Kissinger tying loose ends of Mideast peace plan

DAMASCUS (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger arrived from Israel today to get Syria's final agreement on a cease-fire and establishment of the "Kissinger line" separating Israeli and Syrian forces in the Golan Heights.

A high American official aboard Kissinger's plane said that Israel and Syria had basically agreed on a buffer zone between the two forces and that the zone will vary in width from two to six kilometers (1.2 and 3.6 miles).

The official said Kissinger expected to get from Syrian President Hafez Assad the final agreement on a cease-fire line which both Israel and Syria have provisionally accepted.

Kissinger's talks with President Hafez Assad started over a working lunch at the presidential palace at 2 p.m. (6 a.m. CDT).

The cease-fire line is the key issue, and there also has been agreement in principle as well on a thinning out of forces, a buffer zone, a role for the United Nations and an exchange of war prisoners.

The high American official said today will be the first day Kissinger and Assad will sit down and work out the concrete details and there could still be many snags.

The toughest issues, he said, will be the limitation of forces on both sides of the cease-fire line and the narrow buffer zone.

This is Kissinger's seventh shuttle to Damascus and the fourth week of his longest mission abroad.

The high official said that he hoped to complete the details of the agreement this week, but in any case it was the last he could spend in the area at this time.

Already a whole week of appointments have been cancelled in Washington.

Kissinger may leave two high U.S. officials behind when he shuttles back to Israel tonight, to work on technical details with the Syrians.

The agreement is modelled on the troop disengagement agreement between Israel and Egypt, but is more complicated because of the narrow width of the territory in comparison with the broad Sinai desert and the fact that it is populated.

As in the Egyptian agreement, the United States is expected to give certain assurances that the two sides do not want to give to each other directly. As in the Egyptian agreement also, the United States may provide high altitude reconnaissance to insure that its provisions are being carried out.

Kissinger set the stage for the breakthrough last Thursday by offering what a high U.S. official described as "American proposals" for the location of a new truce line.

The secretary presented the proposals to Assad in a marathon negotiating session lasting until early Friday and then flew back to Jerusalem to put the American ideas to the Israeli cabinet.

At that point, Kissinger appeared to believe there was little hope for an accord. His bags were packed and plane ready to fly home Saturday when Syria surprisingly accepted the proposals — with modifications.

Israel then agreed to the plan on Sunday after Kissinger met with Prime Minister Golda Meir and other top cabinet officials in Jerusalem.

"The line that was offered by the secretary of state was of such a nature that both Israel and Syria can accept it," Israeli Information Minister Shimon Peres said after the talks.

Judge considers dropping charge against Ehrlichman

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge, saying the FBI "plays cat and mouse" with people it is investigating today indicated he is considering dismissing one charge brought against former presidential aide John D. Ehrlichman in the White House Plumbers case.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell raised the question in reference to a charge that Ehrlichman lied to the FBI about his knowledge of the White House Plumbers unit's investigation of the Pentagon Papers case.

Gesell said that a FBI memo summarizing the interview with Ehrlichman did not make it clear whether the agent asked Ehrlichman about the "Pentagon Papers case" or, more specifically, about the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

Ehrlichman told the FBI more than a year had elapsed since he had seen papers relating to the Pentagon Papers investigation. Gesell said that might have been correct if Ehrlichman was referring to the original case brought against Ellsberg.

Ehrlichman and five others were indicted by a grand jury on March 7, 1974 on charges of conspiring to violate the civil rights of Dr. Louis Fielding, a Beverly Hills psychiatrist who had treated Ellsberg.

The Plumbers unit allegedly engineered the break-in in an attempt to put together a psychological profile of Ellsberg. Ellsberg was then under indictment on charges stemming from the leak of the Pentagon Papers.

In addition, Ehrlichman was indicted on one count of lying to the FBI and three counts of lying to the grand jury.

The other defendants are Charles W. Colson, former White House special counsel; Felipe de Diego, a Cuban exile now living in Miami; and three Watergate conspirators, G. Gordon Liddy, Bernard L. Barker and Eugenio R. Martinez.

Meanwhile, Watergate was said to be hurting Republican fund raising efforts, and President Nixon's chief of staff Alexander M. Haig Jr. was quoted as saying he was so disturbed by the transcripts of the Watergate tapes that he had to reevaluate his job.

Haig, however, denied the newswire report through an aide as "totally false."

"Gen. Haig has never implied the need to re-evaluate his position and he challenges Newsweek to support this report," his associate said from the Florida White House at Key Biscayne.

The fund raising problems were discussed by Republican leaders in separate interviews Sunday.

Sen. William Brock, R-Tenn., chairman of the Republican Campaign Committee, said, "I'm having a great deal of trouble raising money."

He was interviewed with Rep. Robert Michel, head of the House Republican Campaign Committee, on NBC's "Meet the Press. Both said Nixon should not resign even if impeached by the House.

GOP chairman George Bush, interviewed on ABC's "Meet the Press," also said Nixon should not resign. The country, Bush said, "should leave aside political expediency and see the impeachment process through."

Michel also said he was "unalterably opposed" to resignation.

The main arguments before Gesell, to be heard Tuesday, will be whether the six men charged can use national security as a defense to the conspiracy charges. Gesell has said that if it can be proven foreign policy was involved he might have to dismiss the charges.

Body of man discovered near St. Anne

ST. ANNE — The body of an unidentified man was found in a brush-filled ditch this morning in the St. Anne Woods area east of here, according to investigators from the Kankakee County sheriff's office.

William Dobberphul, chief investigator, reported there was no way to determine the cause of death until an autopsy. No major wounds were visible.

The body had been lying on the ditch bank since before the heavy rains on Friday, Dobberphul said. It was found late this morning by a farmer who was laying drain pipe along the ditch.

The dead man was described as white, in his 20s or early 30s with a full beard and long hair. He was dressed in a tan jacket, blue jeans and leather boots.

He carried no identification, according to investigators.

The body was found five miles east of St. Anne and a mile north.

Sirica tells Nixon to give up tapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica today ordered that President Nixon turn over the tapes of 64 conversations subpoenaed by Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski by May 31.

But Sirica said he would stay his decision if the President's lawyers appeal the decision, as expected.

The tapes are being sought by Jaworski as evidence for the Watergate cover-up conspiracy trial involving seven former White House and Nixon reelection committee aides.

The trial is scheduled to be held before Sirica in September.

Sirica ordered the White House to prepare an index and analysis of what is contained on the tapes to be turned over, including any claims as the President wants to make to keep portions of the tapes confidential.

Sirica followed a similar course last year when Nixon's lawyers fought a subpoena for the tapes of nine conversations. In that case, Sirica upheld claims of privilege for two complete conversations and portions of a third.

"The originals of all subpoenaed items will accompany the index and analysis when transmitted to the court," Sirica's nine-page order said.

"In addition, a separate tape recording — copies from the originals — containing only those portions of conversations since transcribed and made public should be prepared and delivered along with the subpoenaed materials."

Jaworski asked the court on April 16 to issue a subpoena for the 64 conversations spanning a year's period between June 20, 1972 and June 4, 1973. Sirica ordered the subpoena two days later and on May 1 the White House asked that the subpoena be quashed.

Meanwhile, another federal judge today released a letter from President Nixon in which he denied any prior knowledge of the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

The letter, dated April 29, was released by U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell in connection with defense motions in the White House Plumbers case.

FBI seeks Patty Hearst as fugitive

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A white woman, believed to be Patricia Hearst, and two black men, offered $500 to rent a Hollywood apartment for 24 hours and one of the men lunged at the landlady with a knife when she refused, police reported today.

A dragnet for the 20-year-old heiress, now listed as armed and dangerous and liable to be shot if she resists, was spread over the metropolitan Los Angeles area after six members of the Symbionese Liberation Army were killed Friday.

A spokesman for the FBI said the Hollywood incident was one of a number of reports coming in from excited citizens about the whereabouts of Miss Hearst and that they had no evidence to link it directly to the wanted girl.

A report by the Los Angeles Police Department, however, listed the incident as "possible SLA connection."

An LAPD officer said the incident occurred around 5:15 a.m. at an apartment building on New Hampshire Ave. in the Hollywood area.

The report said the trio was carrying

Police make drug, gun raids in 2 area towns

By JAN STRASMA AND BILL SEIL

Weapons, including a sub-machine gun, and drugs were seized in a pre-dawn raid Sunday by state police at an Onarga home, while at the same time Kankakee County deputies and St. Anne police raided an apartment in St. Anne.

Four persons were arrested in Onarga on drug and weapons charges. In the St. Anne raid six persons were arrested on a variety of charges, but one was later released pending further investigation.

State police found five pistols, three rifles and the sub-machine gun in the Onarga home, along with suspected quantities of heroin, marijuana and controlled substances.

In St. Anne police found suspected controlled substances, a small quantity of marijuana, four hypodermic syringes and three rifles and shotguns.

Four persons were arrested in the Onarga raid. A 21-year-old man and a 30-year-old man were being held at the Iroquois County Jail this morning on charges of possession of heroin, possession of cannabis, unlawful possession of hypodermic syringes and possession of guns without a firearm owner's identification card. A 60-year-old man and a 53-year-old woman were arrested on charges of possession of guns without a firearm owner's identification card, and they were released on $1,000 recognizance bond. Formal charges had not been filed this morning.

Deputy Bill Burlison, who headed the St. Anne raid, reported this morning pills, which appeared to be "homemade," were being analyzed to determine if they contained any illegal drugs.

Burlison, St. Anne Police Chief Rudy Dandurand and eight deputies and police searched the second-floor apartment in a raid which began at 5:20 a.m. Burlison reported a search warrant was obtained after an informant reported there were drugs in the apartment.

In the search police found some pills, thought to contain a controlled substance; a small quantity of marijuana; four hypodermic syringes; several marijuana pipes; and eight cemetery lights which were reportedly stolen in April from the Beaverville Cemetery.

Charges against the five persons arrested had not been filed by noon today, according to the state's attorney's office.

