PET PARADE TO BE HELD HERE NEXT MONDAY

Exchange Club To Award Prizes and Take Movies.

RABBI IN TALK

Plans for a pet parade and pet exchange club will be discussed at the annual meeting of the Exchange Club which will be held here next Monday.

The parade will be staged at 1:15 o'clock Monday afternoon and is open to all pet owners. Prizes of $25.00 will be given to the best pet in each class.

The parade will be held at the Exchange Club building, 100 N. Main St. The club will also hold a movie and a pet exchange.

Edgar Rulison, director of the Kankakee Recreation Association, has been appointed to supervise the parade. Six cash prizes will be awarded for the three divisions of the parade. The prizes are for the best pet, the best pet in a costume, and the best pet in a costume.

Line of March

Children who want to compete for the prizes and "see themselves in the movies" will dress themselves in their pet costumes and march at the parade near Schuyler avenue and river street at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon.

The parade will move in a northward direction up Schuyler avenue to court street, east to the courthouse and disband. Judges of the parade are Rev. John P. Norman, Lloyd Wilson and Herbert Jannusch. They will award two prizes in each of the three divisions.

This is one of several events which the club will arrange for the local moviegoers. According to Chapin Ellis, president of the Exchange Club, it is the intention of the club to film just as many local people as possible for the production.

1-2-3 Show

Within the next few days, cameramen will "shoot" scenes of Kankakee streets, prominent civic and business leaders, and the police and fire departments. The films will be shown in the armory June 23-24 and will be 1-2-3 hours in length. In connection with the showing of the films an amateur show will be held on the stage. Auditions for this part of the program will be announced later it was said.

The speaker at yesterday's meeting in the Hotel Kankakee was Rabbi Joseph Mirvisky who spoke of world unrest which he asserted is for Rev. L. Martin

A farewell party for the Rev. L. Martin, rector of St. Paul Episcopal church, and Mrs. Martin, who leave Monday for their new home in Fort Worth, Texas, was held in the parish hall Tuesday night. It was attended by 125 persons.

After the dinner there was a program including a duet sung by the Rev. and Mrs. Martin, a song by Mrs. Mary Gray, chairman of the Woman's guild of the parish, short talks by W. R. Sanborn, senior warden of the vestry, Leonard L. Smith, junior warden, and T. R. Johnston, clerk. Response by Rev. Martin, and the reading of a farewell poem composed by Mrs. Guy Howe.

Mrs. Allen Yeates was in charge of the program.

Will Use Gas From Sewage

to Operate City's New Plant

Sewage sludge—the black, muddy, odoriferous waste which flows through sewer conduits—is generally considered a perfectly useless substance which municipalities must somehow get rid of.

But this sludge is being processed in a new treatment plant that will generate a gas in sufficient quantity to heat the various buildings and operate part of the equipment on the site.

Next week, according to Superintendent Albert A. Brensley, sufficient methane gas will have been collected from the sewage to start utilization of the gas for fuel purposes.

Like Natural Gas

With a heating capacity of 650 B. T. U. per cubic foot (almost as good as natural gas), the methane is obtained as a by-product from decomposition of the sludge in the digestion chambers. The superheated gas, which is estimated to be about 30,000 cubic feet, will be obtained daily.

The methane gas will be captured, collected, run through safety devices for flame tests and stored. It will be used to heat the hot water boiler which will circulate steam through pipes in the digester where new sludge will give off more methane gas when warmed to 90 degrees Fahrenheit.

Besides obtaining free fuel from the waste matter, the plant operators see another possibility in the utilization later on of the ash or principal by-product—the ash or solid matter left after processing, which is said to make an excellent fertilizer.

'WHEW!'

WHY REFORMS FAIL

Last fall the city of New York adopted a new city charter. In the charter was a provision that city elections hereafter be held under the proportional representation system.

This system is about as complicated a method of electing public officials as could well be imagined, but its chief purpose is to hamstring machine politicians by giving every citizen the chance to vote for candidates in the order of preference. If the man the voter likes best loses, or if he wins by such a wide margin that many of his votes are needed, ballots for him are counted for the citizen's second choice, and so on down the line.

Tammany Hall, which has fallen on lean years of late, vigorously opposed this feature of the new charter. It went to court to get it thrown out, and the other day it met final defeat when the state court of appeals upheld proportional representation and okayed the disputed charter.

Now the surface conclusion to be drawn from all of that is that machine politics, as exemplified by Tammany, has met a crushing defeat and that political life in the metropolis will be cleaner, clearer and most wholesome hereafter.

But people who take this hopeful view of things ought to remember what happened in Cleveland some 15 years ago.

Cleveland then adopted a new charter, with proportional representation. Citizens breathed deeply in relief; this new electoral setup would be too much for the old-line political gangs, the bosses would be checkmated, good men would be elected in place of subversive ward-heeders.

But something happened. The "good men" figured that the city's political life had been reformed forever and a day, and began thinking about other things. The politicians, who work at politics day in and day out, knuckled down and mastered the intricacies of proportional representation. And the first thing anybody knew the same old gang was back in the saddle, the great reform had miscarried—and, eventually, the citizens in disgust threw out the new charter and went back to the old way of doing things.

The point is that political reforms usually fail because the reformers, and the people who support them, are so short-sighted. Everyone assumes that the battle has been won permanently. The bosses rally their forces for a new attack—and presently are in the driver's seat.

That happened in Cleveland; it will happen in New York, unless the people who are interested in decent government stay just as wide awake and determined as the politicians.

