FAST THINKERS
WHAT BUSINESS MEN NEED TODAY

Chicagoan Talks At Gallagher School
Banquet

(Picture on Pages 1 and 2)
"Kankakee is famous for many things and has given many great names to the nation, but when people of the business world see the name of Kankakee they think of the Gallagher School of Business. Not business people in just the middle, but all over the country."
In these words M. H. Wright of Chicago, president of Stenographic Machine, Inc. opened his address, "The New Frontier" at the 16th annual banquet of Gallagher school of business in the Masonic temple Saturday evening.
In his address Mr. Wright compared conditions which confronted business people who came to the primitive west when he was a boy and those which face youth today. These pioneers—while religious and God-fearing people, killed the wild game without any thought of the future. They then the soil over and over again, and they thought for future generations until the area has deteriorated into what is now known as the Dust Bowl.
"Your intentions were right, but they did not think for the future and adapt themselves to changing conditions—they couldn't even see things changing under their very feet," the speaker said.
You young people also have a frontier to face today. Things are changing rapidly and you've got to learn how to keep pace of conditions. There's a new product coming on the market called Nylon. It's more than silk and more elastic and durable. How many of it will not run. Think what this does to the silk industry, to Japan, to international trade and relations and to your lives. It's made by DuPont. It's just another symbol of a fast changing industrial situation.
"I never feared any nation on earth until the affair at Munich. Why? She just didn't realize the possibilities of the airplane; she didn't think fast enough and got caught short."
Thinkers Succeed
"Men who think are never caught short. They eventually make fools of the people who ridicule their original plans. They told the world that God didn't intend for man to fly and that he never would. They told Edison he couldn't make

PREPARATIONS FOR CONCLAVE OF CARDINALS

Pius' Body Will Be Entombed Late
Tuesday

Vatican City, Feb. 13.—P.—Thousands more passed the bier in St. Peter's cathedral for a last view of Pius XI today as the congregation of cardinals began formal preparations for the conclave which will choose a new pope.
Foreign cardinals who will participate in the election continued to arrive. Today the congregation received the main charge with enforcing the secrecy of their gathering. Prince Don Ludovico Chigi-Albani.
Prince Chigi acted at the election of Pius. Members of his family—have had the responsibility continuously since 1712.
Rain Adds to Gloom
Those who went to St. Peter's today gathered under a heavy gray sky which drizzled rain and darkness over the square.
Only a few hundred persons were waiting at the cathedral gates when they were unlocked at 8 a. m. but many troops were in the square in expectation of another mighty crowd.
Those who came early stayed for the funeral. A mass of 200,000 of successful daily services, which was again before the giant cathedral twice the height of a man at the far end of the nave from the great bronze door.
Archbishop Pietro Piasani, canon of the Basilica, celebrated the mass today.
The solemn chanting echoed faintly through the vast cathedral. Its gloom relieved but slightly by a few clusters of feeble electric bulbs in the ceiling and the flickering glow of candles from the sides of the altars.
The only other sounds were the steady shuffling of feet past the pontiff's bier, an occasional cry of an infant carried in a parent's arms, and the constant urgings of the guards to the crowd to move forward.
An estimated 200,000 filed past the body of the pontiff in the Chapel of the Sacrament Sunday. They were permitted to enter the great bronze door of St. Peter's 12 abreast.
Guards Keep Mourners Moving
There were momentary halts as the worshippers reached the chapel and turned to face the bier. Then they were asked in low voices by papal gendarmes to move on. None was able to kneel and pray.
Flames of 24 tall candles lighted the bier, at the corners of which noble guards in red-coated uniforms stood at attention. Four Swiss guards in red and yellow striped uniforms stood behind the bier.
The funeral couch was of red velvet. The body was dressed in rich red soutane, with the lace edge of a white robe showing beneath. The feet were red-slippered. A cloth of gold mitre was the head.

