Impeachment study to begin in earnest

By WALTER TAYLOR
Washington Star-News

WASHINGTON — Nearly two years after the break in that spawned the Watergate scandals, the House Judiciary Committee this week will begin a formal process that could lead to the impeachment of President Nixon.

Working with a report from its hand-picked staff, headed by a former assistant attorney general, the committee will launch the fact-finding phase of its impeachment inquiry.

When it is through, the panel will make a report to the House, which will then decide whether grounds exist for impeachment.

Most of the committee members recognize that their findings never will be universally accepted, whether they go with the President or against him.

IF THE PRESIDENT was not involved, did he foster an atmosphere in the White House that brought others within his administration to perpetrate the crimes generically termed Watergate? Did his desire for isolation in the Oval Office prevent him from recognizing activities he should have seen?

If so, should he be forced from office even if not guilty of any specific offense? The inability to obtain all the known pieces compounds the puzzle. Even as the panel prepares for the proceedings that begin the "official" resolution of the impeachment question, the guest for information goes on.

A request for more than 100 tape-recorded conversations dealing with vital issues of the investigation remains outstanding. The President's "answer" to a committee subpoena for 42 other tapes has gone into the inquiry record with an asterisk.

The proceeding will begin — probably Thursday or Friday — with the presentation by Chief Impeachment Counsel John M. Doar, an assistant attorney for civil rights in the Johnson administration, of the findings of the committee's 100-man staff of lawyers and investigators.

The findings — contained in what has variously been described as a "statement of fact," "statement of information" and "trial book" — will represent the case against Nixon.

IT WILL attempt to define, on the basis of evidence collected during nearly six months of investigation, exactly what Nixon's role — if any — was in such matters as the Watergate break-in itself, the cover-up, the declaration of pre-presidential papers on his federal income tax returns, the alleged exchange of administration favors for campaign contributions.

The staff report will not suggest whether the President should be impeached for any of his activities — that is the responsibility of the 38 elected representatives on the panel.

The presentation will contain footnotes to thousands and thousands of documents, tapes and transcripts that the staff has collected to substantiate its findings.

The evidence, kept secret until now in the offices of the impeachment staff, has been culled from records and files of the White House, the courts, the office of the Watergate special prosecutor, the Senate Watergate Committee, various executive agencies and congressional committees and elsewhere.

The committee probably will not examine the evidence until Doar's presentation — expected to last from four days to a week — is completed.

BEFORE THAT, the President's chief Watergate lawyer, James D. St. Clair, will be permitted to "respond" to the staff case against his client.

The public, however, probably will be excluded from the initial phases of the proceeding. Because the committee will be hearing charges that could bear on the criminal prosecutions of some Watergate defendants but that might not relate to the impeachment question, and because the committee may decide that some allegations against the President are unfounded but still could be damaging to his reputation, Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., is expected to conduct Doar's presentation in closed sessions.

As the committee begins to view and listen to the actual evidence, however, some of the meetings will be opened to the press and public. The rules adopted last week permit radio and television coverage of some of these meetings, and the three major TV networks reportedly have decided to rotate their live coverage.

Kissinger to meet with Russian head

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger will break off his Middle East shuttle diplomacy between Israel and Syria to meet Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko on Tuesday, U.S. sources announced today.

Gromyko had been in Damascus conferring with the Syrians while Kissinger has been in Israel and in Amman, Jordan.

"Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and Soviet Foreign Secretary Andrei Gromyko have agreed to meet in Cyprus on May 7 for a continuing review of U.S.-Soviet relations including the situation in the Middle East," the announcement said.

"We express appreciation to the government of Cyprus for arranging the meeting on short notice," State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said. "It was worked out with the full understanding and approval of the government of Israel." He added that the date for the meeting had jelled in the past 24 hours.

Kissinger is expected to take off for Cyprus at 8 a.m. (1 a.m. CDT) Tuesday morning and be back in Israel sometime in the late afternoon. He then goes on to Damascus Wednesday to continue his efforts to bring about an Israeli-Syrian troop disengagement in the Golan Heights.

The announcement of the meeting with Gromyko came shortly after he arrived here from Amman.

The meeting on Cyprus will deal not only with the Middle East but with such questions as the Strategic Arms Limitation agreement, the European Security conference and other issues leading up to President Nixon's scheduled trip to Moscow in June.

Kissinger and Gromyko met in Geneva a little over a week ago when Kissinger received a pledge of Soviet cooperation in bringing peace to the Middle East. Gromyko, co-chairman with Kissinger of the Geneva Middle East peace conference, flew to Damascus Sunday for talks with President Hafez Assad.

U.S. officials said Kissinger is not going to Cyprus to make a deal with Russia on the Middle East and that none is expected as a result of the Gromyko-Kissinger meeting.

It was understood that the Soviets requested the meeting originally in Syria but that the United States suggested Cyprus as an alternative. It also was understood that the meeting was expected to deal about half and half with the Middle East and pre-summit issues.

Kissinger conferred Sunday in Amman with Jordanian King Hussein to discuss a Jordanian-Israeli troop disengagement program, then flew back to Israel today. A high American source traveling with Kissinger said the secretary was "very confident" he would win an agreement.

Kissinger and his wife Nancy flew to Tel Aviv's Ben-Gurion airport from Amman where they had a one-day respite from the Damascus-Jerusalem-Alexandria shuttles of last week. Kissinger passed up newsmen's microphones and strode directly to his bulletproof limousine for the hour's drive to Jerusalem.

At almost the same time Kissinger was meeting Mrs. Meir and the Israeli leadership, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko was meeting tonight in Damascus with the Syrian president. Arab press reports said Gromyko also had met with Yasser Arafat, leader of the Palestinian refugees.

London diplomatic reports said Gromyko was under Kremlin orders to follow a hard line in the current Middle East diplomacy in Damascus.

Did officials get rich before PCRR folded?

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A federal criminal investigation has developed evidence that some high officials of the Penn Central railroad made millions of dollars in personal profit before the nation's sixth largest corporation went bankrupt in June 1970, sources familiar with the case say.

