Area police probe report of kidnaping

Bourbonnais police Saturday night were investigating the apparent abduction of a Chicago woman, after she called her husband from a Bourbonnais service station and said she had been kidnaped.

According to Patrolman Robert LeClair of the Bourbonnais Police Department, Linda L. Canady, 24, Chicago, stopped with a man at Fred's Standard Station on S. Main St. in Bourbonnais at about 6:45 p.m. Saturday, driving a 1968 or 1969 blue station wagon. She apparently called from a phone booth while the man was in a rest room.

LeClair said her husband called police.

Boat flips, but youths unharmed

Two Kankakee youths were soaked, but uninjured after the boat in which they were riding overturned in the Kankakee River by the Schuyler Ave. bridge Saturday afternoon.

Jerry White, 20, 585 S. Chicago Ave., and Paula Green, 16, 586 S. Rosewood Ave., were passengers in the boat when the incident occurred around 2:15 p.m. The boat, which was made of a styrofoam-like material, hit the bridge and dumped the passengers into the river.

The two swam to the shore and walked up the embankment directly upstream from the Illinois Central Gulf Railroad Bridge. The bridge is just upstream from the Washington Ave. dam site.

Assisting at the scene were the Kankakee Police Department, the emergency squad of the Kankakee Fire Department and the Kankakee River Patrol.

St. Anne area voters defeat referendum

Voters in the St. Anne Community High School District soundly defeated a $1,150,000 bond issue for a new high school building.

Henry Slinker, superintendent, expressed disappointment at the results, saying, "Without a shadow of a doubt, all the facts were presented to the voters. The public was well informed. The public simply rejected new educational facilities."

A total of 1,320 votes were cast—a very heavy turnout, according to Slinker.

The measure was defeated by a vote of 915-no to 350-yes.

Precinct-by-precinct totals were as follows:

Precinct 1: Lorenzo R. Smith Grade School, Pembroke: 269 no votes, to 64 yes votes. There were 37 spoiled ballots.

Precinct 2: Wichert Elementary School: 194 no votes, to 35 yes votes. There were three spoiled ballots.

Precinct 3: St. Anne High School: 343 no votes, to 217 yes votes. There were 14 spoiled ballots.

Precinct 4: Papineau firehouse: 109 no votes, to 34 yes votes. There was one spoiled ballot.

The bond issue called for approval of the district's 30 per cent share of the cost of constructing a new high school. The remaining 70 per cent would have come from a grant by the state Capital Development Board. The grant of $2,045,000 had already been approved.

military disengagement between Israel and Syria and will stay at least one more day to complete it, a high American official said Saturday night.

Kissinger came out of what was supposed to be a decisive meeting in Damascus with Syrian President Hafez Assad still short of the final agreement he sought in negotiations that have lasted one month.

The American official aboard his plane said talks were the point where "one or two decisions can do it." He added Kissinger would be "nuts to leave it" even if there could be agreement by Monday night.

"By all normal processes, it is almost inconceivable it could get this close and not work, but in this case I wouldn't bet on it," the official said, referring to the difficulty of the talks.

He said Kissinger would return to Damascus Sunday evening and hoped to leave from either there or Jerusalem Monday morning, stopping over in Cairo a few hours to be home on the night of his 51st birthday.

Kissinger left two key advisers — Assistant Secretary of State for Near Eastern Affairs Alfred L. Atherton and State Department legal adviser Carlisle Maw — behind in Damascus to work on some basic documents with the Syrians until he returns.

On the decisive issue of the thinning out of forces on either side of a cease-fire line — the main point blocking agreement — Kissinger said there was some progress and Israel and Syria were "quite close."

But he said Syria introduced a "new wrinkle" in the latest round of talks and it required more discussions with the Israelis.

Among the other outstanding issues are the number of United Nations troops to be stationed along the truce line and "cleaning up" language in the general agreement, the high official said.

Kissinger is expected to meet with Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir on Sunday before returning to Damascus in the afternoon and perhaps spending the night.

The official said that both sides feel they have gone to the absolute limit of their concessions, so that a recess would be possible even if Kissinger stays two more days.

With his mission one month old, Kissinger flew to Damascus from Israel, where his departure was delayed by a bomb scare, and met Syrian President Hafez Assad for the decisive session.

Assad spent the morning visiting Syrian troops on the Golan front, encouraging them and thanking them for their "heroic and constant fighting during the past few months." It was the 75th day of clashes between Syrian and Israeli forces.

'Double vision' on Memorial Day

Memorial Day, the time for parades, remembering the war dead and the unofficial beginning of summer, will be celebrated by Kankakeans twice this year.

According to federal law, Memorial Day will be celebrated Monday, but new state legislation switched its official commemoration in Illinois back to the traditional date of May 30 which is Thursday.

Monday's activities will include boat races and memorial services in Bradley, while Thursday's events will be highlighted by memorial services in Kankakee, a downtown parade in Kankakee and the annual "Avenue of Flags" at Kankakee Memorial Gardens.

Monday, the Kankakee Valley Boat Club has scheduled an Outboard Performance Craft program with 11 classes to compete. Racing will begin at noon in the Kankakee River. In addition to the regular spring race program, two half-hour marathons will be held at the end of the day. Prize money and trophies will be awarded.

The Early Bird Tennis Tournament, which annually kicks off the outdoor tennis season for the Kankakee Tennis Club, began Saturday and will continue today and Monday.

The Kankakee Valley Park District swimming pool will be open from 1 to 9 p.m. today and Monday.

Thursday, the Kankakee Veterans Council will begin its annual Memorial Day Parade at 10 a.m. near the corner of N. Schuyler Ave. and E. Oak St., south to Court St. and proceed east to the alley between Harrison Ave. and Chicago Ave.

Following the parade, there will be a memorial service on the courthouse lawn.

Sponsors of the parade and service are the Kankakee American Legion Post, Amvets Post, Disabled American Veterans, Marine Corps League, Veterans of Foreign Wars of Kankakee and Veteran of World War I.

Flags for the graves of veterans in Kankakee County are to be placed by the Veterans Council Wednesday. Approximately 400 flags will be placed in Memorial Gardens and about 1,000 at Mound Grove Cemetery.

At 8 a.m. Thursday, brief services will be conducted by the Kankakee VFW at Mound Grove Gardens and the Kankakee American Legion at Memorial Gardens.

Ziegler blasts 'leak' on hush money probe

By JAMES M. NAUGHTON
New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — The House Judiciary Committee has what its investigators believe is conclusive evidence that a hush-money payment of $75,000 to E. Howard Hunt Jr. was initiated on March 21, 1973, a few hours after President Nixon told John W. Dean 3d that such a payment would "keep the cap on the bottle" of the Watergate scandal.

The evidence, pinpointing the date of the payment to Hunt, a convicted Watergate conspirator, is based on the travel records of Sherman E. Unger, a Cincinnati lawyer and former Nixon administration official.

Informed of the contents of this article, Ronald L. Ziegler, press secretary to President Nixon, charged that the information had been "leaked" to create a negative inference against the President," who, he said, had never authorized such a payment.

Unger confirmed, in a telephone interview this weekend, that he was the so-called "mystery witness" whose dinner engagement in Washington on March 21 was, unwittingly, the crucial clue to determining the date of the payment to Hunt.

Unger's testimony about the dinner party, along with his travel records substantiating the date of the dinner, were central elements of evidence that led a federal grand jury here to indict seven former associates of the President on March 1 for allegedly obstructing the Watergate investigation.

More important, the travel records — receipts for an airline flight from Cincinnati to New York and a New York hotel bill, along with Unger's pocket appointment book — represent the key to a potential article of impeachment charging President Nixon with obstruction of justice.

The records were turned over to the judiciary committee last March 25 by the grand jury and were examined at a closed impeachment hearing last week.

The records rebut a major White House defense of the President — that the date of the payment to Hunt was unclear and that the Senate Hunt was Committee initially fixed the date at March 20, one day before Nixon said he first learned of the hush money payments and the scope of the Watergate cover-up attempt.

Hunt and Frederick C. LaRue, the former Nixon re-election committee official who served as a go-between in the hush money payments, both testified at the Senate Watergate hearings that they could not recall the precise date of the March payment.