Arrested in St. Anne were: an 18-year-old Kankakee girl charged with possession of a controlled substance; a 21-year-old St. Anne man charged with possession of a controlled substance, possession of a hypodermic syringe and having no firearm owner's identification card; a 19-year-old St. Anne youth charged with theft; and 19-year-old St. Anne youth, charged with possession of cannabis (marijuana); and a 25-year-old St. Anne man charged with possession of a hypodermic syringe.

Burlison said the pills were found in the girl's purse and the marijuana was found in a first aid kit in the kitchen of the home.

'8 calls Thursday, 9 Friday morning'

A Bradley man needed a regular baby sitter for his 10-year-old son and scheduled a Want Ad in the Daily Journal to run for seven days, starting Thursday.

"I had eight calls Thursday night, eight more before 9 a.m. Friday, so I called The Journal to kill the ad after Friday's edition. Calls continued to come in so I went out of the house to avoid the telephone."

We're sorry that the telephone calls were annoying, but that's an expected risk when you take a Journal want ad. People read the Daily Journal's Classified Section avidly and respond promptly, so our risk is that you'll cancel the ad after only a few days. That's the kind of problems, however, that we and our customers can appreciate!

Rafting victim pulled up canyon side

Rescuers pull a litter up the side of Rock Creek Canyon at Kankakee River State Park Sunday after Steven Polak, 23, Country Club Hills, spilled while riding an inflatable raft down the falls there. A Wheaton youth pulled Polak who was unconscious from the rain-swollen stream. Polak was revived, and the emergency squad of the Bourbonnais Rural Fire Department rushed him to St. Mary's Hospital. Paul Gralak of Bourbonnais was at the creek to get these photos.

Rushing victim out of woods

Firemen and other rescue workers haul a litter from the woods beside Rock Creek Canyon after Steven Polak, 23, Country Club Hills, was rescued after a rafting accident. Polak was making his second trip downstream in a one-man inflatable raft when he was thrown from it in turbulence at the bottom of Rock Creek Falls.

Man rescued after raft accident

The rain-swollen waters of Rock Creek provided a thrill-packed raft ride for Steve Polak Sunday — his first trip downstream was "rough, but pretty good," but his second one was almost his last.

Polak's raft spilled in the turbulence at the bottom of Rock Creek Falls at Kankakee River State Park. Fighting the churning waters, he lost consciousness, but was rescued about 100 yards downstream by a Wheaton youth. Polak, 23, Country Club Hills, was reported in good condition this morning at St. Mary's Hospital.

He is an experienced "rafter" and was making his fifth or sixth visit to Rock Creek this year when the accident occurred Sunday afternoon.

He told The Journal he started his first trip downstream from the foot of the falls, but after a rest decided to go above the falls on the second round.

Striking with his double-bladed paddle, Polak brought his one-man inflatable raft to the top of the falls and headed down the stair-step falls.

"Then I lost it completely," he said. "It just shot out from under me."

The undertow at the foot of the falls kept the water "churning like a washing machine," he continued. The raft remained trapped in the turbulence, but Polak was driven downstream.

"I'm a pretty strong swimmer," said Polak, who weighs 225 pounds. "I had a life preserver on, but the current was too strong for me."

"I remember taking a breath and then not able to get any more," Polak

Kennedy reveals income

BOSTON (UPI) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy D-Mass., a member of one of the nation's richest families, had an income of $451,444 last year and paid $217,844 in taxes, according to his 1973 tax returns.

Kennedy gave the Boston Globe a copy of his 1973 tax return but declined to divulge the net worth of his personal fortune.

All but $45,540 of the income came from family trust funds which total approximately $8.8 million, the Globe said. Kennedy made $45,540 a year.

"Although a long-time foe of special treatment for the oil industry, the return shows the senator has a major interest in the Forest Oil Co., which brought him $1,507.55 last year, four times as much as the year before," the article said.

"Kennedy took a $755.24 deduction from this income because of the oil depletion allowance, a tax incentive for oil speculators which he has long opposed, but which is still in effect."

In addition to his federal income taxes, Kennedy also paid $8,100.55 taxes on his $1,507.55 income from the Forest Oil Co., which brought him $1,507.55 last year, four times as much as the year before, the article said.

Kennedy made his return public at the request of the newspaper. He declined to issue a statement on his worth "since that action might jeopardize the privacy of other family members."

"He said, however, he would expect the family to understand if he made such a disclosure in a bid for national office," the article said.

The Globe said $340,327 of Kennedy's 1973 income came from two trust funds set up for him by his father, the late Joseph P. Kennedy. He also received $77,517 from trust funds set up for his brother, Joseph P. Kennedy Jr., and his sister, Kathleen Harrington, both of whom died leaving no children.

In addition to his Senate salary, the return showed Kennedy also made $3,355 from magazine articles and speeches.

Kennedy spent $38,068 for "business purposes out of his own pocket" and donated $4,678 to charities and other deductible agencies, the article said.

"The return showed Kennedy to be a less-than-successful landlord," the Globe said. He rented his Boston townhouse, at 4 Charles River Square, last year with a net loss of $2,412, according to the tax figures.

Win At Bridge

Oswald: "Bad players tend to give themselves no chance to bring home a doubtful contract. Fair players usually find a way that may succeed, while really good players give themselves every chance."

Jim: "South was a fair player. He watched his opponents start with three rounds of diamonds. West ruffed the third lead and shifted to a club. South led a trump to his ace and a second trump back to dummy's queen. Then he tried the heart finesse. If it had worked he would have been able to ruff his last heart in dummy, but it failed and he was down one."

Oswald: "It was tough luck but an expert would have given himself an extra chance and made the hand. He would have led a trump to his ace just as South had done, but then he would play out his last diamond. West would not have been able to ruff and a low heart would have been discarded from dummy. After that start South would cash his ace of spades."

3 motorists get tickets after accidents

Bradley police issued tickets to three motorists following accidents Friday.

Freeman F. Grev, 448 N. Monroe Ave., was charged with failure to reduce speed after the car he was driving collided with a northbound car driven by Daniel L. Pierson, 550 W. Broadway St. The accident occurred about 4:10 a.m. at Randolph Ave. and Durham St. The Pierson auto was pushed 84 feet onto a nearby terrace by the force of the impact, police said.

Eleanor Hutson, Chebanse, was charged with failure to reduce speed following a mishap at 7:40 a.m. Friday at Ill. 50 and North St. Police said the car driven by Mrs. Hutson struck the rear of one driven by Ronald J. Pastor, R.R.3, Kankakee, who was halted for a traffic light at the time.

William H. Benjamin, 217 N. Randolph Ave., was charged with failure to yield the right of way at an intersection following a collision with a car driven by Eugene Toler, 355 E. Syracuse St. Police reported that the westbound car driven by Benjamin halted at the Ill. 50-Durham St. intersection and then started across, hitting the southbound auto driven by Toler.

Winner makes victory speech. Giscard d'Estaing, President of France, captured the narrow victory in the 1974 election for the presidency of France Sunday.

d'Estaing narrowly wins, plans French 'new era'

PARIS (UPI) — Valéry Giscard d'Estaing, winner of France's closest presidential election, moved quickly today to put together a "new era" government to face challenges by a powerful left that nearly defeated him.

The 48-year-old conservative called meetings with his political supporters this morning after defeating Communist-backed Socialist Francois Mitterrand by a tiny, 1.4 per cent margin.

Mitterrand and his backers vowed, however, to keep on fighting to end conservative rule in France despite the defeat of the left's most serious bid for power.

1 dead, 2 charged after unarmed man 'executed'

CHICAGO (UPI)—Three men who called themselves soldiers in a "black liberation army" executed an unarmed railroad security guard and then got caught in a police shootout late Sunday.

One of the three was killed. The others, David Beverly and Lionel Moody, both 21-year-old students at Chicago's Malcolm X College, were charged today with one count each of murder and attempted murder.

Police Sgt. Francis Lee said three men who called themselves "self-styled black revolutionaries" broke into a piggyback freight car in a South Side Penn Central railroad yard. The security guard and the trainee were shot to death. Beverly and Moody were spotted the break-in and hunted down the thieves.

His pursuit was stopped by a bullet. A partner found guard William Temple, 27, lying face down with a bullet wound in the back of his head. Temple was pronounced dead at Billings Hospital.

Two duffel bags containing two 38 caliber revolvers, three gas masks, 1,425 rounds of ammunition, clothing and a "large quantity of black material" were found near Temple's body, police said.

Police said the three ran off the railroad yard and toward the yard where they heard the shots. A shootout ensued and one of the assailants, Victor Alto, 19, was shot and killed. A bullet struck Patrolman Daniel Hammond in the elbow during the exchange. He was hospitalized and reported in good condition. Officer Jesse Wood was grazed in the exchange. Hammond's partner, Patrolman Thomas Blackwell, approached Beverly. Moody fled on foot. Police units which had entered the area later found Moody crouched in a basement stairwell and arrested him.

Police said the confiscated literature contained a sheet of paper outlining "strategies for liberation" with phases for "acts of destruction upon all communications networks, industrial plants, transportation means and educational institutions." The second phase called for killing "all white enemy citizens, police, politicians and soldiers."

Police said Beverly called himself "King Batu," the leader of the "Black Nation of Anconia." Police said he told them "Anconia" stood for words used to describe black people throughout history.

RTA issue still without decision

SPRINGFIELD (UPI) — The Illinois General Assembly's session ended today with no decision on the RTA issue.

With the session half over, the issue remained the same as when the House and Senate first convened for serious business April 16 — the Regional Transit Authority (RTA) and Gov. Dan Walker's proposed $7.88 billion budget.

The RTA issue seemed settled last week when House Speaker W. Robert Blair, R-Park Forest, failed in an attempt to give any of the six RTA bills the right to leave the House floor.

Yet Blair is expected to try a similar move again this week. And, in the Senate, Sen. John Conely, R-Waukegan, is expected to bring his own series of RTA bills before the transportation committee today.

State police report arrests

ASHKUM — State police arrested four men and charged them with criminal damage to property after they removed planks and a banister from a township bridge near Ashkum.