A federal grand jury that met secretly in Philadelphia for 18 months went out of business late last year without being asked to indict anyone, the sources say.

The grand jury investigation, run by the Justice Department, was separate from an investigation by the Securities and Exchange Commission, which last week filed suit charging the railroad and certain individuals with massive fraud to conceal losses and deceive stockholders.

The SEC suit is a civil action which, although it seeks to recover personal gain by some former railroad officials and others, also seeks to enjoin defendants from continuing actions which presumably they couldn't take anyway after the railroad went bankrupt.

C. Oliver Burt III, an assistant in the U.S. attorney's office here, said the investigation still is active but declined further comment. Burt was assisted by a Justice Department lawyer from Washington who also said he could not comment.

Sources say the grand jury had difficulty obtaining all the records it needed.

These sources say prosecutors still hope to obtain the records and present their case again to a new grand jury in time to beat the five-year statute of limitations of federal conspiracy charges.

The grand jury investigation, according to sources, focused on five key figures "and a few aides."

Daley taken to hospital

CHICAGO (AP) — Mayor Richard J. Daley was taken by ambulance to Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital today, a hospital spokesman said.

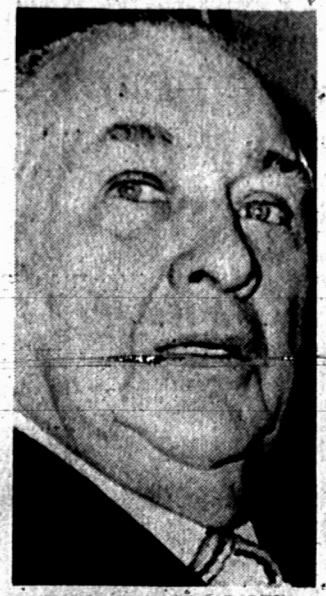

City Hall officials said they could not confirm that Daley was ill. A spokesman in the mayor's office said Daley had been scheduled to attend a luncheon at the Palmer House hotel.

Daley, 71, recently celebrated his 20th year as mayor of Chicago.

One spokesman in the mayor's office said Daley went to the hospital after completing some paper work. The spokesman did not elaborate on Daley's condition. He said the mayor did not attend the luncheon.

There have been no reports that Daley, whose outward appearance has been robust, had been ill.

The hospital spokesman declined any comment except to confirm that the mayor was admitted to the emergency room.

Police charged Elkins with failure to yield while turning left.

Both drivers and passengers in the cars were taken to St. Mary's Hospital.

Police said Paris was not injured.

Another accident occurred at 1:33 a.m. Sunday on Ill. 1, south of Ill. 17. Police said a car driven by Ronald Jackson of 411 N. Police charged Jackson with driving too fast for conditions.

In an accident that occurred on Ill. 102, 1 1/2 miles west of U.S. 45, two persons were treated and released from St. Mary's Hospital. According to state police, Lee A. Courville of St. Anne, 19, was eastbound on Ill. 102 when the driver apparently fell asleep and ran off the road, striking two junk cars in a lot before coming to rest. Police said Courville and a passenger in his car, Curtis W. Spencer, 19, St. Anne, were injured in the accident. Police charged Courville with driving too fast for conditions.

Contamination near Herscher cleared away

HERSCHER — Contamination of waters from fertilizer containing ammonia, resulting in a fish kill, appears to have cleared away completely, the manager of the Herscher Grain Co. told The Daily Journal today.

Richard Cotter said water in Horse Creek and other streams was tested Sunday by a Chicago technician from the state's Environmental Protection Agency.

The water in several locations was within a safe range, the EPA representative reported to Cotter.

The fertilizer leak originated at the grain company around 4 p.m., Friday. A pipe to the tank was broken when a ladder accidentally fell against it causing it to break.

The leak was fixed in about 30 minutes by company workers and firemen from the Herscher department.

Before the leak could be repaired it was estimated that more than 2,000 gallons of the fertilizer, which contained 20 per cent ammonia, had gone into the ground.

Firemen pured about 15,000 gallons of water onto the fertilizer. The water ran down a drainage ditch, through a section of the village storm sewer and into Horse Creek which runs north of the village and east.

Tens of thousands of fish killed was the preliminary estimate made by Arnold Chlupsa, Illinois Department of Conservation officer. He could not be reached this morning for a final estimate.

Missouri truck driver killed in I-57 crash

BUCKLEY — Iroquois County's second fatal accident of the year occurred early today when the driver of a tractor-trailer truck was killed on I-57 about 5 1/2 miles south of the Buckley exit.

The victim was Lawrence Davis, 32, St. Clair, Mo., employed by Oliver Truck Lines, Mexico, Mo.

State Trooper Jerry Courtney reported the accident occurred at 3:12 a.m. when the Davis truck struck the rear of another northbound tractor-trailer truck. The other driver was Gary D. Allen, Greenfield, Tenn. He was not injured.

Wayne Knapp, Iroquois County coroner, reported the Davis truck struck the rear of the Allen Truck and went into the median, striking one or two reflector posts.

Allen was able to keep control of his rig and pulled onto the right side of the highway.

In the Davis truck was a load of fire brick being delivered to Youngstown Steel Corp., Chicago. Damage to the truck was estimated at $20,000 according to the state trooper. About $5,000 damage was done to the Allen truck.

Knapp said an inquest will be scheduled later.

Mr. Davis is survived by his widow Darlene; daughter Donna, 9; and son Kenneth, 1 1/2.

Firemen keep blaze from house

BEAVERVILLE — About 50 firemen, neighbors and friends were on hand and prevented damage to a house and garage when fire destroyed a barn on a farm northeast of Beaverville Saturday.

The Beaverville department received the call at 6:45 p.m. from Mrs. Ivan Amey, wife of the tenant farmer, when she returned home.

The cause of the fire has not been determined and there is no estimate of the loss. Approximately 1,000 bales of straw and hay were burned in the blaze.

The Donovan firemen were called as backup to remain at the Beaverville station. Papineau and St. Ann's firefighters sent men and trucks to the farm located 4 1/2 miles northeast of Beaverville.

