense minister, Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky.

A new face to most of us, Malinovsky did not speak, but often Khrushchev whispered in his ear.

In their book, "Ask Me Anything," William Randolph Hearst Jr., Bob Costello and Frank Coniff give excellent character sketches of these Russian personalities who are new to us. They had an exceptional opportunity to study them and without the pretentiousness of psychologists, they report what they saw and heard. Thus they describe Malinovsky.

"MALINOVSKY MET US AT HIS OFFICE. He was a man whose thick gray hair was combed straight back from his forehead without a parting. His eyebrows were black and expressive. He gave each of us a bone-crushing handshake. He shook hands with a major general and major-interpreters from the other office—and with his chunky girl stenographer. Malinovsky then took his place at the head of the familiar conference table and indicated he was ready.

"He wore nine rows of ribbons beneath the dangling gold star of the order of Lenin. The single marshal's star on each chested shoulder was the size of a sheriff's badge. A painting of Lenin reading 'Pravda' looked down from one wall. On other walls were large, flaming paintings of Russian arms in triumph and torment on land and sea.

"The marshal has a deep voice and it was with an air of complete authority that he gave his orders on each thickest thinking at this sensitive hour in relations between two great powers.

Of same Malinovsky, Stalin had once said: 'An old woman could operate tanks better than you.'

THESE WRITERS POINT OUT HOW aggressive Malinovsky's conversation was but that he showed no restraint in the presence of the United States. The following colloquy shows how little he understands:

"Western military men consider political influence upon their affairs hampers them," Conniff said. 'Why isn't the same feeling not valid in the case of the Red army?'

"Malinovsky seemed surprised. 'The Communist party is the ruling party of the USSR and it influences all fields,' he said, spelling it out. 'I would say it would be the same thing as the control your Republican party has over your military at present.'

"The mouse-quiet major general, seated several chairs down the table, opened a bottle of Russian beer with a loud bang and asked the marshal a glass which he barely touched.

"You do not understand," he continued. 'Many Soviet military units have their own Communist party organizations, just as non-military organizations have their own. I repeat the suggestion given by capitalist countries that an army must be out of politics.'

The armed forces of the Soviet Union are a practical instrument of the Communist party, an extension of the teachings of Lenin and Marx. It bespeaks unity. Our practice has proved correct."

CONCERNING THE WAR IN KOREA, this conversation took place: "Certainly we helped the North Koreans. We sold them some arms in much the same proportion as America provided arms for Syngman Rhee. But remember this: We did not fight there. No Red army troops or pilots were there, but you were there.

"But you should have been there, too, as a member of the U. N.," Hearst insisted.

We aided the North Koreans because they were fighting for their independence and liberty," Malinovsky replied stonily.

"We use the same words in our country about southern Korea," Hearst said, "but they mean something totally different."

What is so interesting in these conversations, and there were many more, is that Malinovsky spoke not as a soldier but as a Communist.

The following Malinovsky statement ought to be noted carefully: "... Many American generals are very often sorry that they have no ideal to plant in the heart of the American soldier, so he will be willing to die for that ideal. You are jealous of us for this. The Communist soldier, the Red army soldier, has such an ideal in his heart. He has it because he considers the ideal of the commander his own ideal."

Latest In Medicine

It's time for another monthly report on some of the latest advances in the medical field. Today I want to tell you about a synthetic urine which is the new type of nose drop and the use of ultraviolet radiation to help prevent infection in operating room infections.

The synthetic penicillin reported produces blood serum levels about twice as high as some other types of penicillin. It was introduced to the medical profession by the Dr. Maxipen, is available, of course, by prescription only. It is used in treating penicillin-resistant infections including tonsillitis, laryngitis, bronchitis, impetigo, gonorrhea, pneumococcal pneumonia, and other infections.

Research reports it is rapidly absorbed from the gastro-intestinal tract and may be administered without regard to meals.

THE DOUBLE-ACTING nose drop, Trypp, employs the enzyme trypsin to restore normal gastric function.

The enzyme factor dissolves mucous secretions to facilitate drainage and also shrinks swollen mucous membranes.

Researchers report that swollen glands are effective in treating sinusitis, the common cold and nasal allergies.

Once again I want to emphasize that you should consult a doctor as you may determine how you may best be helped.

Mrs. J. E. Will you please explain the meaning of cystic and rectocele?

