Transcripts 'shabby,' Scott says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said today transcripts of private presidential conversations convey "a shabby, disgusting and immoral performance."

Scott told reporters he has read the first 800 pages of the 1,300 pages of edited transcript of taped recordings of Watergate discussions between Nixon and various aides and associates.

Scott said he concluded from the transcripts that there was "not enough showing of moral indignation which would have been expected under the circumstances."

Asked if he was referring to Nixon, Scott said, "I mean by each of those persons (who participated in the conversations) according to what he said."

Pressed for who he meant when he referred to a disgusting performance, Scott said: "The transcripts will have to speak for themselves."

"I won't go any further than that," Scott said.

Scott said the material released a week ago today by the White House showed "the President is frequently urging others to get the story out," but added he thought the transcripts were "very confused."

"I am enormously disturbed that there was not enough showing of moral indignation which would have been expected under the circumstances," Scott said.

"I think the transcripts represent a shabby, disgusting and immoral performance."

Responding to the comments, a White House spokesman expressed the conviction today that the Nixon presidency will be judged by foreign policy and domestic achievements and not the tone of the Watergate transcripts.

"As you have been told," Gerald L. Warren, deputy press secretary, said in response to reporters' questions, "we recognize the risks taken in providing transcripts of 33 hours of this very difficult subject."

"The President has had thousands of hours of conversations on important foreign policy matters and many hours with leaders of Congress."

"The point is, from my general view, I don't feel it's fair to judge the President on 33 hours of his very difficult discussions."

Warren added that, "We believe he will be judged on the foreign and domestic initiatives that were dealt with in the thousands of other hours" of tapings of presidential conversations in the Oval Office, his hideaway office and elsewhere.

Warren stressed that he was speaking for himself. He said he was unable to give Nixon's personal reaction to criticism of the moral tone in some Washington circles of his conversations with aides and other administration officials.

Vice President Gerald R. Ford said in New York Monday night that in assessing the transcripts, the emphasis should not be on the moral question but on Nixon's role in Watergate.

Warren said that the judgment should be made on the "subject" of the transcripts.

"There have been many meetings over the years where important subjects were discussed," Warren said. "The foreign policy achievements, I think are clear to everyone—and the domestic initiatives."

He expressed his own viewpoint that the transcripts demonstrated that the President was not implicated in the Watergate cover-up.

In a related development, the White House has indicated willingness to reach an "accommodation" on Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski's subpoena for 64 of President Nixon's Watergate tapes.

Only last week the President's lawyers asked U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica to quash the subpoena and there were reports the President intended to fight it all the way to the Supreme Court if necessary.

But on Monday the White House's chief Watergate counsel, James D. St. Clair, requested a meeting with Sirica, Jaworski and several defense lawyers in the Watergate cover-up case. On the way into the meeting in the judge's chambers St. Clair said the purpose was to discuss "accommodation."

After the meeting Sirica issued a brief statement, saying he had granted a five-day delay in the court proceedings over the disputed tapes "for the purpose of facilitating discussions leading to possible compliance with the subpoena."

'Swerving' gets rap for gaps

WASHINGTON (AP) — At last, an explanation for some of those "inaudible" and "unintelligible" gaps in the White House transcripts of President Nixon's Watergate conversations. Swerving caused them.

According to White House lawyer J. Fred Buzhardt, swerving is the noise on the tape during the time it takes an automatic recorder to start and get to recording speed.

The White House taping system was actuated by sound. The microphones pick up a noise—a voice, a slamming door, a clock ticking loudly—and the reels begin to turn.

Buzhardt is a lawyer, not an audio specialist, but he was one of the first and one of the few to listen to the tapes.

He offered his explanation in an interview with Westinghouse Broadcasting Co.

"Probably the most predominant cause of inaudible or unintelligible is the voice actuator system on which the system operates," he said. "When there is a hesitation or interruption in speech the gain (volume) control usually moves from the lowest point of sensitivity to the highest point of sensitivity."

Still with us? "At the same time the tape reels, which have stopped turning with the interruption, then accelerate and pick up to playing speed. The combination of the gain control movement plus the acceleration of the tape through the recorder produces a swerving noise which normally obscures the first few syllables spoken after the interruption of speech."

Buzhardt also said that there is a relationship between how deep the voice is and the fidelity of the recording. The lower the voice, the more distortion.

He said the President has a lower voice than John W. Dean III and therefore the former White House counsel comes through more clearly.

Dean, he said, has a higher pitched, rather flat tone of speech.

"The President has, relatively speaking, a more bass voice than does Mr. Dean," Buzhardt added. "I guess Mr. (John N.) Mitchell has the bassiest of the voices in any of the tapes that were recorded and he is almost impossible to hear on the recordings."