But LaRue subsequently told a Watergate grand jury that he remembered the payment had been made the same night he had dinner with a personal friend, whom he identified to the

Memorial Day

Those from early middle age upward find the name "Memorial Day" still strange upon the tongue. To them, the holiday was long familiar as "Decoration Day." It was just 106 years ago this May 30 that Decoration Day first was observed, by order of Gen. John J. Logan, commander of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Three years, plus little more than a month, had passed since the end of hostilities of the War Between the States. A nation was still nursing the long-to-heal wounds of civil war.

Decoration Day was just that — a day to decorate the graves of loved ones lost in battle — and of others, friend and foe alike, who perhaps had no one to mourn them.

Now, Memorial Day marks the tribute the nation pays to the dead of all wars — tribute by family, friends, military, patriotic and civil organizations.

But there is a very special tribute paid by every person — even those who give no heed to the significance of the day — a tribute that the men who are gone would surely appreciate.

It is the existence of a vital, growing, busy people, taking the first of their three great summer holidays. It is the picnicking, the working in the yard, the motoring, swimming, eating, laughing, loving, snoring, sleeping, the long weekend of a people greeting a new summer with all the diverse energies and preferences that characterizes their approach to the hardworking days of the year.

It is for these things, this life, this very existence, that we are indebted to those who have gone. Somewhere along the way of this holiday, find a quiet place — your church, a corner of a field where fence and woodland join, a place in your heart — family, friends, military, patriotic and civil organizations.

But there is a very special tribute paid by every person — even those who give no heed to the significance of the day — a tribute that the men who are gone would surely appreciate.

Will U.S. Presbyterians merge?

National Presbyterian Synod

A new denomination, possibly the nation's fifth largest, may well be conceived next month in Louisville, when two of the nation's largest Presbyterian bodies hold their national conventions concurrently.

Both the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. (Southern) and the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. (Northern) are currently merging.

THE SOUTHERNERS are still in shock over the massive exodus of some 250 of the denomination's more conservative local churches, with 40,000 members, who have now set themselves up as the National Presbyterian Church.

Before the remainder of these 50,000 underdressed Southerners rebuild themselves into the embrace of the denomination, the big denomination up North (23 million) they would do well to take a long, hard look at the top administration of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. — especially the

Majority rights vs. anti-bias bill

Washington Star Syndicate

My friend Michael Harrington, who was Chairman of the Socialist party until he found something even more disagreeable to do, has called to ask whether I might adopt one of my "majority positions" in support of what he calls in New York City "Int. No. 2."

Otherwise a Gay Liberation Rights Bill the intention of which is to remove civil disabilities from what the bill calls persons of differing "sexual orientation." This musing definition is elaborated to say that no one henceforth may discriminate against anyone on account of that person's "choice of sexual partner according to gender."

A Homosexual Rights Bill is the straight-forward way to put it. Harrington's interest in the legislation, I need not tell you, has nothing to do with his own preferences, according to gender, which are also the subject of the bill. It is the word, knowing his antipathy to it in political, or theological matters. But he is seduced by what most anti-gaists are taken with, and also a few more than a compensation piece of legislation forbidding the starving of the city's homeless by the city's homeless. The bill would not in consequence be a draft evaders, something more than that.

There is the historical protection — on top of everything else — to worry about. In recent years we have all experienced the quick evolution of the law or judicial decisions which protect a person's rights, into the decision that protects those rights by denying the rights of others. Brown vs. Board of Education being for forbidding compulsory segregation, and ended by prohibiting voluntary segregation. The Homosexual Bill would not in consequence be a draft evaders, something more than that.

Kankakee police 'keeping up'

9 crimes a day in city

By RICK DAVIS

If you're like most Kankakeans, you're probably getting ready to sip into your second cup of Sunday morning coffee as you read the Sunday morning paper and enjoy Sunday morning news.

And if it's 10:30 by your watch, relax. There won't be an other crime in your city until 1 p.m.

According to statistics released last week by the Illinois Department of Law Enforcement, there is a crime committed every two and one-half hours in Kankakee. Actually, it breaks down to 9.3 crimes per day.

THE FIGURES are a breakdown of the department's first quarter report for 1974. According to the report, 849 offenses were reported to the Kankakee Police Department from Jan. 1 through March 31.

And if you think it's a crime the way criminals operate, consider the fact that, for the same period last year, there were 863 offenses, or 9.4 crimes per day in Kankakee.

The department's report shows that, unlike many other cities, Kankakee is at least keeping up with its criminals. Even without a population increase considered, the police department has managed to keep a grip on its crime in New York City, though they do not.

In the wake of these statistics, Kankakee Police Chief Don R. Bauer is giving his department a pat on the back. "I LAY THE bulk of the decrease in crimes to the effectiveness of the patrols," Bauer said as he puffed on his pipe. "The patrols make people twice as aware of their surroundings as they were before."

"I feel that there are a lot of contributing circumstances and, naturally, my first reaction is that we've increased the size of our police force," he continued.

The track records in arrests by patrolmen and detectives have also impressed Bauer. "I THINK the men have been doing an excellent job and I am proud of them," he said.

AS HE SPOKE of his department, Bauer admitted that weather may have played an important part in the decrease of crime in Kankakee for the year's first three months. He said the weather has been worse during the first quarter of 1974 as compared to the same period in 1973.

In reference to "lesser crimes," Bauer said, "We try to keep up for these when the good weather comes. We have better weather in the spring of 1974 than we have now."

Of eight major crime categories, four experienced increases while four had decreases. The department's biggest victory has been in the number of theft cases, according to the report. There were 249 theft cases, according to the report. There were 249 theft cases, according to the report.

Tearful appeal

LOS ANGELES (AP) —

Frederick Schwartz was to return to his Chicago area home today after making a tearful public appeal to his daughter.

Schwartz made his plea to his daughter, who was in the custody of the U.S. Army, in a letter to the Washington Post published on March 22, she wrote that the situation seemed intractable.

Three days later, the House concurred and President Nixon signed the measure into law before the week was out.

Her husband, Capt. John Abbott, suffered fatal injuries when he ejected from his crippled fighter plane over North Vietnam in April 1968.

His body and those of 22 other U.S. servicemen who died as prisoners of war were returned to this country two months ago.

Mrs. Abbott learned that although hundreds of POWs grand jury as Unger.

Three members of the judiciary committee disclosed separately, and Unger confirmed in the interview, that his travel records proved the dinner — ironically, in LaBue's apartment at the Watergate complex — was on March 21.

"I only had dinner there once that week," Unger said. "My records seem to indicate that it was on the 21st. I won't budge from that. I'm just sorry that it was there."

Unger is not under investigation for his apparently innocent involvement in the March 21 events. But his testimony about them, which he said he gave the grand jury late last year, "long before March 21," took on any importance to me, could prove to be a critical factor in the outcome of the impeachment proceedings.

Some members of the judiciary committee reportedly questioned the accuracy of the records at the hearing last week because Unger had originally placed a trip to New York in the diary on March 19, and the dinner with LaBue on March 20, then crossed out the notations and placed each a day later.

Asked to explain the change in the diary, Unger said in the telephone interview that he always had kept an accurate account of his out-of-town travel and that he discovered during the week of March 1973 that he had listed his engagements incorrectly.

Four persons were injured at 5 p.m. Saturday when a car broke through a fence and crashed into the St. Mary's Hospital construction site. According to Kankakee police, Edna M. Sandusky, 37, RR 7, Kankakee, the driver of the car, reported that she was southbound on Fifth Ave. and approaching Court St. and attempted to brake for a red light. Police report she said the brakes failed and the emergency brake failed to slow the car.

Police said the car continued across Court and hit a flat bed trailer, went through a barricade and continued off a cliff about 12 feet straight down. Police said the car was pointed downward and upright.

House unit may get tax data

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Based on an opinion by Attorney General William French Sullivan, the White House indicated Saturday its attorneys would work out an arrangement to give President Nixon's federal tax records to the House Judiciary Committee "under appropriate safeguards."

Saxbe, in a letter to Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, said Saturday that the Judiciary Committee's impeachment investigators could legally obtain the records by getting a special resolution from either the House, the Ways and Means Committee or the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation.

Belfast blackout threatened

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Protestant militants said Saturday they would impose an immediate power blackout if British soldiers were called in to break their crippling 11-day-old general strike.

The Ulster Workers Council, which organized the strike, said it would also suspend the few remaining services if the army is used in any capacity to break the walkout.