Tot Takes Ride In Bradley's New Truck

A 23-month-old tot who swallowed a penny this morning, and his mother, were the first Bradley residents to ride in the village's new emergency truck after it was officially turned over to the village.

The boy, Tom Chiodo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chiodo, 749 W. South St., was taken to St. Mary's Hospital at 9:30 a. m. by the Bradley volunteer fire department when he had a choking spell.

Mrs. Chiodo thought he had choked on a piece of candy, but it was not until the boy vomited at the hospital it was discovered a penny was the source of his choking. He was released from the hospital following treatment.

The truck was actually the second for the new truck. Last Wednesday Fred L. Meyer of 300 E. Broadway was taken to the hospital. He received his ride before the truck was officially turned over to Bradley in ceremonies Thursday night.

THE TRUCK was purchased and equipped with funds raised by the Bradley Lions Club. The club still has $200 to raise to complete payment on the truck and equipment costing $1,200.

The panel van truck is equipped with two stretchers and has cab seats to carry the firemen's coats.

MANILA (AP)—Two American men were killed Sunday when a private plane crashed into the sea off the west Philippine coast. Air Force authorities said the victims were Airman L. C. Donald and Airman 2d Class Donald W. Bush, 21, of Salem, Ohio.

A spokesman for Clark Base, where the two men were stationed, said Bush was piloting the Tri-Traveler Champion plane when it plunged seaward shortly after takeoff.

THE PRACTICE, however, is not widespread. And recently it was brought to the attention of hospital doctors by the nation by the American Medical Association.

Ultraviolet radiation acts to help prevent infection in operating room infections to a bare minimum by killing bacteria in the air. Obviously, keeping the bacteria out of a clean wound is better than trying to control their growth or to kill them just recently.

Destroying bacteria floating in the air offers protection whether the bacteria are coming out of a respiratory tract of operating room personnel, contamination of the room, bacteria in the clothing, or air from other sections of the hospital.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Mrs. M. N.: Is there anything that can remove warts?

Answer: Many cauterizing agents, such as salicylic acid or bichloroacetic acid, as well as injections of certain blinding preparations, are useful in removing common warts. They often disappear spontaneously.

Mrs. J. E. Can you tell me what causes my eyes to become dry at night?

Answer: There are so many causes of infection of the tear ducts that you should consult a doctor as you may determine how you may best be helped.

Witwer Overlooked; Says It Was Mistake

CHICAGO (AP)—Samuel W. Witwer, Republican candidate for U. S. senator, says he thinks it is a mistake that he was not selected to debate at large to the GOP National Convention.

However, in the interest of party harmony, he says, he is willing to accept his spot as first alternate delegate.

Witwer said Sunday in his home in suburban Riverside. I had expressed a feeling that was a mistake and that I should be named a delegate.

WITWER DENIED reports that he had edged in an angry riot with Gov. Stratton, the state's GOP leader, in the Orlando Hotel before the convention.

Another Republican leader, James G. Worby, former president of the United Republican Fund and named one of the delegates at large, said Sunday that he and other GOP state leaders had talked with Stratton in the hotel lobby about Witwer's selection.

"We felt that Witwer should be a regular delegate rather than an alternate," Worby said. "But the governor firmly felt that he didn't want to make any changes."

Worby said he told Stratton he was willing to step aside as a delegate at large, but that Stratton vetoed that suggestion too.

"I'm sure in Paris has a portrait of King John the Good on a wooden panel with a plaster figure of a king standing next to it. It was painted when King John was a captive in London at the beginning of the Hundred Years War."

Worby said that Stratton vetoed that suggestion too.

4 Survive Crash; Believe 3 Dead

PARANARIBO, Surinam (AP)—Four crewmen survived the jungle crash Sunday of a U. S. Military Air Transport Globemaster near Zandvoort Airport in northern Dutch Guiana. Two were killed and a third is presumed dead.

The plane was en route from its base in Charleston, S. C., to Recife, Brazil, on a routine stop between Stratton and himself or the others present.

Airport officials said the plane was attempting an instrument landing when it plunged into the Savanna jungle three miles west of the airport. A Dutch Army patrol rushed to the scene.

Survivors were all reported through rigid survival controls, in good condition. The three others were listed by the base as dead or more of the common wave diseases.

2 Persons Hurt As Car Overtakes

DEFINITION WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.) Sunday gave this definition of an idiot: "A fellow who claims that most of our troubles stem from the fact that America was discovered by a foreigner."

