COUNTY AUDIT SHOWS AFFAIRS IN GOOD SHAPE

$59,561 Balance On Hand: Praise by Auditor

The audit of the financial affairs of Kankakee county was completed yesterday by M. A. Crocker, county auditor. His report shows that the financial affairs of the county are in excellent condition and his comment was:

"The important reason why Kankakee county has been able to do so well is because of the high caliber of the men in charge of the county affairs."

The audit reveals that the county government last year had a balance on hand of $59,561.17, set aside for the payment of the year, were $13,784.17, while disbursements were $14,744.17 leaving a balance on hand of $31,032.97.

The county farm account is a balance of $21,175, set aside for the building of a new building for the county home.

Approve Reports

The audit includes reports of officers for last year which were all approved.

The audit made the customary report on the Spanish War veterans fund for the purchase of flags and flowers to place on the graves of war veterans on Memorial day.

A resolution addressed to the state legislature asking repeal of the state act requiring township assessors to report agricultural statistics and reports was adopted by the legislature.

The resolution, similar to those passed by county boards all over the state, asserts that compliance with the law causes an additional tax burden on the people and seems to be of no practical value.

Would Sue State

A resolution was presented to the board by Jesse Burton, former deputy sheriff, asking authorization to sue John Stark, former sheriff. Burton claimed that the former sheriff owes him an unexplained amount for use of his (Burton's) automobile when he was a deputy sheriff. He asked that the former sheriff be required to pay him out of the $200 he was

NAZIS, FASCIST DOMINATION TO BE ELIMINATED

In Return Franco to Get Big Loan to Rebuild

BULLETIN
Rome, Feb. 8.—(AP)—The fascist press declared today it is "too late" for 11th hour moves to recognize insurgent Generalissimo Franco by nations wanting to get on good terms with "new Spain."

The press statement appeared as reports were circulated abroad that Britain and France might offer loans to Franco.

Paris, Feb. 8.—(AP)—French parliamentary sources reported tonight that direct peace talks in Spain had been opened between the insurgent authorities and General Jose Miaja, defender of Madrid and virtual dictator of the central zone remaining in government hands.

The reports came from deputies who had talked with Senator Leon Berard, just returned from a visit to the Spanish insurgent capital, Burgos.

Miaja was said by these sources to have started talks with Insurgent Generalissimo Franco, going over the head of Premier Juan Negrin of the Spanish Republican regime, who is at Le Perthus, on the French-Spanish border.

The conversations between Miaja and Franco were said to be carried on by representatives named by the two principals. Peace negotiations between Negrin and the insurgents broke down yesterday when Franco refused the premier's last condition for surrender.

Negrin asked that government, labor and military leaders be given blanket assurances that their lives would be spared if the government surrendered.

Paris, Feb. 8.—(AP)—France and Great Britain were reported in diplomatic circles today to have offered a bargain to insurgent Generalissimo Franco which would eliminate Italian influence in Spain after the Spanish civil war is ended.

French foreign office quarters left no doubt that they considered a Franco victory inevitable within several months. As a consequence, it was indicated by diplomatic sources that France and Britain have offered an "understanding" in Burgos.

This understanding, it was indicated, was the basis of talks between Senator Leon Berard, semi-official French envoy to the insurgent capital, and Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet on Berard's return yesterday from Burgos, where he sounded out insurgent leaders on possible establishment of diplomatic relations between France and Franco's regime.

Encouraging News

Berard said he received an "excellent impression" there.

The reported understanding was said to include:

1. Franco would see that all Italian and German influence be eliminated from Spain as soon as

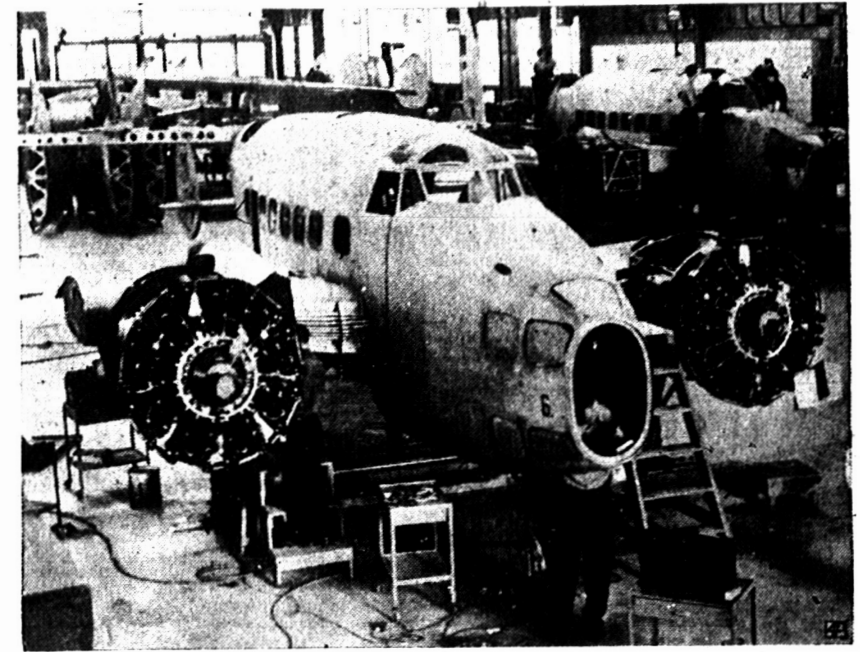

Severe Cold Wave is Due Here Tonight

By the Associated Press
A severe cold wave rolled eastward out of the Pacific northwest today, casting its sub-zero spell over much of the northern half of the nation.

By mid-morning, temperatures west of the Mississippi were well below the zero mark while those to the east hovered about the freezing reading. Williston, N. D., and Minot, N. D., were the ice-boxes of the nation at 6:30 a. m. with 35 below. At that hour the cold mass had sent the mercury to zero as far east as Des Moines, Iowa.

Forecaster H. A. Downs of Chicago said the temperature would start falling there today and reach zero tonight. The cold will remain for several days, he said, with possibly a five degree below zero reading tomorrow night.

The severe cold will chill Ohio tonight, Downs said, and should reach the Atlantic seaboard late tomorrow.

Sues Village Of Bradley For $7,000

A suit for $7,000 plus interest against the Bradley school district No. 61 was filed for the circuit court today by Mrs. Caddie Pratt, 164 East Hickory street.

The complaint, filed by Attorney Claude M. Granger, states that in the fall of 1937 Mrs. Pratt purchased two tax anticipation warrants, one for $5,000 and the other for $2,000, from the board of education of the district.

She has not been paid back for these, she alleges, although the district collected the next year $20,449.49 from the tax levy which her warrants anticipated.

Besides the members of the board of education, T. R. McCoy, treasurer, is named as defendant. Others named as defendants are the Bradley State & Savings bank, Annie Knittel, Fred C. Hamilton, Ida Beckers, Virginia Coderre, Bridget Flageole, Charles and Louis Cyrier.

These defendants, the complaint states, are also owners of warrants.

REDISTRICTING OF COURT PLAN VERY DOUBTFUL

Senate Judiciary Committee Turns Down Proposal

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 8.—(UP)—A proposal to redistrict Illinois' seven downstate judicial circuits appeared dead today after the general assembly senate judiciary committee voted to table it at a hearing last night.

In a two-and-one-half hour session, the committee heard the views of nearly a dozen judges and lawyers on the bill, introduced by four downstate senators.

Most prominent was former Lieutenant Gov. Thomas F. Donovan, Joliet, who appealed in a strong voice to the members of the committee not to disturb the twelfth circuit in which he resides.

"Let us alone," he pleaded. "We are happy."

In answer to proponents of the measure who asserted that circuit court dockets were so congested that in some instances it took nearly two years for a case to be heard, he said that that was not the fault of the judges but "seventy-five per cent of it is due to the lawyers."

Need Diligent Lawyers

"If we have diligent lawyers the docket will be kept up from day to day," he said. "The courts can't act unless counsel is there and on numerous occasions the attorneys are not present in the court when cases they are handling come up."

Circuit Judge Dick H. Mudge, Edwardsville, told the committee that, contrary to the statements of some persons who were present at the hearing "there hasn't been any complaint by any of the judges in my

GOODSEL HENKE OF GRANT PARK IN CONFESSION

Sought Control of $19,000 Estate,
is Claim

BULLETIN
Chicago, Feb. 8.—(UP)—Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan said today he was seeking Adolph Bydalek, tavern owner at Grant Park, Kankakee county, for questioning in connection with a forged will.

The Cook county state's attorney office announced yesterday that Goodsel F. Henke, 50, of Grant Park had confessed forging a will in an effort to obtain a $19,000 estate, according to United Press dispatches.

Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan said that Henke, a lawyer with offices in Chicago, has admitted forging the will of Casimer C. Krzyzko, who died in Chicago Heights last June 22. Three other men who allegedly signed the will as witnesses were said to be awaiting trial on conspiracy charges.

The case came to public attention early in December when press reports from Chicago said that Adolph Bydalek of Grant Park, James Russell and Joseph Kelly of Chicago had been arrested.