In addition to the firemen and their equipment, friends and neighbors responded and farmers brought fire trucks filled with water. The strong wind was presenting a problem and there was fear that the house and garage might be damaged by the flames.

The owner of the farm is Archie Castagna.

The Loyalty Day Parade which marched through Bradley Sunday attracted hundreds of onlookers even though rain clouds periodically hid the sun from view. Sports

Women's sports are shortchanged

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Male athletes get millions of dollars in financial support while women athletes receive virtually nothing at Illinois' 10 state-supported universities, a legislative study shows.

The report was prepared for the Illinois House subcommittee on women's athletics after it was reported that a woman athlete training for the Olympics was denied access to training facilities at her school.

"It's my impression that nobody is out to destroy the athletic programs of any of the universities, but in view of impending federal equal opportunity guidelines, the legislature is going to have to do something," said Rep. Jack Beaupre, D-Springfield, chairman of the subcommittee. The group will meet Wednesday to discuss the report.

Although women now comprise 45 percent of the student population at the 10 schools, only 4.4 percent of the $4 million budgeted for intercollegiate athletics in 1973-74 was spent on women's sports, the study showed.

At the University of Illinois alone, $411,000 in scholarships and grants were awarded to male athletes in the current school year. Not a cent was spent on women athletes.

The study, completed last week, also describes more subtle forms of discrimination against women who want to compete in university sports.

"This shows up for example in a men's team flying to an athletic contest, staying at comfortable accommodations, and eating good food, all at university expense," said the report, written by William Moskoff, economics professor at Sangamon State University.

In contrast to this, women are often asked to travel by car, it said. It said expense allowances were lower for women than for men.

Male athletes are usually covered by increased insurance for any sports-related accidents, it said. Women, the report said, often have only the standard insurance policy coverage available to all students.

The study said the average facility used by women athletes is 21 years older than ones used mostly by men.

In addition, women's teams are often given second hand equipment to work with.

It is difficult to develop either maximum competence or a sense of self-esteem under such conditions, the report said.

"The results were absolutely incredible, said Rep. Giddy Dyer, R-Hinsdale, chairman of the Higher Education committee. "What these public universities are doing is apparently illegal, immoral and unconstitutional."

Committee sources said a bill may be introduced to bar discrimination in granting aid to students, providing meals and lodging allowances to school teams and furnishing access to school facilities.

The schools surveyed were: the University of Illinois, Northern Illinois, Southern Illinois, Western Illinois, Eastern Illinois, Illinois State, Northeastern Illinois and Chicago State.

Big Red Machine cranking up

CHICAGO (AP) — Manager Sparky Anderson has that feeling and if he's right, the Cincinnati Reds should finally start rolling.

"We're getting ready to move," said Anderson after the Reds defeated the Chicago Cubs 5-2 Sunday to salvage the finale of a long-played three game series.

"Johnny Bench is getting ready. I can tell he's only a moment away. Once he starts hitting, away we go."

Bench, who collected three hits against the Cubs Sunday including his fourth home run of the season, came into the contest with an .192 average.

"I hope Sparky's right," said Bench. "He knows me better than anyone." Bench then smiled and added, "If that's right, maybe he should have kept me out of the lineup."

Then he thought a moment and said, "I feel like I'm ready to start. I feel good out there today. I thought I was aggressive. Maybe I'm a week away. I stayed on top of the ball against Bill Bonham and that's good because Bonham is a tough pitcher. He has a great changeup and a good fast ball. I was aggressive 3-4 and taking the wide throw, setting the stage for a two-run Philadelphia rally in the ninth inning that lifted the Phillies to a 3-2 triumph over Los Angeles.

Forster preserves life, limb, win

Saves Sox with catch of vicious line drive

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The red blaster on Terry Forster's non-slicing hand is perhaps the most vivid manifestation of the Milwaukee Brewers' miseries.

Forster, the Chicago White Sox' relief ace, came out to pitch to Bobby Mitchell in the ninth inning Sunday after the Brewers had slashed a 4-0 deficit to 4-3 on a three-run home run by Don Money. They had runners on first and second base with one out.

Mitchell hit a vicious line drive directly into the glove of a startled Forster, who recovered in time to double George Scott off first and preserve the White Sox' fifth consecutive victory by a final 4-3 margin. The Brewers' fourth defeat in five games dropped them below the .500 mark this season.

"You see a game like that and you know you're just not supposed to win. That's all there is to it," Brewer Manager Del Crandall said. "You don't hit them too much harder than that. You can, but not often."

Forster said Mitchell's line drive was so hard it scared him. He caught it, but it landed in his own glove.

"I got a blister, right here," Forster said, extending a sore right ring finger. "I scared the hell out of me, a ball coming at me 300 miles an hour like that," he said. "Thank God it hit me in the glove. As a matter of fact, it bounced off my glove and into my chest."