'Harsh economic medicine'

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon repeated Saturday his warning that the nation's economic ills but prescribed more harsh medicine—a prudent federal budget, a tight money and no tax cut—to complete the economic recovery.

In a national radio address from his bayside home, Nixon also announced that his former law school professor, Kenneth Rush, will become his cabinet-level coordinator of domestic and international economic policies. Rush now is 2 man at the State Department.

In his 18-minute radio address, Nixon told the nation:

"We are beginning to emerge from a very difficult period in the history of our economy. We are not completely through this difficulty, but all the economic indicators prove that we are making progress."

The weeks ahead will still require restraint and sacrifice. But the ultimate goal of prosperity in peacetime is one which is worthy of sacrifice. It is attainable.

The President said, "The requirements for full economic recovery may sound like harsh medicine—budgetary restraint, no tax cut, tight money—but there is no alternative."

He singled out suggestions for a general tax cut as "possibly the gravest danger to the economy today."

"We are beginning to emerge from a very difficult period in the history of our economy," he said, repeating his opposition to Democratic proposals for a cut.

School desegregation urged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Director Benjamin F. Holman of the Community Relations Service (CRS) Saturday warned that many northern cities may experience racial trouble this fall if they do not plan now to meet school desegregation problems.

Holman said he fears fall school terms may become the season of 'trouble' in cities where courts are ordering extensive desegregation.

The CRS, a Justice Department agency, made public a list of 12 "danger" cities where new court orders are likely, most of them outside the south.

They are: Waterbury, Conn.; New Kensington-Armad, New Castle and Uniontown, Pa.; San Bernardino, Calif.; Tucson, Ariz.; Chattanooga, Tenn.; Youngstown, Ohio; Mt. Vernon and Lackawanna, N. Y.; Omaha, Neb., and St. Louis.

Holman said school and city officials, civic leaders, and minority spokesmen should sit down together, think over possible problems and make plans for meeting them. He said the CRS will help if asked.

2 arrested

Two persons were arrested Saturday in Kankakee County.

Kankakee city police charged Claude L. Leggett, 42, 1555 S. Cedar St., Kankakee, with driving while intoxicated at 10:30 a.m. Saturday at Chicago Ave. and Station St.

Illinois State Police charged Charles H. Anderson, 47, 35 N. Chicago Ave., with speeding and driving with an expired license at 12:50 p.m. Saturday.

YOUTH INJURED

Douglas Bretzman, 18, 2605 E. Court St., was listed in good condition Saturday night at St. Mary's Hospital, where he was taken from the emergency squad of the Kankakee Fire Department at 6:50 p.m. Friday. According to fire department reports, Bretzman was injured when he fell from a motorcycle. Police reports were not available Saturday.

CHICAGO HEIGHTS — A Richton Park man told state police he was abducted at gunpoint early Saturday while he was stopped for a traffic sign at a Chicago Heights intersection.

Then, Marsh said, the man pulled a gun, got into the back seat of Marsh's auto and said he wanted to be taken to Chicago.

Marsh said he drove south on 157 to a point three miles north of Ill. 24 where the man told Marsh to stop the car.

The man got out of the car and walked away, Marsh told police.

The man was charged with a strong-arm robbery, although formal charges will not be filed until Monday.

Holiday 'double vision'

At 11 a.m. today, a service will be held at the All-Faiths Chapel at Kankakee State Hospital for veterans. The Rev. Patrick J. Hayes, Catholic chaplain and director of the event, will be the speaker. A coffee hour will precede the services at 10:30 a.m. The annual event is sponsored by members of the Kankakee Veterans Council.

Flags for cemetery graves for Kankakee County veterans are available at the courthouse.

The annual "Avenue of Flags" will be observed at 8:45 a.m. Thursday at Memorial Gardens.

More than 270 flags that have adorned the caskets of veterans who have died in war have been loaned to the cemetery for the observance by families who have veterans buried there, according to Donald Goin, cemetery manager.

Also, hundreds of small American flags will be placed throughout the cemetery, one on the grave of each veteran buried in the cemetery.

The invocation will be given by the Rev. Guy D. Warko of Our Saviour Lutheran Church and a welcome will be given by Goin and Mrs. Frances McCue, president of the Gold Star Mothers.

Raising of the flags will be done by Girl Scouts, Brownies, Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts and the 441 clubs of Kankakee County.

A rifle salute will be given by the firing squad of the Kankakee American Legion Post.

Roy L. Barron, managing editor of The Journal, will give the address and the Rev. Paul W. Bauer of the First United Presbyterian Church will give the benediction.

Goin said the general public is invited to take part in the ceremony of raising a veteran's flag. Those interested should be at the cemetery by 8:15 a.m.

In Bradley, the American Legion and VFW will hold joint services Monday. There will be a mass at 9:30 a.m. at Maternity Cemetery in Bourbonnais.

Deputy Bernie Thompson arrested the youths, a 15-year-old from Custer Park and an 18-year-old from Bradwood, who were charged with possession of cannabis and the firing squad will be the Sons of the American Legion directed by Tim Owen, commander. The bugler will be Steve Bell.

Guest speaker will be Don Fryer of the Moose Lodge, with Dr. Harold Gaudin of the Ashbury United Methodist Church giving the invocation. The Rev. James P. McDermott of St. Joseph Church will give the benediction. Most area businesses and industries will be closed Monday including all merchants in downtown Kankakee and the Meadows Shopping Center. Federal, city and county offices and banks and savings and loan institutions will also be closed. The Journal will not be published Monday.

In addition, the Kankakee Public Library will be closed Monday with summer hours from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. beginning June 3. The Kankakee Post Office will also be closed and there will be no mail delivery.

Nixon support solidifying

NEW YORK (UPI) — While President Nixon has fewer supporters than he did in August, those remaining are "solidifying into a loyalist bastion that is supporting him with growing determination," according to a poll conducted one week after Nixon released edited transcripts of White House conversations.

An August survey made for Time magazine by Daniel Yankelovich, Inc. showed 60 per cent of the respondents in favor of the President's remaining in office.

Today that figure is down to 38 per cent, according to another Yankelovich survey for this week's issue of the magazine. And there are "significant differences" between the two groups.

"Compared with the August figures," said the survey, "the Nixon loyalists today are more likely to be over 50 years of age, not to have gone to college, to be blue-collar workers, and live in the South."

The Nixonites of last August who have since deserted the President are almost entirely under 35, have attended college and hold white collar jobs.

The survey was based on a national telephone sampling of 771 persons.

Those defending the President, according to the poll, base their support on three beliefs.

"A feeling that the President's associates are to blame for his troubles rather than Nixon himself."

"The prevailing view that politics is a dirty game."

"The conviction that the President has the right to bend the law a little—even to break laws—if he is acting in the best interests of the nation."

Nixon: Duke had elegance

NEW YORK (UPI) — Duke Ellington, the tall man in the tuxedo who "put the hot on jazz," enchanted the public for more than 30 years.

He died Friday, and two generations of fans and fellow performers mourned his passing.

"A genius has passed," said singer Ella Fitzgerald.

Ellington and his music, said President Nixon, had "will, taste, intelligence and elegance" and made him "in the eyes of millions of people both here and abroad, America's foremost composer."

"We are all poorer because the Duke is no longer with us," Nixon said.

The Duke was not only a remarkable composer and performer, but was in him a significant chapter in the history of American music.

He wrote hundreds of songs, among them "Mood Indigo" and "Sophisticated Lady," and later compositions on a larger scale. Ellington entered Columbia Presbyterian Hospital a month ago with cancer in both lungs and died at the age of 75 after contracting pneumonia.

Indiana sheriff indicted by Iroquois grand jury

WATSEKA — White Co. Ind. Sheriff LeRoy Farney, 38, was indicted Friday by an Iroquois County grand jury on a charge of aggravated battery, stemming from a traffic accident Feb. 21.

Farney is charged with the alleged beating of Ernest J. Dilas, 40, East Peoria, after the trailer Dilas was pulling sideswiped Farney's car on U.S. 24, 2 1/2 miles east of Watsika.

Farney told state police that he saw Dilas drive off the right of the road and into the westbound lane. Farney said he pulled his car off the road to the shoulder of the road, and that when Dilas' truck and trailer went by, the trailer sideswiped Farney's car.