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF ALL ADVERTISING STOPPED?

Stores would begin cancelling orders. Very quickly, manufacturers would close down plants and lay off millions of employees. Volume production would be a thing of the past... and so, prices would rise fast.

Within a week most radio and television stations would close up shop for lack of revenue. The ability of many newspapers and magazines to perform their full, vital functions would be seriously impaired. And the cost per copy would zoom for those that tried to keep running only on circulation revenues.

This alternative to advertising can hardly be the goal of the critics of advertising. Without advertising our national economy, our national life, would be bleak indeed. In many ways, advertising is the power plant of our society.

MORE CUSTOMERS FOR MORE PRODUCTS—American creative genius and wonderful ability for organization have resulted in a tremendous flow of goods of all kinds. This creates a crucial need for masses of people anxious, willing and able to buy and consume these goods. Only a society with a constantly rising standard of living can provide the customers. These customers have to be sought, taught and often persuaded to move higher in the scale of living. This is the job of advertising.

Advertising not only gives people news about new products, but provides the urge for people to own and enjoy these products. The wider and deeper the penetration of our products into the life of America, the greater the need for more production. This means more jobs. More jobs mean more people able to enjoy what we make. More people buying means more, still more production. And so on and so on. The result is that more Americans can enjoy more of the fruits of their labor than people in any country anywhere in the world can enjoy theirs.

ADVERTISING LOWERS PRICES—Does advertising raise the cost of goods? On the contrary. Through newspapers, television, magazines, radio and billboards, an advertiser can talk to a prospect for a tiny fraction of a cent. Advertising is the quickest and cheapest way of reaching large numbers of people. It enables the advertiser to reach his market inexpensively and to increase his total production, thereby reducing the cost of making and selling each unit.

THE CULTURAL EFFECTS OF ADVERTISING—It's because of advertising that our mass media of communication can afford to command the finest talent for bringing to the American people information, stimulation, entertainment and education which in other countries are available to just a very few people.

Advertising makes its cultural contribution in another way. Advertising is in large measure responsible for better living, less drudgery, more leisure for more people. This creates opportunities for intellectual and spiritual activities equalled in few, if any, other countries. While millions and millions of dollars are being spent by Americans for cars, boats, sports equipment and the paraphernalia of leisure, there is a growing hunger for improvement of the mind and for aesthetic enjoyment.

WHAT ARE THE 'NEEDS' OF THE PEOPLE?—Critics of advertising sometimes indict it for creating dissatisfaction in people's minds with what they have, and persuading and cajoling them into buying what they neither need nor want. But what are "needs"? The "needs" of people in undeveloped countries are not the same as our needs. Our needs of 50 years ago are not the same as they are today. We don't actually "need" electric razors, electric refrigerators, vacuum cleaners, television sets, shampoo, beauty treatments, packaged goods, or even automobiles. But would the critics of advertising stop encouraging people to want a better life? Would they have the millions of people who create, produce, and market the so-called "non-essentials" thrown out of jobs? Do they want us to go back to the more primitive living of other countries?

ADVERTISING—PUBLIC SERVANT—Frequently, the advertising industry is called on to direct public-service jobs—for the Government as well as for private public-service organizations. This it does through the Advertising Council, a non-profit organization supported by American business and advertising media. Here's what President Eisenhower said to the Advertising Council in Washington several months ago:

"For eighteen years you have been stimulating the nation's conscience in areas where the voluntary work of great numbers of people has been necessary in order to promote worthwhile causes. I know you have been in such fields as conservation, organized charities, safety, prevention of accidents, and more recently, in giving your efforts to the job of pointing out to our people the need for self-discipline if we are to avoid debasement of our currency and prevent inflation."

"And I think no other body has done more in this regard in trying to inform America across the board of these things than 'The Advertising Council.'"

Illinois May Lose Representative

WASHINGTON (AP) — Preliminary 1960 Census figures indicate Illinois is in danger of losing one of its 25 seats in the House of Representatives.

Although Illinois' population grew about 14.6 per cent in the past decade, other states grew faster, preliminary figures show.

Illinois' preliminary 1960 count is 5,861,617, up from 5,112,176 in the final 1950 count.

An Associated Press computation, based on the formula for reapportioning the House of Representatives, shows the 1960 preliminary count indicated Illinois would drop from 25 seats to 24.