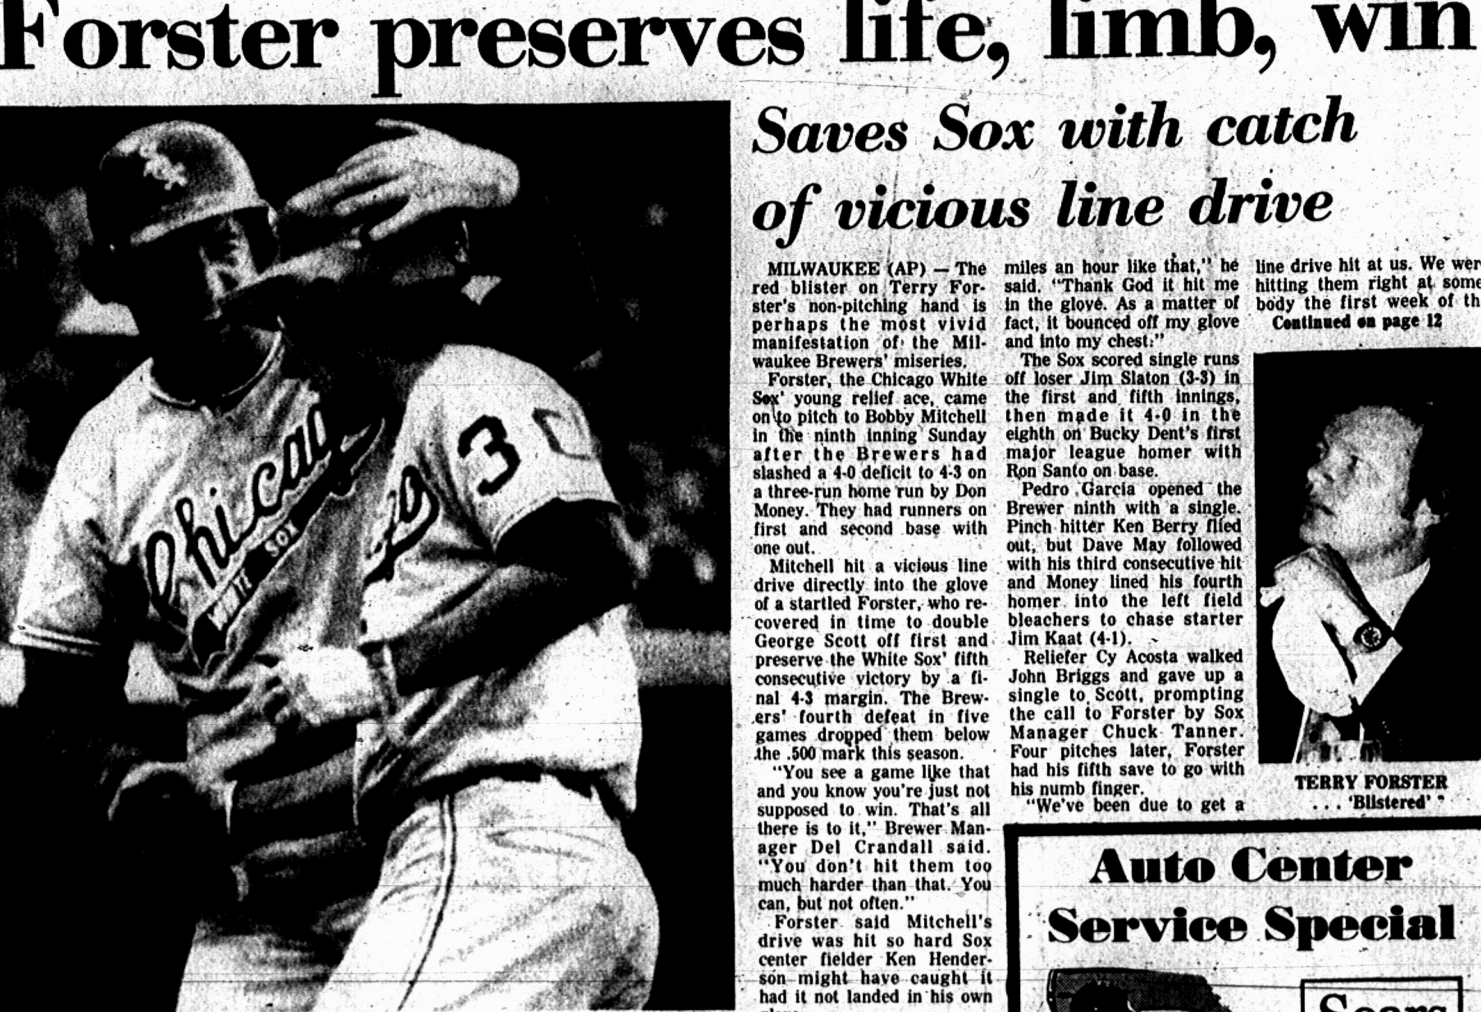

The Sox scored single runs off lower Jim Slaton (3-3) in the first and fifth innings, then made it 4-0 in the eighth on Ducky Dent's first major league homer with Ron Santo on base.

Pedro Garcia opened the Brewers ninth with a single. Pinch hitter Ken Berry filled in for Slaton, but Dave May followed with his third consecutive hit and Money lined his fourth homer into the left field bleachers to chase starter Jim Kaat (4-1).

Reliever Cy Acosta walked John Briggs and gave up a single to Scott, prompting the call to Forster by Sox Manager Chuck Tanner. Four pitches later, Forster had his fifth save to go with his ninth finger.

"We've been due to get a line drive hit at us. We were hitting them right at some body the first week of the season."

Killebrew not ready for wheelchair yet

By the Associated Press

Minnesota's Harmon Killebrew, at 37, is not the feared slugger he once was, but he still has his moments.

He had two of them Sunday, unloading career home runs 549 and 550, as the Twins blasted the Detroit Tigers 8-3.

"I don't remember the last time I hit two in one game," said the soft-spoken Killebrew. "I was just looking for the ball."

He hit a two-run shot off Detroit lefty Woody Fryman in the first inning and followed it with a two-run home run in the seventh and the Royals' Vada Pinson cracked a 2-2 tie with a two-run homer in the eighth.

KCC tunes up for meet by winning 2

ELGIN—Kankakee Community College defeated Elgin Community College 8-3 and 8-2 here Sunday afternoon, earning a split in a pair of four effort in the state inter-sectional baseball tournament at LeVasseur Park.

Kankakee returned with a three-for-four effort in the first game, hitting three home runs and raising its average 100 points in the past 10 days to the .350 neighborhood.

Lambert had two hits in the nightcap, and Bryant Fahrow homered in the fourth inning with one man on base. DuVosin also had two hits.

Joe Arbour got the victory but needed help from Corey Baker in the sixth and Don Joy in the seventh.

Today's game starts at 4 p.m. The winner qualifies for the state finals, also to be hosted by KCC Friday at LeVasseur.

The Cavaliers, defeating Washington 8-1 for the section IV title and well-liked thanks to a respectable 34-12 record, dropped 2-1 and 10-0 decisions to Triton Junior College Saturday night at LeVasseur.

Triton was the 1973 state junior college champion but has since been eliminated from the competition.