He said Dilas did not stop, so he pursued and stopped him and identified himself as a law officer. Farney said Dilas swung at him, and Dilas told state's attorney Ronald Boyer that Farney hit him with his pistol.

Dilas was treated at Iroquois Memorial Hospital and then transferred to St. Francis Hospital, Peoria, where he told Boyer he was treated for nine blows to the head and a skull fracture.

Dilas was issued tickets by state police for driving while intoxicated and driving after revocation of license, but Boyer dismissed the charges because Dilas was in the hospital.

Indictments also were returned Friday.

Swan song for Marshal Tito?

By WILLIAM EVAN
SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT
Josip Broz Tito, turning 82 today, is due next week to deliver what he may regard as one of the most important speeches in his nearly three decades as the Communist ruler of Yugoslavia after he's gone.

There are still, inside as well as outside the country, forces that would like to push it back into lockstep with the rest of the Soviet bloc.

Local law enforcement agencies have been alerted to the possibility that a Chicago man, reportedly armed with explosive devices, may be in the Kankakee area.

A dispatch from the Cook County Sheriff's Department said the 38-year-old man may be headed for the Pembroke area. Law officials were notified of the man's possible presence after Cook County sheriff's police went to the man's home in an effort to arrest him, reports at the Kankakee Police Department.

The man, however, was not in the home when Sheriff's deputies arrived, reports said. The man was an "extremely sophisticated explosive triggering device" in the man's home.

Police reports said the man is "extremely dangerous and armed with explosive devices."

Hit twice, SLA leader killed himself: Coroner
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Donald "Cinque" DeFreese, the SLA leader, was killed in a shooting, the coroner said.

Noguchi gave this chronology of last Friday's events: Miss Hall, 28, died first, hit in the forehead by a high caliber bullet. The body of a cat, believed to be her pet, was found next to her.

Then, wounded twice and hugging the dirt beneath a burning clapboard bungalow, he put a .38-caliber pistol to his head and pumped a bullet into his brain.

That is how Los Angeles County Coroner Thomas Noguchi reconstructs the death of DeFreese and five of his Symbionese Liberation Army followers in a shootout with police and federal agent last week.

"There is no evidence to indicate that any of them tried to get out," Noguchi told newsmen Friday in describing his reconstruction of the blazing shoot-out.

"In all my years as coroner, I've never seen a case of this kind of behavior in the face of flames," he said. "It is reasonable to believe they were determined fatalities."

Meanwhile, the search for three other suspected SLA fugitives continued without success. Patricia Hearst and William and Emily Harris were reported seen in such diverse locations as Hollywood and Quartzite, Ariz., near the California border.

It is thought by authorities to have since joined her SLA captors.

Noguchi said Nancy Ling Perry and Camilla Hall were killed early in the hour-long gunbattle and DeFreese and three comrades used a trap door or hacked their way to a crawl space beneath the floor as a barrage of police bullets whizzed past them.

It was there, as flames from a fire believed caused by an accidentally ignited molotov cocktail closed in, that William Wolde, Patricia Solysky and Angela Atwood choked to death from the smoke or were burned in the fire, Noguchi said.

Partied every day, says SLA neighbor
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Neighbors told of drinking beer and visiting with Symbionese Liberation Army members until shortly before the six terrorists died during a shootout with police.

The people on 54th Street watched the four white women load guns and ammunition just before the gun battle May 17.

They saw a black man, later identified as the "Cinque" of the Patricia Hearst kidnapping, sitting on the porch of the little yellow bungalow.

They saw a man, later identified as William Wolfe, sitting on a top bunk bed, twirling a pistol cowboy-style.

They heard a tall white woman say: "We've got to be alert — got to be on guard."

And they heard the whispered plans to leave that night — plans that were never fulfilled, for the six terrorists had vowed to die for their revolution died in the flaming ruins of the little yellow house.

The bungalow on 54th Street was known to neighbors as a party house. People dropped in all the time.

The SLA terrorists were led there after offering Christine Johnson $100 to spend the night in the house she shared with Minnie Lewis and Minnie's five children.

The children left for school the morning of May 17 unaware of the fugitives hiding in the rear bedroom. But by afternoon, neighborhood children were dashing from the street with the news "those SLA" people had turned up on their block.

"We saw him sitting on the porch but we didn't know he was that SLA guy," Florence Lindsey said Friday, referring to Donald DeFreese, the SLA leader. "Cinque."

"They were partying all day over there," she said, "but that wasn't unusual 'cause they party in that place every day."

Brenda Daniels, 17, said she fell asleep in the house the night the SLA arrived. The next morning DeFreese sent her to the store for beer and snacks. He seemed worried about police activity in the area, but residents said they assured him it was not unusual in the black, lower middle-class neighborhood in south Los Angeles.

The neighbors who visited with the SLA members said they don't believe the terrorists realized until minutes before the first shots were fired that police were massing for a major assault.

When it finally became obvious the house was surrounded, two of the neighbors left, but they couldn't wake Miss Johnson. She stumbled out in the midst of the battle, shortly before her home was engulfed in flames.

Two others fled during a lull early in the shootout. They were Tony Lewis, 4, told by an SLA woman to hide in the bathtub for safety, and Clarence Ross, 23, who told authorities he remembers little of what transpired.

"One thing's for sure," said a neighbor. "Those SLA people picked the wrong house on the wrong street in the wrong town. Nothing stays a secret around here very long."

Swan song for Marshal Tito?

By WILLIAM EVAN
SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT
Josip Broz Tito, turning 82 today, is due next week to deliver what he may regard as one of the most important speeches in his nearly three decades as the Communist ruler of Yugoslavia after he's gone.

There are still, inside as well as outside the country, forces that would like to push it back into lockstep with the rest of the Soviet bloc.

Local law enforcement agencies have been alerted to the possibility that a Chicago man, reportedly armed with explosive devices, may be in the Kankakee area.

A dispatch from the Cook County Sheriff's Department said the 38-year-old man may be headed for the Pembroke area. Law officials were notified of the man's possible presence after Cook County sheriff's police went to the man's home in an effort to arrest him, reports at the Kankakee Police Department.

The man, however, was not in the home when Sheriff's deputies arrived, reports said. The man was an "extremely sophisticated explosive triggering device" in the man's home.

Police reports said the man is "extremely dangerous and armed with explosive devices."

Hit twice, SLA leader killed himself: Coroner
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Donald "Cinque" DeFreese, the SLA leader, was killed in a shooting, the coroner said.

Noguchi gave this chronology of last Friday's events: Miss Hall, 28, died first, hit in the forehead by a high caliber bullet. The body of a cat, believed to be her pet, was found next to her.

Then, wounded twice and hugging the dirt beneath a burning clapboard bungalow, he put a .38-caliber pistol to his head and pumped a bullet into his brain.

That is how Los Angeles County Coroner Thomas Noguchi reconstructs the death of DeFreese and five of his Symbionese Liberation Army followers in a shootout with police and federal agent last week.

"There is no evidence to indicate that any of them tried to get out," Noguchi told newsmen Friday in describing his reconstruction of the blazing shoot-out.

"In all my years as coroner, I've never seen a case of this kind of behavior in the face of flames," he said. "It is reasonable to believe they were determined fatalities."

Meanwhile, the search for three other suspected SLA fugitives continued without success. Patricia Hearst and William and Emily Harris were reported seen in such diverse locations as Hollywood and Quartzite, Ariz., near the California border.

It is thought by authorities to have since joined her SLA captors.

Noguchi said Nancy Ling Perry and Camilla Hall were killed early in the hour-long gunbattle and DeFreese and three comrades used a trap door or hacked their way to a crawl space beneath the floor as a barrage of police bullets whizzed past them.

It was there, as flames from a fire believed caused by an accidentally ignited molotov cocktail closed in, that William Wolde, Patricia Solysky and Angela Atwood choked to death from the smoke or were burned in the fire, Noguchi said.

Pentagon, Congress headed for fund tug-of-war?

Congress and the Pentagon are headed for a tug-of-war over the future of the B-1 bomber, according to a report by the General Accounting Office, which is to be released today. The report says the Pentagon will be asked to make do with the B-1 bomber, while Congress is expected to push for the B-1 bomber to be replaced by the B-2 bomber.