Final figures could change the computation.

Gov. Stratton of Illinois has maintained that the final figures will show no need for any shift in Illinois' representation in the House.

The Census Bureau, by Dec. 1, must give President Eisenhower the final population figures for each state along with the bureau's plan for reapportioning the House.

The President will send the proposal to Congress early in January. Congress has the right to make changes in the bureau's reapportionment plan.

The approved changes in House seating will go into effect with the 1962 congressional elections.

The last reapportionment of Illinois' representation from 26 districts to 25 in 1951, that change was made after the 1950 Census showed state's population grew from 5,112,176 in 1940 to 5,861,617 in 1960. Illinois lost its 26th seat because the population increased in proportion with the nationwide increase of 20 million.

Coroner John P. Magez ruled the cause of death was carbon monoxide, poisoning, self-administered.

Building's Purpose Cited At VFW Dedication Bradley

ALL of the fancy buildings we can erect will be valueless unless they have a purpose behind them," Richard Depper, Illinois state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 602, Bradley, said Sunday at the dedication of the new $70,000 Bradley VFW hall, Illinois VFW commander.

Depper urged the building be dedicated to serve youth. "We honor the dead by helping the living," he reminded the veterans, their wives and families. "To what finer purpose can any building be dedicated than that of helping to insure that our future generations shall be proud of their heritage?" Depper continued.

He urged the VFW to promote youth programs, athletic teams, scout troops, recreation facilities and playgrounds.

Depper also urged greater patriotic instruction in the schools. He said schools should require the pledge of allegiance every morning, that proper flag etiquette be taught, and every school room display a flag.

"We must make it popular to be patriotic," stated Depper.

The dedicatory program began at 2 p.m. with a flag raising ceremony. Following the afternoon program lunch was served by the VFW Auxiliary with a dance afterwards.

Work on the 46 by 108 foot building at Broadway and Walnut Ave. began last October. It includes a 36 by 46 foot meeting room, a bar room the same size, kitchen facilities.

The welcome address for the program was given by Ronald Stoney, post commander. Arthur Miller was master of ceremonies. Victor Maxcedon, a member of the Bradley post and 7th district commander, read the names of the past post and auxiliary commanders and presidents.

The first post commander, elected in 1946, was Charles DeLong. Other commanders in order were Glen Mulligan, Lionel Lellan, Robert Keagle, Victor Maxcedon, Theodore Gulevski, Richard Owen, Alfred Panian, Carl J. McCarty, Myron Dray, Thomas Hamler, Arnold Core, Donald Chapinski and Marvin Johnson.

AUXILIARY presidents starting with Mrs. E. J. Stelter, elected in 1947 were in order: Mrs. Raymond Owen, Mrs. Margaret Williams, Mrs. Victor Maxcedon, Mrs. Mary Lellan, Mrs. Charles Owen, Mrs. Theodore Gulevski, Mrs. Frank Petrowski Jr., Mrs. Francis Riley, Mrs. Carl J. McCarty, Mrs. Myron Dray, Mrs. Alfred Panian, Mrs. Delmer Gagnon, and at present, Mrs. Eugene Jones.

James Caron, building architect, presented the VFW with a plaque listing members of the building committee. Committee members were: Marvin Johnson, commander; Donald Chapinski, Myron Dray, Delmar Gagnon, Theodore Gulevski, Francis Housholder, Richard Owen and Ronald Stoney.

Special out-of-town guests were William Bolig of Joliet, past department quartermaster; Harold Blum, past Chicago Department chief of staff; Robert Hayes, Wilmington, past department commander; Carl J. McCarty, VFW commander; Armand Cochran, Bloomington, 7th district vice commander; and Don Palmer, Kankakee, 7th district junior vice commander.

Find Wax Figure Of Antony In Phone Booth

LONDON (UPI) — A missing wax statue of Antony Armstrong-Jones was found early today, standing in a telephone booth.

The $1,400 effigy of Princess Margaret's husband was stolen from Madame Tussaud's Waxworks Saturday.

A policeman discovered it in one of the bright red, domed telephone boxes just off the Strand in downtown London. The box has a crown embossed above the door.

Newspaper seller Archie Rankin, 69, said he saw three men walking out of the waxworks with a figure Saturday, but he thought they were only taking it to "be cleaned or something."

Cocktail Diplomacy

Could Martinis Replace U-2s?