3-hour Mideast talks termed 'productive'

NICOSIA (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger held three hours of "useful and constructive" talks today with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko then flew back to Jerusalem to seek a compromise Israeli proposal on disengagement with Syria.

A high American official accompanying Kissinger said the Cyprus meeting, held at Gromyko's request, would produce no two-power formula for a settlement and that the denials will be made in Jerusalem and Damascus. The official had reported earlier Kissinger was making progress.

Gromyko said as he left the palace of President Archbishop Makarios, where the talks were held, that today's talks were "useful and constructive. I would not go further."

"I hope we made progress on a Syria-Israeli disengagement," Kissinger said as he left the presidential palace which had been the former British governor-general's residence. He said he felt the exchange had been "good and useful."

The American secretary left the palace for a meeting with an Egyptian and American envoy who had returned from a trip to Algeria to brief President Houari Boumedienne on the progress of the peace efforts.

Gromyko flew directly from the Cyprus to Moscow at the end of the talks.

Kissinger drove to the U.S. Embassy for his meeting with Harold Saunders, a senior member of the National Security Council, and Asraf Marwan, a personal assistant to President Anwar Sadat of Egypt.

Security was intense. At the airport, police were on the roof and others belonging to the tactical police reserve, a body formed to combat guerrillas fighting for the union of Cyprus with Greece, were stationed at intervals of 200 yards on the route to the presidential palace. Police reinforcements were placed around the American and Soviet embassies.

A high official on board Kissinger's plane said Kissinger had made "reasonable progress" in his discussions with the Israeli government and hoped to take a revised Israeli proposal for disengagement to Damascus Wednesday. Gromyko has been conferring in Damascus with Syrian President Hafez Assad.

Arabic press commentators were taking the view that Kissinger's attempt to negotiate a Syrian-Israeli disengagement agreement is close to breaking down and that the meeting with Gromyko can do little to salvage his mission unless he can change the attitude of Israeli leaders.

Red spy scandal

BONN (UPI) — A scandal over a Communist spy in his inner circle swept Socialist Chancellor Willy Brandt out of office today, plunging West Germany into political crisis and bringing dismay to the leaders of Western Europe who saw it as a crushing blow to European unity.

Hours after stepping down, Brandt asked his Social Democratic parliamentary party to nominate his political deputy, Finance Minister Helmut Schmidt, for the chancellorship. Social Democratic deputies unanimously approved the proposal.

Miller replaces Lamore on Bourbonnais board

By JERRY MORGAN

The resignation of Bourbonnais Trustee Jay Lamore was accepted Monday night by the board of trustees, which also approved the appointment of Charles E. (Bud) Miller in his place.

It took almost an hour and a closed session before the board settled the issue, however.

Lamore's resignation had been submitted at the board's April 15 meeting, but it had delayed action on the matter.

And when the resignation again came up at the start of the meeting Monday night, it needed a vote by Ernest Mooney, board president, to break the 3 to 3 tie vote.

Following the vote on the resignation, the board, now down to five trustees plus Mooney, voted 3 to 2 against the nomination by Mooney of Miller.

Acknowledging that the matter would end in a tie even with his vote, Continued on Page 6

Expanded Bourbonnais PD proposed

By JERRY MORGAN

Expansion of the Bourbonnais police department was proposed Monday night at the meeting of the Bourbonnais Board of Trustees but financing of the enlarged force was a major stumbling block.

Besides pondering the enlargement of the police department, the board:

— Appropriated funds for the village's 1974 street maintenance program.

— Learned the village census is in the final stages and an unofficial population figure should be ready soon.

The board of trustees was asked by Trustee Tom Lamie, chairman of the police committee, to consider hiring three additional policemen so that the village can augment its present patrol of village streets by a second patrol car.

"We only have one car on the streets at all times," Lamie said, "and it has to cover 31 driving miles of streets."

Lamie noted that the request for adding three new patrolmen to the force was made possible by the preparation of a new eligibility list by the village Police and Fire Commission.

The list, containing six names of applicants who had passed the commission's test, was approved Monday night by the village board.

Lamie said his committee believes the village should have at least two patrol cars on the streets for traffic control, residential protection and other problems.

He also noted the village will soon have two financial institutions within its limits, another factor in the need for increased police protection.

Using police department figures compiled by Police Chief Larry F. Hildebrand, Lamie said the village police had answered 1,429 complaints in 1972 and more than 4,400 in 1973, a jump of 3,000.

In the first three months of this year, he added, 1,157 complaints have been answered.

Agreeing that the village needs more police, Ernest Mooney, village board president, said, "You can no longer patrol this village with one patrol car."

But Lamie asked, "Where are we going to come up with the money?"