Freshman Martin Donley, a product of Tri-Point High School, won his fourth game against two losses in Sunday's opener, and he had solid hitting from Dave Lambert and Roberto Krasinski.

Donley had three hits in four trips to the plate and three runs batted in.

Julius Meyer and Ed Krasinski each had two hits. One of Meyer's was a home run in the second inning with nobody on base.

Parent closing in on The Lord for most saves

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — There is an automobile bumper sticker that reads: "Only the Lord saves more than Bernie Parent."

The New York Rangers' Parent sat in front of his locker after the Flyers' fourth victory of the series — all on home ice — and admitted he was dog tired.

"I thought this series would never end," said the Philadelphia netminder. "But we got a shot at the (Stanley) Cup now, and that's all that counts."

Parent looked ahead to the seven-game final series starting Tuesday night in Boston against the Bruins.

"The thing that will give us confidence is the game we beat them at the end of the year to clinch first place in our division. That's the one we still remember."

The Flyers would rather forget that victory was the first in five years over the Bruins. Philadelphia has won only once in Boston since entering the league in 1967, and the overall series stands 4-30-4 in favor of the Bruins.

The 31-year-old Dornhoefer scored the key goals for the Flyers against the Rangers Sunday, the third, and the fourth and winning shot. The Dornhoefer's first goal booted the Flyers to a 3-1 lead. Then New York made it 3-2 on a score by Steve Vickers. It looked as if the Rangers were rallying, but Dornhoefer took the heart out of them 12 seconds later with his second goal of the game.

Costello credits Bucks' defense

BOSTON (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks, noted for their mighty offense, talked of defense and the defensive-minded Boston Celtics spoke of offense as the two teams headed for Milwaukee and the fifth game of their show-down for the National Basketball Association championship.

"Our defense was a lot better, but I expected it to be as we went along," Milwaukee Coach Larry Costello said Sunday after the Bucks' evened the best-of-seven series 2-2 with a 98-90 victory.

"We broke down offensively," Boston captain John Havlicek said. "We didn't have real good rhythm."

Pearson 'owns' Talladega

TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP) — "It's really not my favorite race track, but I'll take a victory anywhere I can get it," said Pearson.

That was David Pearson, taking Sunday after winning the Winston 500 Grand National Stock Car race at Alabama International Speedway — a 2.66 mile oval he drives as easily as he does his lawn mower back home.

Pearson, a greying 39-year-old, three-time stock car racing champion, beat out a succession of challengers en route to his third straight Winston 500 triumph and a check for $25,000.

McNamara extends streak to 7

Bishop McNamara, playing on its sixth day out of the past seven, rattled Peoria Spalding 7-4 and 1-1 at Le-Vasseur Park Sunday afternoon, extending the Irish win streak to seven straight and 18-10 for the year.

"I don't like to talk about it, it's gruesome," said Skip Shapoff, trainer of the runner-up who was one of 10 in the field who by himself probably would have been a 100-1 shot.

"We were beaten by a horse named Near Gay in our maiden race Jan. 30 last year at Hialeah. Near Gay later was burned to death in a fire."

Impeachment study to begin in earnest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly two years after the break-in that spawned the Watergate scandals, the House Judiciary Committee this week will begin a formal process that could lead to the impeachment of President Nixon.

Working with a report from its hand-picked staff, headed by a former assistant attorney general, the committee will launch the fact-finding phase of its impeachment inquiry.

It is through this phase that the committee will make a report to the House, which will then decide whether grounds exist for impeachment.

Most of the committee members recognize that their findings never will be universally accepted, whether they go with the President or against him.

IF THE PRESIDENT was not involved, did he foster an atmosphere in the White House that brought others into the administration to perpetrate the crimes generally termed Watergate? Did his desire for isolation in the Oval Office prevent him from recognizing activities he should have seen?

If so, should he be forced from office even if not guilty of any specific offense?

The inability to obtain all the known pieces compounds the puzzle. Even as the panel prepares for the proceedings that begin the "official" resolution of

'Crucial' Kissinger peace effort starts

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger flew back to Israel today to start a crucial week of shuttle diplomacy aimed at ending the fighting between Israel and Syria.

A high American official said Kissinger was "very confident" he would win an agreement to a cease-fire.

The official said Kissinger did not win a troop disengagement agreement on this trip but he might make a sixth visit to the Middle East within two weeks and that this depends on his talks and the last intimation, when Spalding loaded the bases and got only one out.

Did officials get rich before PCRR folded?

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A federal criminal investigation has developed evidence that some high officials of the Penn Central railroad made millions of dollars in personal gain before the nation's sixth largest corporation went bankrupt in June 1970, sources familiar with the case say.

A federal grand jury met last week to hear the case.

Kissinger's trip to Jerusalem today was to learn how much of the captured Golan Heights territory Israel was willing to return to Syria. The secretary of state is expected to return to the answer.

The official said Kissinger's trips to Jerusalem and Damascus last week brought the troop pullback talks "a considerable step forward" with issues defined and differences narrowed.

Contamination near Herscher cleared away

HERSCHER (AP) — Contamination of waters from fertilizer containing ammonia, resulting in a fish kill, appears to have cleared away completely, the manager of the Herscher Grain Co. said today.

Richard Corder said water in Horse Creek and other streams was tested Sunday by a Chicago technician from the state environmental protection agency.

The water in several locations was within a safe range, the EPA representative reported to Corder.

The fertilizer leak originated at the grain company around 4 p.m. Friday. A pipe to the tank was broken when a ladder accidentally fell against it causing it to break.

The leak was fixed in about 30 minutes by company workers and firemen from the Herscher department.

Before the leak could be repaired it was estimated that more than 2,000 gallons of the fertilizer, which contained 20 per cent ammonia, had gone into the ground.

Fifteen pounds of 15,000 gallons of water onto the fertilizer. The water ran down a drainage ditch, through a section of the village storm sewer and into Horse Creek which runs north of the village and east.

