GEORGE VI IS CROWNED KING

HIGH SCHOOL JUNIOR ESSAY ON WAR IS BEST

Charles Westen Is Winner Over 150
in City.

A STATE ENTRY

The essay of Charles Westen, junior student at the Kankakee high school, was judged the best of the 150 entered in a recent contest conducted by the Kankakee Auxiliary to the veterans of Foreign Wars. He has received a cash prize and his effort has been entered in the state contest.

Some 150 entries were made in this contest, all essays being on the subject "Permanent Peace for America." All high schools in the city participated. The Rev. E. V. Cardinal, president of St. Viator college, was judge of the contest.

Charles is 15 years old and his father is an instructor in the accounting department of the Gal-lacher School of Business.

Mrs. J. C. O'Neil was chairman of the auxiliary essay contest and Mrs. Sadie Cook, associate chair-man.

The winning essay follows: "The winning essay, 'Waterloo,' unless a safe and sane proposition is presented to the world which will bring about permanent peace for all nations.

Peace—a condition of non-war and creative progress; let us try it as a substitute for the destructive instrument for settling problems, called 'War.'

War, which is the time-tried method, has never settled anything. Always, it has been a failure. A breeder of future disturbances. Even today, twenty years after the last great war, which was fought to end war, we are paying for that war, and our posterity shall pay for the folly of mankind in permitting itself to be drawn into the holocaust of war. Yet, even now, conditions are pointing toward another conflict. We cannot afford another war. Civilization could not withstand another war. The cost in dollars and cents can never be computed. The cost in scientific set backs is such as to retard our advancement many years. International rivalry has been so bruised that it is a gargantuan task to set the broken wings of the Dove of Peace. In addition to all the human misery and suffering, is a financial burden

AUTO SMASHES INTO SIDE OF A CATTLE TRUCK

Victim Dies Upon Arrival at the Hospital.

INQUEST FRIDAY

Leo P. Ward, 40, plumber residing at 6246 Blackstone avenue, Chicago, was fatally injured in an automobile-truck accident at 2 o'clock this morning at the curve on highway 49 near Mound Grove cemetery.

He died shortly afterward at St. Mary hospital of hemorrhages from internal injuries.

Southbound on highway 49, Ward's light car struck the cattle truck of C. E. Keith of Fairfield, Ill., which was driven by Conan Hammill of Fairfield and loaded with 17 head of cattle.

Auto Demolished
Both vehicles were rounding the curve at the time, the truck being northbound. The automobile struck the truck just back of the cab and was demolished.

The interior of Ward's car and his clothing were drenched with gasoline but did not catch fire. The truck was not badly damaged and the occupants and the cattle were uninjured.

Ward was taken to the hospital by Frank Bigger, taxi driver, who happened to be close by.

Body Held Here
The body is at the Morgan and Clancy funeral home. Ward is survived by the widow Jessie, daughters Kathryn and Annabelle, brothers Frank and Dan, all of Chicago, a sister Mrs. Jay Sullivan of Cleveland, and a sister Mrs. Bernard Daugherty whose address is unknown.

Funeral arrangements have not been made. Coroner A. E. Keger probably will conduct the inquest Friday afternoon.

Fire Destroys New Farm Residence

Fire totally destroyed the two-story farm home of Herman Langhorst, two miles northwest of Grant Park, Tuesday evening. The Peotone fire department responded to their alarm and destroyed the other buildings.

Fire broke out in the residence, built a few years ago. The blaze was first noticed by Mrs. Langhorst about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon when flames started coming through the first floor from the basement. She called to her husband in the field and they moved what they could.

It was believed that the blaze originated from a faulty battery in their light plant system in the basement. It was so full of gas and smoke that they could not go down into it. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

Warn Kankakeans of New Fur Racket

Special warning was issued today by the business and protective bureau of the chamber of commerce about the operations of a fur storage racket, solicitors for which have been arrested and ordered out of several Illinois cities recently.

Residents who are solicited by strangers seeking to store, repair or remodel their furs are asked to notify the police department or chamber of commerce office immediately in order that Kankakee people may be prevented from loss of their furs.