Trustee Herbert Forkenbrock estimated that the addition of three full-time patrolmen would cost $35,000 in salary, uniforms, and incidentals.

Lamie agreed to a suggestion by Mooney that the matter be submitted to the budget committee, which is to meet soon to go over the new budget.

In a related matter, the village board approved the purchase of two new patrol cars Monday night.

The board authorized the purchase of the new cars from Lang Buick, which submitted a bid of $8,414 for two cars with trade-in.

A bid was also submitted by Lang Oldsmobile of $8,804 for two cars with trade-in.

Other bids were submitted by Kankakee Auto Leasing Co. and Imperial Leasing Co.

Noting that the village's two present patrol cars are barely running, Chief Hildebrand said, "We're in dire need of a car."

Purchase of the new cars will be made with revenue sharing funds.

In other action, the board approved a resolution appropriating $33,000 in motor fuel taxes for the 1974 street maintenance program.

News roundup New Calley plea

COLUMBUS, Ga. (UPI) — The Army asked a federal court judge Monday to revoke the bail of former Lt. William L. Calley, now dishonorably discharged, and return him to confinement for the M.I. massacre.

Judge J. Robert Elliott said he would rule "shortly" on the motion that the $1,000 recognizance bond that he approved for Calley Feb. 27 be revoked.

The judge indicated, however, that he would allow Calley to remain free pending appeal of his conviction for the murder of at least 21 civilians at the South Vietnamese hamlet of My Lai in a 1968 U.S. Army operation.

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP) — Jury selections were to resume today in the trial of Jesse Donald Sumner, 37, of Stanford, charged with murder in the April 1972 slaying of a Morrisville woman.

Nine jurors were examined Monday, the first day of jury selection, but none were chosen. There are 200 prospective jurors, four times the number usually called for a case in LaSalle County.

BELFAST (UPI) — Gunmen ambushed a car traveling down a remote country road in Northern Ireland early today, killing a couple and wounding their daughter.

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — Great Train Robbery fugitive Ronald Biggs, a man in search of a country, set out today with Brazil's assistance to find a haven from Scotland Yard detectives.

The Brazilian government released Biggs from jail Monday night and gave the elusive fugitive 30 days of "semi-liberty" to search for a country willing to take him in.

No relief foreseen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans cannot expect any relief from record high interest rates without progress in the fight against inflation, says outgoing Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz.

But Shultz, who leaves office Wednesday, says interest rates may have reached their peak.

Shultz commented after the interest rate for government short-term borrowing—in the form of Treasury bills—hit a record $8.58 cent yesterday.

Shultz said interest rates, especially long-term rates, are being kept high by inflation.

He indicated he agrees with policies of the Federal Reserve Board to moderate the growth of the nation's money supply and keep a tight rein on the supply of credit, actions designed to restrain inflation but that also help push interest rates higher.

Meanwhile, Labor Secretary Peter J. Brennan said Monday he does not see "on the horizon any immediate solution" to the inflation problem.

After meeting with President Nixon at the White House, Brennan said, "I don't think there is any clear program" within the administration to quickly curb inflation.

Shultz, 53, will leave the Nixon administration Wednesday when William E. Simon is sworn in as his successor at a White House ceremony.

Phone bugging devices explained to Kiwanians

Privacy in communication is a "big thing" with Illinois Bell Telephone Co., a company representative told Kiwanis Club members Monday, as he discussed "bugs," phone taps, and related equipment.

It is often used in family problems, according to Jurgens, as in can pick up every sound in a room.

Don Jurgens of Jolt, staff supervisor with Bell, said the phone company feels that the "possibility of interfering with or undermining privacy impairs the usefulness of the company," and "we are concerned about people who lack confidence."

The company does not tap for any group, and has tried to prevent it, but, he admitted, "there may be things going on we don't know."

"Bugging" devices are made so that they can pick up anything in a room—conversation, a splash of water, he said that two or three years ago, the American Embassy was bugged in Moscow, by a device implanted in an emblem. This kind of device provided that persons within eight or 10 feet could be heard clearly.

It is also possible to direct a laser beam at a window and listen to what is taking place in the room. But this is seldom used, he said.

"A parabolic microphone" can direct sound as far as two city streets away, he said. These are used in look-alikes and are not common because they are so visible, he said.

The "infrared" transmitter is probably the most popular, according to Jurgens. It is a device installed in a

Daley diagnosis; diabetes, high blood pressure

CHICAGO (AP) — Richard J. Daley, hospitalized for the first time since becoming mayor 30 years ago, was diagnosed today as suffering from high blood pressure and mild diabetes.

His physician, Dr. Thomas Cogan Jr., said Daley, 71, probably has been working too hard and that he previously was known to have both conditions.