However, so long as the Soviet Union remains a constant military threat and U.S. - Russian defense talks and flows, the development of a strong military air arm is likely to be a long and costly process. Recent developments point to the desire of some lawmakers for a trend away from bigger and more costly airplanes in the fighter and bomber classes.

1. Two of the nation's major plane builders, General Dynamics and Northrop, each are producing a relatively small, cheap, lightweight supersonic fighter for the Air Force under competitive contracts. The cost per copy will be around $10 million, compared to the $25 million to $30 million per copy for the Navy's new F-14 Tomcat and the Air Force's new F-15 Eagle fighters.

2. The General Accounting Office (GAO) has raised the question whether it is smart, dollarwise, to go forward with the Air Force B-1 strategic bomber, whose cost now is estimated at $11 million per plane. The agency which oversees federal spending for cost now is estimated at $11 million per plane.

3. The GAO also has raised the question whether it is smart, dollarwise, to go forward with the Air Force B-1 strategic bomber, whose cost now is estimated at $11 million per plane. The agency which oversees federal spending for cost now is estimated at $11 million per plane.

houses and the Pentagon take a close look at modernized versions of the aging B-52 bomber or even the F-11 fighter bomber as alternatives to the B-1.

While each B-1 is expected to cost about $11 million, the F-11 could be modernized for about $15 million each, and an improved B-52 would cost from $7 million to $12 million apiece, the GAO report points out. Its figures came from General Dynamics and Boeing, who built the F-11 and B-52 respectively.

The B-1 has other troubles, too. Air Force Secretary John L. McLucas recently told the House Armed Services Committee that despite the rising cost of the bomber, which was to have cost $35 million each when the project was launched four years ago — so far it will not perform up to original specifications.

The Air Force is asking $175 million more in the new military budget to build a fourth experimental model and will seek a fifth later. The two additional planes are needed to incorporate design changes from the first three models so the B-1 can meet its performance demands.

McLucas estimated the cost of the B-1 at $56 million, but later changed this to $81 million by using the more realistic inflation rate of 7 per cent for Air Force buying instead of the 5 per cent he applied to reach the $56 million figure.

SOME MEMBERS OF Congress have challenged similar rising expenses for the Air Force's Eagle and the Navy-Marine Corps Tomcat fighters, on grounds the mounting low-cost, lightweight fighters being built by General Dynamics and Northrop could achieve most of the missions of the more costly, heavier fighters.

They note that nations all over the world are watching the General Dynamics-Northrop competition in the hope they will be able to buy the winning entry for their own air forces. But there appears to be less chance for this tactic to succeed in the U.S. fighter field. The Tomcat already is being turned over to the Navy in increasing numbers for training and carrier operations. Navy pilots say its performance is breathtaking, its firepower awesome.

The Eagle, which has run afoul of rising costs just as the Tomcat has, is just beginning to reach the Air Force's Tactical Command. Its pilots claim no fighter ever has performed as well — an echo of what Navy jet jockeys are saying about the Tomcat.

THE MIX of highly sophisticated air-to-air missiles and cannon aboard these fighters, coupled with their remarkable speed and maneuvering ability, truly makes them new-generation aircraft.

Both Navy and Air Force officials, asked if they don't fear an "invasion" by the lighter, less-costly fighters, claim they would be too small and too lightly armed to achieve the roles and missions given the Tomcat and Eagle.

So the question is whether the Pentagon can persuade Congress that this, indeed, is the case.

Johnson's 1st home run gives Rangers 4-3 win

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) —

Alex Johnson's first home run of the season, a two-run shot in the eighth inning, helped the Texas Rangers to a 4-3 victory over the Minnesota Twins Saturday night.

Polly Harnish opened the eighth with a single, the eighth hit off loser Vic Albritton. Johnson followed with his homer, putting Texas on top 3-2. Jeff Burroughs' single chased Albritton in favor of Bill Campbell and the Rangers added what proved to be the winning run on a walk and Len Randle's single.

Designated hitter Tony Oliva's sixth-inning homer, his second of the season, gave the Twins a 2-1 lead against Jackie Brown.

Brown, 2-1, was making his first start of the season. He left in the eighth after seven relief appearances. He left in the eighth after the Twins scored their third run.

Milk glass' misused term

NEA Features Writer
By JEAN BARNES
Browsing through a friend's collection, watching her pull one treasure after another from cabinets, is educational and a fun way to spend an hour or two.

Susie L. is a collector whose interests are varied. Although her pieces range from Egyptian artifacts to illuminated manuscripts, it is evident that milk glass is a special favorite.

Milk glass is a white opaque glass, probably originating as an imitation of Chinese porcelain. It has been produced since the early 18th century and was especially popular in the 18th and 19th centuries when it was produced commercially on a large scale.

The term "milk glass" has been greatly abused and is often used to describe various colors of opaque glass. There is no such thing as blue milk glass or black milk glass.

For clarity it would be wise to use the term "opaque white" glass.

If opaque white glass was made in great quantity in the Victorian era, it has been copied in equal proportions today, my friend pointed out. "So much of it has been reproduced with such faithful quality that it is often difficult to tell the old from the new."

The beauty of this glass is to be found in its rich, satiny appearance. Its charm lies in its whimsical designs—harlequin animals, patriotic motifs and unusual shapes.

Various pieces place side by side will show the "coloring" of opaque white glass. Some of it will have a thin, creamy color, others may have a hint of pink or blue. It is the stark, dead white that is considered the finest quality, however.

A few of the more popular pressed glass tableware patterns were produced in opaque white glass. These included Sawtooth, Waffle, Wheat and Fruit patterns.

On May 27, 1774, the Virginia House of Burgesses passed a resolution, in calling together a Continental Congress.

Dear Abby

His chemistry formula not yielding

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I never thought a successful businessman would have to write to Dear Abby for advice, but here I am with the rest of the school.

I am a 36-year-old Southern gentleman who lost his wife a year ago. (No children.) I put my house on the market and fell in love with the real estate agent. She's a sophisticated, 42-year-old divorcee who can turn me on with a look. I know she was for me an hour after I met her.

I took her to New York, and we stayed at the best hotel (separate rooms). We saw five Broadway shows in as many nights and had a wonderful time. I took her to a jewelry store, hoping she would pick out some rings, but she ended up with a diamond wrist watch instead.

All the time I lived and dined her I never laid a hand on her because I wanted her to know I was a real Southern gentleman whose intentions were strictly honorable.

When we got home, she told me she couldn't marry me because the "chemistry" wasn't right. (Now what the heck does that mean?) She returned the watch and asked me not to call her anymore. Abby, I love this woman. How can I win her over?

DEAR VIRGINIAN: You can't. The lady is looking for sky rockets, Roman candles, exotic viols and goose bumps. In other words, you don't turn her on. Don't waste precious time brooding. You have a lot to offer her, so get going.

DEAR ABBY: After being married to Dudley for 30 years I suppose I should accept the fact that he isn't the most demonstrative man in the world, but something has come up that bothers me.

A few months ago we had a dog, and since then nothing has been the same around here. Dudley calls the dog all the pet names he used to call me. He even puts the dog on the same spot he used to put me.

Abby, I need a little affection, too, but I am being ignored. When I complained, Dudley said, "Don't tell me you are jealous of a dog?"

Well, I am, and I'm not kidding. Any suggestions?

DEAR SECOND: Put up a bear and ask Dudley to please treat you like a dog. And if he refuses, bit him in the leg.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter-in-law steals things from our home. Before we put locks on all our doors and windows, steaks and other foods disappeared from our freezer. Our son (her husband) mentioned casually that they were having steaks so often he was tired of them. In the spring about half of my canned fruit disappeared from my basement fruit room. Their daughter (age 10) said: "It seems like we have just as much fruit as when you canned last summer." Her mother blushed and tried to shush her up.

We spoke to our pastor about this, and he said he thinks our son knows his wife takes these things, but that he's trying to cover up for her. That's hard for me to believe. Our son wasn't raised that way.

The last straw was when they were here for Sunday supper and my daughter-in-law was helping me with the dishes afterwards. She kept hanging around the silverware drawer. After she left, I noticed three forks and four spoons were missing.

I am praying constantly for this girl. How can I help her? She can't be right in the head.

DEAR WORRIED: Between prayers, have a talk with your son. You are wise and compassionate to realize that something is wrong with the woman. She needs to be examined by a doctor.