Tens of thousands of fish killed was the preliminary estimate made by Arnold Chappas, Illinois Department of Conservation officer. He could not be reached this morning for a final estimate.

Maass: no tie between old, new I-57 crimes

A Homeowner man, who does not wish to be identified, was not injured in an I-57 shooting Sunday night, about a half mile east of I-57, near Maass.

Two other men, shot early Saturday on I-57, are still in St. Mary's Hospital.

One of the two was to undergo surgery today, and the second is still in serious condition in intensive care.

The hospital reported Ronald Patterson, 28, Chicago, was in serious condition this morning; and that Willie Irish, 22, Chicago, was in fair condition. Both were in serious condition Saturday night.

The Homeowner resident told Tom Schultz, Maass police chief, that he was rounding a curve when he saw a car occupied by two men parked on the side of the road. The car was a four-door 1974 Buick, either dark green or dark blue, with Indiana license plate.

Schultz said a spent 30-30 cartridge was found at the scene. He said there were other reports in the area of transformers having been shot, with apparently the same type of gun.

Nixon's fate could be held by 'Pete, Ed'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A colleague in Congress says President Nixon's fate may rest in the hands of "a couple of guys named Pete and Ed."

Pete—Rep. Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee—is becoming well known to a week in a completed.

BEFORE THAT, the President's chief Watergate lawyer, James D. St. Clair, will be permitted to "respond" to the staff case against his client.

The public, however, probably will be excluded from the initial phases of the proceeding. Because the committee will be hearing charges that could bear on the criminal prosecutions of some Watergate defendants but that might not relate to the impeachment question, and because the committee must decide that some allegations against the President are unfounded, but still could be damaging to his reputation, Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., said Sunday.

But as the committee of 21 Democrats and 17 Republicans begins its impeachment hearings this week, Nixon's most important Republican ally in the Senate, Sen. Edward Brooke, R-Mass., said Sunday.

He is a cautious and shy legislator, but he is not a man who is easily won over. He has his own responsibilities and he finds his new prominence almost distasteful.

Hutchinson says he has not made up his mind on impeaching Nixon. He says he will make it up on the evidence; he will not be an automatic part.

In an interview, Hutchinson expressed surprise when he is compared to the Senate Watergate committee's Howard H. Baker, who became a national figure in the Senate inquiry into Watergate and the White House.

"I am just a humble congressman," says Hutchinson, drawing back. "But you are about to become a figure in the Senate."

He holds two fingers close together. "Just a footnote."

Does he welcome his position?

"I don't want to run away from the job or anything like that. I'm perfectly willing to do it. But it does put more of a burden on me. I had no ambition for

Log 10 million years old; can still be burned

FORTLAKE, Calif. (UPI) — A redwood log discovered near the Orville Dam has been determined to be 10 million years old and still capable of burning.

Crews of the California Department of Water Resources found the log imbedded in a 30-foot deep soft rock along with a fern, some fir needles and a leaf.

Examination of the 30-pound log, which was three feet long and 15 inches in diameter, was made by Dr. D. L. Astor of the University of California at Los Angeles.

The perfectly preserved Miocene age specimen is now on display at the Lake Orville Visitors Center.

Calley's sentence won't be reduced

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon notified the Army over the weekend that he will not further reduce the sentence of the convicted mass murderer of South Vietnamese civilians at My Lai in 1968.

Pentagon officials confirmed Saturday that Nixon had sent Army Secretary Howard H. Callaway a one-paragraph memo that said he was washing his hands of the matter. The memo read: "I have reviewed the record of the case of the United States versus Calley and have decided that no further action by me in this case is necessary or appropriate."

The Army stripped Calley of his first lieutenant's commission Saturday under a provision of his original sentence that could not be implemented until after Nixon completed a review of the case. The sentence also called for dismissal from the service and forfeiture of all pay.

Calley, 30, is free on bail. Because of the reduced sentence the convicted mass murderer will be eligible for parole in less than six months.

Callaway reduced Calley's 30-year sentence to 10 years for killing "not less than 22" South Vietnamese villagers during a raid on the hamlet March 16, 1968. The sentence was later reduced.

Witnesses said the plane might have exploded before it crashed. The wings were found 700 yards from the shattered fuselage.

One person was killed and three others injured when a vintage Stearman biplane made a crash landing on Interstate 85 east of Burlington, N.C. Sunday, hit a camper van and then plunged over a bridge.

Mrs. Frances Ison, 52, Spartanburg, S.C., a passenger in the van driven by her husband, James, 60, died of head injuries at an area hospital. Ison was treated and released.

A passenger in the plane, Dr. Peopler, 23, Louisville, S.C., was taken to Memorial Hospital in Chapel Hill in serious condition with second and third degree burns. The pilot, Vernon Dickerson, 26, also of Louisville, was hospitalized with a fractured back, jaw and wrist.

A prominent Lakewood, N.J., physician was killed Saturday when the private plane he was flying crashed on a golf course near North Myrtle Beach, S.C. He was Dr. Milton Jaybush, 50, a family medicine specialist.

He was the maximum possible.

Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski charged that the contribution was made between April 18 and April 27, 1972, in connection with the general election and with primary elections, political conventions and caucuses held to select candidates for the offices.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Energy-related industries are violating tax laws to the tune of millions of dollars by deducting costs of political advertising as business expenses, a Senate panel was told today.

Harvey J. Shulman, an attorney for the Media Access Project, a public interest group in Washington, told the Senate commerce environment subcommittee.

"We are left with the sorry conclusion that, just as the oil companies tried to buy candidates with illegal political contributions, the energy industry is trying to use the minds of the American people by dominating the marketplace with ideas with political ads apparently financed by illegal tax and deduction schemes," Shulman said.

His testimony today was based on data submitted by energy-related industries to the Senate Commerce subcommittee.

Of the major oil companies, which Shulman estimated may have spent $50 million on ads last year, only Mobil Oil admitted to having bought any political advertising.

However, he contended, many of the advertisements were political on their face.

2 coeds abducted

CHICAGO (UPI) — Two University of Illinois coeds, hitchhiking from Champaign to Chicago, told police Saturday they were abducted and beaten by two men who picked them up in a car.