Frank Sullivan, the mayor's news aide, said Daley probably will remain in the hospital for several days, but he is under medication and will be given more tests.

Sullivan said Daley spent a comfortable night and in the morning he was able to eat. There is no reason for alarm over the illness, his family reported him in good spirits.

The mayor's wife, Eleanor, spent the night in the hospital.

Daley was admitted to RushPresbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital Monday after being examined in his doctor's office.

Daley complained of illness Monday morning and requested an appointment with Cogan, after which he was driven to the hospital in his limousine, entered on his own power and was examined briefly in the emergency room before being admitted to a 10th floor private room.

During the 1960s and early 1960s, Daley's power was at its zenith. His army of 20,000 political patronage workers rarely lost an election.

His national prestige peaked in 1968 when he was credited with delivering the state of Illinois to a Democratic victory in the presidential election.

Bound over after the preliminary hearing in Kankakee County Circuit Court, Sullivan said, he was bound over to the grand jury on a burglary charge, by $10,000 to be put in the county jail.

He was released on $10,000 bond after the grand jury found him not guilty.

Grant Park revising ordinances

GRANT PARK — With the exception of a few more changes, revisions in the village ordinances are almost completed, Grant Park officials learned at their meeting Monday night.

Donald Ziegler, village attorney, said he was reviewing the ordinances and had only a few suggestions to make before they could be submitted for adoption.

Ziegler also told the board he had been in contact with William Mottuck, Olympia Fields, developer of a proposed 65-acre mobile home park at Lake Michigan. The project was approved by the village board last month. Development has not started. Ziegler said Mottuck told him the plan was to build 100 mobile homes, but he had not yet received the necessary permits.

Fire destroys Goldwyn studios

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The famed Samuel Goldwyn Studios lay in smoldering ruins today, victim of a fire that produced a real-life Hollywood spectacular.

As in a "happy-ending" film of yesteryear, scores of actors and film workers fled to safety Monday, dashing fears that some might be trapped inside the fortress-like walls that police padded with machine guns in response to left fire trucks through.

Officials said only one man, studio employee Mike Gracie, 29, was injured seriously, with second and third degree back burns. Two other persons received minor injuries.

The studio was one of the oldest homes of movie-making in Hollywood. Fire fighters estimated the loss at well over $1 million; other reports placed it as high as $10 million.

"I grabbed everything I could and jumped," said actor Robert Conrad, explaining that he and his co-workers leaped through a window just before a wall caved in. They were on the set of "Star of India," a movie which Conrad is coproducing.

Samuel Goldwyn Jr., son of the late studio head who died last January, also fled the flames.

The fire broke out on the set of "Signum," a Saturday morning children's show on NBC. Firemen said an electric current for the stage lighting caused the flames that raced through the high-ceiling set with its maze of catwalks, frames and sidings—all made of wood.

Among actors at the scene was Steve McQueen, who plays a fire chief in "The Towering Inferno," being filmed by two other studios.

Students' fun startles some on cruise ship

Romantic nights, moonlit waters, the strains of music floating from the cruise ship in Caribbean waters—what more could one want for memories?

Well, the Westview High School seniors took a cruise to the Caribbean on the Italian ship, Fredrico C., have a few added events to look back on from their trip which ended Saturday.

In the first place, their original ship, the TSS Mardi Gras was disabled and the 41 seniors and two escorts changed ships.

From then on the cruise was up for grabs.

The oldest of the Italian ship's senior boys reportedly wanted to put the two passengers ashore. On board the ship was a group of "middle-aged ladies" who were also appalled, and started a petition to put the two off the ship.

Little did these heavy American groups know that in Italy, and aboard Italian ships, it is illegal to get up a petition.

Everyone almost got thrown off.

There were phone calls in the middle of the night to American officials and administrators, and finally, streakers—er, cruisers—got back home, safely ashore. The two seniors, chastised but safe, still plan a week of school for starting the whole thing.

Students' fun startles some on cruise ship

Romantic nights, moonlit waters, the strains of music floating from the cruise ship in Caribbean waters—what more could one want for memories?

Well, the Westview High School seniors took a cruise to the Caribbean on the Italian ship, Fredrico C., have a few added events to look back on from their trip which ended Saturday.

In the first place, their original ship, the TSS Mardi Gras was disabled and the 41 seniors and two escorts changed ships.

From then on the cruise was up for grabs.

The oldest of the Italian ship's senior boys reportedly wanted to put the two passengers ashore. On board the ship was a group of "middle-aged ladies" who were also appalled, and started a petition to put the two off the ship.

Little did these heavy American groups know that in Italy, and aboard Italian ships, it is illegal to get up a petition.

Everyone almost got thrown off.