Booked at the Iniquitous jail were Donald L. Hooker, 29, Larry Nicholson, 25, and Rocky Berry, 20, both of Bradley.

They were arrested at 8:40 p.m. Sunday after state police received a call that "four men were working to dismantle the bridge."

The gunman ordered Voeite to surrender any money he had.

Voeite told the gunman, however, that he had no money on his person. The gunman then ordered the service station manager to open the safe inside the building.

Again, Voeite told the man he could not open the safe. The would-be robber then ordered Voeite to lie on the floor while he fled. A woman, who was inside the building at the time of the incident, told police she did not see the man who accompanied Voeite.

The case has been turned over to the detective division for further investigation.

Meanwhile, burglars broke into Southtown Motors sometime early Tuesday morning and stole two autos.

Patrolman Cleveland Thoms reported that he found the window at the rear of the building at 1308 W. Walnut St. broken as he checked the building during his patrol.

Thoms said the offices in the building had been entered and that desk drawers were forced open by the burglars. They had stolen a typewriter, a cash register, a machine, stole $65 cash from the office and made away with four decorative vases from an office.

The burglars then took the keys to two automobiles at the dealership and fled the scene in the cars. Thoms said total loss in the burglary was valued at $4,792.

Detectives are handling the follow-up investigation.

Four cars and trucks were the targets of apparently related vandalism incidents on Poplar Ave. and Hickory St.

All four vehicles were sprayed with paint sometime late Saturday night or early Sunday morning, police reports said.

Howard Watson, 302 S. Poplar, William Elenberg, 301 S. Poplar, Richard Kopl, 332 S. Poplar and Thomas P. Flesner, 1239 E. Bourbonnais, all reported criminal damage to their vehicles.

No damage estimates were available at the time of the reports, police said.

Meanwhile, Jack Robbins, 2075 Warren Road, told police Saturday that someone broke into his car while it was parked on the 1100 block of N. Schuyler Ave. and stole a tape player.

Police said thieves broke a vent window of the car to gain entry. Loss was placed at $150.

Vandals broke a window sometime early this morning or late Sunday night at the time of the report, police reports said.

Police estimated the loss at $250.

Meanwhile, Willie Tanzy, 1200 E. Oak St., Apt. 3, reported to police that someone stole two hubcaps from his car while the car was parked on the 500 block of N. Cottage Ave. Loss was estimated at $100, police said.

Sam Rocca Policemen apprehend burglary suspect

Two Kankakee police officers early Sunday morning arrested a 19-year-old Kankakee man inside the Revere Pharmacy after the automatic alarm inside the store indicated a burglary was in progress. Formal charges were not filed by noon today.

The man was charged with burglary after police found him inside the pharmacy at 150 S. Evergreen Ave. at 1:02 a.m., according to police reports. Police said the man is charged with breaking into the store by knocking out the bottom of the door glass.

Patrolman William Cantrell and Detective Thomas Palmer answered the alarm. According to their report, they arrived at the scene and found the door glass had been broken out.

Cantrell approached the man and saw him running toward the rear of the store, their report said. Cantrell crawled through the door and spotted the man behind the counter of the pharmacy.

Cantrell drew his service revolver and the man fled. The man was then placed under arrest, reports said. Palmer later found a plastic bag behind the counter.

According to the police report, the bag contained several bottles of cough medicine and change from the cash box. The man was still in custody this morning at the city lockup.

In other city police cases, an armed robbery was aborted late Saturday night when a would-be robber apparently gave up in his attempt to rob the Clark Service Station, 818 E. Court St.

According to police reports, Fred L. Voeite, the night service manager at the station, received a call from an unidentified woman who stated her husband had left his wallet in the man's restroom near Ashkum.

Voeite told police he left the wallet in the station and went to the restroom to look for the wallet. After he entered the restroom, however, someone shut off the lights.

Police said Voeite was approached from the rear by a man who stuck a revolver in the waist of Voeite's neck.

The gunman ordered Voeite to surrender any money he had.

Voeite told the gunman, however, that he had no money on his person. The gunman then ordered the service station manager to open the safe inside the building.

Again, Voeite told the man he could not open the safe. The would-be robber then ordered Voeite to lie on the floor while he fled. A woman, who was inside the building at the time of the incident, told police she did not see the man who accompanied Voeite.

The case has been turned over to the detective division for further investigation.

Meanwhile, burglars broke into Southtown Motors sometime early Tuesday morning and stole two autos.

Patrolman Cleveland Thoms reported that he found the window at the rear of the building at 1308 W. Walnut St. broken as he checked the building during his patrol.

Thoms said the offices in the building had been entered and that desk drawers were forced open by the burglars. They had stolen a typewriter, a cash register, a machine, stole $65 cash from the office and made away with four decorative vases from an office.

The burglars then took the keys to two automobiles at the dealership and fled the scene in the cars. Thoms said total loss in the burglary was valued at $4,792.

Detectives are handling the follow-up investigation.

Four cars and trucks were the targets of apparently related vandalism incidents on Poplar Ave. and Hickory St.

All four vehicles were sprayed with paint sometime late Saturday night or early Sunday morning, police reports said.

Howard Watson, 302 S. Poplar, William Elenberg, 301 S. Poplar, Richard Kopl, 332 S. Poplar and Thomas P. Flesner, 1239 E. Bourbonnais, all reported criminal damage to their vehicles.

Amtrak hits high speeds during tests

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) — Amtrak Metroliner cars reached speeds up to 150 miles an hour this weekend in a test run between Trenton and New Brunswick.

An Amtrak spokesman said the purpose of the tests Saturday was to determine the effectiveness of new cars ordered by the federal government in compartments on top of the roof instead of below the car.

The spokesman said the test runs were held on a 21-mile stretch of track considered to be in top condition.

Earlier this year Amtrak officials conducted a series of tests on a French made train which requires no electrification.

2 injured in cycle crash

Two persons were injured Sunday evening when the motorcycle on which they were riding collided with a car at Station St. and East Ave., according to Kankakee police and fire reports.

Shirley Klop, 32, and her daughter Lori, 14, were taken to Riverside Hospital by the Kankakee Fire Department emergency squad after they were thrown from their cycle in the accident, police said.

Both were released after treatment at the hospital, according to Riverside officials.

The two, who live at 814 Kankakee, were injured when their cycle collided with a car driven by Roger L. Van Gilder, 63, S. Myrtle Ave. Police reports said the Klop cycle was northbound on East Ave.

Van Gilder was eastbound on Station and had stopped for the stop sign, police said.

Van Gilder proceeded into the intersection and the two vehicles collided, police said.

Van Gilder was charged with failure to yield at a stop intersection, police reports said. Van Gilder was also arrested Saturday night by city police at Schuyler Ave. and Chestnut St. and charged with reckless driving, reports said.

He was charged with squalling his tires in the vicinity of the arrest, according to reports. He was later released after posting 10 percent of $500 bond and his drivers license. He is slated to appear in court May 21.

In other emergency squad calls, seven persons were taken to hospitals in the city Saturday night and Sunday morning.

Viola Palmer, 74, 888 S. Nelson Ave., was treated in satisfactory condition this morning at Riverside after she was taken there Sunday at 9:55 p.m.

Hazel Schultz, 72, 498 N. Cottage Ave., was reported in good condition this morning at St. Mary's after she was taken there Saturday at 9:42 p.m.

Some of those in attendance hadn't seen each other since their high school days and they came from such distant points as Hawaii, Florida, Arkansas and Ohio.

Planned and organized by Clement Lambert of Palestine, the third gathering of the old Kays was the biggest to date and there were calls for a bigger and better one in 1975, which would be the 50th reunion for many of the old Kays.

Among the wearers of the old Maroon and Blue colors in the athletic battles were there were Lawrence Cook of Morton, Duane Kuntz of Hinsdale, Bernard Deselm of Chicago and Kankakee Bob Burdell, Nick Beronius, Russell Hamilton, Edgar Bray and Leighton Pritchett.

Traveling the greatest distance for the event was Mrs. Harriet Dickinson of Honolulu.

Yeh, but it's the only school yet that was ever written for the exclusive use of Kankakee High School back in the post World War I days and which was chanted until the school's demise in 1966.

That was among the nostalgic recollections that permeated the atmosphere in the Holiday Inn banquet room Saturday night when 120 grads of the late 1920s and their spouses met for the third annual Maroon and Blue Get-together.

Nationals next for KCC regional champs

FLINT, Mich. — Ed Kresinski had not had his most memorable day in a Kankakee Community College baseball uniform when he stepped into the batter's box in the ninth inning of Sunday's second game against St. Clair County Community College in the North Central Regional Junior College Tournament.

In four previous plate appearances, the big sophomore from Chicago St. Francis de Sales had drawn a walk, striking out three times and grounding out. The Cavalier captain came to the plate with the score tied 4-4 and runners on first and second.

With 10 men out, Kresinski was the last hope for Kankakee to keep the game from going into extra innings.

Coach Irish O'Reilly had drawn the strategy when the Cavs had come to bat in the bottom of the ninth trailing 4-3.

The Flyers' goaltender Parent stopped 30 Boston shots and earned the Conn Smythe trophy as the Most Valuable Player in the playoffs, but he really was tested only a few times.

"Sometimes there are only four or five times when you have to make good saves in a game, like today," he said. "Sometimes there are 11 or 12. We got the breaks today but the way you get the breaks is by working."

All-Area stars run Tuesday

BY PAUL BIX
Last Friday, a member of the All-Area Coaches' Selection Committee took a final look at the list of teams qualifying for a relay, shook his head in partial disbelief at the fast times and said: "Any team that doesn't show for that one is nuts. All those teams will be there. There is no need to worry about that."

That committee member had to believe any athlete who has qualified for Tuesday's 12th Annual All-Area Track and Field meet at Bradley-Bourbonnais High School would be there. The event is sponsored by The Journal.

But last-minute scratching does happen, and early today the Journal received a few calls from coaches who said their athletes would not attend Tuesday's meet.