Named as Heir

The report said that Bydalek was named as chief "heir" and "executor" of the will.

The will was filed in probate court of Cook county on Sept. 21 by an attorney who said he represented Bydalek as executor, the reports said.

Krzyzko, a bachelor, died without a will and his estate case went to probate court. Two months later, Coghlan said, the purported will appeared, naming a friend of Henke's as principal beneficiary. Coghlan said Henke admitted he had an agreement with the beneficiary whereby he, Henke, would get between $2,500 and $3,500 from the estate.

Jack Rubens, chief investigator for the Cook county public administrator, said the man named as beneficiary was sought. Rubens said contempt of court proceedings would be instituted in addition to the forgery and conspiracy charges.

Russell and Kelly were said to have admitted they signed the will as witnesses at the request of Henke after he treated them to beer and whiskey. They said they did not know the paper was a will.

Bydalek Released

After Bydalek was taken to Chicago by a detective, the reports said, he said he was a second cousin to Krzyzko but denied knowing anything about the will. He was afterward released on bond.

State Senate Asks Transfer of Game

The state senate yesterday passed a resolution sponsored by Senator Louis E. Beckman memorializing the President to have the Army-Navy football game next fall played in Chicago in honor of the captains of both service teams who are from this city.

Several days ago the house passed a similar resolution at Springfield, thus placing the Illinois legislature solidly behind the move. Kankakee and Chicago committees also are obtaining endorsements from many civic organizations to add their voice to the midwestern request for the game in honor of Harry Stella, Army captain and Allen Bergner, Navy leader.

China's Future Dark, Speaker Tells Women

In the 25 centuries of its civilization there has never been a time when the future of China was more discouraging. So said Dr. Ernest B. Price, director of International house at the University of Chicago and a student of far eastern affairs, at the annual dinner meeting of the League of Women Voters last evening at the Hotel Kankakee.

Dr. Price spent 16 years in China and during that time learned to know and admire the civilization, character, attitude and philosophy toward life of the people and, as he stated in his lecture, his sympathies were wholly with the Chinese in the present invasion of the country.

The situation in China now is different from any other invasion or conquest of the country, the speaker said. Previous conquests were continental in character, primarily Asiatic, and were measured in decades not years. The conquerors respected and adopted the civilization and government of the people.

Modern Conquest

In the present invasion, Dr. Price said, the conquest is by sea and air, western in character and the Japanese have seized control of large cities, shipping centers and natural resources out of which they are making sizeable profits.

Japan has the advantage today in many ways, according to the speaker. There has been no breakdown of morale among the people even though losses in dead and wounded are enormous. She is able to en-

DODSON'S 1939 MODEL HOUSES ARE LUXURIOUS

They're For Birds,
Not Humans,
He Says

In this age of modern conveniences, the song birds will enjoy new luxury in their homes when the 1939 models of Dodson bird houses find public favor.

Built by Joseph H. Dodson, noted authority on American bird life who maintains his home and bird sanctuary in a quiet wooded spot along the river at the foot of South Harrison avenue, the new models offer every comfort for the feathered creatures. He is now in Miami, Fla.

A four-compartment wren house, for example, has a copper roof, insulated with celotex, a ventilation system and a removable bottom for cleaning.

Just Like Humans

Birds, like humans, are somewhat peculiar, avers Mr. Dodson who has spent a lifetime of 43 years studying birds and nature in this country. Every bird is an individual, he says, so houses are constructed to fit individual needs. After 50 years of building such houses commercially, Dodson knows these needs.

The great crested flycatcher, for instance, searches until he finds some kind of snake skin, then lines his nest with it and hangs the tail outside to frighten away other birds. To accommodate him, Birdman Dodson provides a convenient hole for the flycatcher to hang out his snake skin.

"The flicker," he stated, "a bird that eats an average of 5,000 ants each day and is consequently popular around golf courses to keep ant hills off the greens, requires a

Warn Owners of Elm Trees of Disease

Residents in this area are requested to watch their elm trees this year for appearance of a virus disease which is now spreading through Ohio and Indiana, killing off thousands of elms. It is the first disease of this kind ever to appear in U. S. elms, according to the federal department of agriculture.

The first takes form in a slight, blighting and brittleness of the leaves which start to curl and wither transparent spots. Later it turns the roots and inner bark of the trunk.

Two years ago a similar disease attacked a tree in Mound Grove cemetery, according to Superintendent Charles H. Bass. Tree experts there concluded and they decided it was a canker disease, but when the tree started to wither and die, it was chopped down and burned.

Persons noticing the malady here are requested to report its presence to the U. S. department of agriculture which is seeking to study the disease.