There were phone calls in the middle of the night to American officials and administrators, and finally, streakers—er, cruisers—got back home, safely ashore. The two seniors, chastised but safe, still plan a week of school for starting the whole thing.

Added role for KCC's student board member?

Scott stated that college and university boards cannot have the same role as the non-voting student members from participating in executive sessions and exercising all other rights reserved by full members. Scott added that trustees should be reimbursed for travel and other necessary expenses.

Transcripts 'shabby,' Scott says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said today that the transcripts of presidential conversations were "shabby, disgusting and immoral."

Scott said he had read the first 800 pages of the 1,300 pages of transcript of taped recordings of conversations between Nixon and various aides and associates.

Asked if he was referring to Nixon, Scott said, "I mean by each of those persons (who participated in the conversations) according to what he said."

Responding to the comments, a White House spokesman expressed the view that the transcripts were "shabby, disgusting and immoral."

Warren added that "We believe he will be judged on the foreign and domestic initiatives that were dealt with in the thousands of other hours" of transcripts of presidential conversations in the Oval Office, his highway office and elsewhere.

Vice President Gerald R. Ford said in New York Monday night that in assessing the transcripts, the emphasis should not be on the moral question but on Nixon's role in Watergate.

Warren said that the judgment should be made on the "subject" of the transcripts.

"There have been many meetings over the years where important subjects were discussed," Warren said. "The foreign policy achievements, I think are clear to everyone—and the domestic initiatives."

He expressed his own viewpoint that the transcripts demonstrated that the President was not implicated in the Watergate cover-up.

After the meeting, Warren issued a brief statement, saying he had granted a five-day delay in the court proceedings over the disputed tapes "for the purpose of facilitating discussions leading to possible compliance with the subpoena."

Kissinger, Gromyko meet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger held three hours of "useful and constructive" talks today with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Gromyko then flew to Jerusalem where he was scheduled to meet with Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir.

Kissinger said the talks were "useful and constructive" and that the two men discussed a wide range of international issues.

The American secretary left the palace for a meeting with an Egyptian official and an American envoy who had returned from a trip to Algeria to brief President Hosni Mubarak on the progress of the peace efforts.

Gromyko flew directly from the Cyprus to Moscow at the end of the talks.

Kissinger drove to the U.S. Embassy for his meeting with Harold Saunders, director of the National Security Council, and Aram Marwan, a personal assistant to President Anwar Sadat.

Security was intense. At the airport, there were on the roof and others belonging to the tactical police reserve, a force formed to combat guerrillas who were active in the area.

Police reinforcements were placed around the American and Soviet embassies.

A high official on board Kissinger's plane said Kissinger had made "realistic" remarks about the situation in the Middle East.

He said Kissinger was hopeful of taking a revised Israeli proposal for a settlement and that the denials made in Jerusalem and Damascus were "unrealistic."

Gromyko said he was pleased with the talks and that the two men discussed a wide range of international issues.

'You're dead, Willie!' Detroit's Willie Horton's mad dash toward second base in all in vain as White Sox shortstop Rocky DeSantis threw the ball from right field before Horton could begin his slide.

Tigers' 'speed' sinks Sox

DETROIT (AP) — It stood out like a diamond on the fingers of Little Orphan Annie — a rare sight, indeed. The leadoff Detroit Tigers actually stole a base Monday night, and it resulted in a baseball victory. Finch hitter Dick Sharon, who drove in the tying run with a force out grounder, stole second for Detroit and scored on Jerry Mays' single in the seventh inning to give the Tigers a 4-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Bullen super John Hiller won his fourth game without a loss, relieving Joe Coleman in the seventh. It was Terry Foster, the White Sox bullpen ace, who couldn't plug the rally in the bottom of the ninth.

Sharon's run climaxed a scorching battle and stopped Chicago's winning streak at five while snapping a two-game Tiger lead. Second-place Detroit stayed 1½ games behind American League East-leader New York Yankees.

Chicago is third in the West, two games behind co-leaders Texas and California heading into tonight's clash at Tiger Stadium. The White Sox are expected to send knuckleballer Wilbur Wood, 33, against the improving young smoke art, Lerrin Larow, 32.

"It doesn't do any good standing on first base with two out. Then someone has to get a double for you to score," reasoned Sharon. The steal was his second of the year and only the sixth for the Tigers. By comparison their opponents have 18 steals. Chicago has stolen 15 bases this year.

Last year Detroit was last in the league with 28 steals. The White Sox had 44 and leader Baltimore with 144 was one of five clubs with more than 100.

"(Horn) Santo thought he had him out," moaned Chicago Manager Chuck Tanner, referring to second baseman Santo's tag attempt after a good throw by catcher Ed Herrmann's arm.