These solicitors have a smooth way of trying to convince prospective customers that they represent a responsible firm. Usually it is found that they change one or two letters of a prominent Chicago business firm's name.

The bureau cites many cases where customers did not get their furs back later and, more frequently, these concerns go out of business, leaving little hope for recovery of furs the customers have turned over to them for storage or repairing.

MATCHLESS SHOW OF SPLENDOR AT THE CORONATION

London, May 12—(AP)—King George VI rode forth today to coronation in a matchless show of splendor for the ages.

His Scottish Queen Elizabeth at his side, he left the massive gates of Buckingham palace in coach of gold behind prancing gray horses, smiling, saluting, bowing—through the ranks of man-made magnificence to a million cries of: "God save the king! . . . the king! . . . the king!"

"And the queen—God bless her!" Cheers swelled from the crowd as the first carriage procession of members of the royal family headed for the abbey.

The life guard escort, on black charges, made a brave show in their crimson tunics, white buckskin breeches, and black topboots, with white plumes dancing from their silver helmets.

The first glass coach, surmounted with a golden crown, carried the smiling, waving their presumptive to the throne. 11-year-old Princess Elizabeth, and her younger sister, Princess Margaret, with them rode their aunt, the Princess Royal, and her elder son, the 14-year-old Viscount Lascelles.

In the second glass coach were the slight and smiling Duchess of Gloucester, the stately Duchess of Kent, and the Honorable Gerald Lascelles.

A roar of cheering down the hall signaled the departure of Queen Mary from Marlborough house.

Long String of Notables
The delegation of the United States was among the notables in the long string of automobiles which made their way to the abbey without stirring much excitement from the crowds, since the cars were not colorful and little of the uniforms could be glimpsed.

But the watchers went almost

STASMA HONORED

Edward J. Strasma, manager of the Kankakee County Credit Bureau, was elected secretary-treasurer of the Associated Credit-Bureaus of Illinois at their state convention last week in Chicago. Most of the 75 bureaus in Illinois sent delegates to the meeting.

Strasma held a similar post three years ago and then served as president for one year.

First copies of a 125-page employees manual, compiled by Strasma and containing every detail of credit information, were mailed out to purchasers last week. Nearly 400 bureaus all over the U. S. have ordered the booklet.

JUDGE ORDERS REARDANZES TO GIVE UP FARM

Bonfield Couple Is Ousted Under
New Order.

INSURANCE CASE

An order to Fred J. Reardanz and his wife Vera, that they give possession to a farm they occupy near Bonfield to the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance company was issued yesterday by Circuit Judge W. R. Hunter.

This action followed a hearing on a motion asking the order, which motion was filed several days ago by Attorney Vernon G. Butz, representing the insurance corporation.

Attorney Butz indicated that if the order is not obeyed the court will be asked for a writ of assistance which is a direction to Sheriff John Stack to evict Mr. and Mrs. Reardanz from the farm.

The request to the court for the order of possession is the aftermath of a suit some time ago in the court of Police Magistrate Edward Hoennicke in which the insurance company sought to obtain possession of the farm which it purchased at a special master-in-chancery sale resulting from a foreclosure decree in circuit court in June of 1935.

Mr. and Mrs. Reardanz, according to court records, failed to redeem the property within the allotted time. The insurance company holds a master-in-chancery deed to the property, and wants possession.

As a result of the suit before Magistrate Hoennicke, on May 3 Constable Farrell Fox and deputies went to the farm and dispossessed Mr. and Mrs. Reardanz but that night farmer friends of the Reardanzes moved all of the effects back. Then the insurance company asked for the circuit court order of possession.

At yesterday's hearing Attorney Luther B. Bratton, representing Mr. and Mrs. Reardanz, argued that the return, or report, of the constable shows that the insurance company was given possession a week ago and that the company may not ask for something it has already been given.

Nullify Claim
This argument, however, was nullified when Attorney Butz called Reardanz to the stand and asked him if he was in possession, to which Reardanz answered in the affirmative.

Trio Jailed for Stealing Rails

Three men, two of Kankakee and one of Bradley, are being held in the county jail under charges of larceny, although their claim is that they believed the property they took had been abandoned.