Sandra Masel, 19, Palos Heights, and Linda J. Maschek, 18, Lombard, said they managed to escape when the car hit a guard rail on the Dan Ryan Expressway south of Chicago.

Taxi driver Daniel Behr, 21, Chicago, said he encountered the girls screaming and running along the shoulder of the road. He drove them to a friend's house in Oak Forest where they were treated for bruises then interviewed by state police.

After the accident, the two men left the girls run away from the car, a 1968 model two-tone sedan, which police believe was stolen from the Champaign area. The car was found abandoned at the scene of the accident. The girls later signed complaints against the two men who fled.

More lawmakers disclosing 'net worth'

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 80 of the 53 members of Congress have voluntarily disclosed public disclosure of their net worth or net financial worth.

Another 25 contacted in an Associated Press survey say they are preparing to make a public disclosure of their net worth or net financial worth.

Those of us who have been elected to the legislative branch can help restore credibility in government by being frank and open in all respects," says Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah. "One way to be candid is to make full disclosure of personal finances."

Moss gives an accounting every two years. His most recent statement listed $118,636 in assets, against $158,917 in liabilities.

Sen. Howard M. Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, disclosed his net financial worth immediately upon being appointed to serve out the remainder of fuller disclosure. The House, however, has acted on neither bill.

Most members who have moved on their own to disclose their net worth say they did so in an attempt to restore the credibility of government, especially in light of the Watergate scandal.

Elections in 3 states open busy vote period

By The Associated Press

The 1974 election season expands Tuesday when nominees for two gubernatorial races and three Senate seats will be chosen in Alabama, Ohio and North Carolina.

The primaries will inaugurate a busy six-week period in which 20 states will choose nominees for the November general election.

In Alabama, Gov. George Wallace is heavily favored to win re-election. He faces four other Democrats, headed by state Sen. Eugene McLean and former Gov. James E. Folsom.

Should Wallace fail to get 50 percent of the vote cast, the runoff will be held June 4. Should he win, however, he would face only token November opposition from Republican Elvin McCarver.

Alabama's other major race includes freshman Sen. James B. Allen against Rep. Taylor. Allen is favored to win in a race in which no Republican candidate.

In Ohio, Democrats will settle a strong fight between former astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. and Sen. Howard Metzenbaum. Ralph Perle, the mayor of Cleveland, is expected to defeat Sen. Metzenbaum.

Among incumbent congressmen renominated in primary races were Reps. Jake Pickle of Austin, Wright Patman of Texas, and Bob Poage of West Virginia.

Paris 'confident'

PARIS (UPI) — Francois Mitterrand, the Communist-backed candidate for President of France, said today he is so sure of victory in next Sunday's runoff he already has started working on his first decisions as head of state.

"I go into the fight with calm resolution," he said. "At ready today I have begun formulating the responsibilities I will have to assume after May 18."

In an election this Sunday that spelled the end of Gaullism's 16-year rule, Mitterrand won 43.4 percent of the vote and his leading rival, conservative Finance Minister Valéry Giscard d'Estaing, 32.8 percent.

The 18 other candidates, including Gaullist Jacques Chirac and Giscard d'Estaing will fight a straight battle in a runoff vote May 18.

MOORE GROVE GARDENS OR SURROUNDING ROUTE 80 North (Fair Street)

The party's over. Grandstands were empty after the Cannonade race, after the 100th anniversary of the Derby Saturday. More than 100,000 people were at the track to watch Cannonade take the winner's cup. (UPI Telephoto)

Cannonade jinxed colt?

LOUISVILLE (AP) — If Cannonade, the new Kentucky Derby champ, were the worrying kind, he might waste away in a bag of bones looking over his shoulder and wondering when he might collide with a freight train or meet some other disaster.

He is now running in the shadow of the Hudson County jinx.

When longest Hudson County runner second to the bay grandson of Bold Ruler in Saturday's 100th Derby, Cannonade, rattled Pecos Spelling 7-4 and 11-1 at LeVasseur Park Sunday afternoon, extending the Irish win streak to seven straight and 18-10 for the year and putting them a step closer to possibly eclipsing last year's 23-12 mark. The 10-run rule was in effect in the second quarter.

John Woinowski homered in each game, giving the McNamara catcher five in the year and only two shy of the school record of seven set in 1971 by Tim Power.

McNamara plays at home today at 1 o'clock.

Woinowski led off the second inning of the game with the first of his two homers, and three more McNamara runs were to follow.

Steve Tiburtin walked, scored on the triple by Mark Yonke, who in turn marched in on Jeff Brown's single.

Brousseau then stole second base, went to third on a wild pitch and scored on a sacrifice by Steve Davis.

Davis was credited with the victory and, before timing and needing help from Mark McNamara in the fifth inning, allowed three hits.

The Irish strung together seven singles in a row in the third inning of the nightcap, scored on the triple by Steve Davis.

Steve Hoyer struck out six, but McNamara's catcher turned to an old cliché in saying: "Now it's a three-game series." The victory regained the home court advantage for the Bucks, but neither Havlicek nor McNamara placed much emphasis on that.

Cottello pulled a surprise move designed to break through Boston's full-court press. He started 4-foot Mickey Davis, normally a forward, in the backcourt with Robertson.

"The change helped us a lot," Cottello said. "We had a taller team and we also had more player power. We figured that at the very least would create problems for them. We're able to court, we're able to rebound, we're able to shoot."

"We broke down offensively," Boston captain John Havlicek said. "We didn't have real good rhythm."

Cottello said from page 10 game losing streak and soap Houston's five-game victory.

Reds 5, Cubs 2. Home runs by Joe Morgan and Johnny Bench sparked Cincinnati. Bench also delivered a run-scoring single, as did Tony Perez.

Giants 4, Expos 1. Mike Caldwell tossed a six-hitter for the Giants in the first game while Tom Seaver pitched a four-hitter in the nightcap and San Francisco took advantage of four Montreal errors for seven unearned runs.