"I thought we were going to win this one," Tanner muttered. Sharon — one of the few Tigers who can outrun a tortoise — was somewhat upset that his grounder, which scored Jim Northrup from third, wasn't a hit. In fact, it was almost the start of an inning-ending double play which would have left Detroit on the short end of a 4-3 score.

Shortstop Rocky DeSantis made a diving stop of the drive up the middle and flipped to Santo to force pinch runner John Kohn. Sharon was safe by a whisker at first on the double play attempt.

He got the steal sign when Moses had a two balls and one strike count against Foster. The pitch was a slider for a strike.

"Jerry did a hell of a job taking that pitch," Tiger Manager Hugh Hook said. "I was praying Jerry wouldn't swing at the ball and foul it out."

Moses, a replacement for ailing catcher Bill Freehan, has been on base in nine of the 10 games he has played this season. He followed the steal with a solid single to center to drive in the run and make Joe Acosta, 9-1, the loser.

Sharon said Santo's tag "was so close to the base it was barely perceptible. The call just happened to go our way."

3 NFL 'jumpers' may lose options

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The latest three National Football League players to jump to the new World Football League say they may not have to play out their options before switching.

Harmon Wages, running back for the Atlanta Falcons, Guy Dennis, an offensive guard with the Detroit Lions, and Larry Smith, a running back with the Los Angeles Rams, made the prediction Monday after signing contracts to play for the WFL Jacksonville Sharks in 1975.

Wages signed a reported four-year, $500,000 contract. Smith and Dennis didn't talk about their multiyear contracts but hinted they will earn a lot more with the WFL.

Wages said he has talked to Falcons owner Frank W. Wainwright and he said he will be paid $100,000 a year. He also said he will be paid $100,000 a year.

Everybody's happy over big Yankee-Indian swap

By Associated Press
The best baseball trade in the history of the game is supposed to be one that helps both clubs. For the time being, then, the recent swap between the Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees is a good one.

Fritz Peterson, who went from New York to Cleveland, yielded eight hits but only three runs in six innings and notched his second victory since the April 24 deal as the Indians whipped the California Angels 5-3 Monday night.

Dick Tidrow, who came from Cleveland to New York, made his first start for the Yankees and scattered nine hits in eight innings, picking up a 4-1 triumph over the Texas Rangers.

The results weren't too surprising. Tidrow always beats Texas—he's a 4-0 life.

THINGS YOU MAY NOT KNOW ABOUT CONSERVING ELECTRICITY

How an attic fan can take some of the load off your air conditioning.

If you've ever been in your attic on a summer day, you know how hot it gets. All that heat there is what makes it so tough to cool the downstairs—even with air conditioning.

Well, here's a hint: install an attic fan. An attic fan—whether it's a window, gable vent or roof-mounted—will pull that hot, dead air out of your attic. The result? Your attic temperature will be as much as 35 degrees.

Your air conditioner doesn't have to work nearly as hard when it isn't fighting a hot attic. It doesn't switch on as often or run as long. You're just as comfortable, yet you're saving money. With an attic fan, you can also reduce the amount of air conditioning equipment you need.

Contact your heating or air conditioning contractor for the best attic fan installation that's best for your home. This hint is included in our booklet "101 Ways to Conserve Electricity at Home." For your free copy, write Commonwealth Edison, Department AV, P.O. Box 267, Chicago, Illinois 60606.

Salvation Army organizes auxiliary

Major Pearl Chase, director of women's services for the Salvation Army in Kankakee County, has announced the organizational meeting of the women's auxiliary will be held Wednesday, beginning with a noon meal luncheon at the Salvation Army Building.

Approval for the formation of a women's auxiliary in Kankakee was granted by divisional headquarters in Chicago. Major Chase, chairman of the local Salvation Army advisory board, announced 50 women have expressed interest in the auxiliary.

Some of the auxiliary's proposed projects would be directing the senior citizens drop-in center, assisting with day camp activities, and seasonal and emergency services.

Steering committee for the group's formation was Mrs. Steven Caron, Manteno; Mrs. Elmer King, Mrs. Rud Hall, and Mrs. Kermit Bissel, Kankakee; and Major Chase.

Dear Abby

Pick-up should pick up after herself

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: To begin with, my husband has always been a big liar. Last summer I found a pair of nylon panties under the seat of his pickup truck, and when I asked him where they came from and what they were doing there, he said they were probably mine and he was using them for car rags. I told him I didn't wear that kind of thing and they didn't make very good car rags. I gave him something else to use.

I forgot all about it until yesterday when I came across another pair of panties in the glove compartment of his pickup. This time I know for sure they weren't mine because this pair had "Wednesday" on them. Abby, I know he can't be that desperate for car rags.