The prisoners are Earl LaRoche, 46, of 138 South LaSalle street; Bradley, John Shelton, 31, of 858 North Evergreen avenue, and LaRoche, 33, of 856 East Chestnut street. The arrests were by Sheriff John Stack and Deputy Gene LaFontaine.

The men are charged with having taken rails from the old Illinois Central spur running through the property across the highway from Mound Grove cemetery to the east, cutting them up and selling them for old iron.

Exliners to Appeal from Annexation

An appeal against a recent decree by Circuit Judge W. R. Hunter for annexing of four sections of land at Exline to the Mokena high school district has been made by four persons of Exline who are represented by Attorney Anker C. Jensen.

The appellants are Roscoe Denison, Isabelle Denison, Henry Hopson and Lillie Remillard, who make the appeal on the grounds they will be injured by the annexation and benefited by a reversal of the circuit court decree.

The appeal arises out of the fact that several weeks ago a majority of the taxpayers in the Exline district filed a petition in the office of County Superintendent of Schools Clarence J. Kennedy that the four sections of land be added to the Mokena high school district under a state law providing for such annexation.

On advice of the legal department of the state department of education, on the grounds that the state law is unconstitutional, Superintendent Kennedy failed to issue the annexation order, whereupon the petitioners asked the circuit court for a writ of mandamus ordering the superintendent to do so.

After a hearing, Judge Hunter issued the writ, but issuance of the order by the superintendent of schools in compliance with that writ has been interrupted by the appeal now filed.

Thieves Get $2 in Robbery at School

The Grant Park grade and high school building was entered during the night and about $2 taken from the safe in the office of the principal, Wesley Ruby.

Entrance was effected by smashing a window opening into the basement on the south side of the building. An open window near the fire escape led authorities to believe they left the building in that manner.

HUNTER RULES $2,426 CLAIMS ARE INVALID

Judge Condemns Actions of Ex- supervisor.

A major portion of claims against the Town of Ganeer, these claims totaling $2,426.39, have been held invalid by Circuit Judge W. R. Hunter in a four-and-a-half page opinion following a series of lengthy hearings sometimes ago.

Judge Hunter has allowed only $470.51 worth of these claims which are on orders against the township issued by E. P. Chesny, now of South Bend, when he was supervisor of the township in 1932 and 1933.

The orders have never been paid and the present holders of them sued the township for payment. Those who hold orders are—J. B. France and amounts they hold are—J. B. France $245.61, First Trust and Savings bank of Kankakee $532.60, Citizens System of Kankakee $648.18.

WESTMINSTER ABBEY SCENE OF CEREMONY

Beautiful Ritual Is Peak of Greatest Show in Years.

RIOTOUS COLOR

By FRANK H. KING

London, May 12—(AP)—The empire that no night can darken crossed and consecrated its ruler, George VI, and his Scottish Queen Elizabeth today in a solemn and beautiful ritual hallowed by centuries of British tradition.

Peak of the greatest show in a thousand years, the Archbishop of Canterbury, venerable, erect, gave to the new king the crown that symbolizes the rule of 800,000 souls in almost a quarter of the earth.

That was at 12:30 p. m. (5:30 a. m. est) within the old grey walls of Westminster Abbey.

Across the channel in a Touraine hunting lodge Edward of Windsor, the man whose abdication made George VI king, listened by the side of Wallis Warfield to a broadcast of the ritual.

Just at the peak of solemn Abbey consecration, his friends disclosed that he and Mrs. Simpson have delayed their marriage until early June, because the royal family, desiring a public wedding, has disagreed with the British government, which wants a strictly private one.

Speaking slowly and clearly with no hint of impediment the gray-eyed monarch in the Abbey accepted the throne of Britain and pledged himself to a just and honest rule.

The two-hour ceremony was climaxed when the 41-year-old sovereign was lifted reverently to the throne, in the sight of 500 peers and peeresses, foreign rulers, diplomats and statesmen from all over the world.

London Tower Guns Boomed
Outside the Abbey, a million or more cheered.