Competition in the pole vault and discus lead off the program at 4:45 p.m. By 6 p.m., all running events should be underway, with a special fifth running of the 500-yard mile scheduled for 7:45.

This year's event could find some of the long and high, long and triple jumps. Added excitement should be provided by tight races in the relays, three of them, not to mention the 440-yard four is a new event. New additions include the triple jump and the 300-yard dash.

However, one record appearing pretty elusive is the high jump of 6 feet, 5 1/2 inches, set by Steve McNamara, who took third in the high jump at the 1969 state qualifying standard by Coach Al Fulton, then a standard 6 feet, 5 1/2 inches.

Two other records under the long and high, long and triple jumps. Added excitement should be provided by tight races in the relays, three of them, not to mention the 440-yard four is a new event. New additions include the triple jump and the 300-yard dash.

Two other records under the long and high, long and triple jumps. Added excitement should be provided by tight races in the relays, three of them, not to mention the 440-yard four is a new event. New additions include the triple jump and the 300-yard dash.

However, one record appearing pretty elusive is the high jump of 6 feet, 5 1/2 inches, set by Steve McNamara, who took third in the high jump at the 1969 state qualifying standard by Coach Al Fulton, then a standard 6 feet, 5 1/2 inches.

The bodies were discovered Sunday in a wooded area dotted with quarries. Mrs. Merrill had been shot 11 or 12 times, police said, and Taylor at least twice.

Authorities said the bodies were found by a fisherman in an open area at the end of an entrance road to the Great Lake quarry about a mile east of Lemont. An autopsy was scheduled today.

Dwight postpones unit school action

DWIGHT — Plans to form a unit school district for Dwight have been put aside until the grade and high school boards of education and a school board of education can determine if it would be possible to enlarge the proposed unit district beyond the present boundary lines of the existing high school district.

The decision was made at meetings of each school board last week on recommendation of a citizens committee.

At the high school board meeting, principal Kenneth Bell announced plans for commencement and reported on activities of the vocational advisory council. Lawrence Copes, assistant principal, reported on the athletic program for boys and girls.

The board also granted a request from Susan Schroder to teach only half-time kindergarten and Penny Gonten half-time in Title I program.

The grade school board also approved a loan of $75,000 from the working cash fund to the building fund.

At the grade school board meeting, resignations of Miss Lucia Shockey and Mrs. Rebecca Dettman were accepted.

To save money on Long Distance, here are 3 things to remember.

1. Dial direct.

By dialing the number yourself, instead of calling the Long Distance Operator, you can save significantly on station-to-station Long Distance calls. A 3-minute call to Miami during the day, for example, costs just $1.25 when dialed direct. If placed through an Operator, it could cost you $1.55 (station-to-station). Or even $2.05 (person-to-person).

2. Call on weekends.

If you do your Long Distance dialing on Saturday or Sunday up to 5 p.m., you get the lowest rate of all for a 3-minute call. Under the weekend rate, a station-to-station call to Miami costs just 95¢ when dialed direct.

3. Call on weekends.

If you do your Long Distance dialing on Saturday or Sunday up to 5 p.m., you get the lowest rate of all for a 3-minute call. Under the weekend rate, a station-to-station call to Miami costs just 95¢ when dialed direct.

2. Call after 5 weekdays.

Long Distance rates drop considerably at 5 p.m. on weekdays. The same 3-minute direct-dialed call to Miami that cost you $1.25 during the day costs just 70¢ when placed after five. After 11 p.m., it costs even less.

2 boaters rescued from river

WILMINGTON — Two men were rescued from the flood-swollen Kankakee River late Friday after their boat capsized just downstream of the bridge.

The Wilmington Fire Department's rescue squad was called at 11:43 p.m. by a Kankakee River State Park ranger to remove the shivering boaters who were clinging to an abandoned railroad bridge stone pier.

They were identified as Linus Barrett, 36, Normal, and Ron Riddle, 39, Bloomington. Neither was hospitalized.

Due to the flood waters, firemen were unable to remove the upset boat and left it planned against the old bridge pier.

For several years the high school has maintained a band uniform fund which has been built up through voluntary contributions at band concerts, several projects sponsored by the women's club, the sale of paper-back books at K. & H. Truck Plaza and individual donations.

The fund currently has a balance of $2,200. The balance of the cost will be paid out of tax receipts. Supt. Ronald Vogrich indicated that most of the cost could be delayed from interest earned on the investment of working cash funds.

FBI seeks Patty Hearst as fugitive

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A white woman, believed to be Patricia Hearst, and two black men, offered $500 to rent a Hollywood apartment for 24 hours and one of the men lunged at the landlady with a knife when she refused, police reported today.

A dragnet for the 20-year-old heiress, now listed as armed and dangerous and liable to be shot if she resists, was spread over the metropolitan Los Angeles area after six members of the Symbionese Liberation Army were killed Friday.

A spokesman for the FBI said the Hollywood incident was one of a number of reports coming in from excited citizens about the whereabouts of Miss Hearst and that they had no evidence to link it directly to the wanted woman.

A report by the Los Angeles Police Department, however, listed the incident as "possible SLA connection."

An LAPD officer said the incident occurred around 8:15 a.m. at an apartment building on New Hampshire Ave. in the Hollywood area.

The report said the trio was carrying out one count of lying to the FBI and one count of lying to the grand jury.

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI) — President Nixon appealed today for rapid congressional approval of his national health insurance program, claiming that health care costs will continue rising and that every American must be assured adequate medical care.

In a nationwide radio address, the president also urged the health care industry "to take every action in their disposal" to hold down prices and said he would move vigorously to force drastic, congressionally imposed mandatory controls.

Nixon acknowledged at the outset of his speech that he chose to speak out once again in pushing the plan he announced last July when he signed the National Health Insurance Act.

"Never has the need been greater, or the national climate more favorable, for development of a sound consensus on a comprehensive program of health insurance than today," Nixon said.

In defending his own approach, the President asserted: "It is the only major plan that offers extensive health coverage without raising your taxes, without severely damaging the effective private health insurance industry that has helped to make this generation of Americans the healthiest, best-cared for in our history, and without establishing an enormous new federal bureaucracy."

The President chose to speak from his seaside villa in Key Biscayne where he has spent most of the past four days vacationing with his family and some close friends. He was expected to fly back to the White House later in the day.

White House officials said Nixon was willing to make some modification in what he has called his Comprehensive Health Insurance Plan, known as CHIP and pegged to preservation of the traditional private health care system with minimal government intervention.

Weapons, including a sub-machine gun, and drugs were seized in a pre-dawn raid Sunday by state police at an Onaga home, while at the same time Kankakee County deputies and St. Anne police raided an apartment in St. Anne.

Four persons were arrested in Onaga on drug and weapons charges. In the St. Anne raid six persons were arrested on a variety of charges, but one was later released pending further investigation.

State police found five pistols, three rifles and the sub-machine gun in the Onaga home, along with suspected quantities of heroin, marijuana and controlled substances.

In St. Anne police found suspected quantities of heroin, marijuana and controlled substances, a small quantity of marijuana, four hypodermic syringes, several marijuanna pipes, and eight cemetery lights which were reportedly stolen in April from the Beaverlodge Cemetery.

Charges against the five persons arrested had not been filed by noon today, according to the state attorney's office.

Kissinger tying loose ends of Mideast peace plan

DAMASCUS (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger arrived today to get Syria's final agreement on a cease-fire and establishment of the "Kissinger line" separating Israeli and Syrian forces in the Golan Heights.

A high American official aboard Kissinger's plane said that Israel and Syria had basically agreed on a buffer zone between the two forces and that the zone will vary in width from two to six kilometers (1.2 and 3.6 miles).

The official said Kissinger expected to get from Syrian President Hafez Assad the final agreement on a cease-fire line which both Israel and Syria have provisionally accepted.

Kissinger's talks with President Hafez Assad started over a working lunch at the presidential palace at 2 p.m. (8 a.m. CDT).

The cease-fire line is the key issue, and there also has been agreement in principle as well as on a timing out of the cease-fire line and the narrow buffer zone.

This is Kissinger's seventh shuttle to Damascus and the fourth week of his longest mission abroad.

The high official said that he hoped to complete the details of the agreement this week, but in any case it was the last he could spend in the area at this time.

Already a whole week of appointments have been cancelled in Washington.

Kissinger may leave two high U.S. officials behind when he shuttles back to Israel tonight, to work on technical details with the Syrians.

The agreement is modeled on the deep disengagement agreement between Israel and Egypt, but is more complicated because of the narrow width of the territory in comparison with the broad Sinai desert and the fact that it is populated.

As in the Egyptian agreement, the United States is expected to give certain assurances that the two sides do not want to give to each other directly.

Israel then agreed to the plan on Sunday after Kissinger met with Prime Minister Golda Meir and other top cabinet officials in Jerusalem.

"The line that was offered by the secretary of state was of such a nature that both Israel and Syria can accept it," Israeli Information Minister Shimon Peres said after the talks.

Judge considers dropping charge against Ehrlichman

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge, saying the FBI "plays cat and mouse" with people it is investigating today indicated he is considering dismissing one charge brought against former presidential aide John D. Ehrlichman in the White House Plumbers case.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell said the question in reference to a charge that Ehrlichman lied to the FBI about his knowledge of the White House Plumbers unit's investigation of the Pentagon Papers case.

Gesell said that a FBI memo summarizing the interview with Ehrlichman did not make it clear whether the judge asked Ehrlichman about the "Pentagon Papers case" or, more specifically, about the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

Ehrlichman told the FBI more than a year had elapsed since he had seen papers relating to the Pentagon Papers investigation. Gesell said that might have been correct if Ehrlichman was referring to the original case brought against Ellsberg.

Ehrlichman and five others were indicted by a grand jury on March 7, 1974 on charges of conspiring to violate the civil rights of Dr. Louis Fielding, a Beverly Hills psychiatrist who had treated Ellsberg.

The Plumbers unit allegedly engineered the break-in in an attempt to put together a psychological profile of Ellsberg. Ellsberg was then under indictment on charges stemming from the leak of the Pentagon Papers.