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—I have no doubt our spy system can continue to function without the U-2. But if prohibition ever comes back, it may be in real trouble.

I mean we don't have to depend on overflights to bring in intelligence. It seems apparent that a lot of information can be collected by getting high on the ground.

Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon gave a tantalizing hint of the way that alcohol espionage works when he was testifying before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee the other day.

ONE of the Senators wanted to know when the State Department first learned that the Soviets might have captured the U-2 pilot.

Dillon replied that on May 3 a report arrived from the U.S. Embassy in Moscow "saying that various other foreign diplomats had been heard on cocktail parties or receptions from various Soviet officials that this plane was down."

Dillon's testimony didn't ring a bell with me the first time I read it, but later I began putting two and two together, which is about as far as intelligence as I ever go.

I BEGAN to associate it with the testimony given earlier this year at House Appropriations Committee hearings on the State Department's "spy" budget.

I recalled that the department was asking for a lot of money for "recreation allowances," but for known as "purposely of use as overcast."

Obviously, the purpose of the allowances was to enable foreign service officers to fulfill social obligations. But Dillon's statement of the first half of 1959, when homes going purpose might not be to loosen tongues by getting foreign diplomats after all.

After that, our intelligence agents used to pass off U-2 flights as weather reconnaissance. It follows therefore, that they might be letting us hear interest reasons.

Buyers Hold Up On Purchase Of Big Appliances

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The big items are staying in the stores longer than many merchants in various parts of the nation like.

Some makers of household appliances complain of top heavy inventories. Some have trimmed output and laid off men. Here and there price cutting has been tried.

"Even in our most optimistic moment, we did not envision the high degree of adjustment and the scarcity of problems which actually occurred," said Dr. James W. Altman, project director.

The experiment was designed to test, psychologically and sociologically, human reaction to shelter conditions for the Office of Civil Defense Mobilization.

Laura Ellis, 72, eldest of the volunteers, was conducting Sunday School services when the group was told to leave.

Asked why she volunteered, the gray-haired grandmother replied: "I still have a lot of curiosity and I figure I might as well know what's going on."

Marcia Malinowski, 7, the youngest of the group, said: "I just missed playing outside."

Her father, Zygmunt, 49, took two weeks vacation from his job at Westinghouse Electric Corp. to take part in the test with his wife and two children.

The first thing Paul Marion Jr., 10, said as he left the shelter was, "Where's my daddy?"

Mrs. Marion, who had Paul Jr. and a daughter, Kathleen, with her, said: "The first few days the children were under strain. Both of mine were homesick. Some nights they had tears in their eyes. But finally they got adjusted."

The group had no newspapers, television or radios. Games and cards offered the only recreation.

Chebanse Prepares For New Physician

CHEBANSE (JNS) — The problem of finding and keeping a resident physician in smaller communities is becoming a major one throughout the nation.

In Kankakee, Chebanse is one of the villages faced with this situation. However, residents here are taking steps to remedy the problem.

They found themselves without a resident doctor when Dr. J. J. Toth, who practiced here more than a decade, died six months ago.

An intensive search for a man who would meet the needs of Chebanse resulted in the finding of Dr. Sirano Sioroff, who has decided to come to Chebanse as a resident doctor by July 1.

Since his decision, according to the Rev. Alan C. Herman, president of the Chebanse Medical Association, volunteers have been working late into the night to remodel and redecorate the home and office of the late Dr. Toth.

DR. SIAROFF is presently staff physician in charge of the EEG Department at the Dixon State School, Dixon, and is highly recommended by several members of the staff of St. Mary's Hospital, Kankakee, the Rev. Mr. Herman said.

According to Mrs. George Witt, coordinator of the redecoration and remodeling of the physician's residence and office facilities, 26 different individuals have donated 369 hours of volunteer labor at a saving of more than $1,000 in the short space of two weeks.

The entire eight-room residence has been completely redecorated with new wall paper or paint, woodwork has been washed and new bathroom and hallway tile has been installed.

A new examining room, drug supply room and rest room facilities have been added to the present office arrangement adjacent to the residence. The entire office area will be redecorated and new floor tile laid.

DUE TO VOLUNTEER labor and indirect contributions by contractors, the costs of remodeling have been held to a minimum of $1,000.

On June 25-26, the newly-incorporated, non-profit Chebanse Medical Association will launch a community-wide drive, with a minimum goal of $6,000, for memberships and "Certificates of In-