Guns in the Tower of London boomed.

Church bells pealed to signal that the priceless jeweled crown of St. Edward had been placed on the brow of George VI.

Queen Elizabeth, his Scottish-born wife, then was anointed and crowned in a brief ceremony immediately following the coronation of the king.

There was not a visible flaw in the coronation ceremonies.

At just half past twelve, the archbishop amid a solemn hush, lifted the jeweled symbol of the British throne, held it with outstretched arms towards the heavens and placed it gently on the head of the man chosen.

Throughout the ceremony, 11-year-old Princess Elizabeth, heiress presumptive to the throne, gravely and intently watched the impressive ritual which may some day make her Britain's first reigning queen since Victoria.

But Elizabeth's little sister, blue-

Bert Wynkoop of Kankakee was awarded a divorce by default late yesterday from his wife, Vera, whose whereabouts are unknown, by Circuit Judge W. R. Hunter.

Records of the case show they were married in Thief Run Falls, Minn., on June 27, 1911 until March of 1931, when it was claimed, Mrs. Wynkoop deserted her husband.

They have four children, Gerald, 21, who is married, Leonard, 18, now in the U. S. navy, Lytle, 16, and Louise, 11. It is assumed that the minor children are in the custody of their mother.

THE IMPORTANCE OF DECISION

There is rarely any reason for deferring plans for the settlement of an estate. On the other hand, delay has in many cases resulted in estates being left without wills, involving heirs in perplexing problems and uncertainties.

The time to make your will is today. Consult your attorney regarding legal details. In deciding on an Executor or Trustee, we suggest that you talk with us regarding the qualifications of our Trust Department for this important service.

HERES REAL NEWS: HORSE RIES AUTOMOBILE

Lima, O.—Doubtless took a nip at the machine age here but he was as much surprised as anyone.

One Becker, an insurance man, left his automobile in a parking lot about the time a milk wagon was making deliveries. Casting a sleep eye on a bright red "Dodge" he saw a horse running in the horse clean as you please.

He must have thought it was an apple, said Becker, because when he looked disgusted when he spit it out.

THE IMPORTANCE OF DECISION

There is rarely any reason for deferring plans for the settlement of an estate. On the other hand, delay has in many cases resulted in estates being left without wills, involving heirs in perplexing problems and uncertainties.

The time to make your will is today. Consult your attorney regarding legal details. In deciding on an Executor or Trustee, we suggest that you talk with us regarding the qualifications of our Trust Department for this important service.

St. Anne High Has Visitation Day

To acquaint incoming students with high school life the student council of St. Anne community high school will conduct a night visitation day next Monday.

Eighty grade students from surrounding schools will be guests of the school on that day. It is thought that next fall new students will be better able to plan their high school courses after attending a day of classes and special programs that are being arranged for them.

Lois Pultenat president of the student council is in general charge of arrangements.

Rockford, Ill.—Several hundred eighth grade pupils of Winnebago county schools think Superintendent Irving F. Papsin is a wise man because he is abolishing ponderous final examinations.

Papsin says the essay-type examinations requiring two or three days of head-splitting concentration are "more of a physical endurance test than one of scholastic ability."

He is substituting an achievement test at the beginning of the term to reveal the pupils' weaknesses so teachers can correct them. Another brief test at the end of the term shows what progress has been made.

SMILING QUEEN SHARES HOMAGE WITH THE KING

High Position Which She Never Dreamed of as Youngster.

A PROUD FAMILY

London, May 12—(AP)—A smiling commoner shared with her royal husband the homage of millions today for her coronation as queen in Westminster Abbey.

In the breath-taking splendor of the coronation scene, the girl who was Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon was dedicated to the high position she could scarcely have dreamed of when she played with her brothers and sisters on the Scotch moors.

No Scottish queen had been crowned in Westminster Abbey since the coronation of Matilda, daughter of King Malcolm III of Scotland and wife of King Stephen of England, 800 years ago.

Queen Elizabeth was the first commoner to be queen since Henry VIII took his sixth and last wife, Katherine Parr, but Katherine was never crowned.