In addition, Ehrlichman was indicted on one count of lying to the FBI and three counts of lying to the grand jury.

The other defendants are Charles W. Colson, former White House special counsel; Felipe de Diego, a Cuban exile now living in Miami; and three Watergate conspirators, G. Gordon Liddy, Bernard Barker and Eugenio R. Martinez.

Meanwhile, Watergate was said to be hurting Ellsberg's position and the need to re-evaluate his position and the need to re-evaluate his position and the need to re-evaluate his position.

Gesell said that he was so disturbed by the transcripts of the Watergate tapes that he had to re-evaluate his job. He said, however, denied the newspaper reported through an aide as "totally false."

"Gen. Haig has never implied the need to re-evaluate his position and the need to re-evaluate his position and the need to re-evaluate his position."

Nixon: Pass bill on health care

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon today urged Congress to pass a health care bill quickly, saying it was the only way to ensure that every American has access to medical care.

Nixon said that the health care industry "to take every action in their disposal" to hold down prices and said he would move vigorously to force drastic, congressionally imposed mandatory controls.

Nixon acknowledged at the outset of his speech that he chose to speak out once again in pushing the plan he announced last July when he signed the National Health Insurance Act.

The Plumbers unit allegedly engineered the break-in in an attempt to put together a psychological profile of Ellsberg. Ellsberg was then under indictment on charges stemming from the leak of the Pentagon Papers.

In addition, Ehrlichman was indicted on one count of lying to the FBI and three counts of lying to the grand jury.

The other defendants are Charles W. Colson, former White House special counsel; Felipe de Diego, a Cuban exile now living in Miami; and three Watergate conspirators, G. Gordon Liddy, Bernard Barker and Eugenio R. Martinez.

Meanwhile, Watergate was said to be hurting Ellsberg's position and the need to re-evaluate his position and the need to re-evaluate his position and the need to re-evaluate his position.

Gesell said that he was so disturbed by the transcripts of the Watergate tapes that he had to re-evaluate his job. He said, however, denied the newspaper reported through an aide as "totally false."

"Gen. Haig has never implied the need to re-evaluate his position and the need to re-evaluate his position and the need to re-evaluate his position."

Nixon: Pass bill on health care

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon today urged Congress to pass a health care bill quickly, saying it was the only way to ensure that every American has access to medical care.

Nixon said that the health care industry "to take every action in their disposal" to hold down prices and said he would move vigorously to force drastic, congressionally imposed mandatory controls.

Nixon acknowledged at the outset of his speech that he chose to speak out once again in pushing the plan he announced last July when he signed the National Health Insurance Act.

"Never has the need been greater, or the national climate more favorable, for development of a sound consensus on a comprehensive program of health insurance than today," Nixon said.

In defending his own approach, the President asserted: "It is the only major plan that offers extensive health coverage without raising your taxes, without severely damaging the effective private health insurance industry that has helped to make this generation of Americans the healthiest, best-cared for in our history, and without establishing an enormous new federal bureaucracy."

The President chose to speak from his seaside villa in Key Biscayne where he has spent most of the past four days vacationing with his family and some close friends. He was expected to fly back to the White House later in the day.

White House officials said Nixon was willing to make some modification in what he has called his Comprehensive Health Insurance Plan, known as CHIP and pegged to preservation of the traditional private health care system with minimal government intervention.

Weapons, including a sub-machine gun, and drugs were seized in a pre-dawn raid Sunday by state police at an Onaga home, while at the same time Kankakee County deputies and St. Anne police raided an apartment in St. Anne.

Four persons were arrested in Onaga on drug and weapons charges. In the St. Anne raid six persons were arrested on a variety of charges, but one was later released pending further investigation.

State police found five pistols, three rifles and the sub-machine gun in the Onaga home, along with suspected quantities of heroin, marijuana and controlled substances.

In St. Anne police found suspected quantities of heroin, marijuana and controlled substances, a small quantity of marijuana, four hypodermic syringes, several marijuanna pipes, and eight cemetery lights which were reportedly stolen in April from the Beaverlodge Cemetery.

Charges against the five persons arrested had not been filed by noon today, according to the state attorney's office.

Arrested in St. Anne were an 18-year-old Kankakee girl charged with possession of a controlled substance; a 21-year-old St. Anne man charged with possession of a controlled substance; a 25-year-old St. Anne man charged with possession of a hypodermic syringe; and a 19-year-old St. Anne youth charged with theft; and 19-year-old St. Anne youth charged with possession of cannabis (marijuana); and a 25-year-old St. Anne man charged with possession of a hypodermic syringe.

Burlison said the pills were found in the girl's purse and the marijuanna was found in a first aid kit in the kitchen of the home.

Deputy Bill Burlison, who headed the St. Anne raid, reported this morning pills, which appeared to be "Ther-

Judge considers dropping charge against Ehrlichman

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge, saying the FBI "plays cat and mouse" with people it is investigating today indicated he is considering dismissing one charge brought against former presidential aide John D. Ehrlichman in the White House Plumbers case.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell said the question in reference to a charge that Ehrlichman lied to the FBI about his knowledge of the White House Plumbers unit's investigation of the Pentagon Papers case.

Gesell said that a FBI memo summarizing the interview with Ehrlichman did not make it clear whether the judge asked Ehrlichman about the "Pentagon Papers case" or, more specifically, about the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

Ehrlichman told the FBI more than a year had elapsed since he had seen papers relating to the Pentagon Papers investigation. Gesell said that might have been correct if Ehrlichman was referring to the original case brought against Ellsberg.

Ehrlichman and five others were indicted by a grand jury on March 7, 1974 on charges of conspiring to violate the civil rights of Dr. Louis Fielding, a Beverly Hills psychiatrist who had treated Ellsberg.

The Plumbers unit allegedly engineered the break-in in an attempt to put together a psychological profile of Ellsberg. Ellsberg was then under indictment on charges stemming from the leak of the Pentagon Papers.

In addition, Ehrlichman was indicted on one count of lying to the FBI and three counts of lying to the grand jury.

Kennedy reveals income

BOSTON (UPI) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy D-Mass., a member of one of the nation's richest families, had an income of $461,444 last year and paid $27,844 in taxes, according to his 1973 tax returns.

Kennedy gave the Boston Globe a copy of his 1973 tax return but declined to divulge the net worth of his personal fortune.

All but $43,500 of the income came from family trust funds which total approximately $8.8 million, the Globe said. Senators make $42,300 a year.

"Although a long-time foe of special treatment for the oil industry, the returns shows the senator has a minor interest in the Forest Oil Co., which brought him $3,507.85 last year on four leases," the article said.

"Kennedy took a $765.24 deduction from his income because of the oil depletion allowance, a tax incentive for oil speculators which he has long opposed, but which is still in effect."

In addition to his federal income taxes, Kennedy also paid $180,355 taxes on his $1.5 million home and $1,880 on his summer residence in Hyannis Port, Mass. He also paid $20,434 on his home mortgage and $1,500 on a charitable mortgage on his 50-foot sailboat.

Kennedy made his return public at the request of the newspaper. He declined to issue a statement on his worth "since that action might jeopardize the privacy of other family members."

"He said, however, he would expect the family to understand if he made such a disclosure in a bid for national office," the article said.

The Globe said $340,337 of Kennedy's 1973 income came from two trusts set up for him by his father, the late Joseph P. Kennedy. He also received $77,577 from trust funds set up for his brother, Joseph P. Kennedy Jr., and his sister, Kathleen Harrington, both of whom died leaving no children.

In addition to his Senate salary, the return showed Kennedy also made $12,335 from magazine articles and speeches.

Kennedy spent $26,069 of his own pocket and donated $4,678 to "charities and other deductible agencies," the article said.

The return showed Kennedy to be a less-than-successful landlord," the Globe said. He rented his Boston townhouse, at 7 Charles River Square, last year with a net loss of $2,412, according to the tax figures.

3 motorists get tickets after accidents

Bradley police issued tickets to three motorists following accidents Friday.

Freeman F. Gero, 248 N. Monroe Ave., was charged with failure to reduce speed after the car he was driving collided with a northbound car driven by Daniel L. Pearson, 550 W. Broadway St.

The accident occurred about 4:10 p.m. at Randolph Ave. and Durham St. The Pearson auto was pushed 84 feet onto a nearby terrace by the force of the impact, police said.

Eleanor Hutson, Chebanse, was charged with failure to reduce speed following a mishap at 7:40 a.m. Friday at Ill. 50 and North St.

Police said the car driven by Ms. Hutson struck the rear of one driven by Bogdan J. Pastor, 1813, Kankakee, who was halted for a traffic light at the time.

William H. Benjamin, 217 N. Randolph Ave., was charged with failure to yield the right of way at an intersection following a collision with a car driven by Eugene Toler, 353, Sycamore St.

Police reported that the westbound car driven by Benjamin halted at the Ill. 50-Durham St. intersection and then started across, hitting the southbound auto driven by Toler.

Saluting the colors as they pass

A couple of veterans raise their arms in salute as color bearers walk past at the start of the Centennial parade in Kankakee Saturday. Approximately 200 state members of the Centennial, the honorary degree of the Veterans of Foreign War, held their 6th annual state convention in Kankakee.

Area news briefs

B-L CONCERT — The music department of Buckley-Lee High School will present its spring concert at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the gymnasium. Richard Lask, band director, said awards will be presented. Performing will be the beginning band, junior high, senior high concert band and senior high stage band.

BOOKED AT JAIL

WATSEKA — City police booked Maurice Zierbar, 33, Kopestake, at the county jail after he was arrested at 8:35 p.m. Saturday and charged with driving while intoxicated and illegal transportation of alcoholic liquor. Guadalupe Bernier, 30, Onarga, was booked after Onarga police arrested him and charged him with assault at 8 p.m. Saturday.

2 injured in cycle crash

Two persons were injured Sunday evening when the motorcycle on which they were riding collided with a car at Station St. and East Ave., according to Kankakee police and fire reports.