What do you suppose is going on? I hope you print this because I'd like that hussy of mine to know she's fooling around with me when she forgets to pick up "Wednesday."

NOT POOLED IN STAUNTON, VA. DEAR NOY: If your husband intends to continue picking up in his pickup, he should tell his friends to pick up after themselves — and that means Monday through Sunday!

DEAR ABBY: The U.S. Post Office is the most used, yet the least understood service in this country. A reader wrote, "Here's how I succeeded in getting my man off junk mailing lists. I simply cross off my name and address, and write 'Refused' — return to sender" on the envelope, then I drop it in the mailbox. It costs the company money to receive mail, so they quickly drop my name from their list."

For heaven's sake, no bulk mail is returned to the sender unless it bears a return address. "Return requested," or "Address correction requested," or "Return postage guaranteed."

All bulk mail which does not bear one of the above return addresses is sent to the Office by the carrier, inspected by the supervisor, and then thrown in the trash. This extra handling makes extra money for the mail handlers, for which the public must pay.

Please print this, Abby. I've been employed at the Post Office for 17 years and know whereof I speak.

HARLEY D. WHINERY, LYNWOOD, CALIF.

DEAR HARLEY: Of course I'll print your letter. It's the least I can do for the U.S. Postal Department. They've done so much for me.

DEAR ABBY: My problem my neighbor who lives above me in an elegant townhouse apartment building on the east side of Manhattan.

This gentleman lives alone, and gets up every morning of his life at 5 a.m. This includes Christmas, New Year's Day and Sundays. He makes noise which lasts until 7 a.m. I don't know exactly what he does, but it sounds like he's exercising, rolling on the floor or jogging in one place. All in this bedroom, which is over mine.

I've tried everything. I invited him here for a Christmas party, and then gently told him aside and told him that his early rising morning noises bothered me. He said all he does is "get dressed" and he can't understand how that could disturb me.

I talked to my landlady and she said she has only my word, and she can't demand that he leave before his lease expires in three years. My lease has another year.

Please don't suggest I try to make friends with him again. It's gone beyond that stage now. I saw my lawyer at a party recently and he suggested I phone this neighbor every morning at 3 a.m. and ask him how he felt to be awakened two hours early every morning. Please, please help me. My nerves are shot.

MRS. S.

DEAR MRS. S.: I'd take the lawyer's advice, after which I'd ask my druggist to recommend that the best earplugs available. If that fails, invite your landlady to speak.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who claims to be an analyst, a person by his physical characteristics.

For example, she says a high forehead is a sign of superior intelligence and a low forehead is a sign of average or below average intelligence. (She has a high forehead. Mine is low.)

She also says that people with long, narrow thumbs have a natural advantage over people with short stubby thumbs because long narrow thumbs mean you have a fine, friendly, and calm, not along with, but short stubby thumbs mean you are irresponsible, unfriendly and hard to get along with. (Her thumbs are long and narrow. Mine are short and stubby.)

I would like to prove her wrong about her thumb pronouncements but don't know where to find proof, so I am writing to you. I would like to prove her wrong about her thumb pronouncements but don't know where to find proof, so I am writing to you.

"THE OLD FIRST TRUST BUILDING"—138 S. Schuyler, Downtown Kankakee

A happy reunion for 'spy'

Thomas E. Franklin, center, is reunited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Evans Franklin of Nebo, Ill. Monday. Franklin, 34, spent 16 months in a South Yaman prison after he was arrested for taking pictures in a mountain area near Acan and charged with "spying." (UPI Telephoto)

Anti-cruelty protest continues

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Anti-Cruelty Society closed its doors to the public for a fourth day today because of a hunger strike in the building's lobby over the society's use of an animal death chamber.

A spokesman for the society said, "We regret very much the inconvenience this has caused the city of Chicago but we are closed until the incident is terminated."

"We are unable to operate with the protesters there." On Saturday, Billita Hanner, 23, Chicago, began the hunger strike after watching a policeman bring a dog with a broken leg and a one-eyed puppy into the society to be put away in a decompression chamber.

Miss Hanner stood by while the dog was killed, then she scooped up the puppy and ran. She left it with a friend and returned to the society to begin her sit-in in the lobby.

Later, several persons picketed in front of the society, demanding that it make a greater effort to stop the birth of unwanted dogs by spaying and neutering, and protesting the use of the decompression chamber. The society closed its doors to the public because, a spokesman said, they were "creating havoc."

Sunday, Renia Januszewski, also 23, Chicago, joined Miss Hanner in her hunger strike.

Miss Hanner, who has four cats and a dog of her own, pledged to stay in the building "until I collapse and an ambulance has to take me away."

A spokesman for the privately endowed society said no animal adoptions would take place and no animals would be accepted until the protest is over.