Daughter of Proud Family

The queen, daughter of the proud family of Bowes-Lyon, headed by her father, the Earl of Strathmore and Kinghorne, will be 37 years old August 4. She is inclined to plumpness, has dark brown hair, bluish-gray eyes with dark lashes and heavy straight eyebrows. She is five feet, five inches tall.

Queen Elizabeth's lips are lightly rouged as a rule, her eyes shaded, her vigorous, healthy skin whitened with a liquid powder.

The early life of "The Smiling Duchess," as she came to be known shortly after her marriage, was far removed from the life of the court. She was brought up at grim-walled Glamis castle, that has stood for nine centuries.

The ninth of ten children, she led a simple life of quiet evenings at home, of poetry reading and of long walks in the country.

While peers and peacocks of the realm and humble citizens alike paid homage to her, she in turn paid homage to her liege lord whom she wed in 1923 when he was Duke of York with scarcely more than a dim prospect of becoming king.

Three years before, however, an old gypsy at Ascot had prophesied she would be a queen and the mother of a great queen.

Called "Princess" in Games
As a small girl, her playmates called her "Princess Elizabeth" in their games. Now she is Queen Elizabeth. She married a man, not impulsively, but deliberately, after he had asked for her hand several times during his shy but persistent courtship.

Her confident manner is credited with having much to do with aiding the king in overcoming the subduing which was evident in his earlier years when he was handicapped by a nervous stammering which made him uneasy in the presence of people.

She has gained a reputation as a housewife from the economical conduct of her household as Duchess of York when she supervised all details of her home.

From the beginning she has been a favorite of the queen mother and on the occasion of King George VI's accession to the throne, Queen Mary said in her message to the people: "I commend my dear daughter-in-law who will be his queen. May she receive the same unfailing affection and trust which you have given me for six-and-twenty years."

She rose early to be garbed in her gown of ivory satin, richly embroidered in gold with a six-yard train lined with ermine. In her dark hair jewels flashed and others gleamed on her white throat.

But for the queen, the highlight of the historic service lay in the ancient words of prayer intoned by the Archbishop of Canterbury: "... Multiply thy blessing upon this thy servant Elizabeth ..."

A new type of painter's canvas, said to be more durable than the ordinary variety, has been developed from flax by the Northern Ireland Linen Research association. A 500,000-candlepower beacon throwing a finger of light 19 miles to sea is to be erected on Maui Island, 100 miles southeast of Honolulu.

Proposes Relief be Returned to Various States

Washington, May 12—(AP)—The Republican membership of the house proposed today that relief administration be returned to the states through a system of federal monetary grants.

"This plan will insure that a larger share of each relief dollar will go into actual relief purposes than is the case under the present system of extravagant political control," said an announcement from a caucus of minority representatives.

The Republicans adopted a proposal of Rep. White (R., Ohio) that federal grants to states be made on a non-partisan basis, that administration be vested in state and local authorities, and that each state contribute at least 25 per cent of the cost of its relief.

The conference did not estimate the cost of next year's relief, but Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.) and Rep. Bacon (R., N.Y.) jointly recommended an expenditure of $1,250,000,000. They too opposed "home rule" and "home responsibility."

Informed congressmen, meanwhile, said a house subcommittee had shied $500,000,000 from the president's $1,500,000,000 work-relief demand for the year beginning July 1. Rep. Boland of Pennsylvania, the Democratic whip, predicted the house would restore the reduction. The senate heard Senator Tydings (D., Md.) declare yesterday that another depression is coming and the nation must prepare for it.

Citing "predictions" of Chairman Eccles of the federal reserve board former Vice President Dawes, and "economists throughout the country," Tydings said the next depression is an event "which we all know must come at least in some degree."

"With the depression back of us, now is the time to avoid unnecessary expenditures until we can bring our outgo and our income within line," he said.

The house failed to reach a vote yesterday on a bill to authorize $350,000,000 for the Civilian Conservation Corps. Instead of holding to the president's request that the agency be made permanent, it voted 224 to 34 to extend its life for only two more years.

At the close of the world war the British flying corps had 30,000 officers and 22,000 planes.