Shirley Kopp, 32, and her daughter Lori, 16, were taken to Riverside Hospital by the Kankakee Fire Department emergency squad after they were thrown from their cycle in the accident, police said.

Both were released after treatment at the hospital, according to Riverside officials.

The two, who live at RH 2 Kankakee, were injured when their cycle collided with a car driven by Roger Van Gilder, 625 S. Myrtle Ave. Police reports said the Kopp cycle was northbound on East Ave.

Van Gilder was eastbound on Station and had stopped for the stop sign, police said. Van Gilder proceeded into the intersection when the two vehicles collided, police said.

Nostalgia prevails at class reunion

"Kankakee! Kankakee! Who can't we can't Kankakee can't? Yeh, but it's the only school left that was ever written for the exclusive use of Kankakee High School back in the post World War I days and which was chartered until the school's demise in 1966.

That was among the nostalgic recollections that permeated the atmosphere in the Holiday Inn banquet room Saturday night when 120 grads of the late 1920s and their spouses met for the third annual Maroon and Blue Get-together.

Some of those in attendance hadn't seen each other since their high school days and they came from such distant points as Hawaii, Florida, Arkansas and Ohio.

Planned and organized by Clement Lambert of Palatine, the third gathering of the old Kays was the highest to date and there were calls for a bigger and better one in 1975, which would be the 50th reunion for many of those in attendance.

Among the wearers of the old Maroon and Blue colors in the athletic battles who were there were Lawrence Cook of Morton, Diane Kuntz of Hinsdale, Bernard Deselm of Chicago and Kankakee Bob Burwell, Nick Beronies, Russell Hamilton, Edgar Bray and Leighton Patchett.

Traveling the greatest distance for the event was Miss Harriet Dickerson of Honolulu, Hawaii. Representing the earliest class was Mrs. Cornelia Sloman, Kankakee, 1922.

A 'Roaring Twenties' reunion

Among the 120 persons who attended the third annual Maroon and Blue Get-together, a reunion of Kankakee High School grads of the late 1920s, were (from left) Mrs. Cornelia Sloman, Kankakee; Clement Lambert, Palatine; Wynar Hamilton, Minneapolis, Minn.; Lawrence Cook, Morton, Ill.; and Kankakee Bob Burwell.

BY PAUL RIX

Last Friday, a member of the All-Area Coach's Selection Committee took a final look at the list of teams qualifying for a relay, shook his head in partial disbelief at the fast times and said: "Any team that doesn't show for that one is nuts. All those teams will be there. There is no need to worry about that."

That committee member had a good point. It would be hard to believe any athlete who has qualified for Tuesday's 12th Annual All-Area Track and Field meet at Bradley-Bourbonais High School would be absent. The event is sponsored by The Journal.

But last-minute scratching does happen, and early today The Journal received a few calls from coaches who said their athletes would meet Tuesday's meet.

Competition in the pole vault and discus lead off the program at 4:45 p.m. By 6 p.m., all running events should be underway, with a special fifth-running of the 300-yard hurdle race at 7:45.

This year's event could find coaches and meet officials double and triple checking their stop watches and tape measures if performers, approximately 54 in all, plus an assortment of relays, come through as expected.

Every other event is up for grabs. Only five defending champions return, only one of whom is a senior, but they are top individuals with the best chances to set records.

THE LONG senior and meet record holder in the pole vault is St. Anne's Perry Kershaw, who, along with mate Paul Romain, probably ranks as one of the state's best two in vaulting.

Each has cleared 13 feet, 4 inches. If you are a gambler, put your money on one of these two guys.

A stiff challenge could come from Watska's Bob Bruens, who took third in the pole vault at the championship meet, equalling his personal best of 13 feet.

Two other records could be broken by tight races in the relays, three of them, and two, since the 44-year-old foursome is a new event. Other new additions include the triple jump and the 300-yard hurdle.

Added excitement should be provided by tight races in the relays, three of them, and two, since the 44-year-old foursome is a new event. Other new additions include the triple jump and the 300-yard hurdle.

Nationals next for KCC regional champs

FLINT, Mich. — Ed Krzesinski had not had his most memorable day in a Kankakee Community College baseball uniform when he stepped into the batter's box in the ninth inning of Sunday's second game against St. Clair County Community College.

In four previous plate appearances, the big sophomore from Chicago St. Francis de Sales had drawn a blank, striking out three times and grounding out. The Cavalier captain came to the plate with the score tied 4-4 and runners on first and second.

With two men out, Krzesinski was the last hope for Kankakee to keep the game from going into extra innings. Coach Irish O'Reilly had drawn the strategy when the Cavs had come to bat in the bottom of the inning trailing 4-3.

Philadelphia (UPI) — Kate Smith, Bernie Parent and some ice were great advantages but the Philadelphia Flyers had one really only one way to win the Stanley Cup.

The Flyers rolled up their sleeves Sunday and did a job on the Boston Bruins, taking a 1-0 decision to win the best-of-seven series four games to two and become the first National Hockey League expansion team to win the Stanley Cup.

"We didn't beat Boston by fighting," said winger Dave Schultz, the most penalized player in the league. "We beat them by good, honest hard work. They didn't realize what hard work is until we showed them. We kept giving that good effort."

The Flyers, who earned a reputation as the "Broad Street Bullies" while becoming the most penalized club in the NHL, used their tight-checking aggressive tactics to hold off the Bruins and make Rick MacLeish's first period goal stand up.

Flyers' goaltender Parent stopped 30 Boston shots and earned the Conn Smythe trophy as the Most Valuable Player in the playoffs, but he really was tested only a few times. "Sometimes there are 10 or 15 times when you have to make good saves in a game, like today," he said. "Sometimes there are 11 or 12. We got the breaks today but the way you get the breaks is by working."

The combination of the Flyers' hustling, bustling work-shed, the most penalized player in the league, "We beat them by good, honest hard work. They didn't realize what hard work is until we showed them. We kept giving that good effort."

Caldwell making Giants' McCovey swap look good
 By United Press International
 Mike Caldwell won't ever make San Francisco Giants fans forget the name Willie McCovey. But he's doing pretty good at making them remember his own.

McCovey was traded to the Giants last winter for the aging McCovey and utility infielder Bernie Williams. It caused much anger among San Francisco fans, who considered McCovey almost as historic a landmark as the Golden Gate Bridge.

The Giants, however, knew what they were doing and it appears they were right. No way does anyone ask a giant fan who Mike Caldwell is, the answer you'll get is that he's the winningest pitcher in the National League.

Caldwell turned in another superb performance Sunday when he pitched the Giants to an 8-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds. Caldwell allowed only six hits and never ran in the game. He earned a record 1.46.

"I'm pitching well this year because of a good defense behind me," said Caldwell, who became the first pitcher in the NL to post seven victories. "Our defense has helped and I know they'll help me."

McCovey gave Giants fans a few fond memories in the second game when he bled a career-record 15th grand slam home run to pave the way for a 12-inning victory. McCovey's homer, which tied him with Hank Aaron for most career grand slams, came in the fifth inning.

In other NL games, Montreal picked up his sixth straight win. The Indians staked Bob Johnson to a little more offensive help in the second game, building a 6-2 lead after five innings.

 In recent years, baseball has been just a spring sport for fans in Texas and Cleveland. Late May is normally the time when the Rangers and Indians settle into their respective American League cellar and the fans' fancies turn to football.

This year may be different. If the Rangers and Indians continue their turnaround in good play, the baseball season in Texas and Cleveland could stretch into at least the summer.

We're not the pessimists we used to be," said Texas Manager Billy Martin after the Kansas City Royals 8-3 Sunday.

"The crowd was fantastic," said Cleveland Manager Ken Aspinette, referring to 46,419 fans who saw the Indians beat the Detroit Tigers 5-1 and 8-4.

Elsewhere in the American League, the California Angels beat the Minnesota Twins in the opener 4-2, then 3-1 in the 4th. He did 36.9 in Saturday's district meet at Oak Lawn and 31.5 on Bishop McNamara's cinder last Thursday. The record is 31.4.

Defending champion of the Lyndon Swanson of Waterloo, will battle it out in the weights with Monette's Mike Fitzpatrick. Swanson has thrown the shot 54.1, Fitzpatrick 53.8. The Waterloo athlete has been 145 in the discus, Fitzpatrick 145.8.

The record in the shotput is 55 feet set by Mark Sloan of Herscher's Randy Kruse is defending his title in the high jump.

Monette, Clifton Central, St. Anne and Bradley will fight for most wins in the mile, 800 and 400 relays. No teams points are kept, however.

Nonqualified car owners threatening legal action

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — The management of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway was threatened with legal action today for ending the rain-plagued 500-mile time trials before all cars lined up at the track had a chance to qualify.

A spokesman for teams with nonqualified cars said he would file a class action suit today unless the Indianapolis Motor Club (IMC) agreed to let the cars qualify for Sunday's million-dollar race.

Entrants of nonqualified cars were given until noon EDT to submit a petition to the IMC signed by entrants of 35 cars now in the field and two alternates saying they agreed to reenter the race for qualifications. If they are successful, Chief Steward Tom Binford said he would "reconsider" extending the time trials.

"Ultimately, the decision to extend time trials rests with the Speedway," Binford said. "It's the IMC's decision to make."

New uniforms ordered for Gilman high band

GILMAN — Gilman High School band members will have new uniforms next fall. At its last meeting, the Unit 2 school board voted to buy 100 new band uniforms and a new drum major's uniform at a total cost of $13,272. Delivery is guaranteed within 150 days from the date the sample uniform is approved.

Successful bidder for the contract was Stanbury and Co., Kansas City, Mo., which bid $132.22 each for 100 all-wool uniforms and $150 for a drum major's uniform. The firm will donate a director's uniform valued at $125.

Fechheimer Brothers, Wheaton, bid $125.75 each for 50 per cent dacron uniforms, and DeMoulin Brothers, Greenville, bid $120.70 each for 55 per cent dacron uniforms.