There is only one cure for the misgovernment in America: unflinching day in and day out vigilance on the part of all the people. Our tendency to put on one big push and then relax is the greatest safeguard the machine politician could ask for.

WAR'S COPYRIGHT

A picture which has just arrived in the United States from Spain shows graphically just how Spanish civilization is being deformed by its civil war. The picture shows the ruins of the Cancer Institute building on the outskirts of Madrid. Caught in cross fire between Rebel and Government forces, the building has been shattered by countless bombardments. Its walls and roofs lean in a crazy, tattered pattern over piles of fallen bricks, mortar and timber.

No censor's hand could strike out the tale of horror recorded in the photo of this silent, mangled citadel. No impassioned story could make more poignant the evidence of war's hand in a project originally intended to be a boon to suffering humanity.

WAYS TO CRIB-BITTING

Two little girls were having their room packed for their choice of color. One chose green and one chose blue. The mother, who had been told that the girls were having a fight, was surprised to find them both smiling and happy.

Amnesty Measure Stirs the Belgians; Call Conference

Brussels, June 10.—(AP)—King Leopold III—who knew war as a soldier in the Belgian army—called Premier Paul Van Zeeland into conference today to discuss the government's bitter-contested proposal to pardon all Belgians convicted of treason during the world war.

It was believed the king might act as an intermediary in an effort to conciliate war veterans who staged demonstrations, continued against the amnesty bill.

The senate, apparently unmoved by the demonstrations, continued to debate the bill; a narrow majority was predicted.

Julius Herve, Liberal Flemish minister of education, said the situation was "uncertain." Political circles were tense. Police were prepared for an emergency.

Mounded troops and tanks were thrown about the parliament buildings and strategic points in the capital to prevent a repetition of demonstration such as one yesterday in which 400 veterans hurled their war decorations on the tomb of the unknown soldier.

Personal Message to Medics from FDR

Atlantic City, N. J., June 10.—(AP)—A personal message from President Roosevelt, asking cooperation in plans to give medical care to those unable to pay for it, was delivered to the house of delegates of the American Medical association today by U. S. Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois.

The message was delivered in secret executive session. Its gist was given out at the close of the session by Dr. J. Hamilton Lewis, who said that the president was "very anxious" to see that the medical profession was able to give the best possible care to those who were unable to pay for it.

What shall I say to the American medical association? I say that the president is very anxious to see that the medical profession is able to give the best possible care to those who are unable to pay for it. I say that the president is very anxious to see that the medical profession is able to give the best possible care to those who are unable to pay for it.

will meet you and call you by name. Do not bring any cops. It is a trap.

Mrs. Parvati told Mrs. W. McDonald, who was the former Alice W. McDonald, was said to be worth about $50,000, of which she recently inherited $50,000. Her husband, too, was said to be well-to-do. He was graduated from Yale in 1910.

The story of Mrs. Parsons' disappearance came from Mrs. Anna Kuyperova, described by the police as a high-born Russian woman, who had worked for Mrs. Parsons family for about four years.

Mrs. Kuyperova, Assistant District Attorney Joseph P. Parsons of Suffolk county reported, said a middle-aged couple—apparently strangers—called for Parsons yesterday morning at the Parsons home, "Long Meadow Farm," and that the man drove off with them.

Mystery Deepens
The mystery deepened early this afternoon when Mrs. Leona Newton, a former postmistress at Stony Brook, told the police she had seen Mrs. Parsons driving east through the village about 1:30 p. m. yesterday, about two and a half hours after the time fixed for her departure by Mrs. Kuyperova.

Mrs. Newton was brought to the Parsons home and looked at the Parsons car to see if it was the one she had seen. She said it was not the car Mrs. Parsons had, but was accompanied by another person, but the police did not disclose whether it was a man or woman.

Note Found In Auto
Mrs. Kuyperova told Arata Mrs. Parsons told her: "I'm going over to the Sammis place."

This was described by Arata as an estate near Huntington, about 15 miles away, in which Mrs. Parsons had an interest.

Bert Walker, investigator from the district attorney's office, found the ransom note tucked under the front seat of Parsons' car.

The Parsons have no children. Their farm is about two miles from the Stony Brook railroad station.

English customs are getting no clearer. They say that when you take a licking it's not cracked to chip.

Australia does not permit exportation of the curious kind of "teddy bear," either alive or as fur.

Mr. and Mrs. Hector Cover and children Louise and Louis of Moline spent Sunday with the former's brother, Frank Cover.

A post-mortem of the spring college debates revealed that most of the losers made the mistake of trying to win by the chin.

EVER FEEL LIKE THIS?

It's just one of the many ways in which the world is full of trouble. But there's a way out. It's called the 'Hoping for Good Average'.

STORIES IN STAMPS
BY I. S. KLEIN

NEW LINK IN SPINE OF AMERICA

The great "spinal column" of mountains that runs down the western "back" of North and South America is being revealed gradually to the view of Americans, by means of broad highways that wind over it. Eventually, from the Arctic Circle to Buenos Aires, for 15,000 miles, such a Pan-American highway will link the two Americas in what is expected to be the most fascinating scenic panorama in the world.

One link, that between Laredo, Tex., and Mexico City, was opened to travel in 1936, after 11 years of construction. It runs for 763 miles across the flat plains south of Laredo, then upward into the Sierra Madre mountains, across jungle land, ancient villages and more heights until it reaches the capital of Mexico.

It cost Mexico $11,000,000. Now this money is beginning to come back in tourist travel from the United States. Mexico, in 1936, issued a series of regular and airmail stamps commemorating the opening of this road. One of the regular postage is shown here.