CIVIL WAR IS AGAIN WAGED IN THE INTERIOR

Britain and France Seek Friendship
of Gen. Franco

By The Associated Press
British Prime Minister Chamberlain faced opposition hostility in parliament today on his "friendly to Franco" policy as Spanish insurgent guns and warplanes carried the civil war back to central Spain.
Under a heavy gray sky and in light rain in Vatican City, meanwhile, thousands passed the bier in St. Peter's cathedral for a last view of Pope Pius XI.
Although Britain had been expected to await the fall of Madrid and Valencia before extending formal recognition to the Spanish regime of insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco, there were indications she might proceed more rapidly. Ireland announced recognition of Franco last night.
Eager For Friendship
London and Paris both are eager for Franco's friendship, whom they now consider the eventual victor in the Spanish war, to thwart possible German-Italian influence in Spain across their lines of empire communications.
Government dispatches from Madrid, where Premier Juan Negrin's cabinet has re-established the capital, said insurgent shells had killed 16 persons and wounded 23 in a bombardment yesterday of the besieged city. They said more than 100 died in an insurgent air raid on Jativa and 20 in a raid on Alicante.
A proclamation by the Spanish government yesterday called on all to carry on resistance "to assure the independence of Spain and prevent our country from being drowned in a sea of blood, hatred and persecution."
Except for a tiny section of Catalonia, where a handful of government troops resisted against overwhelming odds, Franco was master of all northeast Spain.
Truce With Jews
In London, George Rublee, American director of the inter-governmental refugee committee, placed before the body of German government's promise of a conditional truce with Jews, and his own resignation.
The resignation was accepted and Sir Herbert Emerson, League of Nations assistant high commissioner for refugees, was appointed as successor to Rublee.
Reichsfuehrer Hitler's refugee plan was understood to make four main points:—1. Jews would be permitted to return to German trade and industry until their emigration could be arranged; 2. Young Jews would be permitted to leave Germany pro-

RECOGNITION OF INSURGENT REGIME HINTED

Chamberlain Says
British Situation
Changes Rapidly

London, Feb. 13.—P.—Prime Minister Chamberlain hinted today before the house of commons at early British and French recognition of the insurgent regime in Spain but said no decision had been made yet.
The prime minister said that with the situation changing rapidly it was impossible for him to give assurance the British government did not contemplate recognizing insurgent authorities as the De Saco or De Jure government of Spain.
(A De Facto government is one actually functioning although not yet put up permanently or not yet recognized. A De Jure government is a legal regime.)
"I may say, however," Chamberlain added, "that his majesty's government, who are in close touch with the French government, have taken no decision as yet in the matter."
Arthur Henderson, Laborite, had asked assurance that recognition was not contemplated.
Answering another question by Henderson whether commons would be consulted before any such fundamental change in policy is taken, the prime minister said amid ministerial cheers:
"The government must take the responsibility."
Feared Attack on Minorca
Chamberlain also informed the house that the British cruiser Devonshire, employed last week in insurgent negotiations leading to the Spanish government's surrender of Minorca, one of the Balearic islands, was put at the use of the insurgents to avert an attack on Minorca.
He said insurgent authorities had advised that an attack would be launched unless means for communication and possible surrender were made available.
He said insurgent authorities had

Lock of Lincoln's Hair is Discovered

New York, Feb. 13.—P.—Mrs. J. West Roosevelt, widow of a cousin of President Theodore Roosevelt, said today a lock of Abraham Lincoln's hair had been found in a jewel box where it had lain hidden for almost 70 years.
The discovery was made, Mrs. Roosevelt said, when her jewel box—in her family for 130 years—was sent to a jeweler recently to be repaired.
Removing the lining, the jeweler found an envelope on which Mrs. Roosevelt's uncle, the late George Gibbs, had written: "Hair of President Lincoln, Good Friday, April 14, 1865." Inside the envelope were a few strands of dark brown hair, tinged with grey.
Mrs. Roosevelt said she believed the hair came into possession of the family through a friend, Dr. Joseph K. Barnes, Lincoln's surgeon general, who cut the president's hair at the time of his death on April 14, 1865. She said another lock of Lincoln's hair also was in the family's possession.

PLANE MISSING WITH 5 ABOARD; JUNEAU, ALASKA

Is Believed To Have Been Forced Down
During Storm

Juneau, Alaska, Feb. 13.—(UP)—Hope virtually was abandoned today for five men missing nearly 24 hours in a Marine Airways plane on a flight from Ketchikan. A snowstorm and ice on the "inside passage" hampered search by air and sea.
The plane was believed down within 20 miles of Juneau but a dreaded "Taku wind" was blowing off Taku glacier and it was feared a northeastern blizzard had struck the craft. Only one chance in 10 was held for any of the missing men.
The pontoon-equipped plane was piloted by Lon Cope, famous for his mercy flights in the past.
His passengers were three traveling salesmen, George Chamberlain, Earl Clifford and E. E. Ek, and an insurance agent, John Chapell.
Last Heard From Sunday
The plane was last heard from shortly after noon Sunday, nearing the end of a 274-mile flight from Ketchikan. Cope radioed the Marine Airways base here that ice was forcing him into the icy, tossing waters of the passage. Then there was silence.
The U. S. coast guard cutter Haida and the bureau of fisheries boat Brant patrolled the Taku inlet near the end of the inside passage, corkscrew-like route which steamers

in TECHNICOLOR

TYRONE POWER • HENRY FONDA
NANCY KELLY • RANDOLPH SCOTT
A Twentieth Century-Fox Picture

THE IRON HORSE, chugging farther and farther West, brings conflict as well as prosperity into the lives of the simple, hardy pioneers, whose lands unscrupulous railroad magnates ruthlessly snatch for rights-of-way.