Handful of Native Soldiers in French Somaliland Confident They Can Repel Superior Italian Forces in Any Attack

By PAUL D. THIBET
Dumont, French Somaliland, Feb. 8.—(INS)—A handful of men, with only rudimentary equipment, today stand face to face with thousands of Italian fighters and with their backs to the sea—yet they are unafraid.

Yet when I ventured to point out the overwhelming superiority of the Italians, I was met with confident smiles.

"Nous nous battons, we will fight," and moreover we are a big man. French men are of iron, strengthened by years of colonial fighting. They know every kind of terrain and desert.

"Major Raynal, who is in command of the battalion, has spent his life in the army. I was informed by one of the army men here. He was in the battle of Verdun and in the battle of France. He is a General Mangin personally. He is an old marshal officer."

And against the highly mechanized Italian equipment, with its modern tanks, field artillery, armored cars, and airplanes, the French have but little to show.

I was amazed when I saw the French equipment. France's independent battalion has for all its size a few 37 millimeter anti-tank and light mountain guns, a score of machine guns, eight hundred rifles, eight horses and forty mules. Exactly 30 tanks, no armored cars, no field artillery and some 40,000 men face the Italian invaders.

Yet Sir Horace has long been reckoned as one of the most powerful men behind the scenes in England.

Premier Stanley Baldwin liked him, and frequently consulted him on many matters other than industrial affairs.

When Chamberlain succeeded him, Baldwin visited Wilson as a man worth consulting.

Sir Horace draws a salary of $15,000 a year. Paley, a complexed man, with mild blue eyes, is shaven and dark haired. He walks with a stoop, dresses unobtrusively, and is altogether the perfect illustration of the better paid English civil servant. Unlike he looks to be in debt, but he is not. He is in debt to his country.

His advice extends far beyond industry. It embraces foreign affairs. It takes in its stride military strategy. It covers imperial defense, armaments, general European politics, and world affairs.

Indispensable to Premier Chamberlain, he is not the "office boy" but others do not like the appellation. They insist it is not a true description.

For Premier Chamberlain, Sir Horace is a devoted adherent. He listens to his opinions, agrees with his decisions, uses him to carry out his plans.

The world at large first became aware of Sir Horace during the important conversations that preceded the Munich agreement.

He went everywhere with Premier Chamberlain, accompanied him on his famous aerial jaunts to Germany and even became a special messenger for the premier when it became necessary to convey urgent letters to Hitler.

When he finds time, he likes to travel. It is only natural that he became necessary to convey urgent letters to Hitler.

The cost of killing na animal in Oklahoma during the month of

Not even Browne's state cabinet had the authority to shut down an anonymous tipster tipped under the cover of a newspaper office and an old prison paper, the Star.

The investigation developed this story.

In 1923, Browne was cashier and a chief stockholder of the Massey tank of Massey, Okla. It was a time when the sure district was famous because of crop failures. Browne loaned them money.

When his bank had no more funds to lend, Browne borrowed money from an outside source and began putting up as collateral securities which already had been pledged. Another season of crop failure left farmers unable to repay their loans. What he had done was for his neighbors but Browne went to prison.

His wife brought their children to California. Browne's son, who is now 65, of Minneapolis, Minn., says that his father's "English" background doesn't want to run for Parliament. Probably couldn't stand the competition.

CRUISER SENT TO MINORCA BY GREAT BRITAIN

Disputed Island In Spanish Balearic Group

London, Feb. 8.—A British cruiser arrived today at Minorca, disputed island in the Spanish Balearic, while the London cabinet considered measures to prevent Italy and Germany from obtaining control of the island.

At the same time officials acknowledged that Britain had asked Spanish insurgent Generalissimo Franco to agree to a truce in the 30-month-old civil war. But they declined to disclose whether Franco had replied or, if he had, what his answer was.

It was announced officially that the 9,750-ton cruiser Devonshire had dropped anchor in Port Mahon, strategic and well-fortified harbor of Minorca, only island of the Balearics which the Spanish government has held since early in the war.

Neither the admiralty nor the foreign office would discuss the Devonshire's mission at Minorca.

Arousing Speculation

However, there have been reports that Britain was willing to cooperate with Franco in measures to occupy the island provided it was taken over exclusively by Spanish soldiers.

The Devonshire's move aroused speculation here as to whether she might not have gone to Minorca to make sure that any insurgent attempt to seize the island was not sponsored by Germany and Italy.

Britain and France have been working for some time over Italy's foothold in Mallorca, largest of the Balearic group, which lies athwart Franco's communications with her African possessions.

It has been known that Italian planes aiding the insurgents were based on Mallorca, which, together with Ibiza, third principal island of the group, was seized by the insurgents early in the war.