"We are just totally withdrawing from the whole thing," he said. "We feel that the less we say or do the sooner it will be over." James L. Hedrick, the so-ciet's managing director, said the decompression chamber is considered humane and acceptable by the American Veterinary Medical Association.

The society spokesman said animals put in the decompression chamber are unconscious within 30 seconds and dead within a minute.

Lawsuit follows acid mist incident

CHICAGO (UPI) — A class action suit was filed Monday that seeks "in excess of $20 million" for those injured or forced to evacuate their homes when a leaking chemical storage tank sent out a five-mile-long acid mist over a far South Side neighborhood.

Thousands fled their homes and more than 100 persons were treated at area hospitals after a tank of silicon tetrachloride ruptured at the Bulk Terminals Co. April 28.

Attorney Charles B. Fiddell, on behalf of Albert W. McKenney, filed the suit in Cook County Circuit Court. The suit charged Bulk Terminals and Cabot Corp., of suburban Oakbrook, of the manufacturer of the chemical, with "wilful and wanton misconduct."

It sought $40,000 for McKenney, 50, of suburban Palos Hills, who was overcome by fumes while driving a truck through the area. He was hospitalized for two days at the South Chicago Community Hospital.

"If it sounds too good to be true, watch out!"

When your mail brings you news of an exciting offer or a terrific bargain, you can almost always count on its honesty. That's because you're protected in many ways from phonies who would use the mail to cheat you.

But sometimes when somebody wants to cheat you, he'll still try to use the mail. And that's where the Post Office comes in—on your side. Some of the schemes we stop are pretty slick. Here are some popular examples to watch out for.

The free vacation trick.

You get a letter that says you've won an all-expense-paid vacation to some dream spot. All you have to do is send a deposit, and you'll get that back when you leave. You're right if you say it's too good to be true.

But hundreds of folks have sent their money, dreamt of far-off places, and packed their bags. They never left. But you can bet the crooks who got their money did.

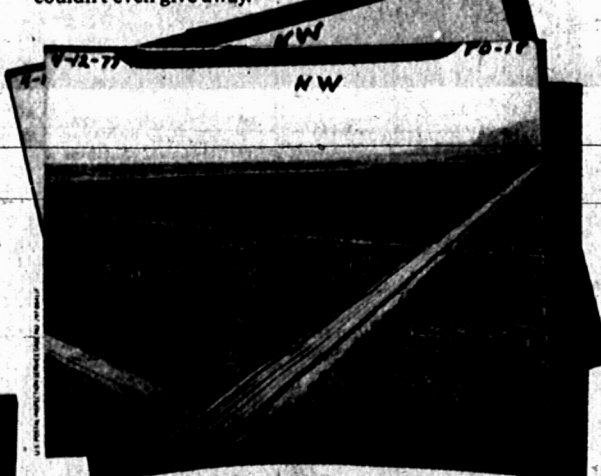

The retirement home swindle.

Maybe you get a telephone call or read an ad that says "Buy a King-Sized Western Estate, Just $1 Down and $10 a Month." The price is so low you might think you can't lose, and you buy the land sight unseen.

A lot of people have done it, and made plans for settling down on their land and building lovely retirement homes. That's before they finally find out the sad truth.

Their king-sized estates are sitting in the middle of a parched desert wilderness, or submerged under acres of smelly swamp water.

$1 down and $10 a month turns out to be a high price to pay for land you couldn't even give away.

The obituary hoax.

Maybe the cruellest trick of them all is a crook who sends COD merchandise to names on the obituary page of the newspaper. One guy even sent out Bibles this way.

He figured a close relative would assume the Bible was ordered by the deceased. And pay for it, no questions asked. Too often, he was right.

We put these crooks in jail.

It's our job to keep you safe from people who would use the mail to cheat you.

There are 1700 Postal Inspectors across the country who do this. And nobody wants the Inspectors on their trail.

Proof is, when a general store with a small Post Office inside was broken into a few years back, the burglars made a chalk line on the floor to divide off the Post Office. They were so afraid of the Inspectors, they scrawled the message: "Inspectors, we didn't cross that line!"

The Inspectors put thousands of crooks out of business last year. And you can rest assured they aren't around to cheat you anymore.

The safest mail in the world.

Thanks to the Postal Inspectors, you've got the safest mail of any country in the world. But be suspicious of something-for-nothing schemes. Never buy land sight unseen. And don't accept COD merchandise you didn't order.

If you should have a question about something that looks fishy, get in touch with us right away. Save the envelope. Save all of its contents. That'll help the Inspectors. And, we might be able to save you from a costly mistake, if the Inspectors are already into the case.

We want you to be able to trust your mail. And we're proud you can.

You have questions.

We want you to have the answers.