Braves 3, Pirates 2. Ron Reed and Tom House teamed on a six-hitter and Dave Johnson belted a two-run homer for Atlanta. The Braves scored all their runs in the third on Hank Aaron's double. Johnson's homer, a walk to Ivan Murrell, and a single by Reed and Ralph Garr's single.

Padres 4, Mets 4. John Milner's two-run homer in the 10th inning, his third home run in as many games, lifted the Mets to a 4-3 victory in the nightcap. He had hit for 17 runs in his first 64 innings this year, he has allowed only two earned runs in his last 19 innings over eight games.

These stoppages, plus six yellow light periods, cut 61 laps out of the racing time. But Pearson still averaged 130.220 miles per hour, his apple red and white Mercury frequently turning laps at 188 mph.

"That's a super team," he said. "They came back well and they're going to be up there. They have a lot of real good hitters."

Benefit boosts symphony

By JOAN HURLING

It could have been a repeat of the high school prom night—full moon, apple blossoms drifting on the breeze, the faint sounds of dance music floating across the golf course.

But from night was anywhere from 10 to 20 years in the past for those attending the Symphony Guild's "Fete Printemps" dinner dance and auction Saturday at Erika Country Club. Those who turned out for the benefit were well established in the community and determined to give continued support to the Kankakee Symphony Orchestra.

So determined in fact, that by midnight, benefit chairman Jean Klaper was estimating proceeds approaching the $7,000 mark. More than half the legal was raised at the auction, which while off to a hesitant start was revived by auctioneers Joe Berz and Tom Hemstreet.

For the Leslie Lindbergs, this year's auction was almost a rubber stamp of the 1973 affair when Dr. Lindberg won the bidding for a mink hat. Saturday night, he came out high bidder on a matching mink hat for his wife, Paula.

The William Lemmas will be hoping for clear sailing at least one day this summer. They won the bid for a day with symphony conductor Maria Tunica on her 30-foot sloop. The vicious master shed the usual formal black tuxedo and chakra performances and spent the evening dining and dancing in a backless formal and looking pleased about it all.

One of the quirks of fate caught auction chairman Nancy Small when she traded her drawing ticket to her husband.

Steve's cousin, Tom Small, for a copy of the guitar book he authored. When the drawing ended, Tom held the winning ticket for a trip to New York or Las Vegas, while Nancy clutched a guitar book.

But as the benefit drew to a close after a long evening which began with cocktails at 8, Mrs. Small and Marge Potter her co-chairman from Omaha, were more than pleased with the results, standing at $4,325.

Were raising money for the symphony orchestra, the annual benefit also provides that perfect opportunity for the women to start off the spring season with a new evening dress. Many of them Saturday night turned to jersey. Blonde Mrs. Robert Immel, Watseka, and brunette Mrs. Jasper Tenney, Bourbonnais, both wore white jersey with beaded shoulders. Mrs. Klaper and Mrs. Howard Gordon in vivid prints; willowy Mrs. Kent Scott, Buckingham, who a few days before had won out over 36 Chicago competitors modeling in a hospital auxiliary fashion show, opted for draped pastel blue jersey.

Mrs. Albert Neff whirled about the dance floor in cotton-candy pink chiffon, while Mrs. Louis Ehrlich danced in a gold-embroidered white tulle she had her seamstress transform into an attractive evening dress.

One free-spirited woman whispered she had paid $6 for her summer evening dress, only a fraction of what she then spent on accessories for it.

Even as the benefit wound down near midnight, it was on a high note as the Joe Tolsons and the David Perissas left the country club in a vintage Rolls Royce with right hand drive.

Witness immunity?

Rep. Paul Sarbanes (D-Md.), left, and Tom Rallsback (R-Ill.), two members of the House Judiciary Committee, said Sunday it may be necessary to grant immunity to impeachment hearing witnesses. Both agreed that all 38 members of the committee should hear the edited tape recordings of Watergate related conversation between President Nixon and top aides. (UPI Telephoto)

SLA antipathy growing

By The Associated Press

Paranoia. Suspicion. Contempt. Hatred. Apathy. There are a lot of words used by American radicals in reaction to the Symbionese Liberation Army, which says it kidnapped Patricia Hearst and assassinated Oakland Superintendent of Schools Marcus Foster. Few are favorable.

Here are two: "The Nixon Administration would like nothing better than for us to believe these are the kinds of things revolutionaries and community activists do," — Janet Cooper, a West Coast radical activist.

"There is no doubt that the SLA is a CIA front," — The National Caucus of Labor Committees.

Left-wing antipathy for the SLA comes from just about every group of note except the almost nonexistent Weatherpeople. One of their leaders, Bernardine Dorn, said from hiding that the group's actions were revolutionary and thus could "teach and strengthen."

The disdain covers a spectrum from activists in Berkeley who have elected four radicals to the city council; to traditional Communists like Angela Davis; to old new leftists like Jerry Rubin; through the newer National Caucus of Labor Committees, which thinks just about everyone is a front for the CIA; to Maoists; to the Black Panthers, who say chairman Huey P. Newton is on the SLA "hit list" for denouncing the Hearst kidnapping and the Foster shooting.

There are a number of themes in the denunciation: that the violence of SLA actions can't be justified morally; that members of the SLA are radicals-come-lately; that they may be government agents, and that if they are not, they are seriously discrediting the radical cause.

"My overwhelming response is that I'm sick of the whole thing," says an unsuccessful candidate for the Berkeley City Council last year on a radical coalition slate. "Politically, they make no sense at all. None of these people were political here. And it's been a very destructive thing. They're stopping people on the street and interrogating them. It's just very bad."

The paranoia seems to run deepest in Berkeley, where Miss Hearst was abducted last Feb. 4.

Soon after the kidnapping, police raided a Black Panther headquarters in nearby Oakland, arresting 15 people but filing no charge. It made many radicals believe that the Hearst and Foster cases have given authorities an excuse to go after the newer community organizations.

"It's not good having 150 FBI men in Berkeley," says a woman active in consumer and women's groups. "While they're here, they might just decide to branch out into other things."