Morris Krauskopf of Central Dress Co., Gilman, was asked to serve as a consultant in the purchase and construction and workmanship of the sample uniforms submitted by the three firms.

For several years the high school has maintained a band uniform fund which has been built up through voluntary contributions at band concerts, several projects sponsored by the women's club, the sale of paper-back books at K. H. Truck Plaza and individual donations.

The fund currently has a balance of $2,000. The balance of the cost will be paid out of tax receipts. Supt. Ronald Vogrich indicated that most of the cost could be defrayed from interest earned on the investment of working cash funds.

At the grade school board meeting, resignations of Miss Lucia Shockey and Mrs. Rebecca Belman were accepted.

The board also also granted a request from Susan Schröder to teach only half-time kindergarten and Penny Guntien half-time in the Title I program.

The grade school board also approved a loan of $15,000 from the working cash fund to the educational fund.

Delicate design

Syrup pitchers were an innovation of the mid-19th century and soon became necessities in every household. This Majolica pitcher has its original pewter top.

Grandma's old syrup pitcher may be prized by collectors

By JEAN BARNES
NCA Feature Writer

The syrup pitcher is a relatively "new" interpretation of one of man's oldest utensils. It wasn't until the mid-19th century that it gained popular acceptance and was considered a necessity in every home.

The syrup pitcher is usually five to eight inches high and is distinguished by a metal top. The pitcher spot was incorporated in the metal top and the lid usually had a thumb piece by which the cover could be raised for pouring.

Recently, I discovered that Beverly Hageman has assembled a small but select collection of syrup pitchers. It is fairly representative of the variety of materials used to manufacture syrup pitchers.

They range from the humble Majolica earthenware to the handpainted porcelain of Austria. The oldest is an English salt glass pitcher with graceful Sheffield pewter top, dating from 1860. Two porcelain pitchers have matching plates.

Beverly, wife of an abstractor and mother of five children, started her collection 10 years ago and has built it with discrimination, studying ads, resource materials and corresponding with dealers across the country.

"I've made some wonderful friends through my correspondence," she said. Most of her purchases have been from dealers and she has been careful to receive a guarantee of authenticity with each purchase.

Even with this precaution she expressed doubts about three pitchers as she offered them for inspection. One was in Spanish lace, another cranberry and opalescent swirl and the third a satin glass of pink shade to white. "I really think these are reproductions."

"The good ones are scarce and hard to find. I have several dealers who sell for her. Reproductions are fairly common," she said.

Her prize in pressed pattern glass is a Sandwich "Buckle and Star." Others are "Lion," "Cordoba," "Currier and Ives," and "Double Ribbon." They represent a rainbow of colors.

Although it's nice to find an old pitcher with its original top, most authorities agree that a broken or missing top does not detract from its desirability. But the patina of old pewter or silverplate adds a look of genuine age not duplicated by the new.

Her pitcher collection has led her into other fields of interest. Recently she started to acquire pieces of the Michigan pattern in pressed pattern glass and is on the lookout for interesting commemorative spoons. For Beverly, the joy is in the collecting of a collection more than the owning of one.

Women engineering image change-over

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — "Sometimes people give you really funny looks when they ask your major."

Other than that, Sue Campbell says, there hasn't been anything particularly unusual about being an engineering student.

Miss Campbell, of St. Louis, is a senior in chemical engineering at Northwestern University's Technological Institute, which graduated its first woman in 1948.

Enrollment of women in Northwestern's engineering programs has jumped 300 per cent in five years. There are now 90 women—12.5 per cent—among the 757 undergraduate engineering students.

Nationally, the latest U.S. statistics show, there were about 3,500 women engineers in 1970, or 1.8 per cent of those in engineering professions.

Blas against, or for, women in the classroom by male professors or students is rare, say deans of the technological institute, although it does occur occasionally.

"When I was a sophomore, I was told by a professor that I had no business in his class and belonged in a kitchen," said Sally Marshall, a doctoral candidate in material science.

The institute's popularity with women came as something of a surprise, even to the university. Bruno A. Boey, dean of the school, said in an interview.

It became apparent only when an official of an eastern men's university planned to accept women paid a visit in 1968. She had no idea the school had managed to attract so many women, he said.

They then made up about 4.5 per cent of the engineering students. Since then, the university has made a deliberate effort to enroll them.

There has been an increase in women engineering majors nationally with more job opportunities for them in the field, Boey said, "but nowhere near this sort of thing."

Heiss-Richmond

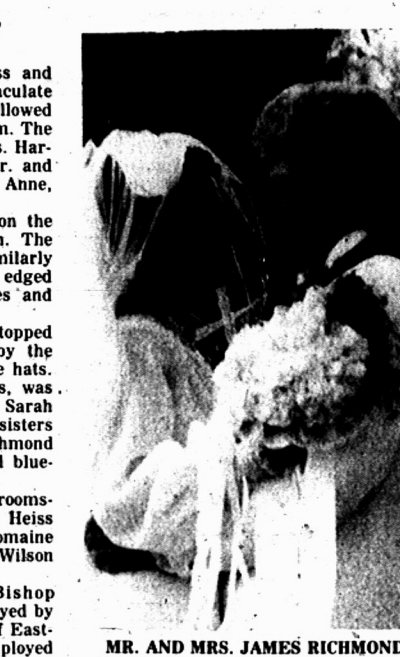

The marriage of Miss Mary Heiss and James Richmond May 19 in Immaculate Conception Catholic Church was followed by a reception at the Civic Auditorium. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Heiss, 545 S. Fraser Ave. Mr. and Mrs. Chester Richmond, rural St. Anne, are the bridegroom's parents.

Ruffled lace created a bi-reflect on the bodice of the bride's organa gown. The high neckline and hemline were similarly trimmed. Her train-length veil was edged in lace and she carried white roses and carnations.

Light blue flocked crepe dresses topped with plain blue boleros were worn by the bride's attendants with white picture hats. The bride's sister, Miss Chris Heiss, was maid of honor. Another sister, Miss Sarah Heiss, was bridesmaid, along with sisters of the bridegroom, Miss Barbara Richmond and Mrs. James Stahl. They carried blue-tinged carnations and daisies.

Joseph Rivard was best man. Groomsman were Harold Heiss Jr., Mark Heiss and Michael Stevens. Ushers were Romaine Ribert and Steven Jackson. Steven Wilson served the mass.

The bride graduated from Bishop McManis High School and is employed by J. C. Penney Co., Inc. An alumna of East-Ridge High School, Richmond is employed by Armstrong Cork Co.

Cullom Auxiliary honors mothers

A Mother's Day program was held Tuesday by the Cullom Auxiliary of the American Legion in St. Louis.

The program included readings by Mrs. Irene Gassler and Sue Miller and songs by Tim Gray and Scott Strong. Special honors were given to Mrs. Grace Hack, the oldest mother present, and Mrs. David Flessner, the youngest. Mrs. Edson Miller was hostess chairman.

William T. Brazelton, associate dean, noted that "Engineering has lost the image of being hard-boiled, hard-hat."

Biomedical engineering, computer science and urban planning are especially popular with women, he said, although other engineering fields also attract them.

"The thing that discourages some women is the attitude of high school counselors, who discourage women from entering engineering schools, Brazelton said.

And Don Gwin, assistant director of university admissions, noted that parental attitudes also can be discouraging.

He cited the example of one father who told his daughter he would not contribute to her education if she persisted in her engineering "because women shouldn't compete with men."

The technological institute has a national open house to attract high school girls with opportunities in engineering. The first year, 1970, it attracted 20 visitors. This year there were more than 250.

Streaking protester blames energy crisis

WILMINGTON — Streaking has now been added to the possible affects of the energy crisis.

At 3:16 a.m. Saturday Wilmington patrolman Mark Prindle and auxiliary patrolman Charles Singleton were driving north on Main St. when they spotted a stark naked male strolling across the intersection of Main and Jackson streets.

Prindle placed the 54-year-old streaker under arrest and walked him about 100 feet to the police station.

After lending him a blanket, Prindle read to the streaker, a Wilmington resident, the required statement about his right to remain silent.

When the prisoner advised that he would waive his right to an attorney, the patrolman asked why he was streaking in downtown Wilmington at 3 a.m.

"Possibly I was protesting the energy crisis," the offender replied.

Unable to post a $25 bond for a June 4 appearance in Will County Circuit Court on a disorderly conduct charge, the "possible protester" was transported to Will County jail.

Police said he was able to post bail and was released Sunday.

High speed chase results in 3 tickets

COAL CITY — A Custer Park driver faces a May 29 appearance in Grundy County Circuit Court on three charges after a high speed chase Saturday afternoon.

Coal City police said Douglas Love was arrested at his home and posted bail for his release. He was charged with reckless driving, stop sign violation and attempting to elude police.

Police said the chase began when the Love car was seen ignoring a stop sign at 2:10 p.m. in Coal City. Police gave chase and said the car occasionally exceeded 100 miles per hour. The car went east on Ill. 113 to Ill. 129 and on W. River Road to Ill. 113. It continued into Custer Park where it became lost.

Police traced the car through its license number. Coal City police were assisted in the chase by Wilmington police, state police and the sheriff's departments of Will and Grundy counties.

13 charged during concert in Joliet

JOLIET, Ill. (UPI) — At least 13 persons were arrested Sunday and charged with disorderly conduct, aggravated battery or obstruction of justice during a Beachboys concert here attended by an estimated 23,000, police said.

Authorities said at least one person was shot when violence erupted at Joliet Memorial Stadium during and after the concert, and at least six persons were treated for drug overdose.

Rosin Faro, Joliet, was treated for a gunshot wound of the upper left arm and released from a local hospital.

Callaway will determine Calley parole

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Army Secretary Howard H. Callaway, who last month cut in half the My Lai massacre sentence of William L. Calley Jr., expects to decide personally whether the former lieutenant wins parole in six more months.

In an interview with UPI, Callaway said there was no doubt in his mind Calley was guilty as charged of murdering at least 22 Vietnamese civilians. "That decision was fairly easy," he said.