There have been reports that a British cruiser would take insurgent representatives to the Mediterranean island to confer with British government defenders, but British officials declined to comment on them.

Truce Attempt

Disclosure of the truce attempt was interpreted as indicating Britain still hoped to get an agreement between Franco and government Premier Juan Negrin on peace terms of a nature calculated to enable Britain to restore her influence with the insurgent regime.

The cabinet was reported to have considered a plan to "buy Britain into Spain" and keep Franco from joining the anti-communist act with Germany, Italy and Japan.

Prime Minister Chamberlain was said to have discussed the possibility of a loan to the insurgents as a counter to German-Italian attempts to extend the pact into Spain.

Army Bombing Plane Noses Over; Damage Slight; No Injuries

Chicago, Feb. 8.—P-A crew of two escaped injury last night when a Martin army bombing plane nosed over in a landing at the Chicago municipal airport.

The pilot, Lieut. T. E. Ryding, attempted to bring the ship to a sudden stop to avoid hitting the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad tracks which bisect the field. It nosed over near the track embankment.

Maj. Merrill D. Mann of the air corps said the plane suffered little damage.

Driver's License Law Administration Might Prove Costly

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 8.—By a vote of 113 to four the Illinois house passed today the Ward bill appropriating $300,000 to the office of Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes to administer the state's drivers' license law.

The bill previously passed the senate and goes now to Gov. Edgar. It replaces a similar appropriation voted last spring by Governor Horner.

W. D. Forsythe, supervisor of the automobile license division, said the state department was five weeks behind in mailing out drivers' license cards but said the extra force to be hired with the $300,000 appropriation would clean up the back applications well before the May 1 deadline.

A half million drivers' license cards have been mailed already and about 1,500,000 more applications are expected before May 1, Forsythe said.

The extra work caused by drivers' license applications also has slowed mailing of automobile license plates. The supervisor said. About 900,000 plates already have been issued. About 1,600,000 are issued yearly.

One of the army's new Curtiss P-36-A pursuit planes recently flew from Wright Field, Dayton, O., to Buffalo, N. Y., a distance of 360 miles, in one hour and one minute. The plane had an average speed of 350 miles an hour.

In 1908, Henri Farman won 50,000 francs for doing the seemingly impossible. He flew a plane for 500 meters, turned it and flew back. In May, 1938, two Japanese flew a closed circuit course covering 7233 miles without stopping or refueling.

Many high school students are now offered the chance at a scholarship in aeronautical subjects. High school principals working in conjunction with newspapers offer the students the prizes.

AN OPERATION BRINGS HAPPY PAIR TOGETHER

Jackie Coogan Hurries to Bedside of Betty

Hollywood, Feb. 8.—(UP)—The story of the life, love and troubles of Jackie Coogan moved closer today to the traditional Hollywood "happy ending."

Separated by finances and the long miles between here and Texas, "The Kid" of the silent screen and his beautiful blonde actress wife, Betty Grable, planned a reunion in a hospital in nearby Glendale where last night she underwent a successful operation for appendicitis.

Coogan was flying from Port Worth to her bedside and Betty, who wouldn't submit to the surgery unless he said the word, was waiting for him happily.

Thus, with his much-involved financial affairs near settlement, the youth who made a fortune as a screen juvenile only to charge it had been taken from him, was on the verge of straightening out his marital affairs, too.

A little over five weeks ago, word leaked out that Betty had moved out of her Beverly Hills home to live with her mother. It wasn't long until the furnishings were up for auction. Both said the separation was only temporary, but Hollywood gossipers freely predicted divorce.

"Hunky Dory"

They had been parted for three weeks when Betty went dancing with him and announced "I'd go back to him in a minute—if he'd ask me." Jackie left a few days later for a personal appearance tour of Texas, seeking to bolster his bank account.

Ten days ago, his announcement in El Paso that everything was all right again between him and Miss Grable brought from her the confirmation that "everything's hunky-dory" and "we're going to find another love nest."

Their reunion was scheduled for the completion of his tour. But her operation hastened matters, and Jackie quickly boarded a plane when he learned last night of the operation.

While he's here, Jackie may learn from his attorneys the progress of efforts to settle his suit against his mother and stepfather, the Arthur L. Bernstein's for an accounting of his film earnings, which he estimated at $4,000,000. A week's postponement of the trial was granted Monday as counsel indicated an approaching out-of-court agreement.

The average passenger trip on an airline is 425 miles as compared to the average trip of 75 miles on railroads.

The average value of all passenger automobiles registered in the United States on Jan. 1, 1939, was $197.