BARSHEE (Brian Donlevy), bullying representative of the St. Louis Midland, tries to terrorize a fearless pioneer woman into sacrificing her farm, and has to answer to her sons, Jesse James (Tyron Power) and Frank James (Henry Fonda).

BARSHEE is responsible for the death of Jesse's mother. Jesse kills him and flees to the hills, despite the pleas of Zee (Nancy Kelly), the beautiful, gentle girl who loves him and urges him to give himself up.

JESSE JAMES turns to a life of lawlessness, vowing to continue until he has made the railroad pay for his mother's death. And thus begins the most sensational career in the history of banditry. (to be continued)

PRIVATE GUARD LABOR SPYING IS CRITICISED

Legislation Recommended by Civil Liberties

Washington, Feb. 13.—(AP)—The senate civil liberties committee recommended legislation today to stop labor spying and to restrict the activities of company police.

The committee, headed by Senator LaFollette (Prog-Wis), was sharply critical of activities by police employed by the Republic Steel corporation and the Harlan County, Ky., coal operators association.

"The experiences in Harlan County, Ky., and in the industrial communities where Republic Steel corporation operates," the committee said, "indicate clearly that where private police systems are used as instruments of anti-union policy, they:

"(A) Abridge and violate the civil liberties of workers and other individuals.

"(B) Violate the rights of labor guaranteed by federal statutes.

"(C) Result in riots and bloodshed, causing loss of life and injury to persons and property.

"(D) Endanger the public safety.

"On the economic front," the committee declared, "the use of private police systems as agents in employers' anti-union policy causes disorganization of markets and interruptions in the free flow of commerce.

"Unfair Advantage"
"The ruthless and brutal activities of armed private guards to prevent union organization give unfair competitive advantage to those employers who oppress labor, create bitterness between labor and management, lead to strikes and cause interruptions in the flow of commerce.

"The use of private deputies in an anti-union campaign is inimical to the maintenance of orderly representative government. It leads to private usurpation of public authority, corruption of public officials, oppression of large groups of citizens under the authority of the state, and perversion of representative government."

"The committee, which will disband soon unless the senate grants it more funds, said the use of private police as an agency of labor policy is an attempt to impose upon labor a selfish private interest by means of private armies."

"The utilization of organized forces of men, money, and munitions by employers against employees to frustrate their attempt at self-organization," the report continued, "results in violent struggle instead of peaceful negotiations between labor and management."

"And as violence breeds violence, the continual intimidation, by force of self-respecting workers, proud of their heritage of freedom, is likely to rebound in the fury of the mob.

Blamed for "Armed Struggles"
"Often the cleavage has been so wide and deep between these groups that armed struggle has resulted. Then, not only are the civil and statutory rights of workers threatened, but life and property are endangered."