DEAR ABBY: Recently you published some formal divorce announcements. Mr. and Mrs. John Jones take pleasure in announcing the divorce of their daughter Alice from that slob she married in 1963.

Was that supposed to be funny? Perhaps I failed to see the humor of it because I am going through a heart-breaking divorce right now.

Only last week I was in court when my husband and I had all I could do to keep from going over to straighten his tie, and tell him he should have worn his pale blue shirt with that suit. We had been married for 20 years. I've lived more years with him than without him and his divorce still seems so unreal to me. (He asked for it. He has somebody else.)

Anyway, I fail to see anything funny about divorce. At the bottom of your column it says: "You'll feel better if you get it off your chest." Well, I did, and I do. Thanks for listening.

Mon dieu! Are we that bad?

PARIS (AP) — American women are artificially feminine, bored with a superwoman complex, prefer quick affairs to more satisfying liaisons, and make smothering mothers. They also suffer from an identity crisis, are fanatical perfectionists, cut off from business and politics, and live in a constant state of anxiety.

That's what the French are being told in a new book about American women written by a Parisian mother who has lived 14 years in the United States.

She says American women have assumed these traits because U.S. society is still largely a male preserve despite recent efforts by the Women's Liberation Movement. The book says it will be a long time before things change.

The book, called "American Women," has had growing success in the five months it has been out and the red-haired author, Mrs. Ingrid Haussamen, has appeared on TV talk shows and before women's groups to tell more.

She was even asked to explain American women in an appearance before an improbable audience — the Paris chapter of The Daughters of the American Revolution. "It was very lively and we shot down a lot of clichés," Mrs. Haussamen said.

"French women believe a whole lot of clichés about American women," Mrs. Haussamen said in an interview. "They think they are man-eaters who hang aprons on their husbands, turn them into slaves and kill them."

"That's the idea they get from the movies or from friends who visited the United States briefly," she added. "Then, from the tourists they see here, they think American women wear mink stoles, flowered hats, cackle all the time and display a 100 per cent American smile."

Mrs. Haussamen, about 45, is married to an American economist and has traveled across the United States. She studied for 18 months at Radcliffe and Harvard before writing the book "to understand America better and to explain to French women how American women really are."

There was lots of misunderstanding, she said. "I spoke to a group of 40 women in a Paris suburb who were terribly aggressive toward America and Americans. They imagined it to be a mechanical, inhuman society and openly wondered how I could have married an American."

"I had to yell above the din to explain about American women," she added. After the exchange, Mrs. Haussamen related, one mink-stoled member of the audience came up to her and said she now realized that "American women are not as selfish, avaricious and chauvinistic as we are."

The 300-page book deals with the role of women in early U.S. history and then focuses on the American female psyche, the suburban family, women in politics and business and American women and sex.

In passing, Mrs. Haussamen takes a swipe at the locker-room spirit that she says pervades American society, and the fascination with virility that affects men in the United States.

The book argues that since early American history men and women have had to assume separate but complementary duties simply to survive. Mrs. Haussamen calls this "an alliance for progress" that put women in charge of teaching and public morals, making them "the custodians of America's conscience."

This arrangement worked satisfactorily until affluence, the breakup of family life and the advent of the mobile society caused severe strains.

"The American woman has a superwoman complex," Mrs. Haussamen says in the book. "Her American character forces her to accumulate all sorts of crushing roles: To be a perfect housewife, but also a well-informed citizen who reforms and organizes society, without neglecting activities that can develop her personality and that of those around her."

Old baseball fans never die, they just double up on the games, if Wasekan William Kennell in any example, Kennell, who marked his 90th birthday Saturday at the home of his children, Mrs. Miriam Sauer with whom he resides, insists to one game on the radio while viewing another on television. And he is still rooting for the Cubs. The celebrant is a native of Rochester, Ind., and has lived in Waseka for 15 years. His wife and a daughter are deceased. He has four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. (Journal photo)

personal accent

By ADA THOMASON

Today's writer resides in Kankakee
I reached home at 7:15 on the day of the big rain. The telephone rang. "You got water in your basement?" "No, I don't think so. I'll go look." I looked; expecting to see the usual little two-inch trickle that comes in when we have a rain. The usual "trickle" had widened to encompass the entire basement.

Donning old shoes and a pair of high boots, I descended, thinking I could collect some things and put them on higher ground. I stepped down and down and down, into the cold water. It went over my boot tops, and still higher. Walking was no easy matter. I felt as though I had 50-pound weights in each boot.

The scene took on proportions of a mini-flood. Using a little imagination, it could have been a miniature aquatic event. There were small plastic containers, like little boats, floating around. Plastic lids, also floating, appeared to join in. Aunt Sally's old hat, which I'd planned to give to some drama group, formed an island. My box of detergent had disappeared. Having apparently fallen into the water, it provided blue foam, forming little white caps, only these were blue.

My old trunk, which had traveled with me so many thousands of miles was floating. Little keepsakes in the tray were dry and unharmed. Farther on down, I found the trunk half full of water, and old papers and some treasured letters were soaked. An old letter written by great-grandfather from the Union Army in the Civil War was floating around. Oh well, I thought, one can live without old letters.

My laundry basket of clothes was covered with water. No matter, they were all fast colors, and besides, a little pre-soak would do no harm. There were some old text books which I had not wanted to part with. Soaked completely, I lifted them out of the water and put them on a dry shelf. Then I wondered, why did I do that? They were already long gone, beyond help. It made me think of a woman in an apartment fire who tossed dishes out of a second floor window, but carried bedding down the stairs. Often one doesn't think clearly in times of stress.

A box of good clothing which I'd planned to give to the Salvation Army, was completely soaked. (Moral: when you plan to give to a charity, don't delay.) My large roaster, used mostly for Christmas and Thanksgiving, was floating around, apparently with no particular destination.

I came up stairs, having to practically lift each foot bodily from step to step. Looking at my soaked shoes, wet boots, damp kitchen floor, and thinking of the mess in the basement, I felt a certain kinship with all those who have met disaster — by flood, fire, and even flooded basements. It is disaster to lose things. But it is a worse tragedy to lose lives. I prayerfully hoped that no lives were lost in the flooded areas.

I was reminded of a definition of education — something about being able to distinguish the essential from the non-essential, at times in life when things seem most confusing. The essential versus the non-essential; things versus lives. And I thought how much more precious are lives.

HOW TO IMPROVE THE APPEARANCE OF YOUR SKIN

THE FIVE GOLDEN RULES FOR A YOUNGER CLEARER SKIN

1. Make-up is made of powder. When you use a bar of ordinary soap the make-up is pushed into the pores, thus making the pores larger and deeper. Instead, a high quality cleanser should be used. A Cleanser will dissolve the make-up out of the pores thereby allowing them to constrict to normal size.
2. A Toner is the only product that will remove a cleanser. A toner (skin fresher or astringent as it is sometimes called) is effective and removes the traces of cleanser from your face.
3. Alkali or detergent soap sold in grocery stores are drying. It is only good for your body. It can make the skin on your face and hands rough. You should be using a non-alkali soap. It will remove the bacteria without disturbing the normal balance of the skin. Now you are ready to use Peel O Matique.
4. Peel O Matique is the first safe and gentle process to shed the dead skin cells. Peel O Matique was created to help overcome crepey skin on the neck, lines over the lips, pitting and blackheads, blotching and discoloration. Notice a man's face. Where he shaves you will not see any of these unsightly skin problems. By shaving, the man is removing the dead skin cells daily. And remember, that when using Peel O Matique always use: Cleanser to dissolve the make-up, Toner to dissolve the cleanser, Non-Alkali Soap to remove bacteria, then use Peel O Matique's phase 1, 2, 3.
5. Now is the time to use a moisturizer from our cosmetic department. Stay away from home lubricants such as mayonnaise, crisco, baby oils as they tend to dry your skin.

If your skin is extremely rough, we suggest you use another, more abrasive peel once a week. They are also sold in our cosmetic department. In case of prior skin problems, consult your physician, he knows best. 100 Applications—$20.00

Mrs. Gustafson painted the shelves yellow in keeping with the room's red and yellow color scheme. The shelves and the bunk beds is papered in bright stripes.