The world was stunned when stories of the massacre at My Lai leaked out. It never has been established exactly how many men, women and children died when troops from the American Division swept through the village March 16, 1968, but estimates have ranged as high as 500.

Calley is the only soldier who has been convicted of crimes in connection with the massacre, and he has spent only one night in jail. Since his conviction, Calley was restricted to his bachelor officer's quarters at Ft. Benning, Ga., until he was freed on bail earlier this year.

Calley's case came to Callaway's desk earlier this year after appeals through the military courts had been exhausted. On April 16, Callaway confirmed the conviction and the 20-year sentence as well.

But Callaway also had on his desk a separate issue, a

Solzhenitsyn tells about threat tactics

NEW YORK (UPI) — Alexander Solzhenitsyn, the novelist expelled from the Soviet Union, Sunday told how the Soviet secret police (KGB) threaten dissidents.

In an article written for Time magazine, Solzhenitsyn said in 1972 the KGB used letters forged with his handwriting to correspond with Vassili Orekhov, the director of the Russian National Association, an emigre organization based in Brussels that deals with czarist military history.

"At first, the letters contained only innocent requests for information about the first World War," Solzhenitsyn said. "Then followed a suggestion, purportedly from me, that Orekhov come to Prague or send a representative."

"Apparently the aim was to arrest some Russian emigres from the West who were visiting Prague and to construct around them a criminal case that would have demonstrated that I had links with emigre organizations."

report from the Army's Clemency Board that suggested cutting the sentence to 17 years. Looking at that issue, Callaway said he found two mitigating circumstances that warranted his reducing the sentence to 10 years.

First, the Army secretary said, "Calley was only one of a number involved...to that extent he was looked at as a scapegoat." Callaway noted that 13 men were charged with crimes at My Lai and five were court-martialed, although only Calley was convicted.

The other mitigating factor, the Army secretary said, was his feeling that "there was a good deal of evidence Calley thought he was obeying legal orders." Military law states that an illegal order must not be carried out. The law also states that it is illegal to shoot unresisting captives whether they are civilians or enemy troops.

During Calley's officer training, he was given one hour of group instruction in the laws of war. Since the My Lai massacre, the Army greatly has increased the emphasis given the laws and the importance of disobeying illegal orders.

Calley contended he only was obeying orders from his superior, Capt. Ernest L. Medina, who denied giving the order and who was found innocent of any crime.

The Army secretary refused to step into the middle of that dispute but said even if the order had been issued, Calley "should have known it was not a lawful order."

Pat didn't want tapes made public

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pat Nixon considered the White House tapes related to Watergate like "private love letters" and did not believe President Nixon should release them, People magazine said Sunday.

People said Mrs. Nixon told Helene Drown, a long-time friend, the tapes could be compared with "private love letters" meant for "one person alone."

Mrs. Nixon also indicated she shared Nixon's distrust of news media by telling Mrs. Drown "It's right out of 'The Merchant of Venice.' They're after the last pound of flesh," People said.

President Nixon two weeks ago reviewed Callaway's action and decided to make no changes although he could have reduced the sentence still further.

Under military law a man is eligible for parole after serving one-third of his sentence, which would be 40 months in Calley's case. Calley was jailed one day and then released under orders from Nixon and confined to his quarters for 34 months, all of which counts as jail time.

Two months ago Calley was ordered released on bail by a civilian court while his lawyers appeal the case through the civilian judicial system. Should that appeal fail, Calley will be taken to the stockade at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., and six months later come before the Parole Board.

If that board recommends parole, the case will return to a section of Callaway's office. Normally such recommendations would be processed by junior officers and never come to an Army secretary's attention. But Callaway said, "I expect I would take up the case again. There's no reason to avoid it."

On 'Impeach Nixon' committee Transcript woes? Consider Peoria

By RICHARD E. MEYER

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — It was early morning and raining and the man standing under the roof of the stockyards was Bill Friedman, weathered and old. He was talking about Richard Nixon.

"People figure he knew all about it all the time, and that'd be my opinion; and they figure, 'Why, some of those boys were guilty, and why didn't he get it out and over with a long time ago?'" Friedman leaned on his hog-sorting pole.

"Impeached? I'm not sure about that, but a hell of a lot of them think he should resign, and that's my feeling myself. Now, some people think he didn't have anything to do with it. And some want to shoot him. But, in general, a lot of them want him to resign."

Friedman allowed he hadn't read all of the President's transcripts of the Watergate tapes. But he said he was 77 and had been a livestock broker at the Peoria stockyards for 50 years, and he figured he knew how to read farmers.

"Before them transcripts came out, there were more farmers than was Republicans than Democrats. But now it's down to about 50-50."

"Will it play in Peoria?" John D. Ehrlichman used to ask when he was the President's top domestic adviser and had Middle America in mind. Originally, the line was a vaudeville joke. Peoria, along with Kokomo, Kalamazoo and Cucamonga, was synonymous with Squaresville.

To Peorians, their reputation is hardly a joke. Those who grope for the Middle American pulse have fingered Peoria's wrists periodically for years and ribbed Peorians in the bargain. So it was with tired patience that Bill Friedman and other Peorians in representative jobs and informed positions made it clear last week that, thanks to his Watergate transcripts, Richard Nixon isn't playing as well in Peoria as he once did.

Not that very many persons agree with Goldie Brown, who long before the transcripts were published had established an "Impeach Nixon Committee" headquarters in her small white house on Peoria's older southwest side. In an interview in February, a month after she had opened up, Mrs. Brown counted 12,000 impeachment signatures on her petitions.

Undaunted by the small fraction that number represented of the more than 339,600 persons in Peoria and its environs, Mrs. Brown declared the President "a crook." She added: "He ought to be impeached."

Now, three months later and nearly three weeks after the transcripts, Mrs. Brown has gone to Washington. "She's staying at the Watergate Hotel," her husband said. He added that he doesn't involve himself very much in his wife's impeachment efforts. The signature count was unavailable.

Mayor Dick Carver, however, has sensed no impeachment groundswell. Settling back in the black leather chair behind his desk at the Carver Lumber Co., he reported: "Among the people I talk to, I find the desire to see the provisions of the Constitution utilized."

Carver said there was nothing to show that any overwhelming number of Peorians necessarily want to see Nixon resign or the House of Representatives actually vote for impeachment. They simply want, he said, to see proceedings stay within the due process of law.

"But the transcripts are disturbing as the daylight to me," Carver said. One of the nation's younger mayors at 36, he has a neatly trimmed blond thatch, wears light blue suits and button-down shirts. He fixed his blue-gray eyes on a corner of the ceiling.

He is a Republican. "I find a desire among the people I talk to to support the President — but a sense of regret that Watergate was not handled in a more forthright manner. Support has wavered substantially. Mine has."

He's proud of being mayor of Peoria. There are many things here to be proud of. Peoria is an urban skyline on the heights above the Illinois River in the heart of central Illinois farming country. Peoria is the home of the Caterpillar Tractor Co., which employs nearly 30,000 area residents in its plants and offices. Peoria is the home of Hiram Walker & Sons, makers of whisky and employers of 1,600. And Peoria is the home of a Pabst brewery, which employs 1,000.

Peorians like to say they haven't felt any recession since 1958. And they like to say they're not afraid of a depression. Government make-work projects would increase the market for Caterpillars. And everybody would drink more.

Not that Peoria doesn't have its troubles. A former mayor is under an indictment charging bribery and official misconduct in liquor licensing. And its newspaper, the Journal Star, recently reported that Peoria is the home, as well, of 15 massage parlors. Police Supt. Allen Andrews said: "We suspect some of the massage parlors have become the modern versions of the old-fashioned house of prostitution."

But Peoria also has a symphony, a zoo, a nature center, a center for the arts and sciences, a theater company, a civic ballet, an opera company and a gourmet society. And a history going back to the French explorer Pere Marquette.

Peoria is an All-American city. Its people remember visits by President Nixon in 1972 during the presidential campaign and, this year, to nearby Pekin, when the President sought surcease from the pressures of Watergate.

IN BOSTON English troops arrived in Boston under Gens. William Howe, Henry Clinton and John Burgoyne May 25, 1775.

Soviet Union crops behind plan again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Planting of spring crops in the Soviet Union is running behind last year's pace but apparently is "near normal," an Agriculture Department report indicates.

The agency's Foreign Agriculture Service said in a report that 156.4 million acres of spring crops had been planted in the Soviet Union by May 6 including 93.4 million acres of grain.

Officials said the spring seeding was about a week behind the "excellent" pace last year, and about 3-4 days behind 1972. However, this year's pace was about 4 to 5 days ahead of the rate reported in 1970 and 1971. However, this year's pace was about 4 to 5 days ahead of the rate reported in 1970 and 1971.

"These comparisons suggest that 1974 seeding progress thus far may be near normal," the report said. "It said Soviet farmers reported more seeding in the first week of May this year than in any similar week since 1970, and added that unfavorable April weather 'apparently has not continued into May.'"

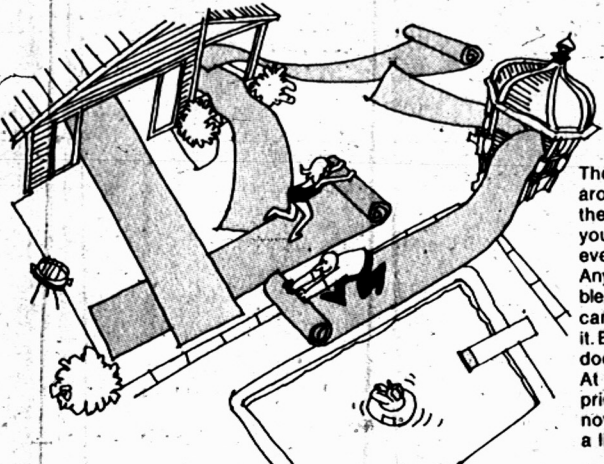

Earlier, published reports of slow progress in planning 1974 spring crops had produced fears that Soviet farmers might fall short of key food production goals this year. Officials here, however, have so far refused to sound any alarms on the subject.