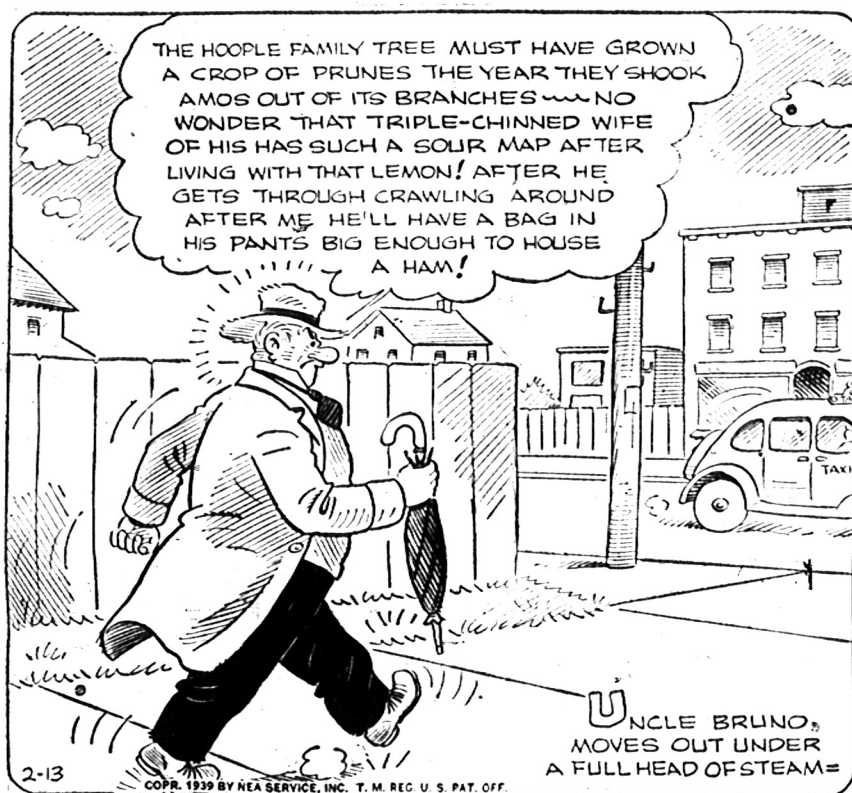

Discussing possible legislation, the committee said it wanted to prohibit "labor espionage and the shadowing, coercion and intimidation of workers in ordinary times and to restrict company police to company property during times of strike."

It recommended prohibiting the employment as armed company guards of persons "who have previous criminal records showing a tendency toward violence or the dangerous use of deadly weapons."

The committee detailed its criticisms of the Harlan County Coal Operators' association and the Republic Steel corporation, which operates in New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota and West Virginia.

A strike at Republic's Berger Manufacturing company in Canton, Ohio,

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

In 1935 was broken, the report said, "by the brutal attacks of the Republic guards, by the activities of spies and by a back-to-work vote in which Berger employees were not allowed to participate."

The vote was open only to employees of neighboring Republic plants, it said.

Girdler Criticized
The committee criticized Tom M. Girdler, chairman of the Republic board, for asserted discrepancies in his statements about the company's labor policies.

When questioned about "labor espionage, undercover work and the following of (union) organizers by (company) police," the committee said Girdler "has, in turn, denied, professed ignorance and admitted that Republic guards 'erred' and 'had lapses'."

As to Harlan county, the committee said a contract between the coal operators association and the United Mine Workers, signed last September, had brought peace "at least for the time being."

The committee said coal operators in the county had "subverted and corrupted the office of high sheriff in the years 1934-37 through many extraordinary financial families rendered to high sheriff Theodore R. Middleton, who entered upon his term of public office as a man of small means and in three years amassed a fortune of over $100,000."

Seattle, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Sheriff's deputies, extending their search for J. C. Young, 55, employee of the King county treasurer's office, who disappeared from his farm near Sunnydale a week ago, worked on two theories today—that the elderly bachelor had been slain or that he was suffering from amnesia.

While posters describing the missing man were being distributed throughout the west, Sheriff William R. Severson questioned further George Sacks, 45, Young's farm tenant.

Sacks, a world war veteran and former resident of Cicero, Ill., and Chicago, was held on an arrest charge. O. K. Bodie, Sheriff's deputy, told him he last saw Young residents said they saw Young late at 4:45 p. m.

Sacks was taken by deputies to a nearby house where he once resided. Bodie did not reveal the purpose of the search, but said the officers were conducting a thorough investigation into Sacks' activities for the past month.

A score of deputies searched Young farm during the week without finding a trace of the missing man.

Bodie said Sacks had been committed in July, 1925 to the state hospital for the criminal insane after a shooting in which a second wife was killed and he wounded. Bodie said Sacks was released June 23, 1932 after a hearing at which he was adjudged

COLDS ARE RAGING

Precautions Are Recommended. Follow This Simple Guide In Your Home. It May Save You And Your Family Much Suffering.

1. Get plenty of rest and sleep. Eat light, nourishing food. Drink plenty of water. Keep bowels open.
2. To Help Prevent Colds Developing... Use Vicks Vapo-nol—a few drops up each nostril at the first warning nasal irritation, snuffle or sneeze—to help Nature prevent the cold from developing. (If you have a head cold, use Vapo-nol to shrink swollen, irritated membranes and relieve the suffocating effects of clogging mucus.)
3. To Relieve Misery of a Developed Cold... Massage throat, chest, and back with Vicks VapoRub—spread a thick layer on chest, cover with a warm cloth and go to bed. Often, after a night of restful sleep, most of the misery of the cold is gone.

VAPORUB VICKS VA-TRO-NOL. Remember, colds DO spread. So live sensibly—and always have a bottle of Va-tro-nol and a jar of VapoRub handy.