Mike, the Gustafson's teenage son, needed a desk for doing his homework, but a full-sized desk would have crowded the room. Again his mother-called on the talent of the room's artists. They came up with the design for a built-in desk. It was Regnier's idea to build the top from what actually are four triangles of wood, mitered together. This resulted in a more finished appearance than one board, cut to size, would have made. The wood has an attractive, natural grain. The desk is attached to the desk. It was finished in a dark stain to match the other furniture in the room.

Replacing countertops? Proceed with caution

Redwood siding prompts question

Q — I follow your question and answers in the paper, but I have a question that I hope you can answer for me. The home I live in has redwood siding on the outside. I want to put aluminum siding, but I am concerned that the redwood will not be used over redwood. Is this true?

A — This is an unusual question, since most persons who want to put aluminum siding on a home use redwood as an exterior material. The reason why aluminum siding cannot be used over redwood is because with any other material, the important thing is to get a good nail. The old adage is, "Nails are the secret to a good job." To provide a good nail, you must have a good nailer on the surface. This may mean that a partial or complete fulling of the present siding is required. Furring strips, as you probably know, are narrow strips of wood or other material that are set to get an even surface. The care with which furring is done saves much time and money on the other stages of work.

right adhesive*

Copley News Service
Q. Our kitchen has a newly tiled floor. Our problem is that the cement oozes up between the tiles and it is a mess to clean up. Friends tell us that we probably used too much cement in laying the tile. We did the job last summer, and I thought that by now this oozing would stop. Is there any way other than removing the tile to fix this? — Gloria B.D.

A. When too much adhesive is applied as the floor is laid, the excess will seep up between the cracks, probably for some time. As it seeps up, it can be wiped off the surface easily with a cloth dampened with naphtha, and the condition should clear up within a year. But if it does not clear up soon, it is possible the wrong adhesive was used.

Special adhesives are recommended where resilient covering is installed over a concrete floor. In the event this is your trouble, the only remedy I can suggest is to take up the tile and install it again with the proper adhesive. Floor dealers can advise you about the right kinds of adhesive. I am also presuming that you have a concrete floor. If it is a wood surface underneath, another kind of adhesive should be

You will have to get an electrician to determine whether you have an undersized power tap or if you need a power tap. The electrician will use of another fuse. # Reds overrun 5 S. Viet posts

SAIGON — Communist forces attacked and overran five government posts in the Mekong Delta early Saturday, hitting one outpost only 15 miles southwest of Saigon, military sources said.

The government last radio contact with a 30-man outpost 15 miles from the center of the capital shortly after the Communist attack began early Saturday morning, and the sources said they assumed the base had been captured.

Reinforcements, ordered into the area on the banks of the Vam Co Dong River failed to make contact with the outpost or the Communist forces by dawn, the sources said.

Four other small militia posts between 30 and 150 miles southwest of Saigon fell to similar Viet Cong assaults, the sources said.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces assaulted a government outpost on the edge of the U Minh forest in the Mekong Delta Friday and killed and wounded nearly half the post's 100 defenders, the Saigon command said Saturday.

The command said 30 government soldiers were killed and 29 wounded in the attack Friday in contested Chuong Thien province, about 120 miles southwest of Saigon and 35 miles southwest of Kien Giang district town. Five civilians and nine of the attackers were also reported killed.

In other action, heavy fighting was reported for the ninth successive day in the strategic corridor north of Saigon.

The command claimed 47 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were killed during a clash four miles southwest of Phu Gio district town, 35 miles northeast of the capital. Government losses were reported as one killed and several wounded.

South Vietnamese military officials said President Nguyen Van Thieu has ordered troops to save an ammunition depot and to prohibit 250 million in supplemental military aid to South Vietnam.

In Cambodia, Communist forces infiltrated a small, crowded village on the southeastern fringe of Phnom Penh Friday night, killing three soldiers and 14 civilians, field reports said Saturday.

The attackers wounded 25 other villagers in Phnom Cham and burned down 12 houses. The village is linked with Phnom Penh by the United Nations Bridge across the Bassac River.

Bank captor seized in Hong Kong

HONG KONG (UPI) — Police stormed through a tiny steel door in an embattled Hong Kong bank Saturday and captured a destitute South Vietnamese bandit who held 11 weary hostages in a day-long siege.

A government spokesman said two hostages suffered minor injuries during the day of terror. Police subdued the gunman without firing a shot.

The drama ended when a group of hostages struggled loose and bolted from a small room when the man threatened to kill four of them. Police waiting outside rushed in past the fleeing hostages.

The robber, armed with a revolver and a loaf of bread, said he had

Illegal aliens flooding U.S.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The United States is being flooded with illegal aliens who come to find jobs and there is little authority to do about it, the commissioner of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service says.

"Apprehensions of illegal aliens by the service increased to 670,000 in fiscal 1973, compared to only 51,000 in the early 1960s," Leonard F. Chapman Jr. told newsmen, and this figure may amount to as little as 10 or 20 per cent of those actually in the country illegally.

Chapman said the problem is "nearly insoluble," partly because there are only about 8,000 persons to track down illegal immigrants.

Former Kankakee Dr. Paul Weller is out with not one, but two new books — and they are most impressive.

Paul, son of the Frank Weller, is associate professor of chemistry at the State University College in Fredonia, N.Y., and also chairman of the chemistry department.

Paul's new work is "Solid State Chemistry: Physics," and it comes in two volumes. The first runs 520 pages and the pages.

Not that we understand what Paul is saying, what with his brilliance, but here's what he says about his books:

"Within the last 10 years, solid state science has become a truly interdisciplinary field. New developments in computer and communications technology, microelectronics, lasers and photography and an increased knowledge of electrical and magnetic effects in biological have made the study of the solid state a necessity for many chemists and biologists.

"This textbook, in two volumes, presents the fundamental principles and practices of solid state science. It uses a minimum of sophisticated mathematics so that newcomers to the field will find the material easily comprehensible. Many intuitive physical illustrations and analogies are used to introduce necessary principles. The electrical, magnetic and optical properties of solids and the pronounced effects of impurities of these properties are among the many topics covered. Other chapters deal with sample preparation, purification, single crystal growth, polymers and biological processes.

"This book makes an excellent introduction to solid state science for undergraduate and graduate students in materials science, chemistry, metallurgy, ceramics, metallurgy and physics. Organic chemists working in the chemical processing and electronics industries will also find this work of great interest."

Paul has been teaching at State University College since 1965. He spent the academic year 1971-72 at the CSIRO in Melbourne, Australia, and at the University of New England, Armidale, Australia.

The former Kankakee basketball star received a bachelor's degree in chemistry from the University of Illinois in 1967 and a doctor of philosophy degree in inorganic chemistry in 1969 from Cornell University.

His research interests concern the synthesis and solid state growth of wide band gap semiconductors, the interactions of impurities in these materials, and the prediction and control of their electrical properties. He has published 23 scientific articles on these and related topics and is the co-author, with Jerome H. Supple, of "Introductory Chemistry and Chemistry Principles," published by McGraw-Hill.

Paul is listed in "American Men of Science," "The Dictionary of International Biography" and "Who's Who in the East." He is a member of the Sigma Xi, the American Chemical Society, the AAS, and the Materials Research Society.

Attorney seeks verdict appeal in Watska

WATSKA — Attorney James Blunk, Watska, has filed a motion to appeal a guilty verdict in the case of a Kankakee man charged with driving while intoxicated.

Fred P. Thatcher II, 54, Kankakee, formerly of Buckley, was found guilty of the charge April 11 by an Iroquois County jury.

Thatcher was fined $100 and court costs May 20. He was arrested May 4, 1973, by state police on 157 at Buckley road.

In court action Thursday by Associate Judge Daniel Gould, Dennis D. Rash, 27, Kankakee, was fined $100 for driving while intoxicated. Rash pleaded guilty to the charge. His driver's license was confiscated by the court.

Rash was arrested April 12 by sheriff's deputies in Onarga.

"Essentially, we're confronted with making a moloch out of a mountain..."

Up 'til now That deadly streetcar

By HAROLD W. SIMMONS

Bits of ancient history — the construction of the first street car line in 1891, and the proposal to extend the line to the south side of Kankakee, via the Washington Avenue bridge, caused considerable controversy. Many of the citizens were against the idea. One man, from East Otto wrote the Kankakee Gazette on May 25, 1961, "The blocking of the wagon bridge by the electric car line will very likely produce some talk."

Some will remember that the bridge was built very largely at county expense, and will wonder how the city came to own it exclusively. Those who have found the bridge congested by present travel will, perhaps, think it queer logic which would bear new obstruction, three times as the rest put together in all right. When the new obstruction results in the loss of life as well as of property, this correspondent wants it remembered that he protested as soon as such a proposition was made public," signed Kemp.

In the issue of May 28, the same correspondent said, "The farmers south and west of Kankakee are advised to do their business at Kankakee as much as possible before the opening of the electric railway. After that transit your business as much as possible at Chesham, Irwin, Herscher, Bonfield and other outside towns."

Cease entirely to send a woman or child to drive to Kankakee. When you must go yourself see that your life insurance and your will are all right. Kiss your wife and children and summon your resolution to meet any fate.

The Gazette man came right back with, "Don't get frightened: Our East Otto correspondent, in his letter, advises the farmers south of the river to boycott Kankakee on account of the street railway across the river. The correspondent may be honest of his fears, or he may be using some printer's ink for the satisfaction of seeing how his words look in print."

The farmers will continue to come to Kankakee as long as they consider it in their financial or other personal advantage to do so.

If they can do better at Chesham or any other town they will go there without the deadly electric railway held up before their eyes as a scarecrow. These things regulate themselves.

In spite of the slight opposition of a few, the Kankakee street railway came into existence and continued to operate for the next half century, carrying in that time thousands of passengers.

The coming of the automobile and the improving of the roads brought to an end the use of the street car.

Seagull has story of one that got away

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — Somewhere, there's a seagull that tells the story of the one that got away.

If fellow gulls don't believe it, Mrs. Patricia Boyle does.

Mrs. Boyle, of Brentwood, Wash., was sunning herself at a motel pool when something swam up to her. It was a fish. A foot-long sucker, to be exact.

"I thought someone had thrown it at me," she said.

"Then someone noticed the gull circling overhead, searching the pool for the fish it apparently had dropped."

"It really shocked me. I had fish scales all over my face."

With mouth shut, she loses 101 pounds

NOTTINGHAM, England (UPI) — Mrs. Shirley Turner weighed an unimpressive 247 pounds last Nov. 14, so her doctors fitted her with a silver clamp to make her keep her mouth shut.

Mrs. Turner, 37, took the clamp off today and hit the scales 101 pounds lighter.

At 166 pounds, she is still 17 pounds heavier than her targeted "ideal weight."

But she says she would be laughing if her mouth didn't hurt so much.

The doctors decided on the clamp as the only way to keep Mrs. Turner from eating things like potatoes and bread.

They prescribed a diet of fruit juice, soup and mixtures of eggs beaten with dried milk.

"I'm glad I did it," she said. "But I wouldn't recommend it to anyone else."

'Love meant wearing a vacant smile' His worship no 'guru-vy' experience

By CAROLYN COIL

LOS ANGELES — Once Bill West traveled to London to kiss the Guru's "holy lotus feet."

That was when West, a suburban Redondo Beach resident, was a devotee of Gurus Maharaji.

Now West thinks he was brainwashed into believing the Guru, who calls himself "The Perfect Master," was God.

"THE GURU is the spiritual head of the Divine Light Mission, which also operates its own bakery, resale shops, health food restaurant and other businesses. The financial worth of the Guru and the mission is not known, but is believed to be extensive."

"I always had been looking for a kind of perfect love," West said in an interview.

"I thought for awhile I had found it."

Now he believes the whole

setup is a kind of double bluff. West says a convert is never told to do anything, but is told instead if something would be good to do.

WHILE A PREMISE, a new convert, West cut his fingers in a meat slicer. The wound required 30 stitches. He was in debt and unable to work so he went home to live with his parents for awhile.

His mother contacted Ted Patrick, who deplores young persons in meditation groups like the Divine Light Mission and Hare Krishna, and in religious movements like the Children of God and Love Is. Deprogramming involves convincing the young persons to give up their religious beliefs.

"When Patrick was talking to me, I would go into meditation to try to avoid listening to him. But he pointed out all the cracks," West says.

"I thought for awhile I had found it."

Now he believes the whole

Eight persons are scheduled to be indicted on Tuesday on burglary charges in indictments returned last week by the Kankakee County Grand Jury.

In an indictment charging them with the March 30 burglary of the Kankakee Supermarket on A.D. Clark, 21, Ernest Clark, 19, and Otis C. Williams, 19, all of Rte. 4, St. Anne, Mo., and cigarettes valued at $100 were taken from the supermarket in Kankakee.

WEST THOUGHT the free lecture sounded interesting, so he went.

When he arrived, people were sitting on the floor. Everyone was singing.

West says he had been interested in meditation when he received a letter inviting him to a lecture. The writer said he had just come back from India and had something precious to share.

Brook Benton finest $500

NEW YORK (UPI) — A federal judge Friday sentenced Brook Benton, a blues singer and songwriter, to a $500 fine and two years probation on an income tax charge on condition that he pay his back taxes.

The sentence came after Benton pleaded guilty to one count of not filing a tax return for 1968. He had been charged with failing to file IRS returns from 1967 to 1969, years when he earned a total of $156,537.

Audubon sets Miller talk

The Kankakee Area National Audubon Society will feature Philip E. Miller, director of environmental research for Citizens for Better Environment at its Monday night meeting.

Miller will discuss the aims and activities of the organization at the 7:30 p.m. meeting, to be held at Westview High School and his talk will focus on the proximity of nuclear plants near populated areas.

The public is invited.

Pan Am, TWA want fare, rate route changes

NEW YORK — Pan American World Airways and Trans World Airlines, the two biggest American airlines, have given the government suggestions on how it can help them make more money.

Details of Pan American's suggestions were published this past week — a list of airline said it conservatively estimated could boost profits by at least $44 million and offset deficits expected from higher fuel and other costs.

But neither plan appears to be a White House priority. The airlines' suggestions were published this past week — a list of airline said it conservatively estimated could boost profits by at least $44 million and offset deficits expected from higher fuel and other costs.

USDA, China meet on tainted wheat

WASHINGTON (AP) — A visit to the People's Republic of China this month by a team of government grain experts has provided the Agriculture Department with one of its most sensitive private information sources in recent months.

The team, which was due to return this weekend, consisted of five USDA grain specialists and at least two representatives of private firms. Their mission was to work out problems with Peking concerning shipments of U.S. wheat last year to China which had been tainted with smut disease spores.

Although department officials have responded to most questions from reporters concerning the trip after the mission became known widely, the project began as a secret between USDA and the grain trade.

The Chinese had complained for months about tainted wheat, and USDA had been checking on ways to tighten its export inspection system to prevent further difficulties. China has emerged as a $1-billion customer of American grain this fiscal year.

Weather unsettled, so are commodities

CHICAGO (AP) — The major agriculture futures prices declined during the past week on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange.

Live cattle at the Chicago Mercantile Exchange tumbled $2.25 to $4.08 a hundredweight, hogs were down $2.00 to $12.80 and pork bellies retreated by 35 cents to $23.00.

At the Chicago Board of Trade, declines were posted in almost all futures options for the grain, soybeans, soybean oil and meal and livestock.

With what appeared to be a fine harvest coming to market in the South, wheat futures were kept under steady pressure and closed out the week 12 to 25 cents under the previous week's close.

The weather over the Midwest, wet at the beginning of the week and spotty thereafter, unsettled trading in the corn and soybean pits.

By the end of the week, traders still didn't know if farmers were going to be able to plant the remaining acreage originally intended for corn. The outlook for soybeans was similar.

Silver futures in Chicago were down 10 cents to $16.00. Gold futures were steady Friday, domestic sugar was up 20 to 85 points, and cotton declined 10 to 20 cents.

Despite But's confirmation of the Peking mission on May 15, the bid on domestic information was nailed down by 2 to 3 cents, again. Even so, sources con-

IN MEMORIAM

1776-1974

... The foe long since in silence slept;
 Alike the conqueror silent sleeps;
 And Time the ruined bridge has swept
 Down the stream which seaward creeps.
 On this green bank, by this soft stream,
 We set today a votive stone;
 That memory may their deed redeem,
 When, like our sires, our sons are gone.
 Spirit, that made those heroes dare
 To die, or leave their children free,
 Bid Time and Nature gently spare
 The shaft we raise to them and thee.
